to this impalpable noxious vapor of Modernism. The nebula seems to thicken round and about the field of sacred letters, where the exegesis of some Catholic scholars has been far too accommodating to the modern spirit of scepticism. The new volume, the Second, of The Catholic Encyclopedia, comes opportunely to summarize and to illustrate our position in the matter of Pius X. and "Modernism." Those whose function it is to watch over the safemay make current payments for ty of God's flocks have long since value received. He always left the matter as vague as possible. Mr. Borden lost no time after his return in answering Mr. Pugsley. He took the first opportunity, after the opening of the session. to inform the House that he was ready to meet any charges Mr. Pugsley had to make about this matter before a committe of investigation appointed by the House. Mr. Pugsley made no answer in the House; but when he got outside at a public meeting in Ottawa he repeated his vague charges, and further said Parliament could not appoint such a commission as Mr. Borden asked for. The meaning of all this is that the Government. through Mr. Pugsley, will continue to make unfounded vaque charges; but the moment a committe of investigation is asked they will refuse to grout it. Such conduct is well worthy of Mr.

Ottawa Weekly Letter.

Opening of the Session.

MR. BERGERON.

CONSPIRATORS CON-VICTED.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30, 1907. Canada opened on Thursday with the usual ceremonies. The speech from the Throne boasts of the enormous revenues collected during the year, as if the increased taxation of the people in a time of financial stringency were an achievement of high statesmanship. The Government acknowledges that the present financial situation is rather gloomy, which is a change from the story of "unparalieled prosperity" told in previous addresses. There is the usual summary of events that occurred during the past year, but very little indication of what is to be done this session. The Government however, promises to increase the postal facilities and to place telegraphs and telephones under public control, thus borrowing two planks from Mr. Borden's platform.

THE TREATY WITH FRANCE.

Appropriement was made in the speech concerning the treaty with France and the treat vitself was laid on the table. 'An examination of the document seems to show that the meeting was held in the Russell French statesmen of today are clever bargainers. Causda gives France ing of Mr. Borden's Causdian tour. the benefit of the intermediate tariff which appropriately terminated at on the list of goods imported from the Capital. An immense torchlight this country. Each country undertakes to give the other as favorable streets and escorted the Leader of tariff treatment on these classes of tariff treatment on these classes of goods as is given to any foreign the demonstration was a magnificent country. So far the arrangement success. The large auditorium was may be a fair exchange, though it crewded and many were turned appears that the quantities of goods on which Canada makes concessions s larger than those on which she receives advantages. But in addition the platform, and the Premier of there is a schedule of French products which are to be admitted into from a distance to pay their tribute Canada at specified rates, lower than to the Conservative Leader and to instances lower than the British preference duties.

WINES AND SILKS.

It will interest the ordinary Can- and earnestness in support of the adian tax payer to know that the Halifax platform, declaring most articles upon which these large and emphatically that if his party should special tariff concessions are given succeed at the polls it would at once by Canada are champagee and other Wines, anchovies and sardines, works of fiction in the French language, olive oil, embroideries, lace, silk velvets and silk fabrics, ribbons, and various manufactures of silk, canned vegetables and medicinal compounds. French Seardines, now paying 31 cents per box will pay 2 cents. Certain non sparkling wines have the duty reduced from 25 to 20 cents per gallon, and another class from 25 o 15 cents. Champagne is now paying a certain amount per dozen bottles or by the gallon with 30 p.c. additional. This 30 p. c. is to be struck off. French novels will pay 15 per cent, instead of 25 Embroideries and lace will pay 271 instead of 35, silk velvets and certain silk fabrics 20 per cent, instead of 30, ribbons 25 per cent, instead of 35, other manufactures of silk 321 per cent. instead 371. # Than War!

More terrible than war, famine or pastilence is that awful destroyer, that hydraheaded monster, Consumption, that annually sweeps away more of earth's inhabitants than any other single disease known to the human race.

"It is only a cold, a trifling cough," say the careless, as the irritation upon the delicate mucous hembrane causes them to hack away with an irritable tickling of the throat. When the irritation settles on the mucous surface of the throat, a cough is the result. To prevent Bronehitis or Consumption of the Lungs, do not neglect a cough however slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate hining of the sensitive air passages soon leads to fatal results. If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doese of when the vase has been broken and its contents spilled out." Mgr.
