Banker taking a Holiday - The Monetary Institutions with which he is Connected.

Mr. Thomas Maclellan, President of the Maritime Bank, and head of the private banking house of Maclellan & Co., left last evening for England, via New York...

Now that he has turned his back upon us, we feel as if we might, without impropriety, make a reference to his many and varied services to the community...

Chicago is quite a sporting city, and an unenviable reputation for the means of gambling; it is also quite a sprinkling of the pugilistic fraternity, one of whom met with a satisfactory end lately.

The volume of business transacted by Maclellan & Co. is very large and profitable, and is decidedly on the increase.

The affairs of the Maritime Bank were a discouraging aspect when, not long ago, Mr. Maclellan assumed its management.

Notwithstanding the fact that the bank's official returns show that the bank occupies a strong financial position, the returns are only made up to the end of January, and they show that the bank's position is not so good as it appears to be.

here. The troubles of Ireland are aired in America, especially in New York and Chicago until they are bludgeoned. You should hear some of the people, who are commonly called "dinned mouths," speak of the (to us) painful subject.

One who subscribed a paltry $5,000 to the "Irish Relief Fund," upon the assurance that he hoped it was used by the knaves that stabbed the unfortunate victims.

This cowardly remark was made in a public meeting, and duly noted by the press. They are glad over anything murder, one that is hurled to English feeling; if they could, they would annihilate everything English, but being at a distance of over 3,000 miles from imaginary enemies, they can well afford to talk murder to their hearts content, especially when encouraged by gin mill politicians, and the general press, for political purposes.

Their social position, however, is just what might be expected. The letter class of the American people have no sympathy with them. A few evenings ago, Mayor Harrison was presented with an illuminated address, sent over by the Irish members of the British House of Commons, for what they are pleased to term his fearless speech in their behalf last winter.

This Mayor Harrison is a strange article. He is a Kentuckian by birth, but it does not prevent him from being an Englishman, a Scotchman (and if occasion requires he will don the kilt and hose of the Highlander), a German, a Swede, a Dane and "Chinese" and the other evening he was a full fledged Irishman.

In the presentation of the above-mentioned address, they all got in their work in his style, and no doubt felt good. The presentation was made by that interesting individual who is going to twist the tail of the Lion, that is when he gets hold of the tail; the chances are, however, that he will swing him.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—Mr. D. M. Loggie has retired from the firm of D. M. Loggie & Co., whose dry goods establishment on Upper Water Street, next door to the Advance office, has been sold to the purchaser...

BRILLIANT SKATING at the Chatham rink. Mr. Axel Paulsen, the famous Norwegian skater, appeared at the Chatham rink on Saturday evening last...

ALABASTINE for interior house walls and ceilings is advertised by Mr. W. S. Loggie this week. Among the points on which it is recommended are the following: It is the only natural and durable material with which to finish walls and ceilings...

It is cheaper than Kalsomine; works easier, and may be applied by any one. After cleaning, no sizing or other preparation for the walls is necessary, and one coat can be applied upon another as soon as dry.

It is whiter than any other material, and the tints are clearer and more delicate. The white will not turn yellow or the tints fade.

Cracks in the wall can be easily filled with the brush and a little thick Alabastine, while applying the first coat. This cannot be done with Kalsomine.

Alabastine can be applied over old Kalsomine or whitewash, which, however, should be washed or scraped off, to insure a first class job.

It is the most suitable article for use over wall paper, or ailed painted work, in order that he might have room to display his skill. The water is well adapted to the "poetry of motion" and, although Mr. Paulsen does not seem to have fallen in with the idea that a truly graceful skater must keep his hands in the pockets of a tight-fitting jacket, his motions were the embodiment of finished smoothness and grace, keeping exact time with the hand and impressing the spectators with the idea that a master of physical art was before them.

On the fact that Herr Paulsen, the renowned skater, was engaged to give an exhibition at the Chatham rink on Saturday evening, the attendance at the rink in Newcastle, on the same evening, was under the average, the falling off being more noticeable as regards the skaters than the spectators. Of the latter there were about three hundred present.

It was a pity that the two affairs clashed, but at the exact time of Herr Paulsen's appearance in Chatham could not be ascertained and made known until a day or two of the time, it could not be avoided. The proceedings were enlivened by the music of the Newcastle Brass Band. Among the characters represented, some really good skating was exhibited by "Salter," "Pollicena," and the "Chambers," the latter making occasional sprays around the circle backwards, both swiftly and gracefully. "Black Hawk," was a very well gotten up character, and his "Salter," "Pollicena," and the "Chambers," the latter making occasional sprays around the circle backwards, both swiftly and gracefully.

Among the ladies the most attractive characters were "Erin's Flag," "German Princess," the "Witch," the "Tambourine Girl," "Grandma's," and "Jennie Jane." Considerable canvassing was done among the spectators, the awards being made by ballot. The poll was closed about 10 o'clock, the counting up showing the following as the results: Black Hawk, (J. R. Lawlor) 68; Trio 8; Sailor, 11; a few votes being scattered among the others. For the lady's prize—Jennie Jane, (Miss Brown) 34; German Princess 19; Witch 19; Tambourine Girl 13; Grandma 12. The balance of votes were divided among Erin's Flag, Yachting Costume, and Chambersmaid.

Prizes of $5 each were awarded to "Black Hawk" and "Jennie Jane."—Advocate.

The Charm of Tobacco.

The following lines were written on the back of a sheet which enclosed a valued Newcastle firm's subscription. The lines have been shown them published or not, we can not tell, but as the poetry and sentiments are both good, we give them a place.

When clouds, o'ercharg'd with care and grief, See gathering avert, 'Tis in the roll tobacco!

And, with each puff, there fades away Some gloom, or real sorrow, And I am happy for the day, 'Whisper' beside the morrow.

The grateful wreath of smoke I blow To you, my heaven-sent joy, I blow each one as off they go Like some descending joy.

Or, like that I could save above, Or, like that, had the power, To reach away from those I love Each and every hour.

Nelson Notes.

While Charlie and his companion were with a revolver, it went off in Charlie's hands the ball passing a little too close to his companion's head, and he spent the balance of the afternoon searching for the bullet-hole in his hat.

It is generally thought that Charlie was not so much a sportsman as he is reputed to have been, but Pat thinks he ought not to have been, but Pat thinks he ought not to have been, but Pat thinks he ought not to have been.

The suffering public in the upper part of our village think it is a pity that the mail carriers' team. The horse has developed quite an interest in local politics just now and as the lot of the plans of our Government is a puzzling question, the poor horse has a rough time of it and we suppose that his master delays our mail to assist in arguing the case. I won't say anything about our post office, but the travelling public, who pass and repass in the evenings and listen to the awful howling more than I care to record. Never mind, it is a party appointment. We are not a big city, but we have very well-kept in our small ways.

It is supposed, now that Wiggin's storm is past and the cold weather is over, that our school will be kept much regularly. I will call the attention of the trustees in another issue to the shed in the midst of a frog pond that is termed a school house.

Thinking you for your valuable space I remain, Yours, FOLEY'S CORNER, March 16th, 1883.

Ottawa Notes.

March 13.—In the Commons Sir John Macdonald stated that he would not move for the liquor license committee today as the report of the judgment of the medical committee of the Privy Council had not yet been printed for distribution to members.

A caucus of Liberals was held this morning and a course decided on in regard to this question when it comes up.

Mr. Mitchell moved the suspension of the rules to allow the introduction of a bill to incorporate the Quebec River Boat Company. Mr. Burpee (St. John) opposed giving special legislation in this instance, when numerous boom companies were on a similar position. A general remedy should be provided.

Sir Leonard Tilley said the Government had been waited on by a committee of New Brunswick members who had pointed out the difficulties of boom companies, and the Government would propose a measure to give at least a temporary remedy.

Mr. Mitchell on this assurance withdrew the bill. Considerable discussion arose on the 8th section of Sir Leonard Tilley's bill to amend the act relating to banks and banking. The section objected to provided that private banks shall not use the designation of "banking, company, house, association or agency, or any words tending to imply that said persons or firms are carrying on business as chartered banks."

Messrs. Fairbanks, Blake, Casey, MacKenzie and Landier opposed the section on various grounds, and considerably embarrassed Sir Leonard Tilley in his effort to defend it. The objections were not pressed to a division, and the bill passed the second reading without amendment.

A long discussion followed, and was continued during the evening. Mr. Cameron's bill declaring incest felony. A number of French members opposed it. Mr. Ives moved an amendment that trials of such offences should be with closed doors.

On the fact that Herr Paulsen, the renowned skater, was engaged to give an exhibition at the Chatham rink on Saturday evening, the attendance at the rink in Newcastle, on the same evening, was under the average, the falling off being more noticeable as regards the skaters than the spectators.

Of the latter there were about three hundred present. It was a pity that the two affairs clashed, but at the exact time of Herr Paulsen's appearance in Chatham could not be ascertained and made known until a day or two of the time, it could not be avoided.

The proceedings were enlivened by the music of the Newcastle Brass Band. Among the characters represented, some really good skating was exhibited by "Salter," "Pollicena," and the "Chambers," the latter making occasional sprays around the circle backwards, both swiftly and gracefully.

"Black Hawk," was a very well gotten up character, and his "Salter," "Pollicena," and the "Chambers," the latter making occasional sprays around the circle backwards, both swiftly and gracefully.

Among the ladies the most attractive characters were "Erin's Flag," "German Princess," the "Witch," the "Tambourine Girl," "Grandma's," and "Jennie Jane." Considerable canvassing was done among the spectators, the awards being made by ballot.

The poll was closed about 10 o'clock, the counting up showing the following as the results: Black Hawk, (J. R. Lawlor) 68; Trio 8; Sailor, 11; a few votes being scattered among the others.

For the lady's prize—Jennie Jane, (Miss Brown) 34; German Princess 19; Witch 19; Tambourine Girl 13; Grandma 12. The balance of votes were divided among Erin's Flag, Yachting Costume, and Chambersmaid.

Prizes of $5 each were awarded to "Black Hawk" and "Jennie Jane."—Advocate.

The following lines were written on the back of a sheet which enclosed a valued Newcastle firm's subscription. The lines have been shown them published or not, we can not tell, but as the poetry and sentiments are both good, we give them a place.

Ottawa Notes.

March 13.—In the Commons Sir John Macdonald stated that he would not move for the liquor license committee today as the report of the judgment of the medical committee of the Privy Council had not yet been printed for distribution to members.

A caucus of Liberals was held this morning and a course decided on in regard to this question when it comes up.

Mr. Mitchell moved the suspension of the rules to allow the introduction of a bill to incorporate the Quebec River Boat Company. Mr. Burpee (St. John) opposed giving special legislation in this instance, when numerous boom companies were on a similar position. A general remedy should be provided.

Sir Leonard Tilley said the Government had been waited on by a committee of New Brunswick members who had pointed out the difficulties of boom companies, and the Government would propose a measure to give at least a temporary remedy.

Mr. Mitchell on this assurance withdrew the bill. Considerable discussion arose on the 8th section of Sir Leonard Tilley's bill to amend the act relating to banks and banking. A long discussion followed, and was continued during the evening. Mr. Cameron's bill declaring incest felony. A number of French members opposed it. Mr. Ives moved an amendment that trials of such offences should be with closed doors.

Mr. Foster supported the bill and amendment, and would exclude newspaper reporters.

the bill. Amid much noise the committee divided and the vote was declared a tie.

The chairman decided against the motion. Mr. Ives' amendment was then adopted and the bill reported as amended. On motion that the bill be concurred in, Mr. Boss moved the six months' hiatus. A vote was taken without debate—yeas 67, nays 101. The amendments were then concurred in.

Several bills were advanced a stage. The House adjourned at 10.30. The committee on communication with Prince Edward Island met to-day, and ordered the captain of the steamer North Light to attend before them and give evidence. Senator Haythorn and Carvell will submit their views in writing.

The Supreme Court resumed its session to-day. A private telegram from Mr. Chapman reports his health as fully restored. He will arrive at New York on the 25th inst., and from there return to Ottawa.

March 14.—Mr. Weldon introduced a bill to amend the law regulating procedure in criminal cases. In reply to Mr. Davies, Sir Hector Langevin refused to remove some of the provisions. Mr. White introduced a measure to place Prince Edward Island judges on the same footing, in regard to superannuation allowance, as the judges of the other provinces.

Mr. Ives moved a resolution declaring the vacant commissions in A. and B. batteries will be filled from graduates of the Military College. Mr. Mitchell said the matter was under consideration.

Mr. Baker moved for papers relating to the bill in British Columbia and addressed the House on the subject as did Messrs. Mitchell and Shakespear. The resolution was carried.

On motion of Mr. Masson a select committee of five was appointed to inquire into the expediency of amending the law relating to the importation of foreign goods.

Mr. Ives moved a resolution declaring the duty on spruce logs exported from Ontario and Quebec. He explained that the object was to bring the duty up so as to balance the import duty charged by the United States on our manufactured lumber when taken there.

Mr. Charlton and others opposed it. Mr. Mitchell said he was National Policy man because he believed in protection, but because necessity had forced it on Canada. He opposed an increase on the export duty and asked the House to vote on the question.

reserving their better speakers for a later period, but the Opposition had decided to continue under the style and from a stronger speaker was put forward on the Ministerial side. After waiting a few moments and question being called, Mr. Speaker gave orders to call in the members. A vote was taken then; yeas 111, nays 63.

Messrs. Blake, Burpee and others took objection to amending the rules of the House, and argued that it could only be suspended by unanimous consent. Mr. Speaker ruled that, notice having been given, a majority could suspend a rule. Then all the Opposition members named on the committee rose and objected to serving on the committee, to the principle of which they were opposed.

Mr. Casgrain spoke urging his objections and considerable confusion. It was a strict party vote, Messrs. Ross and Southey, of Manitoba, who had not before voted, now voting with the Opposition. Cheers greeted the result.

Sir John gave notice that he will move, on Monday next, to appoint Messrs. Shakespear, Burns, Bowell, Gignat, Landry and Allison members of the committee, instead of those declining to serve. The House adjourned at 11 o'clock.

March 19.—There was quite a breeze in the Commons when the bill for the incorporation of the Royal Orange Association of British America. The Speaker asked when shall the bill be read a second time.

Mr. White—To-morrow. Mr. Curran moved, seconded by Mr. Burns, that the bill be not read a second time to-morrow, but this day six months. Mr. White angrily resented the attempt to strangle the bill without discussion, declaring it tyrannical and unjust. He did not expect such treatment from the House of Commons. Not a word of objection had been raised against bills to protect the interest of their co-religionists. If the Orange body was not a moral and upright society, it was not a moral and upright society.

Mr. Curran warmly supported the six months' hiatus with the view of preventing discussion. Mr. Burns said that he judged by the speeches of other gentlemen that the principle of this bill were new. They had been discussed in many of the House, and he thought it best to deal with the bill in a summary manner. It was an Ontario bill and aimed at a particular denomination of 18 months of no one.

Messrs. Armstrong and Hawkins argued that the bill should receive consideration and not be contemptuously thrown out, as proposed.

Mr. Powell argued in a similar strain and cited an instance where, in the Parliament of Canada, a similar bill had been rejected at the second reading. He defended the Orange Institution briefly.

Mr. Ives said it was a question that members knew all about, and he thought to discourage to dispose of it summarily. He asked whether Mr. Powell spoke for himself or as a member of the Government.

Mr. Powell—"For myself only" (ironical cheers). Mr. Beatty asked fair play for the bill. It came before Parliament and be discussed.

Mr. McNeill said Mr. Curran's amendment would be looked upon, not as a preventive of irritating discussion but as an attempt to stifle the bill. The vote was then taken: Yeas 89, nays 94. The following are the names—Yeas—Amoy, Bechard, Benoit, Bergeron, Bernier, Billy, Blaney, Blonk, Babin, Brien, Brossard, Buchanan, Burns, Cameron, (Huron), Campbell, (Renfrew), Carson, Casey, Casgrain, Catala, Charlton, Cimon, Colby, Costigan, Coughlin, Curran, Curran, Cuthbert, Dugas, Desjardins, Dore, Dugas, Dupont, Fleming, Fortin, Fréchet, Gayle, Geoffries, Gignat, Gillmor, Giron, (Jacques Cartier), Giroux, (Kent), Goudreau, Gullibert, Gullibert, Kirk, Holton, Hurlbut, Ives, Jackson, Labrousse, Landier, Langevin, Laurier, Lister, Livingston, McDonald, (Cape Breton), Mackenzie, McMillan, (Huron), McMillan, (Vanland), McCreary, McCreary, McLachlan, Masson, Methot, Mitchell, Montclair, Mulock, Pilonneau, Pope, Rinfret, Riopel, Somerville, (Bruce), Springer, Tasson, Thompson, Trow, Valin, Vanasse, Weldon, White, Wheeler, (Huron), Wood, (Westmorland), Wright,—Total, 89.

Nays—Allen, Allison, Armstrong, Anger, Bain, Bell, (Victoria), Bernand, Beatty, Bell, Fleck, Ross, Brecken, Bryson, Burpee, (St. John), Burpee, (Sunbury), Cameron, (Victoria), Carling, Cochran, Cockburn, Cook, Davies, Dawson, Dickinson, Dundas, Edmunds, Farnon, Ferguson, (Walden), Fisher, Forbes, Foster, Gordon, Gullibert, Gunn, Haggart, Harley, Hawkins, Hay, Henson, Hickey, Hilliard, Homer, Jans, Irvine, Jamieson, Keen, Kerr, Kinnear, Kinross, Kirk, Krause, Macdonald, (St. John), Mackintosh, McCollum, McCarthy, McCreary, McDougall, McLellan, McNeill, Moffat, O'Brien, Orton, Paton, Patterson, (Bruce), Peckard, Platt, Ray, Reid, Richey, Robertson, (Hamilton), Robertson, (Hastings) Ross, (Liger), Rykert, Ross, (Middlesex), Scott, Severin, Shakespear, Small, Somerville, (Bruce), Sprague, Sutherland, (Quebec), Sutherland, (Selkirk), Tyler, Tupper, (Cambridge), Tupper, (Pictou), Tiley, Tyrwhitt, Wallace (Albert), Wallace, (York), Watson, White, (Cardwell), White, (Hastings), White, (Renfrew), Williams, Woodworth,—Total, 94.

White's motion passed on the same division reversed. The bill stands for second reading to-morrow but may not then come on, as it will be defeated if it does. A number of members voting in the majority to-day will vote against the second reading.

In reply to Mr. Blake, Sir John Macdonald said Sir Alexander Cameron had tendered his resignation and the Government had asked him to retain office till spring.

Mr. Ross, in moving for copies of correspondence respecting reciprocal trade with the United States, made an elaborate statistical speech in favor of reciprocity and the duty of the Government to bring it about as it was promised the National Policy would do.

Mr. White replied, characterizing Mr. Ross' speech as ill-timed and calculated to do injury.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Charley, Hurlbut and others. Motions for papers were brought up in discussion on the selection of Regina as a site for the capital of the Northwest. Messrs.

Casey and Cameron pointed out that Governor Dewdney had an interest in the lands there; that the land was taken up by speculators, and that wood and water were scarce.

Sir John defended Governor Dewdney, but admitted he had interest in Hudson Bay lands near the site. He admitted that speculators had possession of lands in the vicinity, but said the Government could not drive them off.

Before adjournment, Mr. Blake said the estimates were promised last week, but that the promise had been broken. Sir John said they would be submitted to-morrow or Wednesday. When the House adjourns on Wednesday he will move that it stand adjourned till the following Wednesday. The House then adjourned—12.15.

OUR BATHING LETTER reached us too late for this week's paper owing to the usual delay of the northern express.

General Notes and News.

There is anarchy in the Transvaal. Persecutions have been taken to guard Sir Spencer.

It is said that Mr. Parnell started for Paris last Saturday evening.

Lord Dufferin will favor in Parliament a large scheme of Irish emigration.

The East River Bridge, New York, is to be opened by June 1, for general travel, it is said.

A burglar attempted to enter Messrs. MacLellan & Co's banking house, St. John, the other morning. He was seen by the Western Union Telegraph messenger, but made good his escape.

The delegates of the Irish societies of New York, met to consider the reception for Mr. Parnell. The Ancient Order of Hibernians attempted to force the election of president upon the meeting, but failing to do so, the remaining representatives elected a committee of arrangement.

At St. John, last Saturday evening Thomas Grady, a truckman, residing on Pond Street, while crossing the track at the interlocking passenger depot with his team, was thrown from the sled, the horse taking fright. His head fell across the rail, and one wheel of a box car, which the shunting engine was backing down to the freight depot, passed over his neck, almost separating his head from his body. Grady was well known and very respectable. He leaves a family of nine children, seven under ten years old. His wife died three months ago, leaving a baby.
