An Awful Marine Disaster

The S. S. Regulus Becomes a Total Wreck—25 Persons Drowned—Story of the Disaster.

An awful marine disaster occurred early on Monday morning when the steamer Regulus, in ballast from Bell Island to Sydney for a load of coal, went down at a place named Leeward Cove, at the South Head of Petty Harbour, and only a few miles south of St. John's, carrying with her twenty-five souls. The story of the wreck is as follows:—

The Regulus left Bell Island early Sunday morning bound for Sydney for a load of coal and passed St. John's at 8.30 a.m. She was to have taken a cargo of iron ore from Bell Island to Sydney, but the N. S. S. Co. wired asking Mr. Harvey to send the Adventure with the ore and the Regulus for coal. At 2 p.m. Mr. Harvey received through the Anglo-American Telegraph Office the following message from Capt. J. D. Taylor, who was in charge of the ship:

"We are lying off Bay Bulls with tail shaft broken. Send assistance. Ship 3 1/2 miles N.W. by W. of Bay Bulls North Head."

This message was conveyed to Bay Bulls by a passing schooner. On receipt of the message Mr. Harvey got in communication with the Tug Co., and asked them to send forward the tugs John Green and Ingraham as quickly as possible. Fifteen minutes later the tugs were on their way to the assistance of the Regulus. The weather at that time was very thick with a S. E. wind blowing and rapidly increasing in force.

At about 8.30 p.m. the tug John Green was sent forward to search for the Regulus, and found her at anchor, while the Ingraham did not locate her at all, and after a while cruising about returned to port. Had the John Green been as unsuccessful in her search as the Ingraham it is thought by many that no disaster would have occurred, as the Regulus was held securely by the two anchors. Immediately the tug drew near a tow-line was sent aboard the crippled ship and the act of raising the anchors and the act of towing the ship was begun. The tug began towing at about 10 o'clock, but the storm of wind had increased, the fog became thicker and a tremendous sea was running, and the tug and steamer, instead of making any headway, must have drifted toward the bold, perpendicular cliffs. Suddenly, and without the least warning, the hawser broke, and the next moment those on board the tug saw the lights of the Regulus disappear and the ship sank immediately in the heavy sea, carrying the human freight with her. The ship, it is thought, drove on to the shoal at that point, and the heavy strain caused by the impact was the cause of the hawser breaking. The tug cruised up and down all night in the hope of rescuing the crew had they taken to the boats. At day-break the men on the John Green described the Regulus ashore at Leeward Cove around the South Head of Petty Hr. There was no sign of the crew or boats. The mountainside sea which raged must have dashed them to immediate destruction, as not a single soul was saved.

As the news spread around St. John's great excitement prevailed, and fears for the safety of the crew were mingled with hope on account of a rumor on Monday morning that the crew were saved. But as the day wore on hope gave place to fear, and when the Ingraham, which had gone to the scene at 9 a.m., returned at 1.15 with the report of seeing a lot of wreckage but no sign of the crew, all hope was abandoned.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Piccott, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, left by the Ingraham for the scene of the wreck taking with him the divers of H.M.S. Brilliant, with the view of recovering, if possible, the bodies. The diver went down to a depth of 14 fathoms of water and found the starboard side of the ship lying on the bottom, and saw nothing of the remains of any of the crew. After the first diver returned another went down. He found he was able to walk through the ship, her overcocks being split. The bodies of the officers were not disturbed, neither were the bedding and belongings of the men. The chart room was found intact. It is stated that two bodies were seen by the diver, but he was not able to bring them to the surface. After awhile return was made to port, and it is the intention to return to the scene of the wreck as soon as a favorable opportunity offers.

Why the captain did not allow his anchors to remain where they were until morning will remain a mystery, as if this course had been pursued it is very likely this marine disaster would not have happened. We will have further particulars in our next issue.

The Crippen Sentence

(Daily News Message) London, Oct. 22nd.—H. H. Crippen was yesterday adjudged guilty of the murder of his wife, and sentenced to death. The jury was out thirty minutes. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone asked Crippen if he had anything to say. He replied, "I will protest my innocence." The Chief Justice then donned the black cap and pronounced the death sentence. Addressing Crippen, he said, "You have been convicted on evidence that leaves no doubt on the mind of any reasonable man, that you cruelly murdered your wife, and then mutilated her body. I advise you to entertain no hope that you will escape the consequence of your crime, and implore you to make your peace with Almighty God." Crippen will be hanged. No date is yet fixed for the execution, but it will probably be within a month. The trial of Ethel LeNeve, as accessory after the fact, will begin on Tuesday.

Schooner Wrecked

Five Persons Drowned

The scho. Golden Arrow, belonging to St. Joseph's, Salmonier, was lost on Nancy Key, St. Mary's Bay, during the storm of Sunday night. The crew of five were drowned, but the captain was washed ashore and saved.

A notice appears in Tuesday's Royal Gazette stating that a meeting of the "Regulus" Steamship Co., Ltd. was held on Saturday, Oct. 22, at which a resolution was passed for the winding up of the company and distributing its property.

Dr. Whelan, P.P. of North River and Bay Roberts, arrived home from a two months' trip abroad on Thursday, Oct. 21. During his absence he visited Canada, United States, England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany, Switzerland and France. While in Germany he visited Oberammergau, where he saw the famous Passion Play.

The Exhibition

The Agricultural and Manufacturers Exhibition will be held in St. John's from Monday, Oct. 31st, to Saturday, Nov. 5th. Great preparations are now being made by the Manufacturers, the Board of Agriculture and other Government Departments to make the affair a big success. During the week we visited the Princes Rink and the Curling Rink and found these places to be regular hives of industry, each exhibitor vying with the other in making their exhibits as attractive as possible. The buildings will be brilliantly illuminated and decorated, and together with the displays will form a very attractive appearance. There will be a grand display of our Colony's resources, live stock show, unique attractions, lands and other amusements. The Reid Nfld. Co. are offering very low excursion rates, and all who can should make an effort to attend. We would suggest to our school-teachers and other public-spirited citizens to urge our young people to attend. It would certainly be a great day for our country. The admission to the Exhibition is free.

Obituary

Death has been here and borne away a loved one from our side. Just in the morning of life's day. Our darling May has died. There passed peacefully away on Monday morning, Oct. 24th, May, daughter of Henry and Sarah Russell. Truly it may be said of her she bore her sickness with Christian resignation. Hers was indeed an exemplary life. Although only in her 16th year her thoughts were always for the welfare of others, and the patience which was manifested all through her illness was very marked indeed. She was a member of the Methodist Sunday School, and the children marched to the graveside on Wednesday afternoon to show their last token of respect for the one they loved so well. A number of citizens also attended the funeral, and at the church Rev. C. A. Whitemarsh preached a very touching sermon on the life and death of this young woman. A large number of beautiful floral offerings adorned the coffin, including one from the Sabbath school.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell wish to thank all the kind friends for the many expressions of sympathy and help during their recent bereavement; also to thank all who sent floral offerings to adorn the coffin of their daughter, May.

What the Railroads are Doing to Open Up Newfoundland

By HON. SIR EDWARD MORRIS, K.C., LL.D.

(Prime Minister of Newfoundland)
In a recent number of the "American Review of Reviews" appears the following article written by the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, for the purpose of still further advertising our country and its many and varied resources:

"Railroad building in Newfoundland had its birth in the year 1883, when the first legislation was introduced for the purpose of constructing roads in that island. Like similar enterprises in other countries it had its misfortunes, and after about eighty miles was constructed the company broke down. This pioneer railway company was an American corporation known as the Blackman Syndicate, but the money was found by British capitalists, to whom the road was mortgaged. Between 1881 and 1888 only eighty miles had been constructed. In that year an additional branch line of about thirty miles was built to Placentia, the capital of the district from which the town takes its name. Placentia was once fortified and occupied by the French, and has yet many interesting relics of French rule. In 1891 a contract was entered into by the government of Sir William Whiteway, Premier, for the construction of a road across the country from St. John's to Port au Basque. This road was finished in 1897, and mainly to its developing agencies the present prosperity in Newfoundland may be attributed.

Prosperity Follows the Rails
"This road, beginning at St. John's, touches nearly all the important settlements on the north and west coast of Newfoundland. Along the whole line of six hundred miles, its industry after industry is springing up. When the railway was built there was hardly a human habitation in Newfoundland five miles from the sea coast. Some idea of the character of the country may be had when it is known that this island, larger than Ireland, possessed its whole primeval forests and minerals up to that time practically undeveloped and unexplored.

"Twenty years ago you could not have imagined the number of tourists visiting Newfoundland from abroad. To-day there are over seven thousand, principally from the United States, who visit the island annually.

The Work of Sir Robert Reid
"The undertaking by the Newfoundland Government to construct this road was a heroic policy, in that for years it could not be expected to pay for its operation. The government was fortunate, however, in securing at the close of its construction a contractor, in the person of the late Sir Robert Reid, of Montreal, who undertook to operate the road for fifty years without any cost to the Colony, save a hand grant of five thousand acres per mile of railway track in alternate blocks along the line. That was in 1898, and since then industries have multiplied through the country.

"In addition to the operation of the road, the Newfoundland Government entered into an agreement with Sir Robert Reid for the construction and operation of nine steamships that ply in the various bays of Newfoundland on the north, south, and west coasts of the island that are tapped by the railway, another steamer to ply on the Labrador coast, and another across the Cabot Strait, the waters of which divide Cape Breton from Newfoundland. All these steamers are of a first-class type and steam from twelve to sixteen knots an hour. These steamers all act as feeders to the railway.

Growth of Passenger Traffic
"It is almost inconceivable that in so short a space of time the operation of this road and steamers could have developed the large industry now carried on by the tourist trade.

Sciatic Rheumatism
Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

"Mr. Alex. Fisher, Jr., Clarence Creek, Russell Co., Ont., writes:—'My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed. I could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite. "Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night."

Laid Up With Lame Back

Pain, helplessness and suffering are overcome by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mrs. Frank Bloom, Harwood Lake, Ont., writes: 'I want to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered so badly with kidney disease that when I lay down I could not get up without help. I was completely laid up with lame, aching back. I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the Almanac, got them and they cured me of kidney disease and backache.

"My husband had dreadful pains in his sides and obtained relief by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills are the best on the market and I am glad to recommend them. They are definite and certain in action, enliven the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, are lastingly beneficial and economical. But to obtain these results you must get the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ried on by them. Last year nearly a million dollars was received from freight and passengers—the steamer Bruce, running from Port au Basque, the terminus of the railway to Sydney, having carried twenty-five thousand passengers. This is probably as many passengers as were carried by any steamer in Canada engaged in similar work. What makes this route attractive to American travellers and tourists is that the Bruce is only six hours at sea. Leaving New York and the sweltering heat behind in June, July and August, the passenger is on the deck of the Bruce at North Sydney forty hours after leaving. Six hours at sea in the Bruce (which, in point of fitting up, speed and comfort, from the standpoint of the passenger, is a little Louisiana in her way), one has hardly time to get settled after coming on board—it may be, have a lunch, a game of bridge, or a chat with the officers—when Port au Basque, the railway terminus of the Newfoundland Railway is in sight.

"The tourist, the fisherman, the sportsman, the health seeker, the hunter, or the traveller who wishes to enjoy this whole line of railway for the spot where he is to pass his summer holiday. Every mile of the road has its own special attraction. An hour from Port au Basque and you are at a salmon pool. Here the fishermen, like Selkirk, if he desires solitude, is monarch of all he surveys, and will find (unlike Selkirk) a few fish which eggs have seen in its face.

"At Little River, thirty miles from Port au Basque on the line of railway, several houses, little hotels, are situated where the traveler is carefully looked after, the very best of food provided and a comfortable bed. These houses are but a few minutes' walk from the railway station, and not a hundred yards from a salmon pool. Thousands of American tourists are brought here every year, and these people fish and hunt between Port au Basque and Howley, a station a little beyond Grand Lake, reached in about six hours by rail from Codroy.

"All along this western seashore the American tourist and traveler will find much to interest him territorially and politically. Every mile of it is included, so the Americans say, in the liberty given them to fish under the Treaty of 1815. The Newfoundland Government, however, claims that under the Treaty of 1818, Section One, inhabitants of the United States are only allowed to come to the coast—that is, the outer coast—and that the treaty does not give them the liberty to come into the bays, the harbors, or the creeks. Of course they have no rights whatever on the shore, nor have they ever asserted any rights to the rivers. They are not even allowed to land. The Newfoundland Government claims that the distinction was drawn in the framing of the treaty between the concession given to the inhabitants of the United States on the Newfoundland coast and that given to them on the Labrador coast.

dred sail of schooners come down from Gloucester and other New England ports, and take away a load of herring to their respective homes. Here the herring are smoked or salted and cured in various ways for the American and Canadian markets. Over fifteen hundred American fishermen take part in this industry, and for the working out of the industry they very often avail themselves of the Newfoundland Railway.

Until 1905 hardly any dispute had arisen in relation to the taking of these herring by American fishermen. But in that year the Newfoundland legislature enacted certain laws, the enforcement of which to some extent has brought about the arbitration to be held at The Hague this summer, to determine the right of Americans in relation to the Treaty of 1818.

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

CAUSE AND CURE OF RHEUMATISM

Due to Impurities in the Blood—Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The most noticeable and immediate result of rheumatism is a marked thinning of the blood, and in no disease does it develop more rapidly. Not only does the blood become weak but it is soon filled with impurities, which the different organs of the body have been unable to throw off. One of the most harmful of these impurities is uric acid, which is formed from the waste products of the body. In health it is carried off by the kidneys, but with the help of oxygen from the red corpuscles of the blood, which oxygen the kidneys are unable to rid the system of this acid and it is retained in the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. The weak back, pains across the kidneys and thin scanty, highly colored secretions, which follow, show that the acid is already in the blood and often leads the sufferer to think he has kidney trouble. If the disease is not driven out of the blood, rheumatism can never be cured, and the sufferer will always be subject to attacks, whenever exposed to damp or cold. With each returning attack the pain becomes more severe and complications often arise making necessary the use of habit forming drugs to relieve pain.

It is readily seen that the only way to cure rheumatism is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills afford such a treatment as they contain all the elements necessary to build up and purify the blood. They increase its oxygen carrying capacity enabling the kidneys to pass uric acid from the body and the other organs to do their work. Thus rheumatism is reached at its root and permanently cured. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely free from all habit forming drugs, and are not an experiment as the following case will show.—Mr. W. Scudley Lewis, Pilot Mound, Man., says:—"I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and always keep some by me in case of need. A few years ago while teaching school I suffered so much with rheumatism in my arms and shoulders that I had the greatest difficulty in writing on the blackboard, and after trying a number of remedies without benefit, I was almost in despair, and felt inclined to abandon teaching. But one day I happened to pick up one of Dr. Williams' almanacs, and read of the cure of a number of severe cases of rheumatism through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decided me to give the Pills a trial, and I had only taken them a few days when I felt much better. In the course of a few weeks more the pains and stiffness had all left me, and I had no more difficulty in doing my work. I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pills for they and they alone cured me of my rheumatism."

Boy Scouts' Long Trek.

London, Oct. 8.—Tired but triumphant, two boy scouts, Edgar Brown and James Ramsbottom, yesterday afternoon handed to the Mayor of Rawtenstall a despatch from the Lord Mayor of London. In order to deliver it they had to elude the vigilance of the entire Boy Scout forces on the route.

For hundreds of weary miles they had treasured it, fearing that rival Boy Scouts would search them and capture the precious document. Twice they were thus challenged, at Macclesfield and Uttoxeter, and though they had the despatch in their possession, it was not discovered. Neither hats, boots, nor pockets contained it, and their baffled rivals allowed them to go their way, carrying a grubby and tattered muffin with them.

That muffin was the key to the situation. Its doughy center had been carefully scooped out, and the despatch concealed inside. It would be dangerous to shout "Muffins!" after any Boy Scouts in Macclesfield or Uttoxeter, while, on the other hand, the name is a cry of triumph on the lips of the bold Scouts of Macclesfield.

It was on Sept. 23 that Scouts Brown and Ramsbottom strode gallantly southward, bearing a despatch from the Mayor of Rawtenstall to the Lord Mayor of London. On Sept. 30 they arrived at the Mansion House in the Metropolis, with the treasuredmissive, and received a reply to be handed to the Mayor of Rawtenstall. Then it was that the muffin provided them with a successful place of concealment for the paper.

The Fisheries Our Mainstay

The great outstanding fact with regard to the resources of this Colony is that, however much we talk about other industries, the fisheries continue to be our mainstay. The following tabular statement of the value of our exports the past 10 years will illustrate this, the first column showing fishing products and the second other products, the latter including minerals, lumbering, various food stuffs, manufactures, &c.:

Yr. edg.	Fishery Products	Other Products
June 30
1900	$7,015,004	$1,612,412
1901	6,867,849	1,451,029
1902	7,350,881	2,188,943
1903	7,807,071	2,178,533
1904	8,535,087	1,846,310
1905	8,724,175	1,944,067
1906	10,117,057	1,069,325
1907	10,038,052	1,003,106
1908	9,708,350	2,017,710
1909	9,346,246	1,822,067

These figures show that for nearly ten years past the value of our exports have been stationary at about $2,000,000 per annum, but that the value of our fisheries have increased from seven and one-third million dollars to over ten million dollars, or nearly 50 per cent. This has been due almost entirely to the higher prices given for our codfish, codliver oil, and kindred products. Almost until last year there was a steady increase in the average value of codfish; in other words our people were paid a higher price for it every year, and for 1905 and 1907-8 the price was the highest for nearly 100 years, whereas ten years previously it had reached almost low water mark—$2.46 per qt., against $5.18 per qt. in 1906-7, an increase of over 100 per cent. The fact that it had been found possible within ten years to more than double the price of codfish, suggests the opinion—"can this price be maintained?" We have seen during the past two years that the price has decidedly declined, a circumstance attributed to various causes—a large catch one year, a poor catch another year, aggressive competition by our rivals and in inferior cure of our own product. The latter condition however can be overcome by ourselves. We may be unable to control the operations of nature so as to assure our selves of large catches every year, but it will hardly be disputed that by the application of more intelligence to the industry, the introduction of scientific principles, and the availing of the knowledge gained by other countries, we can lessen the risks of failure and by developing new markets and applying new methods to the putting up of our fish, we ought to be able to maintain ourselves on a better plan with regard to the fisheries generally, and ensure for ourselves a much larger price for our product.

The importance of course of even our fisheries is being relatively lessened each year as other industries are taking form amongst us. For instance, the production of pulp and paper in the colony as it increases from year to year will provide employment for large numbers of men, lessen the drain upon our fisheries to maintain our prosperity, and provide a portion of our exports, which will greatly increase their total. And it is conceivable that within comparatively few years we may witness such an increase in this form of industry as will make pulp and paper as large a contributor to our general prosperity as the codfishery is to-day. None the less it should be our aim and object, to improve the conditions of our codfishery at the same time so as to steadily advance the well-being of our people and raise the standard of comfort and add to the savings of the masses of those who live in this Island. Much has been done in these directions as a result of the good times of recent years, but we should not alone maintain these good times, but largely increase the degree of "goodness," in other words we should bring better times and still better times to our people as each year rolls by.—Chronicle.

Potato Diseases and their Symptoms

No potato grower can be too familiar with the appearance presented by the potato vines when attacked by any one of the common diseases, hence a brief discussion of their "symptoms" will be profitable at this time.

EARLY BLIGHT.

While quite destructive, this disease is not to be compared with late blight and its damaging effects. It is easily distinguished from the latter by its different appearance. It is really a leaf blight, attacking the leaves and green stems. The first indication of its presence is the appearance on the leaves of rather light brown spots, which soon become hard and brittle. The disease progresses rather slowly, the spots gradually becoming larger, particularly near the edges of the leaves, and some of the dry, brittle portions will drop out, leaving a ragged appearance. The disease gradually progresses until at the end of a month most of the leaves will become withered, dry and brittle, and while the stems remain green for a time the plants soon die for lack of nourishment. As this disease generally attacks the plants at about the time the tubers commence to form, the crop is often seriously damaged by its appearance. It can be held in check by the application of Bordeaux mixture, as advised for late blight, and at several experiment stations where experiments have been conducted to determine the profit, if any, from spraying it has been found that the increase in the yield as a result of checking the early blight and other lesser troubles, has more than repaid the cost of thorough spraying, even where the late blight did not make an appearance in the unsprayed check plots.

TIP BURN OR SCALD.

This is the disease which is sometimes confused with early blight and is often present in the same fields. The edges of the tender leaves will wilt, turn brown and become hard and brittle, but the spots over the surface of the leaves which are characteristic of early blight are generally lacking. This trouble may occur at any time during the growth of the plants as a result of the peculiar weather conditions which are supposed to cause the trouble. Continued damp or rainy weather, followed by clear, hot days are the conditions most favorable to its development.

It is most apt to occur on soils that are not retentive of moisture, and the theory with regard to it is that the tissues of the plants become loaded with moisture in the damp weather, and that the hot sun on the leaves when in this condition causes a rapid evaporation of the moisture stored in the leaf cells. On an open soil, this evaporation may withdraw the moisture from the plants more rapidly than the supply is furnished by the roots, and a continuation of this condition for any considerable length of time cause the tender portions of the plants to weaken and die. Thus practically the same effect is produced on the vine as in the case in a protected soil of dry weather on soils which are not retentive of moisture. Like early blight, it is more apt to occur in fields where the growth of the plants has been checked for any reason, and their vigor consequently weakened.

WHOLE COUNTRY IS RINGING WITH IT

Wonderful Cure of Rheumatism By Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Hutchins of Dunham, Que., could not walk across the room—Story of her speedy and complete cure.

"Dunham, Que. Oct 24 (Special).—Missisquoi Country is ringing with the story of Mrs. G. M. Hutchins, who after suffering from Rheumatism, Lumbago and Neuralgia, is again a strong, hearty woman. In an interview Mrs. Hutchins says: "I was affected with Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Lumbago. My limbs would swell; my muscles would cramp; I was nervous and had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins. "I could not even walk across the room. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking six boxes found myself in the best of health—as well as ever. I was in my life."

Mrs. Hutchins' troubles were all caused by Kidney Disease. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them so completely and quickly. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure only Kidney Disease, but they are a sure cure for any form of it from Backache to Bright's Disease.

In this trouble, as with most others which attack the potato, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." The best way to prevent it is by increasing the humus in the soil, which will make it more retentive of moisture as well as more fertile, by furnishing plenty of available plant food for the use of the growing crop, and by employing cultural methods which will keep the crop in a vigorous growing condition at all times. The application of Bordeaux mixture is said to have a beneficial effect in the minimizing of this trouble, but it should not be depended upon to the neglect of a proper preparation of the soil or good cultural methods in growing the crop.

I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. FOND, 1035 Landowne St., Baltimore, Md.

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as a good medicine. When I was 10 years old I was very delicate, had no appetite, no color, and could not go to school more than two days a week. Salvation Secessions

Officers Leave Army to Act as Immigration Agents for Canadian Railway.

London, Oct. 9.—An intimation reached Belfast from Montreal yesterday that Lt.-Col. Howell, head of the Salvation Army Immigration Department, and Mr. George Southall, his deputy, have left the army to take up positions in the service of the Canadian Northern Railway Company.

These appointments have been made in connection with the company's big immigration scheme, and while the head offices will be in Toronto, Messrs. Howell and Southall will do a great deal of their work in Britain and Ireland, the intention of the railway company being to bring cut farmers, farm labourers, and fruit growers, and settle them on farms along the routes of the Canadian Northern line in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia.

The new department, which will give a wide berth to British towns, will devote its energies to securing agriculturists and farm hands, male and female, and probably miners for the coalfields west of Mackenzie and Mann.

FOOD FOR A YEAR

Meat 300 lbs.
Bile 240 lbs.
Butter 100 lbs.
Eggs 27 doz.
Vegetables 500 lbs.

This represents a fair ration for a man for a year.

But some people eat and eat and grow thinner. This means a defective digestion and unsuitable food. A large size bottle of equals in nourishing properties ten pounds of meat. Your physician can tell you how it does it.

House Built From One Fir

A fourteen room, two story and a half house, built entirely of the lumber from a single fir tree, was recently finished at Elma, Wash. The tree was a giant Douglas fir and was felled west of the town. It was marvelously straight and when scaled was found to contain 40,000 feet of serviceable lumber. The tree was cut into six logs, the first at butt being 28 feet in length. Inside the bark the stump measured 7 feet and 9 inches in diameter. The distance to the first limb of this tree was 100 feet and the total height of the tree was over 800 feet.

At the standard price of $25 a thousand the lumber in this tree was worth more than $1,000. Elma is in the midst of the great fir timber belt on the west slope of the Cascade Mountains.
