Campaign for Missions Alton-Watson Wedding Village Council Meeting

For the next three weeks Christian Home and Foreign Missions will be emphasized in the Methodist church in Waterdown and Nelson. Next Sunday Rev. Mr. Poole will preach missionary sermons in both churches. On Sunday, November 21st, Mr. Samuel Carter, Ex-M. P. P., of Guelph, will speak on missions in the morning, and on temperance in the evening, and as he was one of the promoters of the Committee of 100 and said to be the strongest platform speaker in the Ontario temperance ranks today everybody will want to hear him.

On Thursday, November 25th a men's banquet will be held in the school room, when the guest of the evening will be Rev. Dr. Jas. Endicott, Superintendent of Foreign Missions for the Dominion of Canada. As Dr. Endicott spent over 23 years in China and is known as a world statesman, everyone who wants to learn the real issues at stake today in world affairs should hear him. A limited number of tickets will be offered for sale next week.

Mountsburg

The anniversary services of the Methodist church was held last Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Albright, of Millgrove, had charge of the morning service, the Freedom choir furnishing the music. The evening services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Waulerburn, of Waterdown Presbyterian church, with Morrison Presbyterian choir in attendance. The church was well filled at both services.

The annual tea meeting was held on Wednesday evening and was a huge success.

Dr. McQueen of Galt was a caller in the village Thursday of last week.

A Tractor plowing demonstration was held on the farm of Mr. Albert Hewins last Friday afternoon.

On Thursday evening a number of neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Cummins to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. John Currie, who are leaving here to move to St. Catharines. They were presented with two handsome chairs and a purse.

Mr. Percy Haskell while driving to church on Sunday morning met with an accident, while going up a hill the front wheel came off, breaking the axle and throwing Mrs. Haskell out and injuring her knee.

Master Lorne Page underwent an operation for appendicitis at the City hospital, and is reported doing nicely.

Miss Olive Wise, Mr. Wm. Adamson and Rev. Mr. Albright were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bogle on Sunday.

Miss M. Zimmerman of Carlisle was the guest of Miss B. Woolsey last week.

Mr. John Gunby attended the concert at Strabane on Wednesday evening and reports a good time.

Rally Day services will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday morning, Nov. 14th at 11 o'clock. Mr. O. B. Griffin of Waterdown will address the Sunday school. Special music will be provided. Everybody welcome.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. J. T. Watson, Tansley, at 1 o'clock Wednesday of this week, when her youngest daughter, Mary Amelia, was united in marriage to Sidney L. Alton of Waterdown, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Alton, of Nelson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Poole, of Waterdown, assisted by Rev. W. C. Cranston, of Tansley, under an arch of wedding bells, the bay window being banked with greens and flowers. Only immediate relatives and friends were present. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white flowers. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Lula Alton, sister of the groom, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother, Orville Watson, who gave her away. She was charmingly gowned in white organdie, wore the customary veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. They were unattended. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The bride was the recipient of a splendid array of useful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held in the neighborhood. The happy couple left on a motor trip to Buffalo and other points, the bride travelling in a taupe tricot suit, with small velvet hat and white fox fur. On their return they will reside in Waterdown.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Shepherd, of Freeman celebrated their golden wedding at their home on Tuesday evening. Between fifty and sixty guests who gathered to honor the occasion sat down to a most sumptuous dinner. The tables were literally loaded with good things, and were beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums. After full justice had been done to the many good things provided, Rev. D. Anderson proposed the toast to the host and hostess. Mr. Anderson referred to the long and happy years they had been spared, and to the very high esteem in which they were held by the community and the church. Mr. Anderson also conveyed the greetings and congratulations of the session of Knox Church. Mr. Sheppard briefly responded, after which Dr. J. O. McGregor and others spoke of the happy occasion, and expressed the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd might yet be spared for a goodly number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and costly gifts and expressions of the good wishes of their many friends. The evening was spent in social intercourse and singing, the guests united in singing "God be with you till we meet again" Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd occupy a high place in the esteem of the entire community. Among the guests from Waterdown were Mr. and Mrs. A. Hemingway, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tuck and Dr. J. O. McGregor.

Armistice Day was observed by one man in the village who almost reached home before being informed by a passer-by that he was just one hour ahead of the dinner-bell. He quietly returned to his work.

The village council met in regular session last Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The reeve and all councillors present.

Communications were received from the Provincial Treasurer re railroad tax for 1920, and also acknowledging receipt of By-laws No. 226 and 227 of the village of Waterdown and No. 678 of the Township of East Flamboro. One from A. E. Smith re his being wrongfully taxed for a dog, the tax will be remitted. And one from the Clerk of the Peace acknowledging receipt of distribution of Jurors for 1921.

On motion of councillors Griffin and Atkins it was resolved that the balance of the money from the sale of debentures and accrued interest re new school be transferred to the building fund of the Public School Board, $4,983.06.

On motion the following accounts were passed and ordered paid.

To R. J. Vance, Sec.-Treas. Public School Board, balance of money from sale of school debentures $4,954.33, interest $28.73, total $4,983.06.

To Municipal World for supplies for council, $1.44.

To Waterdown Review, printing debentures and advertising, $40.50.

To H. Nicol for moving and making stationary the machine gun, $1.

On motion the council adjourned to Wednesday, Dec. 15th at 8 p. m. The Board of Health will meet the same evening at 7 o'clock.

An Evening in Dixie

On Friday evening, November 19th the Methodist Church Choir will give "An Evening in Dixie-Land" in the Sunday school room of the church. There will be cotton fields, picaninies, songs, readings, instrumental and a short travel talk on the sunny south. Come and forget the cold northern winds—in the sunny south. Admission 25c. Program at 8.15 p. m.

Reports from the hunters in the far north are very gratifying. One hunter's bag for the day consisted of one deer, a skunk and a ground-hog. This sportsman must certainly be going into the fur business. Our only hope is that when he returns and opens up shop, it will be in the township and not the village.

The Queen Bee

There are three kinds of bees in a hive, the queen, the drones and the workers. The workers go out and get honey. The drones stay in the hive a lazy bee. The queen lay all the eggs and is the mistress of the colony.

When the workers want another queen they tear out three or four cells and make a big one, and the queen lays an egg in it and the workers go and hunt for pollen dust and royal jelly. She is fed on this for five days when the others are only fed for three days. When she develops she spins herself a cocoon and the workers cover the cell with wax. When she is fully grown she comes out. She flies around and sees if there are any other queens and if there is she stings them to death, and if there are any coming out of the cell she stings them so they are never able to come out. She lives all winter and lays her eggs in the spring, and she does not live long after that, but another queen is chosen when she dies.

The queen lays about three thousand eggs in one day and these eggs come out in larvae and are fed on bee-bread and royal jelly, and in this way they live all summer.

Beatrice Burns, Sr. III class.

The Queen Bee

There are three kinds of bees in a hive. The queen is the bee that lays the eggs. The drones just buzz around the hive, and the workers are the first bees to come out, and they work as long as they live gathering pollen and making honey.

When the workers want a queen they break two or three cells and make one big one. The queen is fed for five days and the rest are fed for three days on royal jelly. The queen lays about three thousand eggs a day. The queens never use their stinger to sting people, they use it to sting other queens.

There can never be two queens in a hive or they will fight till one of them is killed. The queen is the head of the colony, and if there were no queens we would have no bees or honey.

Jim Newman, Jr. III class.

CAMPHOR.

Canada Imports This Drug From Formosa.

Many people are interested in the question, "Where does our imports come from?" The camphor industry in Formosa is now owned by Japan. Formosa holds a practical monopoly in the world's market of this valuable drug. The life of a camphor worker is indeed an adventurous one. He is never safe from the Formosa head-hunters. Although a woodsman with an ax never moves except in the company of an armed guard, there is always danger of an ambush.

Tales of the camphor workers recall the days of our pioneer fathers in the times of the tomahawk, the poisoned arrow and the scalping knife. And yet if this menace had not existed, the camphor forests would have disappeared long ago. Thanks to the head-hunters, there are still large tracts of camphor forests in Formosa.

Camphor trees grow best on moderate, well-drained slopes, not over 4,000 feet in elevation, where the sun's rays can reach them.

Nowhere else in the world have these trees attained such height and girth as in Formosa. In the past, trees with a basal circumference of from 35 to 40 feet have been noted, but these have inevitably fallen victims of the woodman's ax. Perhaps in the uncharted forests, where the savage still holds sway, more of these noble specimens still grow unscathed. At present a camphor tree with a basal circumference of 20 feet is considered a very ample specimen.

In point of view of value, few trees can rival the camphor. An average tree, say with a basal circumference of 12 feet, will yield about 50 piculs of camphor (approximately 6,660 pounds) which, at the present market price, is worth about $5,000. Strictly speaking, there are no camphor forests, as the camphor laurel is only one of a number of trees growing together. The camphor trees are unusually beautiful, with shapely trunks and wide-spreading branches profusely covered with graceful leaves of a soft green.

Native stills are scattered here and there throughout the districts where crude camphor is collected, packed in tins, and carried down precipitous mountain paths on coolies' backs to the nearest railway line, whence it goes to the refinery at Tathoku.

The stills are operated in a simple manner. Camphor chips are placed in a chip retort over boiling water, and as the camphor vaporizes it passes through pipes into submerged vats, which are so arranged that cool water from a mountain stream can run over them to accelerate crystallization. After the camphor has crystallized the vats are opened, and the product is placed on wooden troughs to allow whatever free oil there may be to drain off. This oil will yield 90 per cent. of crude camphor in the process of refining.

Strikes During 1919.

That there were more strikes, labor disputes and general industrial turmoil with consequent time lost in Canada during 1919 than in any other year in the country's history, is revealed in a report compiled by the Labor Department at Ottawa. Including eight carried over from 1918, there was a total of 298 strikes and lockouts in Canada during 1919. The number of employes involved was 128,988, and the number of working days lost was 3,942,189. The previous record in working days lost was in 1911, when the record stood at 2,046,650 days lost. Classified by causes, 223 of the 298 strikes recorded involved wages. Twelve strikes involved union recognition. Altogether there were 16 sympathetic strikes. The record shows that 157 strikes terminated in favor of the employes and 88 in favor of the employers; 23 were compromise settlements and 29 indefinite.

Test Batteries With Potato.

If you are away from home and have to deal with a storage battery of which the polarity markings are obliterated, here is a simple test that will instantly reveal to you which is the positive and which the negative pole. It is given by Windsor Crowell in the Popular Science Monthly.

Get a fresh potato; cut a slice off one side and stick the terminal wires into the cut section, about an inch apart. The potato in contact with one wire begins to turn green. This is the positive pole, therefore the other is the negative.

Suppose you have no potato handy to make the test, proceed as follows: Pour a little of the electrolytic solution from the battery into a glass, place both wires in it, well apart, and watch the bubbles rise from them. Many more will rise from the negative side than from the positive.

A Dual Opposition.

The problem of the dual leadership of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature is still unsolved. Ruling that the Opposition is composed of two distinct parties, each with a leader of its own, Hon. Nelson Parliment, Speaker, has refused to recognize H. H. Dewart as sole leader of the Opposition and has given as his decision that Messrs. Dewart and Ferguson are equally leaders. Whether under the ruling now given by the Speaker the salary of $5,000 payable to the Opposition leader should be divided between the Liberal and Conservative leaders, remains a matter of conjecture.

Teachers' Salaries.

If "painfully low salaries" are paid teachers now, as Hon. Dr. Cody says, what must they have been a few years ago? There is not really so much advance, however, as there seems to be, and it is well that the Minister of Education has a proper appreciation of the subject. If a teacher just fresh from the Normal School gets a salary of $550 per annum she can't get her board for probably twice what it would have cost her a few years ago, and everything she has to buy costs her much more than it would some time ago. Then as to male teachers, though there has been an advance in salaries it is probably not equal to the increase in the cost of living. There will be people both in cities and towns, however, who will complain of the high cost of education. Education of the right kind implies a teacher of the right kind. A good teacher is worth a good price.

One of Four Millions

(A Photograph Direct from the War-Stricken Area)

$1 per Month Preserves the Life of One Child

Millions of war orphans in Central Europe are growing up undemourished and stunted.

Thousands of them are dying of typhus, tuberculosis and small-pox.

There is almost a complete lack of the nourishing foods growing children need, of clothing, of doctors, nurses and medical supplies. The condition of the children is pitiable in the extreme.

Upon this coming generation depends largely whether these nations will be healthy and right-minded or a hot-bed of anarchy and degeneracy—a menace to the world.

It has been found by experience that the cost of caring for a waif child is approximately three dollars per month; that of the supplies that are required by imports about one dollar is needed; and therefore the dollar that we provide, together with the local support of local governments, local municipalities, local charities and local services practically preserves the life of one child.
