LONDON, July 18.—The Morning Post commenting on the Heraid's remarks on Uncle Sam's sixty marines at Alexandria, declares the behavior of the American ad-miral and his men beyond all praise. When the European allies were getting out of range the American admiral, with a cool glance at the threatening Egyptian's can-non, calculated he would stay where he was, and if any of them fired at him he would fire back. When the bombardment was over an American ship alone sailed round each of our ships and gave them a lusty cheer. THE FUIURE OF RAILWAY MONOPOLIES IN

The question of provincial rights assum a practically important aspect when we consider the necessity of legislating so as to give the state some power of controlling freight rates and other charges by which the two gigantic railway monopolies may intend to increase their dividends at the expense of the people. Even already by the action of the United States trunk lines in the matter of the freight-handlers, business in Ontario has suffered. One prominent publisher in this city has his press stopped for weeks because he cannot get freight on from New York. The only remedy in Canada for a foture of autocracy is either a legislation as to freight railway charges, or an assumption by government of the control of the entire railway system. That is liable to the objection that it would vastly increase the opportunities for political corruption, the answer to which is that there could not be more than at present with the railway always ready to bid for government support. But stringent legislation on the subject of freights may be stained when our parliamentary functions are not performed by two organized parties whose votes are controlled by a few wirepallers whom the railways can always influence. This question is one which interests every merchant and farmer in the country it will make itself felt more and the editor is not such an easy task. Where the editor will have the tussle with the party he has wrecked is in the replies now being sent in to the circulars

World's staff whe now writes, have had of opinion as to the causes of the recent considerable experience of African deserts, know that the Egyptian wastes of hot and shifting sand form a fortress impregnable to heavy armaments. The English army will hardly equal in numbers the hordes whom Moslem fanaticism will gather to Arabi's standard. Even at Alexandria the Egyptians fought bravely and made the best effort possible to maintain an untenable position. In the desert, which is the real base of Arabi's operations, the conditions are all in his favor. And he will be backed by immense hosts of Bedouin horsemen, whose Arab steeds are accustomed to desert warfare, while the riders can carry their own commissariat in the shape of a few dates and a cake of unleavened bread.

The situation does not seem improved by the fact that contrary to the confiden anticipations of the Gladstone government, England appears to be isolated in European diplomacy. Germany has in direct terms declined to sanction the bombardment. France so far has stocd coldly aloof. Austria's still doubtful co-operation is of little value with Germany to check her on one side and Russia on the other. The atrocities committed by the Egyptians at Alexandria ought to interest the conference of the powers in uniting to restore some sort of order, but it is doubtful how far jealousy of England will sanction further res of aggression. No one can tell a week before hand in what direction the diplomatic wind may blow.

SPELLING REFORM.

The reform of the spelling of the English language is nearer at hand than some people imagine. Everyone admits that the present mode is arbitrary in the extreme and militates against the acquirement of English by foreigners and wastes the time of English speaking children in trying to master its vagaries. The great majority of Herald stamp. philogists have pronounced in favor of the re-organization of the alphabet and of spelling phonetically. The opinions thus held by these reformers are gradually spreading among the body of the people and now spelling reform associations are becoming quite common in both America and England. The reform is bound to come ; what is most wanted is that the change shall be intelligently brought about and that can best be secured by some un derstanding between the leading English Lindsay are already doing the work of deshilologists and grammarians in America and in the old country.

officials whose duty it is to enforce the laws. No earthly method can rule the turbulent erowds without some friction. Even in monarchical England they have as good as got manhood suffrage, for the fran-chise is so low that nearly every one, householder and lodger, has a vote. In Canada, which we all agree, has a good system, manhood suffrage obtains actually in Prince Edward island. In the other in Prince Edward Hand. In the other provinces we have the next thing to it, the qualification being extremely slight. No harm would be done by taking a little step forward and introducing manhood suffrage at once. In Ontario the theory of the ne-cessity of a property qualification has been abandoned by the adoption of the income franchise.

The Wrong Annoucement

From the Evansville (111.) Argus. The people of a little town in Warrick county have been hanging right over the is Mr. Livingston's untruthfulness, which I brink of a church scandal, but are not will here point out, viz .: the question of aware of the fact, nor will they be until will here point out, viz.: the question of interest at a rate 64 per cent com up. He (Mr. L.) said that they had to pay the go-vernment interest, and they do not pay one vernment interest, and they do not pay one instal. cent of interest, only "on overdue instal-ments," which would be no fault of the subscribers. Then the question of forfei-ture came up. When we (the committee) said : "Brother Bramley has handed in the following," and in a clear voice he read the note, which ran as follows :

MY Own PET BRAM: Are you never coming to see me again? I am dying to see my darling once more and gaze into his beloved eyes. The old mummy that calls herself your wife will never find it out. How can you endure her? Come, darling, to the one who truly loves you. Your own and The good brother had handed in the wrong announcement. At the close of the reading the minister looked horror-struck, the congregation istared at Bramley with cold, hard stares, and his bramley with cold, hard stares, and his wife rose up in her seat and glared at him like a tigress. He was equal to the occa-sior, however, and rising calmly, and with a look of perfect resignation on his face he have of our shade trees: "It might do our town some good if our town councillors would some day go to Oshawa and spend a couple of hours there in driving and walk-ing up and down its streets, so that they might see how beauti ul a town can be made by a proper planteo with leautiful shade trees, and how more in full leaf, they afford a delightful shade for pe-destriars, besides adding granity to the beauty of the town. The trees are chiefly maple, and have not been cut in two, or hurt by the kind of frame-work with which we encompass our trees when we planten, but are strong and healty, and with-out any broken bark or disfigurement to spol their appearance or hurt their growth." Wilmott of Toronto, read his report About 60 licentiates of dental surgery in Untario met iu the lecture-room of the dental college at Victoria and Richmond streets yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing a board of seven persons as directors of the royal college of dental surgeons of Ontario. The election is held every two years. Dr. C. S. Chittenden. president of the outgoing board, was in the chair. The secretary of the board, Dr. J. B. Wilmott of Toronto, read his report. There was a balance on hand of $3062.11.

During the two years 27 matriculation certificates had been issued, against 18 the previous two years. Of the 27, 17 held intermediate certificates, 5 were second-class public school teachers, 3 of the council of physicians and surgeons of Ontario, 1 of the same society in the province of Quebec, and 1 was an undergraduate of the college of Kansas. In 1881 19 students presented themselves for examination, of which 17 passed. In 1882 19 students there were 5 applications for licenses, of which 23 passed. During the two years there were 5 applications for licenses, of which 24 were granted. In 1881 there were in attendance on the lectures of the school in all its departments. The treasurer's report gave the expenditure in detail. The new charts and saratomical specimens purchased in Paris for the college were exhibited to departments. The treasurer's report gave the expenditure in detail. The new oharts and anatomical specimens purchased in Paris for the college were exhibited to the licentiates and much approved of. Balloting was then commenced for the new board. Seven ballots were taken be-fore the election was complete, the gentle-men selected being Dr C S Chittendon (Hamilton), Dr J B Wilmott (Toronto), Dr H T Wood (Coburg) Dr Thos Rowe (Coburg), C A Martin (Ottawa), L Clements (Kingston), Dr R M Fisher (Toronto.) During the interval between the ballots a discussion took place regarding the sup-pression of unlicensed dentistry in Ontario and the propriety of increasing the term of pupilage at the dental college from two years to four years. Dr. Wilmot said that there were eight per-sons known to the board who practived dentistry without a license in the triangle between Kingston, Cornwall and Ottawa. The board would be happy to delegate power of attorney to any local district to appoint a detective to prosecute these un-licensed practitioners. The western part of the province was free from them. C. S. Caesar of Toronto, hoped the term of pupilage in the college would be ex-tended. Dr. Chittenden thought the licentiates ought to move slowly and surely in the matter. There was growing feeling in the province against the creation of professional monopolies. The people thought that the more professional men there were the better. Ald. Taylor presided at the board of health yesterday. The commissioner explained that the horses hired by the corporation had to be shod and if one should die the tion had to be shod and if one should die the oity would be responsible for the value of the horse. It was decided to advertise for tenders for furnishing horses, the persons tendering to take the risk of the horses dying and also to keep them shod. The commissioner expressed his opinion that the corporation should own its own horses. A petition signed by the proprietors of the Walker house and others for the removal of the zoo, was referred to Commissioner Coatsworth to look into. The license in spector sent in a requisition for the use of a horse and buggy and other articles needed to attend to his extra duties under the new by-law for the inspection of meats, butter and milk. The commistee thought it would be cheaper to give the inspector street oar tickets. Several other requisi-tions were concurred in.

In the expedition fitted out by his gevernment in 1868, he took a prominent part and he was later instru-mental in causing the dispatch of the Challenger for similar but more extensive researches. Dr. Carpenter has published several works on physiology and natural science which take high rank. His book, "Principles of Human Physiology," pub-lished in 1846, has gone through several editions and is regarded as a standard work. The com-mittee are about tired of hearing her long harangue every time they meet, and sent for the constable so as to have them face to face. Mrs. Evans, who was limited to 15 minutes to make the charge, stated that the constable encouraged the boys to an-noy and hoot at her, especially when he was a "little further on." She said : "Of all the malicious, spiteful men that ever was put on the place, never was there such a malicious, spiteful man around the mar-ket." The constable, of course, denied her charge. Ald. Mr. Mc-Kenzie of the house building association addressed the committee respecting the proposed sewer on Bloor street to drain into the Garrison creek. There was some doubt as to whether the petition was sufficiently signed and it was referred to the engineer for his report. Mrs. Callaghan asked that her drain be fixed, as the water and sewe-age backed into their cellars and the stench was unbearable. The commissioner stated that if the drain was a private one Mrs. Callaghan would have to pay for fixing it herself. Ald. George Evans asked to have

The Ontario Industrial loan company offered to give five acres of ground in the Crawford estate to turn off and on. The water supply has been greatly in excess of any previous year. This is due to the largely increased num-cost at least $4000. The matter was refer-red to a sub-committee who reported in favor of accepting the property on these conditions and the committee concurred in that report. The chairman then opened tenders for block paving a number of streets. There was $18,000 deposited with the tenders. The attendance was large. THE CHAMPION LADY BICYCLIST. At a series of sporting events recently held in Philadelphia great interest was at-tached to the one-mile professional bicycle race, in which there was a lady competitor, namely, Mile. Louise Armaindo, who was styled in the program the "champion lady bicyclist." The young lady, who had a well-knit figure, led off from the start and proved an easy winner. Her victory was greeted with rounds of hearty applause. In the five-mile bicycle race she again con-fronted J. W. Morgan and T. W. Eck of Canada. She had got a good lead after several laps had been traversed, when the steering handle of her bicycle broke. Mor-gan was then second and Eck nearly a lap behind. The latter resigned his bicycle to her and she struggled gamely to winj but owing to the fact that the machine was 2½ inches higher than her own, she found it necessary to relinquish the contest, amid the sympathetic cheers of the bystanders. Morgan lapped the course three times after-wards in fine style and of course earned first honors.

The young men, unless they are try-ing to capture an heiress, are rarely in haste to be wedded. This anxiety of young girls to cross the boundary of commbialty often leads them into misery. They imagine themselves in love, and find, when it is too late, that him, to whom they have tied themselves for life, is not equal to their own ideal, and is a creature of very ordin-ary clay and selfishness. The unfortunate wife must suffer in silence, or be the sub-ject of a scandal that will ruin her, while it merely smirches for a time her husband. There is more truth than poetry in the statement that girls who marry in haste often repent at leisure.

Then. James T. Fields in Harper's Magazine. Then the summer mornings were full of singing birds, always waiting outside our windows to help us begin the day with happiness. The nervous system of this gentleman does not seem to have been impaired by this excessive use of tobacco and liquor.
