License Commissioners in Toronto be true, or even a tithe of it, the duty of the Government is plain. * An investigation is hinted at; and in view of somewhat similar charges being preferred in other places besides Toronto, we believe the Government would do a public trading with Bob Davies or Jaffray & Ryan, or buying Doberty's cigars. Was Mr. Doberty accompanied by any one tem.

Aren't they afraid of losing their grip? Would they be as safe if new commissioners

Why is Charley so anxious to whitewash his favorite commissioners? Why so anxions to burk investigation and to head off inquiry? What success Charley met with is not yet known. He used the thumbscrew, of course. But you don't need to squeeze the victim's thumb; all you've got to do is to go in, open

And the religious weeklies have yet to be heard from.

The Tyranny Out-Merods Itself.
Said a Reformer last night; This last act of Peter Ryan's in sending Doherty and Peter Small about with the whitewashing petition settles me as to the tyrannons rule of the Commissioners. They have by this act put the pistol to the heads of the hotel men and as much as if they don't sign the paper they need expect no mercy in May.

Oh, yes; King Bob was with him as an assistant bearer of the document. Nearly all those who signed it did so without reading it. They were given the wink and they took it like little men. Some of them did not know whether it was their death-warrant or their salvation.

Did Mr. Ryan, Mr. Proctor, Mr. Armstrang know about this bir effort of Charley's, or was it pure missionary work on his part?

But isn't it an admission of guilt? Armsto Doherty and his boss King Bob afraid of being found out?

Aren't they afraid of losing their grip?

Would they be as safe if new commissioners are named?

After carefully perusing what has appeared on this question, we are more than ever convinced that an investigation should take place before a competent and impactial tribunal—said inquest also to be charged with the duty of endeavoring to discover some better system than now obtains. There is no use denying the fact that political traint attaches to the existing method. Both the commissioners and the inspectors are Government appointees: these appointees of the appointing power, who have more or less "axes to gripd." As the years roll by this fact is being more clearly demonstrated, and now is the time to nip the avil before becoming an ulcerated sore on the body politic.

Already Bearing Fruit.

The World's exposures are already bearing fruit. The filling of the vacant portfolio in the Mowat cabinet was one result. As in completed cabinet is no longer safe. Besides, it is reported that the little Premier wanted all the assistance he could to regulate his wicked partners, who are trying to make him whitewash the license commissioners of Toronto.

But The World's shots also went home in other quarters. Charles Doherty, ex-license commissioner, giver-of-the-wink, owner of the township right to supply the public houses of Toronto with cigars (no order for less than 5000 taken), beer traveler for King Bob Davies, owner of or partner in several puts, license commissioners in Toronto be trought the supplies for the dead animals and hus business of saisage casings. INDIES AND BRITISH GUIDAL.

Bon. John Bacdonald Tells of the Trade of Taxes closures Before a fleeting of fler chauts. The Dominion Can de Great Things dut There in Commerce.

Just as the Board of Trade banques represented the wealth, the energy and the commercial enterprise of the province, perhaps it might almost be said, of the Dominion, the gathering at the Board of Trade rooms last night represented the wealth, the energy and the commercial enterprise of this, the Queen City of the West. But though in comparison with that memorable banques, as which expressions of patrictism, not only from the Crown Ministers and the Premiers of the fair Province and the great Dominion but also from railway managers and prominent business men were softberally uttered, the attendance was not so great, the sentiments were as patriotic, as far-seeing and as much looking to Canada's material progress as were those of the eminent gentlemen who dined in the "Big Glass House." Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of control of the Board of Trade, the walls of class House. Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of class House. Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of class House. Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of class House. Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of class House. Theyware assembled in that specious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of the commercial enterprise of the trade room to the extent of $0,000,000.

It cannot therefore but be refreshing to us to find that this Dominion of not quite 5,000,000.000 the trade with the West India Islands that the United States is able to do with its great population of $0,000,000.000 to the United States is able to do with its great population of $0,000,000.000 the she in many articles to do quadruple the trade with the West India Plands that the United States is able to do with the Justice from railway managers and prominent bustuess men were so liberally uttered, the attendance was not so great, the sentiments were as patriotic, as far-seeing and as much looking to Canada's material progress as were those of the eminent gentlemen who dined in the "Big Glass House." They were assembled in that spacious hall of the Board of Trade, the walls of which have before now school utterances of loyalty and of entire belief in the fourier greatness of our country, to listen to a paper conceived and written in as loyal a spirit and with a view to make still more valuable, still more indispensable, those wast resources of which Canadians are so justly proud. By their pressures a large assembly endorsed the address of Senator Macdonald on the possibilities of closer relations with British Guiana and the West Indies.

President W. D. Matthews, whe was in the chair, in introducing Senator Macdonald, said: "The object of the meeting to-night is to hear a paper read by the Hon. John Macdonald on the presset prospect of commercial relations possible between Canada, the West Indies and British Guiana." In reply to a toast at the Board of Trade barquet, Mr. Macdonald's remarks excited so much attention, not only at the time, but afterwards, that I was led to think if he could be induced to read a paper before the members of this board it would be, not only desirable as giving it a prominence which perhaps would lead to closer commercial relations between this country and the West Indies, but also the best medium through which such information could be conveyed. I accordingly asked him to read this paper and he kindly consented to do so.

The Wenderful Beauty of the Islands.

Now it will readily be apparent that the needs of such a population implies for the mere necessaries of life an immense consumption, and, as a consequence, with some fation or nations a very large and a very important trade. "From whence," asked the Senator, "are the islands supplied?" In answering this question he said: Barhadoes draws its supplies:

	United States	92,134
	Brazil	57,215 30,529
	Brazil British West Indies British Guians	18,406
	Calcutta	14,595
	Trinidad draws ats imports:	360,537
	Venezuela	0000
6	Venezuela. British West Indies France.	118,129
	Frances and the second	401,386
	British East Indies	92,976
	British North America	54,532

What we Could Do.

Then the Senator considered these two questions: 1. Are we doing all the trade with these West India Islands which we can do and which we ought to do? 2. If not, is it possible to increase it? Before answering these questions he said: I met with nothing do and which we ought to do? 2. If not, is possible to increase it. Before harvering these desirable to increase it. Before harvering these desirable to increase it. Before harvering these desirable to the community before these desirable to the community before the control of the community with strongly expressed desires for clore businesses also from every class the being equal their would give to Canada the preference; and there were classes where no right to look for the case of the community was an impressed. Inducements For Vintual Trade.

The Hon, Senator having enlarged on these points, said: We cannot, of source be the large consumers of the sugars, the fruits, the cocoa and other products of the West Indian Colonies that the United States are, by reason of the difference in our population. But we can be purchasers from them direct of all that we need, and thus make our trade of greater value and of greater importance to greater value and of greater importance to them than it has ever yet been. I cannot say whether or not the United States offer greater them than is has ever yet been. I cannot say whether or not the United States offer greater inducements to these colonies to send their products to their markets than we offer them in order that they may send their products to ours; and bence I cannot be charged with introducing political issues. But I think I may safely add, that it is only reasonable that the West Indian Colonies should find with us, to whom they are so closely allied, inducements at least equal to these which they find with the United States, which stands in the relation to them of a foreign power. That if any disparity exists at present, and such disparity militates against us and in favor of the United States, I do not hesitate to say that it is our duty at the earliest possible moment, and having respect for existing interests, to remove such differences, so that the interests of our customers and not sentiment oughs to be the ground and the only one upon which we ought to look for the trade of these colonies. And indeed without this, fast steamers, cheapened cable communication, regular and efficient postal service would be unavailing.

Be assured that the Golonies are ripe for any arrangement which will be of mutual advantage to them and to us.

In conclusion the hon, gentleman said: Our destiny is in our own hands and not ut the hands of any foreign power, however near, or however great, and realizing this fully I feel that if in working it out we are but true to those great underlying principles of truth and exhibitely; if we are but true to our country and true to ourselves nothing can stand in the way of our progress, nothing could by any possibility retard our development. For then we shall be prosperous and contented at home, and we shall be henced and respected abroad.

When the address was concluded Mr. D. B. Wikke rose and fittingly thanked the Senator on behalf of the members.

He moved this resolution, which was seconded by Mr. S. F. McKinnon and adouted:

Reference was made by the speakers to the proposed scheme of the Government to subsidize steamers with a view to keeping our trade between our own country and Great Britain, and was strongly endorsed.

This resolution was then moved by W. B. Hamilton, seconded by A. B. Smith, and carried:

Little change occurred after this, and Beach rowing comfortably won by about two lengths in 21 min. 15 sec.

At the conclusion of the contest, Beach rowed back to his quarters at Ryds. On being questioned he expressed his opinion about the contest in a very candid manner. For the first mile and a quarter, he said, he had a hard struggle with his opponent, and it was not until that distance had been covered that he became convinced that the race was his own. The remainder of the course he rowed without a doubt of being the winner. He thought Hanlan showed a deal of pluck in rowing a hard stern chase. When the race was over both men paddled a ongaide each other and shook hands. The Canadian then stated to Beach that he was satisfied with the result of the race, as he (Beach) was too strong for him. The renized champion then said that if there was any ground for dissingly that his rival was too strong for him the race was any hope of being successful. Beach declared that he will not again row Hanlan or any sculler in a match. Jan. 8, 1889. W. F. MACLEAN. Jan. 8, 1889. Where Canada's Railway Policy Came

We have already endeavored to show how much the pressure upon Canada of English Free Trade opinion, along with the pressure of something besides mere opinion—has done to hinder and delay the establishment of Protection in this country. When the Coufederation bargain was being made, old Canada, but Ontario especially, was well pleased with the Buchanan tariff of 1858, somewhat amend the Sin Alexander Galt the year following. ed by Sir Alexander Galt the year following. But in the meantime English pressure had been heavily used to get us to adopt what was called "the liberal commercial policy of the Mother Country." Of course the men of Sheffeld and Manchester did not wish to see nanufactures grow up in Canada, not they The opportunity of the Free Trade propaganda came when the Confederation bargain was under discussion. Then

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were under the witchery of Free Trade and under the witchery of Free Trade and "liberal commercial policy"—which means, liberal to all countries but your own. By the way, just the same spell is over poor Newfordland now; and it will probably keep her foundland now; and it will probably keep her poor for some time to come, until she gets enlightened enough to break loose from it. Well, between the prevalence of native Free Trade notions in the Maritime Provinces, and the pressure of opinion and something more than opinion from England, the representatives of Quebec and Ontario were induced to consent to a lowering of the tariff which was doing so well for Old Canada. From 20 and 25 per cent, which afterwards proved a heavy blow and great discouragement to manufactures. And for this serious check to Canada's progress we have mainly English epinion, along with English pressure, to thank. It was some years later when the scheme of having a Canadian railway across the continent began to take practical shape. Had we been left to have our own way the Facific railway, which was commenced as a Government work, would have remained National property, as it should. Then there would have been not laying down of "diamonds" or other fixings" to enable the Northern Pacific Company so draw money from Canadian farmers. "liberal commercial policy"—which means, liberal to all countries but your own. By the been no laying down of "diamonds" or other "fixings" to enable the Northern Pacific Com-Never has the world witnessed anywhere, since first railways were known, a fairer or more opportunity than that which Canada had some years ago, of laying down in the Northwest a thoroughly National system of railways, established in the interest of the the Northwest a shoroughly National system of railways, astablished in the interest of the mation alone, and unfettered either by Provincial rights or vested interests of individuals or companies. Up to what is still quite a recent date no such interests had been created—the Nation had still in its own hands what was all its own, and what it had better never given by What a magnificant convention of the suffice of the suff given up. What a magnificent opportunity that was, indeed! The world will not soon look upon its like again, we may be sure.

Now, what was, is that

Now, what was it that prevented Canada from realizing on this great golden opportunity, and as The World said the other day, led us into paths which we must now painfully retrace, or do worse? We answer: the pressure of English opinion upon us during the last fifty years or so. Nearly the whole English literature of political economy available for us was saturated with the doctrine that Government had nothing to do with railways except to charter the companies; after that all was to be left to open competition. In other words, free trade in railways was the only true system. It being a fundamental part of free trade doctrine that "the best government is that which governs least," the railway companies were to be left to do as they pleased. And this they have done accordingly, with such results in the neighboring country as The Globe was kind enough to state in condensed form for us the other day. These results—a very hard, practical kind of results they were too—had their origin in the speculative opinions of a faw advanced "thinkera," put into bocks and magasiness generation or two before. It was Sydney Smith and the Edinburgh Re of 78-per minute.

McGurrin's prize is $100 cash, and Miss Meincke, 4255 words, an average of 12 words prize is $100 cash, and Miss Meincke gats $500 cash, and Miss Meincke gats $500 cash, and Miss Meincke, 4255 words, an average of 12 words prize is $100 cash, and Miss Meincke gats $500 cash, and Miss Mei from realizing on this great golden opportunity, and as The World said the other day, led us into paths which we must now painfully rebooksand magaziness generation or two before.

It was Sydney Smith and the Edinburgh Reviewers who, in the days when George the Third was still king de jure if not de facto, prepared the way for the Great Reform Bill of 1832. And Canada's railway policy in our own present time has been controlled by the doors ines taught in the scriptures of Jeremy Bentham, John Stuars Mill and Harbert.

Spencer.

Hoston Daily Globe:

It will pay you to see the boys overcoats at the Army & Navy Stores dar little nap coats for a dollar; lovely patterns in tweed overcoats one fitty, two deliars and so on. You have over the Army & Navy stores atany price you like. It is so easy to buy at the Army & Navy has come to stay and cannot afford to ill-use its customers.

In the world's whole list, ancient as well as modern included, there are only a few names vanced "thinkers," the last of whom is still living. Yet it has to be added that these great men went on the rocks, or their disciples did—whenever the attempt was made to apply their teaching, in connection with the growth of that terrible giant of modern times—the railway system. Bentham, who died a little over fifty years ago, knew nothing about railways; while John Stuart Mill, much as he did to match against these as original and adover fifty years ago, knew nothing about railways; while John Stuart Mill, much as he did know about many things, could scarcely have

As for Herbert Spencer, it is barely possible, though not very likely, that the world will at London, the plaintiff was awarded $2000 damhear from him any recantation of his well-known opinions on the non-interference of a half-a-pint-of whisky on Tuesday last and

In Canada our railway policy has been such as might have been dictated by The London Times and The Westminster Review. Six John Macdonald and Mr. Alexander Mackengia have been at one on this—that the Mackenzie have been at one on this—that the Pacific Railway had to be handed over to a company, and this was in harmony with public opinion of Canada. The latest experience, both here and in the States, proves that mew evils have arisen, for which new remedies must be found. What these remedies will have to be a something for our public men to take into their most serious consideration.

A lad named David Tait was seriously injurate into their most serious consideration.

Meantime we venture to say this much, that these remedies will certainly not be found in causing surious spinal injuries.

Who is he, anyway, this "Mr. H. Renoclaf, of Mount Forest, Ontario," who has been getting a letter of his published in The Imperial Federation Journal, of London, England—abusing Canada and Canadians, and praising up Commercial Annexation to the United States? The Empire honors him with a column leading article in reply, and with a column leading article in reply, and The Globe calls him "a very sensible writer."

We, on the contrary, think him a first-class crank, and apparently not sound in the upper story. But it is the name of this new grank celebrity that we most object to. Suppose BUSINESS ON THE MARTS. we change it to "Falconer"? We think it s better that way.

on the Remington.

The first type-writing sentest ever held in Boston took place at Bryant & Stratton's Commercial School yesterday afternoon. H. E. Hibbard, the principal of the achool, some time since offered two prizes, one of $100 and one of $50, throwing the contest open to all. His purpose was to stimulate the ambition of his pupils in stenography and typewriting by letting them see what the awiftest operators in the world could do. There were no restrictions regarding the kind of typewriter to be used, but world could do. There were no restrictions regarding the kind of typewriter to be used, but the Remington was the only machine used yesterday, the friends of the other typewriters not caring to enter the contest. This action on their part admits of but one construction. The judges were Edward Canfield of the Union Pacific railroad, a "cellgraph" man; R. H. Jones, a prominent court reporter, is Remington writer, and Thomas Downey, ir. of The Boston Globe, who doesn't know anything about type-writing.

pennium had been placed on speed at the ex-pense of accuracy, began his work blind-folded, and showed how he could make his machine hum without using his eyes. Indeed, after the bundage was taken from his eyes they wandered over the room, scarcely resting on the type-writer at all. The incessant clickety click of the Remington went on, and Mr. Mo-Gurrin was as cool and indifferent asiff he didn't care a fig for the prize.

Crain and Produce. Flour.-This market has been exceptionally dull for the week just past and the predictions have not been realized and the fact is that trade has fallen off, it indeed that be possible, rather than increased. This is shown more strongly by the greatly reduced movement and the stoppage of ontario mills, which having unprofitable work before them, prefer rather to lie idle for awhile than to lose money. This depression was primarily brongst about by the high price of wheat, which caused bakers and consumers to run down to simest their last barrel, rather than buy at the proportionate advance. Helders of flour have allowed a shaded price, still not enough to satisfy buyers who have set back and refuse to do anything. Stocks are much larger in Ontario than usual, but demand almost nil. There is one thing seemingly evident, and that is there must be some flour sold before long, some place, as bakers' stocks must necessarily be running very low.

bakers' stocks must necessarily be running very low.

Wheat.—The nervousness and depression in the Chicago wheat market has caused local speculation, to become very quiet. If the depression in the Chicago market is caused by the manipulation of brokers and speculators in order to weaken New York and get grain down there to an export basis, then the future prospects are greatly increased prices. If the depression is maintal and New York does not weaken, and Great Britain can get along without buying American wheat, there can be no other event than a drop in prices, such as bakers and consumers are hepling for. Menurshife local busines continues dull and Chicago will be closely, and an xiously watched. Oats.—This week's trade has been quiet and dull. Large quantities offering but no disposition is shown by buyers to trade. Cars on track outset 35 to 36 and even seme lots offering at 34. These latter are, however, exceptionally low grade.

Rys.—Neglected and trade next to nothing in cash or in way of speculation, with no disposition shown to operate in either way and so very little or sale that few are paying any attention whatever to the market.

Barley.—This article has been very quiet and few willing to trade, or rather buyers are searce for the lower grades at prices asked by seliers. Trade seems to be at the mercy of a few buyers for cash, giving a depressed tone and causing as unusual degree of fullness.

REPORT ACCOMPANYING THE MEDAL.

Excess of praise is hardly possible when speaking of this new and superbly beautiful design, which is intended to meet the demand for a more expensive exterior or cabinet, together with a most superbaction. This organ is of most substantial and pleasing proportions, and of a style of finish suitable for any situation. In pleasing balance of proportions, practical utility of form, richness of ornamentation and delicacy of finish, this instrument will not only compare favorably with the best but suggests all organs of any maker while for atrength the best but surpass all organs of any make; while for strength and purity of tone, variety of expression and freedom of action it is tar in advance of anything yet produced.

The Musical Opinion and Music Trade Review, published in London, Eng. April 1, 1887, under the heading CANADIAN MUSICAL EXHIBITS AT THE COLINDIES EXHIBITION, has the following:

Referring to Piano Fortes of Messrs. Heintzman & Co., Dr. Stainer says as follows: "I music repret that, owing to the late period at which I was called upon to make a report, all the more important instruments exhibited by this firm upon to make a report, all the more important instruments exhibited by this firm upon to make a report, all the more important instruments exhibited by this firm upon to make a report, all the more important instruments exhibited by this firm upon to make a report, all the more important instruments of the torust in the same and was in every respect a fine instrument; the touch was sympathetic and had a good repetition; the tone was full and rich. I also tried a specimen style No. 9, which was equally deserving of unqualified praise."

Before the Executive Committees report was taken up the Council was flooded with resolutions of condolence with the retiring members, and expressions of regret at losing their valuable services.

When the Executive's report came under discussion the Marchment grant for $350 brought out another $50 bluff from Ald. Hallam, but it did not carry, the Losal Board of Health's recommendation being adopted.

Ald. Fleming entereds strong protest against the $1000 grant to the Mayor. He said he did so because he thought $3000 was enough for the position. Ald. Baxter dressed down Ald. Fleming for his opposition, claiming that the eminent services of His Worship during the past year, particularly in the matter of the Queen's Park and the re-organization of the law department of the city, was a good and sufficient reason for the grant.

Ald. Shaw, "I am heartily in accord with Ald. Baxter. I am going to vote for this recommendation and will not be afraid to go back to my people on its merits,"

All the other members of the Council spoke strongly in support of the report, Ald. Gillespie being particularly emphatic in the language he used in the advocacy of it. When the report passed themayor was treated to the whole, with Ald. Piper in the chair, on the report of the Legislation Committee of the whole, with Ald. called Mayor Clarke a demagogue and charged him with talking claptrap and seeking the popular vote. His Worship retorted that if he was seeking the popular vote it was evident that Ald. Hallam was only interested in the narks and drives cheme as it affected Rosedale and expressed himself as strongly in favor of the clause being struck out. His views carried the day and the smendments to the municipal fact will not include it when they come before the Ontario House.

The council adjourned at 12.15, the retiring aldermen making a few remarks preparatory to plunging into private life. The last act of the council for 1888 was the singing of "God Save the Queen," with Ald. Frankland as leader. DOMINIONLINE Royal Muil Steamships. LIVERPOOL SERVICE.
