THE MARRIAGE LAW

Respecting the recent decision of the Privy Council in respect to the marriage laws of Canada, the Orange Sentinel says:—

"It has been decided that the British North America Act makes it impossible for the Dominion Parliament to pass a uniform marriage law. Under the judgement of the privy council each province may have a different marriage law. That is a condition as bad as in the United States, where every state has a different divorce law. Marriage is too vital a relation to be left in a state of confusion. The interest of the Dominion demands that there shall be one marriage law for all Canada. As the Dominion Parliament has not the power to pass such a law we must get the power for parliament. The British North America Act must be amended. That is the duty that lies before all good Canadians."

Just watch how swiftly politicians will move in this matter! It is an embarrassing position for the Borden government, as it is possible that the Orangemen may insist upon immediate action being taken.

DEATH OF THOMAS BERNEY

After an illness of five months, Thomas Berney died at his home in Athens on August 5, aged 68 years. Tidings of his death were received with sincere regret by a wide circle of friends. He had spent his whole life in Athens and vicinity and here, where he was best known, his loss is most deeply mourned.

Mr Berney was for several years engaged in business here, then was appointed to the office of postmaster, and during this period played a prominent part in the public life of the municipality, filling the office of councillor and other positions of honor and trust in the social and business affairs of the village. Latterly he had been a travelling representative of the Gould Shapley and Muir Co. of Brantford.

He is survived by his widow, and daughter, Miss May, and three sons, Harry of Merrickville, Kenneth of Hamilton and Manly at home, and to these the sympathy of the community is extended in their great bereavement.

The funeral took place on Wednesday to Christ Church where an impressive service was conducted by the rector, Rev. W. G. Swayne.

The pall bearers were A. E. Donovan, M.P.P., John R. Dargavel, M. P.P., W. G. Parish, R. J. Jelly, W. Karley, H. A. Stewart, John Muir, (Brantford) Joseph Thompson, John Webster M.P., A. T. Wilgress, John Mulvena and J. P. Lamb.

Among the floral offerings were a spray from Mr James Berney of Kingston; spray from Mr and Mrs Ira Kelly and John Kelly, a spray from Mrs Marshall, a spray from Mr and Mrs W. M. Brouse, a pillow from Gould, Shapley & Muir, of Brantford, a wreath from Mr and Mrs A. E. Donovan and family, a pillow from the Athens Conservative Association, a wreath, from Mr and Mrs A. J. Slack, a crescent from John Webster, M.P., a wreath from Rising Sun Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Athens, a pillow from the family of the deceased, a wreath from Mr and Mrs Senator Taylor, Gananoque.

PLUM HOLLOW

The regular social of the Mitchell's appointment was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid on the spacious and well kept lawn of Mr Eber Yates on the evening of Tuesday, August 6. A goodly crowd gathered to enjoy the excellent refreshments that the Aid are always noted for furnishing; and also the programme, as well as to meet the many acquaintances that usually gather on such occasions. Large tables tastefully decorated were spread on the lawn and an abundance of ice-cream, cakes and other good things were served by the ladies, ably assisted by the young men and maidens, after which the pastor, Rev. G. W. Snell, with a few timely remarks, called on the Toledo Brass Band to open the programme. Following their well rendered selection, short speeches were given by Mr E. Stevens and Rev. M. Lehigh. Vocal selections by Mr and Mrs C. Marshall, Mr T. Horsefield, and a reading by Miss M. Wing were received with hearty applause, especially Mr Horsefield, who had to respond to several encores.

The band added not a little to the evening's pleasure, and after closing with the national anthem the crowd dispersed, well pleased with the evening's pleasure. The Ladies' Aid are to be congratulated on the pleasing manner in which every feature of the evening's programme was conducted, and they are much pleased with the financial success.

DEATH OF DELBERT DOBBS

At his home in Athens, on Sunday, August 4, Thomas Delbert Dobbs departed this life, aged 47 years. He had been ill for a long time with consumption, though he was confined to his bed for only a few weeks.

Deceased was a son of Robert Dobbs who lived in the settlement that bears his name near Athens. He was a graduate of the Athens High School and always resided in this village, deserving and receiving the esteem of a wide circle of friends. He is survived by one son, Eric a student at the high school. His sister, Mrs DeWolf, cared very tenderly for him during his illness.

The funeral service was conducted in Christ Church by the rector, Rev. W. G. Swayne.

COL. HUGHES ON GERMAN MENACE

Minister of Militia Speaks at Vancouver.

Says Germany Must be Taught Lesson.

"War is Closer Than We Dream."

Vancouver despatch: At a well-attended public meeting held under the auspices of the Vancouver Conservative Club, Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, declared his views on the defence of Canada and the Empire and enthusiasm reached a high pitch as he put the position in international politics as viewed from the standpoint of a Canadian Cabinet Minister.

Earlier in the evening Col. Hughes had met the Fenian Aid Veterans, and numbers of the old soldiers were present, as well as members of the various militia corps of the city. It was towards the conclusion of his address that the Colonel touched on the German peril. He had been dealing with militia training and had commented on the untrained Loyalist who preferred to show his patriotism by merely shouting for the flag.

"They pool-pool the idea that this country will ever be invaded," said the Colonel. "Gentlemen, never underestimate your foe. More unlikely things have happened. Remember that the British Empire is the mother of civil and religious liberty the world over. It stands for law and order and decent living; it is a trite saying that the British bayonet and the British missionary have reformed the world, but our great curse at present is apathy and laziness. Look at our crowded jails—and we call ourselves civilized. Gentlemen, we are not more than half civilized to-day, and war is closer than you dream; the great peril is from Germany. Why? Because Germany must have colonies within a generation or she will begin to go down."

"She is building ships on borrowed money and must seek new territory. She has large numbers of citizens in the South American countries, and there are only two fields where she can find the needed outlet for her surplus population. One is along the South American seaboard, the other is in British colonies. It is well known that Germany made a tentative offer to stop shipbuilding in return for the concession of British colonies. But this will never happen so long as the old flag floats. There was grave danger last year. The world awoke one morning to find Germany established at Agadir, a port in Morocco. She meant to establish a naval base there, but Britain told her to get out. For two days war was very near."

"Germany has to be taught a lesson, and the lesson to be taught her is that Canada, South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand are behind the Mother Country. We know that Germany was behind Kruger, and that there was a definite scheme to oust Great Britain from South Africa, but the fact that the colonies sprang to arms and aided from all quarters of the globe to the assistance of Great Britain caused the scheme to be frustrated."

"Now, gentlemen, the time has come when a definite plan of Empire defence must be adopted. Let it take the form of a full partnership with the Mother Country."

Later Colonel Hughes declared that there would be no liquor sold in cantons in the Dominion. "So long as our men are wearing his Majesty's uniforms we are not going to let bartenders," declared the Minister.

PARTLY SOLVED

Woman Found Dead in Sandwich Identified.

Windsor despatch: The identity of the woman found dead in bed on Becker street, in Sandwich town, last Saturday night has been established as that of Mrs. Margaret Stanley, of Detroit. Friends identified her at the morgue to-day, and later the husband, Peter Stanley, called to explain he had not lived with his wife for some time.

According to the story told by Mrs. Barrigan, a friend of the dead woman, the latter was ejected from a house in Detroit last Friday night for creating a disturbance, and it is presumed she crossed to Windsor early next morning in search of the position which she secured with Frederick Jamieson, in whose home she was found dead.

The inquest in the case is set for tomorrow evening, and meanwhile the police are endeavoring to locate Jamieson as a witness. He has been missing since Sunday.

The camera is used to detect and demonstrate the athlete's shortcomings.

CANNOT ESCAPE

Asquith Still to be Hunted by Suffragettes.

London, Aug. 12.—The Birmingham Post says that a letter received here from a responsible authority in Ottawa expresses the confident belief that negotiations between Canada and the United States will take place after Premier Borden's return for an agreement governing frontier defence. Such would require the assent of the Imperial Government, but would in the end benefit the whole Empire, while avoiding the opposition of foreign powers which a direct Anglo-American treaty might provoke.

Truth says that a section of the press is extraordinarily anxious that Premier Asquith should spend what is termed a patriotic holiday in Canada with Winston Churchill, and adds: "Why the Premier should thus be condemned to play second fiddle I don't quite know, but on one point a hint may be useful. There's a profound conviction that in September the Suffragettes may engage on further events."

"Let not the Cabinet Ministers imagine they will escape merely by running to Canada. The further Asquith travels the more closely must he be taken care of," declares Truth.

SHARES WEALTH

Krupp Employees Will Divide $3,500,000.

Essen, Aug. 12.—In honor of the centenary of the great Krupp Works at Essen the company has donated $3,500,000, to be distributed as gratuities to the 65,000 workmen, as well as funds for citizens of Essen and for the army and navy.

Dr. Sydow, the Prussian Minister of Commerce, who is here to attend the centenary celebration, announced to-day that a large number of orders would be conferred on Krupp employees by the Emperor, who will arrive here to-morrow for the chief celebration.

PANAMA TOLLS

Senate Votes U. S. Vessels to be Free.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Senate voted four to one shortly before midnight to-night to give free tolls through the Panama Canal to vessels engaged exclusively in the United States coastwise trade. This result came after nearly twelve hours of debate. The vote came on a motion by Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, to strike from the Panama Canal bill the clause which gives free tolls to coastwise shipping. Mr. Burton's motion failed 44 to 11.

The vote was thought to be significant as foreshadowing a vote in favor of free tolls for all American shipping and a clear disregard of Great Britain's protest.

STRANGE DEATH

Toronto Man Found Dying on Steps.

Toronto despatch: W. B. Chapman met with a peculiar death last night about 11 o'clock, immediately in front of the house at 44 Wilton avenue, at which he boarded. The policeman on the beat found him lying at the foot of a series of three or four steps which run from the door of the house to the street level. Fearing he had been overcome by a sudden illness, the officer investigated and found that the man was still breathing, but was unconscious. He had a wound on the head.

The police patrol was immediately summoned and Mr. Chapman hurried to St. Michael's Hospital. He was dead when the patrol reached the hospital. Coroner S. Singer was notified and had the body taken directly to the morgue. The coroner will investigate the circumstances to-day to ascertain whether an inquest will be necessary.

Enquiries last night failed to disclose anyone who had seen the accident. It seems probable that no eyewitnesses of the accident will be found, as the street was practically deserted at the late hour at which it occurred. It is thought that, in ascending the stairs to the front door, Mr. Chapman either tripped or fell from faintness or illness and dropped to the ground below, striking his head. It was believed at this hospital that he had sustained a fracture of the skull.

Mr. Chapman was about 35 years of age.

ASKED TO QUIT

Cabinet Member Implicated With Suffragettes.

London, Aug. 12.—Accused of inspiring suffragette violence, C. E. Hobhouse was subjected to strong pressure to-day to resign from the Cabinet. Witnesses at Gladys Evans' trial for attempting to burn the Theatre Royal, Dublin, said that the suffragettes would accept nothing until they began burning houses.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George and one or two others are urging their colleague to stick to his portfolio, but Premier Asquith and a majority of the other Ministers want him to quit. The outcome is uncertain. Hobhouse holds the post of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, a nominal position so far as its work is concerned, but which, however, adds greatly to his importance in the Commons. It was given to Hobhouse for his skill as a Liberal de-

THE NEW YORK GRAFT MURDER

Piling Up Evidence Against the "System."

More Gamblers Confirm Rose's Statements.

Whitman Still on Trail of Gun Men.

New York, Aug. 12.—District Attorney Whitman has learned that one of the gamblers on Lieut. Becker's graft list was Willie Shea, formerly a partner of Arnold Rothstein. Shea will be called before the grand jury to testify as to whether he paid Lieut. Becker $4,500 as protection money.

In Jack Rose's thirty-eight page statement to the district attorney Shea was named as one of the contributors to the purse of the little ring of police officials for whom Lieut. Becker's labored. Investigation by Mr. Whitman brought out that Shea has been telling his friends that he did pay Becker blackmail, as Rose says, and that Becker "was the only square cop he had ever done business with."

According to Shea's story, a raid was made on his place after he had handed Becker $4,500 in cash. Rose and Shea both say that Shea was indignant and aggrieved. He did not expect ever to see his money again. But to his surprise, Becker himself called on Shea a few days later, handed back the money, and said: "Willie, here's your cash. You didn't get a run for your money."

ROSE'S STORY CONFIRMED. On information supplied by Rose, Mr. Whitman will ask Shea whether or not he dealt with other police officials than Becker. There is some ground for the district attorney's belief that at times Shea, in common with other gamblers on Becker's list, was forced to deal with uptown inspectors.

Other corroboration of Jack Rose's statement as to the details of Becker's graft collection was obtained to-day by the district attorney. Two witnesses with whom Mr. Whitman talked said that they had paid $1,000 a month expense to an inspector whose name is already on Mr. Whitman's list. They told the district attorney that word had come to many of them that if they inform on certain police officials they will get what Rosenthal got.

Their story, in substance, is that the inspectors dealt only with the big and prosperous gambling houses, that houses that were able to pay glibbed rates, and that Becker gleaned among the second and third-rate houses. Such gamblers as "Honest" John Kelly and Sam Emery paid tribute only to inspectors in whom they had confidence, and that these inspectors had power enough to keep Becker from making raids.

The story these witnesses told to District Attorney Whitman is that regularly once a month two inspectors sent collectors around to the big gambling houses and that these collectors were paid the regular assessment, no matter whether the games had prospered or not. The inspectors even insisted on examining the books.

Sometimes

Admiralty, whom he characterized as the most eccentric individual who had ever been entrusted with the executive of the British navy.

"He has occupied the position for eight months," said Lord Beresford, "and he has proved a miserable failure. He speaks as one looking at things with a modern eye, but the first necessity is to see straight."

With unaccountable insolence, Churchill took charge of the "Spithead" naval manoeuvres, which resulted in chaotic disorganization. The German menace was, in his opinion, so serious that he withdrew the whole fleet to protect the heart of the empire, leaving one armored cruiser only responsible for the Mediterranean.

"We cannot at present fight," added Lord Charles, "and we shouldn't be ready for some time to come." Vigorously opposing any naval alliance with a foreign country, he urged that the empire should defend itself with its own ships. The only alliance we should consider was one with the overseas dominions.

MONSTER SHARK

Caught by Fishermen at Sandy Hook.

New York, Aug. 12.—A man-eating shark, twelve feet long and weighing nearly 400 pounds, gave the ten men on board the fishing schooner Tamey Bitten the greatest excitement in their fishing career off Sandy Hook to-day. The huge shark was caught in the meshes of a seine. When it was finally landed it flipped about so that more than half of the crew were knocked to the deck time and again. The men rushed at the monster with large sheath knives and after they had stabbed it a score of times the shark succumbed. It is the first monster of its kind seen in these waters for many years.

SIR WM. RAMSAY

British Scientist Leaving for Canada.

(By Times Special Cable.)

London, Aug. 12.—Sir William Ramsay, the famous British scientist, and his wife, will leave London to-morrow for Montreal. In September Sir William will go to Washington to attend the International Chemistry Congress, of which he formerly was the President. His going to America means that he will not attend the great annual meeting at Dundee, Scotland, of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, of which he is the retiring President.

Recently Sir William was before the public here as an active supporter of the latest process of manufacturing synthetic rubber, the merits of which have been much discussed.

FREIGHTER SUNK

Gayley Rammed Near Manitou Point.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 12.—The freighters Gayley and Rouselle were in collision off Manitou Point during a thick fog early this morning. The Gayley, in command of Captain M. M. Stewart, was badly rammed forward and began to take in water at once, and half an hour after the collision she went down in thirty fathoms of water. The crew were taken off just in time by small boats from the Canadian steamer Stadencon, which was passing within hailing distance and responded at once to the Gayley's whistle for aid.

The Rouselle was crushed in on the port bow, and arrived here to-night for repairs. The Gayley was laden with coal and destined for Fort William. She was valued at $300,000, and will prove a total loss.

T. & N. O. SMASH

Fatal Wreck on Cobalt Special.

(By Times Special Wire.) Cobalt, Ont., despatch: The Cobalt special, which left Toronto at 8.30 last night, crashed head-on into a freight train, 33 miles north of North Bay, at 7.30 this morning, killing fireman Carmichael, of the special, who jumped, and injuring several others. Meagre details only can be heard of the accident. Engineer Smith's passenger train was injured, while Express Messenger James Casey had his leg broken. Two passengers were injured. This is the first fatal train wreck that has ever occurred on the T. & N. O. Railway since it commenced operations, some years ago.

IS INDEPENDENT

Does Not Want Carnegie's Library Money.

Edmonton, Alta., despatch: If Edmonton has a Carnegie library it will not be the Library Board that is to be thanked. That organization last night washed its hands of the whole negotiations with the ironmaster, and put the question of accepting or rejecting the proffered $60,000 up to Commissioner Harrison.

The whole trouble is that Carnegie has based his offer on the recent Dominion census of 23,000, while the recent civic census gives Edmonton 55,385. The Library Board has recommended that Carnegie's gold be refused with thanks, and that the citizens erect a much more pretentious institution themselves.

BAD WEATHER

British Crops Ruined by Rain and Cold.

(By Times Special Cable.)

London, Aug. 12.—A striking fact about the extraordinary weather conditions which are ruining the harvests in England is that places in the Arctic circle enjoyed a warmer temperature yesterday than London. The minimum in this city was 54 degrees, and at Bodø, in Northern Norway, it was 62 degrees. Inland, heavy rains have fallen in all parts of the country, causing the abandonment of cricket, and also an important polo tournament in Rugby. Unless conditions improve, the King and Queen will curtail their visit to Cowes and return to Buckingham Palace. King Alfonso has returned to London.

Many persons made an early start for the moors, the weather in the north being better than in the south.

WHITE SLAVERY INVESTIGATION

J. D. Rockefeller, Jun., Making Inquiry.

Has Helped in the Rosenthal Case.

(By Times Special Wire.)

New York, Aug. 12.—By far the most interesting development in the many-sided investigation into the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, and its surrounding scandal of police graft, is the news of John D. Rockefeller, junior's, quiet, complimentary inquiry into conditions in the underworld, particularly as to the so-called white slave traffic.

While Mr. Rockefeller and his agents decline to discuss the matter, and District Attorney Whitman will furnish no details, it is generally credited that, through the establishment of what purported to be a disorderly house in the tenderloin, agents for Mr. Rockefeller have gathered a great deal of valuable material.

It was gathered primarily for reports to Congress, and the Legislature, as a basis for corrective legislation dealing with the traffic in girls, but coincidentally it dovetailed with the present inquiry into the Rosenthal case, in that, it is said, evidence was obtained that a police inspector was getting $800 a month from such resorts for protection. This data will be at Mr. Whitman's disposal, to use along with the confession of "Bad Jack" Rose and others. It is thought probable that the District Attorney and Mr. Rockefeller will hold a conference some time this week.

"I know nothing of the details of this matter," said Mr. Whitman to-day. "It is true that John D. Rockefeller, jun., has been of great service to the community in the white slave investigation. He has done work that New York should be proud of. No man has done more to hold up my hands in the particularly difficult business of finding out who are the guilty persons in different kinds of criminality."

The evidence in question was collected by Clifford Roe, a detective, who was prominent in the Chicago vice crusade, in co-operation with Assistant District Attorney James Bronson Reynolds.

Whether any of this evidence will be presented to the grand jury now in session could not be learned.

WERE RELEASED

English Yachtsmen Set Free by Germany.

Kiel, Germany, Aug. 12.—The five English yachtsmen, who were arrested on Aug. 4, at Eckenforde, in Schleswig-Holstein, on the charge of espionage, were released to-day.

They were accused of taking photographs of important points along the coast, including the harbors and bays, but the police admit now that the suspected men seem to have been only guilty of foolhardy photography of which they knew the risk.

UNCLAIMED FUNDS

Immense Balances in Canadian Banks.

Ottawa despatch: A statement was issued to-day showing that there are unclaimed balances in Canadian banks to the amount of $67,6147. There are unpaid dividends of $9,639, and unpaid drafts of $49,851.

The Montreal City and District Bank heads the list with $122,671. The Bank of Montreal second, with $119,000; British North America Bank $33,000; Bank of Commerce, $28,000; Bank of Hamilton, $22,000; Union Bank, $21,000.

There is an agitation on foot to have the money revert to the Government. This, of course, was recommended by the Banking and Commerce Committee, but no action was taken. It is understood that when the Banking Act is revised next session there will be provision to have unclaimed money turned over to the Government. In the majority of the cases the money now is never claimed, and the banks get the benefit of it.

NEW THEORY

C. P. R. Working on Automatic Telegraphy.

Toronto despatch: Telegraph operators will soon only be serviceable as fiction heroes, and their places in the railway and telegraph systems will be usurped by young and untrained girls, if the newly introduced device which is at present under trial in the office of the Canadian Pacific lives up to present expectations.

The new system is now in use on the C. P. R.'s Montreal to Toronto line. It is known as the Morkrum Automatic Telegraph, and the sending and receiving apparatus resembles nothing more closely than a typewriter. The sending operator presses the keys at Toronto and the message is automatically transmitted in Montreal. English letters and words are used throughout.

This innovation in methods of telegraphy will achieve its most important results in the lowering of wages of operators. Instead of paying skilled operators eight dollars a month, girls will be engaged at thirty dollars, who will be competent to handle the messages in future. The Morse code will be forgotten, and the services of a receiving operator will be dispensed with as the message is automatically recorded at the receiving end. Thus the operating staff will be immediately cut in two.

If the present experiment proves a success the system will be extended to include all the lines of the Canadian Pacific telegraphic department.

TRUSTED THE SUN.

Indian Origin of "the 10 o'clock" Boundary Line.

From a point near the mouth of the Miami river extends northwest through Indiana a boundary known as "the 10 o'clock line." This is one limit of an Indian grant. When the tribe had agreed to cede a portion of its territory to the whites a meeting was held for the purpose of marking out the ground. A surveyor was present and had mounted his compass and telescope on a tripod.

The head man of the tribe went up to the instruments, stared steadily at them for awhile, grunted and returned to the circle about the council fire. Not a word was spoken by any one. Soon another Indian arose, walked sedately to the instruments, gravely examined them, grunted and returned to his place by the fire. This example was followed by half a dozen others, after which a short consultation ensued.

The chief then approached the white men. "That what Indian know," he said, drawing a small circle on the ground with a stick; "that what white man know," drawing a larger circle round the first; "this what nobody know," he added, pointing to what lay without the last circle. "White man know that," indicating the instruments; "Indian not know it. Indian know sun. He never cheat. Him always same. Him throw shadow. Indian give white man land one side."

After long consultation it was decided that a line drawn in the direction in which the sun would cast a shadow from an agreed point at 10 o'clock should be made the boundary, the white men taking the land on one side and the Indians keeping that on the other.—Exchange.

HOT FOODS IN RUSSIA.

The Steaming Scene in a Railroad Eating Room.

We stopped at Lubin for supper. The guard unlocked our car, opened the door and pointed to the station, where we found a monster eating room with huge lunch counters on either side and long rows of tables down the middle. Everybody was standing up. There were no seats anywhere. Hot soft drinks were served at the side counters and smoking coffee and tall glasses of hot, clear tea. The Russian swallows only hot drinks and eats only hot food. On the center tables, set above spirit lamps, were hot dishes with big metal covers. There were glasses of hot drink for a few kopecks, which the Russian pours down all at once.

Taking a plate from a pile standing ready, you help yourself to what you choose. There were hot doughnuts with hashed meat inside, hot apple dumplings, hot juicy steaks, hot stews, hot fish—all hot. When you have eaten your fill you pay your bill at a counter near the entrance, according to your own reckoning. The Russian is honest in little things, and nobody doubts your word or questions the correctness of your payment. The eating room was full of big, tall, robust, fair haired, blue eyed men and a few women. The Russian is big himself, he likes big things, he thinks on big lines, he sees with wide vision—too wide almost to be practical. Hanging around the station were groups of unkempt, dirty peasants. We see such groups of gaping peasants at every station, always a hopeless look of "don't care" in their eyes.—William Seymour Edwards in "Through Scandinavia to Moscow."

A Stellar Attraction

Flying Machine for Three Days at Brockville Fair

A Guaranteed Altitude of Not Less Than Five Hundred Feet—The Flights Will Extend Over Half an Hour Each Afternoon on Sept. 4th, 5th, and 6th.

When the Board of Directors of Brockville Fair of 1912 put their shoulders to the wheel they promised the public that there would be something doing in the line of superior attractions at the next fall exhibition. After due consideration and at great expense, a contract has been signed with the Curtis Aeroplane Company of New York City for three flights by one of their best birdmen on the afternoons of Sept. 4th, 5th and 6th, the three last days of the Fair. The Curtis people are not only promoters of the fair-raising pastime, but are also extensive manufacturers of flying machines at Hammondsport, N.Y., and it is their interest to see that advertised flights by the concern are carried out successfully. In case of accident or unforeseen happenings, a sufficient number of experienced aviators are kept constantly on the staff to fill engagements as substitutes on a moment's notice. Consequently, the possible chances of a disappointment with the Curtis Company is reduced to a minimum.

Through the committee on sports and attractions, a splendid contract has been entered into on behalf of the Brockville Fair. The flights call for two or more exhibitions extending over not less than half an hour each afternoon, one ascending to an altitude of at least 1,500 feet while the others will be devoted to dips, etc, demonstrating the control of the machine by the aviator.

Last year the Curtis Company furnished 80 per cent of the flying exhibitions on the North American continent. They carried out contracts with 14 state fairs, 40 county fairs and 156 commercial clubs, newspaper and business associations. At present the company is negotiating with the United States government for the use of their biplane in army work.

The exhibitions provided for in Brockville next September will be a decided novelty in these parts and ought to attract immense crowds. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indigestion and excess in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night, weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loss, urinary pain, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so."

Sense of Hunger and Thirst.

Whether the hunger sense has its seat in the stomach and thirst in the throat has been a subject of much scientific controversy. The Italian physician, Valenti, puts the seat of both these emotions in the gullet. He found that a cocaine injection in the oesophagus (the channel from the mouth to the stomach) resulted in immediate suppression of the feeling of both hunger and thirst.

Savages have long known that the chewing of coca leaves renders the gullet insensitive and destroys any desire for food or drink.—Chicago Tribune.

Trouble in Store For Him.

There is a rough time in store for the little boy whose antics have led his distracted parents to thus appeal for assistance through an advertisement in an English paper:

"Nurse.—Wanted, a robust, God fearing Scotch nurse, who can teach the shorter catechism and has a working knowledge of the business side of a slipper, to take charge of a four-year-old boy who has a double dose of original sin."

A Great Blow.

A western financier was talking to a Washington reporter about a financial deal that had ended disastrously.

"It was too bad," said the reporter.
"Too bad?" said the financier, with a grim smile. "Oh, 'too bad' is not strong enough to fit the case. 'Too bad' is ludicrous. It suggests the farmer who when his wife and family were killed by a cyclone said it was 'a great blow' to him."—Exchange.

No Emancipation.

"And so you are an ex-slave," said the traveler in the south. "How interesting! But when the war was ended you got your freedom."
"No, sub," replied Uncle Rastus. "Ah didn't git no freedom. Ah was married."—New York Times.

An Improvement.

Mr and Mrs Charles Lafleche, of Delta, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Adeline Cecelia to Henry C. Juby. Mr Juby is the son of Mr and Mrs Wm. H. Juby of Watertown, N.Y. The marriage will take place in September.

The Good Roads makers left the street west of the village in a condition to justify the indignant protests that are made by farmers in that section. The old road-bed should not have been disturbed until preparations for construction had been completed.

Miss Annie A. Doolan, who passed successfully the Normal school examinations last March, has since been taking a course in elementary household science at Toronto University and has completed the course and passed the final examinations. Miss Nellie Cockrill of Seely's Bay, also a Normal graduate, attended Guelph Agricultural College and passed in elementary agriculture and horticulture.

We have received good reports of the crops in the section of Alberta where our former townsman, Mr Phil Wiltse is located. A G.T.P. surveyor who has travelled through the whole district says that the prospects are excellent. The C.N.R. now runs within 6 1/2 miles of Mr Wiltse's location and the G.T.P. line, now under construction, will be only 1 1/2 miles distant. Mr C. Arnold of Meridian, Saskatchewan, reports splendid crops in his district with an abundant yield of all kinds of garden vegetables.

The "old tavern stove" which radiated heat in the hostelry of the late John Donovan, and which was famed in the poetry of C. C. Slack, is now a dismantled wreck in the rear of the Reporter office. The stove, which came originally from Scotland, endured many vicissitudes but passed the closing years of its life in comparative peace in the Reporter office. It stood the passing of the years well, but latterly existed only by virtue of the skill of the village blacksmith. Sic transit gloria mundi.

Charged with being under the influence of liquor in this Local Option municipality, a citizen summoned by Chief Campo went before Brockville's police magistrate, pleaded guilty, and was fined the regulation $20 and costs, which he paid. Added to the horrors of "the cold, gray dawn of the morning after" will in the future be the spectre of the statutory fine, which not even the bracing influence of a John Collins will enable one to face with equanimity. The way of the transgressor is indeed hard.

A Sudden Death

On Tuesday, August 6, Samuel Hollingsworth, a well known and esteemed resident of Sheldon's Corners, died suddenly, aged 64 years. Mr Hollingsworth had not been feeling well since the spring when he sustained an accident. He was always able however, to be up and around. Death was due to heart failure. He resided in the township of Rear Yonge and Escott all life, following farming. His wife died several years ago and a grown up family survive their father.

Value of Bordeaux

Anyone wishing to get an idea of the value of the Bordeaux Mixture are invited by Ernest Livingstone to have a look at his potato crop. Prof. Smith made the first application of the mixture on July 19, omitting two average rows one at each side of the field. These two rows have been watched carefully and kept free from bugs, vermin, difference in appearance from the rest of the crop is strikingly apparent. The Professor assures us that a still greater difference will be found at the time of digging.

EAGLE CAPTURED

We haven't any more eagles at Charleston Lake than any good summer resort should possess, and so are pleased to learn that the one recently captured is to be released. Of its capture, Mr J. C. Webster of Smith's Falls tells the Record the following story:—
Early one morning with his young son he was taking a walk about his island when he noticed a huge bird sitting at the water's edge. On closer inspection it proved to be an eagle and Mr Webster lost no time in making an attempt to capture the prize. He secured a rope and tried to lasso it, but did not succeed in doing that. The bird, however, in dodging, slipped off the stone into the water and was unable to get out. Mr Webster and his boy then jumped into a skiff and took after it. It made a savage lunge at the oar and then a rope was thrown over one of its talons and in this way it was secured and hauled ashore. The eagle is a beautiful specimen of the gray variety and measures six feet from tip to tip, and is quite a curiosity to cottagers and residents at the lake. Mr Webster intends to liberate it as soon as the cottage is closed for the season.

WOODEN culverts are unsightly, dangerous, expensive, short-lived.

Which kind of a culvert does your waggon cross?

DOES the road you use pass over rickety, dangerous wooden culverts, that are constantly in need of repairs and often washed away entirely? Or is it carried safely across the low places by modern, everlasting culverts? Build your CULVERTS OF CONCRETE which not only cannot be washed away, but actually grow stronger with age and use.

Every farmer owes it to himself to insist that the money he pays for road-taxes be spent to the best advantage. As a ratepayer, he is entitled to the best roads that can be made with that money. When culverts are washed out, and the road rendered impassable, he not only suffers inconvenience but may also be caused financial loss by inability to get necessary supplies in time for spring planting. And at best, with wooden culverts, part of the money that should be used to make better roads must be spent every year for repairs.

THE DEAREST GIRL IN THE WORLD

"I am, at least, old enough to form opinions, and I do say that it is a downright shame and disgrace to be indebted to a man for the roof that shelters us, the food we eat, and the clothes on our backs, and then pay not the slightest regard to his feelings. You know, mother, that is not right."

"I married the Earl for a position in society, and I shall demand it," said the Countess.

"It seems to me it is a very uncertain way to keep it. We must admit that we owe a great deal to the Earl. If my memory serves me correctly we must on a few pence daily and lived in extreme want. I feel that we owe the Earl a deep debt of gratitude, and I, for one, feel like repaying it. It nearly breaks my heart to see him watching me so cold and heartless. It would have melted a stone to see how glad she was to have her schoolmate with her."

"What schoolmate is with her, pray?" asked the Countess.

"Didn't you know, mother, that Elsie has been calling for days, for a school friend named Dorothy Wynter, and the Earl sent me to find her, which I did, and that she is here now."

"The Countess was really angry now. 'You are all the fool of things you certainly are a fool—why on earth did you do this thing? Don't you see that you have advertised to the public that I said no attention to the girl?'"

"Well, mother, you have not, as you know, 'That's none of your business what we do. You have disgraced me to the public. Why did you do that?'"

"I only did as I was requested, and accepting so much at the hands of the Earl, I certainly feel that I owe him some debt, and I tell you that I shall not come down to the party at all. I owe him gratitude, and I am going to show it."

"Mother, don't pay any heed to Frances whatever, and please your own self instead of the Earl because he is too old and decrepit to enjoy society. It is no sign that we should give it up."

"They did not hear a word that she said. The Earl was sitting at the table, and he was looking at Dorothy with a great shadow that stole over his face as he realized that his marriage had been a mistake from the first. He had heard every word that she had said, and he had seen her pale face as she had spoken, and he had seen her eyes as they had looked at him with a great shadow that stole over his face as he realized that his marriage had been a mistake from the first. He had heard every word that she had said, and he had seen her pale face as she had spoken, and he had seen her eyes as they had looked at him with a great shadow that stole over his face as he realized that his marriage had been a mistake from the first."

"I have grown so selfish of late," she said.

"Perhaps your Dorothy may have grown tired of so much confinement. She is home for a short time." She looked at him in pity. "Dorothy would never have done that," she said.

"Well, well, we will let Dorothy take a rest for a day or two, poor child. She is nearly ill, herself," he said. A strange thought came to her. "Father, if Dorothy should get ill, what would you do?"

"I am so glad you have thought of it, but I am so sure she will come back to me soon. For only a day or two, did you say?" she asked eagerly, and he replied with a smile.

she took courage. The servant brought the Countess's regrets that she could not join them, and the meal passed in silence, save for a few broken sentences of conversation between the Earl and Frances Smith. After he had finished his lunch, the Earl crossed from the table and went into the library. The sitting-room adjoined it. As Dorothy left the table a request came to her that the Countess would be pleased to see her in the sitting-room.

Dorothy obeyed the summons at once. "I believe this is the first time I have had the pleasure of meeting Miss Wynter."

"I have never had the honor of meeting your ladyship," answered Dorothy, standing.

"Pray be seated," said Dorothy, as she seated herself.

"Thank you, you have been my guest for some days, Miss Wynter, but I did not know it. The Earl thought his daughter needed companionship, but I have resolved a change of plans for the future. I will probably take her with me for a visit."

For the life of her, the Countess could not fathom her words. The girl before her held herself with such womanly dignity, the Countess was greatly astonished.

"I thank you for your kindness to our child, and wish we might be allowed to offer to pay for it."

Dorothy's eyes flashed fire. Her cheeks crimsoned.

"I was invited here by the Earl of Dunraven, to cheer his daughter in her illness. Since I have finished my mission, I thank you for your kind offer of money, but I do not require money for a duty of love."

Dorothy turned away as the Countess said, "I trust you will not speak of this to anyone."

Without making any reply, Dorothy went out of the room, as Miss Smith entered.

"The idea of that pauper putting on those airs," said the Countess to her daughter.

"She really has the grace of a duchess," said Miss Smith.

"Well, I've settled that matter nicely. She is too proud to tell anyone that she has been dismissed, so no one will be the wiser."

"It's a fine thing it is done, but I fear that it will bring some harm yet. The Earl would be furious if he only knew it. I do hope and trust that Lord Wellington may never meet that girl. It's the strangest thing you ever heard of. He was telling me of his ideal woman, and if he had her before him, he could not have described her more minutely. It certainly is the strangest thing I ever heard of. They did not know that the Earl had heard every word that she had said, and he had seen her pale face as she had spoken, and he had seen her eyes as they had looked at him with a great shadow that stole over his face as he realized that his marriage had been a mistake from the first."

He could have sat in that humble place in the changes that had taken place in the household.

Later, when the Countess heard of it, she burst into the Earl's room in a terrible rage.

"Such a scandalous thing was never heard of before! I can not understand how you dared to do it without my consent."

"I did not think your consent necessary, Marcia. There was something about it and calm in the Earl's voice that she was astonished.

"I do not remember that you took enough trouble to see her but once during her stay here. Miss Smith never saw her. I must say I owe your daughter Frances some gratitude for her kindness."

"It was only done in insult to me," she cried, angrily.

"It seems to me, Marcia, the insult was all on my side. Those bats and card parties were an insult to myself and sick daughter, if you please to call it to mind. He spoke calmly and coolly, and did not get angry. She had never seen him thus, and felt afraid."

"She will have to come home, that's all there is to it," she said. "The idea of such a thing! It says plainly to the public, there is no place in my house for my daughter, and my wife is the cause of it."

"Father, would I have been a rich girl if I had lived?"

"Such a question!" he said, with a smile. "Yes, very rich, my darling. Why?"

"And I can do as I like with my own?"

"Indeed, you can," he answered.

"Then, father, I want to give it to Dorothy. She is the only friend I ever had. I love her, father, next to you. I wish, father, it were possible for her to take my place when I am gone, and love you and comfort you as she loves me. I have no kith or kin, father, and in my heart I love Dorothy next to you. You will see it for me, father?"

"The Earl sat with bowed head. He did not give way to his feelings, but his heart was rent. He promised his child. He understood how well she loved Dorothy, and in a short time the necessary papers were fully made out, and Dorothy Wynter had not the slightest idea that she was the possessor of hundreds of thousands of pounds. She had no idea. She had tenderly loved the Earl's sick daughter, and hers was a labor of love. No thought of recompense had ever entered her mind."

"I never was so humiliated and perplexed as I am now. I can not remain in town in my conscience. It will never do for me to remain here and have that girl in lodgings. So I shall telegraph the Westmorelands that I shall join them at once in Scotland. It may not be unpleasant after all since Captain Trenton and Major Blair will be there."

The Countess was discussing the matter with her daughters. She had seen that she had lost her power over the Earl. She was angry with him. She thought this visit would annoy and irritate him, since he had objected strongly to it from the first. These army men were gay, dashing and wild. He had insisted that the Countess include among the guests. The Countess decided that she would say nothing, but would join them immediately, so she had been gone several days before the Earl knew of it. When he heard of it, he understood the motives that actuated her, but he did not care.

He visited his daughter every day. He spent hours by her bedside. He watched her drift away, like a boat that is broken from its moorings. His Elsie had failed so rapidly now that it was now only a question of a few hours. Frances Smith acted the part of a friend. When the young life had nearly ebbed out, Frances Smith sent a telegram to her mother, "to come at once. She did not say Elsie Dunraven once. She was dying, thinking her mother would obey the summons, but the mother's vanity agreed that the Earl wished her return, and she decided to teach him a lesson that he would not soon forget, and took her place once more in the giddy whirl of society. She did not know that the Earl's daughter was dead and that he was prostrated with grief. That as soon as she was laid away among her ancestors, the Earl could not bear up under his grief. He was very old, and the sands of his life were nearly run out, hence could not rally. He had insisted on having Dorothy Wynter at his bedside every hour.

Frances Smith had telegraphed her mother to come, and the telegram had been repeated, but the Countess had quite made up her mind that the Earl was ready to acknowledge his wrong and she would not go to him, besides Captain Trenton was such a delightful company, and she had grown to love his idle flattery. When the Earl found she had not come to him, he made no moan. He had chosen his path in life and if it proved a difficult and stormy one, he would travel it bravely.

There's a simple way to DEMAGNETIZE A WATCH.

There are a host of people who know that a watch is easily magnetized—that is, all but watches built to withstand the effects of electric contact. There are few people who know how to demagnetize the timepiece after it has been magnetized. A very simple process is described in a recent issue of "Power."

MARVELOUS CURES OF SKIN ERUPTION

Four Children Constantly Scratching. Nearly Torn Limbs Off. Cured in a Month by Cuticura Soap and Ointment

"Two of my daughters and two of my sons were suffering from very bad heads, the doctor ordered me to have all their hair cut off so as to prevent it from spreading all over their heads, and to get to the seat of the trouble in order to be able to rub some ointment on their heads. These sores started in small patches, which got larger and larger and then burst and spread all over their heads, and in some cases down their backs and bodies. The doctor said it was eczema, but they seemed like little getting worse. The sores formed like little bubbles, then filled with matter, and looked like a matter flowed all over their heads. We had to cut their finger nails back, and to keep them from digging into the flesh, and at night they would nearly tear their limbs off. The doctors would be likely to cover with blood."

"The teachers would not let them attend school for fear of infection spreading among the other children. I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for one month, and the result is a marvelous cure. (Signed) George W. Robinson, Barre, Vt., Aug. 3, 1911. IS THE LUCKY MAN

Dr. McIntyre, of Memphis, Has Perfect Wife.

Gold Medal and Three Months' Vacation for Her.

(Chicago Sunday Tribune.)

Dr. R. H. McIntyre, of Memphis, Tenn., has given his wife three months' vacation in Canada, a new outfit of summer clothes, and a gold medal as a reward for being the best housewife in Memphis, and the only one he ever saw that "minds her own business."

All the housewives in the fashionable part of Memphis are talking about it, and Dr. McIntyre, a handsome and socially popular man, is called the "hero of the day."

The McIntyres belong to the best clubs and in the best society in the Tennessee city. They are known to be a most devoted couple. Dr. McIntyre kept his wife for almost a year before he finally ordered the medal cast.

Mrs. McIntyre is industrious, willing to work, and never tires. She is punctual, her breakfast always being ready for him even on the mornings when the maid is away and when she has to get up early for a special call. She is patient, willing to overlook his casual cross spells, and fully cognizant of the fact that the doctor is a busy man with many cares.

She is studious, intellectual, and interesting in her choice of life. She is modest, home loving, and cares little for "gumming" (to copy verbatim from Dr. McIntyre's book).

She chooses her women friends wisely, and goes out in society consistently, and she is a practical, but breakfast always being ready for him even on the mornings when the maid is away and when she has to get up early for a special call.

She does not wear kimono, always appearing neat in the forenoon and at evening. She does not wear evening gowns for the theatre.

To quote the doctor's record further: "My wife, Maudie, is all that any good man could desire. I have studied her closely, and I can not believe that a more perfect wife lives. I have found her to be in sympathy with my ambitions, my desires, and to possess a willingness to forward our common interests in the matter of income and expenditures. In short, she is a combination of all the womanly virtues present in the early epochs of the human race, and she is lacking in this generation and time. I therefore bestowed upon her a medal, and a three-month vacation with her mother in Canada as a reward. I furthermore believe that if every man would check to see if he has a wife who is as good as mine, he would find out just how many points his wife might score in the womanly virtues. I know that her score was high, and that she had no kick coming. In fact, it was so high that she was given a gold medal and three months' vacation with her mother in Canada as a reward.
