VARSAVIA RESIDENCE PLANNED
DECLARES PRESIDENT OUDON

Greek Letter Societies and Their Privileges, Already Granted, are Here to Stay, But Developments are Promised Shortly.

President Oudon was questioned yesterday regarding his attitude towards the granting of land to the Kappa Alpha Society for the erection of a chapter house. He said that he had been prejudiced against Greek letter societies, as they were secret. He was not a Greek letter man himself, but when the cause in existence in Toronto he had made extensive enquiries into their working. He had received much information from Dr. Angel of Michigan University, who commended them strongly as a solution of the residence problem. They were an institution which had come to us from the States and they had come to stay. He thought it better to draw them into the University precincts than to have them scattered over the town, where no supervision could be maintained.

Asked whether the University made any active supervision of the Kappa Alpha Society, President Oudon replied that it did not. The statement had been made that only five societies could be granted property outside for the building of a college residence. In any case, the University has no power to grant property outside, which is for 42 years, stipulate that the University can reserve possession at any time, an industry being paid for the chapter house. Mr. Oudon doubted the statement that the cost of erection of the house was being advanced by the University at lower than current rates of interest. Enquiries at the Bureau's office elicited the fact that the rate is 10 per cent, payable semi-annually. The term of payment extends over 22 years.

FAILURE TO FILE RATES MEANS A FINE

The bill is the result of conferences among various Senators, most of them being members of the Inter-State Commerce Committee. Its purpose is to separate inter-state commerce and railroads from other trust legislation.

U.S. AND CANADIAN DAM

To Be Built Across the St. Lawrence Near Adams Island.

Buffalo, Jan. 21.—T. S. Rubidge, chief engineer and superintendent of the Galop Canal, and L. K. Jones, secretary to the Minister of Railroads and Canals of Canada, today consulted Major Thomas W. Symons, United States Engineer for the Buffalo district, with reference to the proposition of the Canadian government to build a dam in the St. Lawrence River, between Adams Island and Galop Island. The reason for the consultation with Major Symons becomes apparent when it is known that the dam in question is to be partly in American soil, if it is erected as proposed. The Canadian officials have been in consultation with the United States Secretary of War, some time on the proposition, and they were finally referred to Major Symons to discuss the proposition in its entirety with him. The American portion of the St. Lawrence River involved in the proposition is within the limits of the territory over which Major Symons has jurisdiction. After a conference, Mr. Rubidge stated that he and his associate had been very cordially received by Major Symons, and that they believed the American government would consent to the construction of the dam as the result of the conference. The dam in question will be about 800 feet long, and about 15 feet high. Major Symons stated that he would not like to say anything for publicity, further than that his report would be sent to the Secretary of War, and some action would be immediately taken on the question.

MOTHER DESERTS ONE CHILD

Leaves Husband in Village Near Albany, N.Y., and Goes With a Handsome Man.

DID NOT FORGET TO TAKE $1300

Overtaken in Montreal, Returns $700 and one Girl—To Stay in a Canada.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Sicker, who lived in a pretty little country village, near Albany, N.Y., and who is a very attractive looking woman, told her husband a few days ago that she was going to Albany to see a play.

The man with whom she had lived for many years had no idea that his wife was about to leave the country with another man, and little did he know when she left for Albany that she was going to Albany to see a play.

However, Mr. Burgess and Mrs. Sicker arrived in Montreal a few days ago and put up at the Albion Hotel.

When Mrs. Sicker did not return home as she had promised, Mr. Burgess went to Albany in search of his wife, and was greatly shocked at not being able to locate her.

He then consulted the police department of Montreal, and Chief Carpenter's men found the missing wife and her child in the hands of a man named Burgess in the Albion Hotel.

The chief then notified Mr. Sicker and was about to give him the child, but the woman to give back to Mr. Sicker, who she left home, took with her $1300 of her husband's hard-earned cash and one of the children.

Burgess is quite young, and was considered to be one of the best looking men in the village. He likes Montreal very much and is going to reside here permanently.

There is a splendid show at Shea's this week, and the new and original burlesque will be introduced. Among the songs in the new production are "The New Clown," "Percy Sings," "Mary Magee," and "Old-Fashioned Song and Dance." The cast includes such well-knowns as Louisa Harrison, Fred Thayer, Tom Brown, Sumner Gage, Francis Gage, Edward Gage, Merri Osborne, Eugenie Hayden, Eva Westcott, Jane Lovell and many others.

Buck's Flute Arrow—Eddie Pigott, the flute man who has struck this town for some time, and is the possessor of a few fine concert songs—possesses a good voice.

Miss Ada Crowley, the English contralto, arrived yesterday for the Male Chorus concert this evening. She had reached this side of the Atlantic on Monday, and to-night will give a recital of a week in America. Rafael Joseffy, the famous pianist, who is the other soloist, also arrived yesterday for the concert. The concert will be given at the Grand Opera House, and will be a most interesting one.

Harry Kay Bennett, in "Across the Pacific," will continue large audiences at the Toronto Opera House next week. The piece is a thoroughly original work, and is the brightest and best melodrama on the stage. It is a thoroughly original work, and is the brightest and best melodrama on the stage.

You will say this is promising a great deal. I know it, and can show you evidence that I have done it for twenty thousand weak men, and every one of them had spent from $50 to $500 on drugs before he came to me as a last resort.

I have used your Belt for thirty days. The drain upon my system is not stopped, I have found this everything you told me in your letter came true. Before this I do not know what to do. They all promised to cure me but failed.—W. WEIS, St. Catharines, Ont.

Are you weak or in pain? Are you nervous or sleepless? Have you Varicocoe, Rheumatism, Weak Back, Kidney Trouble, Weak Stomach, Indigestion or Constipation? Are you lacking in Vitality? I can give you the blessing of health and strength. I can fill your body with vigor and make you feel as you did in your youth. My Electric Belt is worn while you sleep. It gives a soothing, genial warmth into the body. This is life—vigor.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S CURE.

Is it because, tiring of spending money trying to seek relief through other treatments, you are doubtful whether there is any help for you? Now to enable you to satisfy yourself whether or not I have the confidence which I tell you I have in my treatment, I make this offer: If you will secure me for the price of my Belt I will take your case and cure you before you pay me. Is this not fair? This is my offer:

PAY WHEN CURED.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt is positively the only electric appliance that is sold to-day where you receive the advice of a practical physician. You are under his charge until you are completely cured.

FREE BOOK.—Dr. McLaughlin's book is published for free distribution to those interested in the development of vigorous health in men and women. It is profusely illustrated and describes my method of treatment and appliances. Sent sealed FREE upon request.

THE REAL NUTSHELL. Mr. Hill doesn't want a rival transcontinental road, and therefore, he says it (the G. T. R. Pacific) will not pay.

Mr. Hays, seeking to have such a road, asks the country to help him to build it, because it will not pay. And he quotes Mr. Hill's statement in approval. Each of these big railroad captains says the same thing, for different reasons.

Our own belief is that both are wrong, that another road is needed, and will pay. Therefore, let it be built, and let whoever builds it own it and reap the advantage of it. If the Grand Trunk build it, let Canada pay for it, and own it, if Canada builds it, let Canada own it. Mr. Hays has spoken of a nutshell. Doesn't the above put the case in that kind of a nutshell?

GENERAL DEWEET'S BOOK

It is not proposed to criticize this book as a literary effort. It is avowedly not literary. It will never be read by Caesar's commentators or Napoleon's Memoirs. But it is decidedly interesting to us in Canada. In a possible war with our only possible land opponent—the United States—our material situation apart from Imperial assistance would be not unlike that of the Boers. Our mental characteristics are also somewhat similar.

Hon. Richard Harcourt has incurred the wrath of the temperance people by expressing his conviction that the time is not ripe for the abolition of the bar. It does not seem fair that the lightning of indignation should strike the Minister of Education before some of his distinguished colleagues, even if it should strike him at all.

First—As to organization. Here is what Gen. Dewet tells us: "Every burgher between the ages of sixteen and sixty must be prepared to fight for his country at any moment, and if required for active service he must provide himself with a riding horse, saddle and bridle, with a rifle and thirty cartridges, or if he were unable to obtain a rifle he must have a bow and thirty arrows, three caps, and half a pound of powder—in addition he must be provisioned for eight days."

The alternative to the rifle was due to the fact that when the law was made the burghers possessed no breech-loaders. The quality and kind of food were left to the individual. After the first eight days the commissariat became a government matter. Some such law as the above would be excellent here.

Second—Officers. The Boers elected their officers. Here the regular and the irregular systems hoped for. The spike and bayonet span regular with his well-drilled, often too well-drilled—ideas of routine, despises the rough and ready, country man or mechanic given equal rank with himself. The elected officer, confident—often too confident—in his ability to hold his own looks down on the routine man as a machine and a dandy. This conflict is felt chiefly at the commencement of a war. In the United States civil war there was exactly the same jealousy. Even to the end of the struggle the militia officers and the regular army officers did not pull well together. The private did not worry about it, but the two classes did not mingle much. In Canada, we can have nothing but a democratic army. The officers at first will be the choice of the rank and file. It is possible to introduce some system which would provide that men in certain elective positions should qualify in military knowledge, some advance would be made. But after all, any military system must depend on public opinion. It is just as difficult to get Canadian sentiment to act on the principle that forewarned is forearmed as it was in the American colonies, before the Revolution of 1774. The dangerous belief that everything which comes right if you leave it alone paralyzes the best conceived plans for military defence.

Third—Weapons and military supplies. This item is not much spoken of by Gen. Dewet. He says nothing about the immense stores laid in by the governments of the two states—the Transvaal and Orange. Free State. What he deals with is "living on the enemy." He describes with pleasure how he and his men lived on supplies captured from our army. As we read his pages we seem to be reviving memories of southern raiders. And as we come to the close of the campaign we see that after all, the campaign was a war of little use as against a steady, deliberate, organized advance. The guerrillas in Spain during the Peninsular War inflicted immense damage on the French. But had it not been that Napoleon underrated the powers of Spanish resistance and English tenacity, and neglected Spain to attack Russia, the guerrillas would have had little effect on the campaign. In the war between the North and South, the Southern guerrillas also inflicted immense damage on the Northern lines.

of communication, but it is doubtful whether they did not do more harm than good to the Southern cause. They had no real effect on the general result, and they only made the North more bitter and more determined to win.

Gen. Dewet's raids were the same in theory and practice as Morgan's or Stuart's. Their result was the same, and while we cannot help admiring his desperate courage and ingenious wriggling out of difficulties, we can not help thinking that it was a useless waste of valuable strength, and that the same energy and ability directed to more concentrated effort would have produced better results. The lesson to us in Canada on this point is very striking. Our national characteristic of independent opinionativeness must, if we wish to defend our country, give way to the control of organized authority. We are likely to have too many talkative colonels and self-constituted brigadier-generals. Among the Boers this trouble was painfully evident, and it is a rock we must steer clear of.

Dewet's admiration for night attacks must not be overlooked. We are reminded at once of Gen. Harvey's successful attack on Stony Creek in 1813: a debatable point, but read the account of the success of the Boers at Treetfontein and it will be seen what can be done by such an attack properly carried out. The utility of the block-house system is denied by Dewet, but Com.-Gen. Botha held a different opinion. The latter says: "A year ago there were no block-houses. We could cross and recross the country as we wished, and harass the enemy at every turn. But now things wear a different aspect. We can pass the block-houses by night, indeed, but never by day. They are likely to prove the ruin of our commandoes." The result seems to prove that Botha was right and Dewet wrong.

We have taken some pains to call attention to our late foe. While it is true that he is conquered and we are victorious we ought not to forget the dark days of December, 1899. We Canadians may be called upon to make the same sort of fight as the Boers have made. If England does not allow her curious admiration of the United States to betray us our case is not exactly parallel. If European intervention had come to the assistance of the Boers, it would be almost exactly parallel. In any event, the "Boer tactic" of good marksmanship, and rapidity will be our tactics.

A FAIR FIGHTER.

Hon. Richard Harcourt has incurred the wrath of the temperance people by expressing his conviction that the time is not ripe for the abolition of the bar. It does not seem fair that the lightning of indignation should strike the Minister of Education before some of his distinguished colleagues, even if it should strike him at all.

Mr. Harcourt has convictions, and he states them. Some of his colleagues have convictions, and they either conceal or mask them. An open foe is less to be feared than a secret enemy. Hon. Richard Harcourt, openly and avowedly opposed to the abolition of the bar, is no such menace to the aims of the temperance party of Ontario as politicians who make pious professions of hostility to the bar, and at the same time give their silent influence to those who are seeking to maintain it. Surely the temperance party of Ontario has had enough to do with that type of political friend, who trades on the reputation of a life-long abstainer. A life-long abstainer embodies no qualities of honesty and courageous political endeavor that are not represented in the non-abstainer. Aside from practical politics which he may have given or is ready to give, of sympathy with the ideals of the temperance party, the man who believes in the bar and the man who desires to see the abolition of the bar are on precisely the same plane.

All the world loves a fighter. A fair fighter is still more worthy of the world's approbation. Hon. Richard Harcourt has set an example which his colleagues would do well to follow. Mr. Harcourt is not skulking behind a pallade of holy professions. He tells the country squarely and fairly where he stands, Ontario politics has been bedevilled by more or less scurrilous hypocritical appeals to the temperance sentiment of the province. The sooner the straight-forward methods of Hon. Richard Harcourt are applied by his colleagues the sooner will Ontario politics be cleansed of an odious influence.

COAL AND BACTERIA.

One of the newest and most cheering of scientific theories is that coal is really a bacterial product. "Subjected in shallow bodies of water to prolonged maceration, the dead plants were slowly transformed. Some disappeared altogether; others, attacked by the coal bacteria, were preserved in part; the vegetable organs retained their forms and almost their dimensions, while the notable proportion of hydrogen, oxygen and carbon; their consistency, their solidity, were diminished, but they retained a certain amount of flexibility and softness. The plant remains continued for some time to be attacked by the coal bacteria, but compression due to superincumbent layers caused considerable diminution of volume and organic matter and killed the micrococci and bacilli imprisoned in their tissues. After a slow drying, resulting from the long compression, the physical properties of coal were developed little by little."

In these days of practical science it is likely that this discovery will be speedily utilized. We can see the finish of the mine owners, the miners, the local coal dealers and the coal heavers. The housekeeper will go to the nearest drugstore or the medical health office and obtain a small package of coal germs, which can be at once set at work converting earth, rubbish, etc., into coal. A use will thus be discovered for poems and other manuscript, campaign literature, reports of speeches, hitherto supposed to be of no value. Thinkers which once only added to the sum of human waste, will become sources of warmth and light. They will cheer the homes of the people, instead of casting a gloom over the whole community.

PRICE DOES NOT FOLLOW THE

Mr. Elias Rogers takes a daring liberty with statistics when he states that the Ontario consumer would benefit to the amount of the reduction in the Canadian duty on soft coal. Mr. Rogers is very definite in his declaration. He is willing to guarantee that the price of soft coal in the Ontario market will be reduced fifty cents per ton on bituminous coal the day the duty is taken off. Furthermore, he believes that the price would be maintained at fifty cents less than it would otherwise be if the duty were continued.

The World has no desire to disparage the opinion of Mr. Elias Rogers. He is a keen business man, and has made a thorough study of the coal situation. But Mr. Rogers knows that a very slight disturbance of general conditions is sufficient to destroy a carefully planned estimate. Mr. Rogers was wrong and other Toronto coal dealers were wrong in their forecasts of the effect of the strike in the anthracite coal mines. Their special knowledge did not make their predictions any more valuable than the opinions of men who knew nothing of the details of the coal trade.

Mr. Rogers is in the same position in his ability to estimate the effect of the removal of the Canadian duty on soft coal. His opinion is worth no less and no more than the opinion of the dealer in flour. Statistics afford a more accurate guide, than the views of interested individuals. And statistics do not support the theory that the price of a commodity rises or falls in proportion to the rise or fall of the tariff. Mr. Rogers thinks the removal of the duty should reduce the price of soft coal to the Ontario consumer by the amount of the reduction. Mr. Rogers might have made a similar prophecy when the duty on anthracite was removed. The dealer in binder twine had a good reason to predict an immediate decrease in the price of binder twine following its reintegration to the free list. Great Britain had as much, or more, ground for supposing that the imposition of a tax on flour would increase the price of bread to the consumer. Yet the fact is that binder twine advanced in price soon after it was placed upon the free list, and Britain pays the market price for bread today than before imported flour was made subject to a tax.

No one pretends to say that placing binder twine on the free list was the cause of the increase in price. It would be equally fool to suggest that the Britisher would be paying more for his bread if a tax had not been imposed on flour. The argument is that the price to the consumer is not governed by adjustment of the tariff, there are other forces that often defeat the objects of tariff transformations, and Mr. Elias Rogers might find that this rule holds in its application to soft coal.

RAILWAY NEEDS OF THE WEST.

The providing of railway facilities for the west is the people's business, and the more publicity it obtains the better. The World, therefore, believes that it did good service to the people by sending its representative to St. Paul and obtaining the views of James J. Hill. Mr. Hill is an able man, not an infallible man, and his opinions are to be read in that way that they light upon the situation. They open the discussion, and we intend to follow them with the opinions of other railway men, if they will follow Mr. Hill's example, and speak out freely. This is something for which Mr. Hill is entitled to credit. He does not play the mystery man. He does not "refuse to be interviewed," and then pull wires for the publication of such opinions as may advance his interests. His opinions are on record over his own name. His business interests are well-known, and anyone who pleases is at liberty to read them into the interview. But his arguments are not answered by attacking them to sinister motives.

Already, however, we find an attempt to dispose of Mr. Hill's contentions by pointing out that he has conflicting interests of his own. Therefore, the Grand Trunk Pacific must be subsidized. The Northwest wants additional railway facilities. Therefore, the Grand Trunk Pacific must be subsidized. These endorsements are being given before we have any announcement of what the Grand Trunk deal is. The Ministers at Ottawa say they have not received the Grand Trunk proposals. Let us hear what they are, and let them be publicly discussed. What are the railway requirements of the west? What is the best way of giving the Grand Trunk and other companies access to that country. The World believes that Western Canada is growing, and needs more railways. The World believes that every facility should be given for shipping out the grain. But from the need of more railways it is a long step to the subsidizing of another transcontinental railway. There are more ways than one of accomplishing the end in view; and what we ought to guard against is being rushed into an extravagant and imprudent bargain before the whole field has been thoroughly examined.

THE SENATE AND THE HIGHER POLITICS.

The St. John Sun answers the dangerous argument that persons who in the past have ridiculed the Senate or advocated its abolition are not eligible for Senatorships. It says that as most of the Senators appointed since the change of government had previously expressed the same opinions that creed may now be regarded as an additional qualification for a call to the Upper

A GOOD MAN GONE.

Senator Wood of Hamilton deserves all the good things that are being said about him, now that he has gone over to the other side of the river. He was a strong party man, but not a narrow one in business, by solid, honest business methods. Through his business capacity and activity, Senator Wood became connected with many industrial and commercial interests, but he never allowed these to influence his course in parliament. He was a notable exception to the parliamentary representatives of wealth, who allowed their public conduct to be influenced by corporate attachments. Senator Wood was wealthy, and he was interested in many corporations. But he had the pride of wealth, as well as a genuine public zeal. To him his financial independence placed upon him an obligation to be independent of influences that seemed to conflict with the interests of the public. The Senate was dignified by the high-minded ideals of Andrew Trew Wood, and the country may well lament the inexorable fate that has removed him from parliamentary life.

Chamber. "By adding 50 per cent. to the annual allowance to Senators, they have brought forth fruits meet for repentance."

This seems to us to be a sound view, and a thoroughly in accord with the higher politics which we hear so much in these days. What if a man did once go in for tearing down all our old and cherished institutions? Is he to have no opportunity to repeat? We have the highest authority for the assertion that "men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things."

It is exactly what the new aspirants are doing. Senatorships are among the highest things that are going in Canadian politics, and these gentlemen are chasing them with a disregard of their dead selves that is highly creditable to their breadth and openness of mind. The Globe used to advocate the abolition of the Senate; but that was in the season when it paid undue heed to the loud clamor of the many.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

Senator Wood of Hamilton deserves all the good things that are being said about him, now that he has gone over to the other side of the river. He was a strong party man, but not a narrow one in business, by solid, honest business methods. Through his business capacity and activity, Senator Wood became connected with many industrial and commercial interests, but he never allowed these to influence his course in parliament. THE BEST ARGUMENT WE HAVE HEARD FOR BONUSING THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC IS THIS: THE OTHERS GOT IT, WHY SHOULDN'T THE GRAND TRUNK?

Municipal gas is now in sight for Toronto: the people want it and will have it. All they need do is to name the obstructionists and tell them to stand aside. The Hamilton Spectator knows of a man that the Grand Trunk Railway Company feels like cursing up Hill and down dale.

Protests are to be entered in the three Norths, and the judicial enquiry may be regarded as something of a polar expedition.

That athletic bovine that is defying all kinds of cattle-guard devices at Ottawa acts as if it held a brief from the railways.

Congressman Cochran was interrupted by a Canadian lady who showed a fine familiarity with that stirring bit of Dan McGillivuddy's prose, in which occur the words: "Powell, you lie!"

Citizens must accept the excuse of the Street Railway Company that it is short of hard coal, but benumbed passengers may not evade the fare box on the plea that they are short of hard cash.

For years the manufacturers of beverages, sauces, etc., have been looking for a bottle which could not be refilled. As soon as a bottle warranted to contain liquor of a certain age, or some sauce, prized by epicures when emptied, it would be refilled with inferior stuff, while the label would remain to deceive the public. Some curiously inventions have been made to get over this difficulty. In one case a small coin is blown into the side of the bottle, so that the bottle must be broken before it can be withdrawn. In another case a lottery ticket is inserted in a cavity in the bottle, the idea being that the bottle will be broken in order to obtain a chance for the prize.

There was one note that rang clear and true at the dinner of the Collingwood Board of Trade on Monday evening, and that was that Canada should prove her fiscal policy so that all the steel rails and all the steel ships required in this country should hereafter be made here, of Canadian metal, by Canadian workmen, and be the product of Canadian furnaces and mills. The meeting stood up to a man at these propositions. And when Mayor Hogg, who made an able and practical speech, toward the close, suggesting to the Postmaster-General that he nationalize the telegraphs and the telephones, there was great applause. And it is said that to say to his neighbor, the member for East York, that the latter would have to support him on it when he did so.

THE CENTRAL CANADA.

The annual statement of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company has been issued, and evidences a most satisfactory condition of affairs. The net earnings amount to $216,340.87, equal to 17.50 per cent. on the paid-up capital of $1,200,000. The net earnings were disposed of by the payment of four quarterly dividends of 1 1/2 per cent. each, making $75,000, a bonus of 1 per cent. amounting to $12,500, thus making a 7 per cent. dividend for the year, added to the Reserve Fund, $125,000, balance placed to the credit of profit and loss, $384,87. The Central Canada is one of the strongest financial institutions of which Canada may well be proud.

RADICAL SUGGESTION.

Editor World: I see from a report in to-day's World that the Conservatives of the province have raised a fund for the purpose of entering protests against the three members recently elected. I have been wondering for some time whether this method of dealing with the deplorable state of affairs which exists to-day in Ontario can be considered the most advisable from a national standpoint. Permit me to say that I consider a protest, and a by-election resulting from the seating of a parliamentary candidate as little less than a calamity to any constituency. South Ontario, West Ontario and Waterloo are composed of citizens just as good as can be found in any country in the world, and yet protests and by-elections have made their names synonymous with corruption throughout Canada. At the general election of 1902 the Ross government was rendered powerless by an unwieldy parliamentary majority, and an adverse popular majority of 7000 votes; and now we find this same government safely entrenched, for four years more, behind a workable majority in the House of four or five, thru the simple expedient of a few corrupt by-elections. Should the Conservatives succeed in unseating the three members just declared elected, what then? In my humble judgment we will simply see a repetition of what has just taken place. And with each succeeding circle of such events the constituencies interested become more and more involved in debating political irregularities. No government should be permitted to exist thru by-elections caused by the unseating of members for corrupt acts. Ontario passed judgment upon the Ross government at the general election, and by that verdict Ross should stand or fall. In order that we may escape further humiliation from this tendency to corruption, I think it high time that some radical departure be made from the present method of electing members. I think it high time that some radical departure be made to feel some responsibility in connection with this state of affairs, and with this in view I would suggest that when a candidate has been un-

If the consumptive could only keep from getting worse it would be some encouragement. Scott's Emulsion at least gives tired nature a breathing spell. The nourishment and strength obtained from Scott's Emulsion are a great relief to the exhausted system.

This treatment alone often enables the consumptive to gather force enough to throw off the disease altogether. Scott's Emulsion brings strength to the lungs and flesh to the body.

constituency remain unrepresented in parliament until the next general election. If a law such as this were in force, the present government could have pulled "out of the hole" by any such means as are generally resorted to in such cases. From experience in South Ontario, I pity any constituency that is obliged to face several protests and by-elections during the interval between general elections.

DEFENCE FOR THE DRIVEWAY.

Editor World: I had the pleasure of reading an article on page 1 of this morning's issue of your paper, Adelaide-street, page 3, and signed, a City Hokeekeeper. As I referred to the Toronto Driving Club as "my club" in the article, I wish to answer the writer of the article. If he was writing for the good of the people, why was he not bold enough to sign his name instead of hiding behind a screen, and trying to strike a good cause a blow in the back? No doubt he is a person for writing such an article, but it would be more gentlemanly to come right out and state his name with his own signature. My reasons for putting in the application for permission for the horsemen of Toronto (not the Toronto Driving Club members alone—almost most of the prominent horsemen and gentlemen drivers of the province class of horses are members of this club—for the use of Adelaide-street, from Simco-street, to the City Hall, from 7.30 to 1.10 p.m. on Wednesday evenings, during the winter season, were as follows: Adelaide-street during the winter season is practically free of any kind of traffic, and also the only place in the city to the south side of the street. It is central, and I am sure "the opinion of the riders" of Adelaide-street were given, that they would be found to be in favor of the speeding, as it is a pleasure that almost any person enjoys.

The horsemen are only asking for what every city, the same population and size as Toronto, has granted to the horsemen, and I think it is the feelings of the public at large, that a horseman should be granted to harness his horse on Adelaide-street during the winter, but for the summer, as the same is given to them in all the large cities, that this club is a pleasure organization, and gentlemen drivers of the province class of horses are members of this club—for the use of Adelaide-street, from Simco-street, to the City Hall, from 7.30 to 1.10 p.m. on Wednesday evenings, during the winter season, were as follows: Adelaide-street during the winter season is practically free of any kind of traffic, and also the only place in the city to the south side of the street. As to the city granting this club any concession, it is not a concession, but a privilege granted to the horsemen, and I think it is the feelings of the public at large, that a horseman should be granted to harness his horse on Adelaide-street during the winter, but for the summer, as the same is given to them in all the large cities, that this club is a pleasure organization, and gentlemen drivers of the province class of horses are members of this club—for the use of Adelaide-street, from Simco-street, to the City Hall, from 7.30 to 1.10 p.m. on Wednesday evenings, during the winter season, were as follows: Adelaide-street during the winter season is practically free of any kind of traffic, and also the only place in the city to the south side of the street. IRRITABLE WOMEN

Should be Pitied - Not Blamed - Men Don't Understand How They Suffer When They Cry, "Oh, Don't Speak to Me."

All manner of extravagant expressions are possible when a woman's nerves are overwrought. The spasms at the top of the wind pipe or bronchial tubes, "ball rising in the throat," violent heaving of the heart, laughing and crying by turns, muscular spasms (throwing the arms about), frightened by the most insignificant occurrences - are all symptoms of a hysterical condition and serious derangement of the female organs.

Any female complaint may produce hysterics, which must be regarded as a symptom only. The cause, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which acts at once upon the organ afflicted and the nerve centres, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms.

Mrs. Lewis Says: "I Feel Like a New Person, Physically and Mentally." "Dear Mrs. Pinkham - I wish to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For years I had ovarian trouble and suffered everything from nervousness, severe headache, and pain in back and abdomen.

Mrs. Haven's First Letter to Mrs. Pinkham. "Dear Mrs. Pinkham - I would like your advice in regard to my troubles. I suffer every month at time of menstruation and flow so much, and for so long that I become very weak, also get very dizzy. I am troubled with a discharge before and after menses have pain in ovaries so bad sometimes that I can hardly get around, have sore feeling in lower part of bowels, pain in back, bearing-down feeling, a desire to pass urine frequently, with pains in passing it; I have leucorrhoea, headache, fainting spells, and sometimes have hysteria. My blood is in good condition. Hoping to hear from you, I am, Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa." (Feb. 1, 1900)

Mrs. Haven's Second Letter. "Dear Mrs. Pinkham - I wish to express my gratitude for what you have done for me. I suffered for four years with womb troubles. Every month I flowed very badly. I got so bad that I could hardly do my work. I was obliged to sit or lie down most of the time. I doctored for a long time but obtained no relief. I began using your remedies - Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, Sensitive Wash and Liver Pills - and now feel like a new woman." - Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (Feb. 1, 1900)
