PETROGRAD, Feb. 10.—(Via London.)—The short speech of the Duma opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of a throng that filled the balconies of the chamber, the Ministers, the members of the council and the empire and the diplomatic representatives.

Foreign Minister Sazonoff said the allies' goal was assured. It was useless for Germany and Austria to say repeatedly they were forced into the war or to repeat the old story that King Edward had sought to surround Germany with enemies, for, he declared, the whole world knew that the agreement entered into or projected by that monarch were fundamentally defensive.

WORKING TOGETHER.

On Saturday last a prominent farmer of Sidney township was discussing with us "Patriotism and Production" and other problems arising out of the European war...

He said he felt a great longing to go with those who were volunteering for overseas service, but he would be compelled to leave behind a wife and several small children...

Then he went on to say that he thought a great deal of undeserved odium was being cast upon the farming population because of its meagre response to the call for volunteers...

The point is here—we should not seek to deprive the deeply patriotic farmer boys, who desire a more active participation in the real business of war than merely staying at home and growing wheat...

The problem that our Sidney friend has mentioned is one that is giving serious concern to all those who have been thinking about this campaign for "Patriotism and Production."

We have no doubt whatever that the farmers of Canada will this year be able both to furnish a magnificent representation in the ranks of our country's active defenders...

As we see it, there are two campaigns now being carried on here in Ontario that are working at cross purposes, when they should be working together. The object of both campaigns is to secure the means for overcoming the Germanic hosts as speedily as possible in the great war...

Supplementary to this campaign for increased food production on the farms, there should be a systematic agitation carried on among the unemployed and those who are not profitably employed in the towns and cities to induce them to go back to the farms...

A farmer in Middlesex county inserted an advertisement for help in one of the London papers, and received sixty-two replies. This shows that labor in the cities is seeking an outlet to the farm.

that just such a movement is forced upon the workmen who could not otherwise get work. And it will be one of the very best things that could happen to them as well as the country at large.

The time and the occasion are both ripe for the inauguration of this back-to-the-land movement. Patriotism and production would both benefit and the out-of-work could take the place of the young farmer who is thrilled with the desire to serve his country at the battlefield.

And there are many such. One farm-hand from West Huntingdon was so determined to be an active participant in the game that he purposely gave in his age several years below what it actually was, because he knew that he would otherwise be rejected.

But where a man, situated as this Sidney farmer is, with a dependent family, and a large farm to look after, feels the call to go to the war, it is another matter. We think there can be no question, unless vastly greater need arises, that he can render the more patriotic service by staying at home and looking after production.

"Not all by battlefield or wave His country's shield can hope to stand; He serves no less who toils to save The harvest for his native land."

But there are numerous farmers throughout the country, like Mr. Harvey Wallace, who can spare one or more of their grown-up sons without impairing the working efficiency of the farm. There are many others where the place of the son who goes to the front can well be taken by some helper who is not qualified for military service.

The point is here—we should not seek to deprive the deeply patriotic farmer boys, who desire a more active participation in the real business of war than merely staying at home and growing wheat, of the honor and glory of going to the front...

The problem that our friend has suggested is a difficult one, but it can be solved by loyal co-operation of town and country. The coming months are bound to be filled with deep anxiety for all classes, and there will need to be special effort and sacrifice. The manufacturer, the merchant and businessmen generally, are passing through a chastening experience that is far more conducive to premature old age than are the long hours and excessive toil of the farm.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

Some time ago Col. Ponton showed us a postcard that he had received from a friend in England upon which was printed in bold type the legend—"If War Interferes with YOUR Business, Give Up Your Business."

In Canada we have become so absorbed in two-dollar wheat, army contracts, and "Business as Usual" that the great majority of us are viewing the war merely as spectators. If we can make a nice thing on the side from the unduly enhanced prices, why so much the better.

By all means let us maintain "business as usual," let us engage in "patriotic production," let us grow two bushels of two-dollar wheat where only one bushel of ninety-cent wheat grew before.

This Old-Country brand of patriotism is so startling in its suggestiveness, so colossal in its possibilities, that it almost seems to us unmilitary Canadians as being the acme of what is foolhardy and reckless. We hesitate and stand back. Business is surely the big thing, and maybe the war will somehow decide itself in our favor, without its being necessary to upset the established order too much.

Not all Canadians are so bent on "business as usual" that they conveniently ignore the war, except that every evening they zealously and patriotically read over all the special despatches and bulletins.

Not "Business as Usual," but "Give Up Your Business" contains the essence of the spirit that will eventually plant the conquering flag of the Allies upon the citadel of Berlin.

TWO INVADERS COMPARED.

The London Post's Petrograd correspondent makes an interesting comparison between the present invasion of Russia and that of the great Napoleon.

Five months ago, he says, the Germans occupied Vlotslavsk, twenty-six miles inside the Russian political boundary. Three weeks ago they reached the Bzura-Rawka line, which is just twice as far again, or nearly a hundred miles by the political tape measure.

Napoleon in about half that time was already in Moscow, after sanguinary battles, fighting foraging and resting, and occupying several towns of historic and political value, and finally the premier capital of the empire.

The Germans have occupied nothing of either historic or political value by comparison, although a half-successful attempt was made to impose Lodz upon the world as a marvellous capture—Lodz, the purely German-Jewish town that is not yet twenty years old.

It took Napoleon eight-five days to reach Moscow from the frontier. It has taken the German world-conqueror a hundred and sixty days to reach nowhere, having covered about a hundred miles of Russian territory in that time.

Napoleon covered a thousand miles in half the time, and certainly got somewhere, no less than to the heart of the Russian Empire. Even that magnificent military exploit availed him nothing, for Napoleon's ruin dated from Moscow. It would entirely fit the requirements of historic justice if the German War Lord's ruin dated from the mushroom Lodz. There seems a considerable likelihood of this consummation.

BRAKEMAN CARTER.

Peace not only has its victories, but also produces its heroes. It is not often however, that the opportunity for a supreme test of physical courage comes to the private individual in the ordinary walks of life.

These remarks have been suggested by a report we have just been reading in The Havelock Standard that Brakeman J. J. Carter of that town is to receive from His Majesty, King George the Fifth, the Albert medal for heroism.

It appears that on the tenth day of May last, while his train was passing through Tweed, Brakeman Carter looking ahead along the track saw a little three-year-old girl playing between the rails, all unaware of the terrible danger she was in from the monster locomotive bearing down upon her.

We read of such exploits as that in the story books, but it is hard to associate such a deed of cool daring and heroism with a rough, unassuming, Canadian Pacific railroad brakeman, and a location no farther away than the village of Tweed.

But it is a further great pleasure to note that peace has found a method of expressing its appreciation of those who, like Mr. Carter, have performed some great, conspicuous service, and thereby have earned and merited the gratitude of their fellows. Reeve Kindred of Havelock, we are told, took up the matter of some formal recognition with the high officials of the Canadian Pacific company. These in turn opened communication with the British Government, and the result is that Reeve Kindred has just received a letter from the General Superintendent of the railway informing him that he had received official notice from Mr. Thomas Mulvey, Under Secretary of State, that he had been advised by the Colonial Secretary that King George had been pleased to award an Albert Medal to Brakeman Carter.

Don't be alarmed. The thaw will probably catch cold before our lovely snowdrifts have all vanished away.

Though the recruiting officers for the Fifteenth and the Forty-ninth regiments are still considerably short of the required quota of one hundred and fifty men each for the Third Contingent, there is some satisfaction in knowing that in many other districts the situation is very much worse than it is here.

Germany's latest vagary in declaring a submarine blockade of Great Britain will be about as effective in shutting off Britain's food supply as the Zeppelin "invasion" was in striking terror into Britain's population.

Speaking at a recruiting meeting at Northampton, England, Sir Ryland Adkins, M.P., said he had Lord Kitchener's authority for stating that his lordship was abundantly satisfied with the progress of recruiting since the war began.

The series of addresses by Mr. A. D. McIntosh of Stirling, district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, to the students of Belleville High School on the subject, "Back to the Land," should be heard by more than high school students.

The Carranza forces are trying to give Mexico City an attack of hysteria by threatening to drop some full-grown bombs on it. If Mexico City has been reading its newspapers lately, it won't be scared to any great extent by this threat.

Editors and other liars. Editors may not always tell the truth, but they're not as great sinners as several other classes of men.

On Saturday, Mr. Harvey Wallace of Thurlow township informed us that he had brought one stalwart six-foot son into the city to enlist with the Fifteenth regiment and enter training for the Third contingent.

Peace not only has its victories, but also produces its heroes. It is not often however, that the opportunity for a supreme test of physical courage comes to the private individual in the ordinary walks of life.

Other Editors' Opinions

BILLY SUNDAY. Spiritually and morally, the Rev. Billy Sunday is turning Philadelphia upside down, inside out, or, as he would no doubt express it himself, "handing it to them good and plenty."

Germany's latest vagary in declaring a submarine blockade of Great Britain will be about as effective in shutting off Britain's food supply as the Zeppelin "invasion" was in striking terror into Britain's population.

Philadelphia claims close to a million inhabitants, and it won't be Billy Sunday's fault if everyone of them, directly or indirectly, falls to hear the gospel as he understands it.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES. Text of the Lesson, I Sam. III, 1-12, 18, 20—Memory Verse, 8, 9—Golden Text, I Sam. III, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. N. Stearns.

What a specially great lesson this is for boys, with something for every one, young and old. In all Scripture there is a message from the heart of God to each individual heart that reads: It is true always, as in the last verse of our lesson chapter, that the Lord reveals Himself by His word.

Before we consider the call of Samuel in our lesson let us look at the circumstances of his birth. His father, Elkanah, seems to have been a devout man, going up from year to year to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of hosts in Shiloh (I, 3). But he had two wives, which was contrary to God's original arrangement and always brought trouble. Hannah, who had no children, was continually taunted by the other, her adversary, provoked sore and made to fret and grieve (I, 4-8). Her refuge was prayer unto the Lord, and He heard her and gave her this son Samuel (I, 10-20).

She called him Samuel because she asked God for him (I, 20, margin), and when she had weaned him she took him to Shiloh to serve the Lord in the tabernacle with Eli, visiting him from year to year when she went up to worship and taking him a little coat (I, 24-28; II, 18, 19).

The Lord abundantly rewarded her for the gift of her firstborn, for He gave her five others, three sons and two daughters (II, 20, 21). So Samuel grew before the Lord, and was in favor both with the Lord and also with men, and the Lord was with him, and all Israel knew that he was established to be a prophet of the Lord (II, 21, 20). How beautifully the Lord did bless the boy who was dedicated to Him even before his birth, and how grandly He did reward his mother and cause her to forget her misery and sing for joy! Her song in chapter I, 1-10, which is also called a prayer, is one of the most beautiful on record.

Returning to our lesson story, we read that one night, or perhaps toward the dawn (verses 2, 3, 15), Samuel heard some one call him, and, supposing it to be Eli, he ran to him, but, being assured that Eli had not called him, he lay down again. The second time he heard his name and went again to Eli, but was assured as before. Not until he heard his name a third time, and for the third time went to Eli with the words "Here am I" did Eli perceive that the Lord was calling the child. Then he said to him, "If you are called again say, 'Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth.'" For the fourth time the Lord called him and this time mentioned his name twice—"Samuel, Samuel."

I have found only seven people in the Bible who were thus addressed, and there must be some significance in it, whether we can see it or not. Look them up and ponder the circumstances prayerfully. On hearing this fourth call Samuel replied as Eli taught him, and then the Lord gave to Samuel the solemn message for Eli, which he faithfully repeated to him in the morning, telling him every whit and hiding nothing from him. It is doubtful if either of them slept again that night. Samuel had his first message directly from the Lord, and Eli was no doubt wondering what it could be. They each had enough to think about. Samuel from this time onward seems to have had always an ear for God. Note the peculiar language of I Sam. IX, 15, and why we all have similarly anointed ears to hear His voice. Eli saw the justice of it all, remembering no doubt the words of the man of God in chapter II, 27, and as submissively said: "It is the Lord. Let Him do what seemeth Him good" (verse 18). Compare Job I, 21; II, 10; Ps. xxxiii, 9; Isa. xxxiii, 17; xxxiv, 4.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

Dear Father and all! Just a few lines from Albert to let you know that it is all right. We are down off the plains altogether now and billeted in private houses in Devizes. The rain and mud got so bad that the horses started to die like flies in summer, so it was just a case of pack up and get away which we did in two days. We have been in Devizes since the 6th of January and expect to stay for some time. We are having an easy time now, nothing much to do, except eat and sleep in feather beds. It is rather funny, though since we came out of the tent there has been a lot of sickness in the Battery and on the plains but none at all very serious, however, everybody is pulling around again. I had five days in bed myself with a fever of some sort, but all right again. Well I guess that's all this time, will write again shortly, telling more news. Good-bye. Albert E. H., 2nd Btry, 1st Brig., Devizes, Eng.

ST. MICHAEL'S T. A. S.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Michael's T.A.S. was held in St. Michael's Academy on Sunday night, Bro. J. M. Phelan in the chair. The meeting was largely attended and after eight new members had been enrolled and taken the pledge to uphold and promote temperance, an address on "Earnestness" was delivered by the president. A vote of thanks by Rev. Father Corrigan, seconded by J. M. Phelan was tendered to the ladies and helpers for making the Euchre recently held under the auspices of the T.A.S. such an unbounded success. After paying all bills and expenses the Society has $188.50 clear. A unanimous vote of thanks to Messrs. Tickell and Thompson for the use of tables and chairs was passed. In view of the number of hotel and bar licenses at present in Belleville and one cancelled last year, it was unanimously resolved that St. Michael's T.A.S. considers that a license should not be granted to the Belleville Club. Addresses were delivered by Bros. J. M. Hurley and L. E. O'Gorman on the "Constitution of Canada" and "Promotion of Temperance" by the T.A.S. of America respectively. Both addresses were highly educational and interesting and Mr. Hurley being a past M.P. was in a position to give a thorough lecture on the Government of Canada, while Mr. O'Gorman is an authority on temperance, whom we expect to hear from in the near future. Bro. E. J. Butler has promised to give an address on Belgium at the next meeting of the Society. We must say that this Society is doing excellent work and its membership which now totals close on the 300 mark is steadily increasing.

Belleville is Centre Sure

Col. Marsh yesterday received a telegram from the Militia Department, Ottawa, stating that the mobilization of the 38th Battalion of the Third Contingent will be in Belleville. Recruiting is still going on at the armories.

Dear Dad

This is Sunday over here and as I have nothing else to do I thought I would drop you a few lines. It is awfully dull in Devizes. In fact, it is worse than being on the plains, except that we are out of the mud and rain. We are going back on the plain for three days to do some practice firing on the Lake Hill ranges under terroplan observation. We have had a little excitement lately over German air raids, but so far they have not amounted to very much, just a few people being killed and wounded and some property destroyed. I have been sick as I told you in a previous letter, but am now around again, as well as ever. As I told you before I did not get down to Winchester for either Christmas or New Years, but spent both days in camp. After we came back from the Lake Hill firing practice, leave is going to be granted and I expect to get away then. There are five batteries of field artillery and ammunition column stationed in Devizes numbering considerably over a thousand men. Since we have got down off the plain and cleaned our clothes off the mud, we do not look bad and last Sunday we were inspected in the square at Devizes by Earl Grey and staff, who commented on our appearance.

The enemy have not yet succeeded in finding us. I remember in one place where we were in action the Germans were dropping their Jack Johnsons 25 yards off, where our battery was in action. They were close but not close enough to do any damage to us.

PATRIOTISM and PRODUCTION The Call of the Empire to the Farmers of Canada

"Approximately twenty million men have been mobilized in Europe. A large proportion of these have been withdrawn from the farms of the countries at war. Even in neutral countries large numbers of food producers have been called from the land to be ready for emergencies. It is difficult for us to realize what will be the effect on food production through the withdrawal of several million men from all the great agricultural countries of Europe. These millions cease to be producers, they have become consumers,—worse still, they have become destroyers of food."

HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

Britain must have food—food this year, and food next year. Britain is looking to Canada to supply most of that food. We are sending our surplus now, but we must prepare for a larger surplus this year and next year. Patriotism and Production must go hand in hand.

Because of this need of the Empire for more food, and the call to Canada in that need, the Canadian Department of Agriculture has arranged for a series of Conferences throughout the Dominion, with the object of giving suggestions as to the best ways of increasing production of the particular products needed at this time.

At these Conferences agricultural specialists, who have studied agricultural conditions and production throughout the world, and the best means of increasing agricultural production in Canada, will give valuable information and suggestions to the farmers, live-stock men, dairymen, poultrymen, vegetable growers, and other producers of this country. The Canadian Department of Agriculture urges you to attend as many of these Conferences as possible; also to watch for other information on this subject that will be given in other announcements in this newspaper.

ATTEND YOUR CONFERENCE

Put Energy into Production of Staple Foods

The Government does not ask farmers to work harder, so much as it urges them to make their work more productive, and to produce those staple foods that the Empire most needs and that can be most easily stored and transported.

Europe, and particularly Britain, will need the following staple foods from Canada more than ever before:

- Wheat, oats, corn, beans, peas.
- Beef, mutton, bacon, and ham.
- Cheese and butter.
- Poultry and eggs.
- Vegetables, such as potatoes, onions, and turnips.

The larger the yield of these staple food products, the greater the service to the Empire. Germany in the last ten years has doubled the average yield of the majority of her field crops largely through better seed, thorough cultivation and use of fertilizer. But in making your plans, don't let your enthusiasm and loyalty make you attempt more than you can carry through. Millions of bushels, instead of millions of acres, should be the aim of Canadian farmers. And while the Empire's armies are busy putting down German Militarism, let us at home appropriate the best of Germany's agricultural methods for the Empire's advantage.

The Government urges farmers, stockmen, dairymen and other producers to make a wider use of the Free Bulletins issued by the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

This Department has issued over two hundred bulletins. A list of bulletins is printed in a booklet entitled "Publications Available for Distribution."

Clip out, fill in and mail the coupon below and get this booklet. Then select the bulletins that will be of value to you. Mail your coupon right now. Address the envelope to Publications Branch, Canadian Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Do not put a stamp on the envelope. No stamp is necessary. Your coupon will be "On His Majesty's Service."

Give expression to your desire to assist the Empire in this crisis by co-operating in this great "Patriotism and Production" movement.

GUARDS AT FORT WERE FROZEN

The Soldiers Had a Hard Time—All Order Was Abandoned When Men Struck Ice—Many Needed Medical Attention.

With the wind blowing a perfect gale this morning and driving the blinding snowflakes into the face, the guard of the 14th Regt. service at the Fort left Artillery Park to relieve the guard which went on duty yesterday morning. Tramping from the barracks to the water front was not enough; but when the sixty-four soldiers struck the ice, all orders had to be abandoned and every man struck out to make his own way through the storm and over the trackless, snow covered, ice field. So violently was the wind driving the thick snow that the men lost all idea of their location several times, and with the greatest possible difficulty managed after a hard fight to find the shore on the other side. A number of the men were frozen. The way up the steep hill in the direction of the Fort was a hard one, and being compelled to carry rifle and bayonet with the heavy winter overcoat, the men had to fight every inch of the way to make any progress at all. The guard at last reached the Fort very much delayed, and with many of the men suffering from hard hips from Jack Frost, in the face with some on the ears with others, but all of them in a very exhausted and cold condition when they entered the big prison. As a result of their bitter experience, many of the guard had to report sick and required treatment from the doctor. The guard coming in from the Port to Artillery Park also had a tough experience, which they will long remember—Kingston Standard

Thank you so much for your contribution which I will send on to the treasurer, who will send you an official receipt. Do tell the members of the Red Cross of Ladies' Patriotic Association how much their kindness is appreciated.

I have just returned from a couple of days spent at the camp on Salisbury Plains. The poor fellows have had rather a rough time. The weather has been appalling, but, on the whole, they have stood it wonderfully well, and all in good spirits.

Sincerely yours,

OBSEQUIES OF LATE FIRE CHIEF

Impressive Funeral of William B. Campbell—Borne to Grave by Firemen

(From Friday's Daily.)

One of the largest funerals in the city in many a day was that of the late Fire Chief William B. Campbell. Hundreds of citizens of all classes turned out to pay their respects to one whom they held in highest esteem. His long residence in Belleville, his prominent position in insurance and in fire prevention and control, and his admirable personal characteristics had made him friends in all classes of society. His companions of the fire brigade turned out in uniform as a body to bestow their last tribute to the memory of the deceased chief. Belleville police forces also attended, because of the close relationship that existed between the departed and the police department. The city council was largely represented.

Rev. H. S. Osborne, pastor of Bridge Street Methodist church conducted an impressive service at the family residence, corner of Bridge street West and Isabelle street. Hundreds thronged the vicinity during the service. The cortege formed and proceeded to Belleville cemetery where the last rites were observed.

'Y'S' HAD VERY SUCCESSFUL EVENING

The very inclement weather of Tuesday evening did not deter a good crowd of the young folks of John St. Church Guild from attending the entertainment given by the young ladies of the Y.W.C.U. Mrs. McCaskey, the president, gave an edifying Bible reading on "Service," emphasizing the great influence our girls have on their boy friends. Rev. Mr. Currie offered prayer.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL EVENT

A big united Sunday school conference is to be held in Belleville on Friday afternoon and evening, Feb. 12th. The place of the conference is the Tabernacle Methodist church. It is expected that the secretaries of the various denominational Sunday school boards will be present and give addresses that will be eloquent, informing, and inspiring to all who have the welfare of the children at heart.

CHILD NAMED AFTER WAR HEROES

Mrs. Sommer of this city, whose husband has gone to the front, has an infant son who has been given the proud name of Herbert Albert Joffre. On Christmas Day his father was among those mentioned as fraternizing and shaking hands with the German soldiers. In his last letter he tells of being forty-eight hours at a time in the trenches.

They are far superior to Castor Oil and would not be without them." Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
