EXCURSION TO GODERICH.—A grand excursion will be run over the Grand Trunk Railway from London to Goderich and return, on the civic holiday, Monday, 21st inst. The fare for the round trip has been placed at a very low figure—75 cents—and this will no doubt induce many to avail themselves of its advantages.

COOLING HIM DOWN.—A drunken workless chamer named James Adley, formerly of Winham, who a short time ago was sent to Walkerton jail for abusing his wife, met with his just deserts on Friday night last. He came home as usual brim full of whiskey and started to abuse his wife and family. Jimmy's fun however, terminated rather abruptly, as two young men who were passing at the time, heard the row and went into the house. Seizing hold of Adley they took him to the pump in the school yard and gave him such a ducking that he will not soon forget.

The Clinton New Era says:—Rev. Dr. Ure, of Goderich, preached in Willis church, on Sunday, Prof. Greig taking Mr. Ure's work at Goderich. Dr. Ure, though so long a resident of this neighborhood, is one of whose people never tire, and his sermons on Sunday were characterized by that clearness and earnest practical nature for which he is so well known.

MAIL BAG CATCHERS.—Mail bag catchers are being put up at all the small stations and some of the larger ones, along the line of the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railroad, with a view of reducing the number of stops and the running time on the road. Now that the consolidation has gone into effect there is to be some fast time made over the route between Buffalo and Chicago.

A WATER WAIF.—An interesting little incident occurred the other day at the Point Farm. While some of the beach were enjoying a stroll along the beach a little boy was seen to come ashore, which on examination was found to contain a note, somewhat as follows: "On board the steamer Idaho out of sight of land on Lake Huron, 7th July, 1892. Whoever finds this would they kindly return to C. E. Brown 369, Wabash avenue, Chicago, giving particulars, and oblige! The message was duly returned to the address named, and an acknowledgment received, stating that a pleasure party of five on their way from Chicago to Buffalo had thrown the bottle overboard."

Mr. Charles Vogeler, the managing partner of the firm owning St. Jacobs Island at his residence in Baltimore, Maryland, at five o'clock on Saturday morning. Mr. Vogeler was taken ill at the close of the first week in July, and the disease, which was at first pronounced malaria, finally developed into a malignant type of typhoid fever, baffling the skill alike of physicians and nurses. Although but thirty-one years of age, he had been for the last eight years the managing partner of the house, and to his assiduous attention to business and his directed enterprise, its present prosperity and reputation are mainly due. It is the desire of the surviving partners to continue the business unchanged.

QUOTING.—The second match of the series between Elijah Martin and James McNair, representing Goderich, and Jas. Strachan and D. Cumming, representing Colborne, came off at Dunlop on Wednesday, and resulted in favor of the latter pair by a score of 63 to 50. The best score well prepared, and the play enjoyable. The players were first in the first game. Cummings had a huge pair of "pancake" quots, and when he got in a good lead McNair had a tough time getting points, although in a single game between the two, played just after the big match, the Goderich man beat Cumming by one point. The final and deciding game between the pairs will be played in Goderich on Wednesday next at two o'clock, on Newgate street.

A LIVELY GAME.—The Mitchell Recorder in reporting a game between the Brussels and Mitchell lacrosse clubs, thus describes the conduct of the Brussels boys:—"On the part of the visitors there was but one man—the goalkeeper—who deserves to be mentioned, except for their inability. None of them possess any of the science of the game, and their forte is not playing lacrosse, but skull-cracking. They cut and slashed like as if they were mowing thistles or thrashing hogs. It was wonderful the amount of hammering the Mitchell boys stood and kept their temper. The Brussels players are the poor old lacrosse players, the roughest and most ungainly many lot of fellows we have ever seen upon a lacrosse ground—Indians not excepted."

CANADIAN SHORTHAND CONVENTION.—The first associated meeting of Short-hand Writers of Canada, irrespective of system and proficiency, will be held in London on the 29th and 30th inst. The Committee have prepared an elaborate and unique programme. The Secretary, Mr. Thos. Bengough, who believes in spelling as we speak, writes:—"Deep interest attaches to this meeting, as it will doubtless result in the organization of a Canadian Shorthand Society combining the influence of professionals and amateurs in writing and speaking." Rev. Dr. Wild, Rev. Robt. Torrance, of Guelph, and other prominent shorthand-riters and representative stenographers from New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, and other American cities, will participate. Short-hand riters and learners will find the meetings very profitable. Reduced fares have been secured for delegates. Ald. John Taylor is Chairman of the Committee. The Secretary's address is No. 11 King-st., West, Toronto.

It is curious—and to publishers pleasant—to observe how people become attracted to the newspaper to which they are accustomed. To long as a paper pursues a just, honourable and judicious course, meeting the wants of its customers in all respects, the ties of friendship between the subscribers and the paper are as hard to break by an outside third party as the link which binds old friends in business or in social life. Occasional defects and errors in the newspaper are overlooked by those who have become attached to it through its perusal for years. They sometimes become dissatisfied with it on account of something which has slipped into its columns, and stop taking it; but the absence of the familiar sheet at their home or place of business for a few weeks becomes an insupportable privation, and they hasten to take it again, and probably apologize for having discontinued it. No friendship on earth is more constant than that contracted by readers for a journal which makes an honest and earnest effort to merit their continued support. Hence a conscientiously conducted paper becomes a favorite in the family.—[Ex.]

DISTRICT MEETING.—The Financial District meeting for the Goderich District of the Methodist Church of Canada was held in the village of Blyth on Tuesday last, the Rev. J. Wakefield of this town presiding. This meeting is composed of all superintendents of circuits, and an equal number of laymen appointed by the different Quarterly Conference Boards. All the Ministers were present except the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of London, who is very dangerously ill. There are on the District three weak, or dependent circuits, and to these sums were granted from the Contingent Fund of the church. Arrangements were made for holding Missionary and Educational services on all the charges during the winter. Mr. McHardy of Lucknow was elected a member of the Conference Missionary board. Arrangements were made for a District Sabbath School Convention, to be held in the town of Goderich during the month of November, a programme to be prepared by the Chairman, and Secretary. The Kincardine church is unduly burdened with debt, and the conference has undertaken to raise $5,000 at once, to lighten the burden of the friends in that town. The best way of raising the proportion for this District was discussed, when at length each circuit agreed to raise its share according to the number of members. The chairman preached at night to a good audience, and a very pleasant and successful meeting was brought to a close.—[Com.]

Constables' Tag of War.

The Lucknow Sentinel says:—"Some weeks ago Mr. John McHardy, jr., Division Court Bailiff, and County Constable of the County of Huron, to a Tag of War between ten constables from each county, to take place at the Calcedonian Games, here, in September. Chief MacCrimmon received notice from Mr. Currie this morning of his acceptance of the challenge in the following characteristic letter:

Goderich, 7th August, 1892.

DR. MACCRIMMON, Lucknow.

DEAR SIR,—I have written to Mr. McHardy, accepting his challenge to pull a Tag of War on the day of the Calcedonian Games in your town. Will you kindly drop me a card and let me know at what hour of the day this part of the programme generally comes off. I will be on hand with ten men who will either break the rope or pull the other chaps out of their boots.

Yours truly,

J. C. CURRIE.

Intense interest will no doubt be taken in the result.

Tenting on the Prairie.

The following is an extract from a private letter from Mr. John Breckenridge, jr., who is now plying his trade of plastering along the route of the Canada Pacific Railway:

"I was working in Winnipeg up to the 1st of Aug. at $3.50 per day, and board was $3 a week. It is, without exception, the dirtiest place I ever saw. I got a job on the Canada Pacific Railway, lathing and plastering station-houses at 35c per hour, and we make $1.20 a day. I have a canvas tent and keep "back," and I think we will board for about $3 a week. I am at present working at Gopher Creek, about 185 miles west of Winnipeg, and we will be moving backward and forward all over the line. F. Hick, with a partner, is keeping a jewelry store in Winnipeg. He pays $65 a month rent for a shop 20 feet long and 12 wide. Bob Rutledge is partner in a grocery business, paying $200 month rent. They appear to be doing a good paying business. Eggs are 45c a dozen, butter 35c a lb. In the part of the country where I am at present there are what are called "Spanish needles," that kill sheep. The writer encloses some specimens, which can be seen at THE SIGNAL office. They are short pieces of a variety of broom, twisted and wiry, with pointed heads.) When they enter the sheep's mouth, they will work their way right through the roof of their mouths, and the animals die slowly, in great agony. Jonathan and Moses McBrien are working in Winnipeg. Robt. McBrien is in partnership with two other men, and they are doing considerable work. Plasterers are many in Winnipeg. I am feeling well, living in our little tent on the prairie."

Big Fleas have Little Fleas.

A Minor Monopoly seeks to attach itself, like a barnacle on a ship's side, to the great railway monopoly of Canada. This is a company that has concluded arrangements with the Pacific Railway Company securing the exclusive right of doing all the cartage at the stations of that railway in and around Winnipeg for fifteen years. By this it would appear that the Canadian octopus is grasping everything with its tentacles.—[Montreal Witness.]

THE "EXPLORER."

Capt. Waddell's own Account of the Sinking of the Vessel.

A Vivid and Picturesque Narrative of the Disaster.

The leading marine newspapers have republished the letter written by R. G. McCulloch, which appeared in THE SIGNAL on the 11th inst., and the interest taken in the sinking of the schooner Explorer is increasing. Some papers still hold to the opinion that Capt. Waddell did scuttle the vessel, while others aver that the report circulated regarding the findings of holes in the bottom of the schooner, is a vile slander, containing not one word of truth, and circulated only to wound the feelings of the family of the deceased captain. A reporter of the Detroit Free Press interviewed Customs Officer Baby, of Windsor, Ont., and obtained the following account of the loss of the Explorer from Capt. Waddell's own pen, it being a letter sent by him to Mr. Baby in response to a note asking for the particulars of the disaster. During the season preceding the one in which the little schooner was lost, Mr. Baby, together with several friends, took a trip in the Explorer, being the guests of Capt. Waddell. The trip was a very pleasant one, and Mr. Baby states that the Explorer was a staunch craft, well shaped and almost as much of a yacht as a freight schooner, having a large and well-appointed cabin. Capt. Waddell's letter which was dated Chatham, Ont., January 26, 1868, is as follows:

"You want a narrative of my voyage north on the last trip of the Explorer, and though I am almost tired of the subject, I will endeavor to give you an idea of what occurred from leaving Chatham till I reached Owen Sound, alone and nearly 'gone up,' nearly a month afterwards.

"The vessel made several trips with grain to Cleveland last fall, bringing back coal, etc., and about the 2nd of October I fitted her out for a trading trip on the north shore and intending to locate William (my son) at Little Current all winter with a small stock of goods to see what he could do with them. Accordingly, we cleared from here and went down to Windsor to finish our load. This was on the 1st of November (which was getting rather late). Having completed our load there, it was considered necessary that William or I should go up by steamer to be ahead of the vessel so as to make some preparations about the goods.

"As William did not know the coast very well I sent him up by steamer. I then engaged two good sailors to go with me, and on the morning of November 3 we got away from Windsor with a strong wind from the southwest. The wind blew the same way nearly till we reached Sarnia on the 4th, but in such furious gusts, with snow, hail, sleet, etc., that we had to 'come to,' just below Port Huron, where, after dark, a large bark scraped us along so close that some of our head-gear was damaged and we had to lie over a day or two to refit, the wind blowing a hurricane all the while, which, though fair to go up the lake, appeared very treacherous and likely to shift at any moment to the northward. However, with the wind while blowing a living gale, we made sail and ran out of the rapids on the morning of the 8th of November, and I never saw any steamboat go out of the current quicker than we did.

"All went well enough till we got about fifty miles up the lake, when the wind increased in violence and the sea, though dead aft, was so heavy that the vessel would not steer well nor would her compass settle to a point so that we could steer a good course. We then 'hove to' for the night, thinking the wind would surely blow itself out after a while. Blew a hurricane all night, and in the morning put the vessel away before the wind with everything close-reefed. Sea tremendous and great trouble in steering, as she buried herself forward every now and then and stuck her rudder entirely out of water. Couldn't make a good course, but was aiming to go through the Detour or False Detour channel, whichever appeared most convenient when we sighted them.

"This afternoon our foreboom jibbed suddenly and broke in two pieces. Hove the vessel to under fore staysail and double reefed mainsail till we fixed the foreboom. Night coming on, lay hove to all night. Next morning, about an hour or so after daylight, with the wind and sea still more violent than ever, and shifting from south to west every little while, we tried her at scudding before it again, and about 11 o'clock made land ahead about eight or ten miles but could not discover the channel or what land it was, owing to thick, smoky atmosphere. My idea, however, was that it was the Ducks we saw, and to make matters safe and sure, as I thought, I steered the vessel's course so as to stand along the Manitowlin Island in hopes of making Horse Island channel before dark, and getting into Stronness harbor.

"We ran along very well for a while till about 3 p.m. It began to snow and the wind was very changeable, still blowing a violent gale and the lake one sheet of white foam. The land on shore speedily began to get white, which as it grew a little dimly towards evening confused me badly in calculating distance, points of land, etc. When we got within about five or six miles of the Horse Island channel we saw it quite plainly once or twice in the intervals between the snow showers, but I soon found out that between the weather and the darkness setting in fast, it would be almost certain destruction to try it, the whole expanse of water across the entrance being one ridge of surf and breakers. Therefore we hauled the vessel up for the night on Isle of Cores which we just began to get a glimpse of now and then, and the calculation was to steer across the ends of the bowsprits making off from Horse and Zoo Islands till we got into the ship channel, and then when the light bore E. and S. to run down Georgian Bay till we found shelter.

"We had not run very far on this new course till we found ourselves in shallow water with the sea breaking clear over us and throwing the vessel down on her beam ends, which shifted a lot of barrels of whiskey in her hold and gave her a bad list to port.

"We were then carrying close reefed canvass, and I was once or twice afraid she would capsize, but she ran over the shoal into deep water and kept on. The shifting of the load made it almost impossible to carry all the canvass we had previously carried, and we took in torsail but she would not work with that so we hoisted it again, and then one of my hands proposed to go into the hold and try to stow the barrels which had shifted but it was impossible to take the hatches off, and I directed them to take the axe and chop a passage through the cabin bulkhead, which they did, as the movable part of the bulkhead was jammed tight with the cargo stowed against it.

"After chopping the hole one man went in with a lantern, and when he came out reported some whiskey barrels stove in and a considerable shift of cargo on the port side, and he volunteered to take the other man and fix it as good as ever in fifteen or twenty minutes if the vessel could be kept steady. I had been steering from about 2 o'clock p.m., and I told them I would watch her sharp and give them notice of any danger. We then got the handspikes aft and I kept one to sound on the deck with as a signal of danger, or if I wanted the men on deck.

"The hands came out once after being in the hold about twenty minutes, lighted their pipes and went in again. A few minutes elapsed and one of them handed me some whiskey in a tin mug which he got out of the broken barrel. I cautioned them about drinking too much at this time. They then went to work again for over a quarter of an hour, and I thought I was come to shallow water again, so I knocked and both came up.

"They were both pretty jolly with the grog they had drunk, and after waiting about for some time the biggest of the two said that five minutes more would complete the job, and they would finish it. I tried to persuade them to stay up as we were drawing pretty well off Zoo Island into the Ship Channel, and would soon square away into Georgian Bay, but they went in again, nevertheless.

"After they had been about twenty minutes or more in the hold, a big sea breaking ahead drew my attention, when it was pretty clear I was getting on some shallow place again. I immediately knocked on deck, but by this time a huge breaker was reaching along to windward, and I kept the vessel away before it to ease her. This wave lifted her stern clear up almost perpendicular and broke over both sides near the fore-rigging, jamming her nose under water. She struck with force enough to tear the masts out nearly, and her bow settled on the shore, while her stern slewed round toward the lighthouse.

"The next sea was a sea of foam, and foamed like Niagara Falls, and just before it struck I saw it was going to sweep her clean, so I jumped into the port main rigging, but it tore her her cabin door off, threw the yawl on the top of the cabin, capsized the vessel clear over to starboard, the water pouring into the cabin and filled the hold right off. All this happened in less than three minutes, and when she struck with her fore foot on the rocks the shock was so violent that I could feel the cargo slide forward in a solid body right into the bow of the vessel, and the men in the hold must have been jammed to pieces before she filled with water, and I hung on to the rigging, expecting that my time was up.

"Each of the sea that came along kept turning the vessel round to the starboard, and at the same time drifting her into deeper water.

"Her bow kept going down, but her stern floated, and after awhile I found she was in deep water, drifting along into Georgian Bay with a heavy current. About half an hour or more elapsed when I began to think if I could save the boat till daylight I might yet get off to shore. The boat washed off the cabin with the sea and unhooked the starboard tackle towing or rather hanging on by the other tackle and the painter, and getting some awful hard thumps now and then.

"The sea began to be more moderate as the vessel drifted eastward, and I managed with a spike-pole, which was used to the rigging, to get hold of the main throat-halyards, which I rigged into a head rope to help me up on the stern of the vessel. After getting pretty well fixed I discovered that the end of our bucket-rope was made fast to the rigging I was in and also one ear lashed there. I tried to get the boat alongside and bail her out, and I worked over six hours at it, finally succeeding.

"By this time it was 10 o'clock at least in the day, and I employed part of my time in catching the little scraps of biscuit which floated out of the cabin window. I now began to suffer from numbness in the joints and cold.

"So having drifted away below Flower-pot and Ben's Plum, and the wind being round to the northwest and blowing straight on the main shore, I got into the boat and left with my gail and one ear. I was about ten miles off shore then and it took about four hours to get there. The beach I picked out to land on was bad and the surf came very near capsizing the boat. However I got ashore and let the boat beach herself the best way she liked.

"A good deal of snow on the ground and all my matches wet except a few in my vest watch pocket which were just damp enough not to go off. Picked out a snug place under a big cedar to make a fire and get some shelter and then started and raced up and down the beach for hours till I got pretty warm.

"Four or five hours after being ashore I got a match to light and set my combustible afire, which was a great comfort, enabling me to dry my feet. Kept hunting wood and firing up all night. "For three days and a half I could not get away from this place, wind being northwest and a gale all the time. Nothing to eat but wet biscuit which had fallen out of the pail into the bottom of the boat and were full of sand, etc., and only about a pound of this altogether.

"The third day after being ashore, I launched the yawl and, with the wind southwest worked round the point into Wingfield Basin near Cabot's Head, where I found a poor old Indian all alone with a few salt fish only to live on. His son and some others had gone away with the boats two weeks before and as near as I could understand him, he did not know what had become of them. I stayed there three days, living on salt fish entirely, and then got a supply of fish and left with a south wind, intending to get to Owen Sound the best way I could.

"After ten days of misery and suffering I reached Cospey's Bay, ill and exhausted as you may suppose. The idea was entertained that the vessel would float ashore somewhere, but I had two men and a Mackinaw boat out for three weeks and they report having seen nothing of her."

What a Newspaper Does for Nothing.

The following article should be read and pondered well by every man who takes a newspaper without paying for it:—

Bee Swarming.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 18th, 1882.

If Sir John A. Macdonald be disqualified, what then?

We ask no better test of a man's honesty than the promptness with which he pays his newspaper account.

ARABI BEY'S friends deposing the Sultan from the caliphate is very much like apprentices "discharging the boss."

SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD knew what he was saying when he declined to resign in Carleton, "because he might be unseated in Lennox." The tricky Premier has had his seat in Lennox protested. It is said that if the case comes into Court, he will be disqualified.

A CORRESPONDENT beats out the charge made against the assessor of Goderich township in the New Era last week, but we prefer to keep from commenting upon the matter until after the Court of Revision is held, and the whole thing comes to light before the judge.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER is again in Great Britain. The ostensible cause of this visit is ill-health, but it is said in certain quarters that the noble knight has gone abroad on syndicate business, he being a prominent member of that gigantic monopoly. It is said, too, that he will shortly resign his place in the Government, and come out openly in his true light.

THE editor of this paper is getting more personal abuse heaped upon him by anonymous correspondents in Tory prints than perhaps falls to the lot of any other member of the press in the Province. But it is all done by men who are ashamed to let themselves be known, and that is the best proof that there is but little truth or wit in this stuff. Scratch any of these anonymous slanderers and you will find an envious editor, who is unwittingly advertising THE SIGNAL.

THE protest against the return of M. C. Cameron, M. P., has been filed, and now the Conservative friends are anxious to know what will they do next to prevent a fiasco. One of the claims for voiding the election is understood to be that certain Tory returning officers were guilty of placing bogus ballots in the boxes under their control. This fact may void the election; but it is not a little peculiar that Mr. Cameron should have to suffer for the sins of omission and commission of partisan officials.

SCIENTISTS say that pure new milk is not a healthy beverage in warm weather. The milk-vendors down at Toronto evidently agree with the scientists, and have been adulterating their lactical fluid with aqua pura. The admixture produced "sky-blue," and the "sky-blue" superinduced an investigation by Inspector Aude. That functionary found that the samples varied from 98 per cent. pure milk down to 75 per cent. A lady vendor named Mrs. Becket owned the 75 per cent. exhibit, and was, therefore, selling 25 per cent. of water at the price of milk. By the way in which Mrs. Becket patronized the water-pail, it would be no misnomer were her customers to call her Mrs. Becket.

THE Star last week made a nice confession. It stated that Mr. F. W. Johnston had no knowledge of the "F. W. J." epistle. Then, we are to infer that the Star, made out of whole cloth the letter which was alleged to have been sent to THE SIGNAL, signed "F. W. J."; that the Star inserted the letter and comments thereon, knowing the whole thing to be a concoction; that the Star wantonly appended Mr. Johnston's initials to a bogus letter, without his knowledge or consent—knowing at the time that a criticism would leave that gentleman open to ridicule. If the Star adheres to its statement of last week, we have nothing more to say, for the public will form its own opinion of a journal that would publish a bogus letter, attach an innocent person's initials to it, and then boldly state that it had been forwarded to a third party, when such a thing had never occurred. Our difference with Mr. Johnston is a strong one, but we have never attempted to place him in a position so false as did the Star in the matter of the "F. W. J." letter. Mr. Johnston can well exclaim, "Save me from my friends."

OUR HIGH SCHOOL.

Makes a Splendid Record at the Intermediate Examination of 1882.

Goderich High School pupils did exceedingly well at the recent Intermediate Examination. 28 of those who wrote at this point were successful in gaining certificates, and of these all but 2 had attended our High School. 22 wrote directly from the High School, and 4 others were until quite recently pupils at that institution. 6 A's, 14 B's and 6 intermediates make a splendid record for a single High School. About 60 per cent. of those who received their training at the Goderich High School were successful in the contest for certificates. This, considering the large number who wrote, is very creditable, and shows that the masters have been putting in good work during the year. The names of the successful candidates are:

GRADE A.—Ebu Mogaath, Grace Logie, Emily Johnston, Agnes Henderson, Wm. J. Johnston, Wm. McKintock.

GRADE B.—Joseph Campbell, George Pentland, Alexander P. Sheppard, John J. Smale, John A. Taylor, John Swanson, Annie Burrows, Jane Disher, Elizabeth Glenn, Della Logie, Phoebe Reinhart, Tillie Waters, Lottie Polley, Mary Robertson.

INTERMEDIATE.—Wm. Hackett, Thomas Henderson, Alexander Watson, Jennie Logie, Annie Campbell, James A. Regan.

Of the "Outside" candidates who wrote at Goderich, P. McDonald, of Bayfield, got a B, and a M. Robertson, an Intermediate.

Neil McGillivray, a former student of Goderich High School, wrote at Windsor, and got a B. Of 47 candidates who wrote at that point 40 were "plucked."

M. John Elliott, a pupil of Goderich High School, has passed a non-professional examination for first-class certificates.

Mr. Geo. Baird, sr., of No. 1, Stanley, sent up five pupils to the recent examination at Toronto with the result of three "A's" and two "B's." Mr. Baird, while coaching his pupils, did not forget his own educational advancement. He has just succeeded in obtaining a 1st class non-professional certificate.

SEAMEN.—Grade A.—E. McKay B. Grade B.—Mary J. Hislop, Agnes Stewart, Eleanor Calbeck, Annie Collie, Catharine McEwen, Ella Givlin, Mary Crawford, James Delgatty, DeCourcy Hutchinson, Thos. F. Simson, Jno. Kerr, D. C. Dorrence.

INTERMEDIATE.—Kate Richardson, F. Sutherland, Thomas Lockhart, Robert Knechtel.

CLINTON. The New Era says:—The total number of those who wrote here was 40, of which number 24 passed. The number of marks possible to be obtained was 2,100, which includes 480 each in Latin, French and German, in which branches evidently very few tried, as but few of the students have any marks recorded in their favor in these branches.

The marks necessary to pass for Grade A Certificate were 720; for Grade B 600, and for intermediate 480.

Those names in the following list marked with a star, were candidates of the Clinton High School. The successful ones therefore at the Clinton Examination were as follows:

GRADE A. Marks obtained. James Butchart.....777 John Burchill.....721 John McGregor.....745 Hannah Kinsman.....726 David M. Walker.....829 Douglas Fraser.....726

INTERMEDIATE. Robert Reid.....591 Walter H. Baker.....595 Robert J. Floody.....536 Ernest Rowlands.....579 George W. Gauley.....578 John C. McLennan.....581

In view of what has been said of late about our High School, the following figures will be interesting. They show the numbers who passed in the different grades in the places mentioned. Grades A and B show the candidates, and the third column (Intermediate) shows those who passed for third-class certificates.

It is proper to state that some of the candidates who passed at the examination had not attended our High School. The same thing occurs at other places; so that the comparison remains a fair one.

Places. Grade A Grade B Interm. Total Berlin.....4 13 15 32 Bovanville.....2 6 4 12 Brampton.....2 14 12 28 Chatham.....4 13 10 27 Clinton.....6 12 6 24 Dundas.....0 7 4 11 Elora.....1 14 10 25 Galt.....1 11 10 22 Goderich.....6 15 7 28 Guelph.....5 4 6 15 Harrison.....4 17 4 25 Oshawa.....1 3 3 7 Owen Sound.....0 10 13 23 Paps.....0 4 1 5 Port Perry.....1 12 4 17 Sarnia.....1 12 4 17 Simcoe.....0 7 3 10 Stratford.....3 7 5 15 Walkerton.....5 23 4 32 Whitby.....0 4 6 10

The following are the salaries paid to the head masters of these schools, so far as they are known:—Port Perry and Whitby $1,400; Owen Sound, $1,300; Berlin, Bowmanville, Chatham, Harrison, Oshawa, Seaford, Walkerton, $1,200; Goderich, $1,180; Clinton, Paris, Stratford, $1,100; Simcoe, $1,075. Judging from those figures, Mr. Turnbull would seem to be doing first-class work at second-class salary.

Our contemporary is in error as to Mr. Strang's salary as principal of the Goderich High School. He receives but $1,000 for work done in that capacity.

THE OTHER $180 IS PAID HIM BY THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT FOR SERVICES AS METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVER, AND THESE SERVICES ARE ENTIRELY DISTINCT FROM HIS EDUCATIONAL WORK.

Mr. Strang, who does first-class work, get the smallest salary as principal of the matters referred to in the above list.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

Alexandria, 15.—Col. Gerard rode out this morning on a reconnaissance, and succeeded in making a sketch of the enemy's position. Major Gordon, Chief of Police, handed over his office to the native authorities. The European residents consider the proceeding unwise.

ARMY ORDERED TO LAY DOWN ARMS. Alexandria, Aug. 15.—The Sultan today peremptorily ordered Arabi to lay down arms. If he refuses the Sultan will leave him to be dealt with by the English.

THE SULTAN DEPOSED FROM THE CALIPHATE. Alexandria, Aug. 15.—Natives from Kefr-Deir reports Arabi on Sunday called a meeting of Ulemas, and obtained from them a fetwa deposing the Sultan and naming the Sheriff of Mecca as Caliph. Arabi, they also say, is organizing Bedouins, and appointed commanders for those at Ocharis and at Garbick, in Upper Egypt.

REMOVED. London, Aug. 15.—It is asserted in semi-official quarters that a feeling of concern at the War Office to-day. It is hinted that Gen. Wolsey found the British losses in Egypt more serious than has been supposed. It is also stated that the War Office ordered three thousand additional troops to get ready to proceed to Egypt immediately to take the place of sick and wounded. The authorities have refused to allow the organization of a railway corps in India for service in Egypt.

A DARING RECONNOISSANCE. Alexandria, Aug. 15.—Lieutenants Smith and Dorian of the Invincible, and Hamilton, of the Alexandria, on Monday night went across the Mahmoudieh Canal and Mariout Lake. The water was only ankle deep. They advanced within 600 yards of the enemy's lines, and then retired to report upon the result of the enterprise. The report is as follows:—

Lieutenant Hamilton and myself, after proceeding cautiously without camp about seventeen miles, arrived at 3.30 o'clock Tuesday morning within three hundred yards of the enemy's cavalry camp. The night was very dark. We were unable to get details of their position, and therefore decided to find a point which would enable us to see the camp when daylight broke. We had not moved thirty yards when the enemy's picket saw us, and showed a bright light, which was directly answered all along the line. We ran about a mile, and entered the lake about 100 yards. The enemy pursued us, and spread themselves along the lake, and completely cut off our retreat. Their horses were afraid to face the water in the dark. The enemy's system of signalling with lights is excellent, our movements being dashed by the nearest man and answered along the line. I presume the enemy did not fire in order not to alarm any force we might have near. We tied a white handkerchief to a pole in expectation of being captured, but afterwards decided to make another attempt to escape. At four o'clock in the morning we went 100 yards further into the lake, and lay down in two feet of water. The enemy losing sight of us, retired. At 4.45 we rose, made a long detour, and returned to the English camp.

The North-West Land Grabbing. Mr. John Leckie, for many years agreee of Brussels and a gentleman well known in the County of Huron, is at present in the North West. He has travelled a good deal, and being a close observer and a man of keen insight and good judgment, his opinions are well deserving of respect and consideration. He writes from a place called Weed Creek, in the Q'Appelle District, under date of July 16, and the following extracts from his letter have been made public:

This is a great country and it is difficult to gauge the capabilities of it. They may be great and they may be very disappointing. One thing is certain, there is money to be made here for the next two or three years. After that I do not know, but I am of the opinion at present that the party who has his real estate realized upon then will be best off. I do not say this in disparagement of the country. There are in all countries at certain stages of their existence, but all the circumstances point specially to such a state of things in a much larger degree of severity than has ever been experienced in old Canada. I trust I may be wrong in my prognostication, but the moment a surplus is raised in this country I do not want to own much property in it.

The land policy of the Government is simply abominable. You cannot tell what a day or an hour may bring forth, and actual settlers are disgusted. The cloud on the political horizon here is already a good deal bigger than a man's hand, and will some day not far in the distant future burst on the heads of the present Government, and retribution will be swift and sure. They begin to see the handwriting on the wall already, hence the dread of bringing on the local elections announced. If Premier Norquay went to the country to-day, although he has a majority of two to one in the present House, he would not come back with more than ten supporters; and why? Entirely owing to the disallowance of local charters and the land muddling of the Government at Ottawa and the cringing fear of the Manitoba Government to assert their rights. Nearly everything worth having is in the hands of the Syndicate, so called Colonization Societies, Land Companies or private friends of the Government. People leave their home to come here, bound generally for some particular locality—Q'Appelle, Touchwood Hills, Pleasant Plains, Jumping Creek, or some other place. They arrive there and find the land belongs to the Temperance Company, the Whitty and Ontario Company, the Q'Appelle Land Company, Q'Appelle Farming Company, Primitive Methodist, Press Association, the Gibbs, Coughlins, Kelly, Elliott's, Northwood's, and a host of others.

They do not know where to find them, and are afraid to squat on the lands; and what is the result? They get mad and leave; go over to Dakota, where they are taken by the hand by a Government agent or agent of a railway company and get a homestead. This is not all, they write home to Ontario and the Lower Provinces, to England, Ireland, Scotland and Europe, and advise their friends not to come; hence the tide of immigration to the United States. This is no idle speculation; I know whereof I speak. Two families in our own locality, who have large connections in Eastern Ontario, and one of them rank Tory, have left for Dakota within the last two weeks, because they could get no satisfaction about their locations, and could not buy Syndicate lands in the railway belt.

The Canada Pacific Railway is going to turn out one of the greatest swindles expected. I feel perfectly satisfied that they have no more intention of building the road beyond the prairie sections than you have. All the indications point that way; the character of the line, the policy they are adopting with regard to their lands, etc. By the time they get to the Rockies they will have run up $100,000,000. That will be their profit, and the Government can take their third-class road and go to Jericho, where they must go in a political sense, if this country settles up as far as the future as it has done this year, notwithstanding their policy of obstruction to actual settlers.

A Remarkable Canary.

The power of imitation possessed by birds of the parrot tribe has long been familiarly known, and it would not be difficult to find numerous examples of even well-educated members of the genus in this respect. The vocal powers of canaries, however, are not usually regarded as being equal to the production of articulate sounds resembling those made by the human voice. But there is at present in the possession of Dr. J. McGeogor Croft, says the (British) Medical Press, a little songster of this description, which, besides giving utterance to delicious warblings, is also able to "talk" with a clearness and precision simply marvellous. Some what sceptical of the accounts we had received of this animal wonder, we have, says the Press, thought the kindness of Dr. Croft, had an opportunity of directly proving the truth of the statements made concerning it. The canary does veritably speak, and enunciates a number of sentences which are clearly imitative of the voice of the lady who has had care of it since its early youth. The effect, indeed, produced by the clear, sweetly uttered sentences pronounced by the bird is almost weird at first; but the feeling of wonder thus created quickly gives rise to a sensation of exquisite pleasure, which is deepened as the little creature suddenly at the end of a sentence rushes into ecstasy of song. As illustrating the exquisite pliability of the laryngeal apparatus of small birds, and the extent to which training may be carried in such cases, the tiny animal is deeply interesting to physiologists. As a mere curiosity, however, it is undoubtedly unique.

THE WORLD OVER.

Preston Bennett, member elect of Parliament, died at Victoria, B. C., of hemorrhage of the lungs.

On Friday night Customs officer G. G. of Amherstbury, seized a sail boat and crew of canal boats which were being smuggled from the American side of the water.

Mr. M. B. Mallory has been appointed Clerk of the municipality of the village of Blyth, in place of Mr. L. Thorne, who has removed from the village. Mr. Mallory will make a very efficient and courteous official.

Ottawa some years ago refused to pay a bonus which was voted to the Midland Railway. The Company will now build a short line from Perth to Cornwall, which is expected to tip a large portion of Ottawa's commerce.

Hundreds of letters received at St. Louis say there never have been such crops of corn and oats raised in Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Indian Territory, Kentucky, Missouri and Kansas as at this present season.

Mr. John Wright, a member of the firm of Wright & Son, the largest coal dealer in Port Hope, was superintending the running of a donkey engine engaged in unloading coal at the docks, when his foot got caught in one of the large cog wheels and was completely mashed to a jelly.

Rev. W. S. Rainsford and Mr. Henry O'Brien are travelling in Montana on mules, with the thermometer 116 degrees in the shade, but are enjoying the trip notwithstanding the heat of the weather. They propose ending up their journey at the National Park in the Rocky Mountains.

The greatest anxiety will be felt in England by the families of the soldiers in Egypt. Its deadly distempers were fatal to the French army in the thirteenth century and to those of Napoleon at the close of the eighteenth. One dreadful malady often prevalent there is the Egyptian ophthalmia. This sorely afflicted Bonaparte's army in 1798.

The millers and grain dealers of York and Ontario counties have formed an association and decided to send a deputation to Ottawa to counteract the efforts of the deputation from the Ontario Millers' Association as to amending the Order-in-Council affecting the grinding of wheat produce imported from the West.

Yes! I loved Lawson Palmer once, but when a man carries a bottle of muriatic acid in his pocket, and every time he meets you threatens to throw the fluid in your face and ruin the natural smoothness of your complexion, it does not strengthen a genuine sentiment of affection. This was what Miss Mary Spillman said in a Philadelphia police court. Lawson was held for trial.

A gentleman in New York met an "uncertain acquaintance" the other day, when the latter said, "I'm a little short, and should like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic. "Proceed," returned the gentleman. "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had ten dollars in your pocket, and I should ask you for five dollars; how much would remain?" "Ten dollars," was the prompt answer.

Thomas Tierney Elgin, of South Crosby, said he came to Kingston on a raft, and had over $40. He purchased a suit of clothes and then began a canvass. As midnight he went to sleep in a yard off Ontario street, and in the morning found his hat gone, boots removed, clothing ripped, and the pockets rifled of all they contained—about $21.60 in money and a revolver. He had been set upon by "wolves," and they cleaned him out as only wolves can.

Sir Garnet Wolseley, who has just gone out to take command in Egypt, is very quick and brisk in his ways, with a trim military appearance, and great readiness of adaptation to change of circumstances. He possesses Napoleon's faculty of taking at a glance the measure of a man, and knowing how best to use his ability. He has succeeded in every position in which he has been placed. Like Sir Frederick Roberts, England's other great general, he is an Irishman from near Dublin.

It has now transpired that the McLaughlin held in Chicago on a charge of murder is a Kingstonian, one of a very bad family, and who figured in various cases. Before his departure for the West it will be remembered that McLaughlin and the man he murdered had first a quarrel in a room; that the former was wounded and determined to have revenge; that coming upon the man intoxicated McLaughlin kicked him to death. A lawyer says that the prisoner can be got off for $300, but such a sum of money he has perhaps never had in his possession, being a dissolute, dissipated fellow.

The work done at Ramleh by the rifles is more than calculated to bring ridicule upon the style of ornamental shooting which Canada spend $7,000 a year perpetuate at Wimbledon. The cavalry was from 300 to 500 yards distant, serving as a target, and only two men were wounded. Had the British fixed themselves as they do at Wimbledon, where their position makes them resemble amateur contortionists, and got their wind gauges adjusted, and had a surveyor to strain off the distance, and had their sights properly elevated, they might have succeeded in doing something. But the Egyptian cavalry would have ridden all over them in the meantime.

The new Irish Land Commissioner, Lord Monck, will be remembered as a former Governor-General of Canada, the first after Confederation. He is a man of solid ability and advanced Liberal views. He was born in Templemore, County Tipperary, in 1819, and is the son of the third Viscount Monck. In 1847 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Commons from Wicklow as a Tory, but in 1852 he was elected for Portsmouth as a Liberal. He was a Lord of the Treasury and whipper in from 1855 to 1858. In 1871 he was appointed a Commissioner of National Education in Ireland, and was also one of the Church Commissioners. In 1866 he was appointed a peer of the United Kingdom. He married in 1844 his cousin, daughter of the Earl of Rathdowne. He is regarded as a good landlord.

Household Hints.

For a scald or burn apply immediately pulverized charcoal and oil. Lamp oil will do, but lard is better. The colour of dry sea weeds may be preserved by drying them carefully with a solution made by dissolving three small lumps of gum mastic in a gill of turpentine. A sure and safe way to remove grease stains from silk is to rub the spot quickly with brown paper; the friction will soon draw out the grease. A good remedy for blistered feet from long walk is to rub the feet at going to bed with tallow dropped from a lighted candle into the palm of the hand. To remove warts wash them with moist washing soda and let them dry without wiping; do this two or three times a day.

Trifles.

The best fidelity to Christ is shown in a daily vigilant service to him in trifles, in efforts to honour him in humble, inconspicuous service, such as in good temper in families, sympathy with man and beast, honesty in business, liberality to servants, fidelity to employers. These things make up the best discipleship. The same truth applies to many things. The best paintings are those where such details as the blades of grass, the leaves of the trees, the lines upon the water, the similar minute points, are most perfectly delineated. Artistic excellency consists chiefly in the complete accuracy which the slothful or the ignorant work-er cannot or will not accomplish. The great Italian sculptor, Michael Angelo, was once visited by an acquaintance, who remarked on entering his studio, "Why, you have done nothing to that since I was here last." "Yes," was the reply; "I have softened this expression, touched off that projection, and made other improvements." "Oh!" said the visitor, "these are mere trifles." "True," answered Michael Angelo, "but remember that trifles make perfection; and perfection is no trifle." In like manner, the highest form of devotion to Christ consists in fidelity to apparent trifles. For only heartfelt love and abiding recollection of Him as an ever-beloved object, will enable His disciples to maintain throughout each day, in word and company, in busy occupation and before His enemies the duty of honouring him thus continuously, and in the whole details of life.—[London Record.]

Farm and Garden.

Poorly ventilated stables are hotbeds of disease. Feed the corn crop, and cultivate often and not deeply. The secret of procuring winter squashes is late planting. Now is the time to watch for vermin in the poultry house. It is not proper to expose stock because it is summer. Good shelter is necessary at all times. In selecting animals it should be borne in mind that those with small chests do not fatten readily. It is claimed that dry fish guano contains more than 15 times as much ammonia as ordinary stable manure. In high-bred and liberally-fed animals the teeth are produced earlier than in those living under reverse conditions. Let the hens set if they will, as late-hatched chicks will pay better than to waste time in breaking the hen from setting. Hen manure carries much less water than stable manure, but more nitrogen and organic matter. The proportions of potash and phosphoric acid are nearly the same. Too many people plant only a first light crop of lettuce. It may be sown in August, and is still one of the most useful of vegetables. The winter varieties may be sown as late as September. If water must be drawn from pumps or aqueducts for watering plants, it is well to fill half-hogsheads with it in the morning, and let them stand in the sun all day. Then the water becomes quite warm, and is more beneficial to the plants. The attacks of squash bugs, cucumber beetles, etc., may be prevented by attaching rags saturated with kerosene oil to short sticks, and put in the hills or near the vines. The bugs will soon disappear. The rags need to be saturated anew about every two days. The best drink for the harvest field is thin oatmeal and water—one fourth pound of meal to two or three quarts of water—with a little sugar. The oatmeal should be well boiled, and about one ounce of brown sugar added. This quenches thirst better than any other kind of drink, and gives strength and endurance. The importance of properly thinning out fruit trees when bearing abundant crops is more and more apparent. To produce fruit that commands a good price in market has become an absolute necessity. This seen especially in that intended for exportation, apples of good size, fair and properly packed, commanding in the English market fully double the price of those which have not received such care.

The Masher Mashed.

There were plenty of seats in the car, but as he walked down the aisle he looked sharply to the right and left until he reached a pretty girl who was sitting alone. "Seat engaged miss?" he asked with a knowing wink. "No, no, sir," stammered the girl, looking around in dismay. Down he plumped and braced himself for the campaign. He was a regular passenger and held his commutation ticket in his hand. "Shall I open?" "Tickets!" roared the conductor who had watched him from afar. The regular passenger smiled sweetly on the pretty girl and put up his pasteboard, out of which two sides were promptly snipped. "Tickets!" "Hold on!" protested the regular passenger, "you punched this twice. This lady isn't with me!" "Sorry," replied the conductor, "but you walked in, sat down and went to work on the regular married style. Supposed, of course, it was your wife. Too late, now, take a vacant seat next time. Tickets!" And the passengers went to the conductor and asked him to drink and offered him cigars, and bought out the train boy for him. "I knew they weren't married," said he, as he squinted at a flask of extra prime. "I've seen him before but this is the first time it cost him a couple of dollars to play it." "Do you know who the lady is?" asked an inquisitive man. "My wife, gentlemen," replied the conductor, and even the flask chuckled a merry "glug, glug," as he spoke.

The Boy's Estimate of a Mother's Work.

"My mother gets me up, builds the fire and gets my breakfast, and sends me off," said a bright youth. "Then she gets my father up and gets his breakfast, and sends him off. Then she gives the other children their breakfast and sends them to school; and then she and the baby have their breakfast." "How old is the baby?" asked the reporter. "Oh, she is most two, but she can talk and walk with any of us." "Are you well paid?" "I got two dollars a week, and my father gets two dollars a day." "How much does your mother get?" "With a bewildered look, the boy said: "Mother? Why, she don't work for anybody." "I thought you said she worked for all of you." "Oh, yes; for us she does. But there ain't any money into it." Col. Irvine, it is reported, has been instructed to locate a suitable spot at Pile of Bones Creek, the new C. P. R. town and capital of the North west, for the Mounted Police headquarters.

Nine Physicians Quoted. It is generally considered a pretty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will prove conclusively where mine were completely outdone. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and convince yourselves. Trial bottles free at Rhynas's Drug Store. The widow of the late Luke Nable, of Canton, Essex, has gained an unenviable reputation by marrying her deceased daughter's widower, just eleven weeks after the death of her husband. This is the first known instance in Canada of a man actually marrying his mother-in-law. Such a marriage is contrary to the laws of this country. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. V. Smith, of Windsor, who, of course, did not know the relationship the parties bore to each other.

Parties just returned from the Qu-Appelle district report upwards of eighty squatters on the proposed Bell farm in that district. They declare their intention to remain, as they were squatted before they knew of the sale of the tract of land. An insect resembling the army worm has appeared at Halifax. On one place as they were in such numbers at one place as to change the color of the ground. Places where they have passed are as brown as though from weeks of drought.

The Doctor's Last Happy Report. EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882. I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—[Leading M. D., Evansville. Trial bottles free at Rhynas's drug store. A private letter from England says:—At the review held recently at Chatham, England, Lieutenants Mackay and Stranbezie, Royal Military College, Kingston, were highly complimented by General Sir Evelyn Wood on the admirable manner in which their companies had been drilled. They have carried off the highest honours in the recent competitive examinations at Chatham. Mackay is the son of the ex-Assistant Warden of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, and was for two years reporter on a Montreal newspaper.
