GRAND DIVISION, S. OF T.

Opening of the Annual Session at Sackville and Grand Treasurer.

Sackville, Oct. 30 .- The Grand Division, Sons of Temperance of New Brunswick, met this evening at Upper Sackville in annual session. There is a good attendance of delegates, especially from St. John and this secattaches to the proceedings with regard to the recent appointment of a vendor of liquors under the Scott act at Hampton. mitted his report. The report covered the past term of six months, as well as giving other information and statistics for the whole year, to Sept. 30th.

"The year past has been a trying one for all temperance organizations, our own among the number. The numerous result." insurance and sick benefits, others having greater show, others again attractive degrees, have all contributed in making the past year one of much trial to the old order of Sons of Temperance. How to counteract all these influences is a subject calling for much consideration. * * * * It has often occurred to me that too many of our members are engaged in more than one temperance organization, thus divid-ing their time and talents."

to the grand division was referred to as a great source of trouble in carry-ing on propagation work, the work be practically abandoned during the last six months for want ds. In the first six months and the grand worthy patriarch did all they could, and would no doubt have done more, but funds were not at hand for the expenses of visiting a*

"I notice," the report goes on, "that the order in other jurisdictions is grappling with the same question of finance. * * * * Bro. Pitts at one time assisted greatly in this work by asking and receiving subscriptions through his newspaper. Perhaps he could again be induced to assist the propagation committee in this way."

mplaint was made that only about half the subordinate divisions sent in their reports for the last quarter, and less than three-quarters for the pre-vious one, thus rendering a complete statistical statement impossible. Perhaps, it was suggested, the publication in the annual report of divisions and quarters they are behind would do good; also that a circular should be sent to all divisions in arrears of per capita tax, stating that the fact would be published in the annual report. It was noted that during the year the G. W. P. and grand scribe visited Scotch Settlement, Sunny Brae and Harrisville in Westmorland county, and held successful public meetings. The G. W. P. and other members of grand division visited Hampton, Sussex and other places, and a good deal of work of a similar character was carried out during the year. Divisions were organized during the year as follows: Maxwell, No. 413, Hillsdale, Kings Co.; Tilley, No. 414, Long Reach; Flatlands, No. 415, Restigouche Co.; Mayflower, No. 416, Harvey; resuscitated, Oak Division, No.

The incomplete returns at hand showed: Number of divisions, 86; divisions organized, 4; resuscitated, 1; persons initiated, 767; joined by card, 22; reinstated, 88; suspended, 502; expelled for violation of pledge, 52; for other causes, 53; deaths, 17; present contributing members, 4,029; non-con-tributing, 2,543; membership of divi-sions inactive with unforfeited charters. 3.571.

The report noted that little or nothing was being done in juvenile work. Better things had been expected, but so far as the grand scribe had learned there had been no increase in bands of loyal crusaders, while those existing had failed to report. It was hoped superintendent of young people's work in each grand division, with a representative in each subordinate division. better things were in store.

Vote Confidence in the Present Gram-

And Earnestly Protest Against the Changes

A meeting of the old boys of the St. John Grammar school was held in the Oddfellows' hall Thursday night to school. There was a large gathering of the old boys and quite a lot of the students of today dropped in. Among those in attendance were: A. W. Macrae, Dr. Steeves, J. V. Ellis, jr., Dr. Scammell, Dr. Ellis, Dr. G. A. B. Addy, J. King Kelly, J. A. Sinclair, M. G. B. Henderson, H. R. Lordly, John Jack-son, Robert Robertson, Roland Thompson, Wm. Campbell, San. Scammell, Fred Stone, Joseph Ellis, P. Lewin, Oscar Ring, Harry Irvine, K. Macrae.

A. W. Macrae was elected to the chair and Dr. Scammell called upon to discharge the duties of secretary. The chairman said it had been settled that Prof. Bridges was to come to St. John to take charge of the Grammar school. This meant either the dismissal of Mr. McLean, the present principal, or his appointmen a subordinate position. Mr. McLean was in a unique position in connection with the schools of St. John. He had been connected with our schools ever since the introduction of the free school system, and had been at the head of the Grammar school since it came under its present management. The people of St. John took very little interest in the schools, probably for the reason that they were managed by a board of trustees appointed by the government and council and with whose appointment they had nothing

J. King Kelly, who spent four years in the Grammar school, was of the opinion that Mr. McLean was a thorough master. He enthused the boys with a love for classics and the boys always did well under him. There under Mr. McLean that he did not Lean was blamed for what followed the appointment of these men. One of the great troubles was that boys were crowded out of the primary schools and sent to the Grammar school. They had no business there and the teachers were found fault with because they did not get along well. Mr. Mc-Lean had to take whatever scholars were sent to him. It was different with the Girls' High school. Mr. Hay selected what pupils he wanted. He satisfied with the school as it is. They office buildings to equip line or the work their children were

M. G. B. Henderson believed a change was desirable in the school in the way of accommodation. He knew very little as regards the teachers, still he had been given to understand that the school was up to the old standard. Dr. Steeves was satisfied that the present staff was a good one. Dr. Alddy spoke very highly of Mr.

McLean's ability as a teacher. He knew very little about the others. The erection of the Aberdeen school would tend to relieve the Grammar school of the influx of boys not far enough advanced to take a place in it.

H. R. Lordly said the Grammar school teachers did not have either proper equipment or the moral support of the people. The staff, as he was informed, was a good one. He favored the election of the board of school trustees.

J. A. Sinclair declared that Mr. Mc. Lean was the equal of any teacher in the province and the boys turned out by him would hold their own any-Coming to the trustees, he said they should be appointed by the council or elected. As it was now, men were appointed to the board be cause they supported a particular political party. He said Mr. Miles was a competent teacher. He was not acquainted with the others. After some further discussion the following resolution was adopted: Whereas, we have heard of propose thanges in the teaching staff of the Grammi school whereby present teachers are to emoved; and Wherees, as graduates and pupils, we are of the opinion that the staff of teachers, as it is now, is a competent one, and satisfactory to the parents as by letters expressed; Therefore resolved, that this meeting is of opinion that no change is desirable which will occasion the removal of any of the present teachers.

It was decided to forward a copy of the resolution passed to the school

Those who dared to mount to the top stage of the Eiffel tower in 1889 learned, at even greater cost to their nerves, that that huge needlelike structure bent before the wind until its summit described an arc measuring more than ten feet.

That is, their steel frames form a homogeneous mass, through which the weight of the said the Grammar school teachers had sent a detter to parents of scholars asking them to give their opinion of the school, its teachers and the way the pupils got along. In Chicago, where the "sky scraper" may be said to have had its beginning, this problem has fairly baffled the clock makers. A trade journal published in that ctiy declared in a recent issue that it had been found impossible to regulate the clocks in the Masonic Temple, the Security and other high office buildings in Chicago.

I asked the manager of a clock making firm in Maiden lane, whose clocks are found in most of the high buildings down town, if he had experienced any such difficulty.
"Yes," he said, but he have already

> Quiet Summer, but a Busy Winter Looked for -The Number of Members.

(From Friday's Daily Sun.) The quarterly meeting of the St. John Local Union, Y. P. S. C. E., was held yesterday afternoon at Queen square Methodist church. The first fifteen minutes were given up to devotional exercises and then the reports were submitted. The report of the secretary, George Jenkins, was quite a lengthy document. There was great reason for thankfulness, he said, over the increased interest of the past six months. This was to a great measure due to the revival of last spring under the leadership of Messrs. Hunter and Crossley; to the great International Y. P. S. C. E. convention at Boston lest July, which was attended by many from here, and also to the better knowledge of the work and aims of the so-ciety—the taking of the young when they are leaving the Sabbath schools and interesting them in the work of the church, helping them to build up strong Christian character. The secretary said it sometimes seemed to him that too much was made of the prodigal in comparison with the man who steadily resists temptation and perseveres in well doing. Such are the men on whom the church leans, to whom the world looks for its leaders in social and moral reform, and whom God chooses when he has any special work among the children of men. He advised young men therefore to keep themselves pure, and quoted John B. Gough and C. A. Dickenson to show the advantages the man had who lived so over one whose conversion came in later years.

He regarded it as one of the best signs of the times that the churches were waking up as never before to the fact that it was better and less costly to keep the young from drifting away than to expend greater efforts in getting them back again, and whether it be the St. Andrew's Brotherhood of the Church of England, the Baptist Young People's society, the Epworth League of the Methodist church or the great Christian Endeavor society, all were working for the same end, the lifting of humanity nearer to Reports were received from a number of local unions. The work in the majority of them had not been carried on very actively during the last quarter, but all spoke encouragingly of the outlook for the winter. The following interesting statement will give an idea of the numerical strength of the union:

8. The free and unlimited coinage of Miss Willard supported this platform, during which she said: "If the Federation of labor and the trades unions will throughout their entire membership decree that strong drink shall be left teetotally alone it will within ten years become the arbiter of destiny. Roman Catholic young women of Danbury, Conn., have formed a society of members pledged not to marry a man who is not a strict abstainer. The only wonder is that this measure of self-protection is not carried out by young mon sense in every line of life.'

Miss Willard added: "The agitation against low theatres began in London last autumn, has spread the world around. Every non-conformist pulpit in England is open to her, and her pure but liberal views on the to broaden the outlook of the home-

Miss Willard had this to say about Madagascar:

"The invasion of Madagascar by the French is referred to with indignation. The queen is a devoted temperance woman, and gave aid and comfort to Mrs. M. C. That Christendom stands by and makes no protest against this outrage on an offending people to proof that the cosmopolitan brotherhood is yet in swaddling clothes."

STANDARD TIME.

A History of the Steps Leading to Its Adoption

Now the Time of Over Fifty Millions of People on This Continent.

All Canada Except St. John Has Standard Time-An Interes ing and Valuable Record.

(From The Daily Sun of the 30th ult.) The history of the standard time movement was given by the secretary of the general time convention, held at the Grand hotel, Cincinnati, in April, 1894. The report is as fellows:

The system of standard time, which this convention endorsed at its recet-ing held in St. Louis in April, 1883. being now in force, it appears fitting that some record of its adoption should be placed upon our minutes.

Primarily, this movement may be traced to a paper by the American Metrological society at your meeting of October 13, 1881. In this paper a single standard for the whole coun-try was proposed and the hour theory suggested as an alternative propositsuggested as an alternalive proposition. A suggestion of General Hazen respecting time balks is one that should be carried into teffect. At the time this paper was submitted there appeared to be little hepe of any reform being soon accomplished.

A brief reference may be made to the early history of this subject. Sir John Herschel first mentioned the general idea in 1828, the late Professor general idea in 1828; the late Profes Benjamin Pierce first proposed the theory of standard time based upon the 75th and 90th, etc., Greenwich meridians in 1873 or 1874. Previously, in 1869, Prof. C. F. Dowd had proposed the hour difference theory based upon Washington time; in 1876 the Railroad Gazette urged the adoption of a uniform standard; in January, 1874, your secretary suggested a theory of recovery suggested. secretary suggested a theory of re-form as a result of a study of the situation as it then presented itself; in 1875 Sanford Fleming proposed the hour difference theory for the use of the whole world; in 1881 Dr. Thomas Hill of Portland, Me., fermerly president of Harvard college, proposed a similar theory. So far as I have been able to ascertain all of these different persons reached their conclusions and formulated their theories indefessor Cleveland Abbe and Mr. E. B. Elliott made an admirable report on the subject to the American Metrological society (in which report they alluded to a previous report made in 1875) and followed this in 1881 by submitting to this convention the paper before referred to. The subject was also discussed in various papers by Dr. F. A. P. Barnard, president of the American Metrological society, and members of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Society for the Advancement of Science. In 1882 E. R. Knorr, C. E., issued an elaborated pamphlet suggesting the joint use of local and Greenwich time. In the pamphlet containing the proceed-ings of the American Metrological society for 1879 the names of twenty-five persons other than those here d are mentioned as having published articles relative to standard time. In additon to those named, I believe almost every city in the country has discovered that within its borders dwelt "The father of standard time." Scientists do not generally patent their theories Had all applied for patents it appears probable that we

A number of systems were proposed based upon this hour theory. Prof. Dowd suggested at different times three systems, based respectively upon Washington, New York city and Greenwich 75th meridian time, etc., to various railroad associations and by circulars, and spent much time loboriously calculating the mean time of all railway stations. Sanford Flemers on the subject, and in 1882, in connection with the American Society of Civil Engineers, he forwarded circu-lars to a number of radiroad officials and other prominent persons, in which he proposed a system based upon the hour difference theory. Edwin Hill of New Haven in 1882 also proposed a system. Col. H. S. Haines proposed a system for the southern rallways in 1883. It may be said of these propos-itions that no work of this character is entirely lost and full honor should be done to their authers. With the exception of Col. Haines they proposed boundary lines and governing meridians, to which you were expected to adapt yourselves. The system proposed to you in April, 1883, suggested divisions and meridians which were best adapted for your operations, but which other interests could readily adapt themselves to without 'ncoavenience. Whether this fact was the reason which induced you to give the system your practical endor you are yourselves the best judges. You are aware that no

the convention was held in April 1882 ing after the one in which the communication of the American Metrological society was presented, and that only sixteen persons were pres-ent at the next meeting in Cleveland in October 1882, when, however, the subject of standard time was informally discussed.

The published proceedings of your last two meetings furnished a sufficient history of the successful meet-ing prior to and including Oct. 11, 1833, the resolution pledging your-selves to put the new standards in effect on November 18, 1883, having been then adopted. One week later the southern railway time convention in New York unanimously adopted the same resolution.

Previous to this the Central Vermont; the Concord; Northern (N. H.); Boston, Concord & Mentreal; Passumpsic and Southeastern railroads had adopted the time of the 75th meridian, and commenced to run their trains by that time on Oct. 7, 1883, the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain following on October 15. The desirability of having the time of New York city, as the most importcontinent, conform to the new standard did not admit of a On Oct. 19th, the second day after the meeting of the southern railway time convention, in company with James Hamblet, who has charge of the New York time service of the Western Union Telegraph company, and who was an enthusiastic advocate of standard time, your secretary called upon Mayor Edson, who received the subject favorably. Subsequently Mayor Edson forwarded a letter written at his request, proposing the change to the board of aldermen, with a commendatory message. At this time Professor J. K. Rees, secretary of the American Metrological as-ciety and adjunct professor of astronomy at Columbia college, took charge of this matter in New York city, and to his good judgment, knowledge of men and wise judgment, the in New York city is due. Of the one hundred principal cities of the United States named in the census of 1880, seventy immediately and eight more subsequently followed the example of the metropolis. Your thanks are especially due to Professor J. K. Rees of New York city, as to J. Raynor Edmands Boston (and I cannot speak too high ly of the work of these gentlemen) for the hearty, energetic and successful prompt adoption of the new standard aid which they gave the movement. The co-operation of scientific men generally was a marked feature this period, and among them I wish ally to refer to Dr.F. A. P. ard, Rear Admiral R. W. Shufeldt, Leonard Waldo, Professor Cleve land Abbe and Professor Pickering whose work came within my persons knowledge. There were doubtless many others who may be known to you. The hearty and very valuable support given the movement by the railway newspapers and the press of the country generally is worthy of special notice. Of the various circulars assued on behalf of the convention between Ocober 11th and November 18th and of the numerous letters, telegrams and enquiries of all characters for details, etc., which were exchanged it is un sary here to speak. The situa rendered more difficult from the fact that in the minds of many ons standard time was confounded with the twenty-four hour system. The Union Division of the Union Pacific, the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific west of Deming have not yet adopted standard time, but I am assured that with the spring change of schedule the Union Pacific will make the change and understand also that the Central and Southern Pacific roads are likely to follow. The Southern Pacific east of Deming, nov using Central standard time.

On November 18th, 1883, outside of the roads above named and their branches, ninety per cent. of all the railroads adopted standard time, and within a very few weeks the other cent. fell into line, road in Canada almost immediately conformed and all are running by eas ern time. From a careful study of the whole situation, as developed by the respones to the circulars recently sent you I am convinced that at the present date not over five millions, counting men, women and children, out of the fifty millions of people in the United States, are using local time. All parts of the Dominion of Canada except the city of St. John, New Brunswick, use standard time, Halifax using the time of the 60th meridian. The population St. John Districtof the dominion is about five millions. By an act of congress, approved neridian was made the legal standard for the District of Columbia and the city of Washington. On November 18, 1883, the ball on the tower of the Washington Union building in New York city, dropped for the first occasion in its history on Sunday. Standing upon the roof that building, about a hundred feet from the tower, in the midst of a little group of interested spectators. I heard the bells of St. Paul's chapel strike on the old time. , Four minutes later, obedient to the electric signals from the Naval Observatory at Washington, two hundred and forty miles away, the time ball made its rand descent, the chimes of the old frinity rang twelve measured strokes and lo-cal time was abandoned, probably for

The relief experienced at this moment in realizing that the task you had assigned me had been finally con-summated, you may understand, but I cannot find words to express. was your hearty and earnest co-operation that had made this consumma-tion possible. It is a conclusive evidence of the value of the influence of this and your associate convention that the system of time adopted by you now governs the daily and hourly actions of at least fifty millions of people. Respectfully submitted

METHODIST MISSONS.

Meeting of the Committee of the N.B. and P. E. I. Conference

A List of the Amounts Granted to the Variou Missions—General Business.

The annual missionary committee of the conference of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island met in Queen square church, St. John, on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened with devotional exercises. The following were present: Rev. Isaac Howie, sident of conference; Rev. Dr. Evans, secretary-treasurer; Revs. J.

I. Teasdale, Dr. Brecken, Dr. Chapman, James Crisp, J. A. Clarke, G. M. Campbell, E. Slackford, Dr. Daniel, Dr. Wilson, J. Shenton, Thos. Marshall, W. W. Lodge, Joseph Seller, Dr. Pope. C. H. Manaton. F. A. Wightman and Wm. Penna, and Messrs. G. Frank Beer, D. Rogers, Dr. Inch and J. T. G. Carr.

The first business was the arrangement of plan of meetings, at which Rev. Mr. Cassidy, returned missionary, is to be present in this conference. The following is the plan: Charlottetown, Nov. 10th; St. John, Dec. 8th; Fredericton and Marysville, Dec. 15th; Moncton, Dec. 22nd. Meetings during the week to be arranged by the chairmen of districts concerned.

The total amount raised by the Gen enal Missionary society for the past year is $237,496.51-a decrease on ordinary income of $13,900.64—an item of re-ceipts this year to the maritime conference, as home mission fund, maritime provinces, proceeds of securities sold and interest on investments is $18,997.83. For some years the interest on this amount has been paid to the General society, but owing to the character of the securities the capital sum could not be paid over until this This amount gives from all ource of income of about $3,000. The regular receipts credited to this conference this year are $7,322. The amounts appropriated to this onference by the general board of missions at its meetings in Montreal this month is for, ordinary grants, $4,578, and for moving expenses, $520, a total of $5,098, being $816 less than last year's grant to this conference.

On motion the following scale salaries was adopted as the basis on which grants should be made: missions, $850; ordinary missions, $750; ordained missionaries, $520; unordained missionaries, $400. It was agreed that the salaries of ordained married men should be that resulting after providing for unmarried ordain en at a salary of $520, with a de ficiency of $200, and unordained men at a salary of $400, with a deficiency of $125.

Unless the missions tnemselves can raise more this year than the amount of their estimated receipts, the working out of the foregoing resolutions will give to men depending on the missionary society for aid salaries as follows: Ordinary missions, married missionaries, $432.50; single ordained missionaries, $320; unordained mis sionaries, $275. This is exclusive of par sonage and children's fund

Dr. Evans, Dr. Inch and G. F. Beer were appointed a committee to fix the amounts of grants to circuits. The following are the amount granted to the several missions:

Charges That Were Exposed Some Time Ago After a Full Investigation.

The reports throwing doubt on the good faith of Mr. Ben-Oliel and his daughter, which have recently been given to the public in Boston and other places, appear to be the same that were circulated some time ago by a former United States consul and others at Jerusalem. The whole matter of the charges was investigated at the time by clergymen and others in terested in missions. Mr. Ben-Oliel and his mission were fully vindicated. Among the men to whom the case was referred were the following: Rev. J. Allison, D. D., convener of Jewish committee of the church of Scotland, 1 South Lander road, Edinburgh; Rev. A. L. Benton, Presbyterian

FOOTBALL. St, John Defeats Acadia in a Well

Fought Game. The large crowd of spectators that was present at the A. A. grounds Tuesday afternoon is evidence of the fact that the good old English game of football will soon be as popular nere as it is in Halifax.

Acadia college has for many years had one of the best football teams in Nova Scotia, and last year won the championship of that province. team which they put in the field yesterday was composed of the following: F. M. Fenwick, full back; H. A. Purdy, G. H. Parsons, W. E. Dimock, N. P. McLeod, half backs: E. H. Moffatt, W. R. Morse, quarter backs; F. A. Foster, E. N. Rhodes, B. Freeman, P. W. Rose, W. L. Hall, C. W. Allen, F. F. Tupper, G. B. Cutten (captain),

William McKean, quarter backs; Geo Shaw, S. L. Fairweather, G. B. Garrard, Simeon Jones, jr., Reg. Fairweather, Fred Magee, James Harri-

Frith, forwards. The Acadias won the toss for goal. and decided to defend the goals at the gate end of the field. Simeon Jones cicked off for the St. John team, and this began what was by a long odds the best game of football ever seen in this city. The play was for the greater part of the first half between the forwards, and the ball was in the scrimmage the greater part of the time, but was out of it long enough for Stewart Fairweather to carry it to see his sister, who like himself was across the Acadia lines and secure a try for the St. Johns. George Jones carried the ball out and placed it. Simeon Jones endeavored to kick a goal but failed. With the wind blowing as it was it would have been next to impossible to secure a goal, as the ball was carried out near the touch

The Acadias then kicked off from the twenty-five yard line, but during the first half no further points were scored. After ten minutes rest play was resumed, and the goals being changed. Acadia kicked off from centre field, but owing to the fact that the ball was kicked in touch it was called back and scrimmaged and soon found its way dangerously near the St. John goal posts, but towards the latter end of the half the backs took up the play from the forwards and Teddy Jones carried the pigskin over the Acadia line again, but the try thus obtained was not converted into a goal. The ball being kicked off from the twenty-five yard line, once more got to the St. John end of the field and was then slowly worked from scrimmage to scrimmage until it got near the Acadia goal line. Simeon Jones finally got the ball and passed it to Markham, who again carried it over the Acadia line, and this time Simeon Tones converted it into a goal. In a few minutes time was called with the core standing: St. John, 11; Acadia, Captain Cutten, while claiming that the first try should have been called a safety touch, admitted that they had been fairly beaten. Notes.

Acadias Easily Defeat the U. N. B. Fredericton, Oct. 30.—The Acadias were easy winners in the match game of football with the U. N. B. team this afternoon. The score was, Acadia, 12; U. N. B., 0. Tomorrow the visitors play the Fredericton club. Dalhousie Makes the Biggest Score of the Season

Halifax, Oct. 30.—The Dalhousie football team piled up the biggest score of the season this afternoon when they defeated the United Service, 23 to 0. Dalhousie made six tries in the first half, totalling 18 points, but in the second half the Service played a grand defence, surprising everybody who had seen the one-sided first half. One reason for the change probably was that Maxwell left the half back line, taking Turner's place at full back, the latter coming up in Maxwells' stead. Dalhousie played well together and gave good exhibition of team work. The college star player was A. MacNairn, who came to town last night from Doaktown, after spending six months in the Presbyterian mission field. He played with the vigor of a trained veteran.

MURDERER HOLMES

Failing to Excite the Sympathy of the Jury,

By Posing as a Man Deserted by Counsel and Persecuted by the State, Suddenly Changes Front and Calls Back His Old Lawyers to Conduct His Defence.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.-It became apparent, tonight that the picturesque and startling features of the H. H. Holmes' case were not to be confined to his destructive wanderings over the American continent, for with each successive day comes something still more strange and unexpected. Yesterday he dismissed his counsel and beto try his own case, because the court refused to grant the plea made by them for a continuance. They left the court in spite of Judge Arnold's threats to dismiss them and religiously kept away.

Tonight, after fighting tooth and nail, single handed, against the tre-mendious machinery of the common-wealth and the apparently complete chain of evidence which has been forged around him, he threw up his hands and sent for his lawyers, Messrs. Shoemaker and Rotan. Then he told the court what he had done, and a consent to their continuance with the defence was given. There was an impression that this was but another piece of by-play, following Holmes' personal failure to catch the sympathies of the court and jury by making himself out a much wronged man forced to fight alone what may prove to be his last battle, in spite of his ignorance of the technicalities of the law and his alleged physical infirm-

The big work of the trial, taking tes-timony, was begun this morning at 10 o'clock, and with the exception of brief intermissions at lunch and supper time, was continued until nearly nine o'clock tonight. It had been the intention of the court to sit until 10, but the absence of a witness hindered this and an adjournment was taken The star witnesses of the trial-Mrs. Pietzel, Detective Geyer, Agent Perry of the swindled insurance company, and the arch-criminal himself—yet remain to be heard, as also nearly two score of others.

At ten o'clock the jury was brought into the room and Judge Arnold appearing a moment later, the court was formally opened. Meantime Holmes, in the custody of a court officer, was placed in the dock. He showed no change in personal appearance or demeanor from yesterday, and while the crier was pronoun-cing the sterotyped formula, which declares the court open, Holmes stood up in the dock, his hands clasped in front of him and his head slightly in-

He busied himself for a few minutes afterwards arranging his papers lawyer like rashion on the desk in front of him, and reading over notes, or perhaps his defence, as far as arranged by him last night in the dismal solitude of his cell. The day's proceedings were begun by District Attorney Graham, who arose and said to the court: "I desire to say to the court, in view of what was said last night before the adjournment of court, that the lady known as Miss Yohe and Mrs. Howard was will hold a night session tonight." sent for, saw the prisoner, and had Recess. ample opportunity for an interview with him."

This is the woman concerning whom there was a warm passage-at-arms last evening between Mr. Graham and Holmes, the latter declaring that the woman was his wife and that Mr. Graham had done all in his power to

When Mr. Graham had concluded Holmes said that he had only a three minute interview with the woman and asked that it be renewed during the recess. His request was granted.

During the noon recess Dist, Attorney Graham indulged in a little chat. He said if the case continued to drag along as it has thus far it would beat the record of the Durant case for consuming time. The commonwealth has fifty-four witnesses to examine and assume charge of my defense. obody seems to know what sensation Holmes will spring when it comes to the opening of the defence. However, the district attorney thinks that night sessions will obviate the possibility of the case extending over more

"I said from all appearances he had been dead three or four weeks."

Holmes then subjected Dr. Scott to a lengthy and detailed examination touching the effects of chloroform, but btained few answers that would tend to throw the balance in the slightest itive and uncontradictory in every-thing he said, in spite of the fact that his questioner, the prisoner, is a medi-cal man by education. Holmes kept up a study fire of questions and never with his wife in a cab, saying they felt obliged to pause for a word or were going to Harrisburg. He said

At the conclusion of Dr. Scott's testimony, Dr. Wm. K. Mattern, coroner's physician, was called., Holmes at once arose and begged the court to grant him a continuance until tomorrow. He pleaded that as Dr. Mattern would prove a most im-Dr. Mattern would prove a most important witness, he felt mequal to portant witness, he felt mequal to the strain, the cross-examination of the strain the strain to sign papers about the Fort Worth property, and sell it.

The next time Holmes told her that Mr. Graham replied with emphasis, "No, sir, I want to go on. This is only mere by-play."

"That is your opinion," said Holmes, with the scarce subdued scorn which has marked all his intercourse with the district attorney since the trial

"That is my opinion." Holmes suppressed a sigh and sat down, and the district attorney smiled slightly, with the thought which he has made evident throughout, that Holmes is play-ing the role of a weak, helpless unfor-tunate, oppressed and crushed by the mighty machinery of state, in order to get the sympathy of the jury.

Mr. Mattern's examination was then begun. The witness said he had made the post mortem examination at the morgue on Sept. 4, and the conditions were the same as described by Dr. Scott. There had been paralysis of the heart, causing sudden death,, and evidence of chloroform in the stomach. He dilated on the ghastly scene at the "Potters Field," when in the presence of a half dozen others, including the officers of the swindled insurance company, and the young daughter of the dead man, Holmes took a lancet and coldly and ruthlessly cut and hacked off portions of the corpse of the man he is charged with having murdered. The girl, Alice, had then positively identified the body, and Holmes himself, the witness said, did not hesitate to declare that it was Pitzel's body. Holmes began the cross-examination of Dr. Mattern by requesting him we read his notes of the resurt of the autopsy in their entirety. This was permitted, and after it had been dope, the physician was put under a long series of technical questions, touching the possible cause of death, the chloro-form poisoning, and kindred subjects. The doctor unqualifiedly declared that death had been caused by chloroform

The cross-examination consumed nearly two hours and a half and the great majority of the question put by Holmes were entirely irrelevant. District Attorney Graham, after maintaining silence for a long time evidently lost patience and presented his objections to this sort of questioning. Thereupon Holmes brought the examination to a close. Dr. Henry Leffmann, the well known analytical chemist, was the next witness. In answer to Mr. Grtham's questions he said it was impossible for a man to fix himself in an attitude as reposeful as that in which Pietzel's body was discovered after having administered chloroform to himself. Mr. Graham explained to Dr. Leffmann the conditions of Pietzels' body at the time of its discovery, and asked for his opinion on the question whether or not the chloroform in this case had been self-administered. The doctor replied that a quantity sufficient to cause death could not have been administered under these condi-

Before the court took a recess Holmes nade an appeal to the court to hold but two, instead of three, sessions a lay, on the ground that his physical condition would not stand the strain.

The evening session began a few minutes after seven o'clock. Holmes glanced over an evening newspaper, and he sat in the dock apparently unconcerned of the fact that an artist perties. was, with the consent of Tudge Ar-

Charles Lampon swore that he had seen Pietzel at the Callow Hill street house on Aug. 24, 1894, when he stopped there to see about some patent husiness. Mr. Shoemaker sharply cross-examined Lampon on the question of identity.

A. T. Hubbards testified similarly.

Mrs. Alcon said that Holmes had been at her house from Aug. 5 to Sept. 2, 1894, under the name of "Dwell.' He This witness was regarded by the had hired rooms there. Witness was commonwealths' officers as one of not sure that his wife was with him, but he brought her later. He said she was very tired, as she had come from Chicago, and he would rather have her at the house than at the hotel. On Sunday, Sept. 2, he left he was making a deal with the Pennhim on the afternoon of Sept. 19th in her parlor. He said he had completed the deal, and had come back to take rooms for the winter. He said his wife and little sister would be there was typing to middle was typing to make the was typing to was the was typing to make the was ty later; that they were then in Atlantic torney whether he would agree to John Guammar, who lives in the he had taken the children to Toronto Eleventh street house, corroborated the greater part of Mrs. Alcorn's testi-mony. He added that when Holmes came back the second time the little girl was with him. Witness identified Alice Pietzels' picture as that of this girl. They remained until the following Sunday, the 19th, and then

Mrs. Alcorn was recalled, and Mr. Graham began to question her as to whether or not Holmes and Alice had occupied the same sleeping room in her house. To this line of examination the defence objected, and the witness was dismissed.

Josiah W. Richmond had known Pietzel well, and had taken him to his sister's house to get board. Pietzel had told him that Perry was not his right name. He spoke of bringing his wife and children from the west. John F. Hughes, furniture salesman had sold a bill of goods to Pietzel on Aug. 17, 1894. Holmes accompanied him. The furniture was sent to 1,316 Callow Hill street.

W. A. Shedaker, real estate agent, rented the house to Pietzel

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.-Nothing of special interest transpired at the morning session of the Holmes' trial. During the noon recess an easel was brought out and placed upon it were two crayons of Holmes as he appeared when arrested—one a full face pic-ture and the other in profile. Between them was the crayon of Pietzel, which has already been exhibited. Two big photographs of the Callow Hill street house, showing front and rear views, was also produced. Court reconvened at 2.15 o'clock. when Francis X. Quinn, an employe of the Fidelity company, identified Holmes' signature to a statement prepared by Quinn as notary public During the reading three women were ushered into the court by a side door. One was "Dessa Pietzel" and another her mother. There was a buzz in the court room when District Attorney Graham called:

"Mrs. Pietzel." A tall, slender woman, dressed in shabby black, her face pale and worn, ook the witness stand. In answer to a long series of questions by Mr. Graham she said: "My name is Carrie Pietzel, and Benjamin F. Pietzel was my husband. In July, 1894, we lived in St. Louis. My husband had taken a policy in the Fidelity company for $10,000. On July 29 he left for Philadelphia in connection with the matter. I know the prisoner. Before July, 1894, I had seen him several times with my husband in St. Louis and when we lived on Madison avenue, Chicago. I corresponded with my husband while he was in Philadelphia. The lettters were addressed to 1,316 Callow Hill street. He answered them, and in one spoke of settling in Philadelphia. He said he was in the patent business in that city. I knew he was living under the name of Perry.". "How did you know anything about the property of Holmes—the 63rd street 'castle,'" "By my husband telling me about

"Did he have any interest in it?" "My husband said he did."
"Did you know that your husband had been in Fort Worth before he came to Philadelphia?"

An objection being here made on the ground of irrelevancy. Mr. Graham said he proposed to show that the Fort Worth and Chicago properties were in the name of Lyman, and that both Holmes and Pietzel (the latter Judge Arnold answered: "Well, we allas) were interested in them. This, he said, related to the motives in addition to the desire to get the insurance money, that actuated Holmes in killing Pietzel and the children, and would be proved by proof of a quarrel between Holmes and Pietzel concerning the ownership and title to the pro-The examination being resumed, nold, sketching him.

Mrs. Pietzel said: Holmes said to the taking of testimony was about that he had put $5,000 in Fort Worth to be resumed when Holmes arose in property to pay off a note due Sept. the dock and, addressing the court, 18, 1894. was my husband. Lyman was my husband. She further said that Holmes had spoken to her of the insurance case, but she wanted nothing to do with it. She knew Howe through Holmes, and employed him to collect money with the power of an attorney. She had read of a man named Perry being killed by dynamite, but Holmes had told her that her husband was all right. Alice was left in Howe's care at St. Louis, as she went to Philadelphia, at Holmes' suggestion, to identify the body. Howe said Minnle Williams, his cousin, would care for Alice. Holmes, on Sept. 27 told me he had brought

Alice back to Cincinnati. Mrs. Pietzel only received $6,500 of the insurance money and Holmes took another $1,000 for her children, who, he claimed, were in Indianapolis. He went away and sent a letter for her to visit Detroit and see her husband. She did not see him, but visited her parents at Galva, Ills. Holmes regist ered her at Detroit as Mrs. Adams Holmes said that as she could not ge'a a vacant house it would not be convenient to see her husband. With Dessa and the baby she went to 'Toronto, Ont., Oct. 18. Holmes Wanted Dessa to join the other children, One day he brought me a letter fro m Nellie, in cipher, and he read it; to me

Dear mama, we are all we' and go ing to school, but Howard won't mind Alice. He will get dirty. We have plenty to eat and the woman is real good to us.

We were in Toronto from Oct. 18 to Oct. 25.—We went to Prescott and stayed at the Nation al hotel until November 1st. From there we went to Burlington, Vt. The second week we were at Burlington I was not going to stand it any tonger. I told Holmes and that they were perfectly happy. A number of letters written by the witness and given to Holmes to mail mailed. She was shown two others, written by Alice and Nellie. That from Alice was marked by childish affection for her absent mother and ore a rude drawing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which the little one had been eading. At the sight of this the mother's neart overflowed and she wept bitterly. The woman who accompanied her and Dessa arose and, walking to the witness stand, gave the bereaved woman a teaspoonful of medicine. There was no one in the crowded court room who did not appreciate the pathos of this scene, but the only change it made in Holmes' expression was a malicious grin on his thin lips "Have you ever seen your husband since he left St. Louis for Philadel phia?" "I have never seen him since July 29, 1894, nor heard from him since August 29, when I got the last letter in his own handwriting," she answered tearfully. "Have you see or heard from Alice Nellie or Howard since this man go possession of them?" "I have never heard from them." "Have you seen them since then?" Sobbing bitterly the woman answered, "I saw Alice and Nellie lying side by side in the morgue at Toronto.'

This ended the examination in chief: The court re-assembled at seven p. m., and during the few moments that elanged before the business of the cas was resumed Holmes sat in the dock reading "Stephen's Digest of the Law of Evidence." At 7.15 o'clock Mrs. Pietzel's trying ordeal was resumed after she had taken a liberal dose of medicine from the trained nurse wh accompanied her and her daughter, Dessa. The cross-examination was continued until 8.25, but developed noth ing to controvert, her evidence in

Dist. Atty. Graham then showed her the portrait of Pietzel and she said: "Yes, that is a good picture of my husband as he left home." This concluded Mrs. Pietzel's testi iony, and at 8.30 o'clock she gave way for her daughter, Jeanette-Dessa. Her testimony was largely corrobo rative of that given by her mother concerning the departure of the children and the subsequent travels of Dessa and her mother under Holmes' guidance to the various cities named. Mrs. Pietzel was recalled, and the district attorney questioned her further regarding the stay in Burlington. During their second week there Holmes took a lighted lamp and went into the cellar. She thought she had better follow him, and did so, but he urged her to return to the upper floor, fearing that she would catch cold. The windows in the cellar were out, and Holmes asked her for a hammer and nails, saying he would put them

Montreal, Oct. 30.-A cable to the Star from London says: At the Grand Trunk raflway semi-annual meeting today Sir Charles Rivers Wilson presided. Sir Charles said he believed the trunk lines rates agreement was at least an achieved fact and the board therefore today authorized L. J. Seargeant, the retired manager of the road, to sign the agreement. He announced that the company had se-cured a return of the Armour meat packing company's business in and out of Chicago. Sir Charles Rivers Wilson paid a high tribute to the staff and board. He felt that they and himself were at the outset of a very arduous task, but he refrained from any predictions. He, however, promised his best efforts and would especially guard against the great fault of the past, acquiring subsidiary lines. The many speeches were gen-erally favorable to the board and the new president. The report was adopted as submitted.

London, Oct. 30 .- The Marquis of Salisbury made a speech at Walford today, during which the prime minister referred to the agricultural question and said: "Since the repeal of the corn laws we have had the stronggest cause to lament that, though the protectionists resisted, their warnings had not been listened to more carefully. The repealers laughed at the idea of injuring husbandry; but, a lowering of prices resulted and free trade had almost killed husbandry in several districts." The marquis did not blame those who passed the free trade act, but they should have thought more of the burden under which the land labored and should have lightened the weight of those burdens, when it could have done with ease. Lord Salisbury then advocated the foreign policy of Great Britain, and in this connection he declared that he had carried out the work of his precursers for the sake of maintaining the important chiefe of a master's certificate for foreign trade to dhas. To this address the rev. gentleman made the following reply:

$t. Leonards, Madawaska, N. B., Oot, 24. Centlemen—I felt profoundly grateful and deeply touched by your address which reached me by this morning's mail. While most heartily thanking you for the warm expression of your regards towards me, as well as for your kind wishes for my future prosperity and happiness, I beg to assure you, gentlemen, that my heart echoes them back to you and your amiable families.

Du ing my sojourn at Caraquet I, on my part, had ample occasion to admire your gentemanty and friendly bearing with the people of that very large, important and flourishing parish, the existence in your midst of that truly Christian charity and concord of will, so much to be desired and prayed fur in mixed communities, was always to me a source of consolation and pleasure.

It gratifies me beyond measure to see that differences of belief put no barriers to the kir illy social intercourse that should always exist amongst the true followers of Christ, and I pray Him from my very heart to guard and protect your small community and social circle from those petty animosities which exist unhappily and are so much deplored in other places.

May peace and concord be always in the future, as during my brief sojourn, the characteristic of the good parish of Caraquet.

Wishing you, each and all, as well as the members of your respective families, long, happy, and prosperous lives, and praying God to bestow on you His choicest blessings.

I have the ho or to be, gentlemen, Gratefully and faithfully yours, JOHN JOSEPH NUGENT, Pire.

But the speech seems to contain a strong suggestion that the time is opportune for a complete reconsideration of the trade and tariff policy of | well conducted journal is satisfied to the country. Lord Salisbury, like most other Englishmen under three score and ten, is by political training a free trader. The corn laws were repealed when he was a lad at school and it is not likely that until recent years he ever contemplated a reopening of the question of free trade and protection. Whatever weakening there may be in his traditional ideas has been brought about by the logic of facts. It is not at all likely that the premier is a protectionist in the full American acceptance of the term. His present project seems to be the assistance of the farmer by reducing his taxes rather than by giving him special advantages in the market. But a reduction of the English farmer's tax only means an increase in the taxes naid by some other class, and so far as the change goes it constitutes a kind of protection. It was not long ago that Lord Salisbury made the statement that the British policy of freely admitting into the country the products of competing nations which did not reciprocate was generous but not business. That utterance did not mark him as a convert to protection, but it indicated a certain open-mindedness in that direction. The most that can be said of him and some of his colleagues, including Mr. Chamberlaint is that they have come to consider free trade and protection as open questions, proper for practical discussion and consideration. Ten years ago it was rank heresy to suggest that free trade was not the settled policy of Great Britain for all time to come. The attitude of the leading statesmen of today is that all questions of this kind must come up from time to time and be judged on their merits. This is a bad period for traditional policies. Nothing can be regarded as settled unless it remains a satisfactory settlement. Protection gave place to free trade in England half a century ago because free trade was believed to be better for the commerce, the industries and the other interests of the country. It is now held to be open to any statesman to enquire whether free trade is today a benefit to the country. The day that statesman and people answer that question in the negative-if that day comes—it will be found that there

THE DUTY OF THE PRESS.

The fact that a large majority of the members of the present house of inform the Sun that it must have made a mistake in opposing the Blair government. It might be said, by way of criticism of the critics, that if the opposition candidates who offered for election had been successful the this paper.

proportion of liberal conservatives in the house would have been still larger. It was a feature of the campaign that the grit party figured in it chiefly as hewers of wood and drawers of water. While all the opposition candidates but one or two were liberal conservatives, a majority of the candidates on the government side were of the same profession. More than two thirds of the aspirants on both sides were supporters of the dominion government. The tactics of the leader of the government led to this result. Assuming at the beginning that the solid liberal party is with him, and knowing that only a fraction of the liberal conservative vote in contested constituencies is needed to give him a majority, Mr. Blair always secures liberal conservative candidates when he can. For instance, in Albert, where the parties are almost evenly divided, the two government candidates, one of them a liberal conservative, had in round numbers a vote of 1,200 against 800. We may suppose that each federal party could claim 1,000 of the votes. As the opposition vote was wholly conservative, it would appear that some 200 conservatives followed Dr. Lewis or were influenced by other motives to support the provincial government.

But half the representation is liberal conservative. In constituencies somewhat evenly divided four-fifths of the grit vote, plus one-fourth of the liberal conservative vote, will form a majority. If the grit vote goes all one way and one-fourth of the other party goes with it, the majority is so much the larger. So it does not follow that because the majoritysof the people of New Brunswick are diberal conservaand a majority are supporters of Mr. Blair that the majority of New Brunswick liberal conservatives are for Mr. Blair.

But this exposure of the weak point of the criticism of the valued contemporaries is not the real answer. The reply is that this journal speaks its own opinions for itself and does not wait with bated breath to see what this or that politician of its own or another party proposes to do. If the record of the Blair government is such as to condemn it, we do not conceive that the support of liberal conservatives in Restigouche or Northumberland or in St. John alters the fact. We stand by the facts as they appear to us, not as they appear to Mr. Tweedie or another.

Nothing can be more foolish than the statement that the Sun has read this politician or that one out of the party. The politicians have the same power to read the Sun out as it has to perform the reading for them. A discuss public matters freely and fairly according to its lights, and to honestly such information as it can obtain on political questions as well as on other matters. Fortunately, members of the legislature professing allegiance to the liberal conser vative party, and yet admiring Mr. Blair's methods, have ample opportunity to make known their views This is a free country, where a man may say the thing he will.

A DAZZLING HOPE.

The Quebec organ of the oppo is confident of the success of Mr. Laurier in Ontario at the next general election. L'Electeur explains that the Catholic clergy, who have for twentyfive years been the strength of the Mowat government, always supported Sir John Macdonald in federal contests. It says that the situation is now changed since the death of Sir John and the accession of Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Mr. Laurier's organ in the ancient capital cites the Catholic Register of Toronto, which, it says, is controlled by Archbishop Lynch, to show that Catholics of Ontario will be with Mr. Laurier in the next fight, It claims that Archbishop Cleary has also shown the same thing through the Canadian Freeman, which approves energetically of Mr. Laurier's position on the Manitoba question. "There is here," says L'Electeur, "an event of great importance. There is really not a man of political experience who cannot see that their adherence assures to Mr. Laurier the compact vote which has kept Mr. Mowat in power more than twenty-five years with a majority of more than thirty in the legislature."

It is always interesting to know what the grit party expects. It remains to be seen how far Mr. Laurier will attain to the fulfillment of his hopes. For several days past The Sun has been trying to feel its readers the price of bread in Montreal. It started with ten cents for a loaf, weighting one and a half pounds, but on Sahurday got the price down to seven cents for a two pound loaf. Yesterday it said the retail price for a two pound loaf in Montreal is six cents; today it will probably have it down to five, which, we presume, is the correct figure.—Telegraph. The Sun quoted a letter in a Montreal paper in which the writer complained that he had been obliged on one occasion to pay 10 cents for a loaf is no other great principle involved of one pound and a half, and also obthan the principle of public expedi- jected to a price of seven cents for a two pound loaf. Afterward Sun printed the rethe ply from its own correspondent in Montreal, who was asked the regular price of bread to the trade and to the consumer, and who statassembly are liberal conservatives ed that it was 5 cents to the trade moves some kind contemporaries to and 6 cents to the consumer for the two pound loaf. Of course a journal which is content to "presume" its facts can make prices to suit itself. The slower, but perhaps more exact process of enquiry has been adopted by

MR. WHITE.

There is no longer a doubt that Cardwell is vacant. Whether Mr White becomes collector of Montreal or remains editor of the Gazette he will have the good wishes of all who knew him well. For the sake of Canadian journalism it would be well if he remained at the old desk. It ought to be a finer thing to direct so strong and influential a journal as the Gazette than to hold any place in the outside service of Canada. The collectorship of Montreal is worth $4,000 a year, but, as the Toronto Globe says, it is easier to find ten men able to manage that office than to find one having Mr. White's capacity for the editoria! management of a great commercial and political journal ike the Gazette. The moral is that the Montreal editor's reward should at least be as large as those of the Montreal collector,

The financial returns for the first three months of the present fiscal year show an improvement in dominion finances on both sides of the account. The revenue is $587,000 more than for the first quarter of last year, and the current expenditure is $228,000 more than for the same period of 1894. The balance is therefore better by $815,000 than that of the months of July. August and September last year. Besides this there is a decrease of $100,-000 in capital expenditure. Mr. Foster is likely to have a good budget when he reports the result of the current year's busin ess.

Mr. Blair's organ in Fredericton repeats the statement that the attorney general "could have had an appointment to the bench long ago if he had desired it." It seems that the tories have for five years been trying "to shelve him on the bench," and Mr. Blair has with great presence of mind succeeded in escaping the snare every time. With all due deference to the attorney general and his organ we are of the opinion that the only positions on the bench which he has had the opportunity to decline are those in the gift of the local government.

The Germans appear to be well to the front in the application of electricity to farm work. The automatic electric plow has been made a practical success in Germany. The power is furnished by a stationary engine through a motor attached to the plow. The plow is drawn across the land by the operation of a pinioned shaft which works on a chain stretched across the field and secured at each end by anchors. The anchors can be moved by leavers after each furrow.

The minister of militia was probably right when speaking at Chateauguay he said that the United States people would not find cause of offence in the erection of monuments by Canada on the border battle fields. Since our neighbors take no offence we will go Canadians met and drove back the envaders from over the border. If, however, offence should be taken we will go on erecting the monuments.

The valued Telegraph cannot find many liberals in the house of assembly, but it promises almost a solid delegation from this province to the next dominion parliament. It seems to think that Mr. Dibblee, Mr. Fowler, Dr. Lewis and the provincial members for Northumberland and Kent will assist in their return. The only omission we notice in the Telegraph's prospectus is the failure to defeat Mr. Costigan. Why this modesty?

The greatly valued Telegraph devotes a long and able leader under the startling head, "The Sun Surrenders." to the proof that this journal repents its opposition to the Blair government. Let us hope that the stern conqueror will have pity on his submissive captive, and refrain from dragging us around town at his chariot wheels.

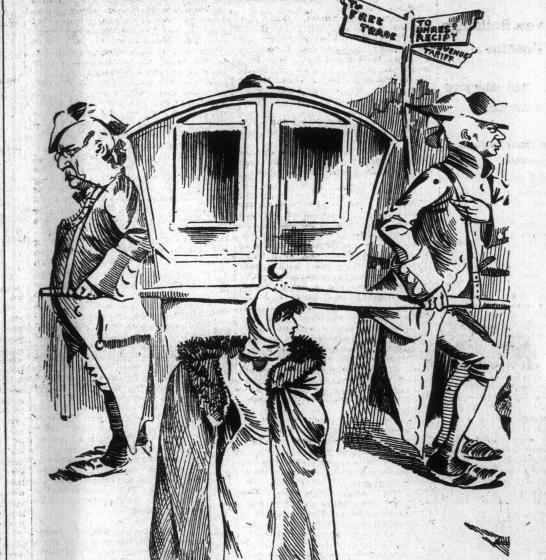

In France the Ribot ministry has been defeated after an existence of seven months. This is an unusually long life for a French ministry. The defeat is due to a scandal with which some of the former participants of the Panama scandals were connect-

MR. WHITE'S ADDRESS.

Giving His Reasons for Resigning His Seat in the Commons.

R. S. White has addressed the fol lowing letter to the electors of Card-

To the Electors of Cardwell: Gentlemen-Having resigned the seat in the house of commons with which you honored me in 1888, and again in 1891, it becomes my duty to acquaint you with the reasons that we moved me to take this step, and thus sever the, to me, always pleasant relations existing between us for now seven years. You may remember that, on the occasion of the elections of 1891, I gave you a pledge to withdraw my confidence from the government in the event of the school legislation of Manitoba being made the subject of disallowance by dominion government. My opinion at that time, as now, was legislation of the provinces affecting education should not be interfered with by the exercise of the veto power, but that its constitutionality, if challenged in any quarter, ought to be left to the decision of the courts. That view was held by the late Sir John Thomp son, and, I may say, was shared by the whole parliamentary body, save only a wing of the opposition. It is not my intention to recount the various phases this vexed Manitoba school question has undergone since 1891. At every step the courts, and the courts alone, have been allowed to determine the validity of the appeals for redress made by the Roman Catholic minority of the province, until finally as the re sult of the judgment of the judicial cil the governor-general-in-council was called upon to act.

You are familiar with the steps which have since been taken. To Mantoba has been committed the duty of providing redress for the minority, and, failing action on the party of the authorities of that province, the whole matter will become vested in the par-liament of Canada, under the terms of the constitution. It may be that the Manitoba government will take such steps as will remove this vexed and difficult question from the federal domain, or, again, that, if legislation is introduced in parliament, it will be of such a scope and character as to allay the fears, and disarm the opposition, of those who advocate equal rights in matters of education, including in that term a common measure of taxation upon all classes, the certification of teachers, uniform standards of excellence in, and official inspection of all state-aided schools, whether they be disignated public or separate. Despite, however, the altered circumstances of the question since 1891, I gave you the pledge to which I have the events of the approaching session of parliament with my hands less free as I conceive, than those of your re-presentative should be, to deal with the subject in whatever form it may

As you are aware, my name has been coupled with the office of collector of customs at the port of Montreal, vacant since the month of January, 1893, and which still remains so. Not long since representations were made to the government by the board of trade of this city, setting forth the desirability, in the interest of the usiness of the port, of appointing a collector at an early day. Inasmuch as an impression has prevailed some- you have placed me.

what widely, that the delay is ming the office was due to a reluctance on the part of the government to submit their policy to the judgment of the electors of Cardwell, by selecting my-self for the vacancy, I decided with-out solicitation on the part of the cabinet, and without intimation of my purpose to any of its members, to dispel that impression so far as I could, by resigning the representation of the county of my own accord. As a consequence, an opportunity will shortly be afforded you of pronouncing upon the public issues of the day, while the government will be relieved of any embarrassment my presence in parliament may have caused in naming a collector for the port of Montreal, as directed by the mer

I am glad to believe that in restoring the trust which you have so long confided to me it will be committed to hands certainly not less worthy or capable than mine. More than a year ago representatives of the conserva tive electors of Cardwell selected as their candidate, when my term of office should expire, my friend, W. B. Willoughby, a son of the county, whose abilities are great, and whose devotion to its interests has been life long. Mr. Willoughby is too intimately known to you to require any eulogy at my hands, but if I have a friend in Cardwell who desires to give me pergratification or to repay any debt of kindness there can possibly be due to me, he will discharge such obligation with compound interest added by assisting in the election of Mr. Willoughby as my successor.

The political issues of the day have not greatly changed since I last appealed for your support. The conservative party has, indeed, suffered the irreparable loss of three distinguished leaders—the old chieftain, Sir John Macdonald; his able successor, Sir John Abbott, and the most eminent parliamentarian in Canadian history, Sir John Thompson. But the prin ciples of the party survive, and it is my confident hope that Cardwell will prove in the pending election as true to those principles as she has ever done in the past. One last word in parting. It is no light thing to voluntarily, albeit from a sense of duty, break the tie which binds a public man to his constituents and which endears so many faithful friends to him. It is in my case an especially painful one, for I can never forget that when my father, the late Hon. Thomas White, after repeated defeats elsewhere, reached the brink of the general election in 1878 without a constituency, it was the conservatives of Cardwell who took him on trust as their candidate, made him their member, honored him with their confidence to the day of his death, and so gave him the opportunity of devoting to the service of the country he loved so well all of the talent and patriotism with which he was endowed. Nor can I ever forge that when it pleased God to call him to his last home, it was the spirit of ardent loyalty and gratitude and of fidelity to conservative prin-ciples, that moved the men of Cardwell to bestow the representation of the riding upon myself, resident a stranger, save in name, to every one for him. In bidding you farewell, let me say that I will never cease cherish the memory of the many happy days spent amongst you, the warm friendships formed and the lasting obligations under which

ALBERT CO. Albert, N. B., Oct. 29.-The election of councillors for the municipality of Albert county occurred today in the parishes of Alma, Elgin, Hillsboro, Hopewell and Harvey. As the organ of the liberal party hinted some time ago the elections would be a test of the strength of the parties in federal politics, the word was passed along their lines and they entered into one contest with great vigor. The day was fine and a fair vote was polled. Hopewell elected W. A. West, liberal, and Isaac C. Prescott, conservative; Hillsboro, Calvin Steeves and Peter Duffy, conservatives; Harvey, George D. Prescott, conservative, and Miles Copp, independent. The Elgin figures received states that Smith and Gog-gin, liberals, are elected. Coverdale put up no fight and the old councillors, Leeman and Ryan, were elected by acclamation. In Hopewell local vernment officials were called into full action and worked hard. Harvey was a great battle ground. Mr. Em-merson from Dorchester and the senator from Hopewell did their level best, but failed to elect the candidate of their choice. Hillsboro did the best of all, the party also failing to elect their candidate, showing how helpless they are without the Lewis influence. Connor, the Emmersonian candidate of

The seats are yet to be varnished and the pillars to stain. The stoves and pipe have received a thorugh overhauling and the whole church is very greatly improved.

Mr. Cook is at present engaged on Zion church at West Branch. The ceiling is done and looks creditable indeed. It is a yellow tint. The cornices and circle are done in tints and chadles of the three colors, yellow, terra cotta and garnet. The seats are to be a light salmon color, with ebony trimmings, and lighter tints in the panels. The whole is to be varnished. Edward Walker is visiting P. E. I. on a business trip. James Thompson

Dr. Pedolin is in attendance Mrs. Samuel Northrop of Belleisle, Kings county, who was a delegate to the provincial Sabbath school convention held in Chatham, took advantage of it to pay her sisters, Mrs. John McColm and Mrs. Evered Goodfellow, a flying visit. She was ac companied by her cousin, Miss Eloise Charlton of the same place. Mrs Darling and Mrs. James Johnstone of Buctouche, who also attended the convention, made their friends at Strathadam and Red Bank a short visit.

Ernest Adams came out of the lum her woods this week with a cut foot. The councillors' election is over. Whitney and Ryan were the success ful candidates. Ryan was only three votes ahead of Jones. . Chatham, Oct. 30.—The corporation drive is expected to reach the southwest boom today. A great deal of anxlety has been felt on account of the main drive on the southwest belonging to Wm. Richards, and a large crew have been working on it for some time. If the logs had not got in this fall they would probably have gone out with the ice next spring, and the loss of six or seven millions of lumber would have resulted.

Five carloads of wood are at the station for the fire sufferers. It came from Alex. Gibson of Marysville Hon. L. J. Tweedie, who has been ill since declaration day, is able to

The annual meeting of the St. John Agricultural society was held Thursday afternoon in the Magee building. The president, S. T. Golding, was in

After disposing of the minutes the president called upon the sccretary, The report of the directors showed that they had held 14 meetings during the year, at which there had been a fair attendance to dispose of the business presented. They had much pleasure in stating that from every reliable ource came the information that a bountiful harvest was ensured and well housed, for which blessings we should indeed be grateful. Telegraphic nessages from abroad assured us daily that floods, storms, animal plagues and insectiferous pests made the life of the agriculturist a burden. From these baneful influences we were happily exempt, and although the province from an agricultural standpoint had disadvantages, it certainly had which should not be lost sight of, but kept constantly, not spasmodically, be-fore the people at home and abroad. The directors thought that the press of the province might without detriment point out with greater frequency the good which exists in our soil and climate, cattle and flocks, the ways and means of transportation, and no the least, its natural beauty. The province would be much benefitted by arousing interest in the extent and variety of our natural products, and would be an agreeable diversion from the digestible and indigestible political food of which we have had such a lengthened surfeit. A subject which had received but scant attention, yet of paramount importance to agriculturists here, was the geological forma pared by Dr. Gesner and Mr. John ston, F. R. S., being the only author ities on the subject excepting the reports issued from the department a Ottawa, but which have never appear ed in a form that the subject matter might be readily grasped and assimilated by the ordinary reader. The di rectors learned with pleasure that such work was about to be issued by Dr Chalmers, and trusted that it migh

It was to be regretted that such a condition of af-In Long v. Peterson there was no money award over and above that which they paid in. The system of distributing the provincial grant in small sums from twenty-five cents up in the form of premiums for the best and second best so and so, had in the opinion of the directors outgrown any usefulness, but it possibly served in the primitive condition of the province. It seemed not a little strange that provincial governments have for over half a century sanctioned a system of distribution of a large amount of money appropriated for agricultural purposes in a manner which, subjected to even a superficial criticism, would unmistakably show that it never rubbed against the object which it was intended to serve. The directors here spoke of the importation of live stock and its sale among the members of the society. The success of the international exhibition of 1895, which closed a few weeks ago, was gratifying to the board, and they hoped that the public interest and spirit which were fested during its progress would sur vive, and also that permanent mittees would be organized so that a clear view of the field might be presented and plans for action furthered. The time of holding and the arrange ment whereby the show was divided having the live stock the second week was detrimental to the interests of the society and materially lessene the quantity and quality of the live stock exhibited. Be Sold as She Lies.

The Norwegian Ship Reciprocity Will Tug Storm King went down to Musquash Wednesday morning, having on board Capt. Overgaard of the ship Reciprocity, ashore there; Capt. Sor ensen of the bark Inga, Capt. Anderson of the bark Lillian, J. K. Dunlop and John H. Thomson, the Norwegian consul at this port. The vessel was examined by the gentlemen who composed the party, and their verdict was that she was in her grave. The report of the surveyors, Capts. Anderson and Sorenson is as follows: Keel partly, gone; deadwood plank and sternpost gone up to six feet; deadwood plank and stem gone up to five feet; port bilge under main chains cut through and chaffed for a distance of 40 feet, and under the forward chains bilge cut and bottom badly chafed; mainmast gone, with all attached; main rail broken; mizzen topmast gone, with all attached; boats destroyed and skids broken; pump gear disabled; vessel badly not worth repairing, even if she could be gotten off the rocks, which is very doubtful; tide ebbs and flows through her; will probably go to pieces the first southerly gale. The surveyors recommended her condemnation and the immediate sale of the vessel as she lies.

HOW TO SHORTEN A SERMON.

A young Scotch minister, newly licensed to preach the gospel, was asked by an old minister of a parish in Banffshire to preach his first sermon in his church on the following Sun day. In due course the young preacher arrived for duty on Sunday morning, and in going to church the min-ister asked him, "What may be the length of your sermon, Jamie?" "Well its about three-quarters of an hour,' regretted that such a condition of the fairs existed and some of those who had left made the open statement that they would only pay their membership that would only pay their membership and the fairmers will be furious if the land, room was only concerned to the Roman Catholic for an entrance to the Roman Catholic cemetery. It was not specified that it is, "It's here, and I can make shorter." it neither longer nor shorter; I maum jist gie it as it is," was the reply. At that season of the year (August) there was usually a kind of lecture before the sermon, but, to make the service about the usual length the lecture was dispensed with and the sermon was begun at once. At the close of the service, when the young preacher came down from the pulpit, the old minis ter tapped him on the shoulder said, "Jamie, I'll tell you what to do with that sermon: jist tak' it and preen ilka twa leaves thegither, and you'll be uncomuckle astonished how

WOODSTOCK

Good Progress Being Made in Sewer Construction.

The Amateur Athletic Association - A Remarkably Healthy Youngster.

Woodstock, Oct. 30.-Work has now been going on with the sewers for nearly three weeks and the utmost progress has been made. John McGourty of St. John is foreman of the work, while the superintendent is Donald Munro and the surveyor C. F. K. Dibblee. Today pipe is being laid from the mill at the corner of Emerald and Railroad towards Queen street, and also on Albert street leading to Main. Excavation is also going on on Main and Connell streets. As a general thing the work has been easy, the soll being clayey or sandy, and not much heavy stone encountered. At the corner of Main and Connell streets, however, there is a very ledgy bit, and blasting has been resorted to freely. There are about one hundred men at work on the entire system. The Woodstock Amateur Athletic ssociation promises to be a remarkably successful organization. It will include the cricket, tennis, base ball and bicycle clubs. An enthusiastic neeting was held recently in the Press office and three active committees were appointed. A. B. Connell presided, and among those who are actively interesting themselves in the movement are: Drs. Sprague and Rankin, Messrs. S. A. Taylor, A. E. Mellish, O. D. Holyoke, Geo. and Wm. Bahmans, and a great many others. A meeting of the committee on membership is called for this evening.

Nothing definite has been heard of Charles Tabor, the weak minded young man who strayed from his home a couple of weeks ago.

F. H. Hale is about finishing the work in rebuilding his burned block, and Smith Bros. have retaken pos-session of their former shop, from which they moved after the fire. W. M. Connell is building a place on street. There are a number of private dwellings going up, and altogether between the sewers and building operations labor is at a premium. The matter between the town council and Mr.Queen is not yet settled. The town claims that Mr. Queen is encroaching on St. Gertrude street. Mr. street on which his property is situated was never opened. He also moreover, contended that St. Gertrude street, near Main, where it is a public highway, is not wider than three rods. The ten days' notice which the council gave Mr. Queen in which to remove his lawn, which forms the complained of encumberment, was up today, but an extension of time is to be given, owing to some technical mistake in the report furnished by the special committee appointed to deal with the subject. There has been a little rain lately, the river. It is evidently looking desperately blue for the whose logs lay away high and dry cn the river bank. Fred Moore, it is sa has a crew of men working near Bristol, but under present conditions they can only get along at a snall's pace.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Hallow'en entertainment for metal workers in the rooms last night was largely attended by the metal trade, while other trades were well represented. There was a gymnasium class exhibition under the leadership of Instructor Edmunds, who had large class of young men under his care. The tumbling of McIntyre, Málcolm and Norris was about the best that has been seen in the gymnasiun for years. Another feature of the entertainment was Indian club sw ing by A. Norris. A game of basket ball, played by two teams captained by Edmunds and Morrow, was won by the former after a hot fight. closed this part of the show, after which the crowd adjourned to the lower floor, where a selection by the orchestra welcomed them, after which President Fisher mounted the platform and gave a brief speech, outlining the advantages for the young man of this city and what the association offers for his future way in the world. Several literary and musical selections were the feature of the entertainment, not forgetting the Hallowe'en fruits, which were well enjoyed by the crowd.

GEN. GASCOIGNE SPEAKS.

No Royal Road to Benefitting the Militia.

The Major General Means to Exact the High est Possible Standard.

Montreal, Oct. 28.-Major General Gascoigne has made the acquaintance of the Montreal militiamen. The visit was made for two purposes, firstly to see the Montreal regiments on parade, and secondly to accept the hospitality of the officers of the Montreal brigade. It is many years since a brigade mess has been held in Monttreal. After dinner, which was served at the Windsor, Major General Gas coigne, replying to a toast in his honor, said: The worst of these after dinner speeches is, there must be a certain amount of sameness about them, and I have no desire to imitate a certain gentleman, who is said to have mad a speech at every railway platform he ever stood on. Gentlemen, I don' want to weary you in that way, but I would be wanting in courtesy to you, after your splendid welcome, if I did not acknowledge it by saying a few words. Of course, I have only en a short time among you. When I was first appointed in England there was a great deal of talk about my coming, which I heard, and, among other things, one newspaper said, "Major General Gascoigne will be having a very difficult task before him. General Gascoigne's best plan, doubt, will be to flatter the Can adian militia, and then he will be able to be a successful commander." I start by saying that I altogether dif-(Hear, hear). If I know men at all, and I have had great experience of regulars and volun commanding for four years a battalion, and for four years my regiment of Scots Guards, including three regiments of regulars and two of unteers, besides a great deal of experience in other positions-if I know anything of men, I don't think you can pay them a worse compliment flattering them in such way that they can recognize it for flattery. (Hear, hear). Far, far better to make myself disagreeable and talk sharply to you than flatter you in such a way as you would see it was false. I don't mean to act on these lines at all. (Hear, hear). I mean to exact the highest standard possible of perfection in drill and bearing, and shall not only exact it but shall got it. (Cheers). I am perfectly certain you will tumble to it me all the better for it, and at the end of my time here we shall have received mutual benefit. · One more I have quite made up my mind about; there is no royal road to benefitting the militia. There are here the men who have built it up step by step from the beginning till you are what you are, and therefore I am certain in my own mind that neither I nor others have found or can find a royal road by which we can improve the militia. You can do many things and I can do much to be of mutual benefit. First of all, as he is not here tenight, and I am sorry he is not, I can say from the short time I have been here that you have got an excellent minister of militia in Mr. Dickey. He is most loyally anxious to serve you in every way he can. cine. (Applause). About myself I can only say this: you will get to know me later on. I am anxious at least to serve you. You start well with your hear). Having started with these two. the rest must be done by you. (Hear, hear). It is to you that I look for all I said the same at Ottawa, and I shall go on saying the same thing in every town I come to. It is to you we must look for assist-You must take that in the fullest and most literal sense. You must assist us by being perfectly honest yourselves in all work and all things pertaining to the militia. Take steps to make the militia the great end and jut down all political and private influences. (Hear, hear). That must come from you. What are we at Ottawa to do when we hear any man named for any appointment whatever in the service if we have found that he has fulfilled all the requisite tests? We may think possibly he is not quite the best man, but if be submitted to us, what are we to do? But you, the active and senior officers, all more or less can help to keep down private interests. You know the best officers, and you can work by the popular feelings that those claims shall be recognized. I six boxes for $2.50. address the junior officers, who in all respects should try to imitate always in all things the demeanor of regular soldiers, and try to inspire the same in those below them. And then as to the private soldiers, who, of course, through the press, let each man reember if he goes about in at all a slovenly way, not neatly dressed, that thousand eyes are on him; not the general's, for I can tell you afterwards what I think, but the public's. Therefore, every man who goes about in a slovenly way and not doing credit to his regiment pulls down that regiment and the whole force in more ways than he thinks. I will again say, as at Ottawa, I must put the example of the English volunteer before They are, to a great extent, your half-brothers. There is only a distinction without a difference Thirty-five years ago they were laughand ridiculed, but those in charge of them went on and made them a fine body, so much so that nov the public, the whole nation, takes them so seriously that no power on earth can touch the volunteers. (Hear, hear). This country has far greater ties to contend against than England. There is the money to be thought of. Vast claims are made on the exchequer these times, and it is difficult to get the money needed. Therefore, the only thing is for you yourselves to get hold of public opinon in such a way that each town will be so proud of the militia, so proud of such-and-such a regiment, that they don't help you now it is because Children Cry for will be willing to pay for them.

and the thing is done. There will be no cutting down of money then. It of yourselves. I will say no more tonight, but beg again to thank you with all my heart for the reception. I came to this command with a per-fectly light heart. I knew Canada and its people well before I came, and if a man is honest in his intentions and shows himself so you will like the spirit. I had no fear in coming to Canada, and I have no fear, and I am perfectly certain before you and I part you will see the wisdom and justice of every word I say, and I feel certain before a couple of years have ssed the difference will be so mark ed that the people in the streets and towns will say, "By heavens, he has improved the militia." Throughout this broad dominion there are !housands of women prem-aturely old and constant sufferers either as a result of too constant application to household work, or from troubles incidental to the sex. To those suffering thus, it is gratifying to now that there has at last been found a remedy that will restore them ealth and strength, and bring health and happiness where before had been nisery and suffering. readers who know Mrs. Cargo only as an energetic and capable boarding house keeper, may not know that about a year and a half ago she was a confirmed sufferer, feeling but little hope of her recovery to health. Although not confined to bed she drag ged on a wretched existence from day to day. Added to other sufferings was that terrible one, known to some in mild form, but to few as to Mrs. Cargo-insonnia. This, with her other troubles, headache, and a feeling of atigue on slight exertion, was rapidly breaking her down. Many medicines were tried, but none reached the seat of the trouble, and Mrs. Cargo felt like giving up in despair. At last, how ever, she was induced to try a medicine that is exciting much favorable comment the world over-Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Mrs. Cargo admits that after the numerous disappointments she had experienced she had but little faith left in medicine, but before taking the Pink Pills long she found her appetite which had before been very poor, returning, and this gave her the first ray of hope she had had. Her husband began to notice the improvement in her condition and another supply of Pink Pills was procured, which were carefully and faithfully taken according to directions. The improvement was so marked that she continued the treatment from January until March, at the end of which time she had gained thirty-seven pounds in weight, and was fully restored to health, and has had no re-

AN ENORMOUS CARGO.

The following interesting paragraph is from the London Live Stock Journal of Oct. 4th:
The White Star new carge boat Georgic, which recently arrived in the Mersey, brought what is described as "the biggest carge that ever left New York." The Georgic is the largest cargo boat afloat, and she certainly carried a vast quantity of merchandise. On her freight list are 750 cattle, 2,000 sheep, 3,000 quarters beef, 136,000 bushels wheat, 90,000 bushels corn, 550 bales cotton, 2,000 sacks flour, 1,300 bags offcake, 1,800 cases, 1,700 boxes bacon, 300 barrels and tine of provisions, 9,000 packages lard, 3,000 barrels resin, 700 barrels glucose, 1,000 cases of camed goods, 300 packages soap, 400 barrels wax, 306 barrels bark extract, 1,000 barrels lubricating oil, 100 tons wood, 3,000 packages acetate of ime, 150 barrels oxide of zinc, and 10,000 packages of cooperage etock.

FASHION NOTES.

Something About Goods Now in Vogue in Canada.

Frenadines are Likely to be Heard From Nex Spring-Soft Wool Fancies

(Toronto Globe.)

Fashion continues favorable to ribons. On a great many makes prices have advanced about 8 per cent. It expected that velvet ribbons will be much used for the trimming of mohair dresses. This make of ribbon had a large sale last winter, and it is thought that there will be much the same demand for it this fall. Another make of ribbon is called "pull string," which has a cord on the edges, or near the edges, that enables one make the ribbon into frilling. This comes in all makes and colors. Paisley ribbons, in imitation of the paisley shawl patterns, are quite new, and s good trade is done in this line. Doube-faced satins still continue in good demand. White failles are now in cr

White buttons, as a trimming, are expected to be much worn. Some novelties in these are 14-line, 16-line and 18-line silk covered and mohair. The 16-line are the best sellers. Metal buttons, in 12, 14 and 16 line, in gold and silver, are also much used. Rhinestone and jet ornaments in all styles have een in great demand, drop ornaments Some novelties in setts of leading. hree buttons each, 16-line Rhinestone effect, are shown; in the same 6 and line are offered. One of the most offective ways to use these buttons is front of a box plaited waist. Horn and pearl buttons have a steady

Silks for evening wear are now in eason and are reported in fair movenent. Plain goods are rather slow in olors, but a small increase in the demand for black is reporter. Novelties are well liked; and anything new in the line of fancies finds a market. A few of thel eading novelties reported on order for spring were Japanese figured silks, in chamelon and change able effects. These goods come at nedium price and are chiefly shown in light colors. Plaids are well liked, both on the surah and taffeta ground and are now considered favorities. The plaid fashion has seldom proved to be a permanent one and plaid have often disappeared as quickly as they came to the front. Warp printed taffetas are leading, and many orders have been placed for spring. Satin and serge lines for the tie trade have been selling well. Bias velvet skirt binding is the leading binding sold. It saves much trouble and wears much longer than the ordinary velveteen. It used to be sold in lengths of three to five yards, but now most of the houses carry about 35 yard ends, shown in all the staple colorings.

Grenadines are likely to be heard from next spring. A novelty in them is the matelasse grenadine, which shows a silk pattern on the grenadine ground. The demand for velvets is very active. In colors, browns of different shades get the most attention, while navy has second place. Blacks in medium prices are much asked for and there are scarcely any to supply the demand. The inquiry for immedfate delivery has been a litle more active this week than last. The main asked for are tweeds in mottled effects and checks, fancies in combinations of mohair and worsted houcle cloths, with rich mixtures and other rough effects, and plaids, both of silk and wool. A notable development has been observed in the demand hair goods. So far as buyers are con-cerned their course is to order freely on a rising market. A great many orders will be placed soft wool fancies. Fashion points for next spring to mohair mixtures and boucle and other fancy worsted novelties. There is still a place for soft wool goods, which fills the place of a material for the masses. Many cannot afford to buy a fine mohair, such as boucle fancy, running all the way from 75c. to $1.25 retail, but they must content themselves with a soft wool fancy or a plain serge from 25c. to 50c. Furthermore, the all wool fancy is more adapted to the sudden changes of our climate than the mohair or mohair mixtures. Henriettas, being a

The bodice was low necked, of black satin, and covered with Brussels net, embroidered in white velvet leaves to match the skirt; the bodice was made to form a corsage. Goldberg Arrives in Montreal With His Captor.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Greatly pleased with his successful manoeuvres, and delighted at having visited the farfamed land of Acadia, or, to use his own words, "The Land of Evangeline," High Constable Bissonette arrived in the city on Saturday in company with nis prisoner, Jacob Goldberg.

The affable high constable was called upon by a Herald reporter yester-day morning, and the arrest of Goldberg was discussed at length. The following is the story which Mr. Bisson-nette tells of his first visit to Hallfax and the arrest which followed: "I arrived in Halifax last Wednesday, the 23rd, at about noon, and immediately called upon the chief of pol ice, who informed me that he had shown my telegram to the recorder to secure his advice, and the recorder told him that I had no right to arrest Goldberg; the chief added that he found out afterwards that the recorder was Goldberg's lawyer. I then went and saw Geo. W. Fielding, stipendiary magistrate, who endorsed my warrant, with an order empowering me to arrest Goldberg. About 5 o'clock the same day I was told that Goldberg had secured a rig and contemplated making his escape from Halifax, I immediately proceeded to his store at 5.30, and after arresting him brought him to the police station. He was left there until about 10.30 or 11 o'clock, when Mr. Jacobs came to me and in formed me that I had better see about my prisoner, as I would not have him next day. He also added that I was threatened with legal ings to lengthen my stay in Halifax. Without delay I went to the police station and was there informed the officer in charge that he had my warrant and the order from the chief to deliver the prisoner to me at any time I should want him. I asked the officer if there was anything else to detain Goldberg in Halifax, and replied that there was not. I then took Goldberg, who I told to say good-by to the city, as he was coming to Mon-treal with me. We then drove from city 35 miles to Mount Uniacke, "in the land of old Acadia," and from there took the train to Digby.

PRESBYTERY OF ST. JOHN.

Considerable Business Disposed of at Fredeticton.

But the Sess'on Ended Abruptly, the Moder ator Resigning the Chair When His Ruling Was Disputed, Fredericton, Oct. 29.-The St. John presbytery met in St. Paul's church today. Those present were: Rev. Mr. Burgess, moderator; Messrs. Macnelll, Pringle, Miller, Corbett, J. R. McDonald. Rainnie, Wm. A. McDonald, Fitzpatrick, J. Ross, W. Ross and L. Jack, ministers; and Messrs. Law, Coburn Parks, Willet, Henderson, and Young, elders. The motion to re-consider the action of presbytery in the case of the Stanley elders was departed from, and a petition from the session of that congregation was referred to the business committee. The notice of Dr. Macrae to reconsider the S. in May last was moved by Mr. Rainnie, and after some Mr. Macneill presented the following resolution, which was carried:

"The presbytery having 'earned with deep regret that the resolution presbytery anent auxiliaries, of the passed at its meting in St. John on May 7th, 1895, has been misunderstood by the W. H. M. S. as reflecting on trusted to them, desire in the strongest way to assure the society that the presbytery had no wish nor intention to reflect unkindly on the action of the W. H. M. S., but on the other hand the presbytery would express their greatest appreciation of the excellent work done by the society, and their sincere hope that the society will continue their good work."

A proposed change in the constitu-tion of the society was left to the the ladies.

The presbytery agreed to print a monthly to be called the Church and Home, giving news items of interest in mission and other matters. Rev. T. F. Fotheringham was nominated for the Knox college professorship A protest from Rev. J. S. Mullan anent the action of presbytery was received, and a committee to answer his reasons was appointed.

T. Miller accepted the Richmond, and the ordination was appointed for 19th November, 1895, in the church at McKenzie's Corner at 7 p. m. Rev. Mr. Whiteside to preside and preach and Rev. Mr. Fiske to address the minister and Rev. Mr. Corbett to address the people. The edict was to be served on the 10th and 17th

A call from Sheringfield in favor of Rev. I. A. McLean was received, signed by 81 members, and guaranteeng $450 of salary. It was sustained and ordered to be forwarded to Mr. McLean.

A call from St. James and Scotch Ridge in favor of Rev. Mr. Peacock was laid on the table till a committee ould visit the field.

This afternon Rev. Mr. Ross, home nary, reported he had visited the fields on the St. John river. Adams Anchibald, student, was appointed to take charge of Tobique district for the winter, and Mr. Finlay was sent to Salina in Kings county. The site of the Fairville church was approved, and leave granted to the congregation to mortgage their hall

The petition from a number of the Stanley congregation then came up, and elicited a lively discussion as to edure. The moderator's ruling on point was dissented from. promptly resigned the chair, and as no other member could be found to accept the place the presbytery was forced to adjourn to meet in St. John November 12th.

THE ARMENIANS

Have Not Yet Returned to Business in Constantinople.

What an Armenian Residing There Has to Say About the Situation.

Boston, Oct. 29.-Additional letters to those published last Saturday have been received in this city from a re-American in Constantinople. The writer says:

"The Armenians of the city have not returned to business, and the Armenian churches of Koumkapou Para. Catala and Hasskeuy have remained full of refugees since the riot These people are quite largely armed and many of them are revolutionists who escaped from the police while the police were engaged in attacking in nocent people. The government has repeatedly ordered and entreated them to leave the churches and dis erse, but they have refused to do so because they could not be sure that they would not be instantly killed on leaving their refuge. Their presence armed in the church has been a con stant menace to the peace of the city for the Turkish rabbis have repeated ly demanded to be allowed to them, since these men are in reality rebels. The government decided to starve them out, and cut off supplies from the Kcumkapou church. It also ordered the families to leave all the houses in that region, moved in troops and prepared for a desperate fight expectation was that the Ar menians under the pangs of hunger would make a rush to escape. The Armenians have hitherto refused to believe the Turks, and have said that if the amlassadors will give a guar antee of safety they will disperse to their homes. "The Turks were foolish to resist the efforts of the Armenians to present their petition to the sublime p It was contrary to the usage of the country to do so, and could only explained as a wilful act of hostility to the Armenians, unless the Ar menians had broken the peace before the Turks attacked them, which is denied. When the grand vizier, Said Pasha, told the sultan that the de-monstration was to take place and asked for his will, the sultan committed the matter to the grand vizier and the minister of the interior to arrange together, giving them full powers. They decided to allow the petitioners to present their grievance, merely taking the precaution to have troops in the neighborhood but out of sight, but so posted as to prevent any surprise in case the Armenians should prove to be riotous. All was ready, and the grand vizier was just setting out for the porte to receive the Ar menians when he was informed by the sultan that he (the sultan) had deagainst the demonstration, and had already ordered his troops to resist and disperse any groups of Armenians that might appear. The whole responsibility for the carnage of last week falls upon that foolish decision to override the plans of the ministers.

"Armenian Hunchagists in Aintah Marash and Hadjin are said to be intending to rise in force. An Armenian begged me when he saw my horror at the folly of a rising while negotiations were pending, to write to the missionaries to let the people know that all hope of acceptance of the new reform scheme is not past, and that revolt would be deemed folly. They intend to make direct attack on the missionaries when they rise. But they intend to make this attack in Turkish dress, so that the blame may laid on the Turks. The situation

"It now seems probable that the reform scheme will be accepted by the sultan in its entirety, although the outlook Lere is improving."

CANADA.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-The following pessimistic lines appeared in the Globe of Saturday:

A THOSUAND DOLLARS AN HOUR. (London, Ont., Advertised.) Think of it, hard-working taxpayer, who inds it difficult to make both ends meet! Capada has now a debt of $252,000,000.
This debt was added to last year by over

The debt has increased by $100,000,000 since the high tax government attained power. Over $10,000,000 a year is taken out of the people in taxes to pay for the interest on this debt.

this debt.

The pecple pay $30,000 a day for interest on the debt.

That is at the rate of $1,000 an hour.

Much of this debt has been incurred to pay for boodle public works, out of which pay for boodle public works, out to maintain corrupt public men in power and to debauch Adolphe Carm's unwilling confession fts the veil partially. The country needs a change. Let me say that Canada has public buildings, railways, lighthouses, canals and other public works, fairly representing her national debt, even if now aggregated $300,000,000, as was wrongfully claimed it did, some ten years ago, by the liberal press. When the conservative party purchased certain of the rights of Hudson Bay company for £300,000, the liberal party in the house belittled that vast territory, and opposed the wise and far-seeing and far-reaching policy of the late Sir John A. Macdonald Today Canada has an area of 3,456,-383 square miles, of which 3,315,647 are land surface and 140,736 water surface, and could sell, if it were not inexpedient to create such a land monopoly, 300,000,000 acres of arable land located in our great northwest, and thus more than wipe out even the gross debt of our dominion. It is, in my judgment, unpatriotic to give currency to quotations such as the above. We in Canada have a noble heritage, a free country and a great future, and it is time that such humbug as the above heading, "A thousand dollars an hour." was frowned down by every patriotic citizen of CANADA.

MID SCENES SUBLIME.

Graphic Pen Picture of the Rockies and the Mountains Beyond.

A prominent American who recently crossed the continent on the Canadian Pacific, gives a vivid description of the grandeur and sublimity of the Rockies and Selkirks. "The experience," he writes, exceeded our anticipations; in fact, notwithstanding our expectations had been raised very high, in no respect were we disap-pointed. I do not think there can elsewhere be found scenery so sublime, varied and beautiful as that which greets the traveller on the west bound train, from the entrance to Gap, near Canmore, until darkness falls upon him at Kamloops. It ought not to be hastily included in a continuous ride; but stops should be made, say at Banff, Laggan, Field and Glacier, so as, at these points, to view the falls at the Bow river with their magnificent surroundings; the matchless coloring of Lake Louise and her consorts; the grandeur of Mount Stephen and the Pass at the western portal of

"At this last named station, after two and a half hours of hard toil, I ascend Cascade Summit, and from that elevated point obtain a vision I can never forget. Before us, to the west, was a semi-circular chain of snow clad mountains, extending probably 150 miles; and as the time was mid-summer, I assume that on those resplendent crests the snow eternally rests. We had climbed to a height which enabled us to see the top of the glacier as it lay glittering against the sky on either hand spread out until it became merged in the adjoining peaks. Over the head of the glacier (whose feet touched the ground a short distance from the station), and directly behind it, rose a solitary peak hose snow-clad head glistened with a whiteness exceeding that of the passing clouds, while a little to the east, the kingly form of Sir Donald towered majestically, one mile and a half above the rushing stream which flows at its base. As I looked upon that grand, yet awful monarch, with his brow above the fleecy clouds, and noted the majesty and grace with which he surved the vast expanse of eternal snow and ice beneath him, insensibly it brought to mind (and I could com-thread amid the profusion of green. "I can think of no more generous thing which philanthropists or educa tors could do, than to enable some of the tired ones who dwell in busy cities and on lonley plains, or pastors who are exhausted and lack sermon material, teachers who are brain-weary, and students who are poor but ambitious, to view the splendid sights which abound on the mountain divisions of the C. P. R. Such opportunity would be a liberal education, enlarging the mind, expanding the sympathies, and giving to the most indifferent a vision of hope and beauty which would gladden them through life. On other lines you get glimpses of entrancing beauty, but on the Canadian Pacific you can look upon such from daylight to twilight, and thus compensated, by their richness and abundance, for the distance you have travelled to observe them.

"One great advantage the Canadian Pacific tourist possesses. In other sections he may have longed to look upon mountain from base to summit, bui seldom has he done it. He must frequently be content with observing distant peaks. Foot hills and secondary mountains usually intervene. But is is different in the Northwest. For example, Mt. Stephen rises, sheer and precipitous, from alongside the railroad track at Field, so that all its lofty proportions are exposed to view from the observation car. In like manner, Sir Donald, Mt. Macdonald the Hermit, and a dozen others of sublime eminence might be named that can almost be touched as you glide by on the train. They are before you and alongside, close at hand, giants whose massive proportions are so fully exposed, that you feel you have seen enmountains and not been compelled to rest content with unsatisfying views of distant hill tops."-The Gazette, Montreal, Oct. 16, 1895.

IN PORTLAND HARBOR.

Says Tuesday's Portland Press: "A large fleet, composed chiefly of lumber British coasters, bound, was at anchor in the harbor yesterday, taking shelter from the head winds and rough water outside. Some of the vessels that sailed Saturday went as far as Boon Island, but were driven back to this port by the southwest wind, and are unable to proceed until it changes. Of the fleet arrived yesterday there were 12 Nova Scotia and New Brunswick vessels loaded with lumber, rock plaster and other commodities. In the stiff gale off Boone Island one of the schooners lost an anchor. Most of the fleet sustained injury to their rigging, and as yesterday was very mild the crews employed themselves mending it while it was pliable.

A thoughtful observer remarks that there are two classes of people whom it is hard to convince against their will-women and men.

"This will be your berth, sir, No. 31," said the berth-steward, ushering me into a cosy little cabin. "Your friend can have 33, the lower berths will not be occupied."

"friend," whom I had met for the first time at Liverpool street station that evening. He seemed a gentlemanly fellow, and had an endless stock of good stories at his command, so that I was y to hear that we were to be a lons for the rest of the journey; and flung my luggage down on one of the lower berths with alac-

of times." I took the portly cigar that he offered me, and for a time we wandered up and down the decks, watching the crowd of passengers, Dutch, English, Hebrew and German, who had just come on board. It was not until the lights of Harwich were mere pins heads in the distance that we decided to turn in. utes, and, hurling our clothes on the empty berths below us, scrambled up aloft. My cahin companion switched off the electric light.

'We shall be half-way up the Maas when we wake tomorrow," he remark-ed, wishing me good-night.

"Good-night," I answered, turning over on my side. I recollect thinking for a few minutes of the jolly holiday before me: of Mynheer Van der Denn wealthy diamond merchant, and his pretty daughter, whom I hoped soon to make my wife; of skating and sleighing galore in her company at Amsterdam; of the chance of my host being as ready to give his only child to a comparatively poor young Engishman as he was to invite me to his house: of a dozen other things connected with my visit; and with past days, when the branch in Hatton Garden was being started, and the Van der Denns lived in London. And en, suddenly, the rolling of the vessel, the throbbing of the engines, and ses of the strong cigar I had smoked on deck must have overpowered me, for the next moment I seemed to hear the gruff voice of the berth-steward: "Now, sir, it's time to get up, please. I called you some time ago and thought you were dressed. We're just outside Rotterdam. I rubbed my eyes drowsily, and darted up, knocking my head suldenly against the white ceiling of the cabin; and the berth-steward, having at length succeeded in rousing me, hurried out to attend to his numerous duties. How on earth had I managed to oversleep myself so shockingly? A glance at the tumbled bed-clothes opposite showed me that my acquaintance of the night before was already up. I could feel that the engines were eginning to slow down; while, through the port-hole, trees and houses on the bank of the river were to be seen. On the deck above I could hear the shuffling of many feet, the excited jabbering of Dutch and English Jews, the guttural tones of Germans, the shouts of the sailors to those on the quay, the plumping down of bags and boxes ready for landing. I was still drowsy, but I managed to resist the temptation to lie down again, and began to fish about for my clothes on the berth below me. I was annoved with myself for losing the early morning trip up the river, and the sight of the snow-covered wind- looked even more suspicious, though mills, the quaint wooden houses, the low marsh-lands, and the curious little craft that generally dot the Maas; I was equally annoyed with my room-mate for his kindly consideration in not rousing me from my slumbers; and I struggled into my garments rather viciously. And then, suddenly, it began to dawn upon me that some thing was wrong.

What on earth was I to do? The clothes that I fished up from below were not the ones that I threw on the berth over-night. They had been changed for others! By mistake or by design—yes, it must have been by design, for no such mistake could pos-sibly have been made; the man in the other berth had substituted his clothes for mine.

I flew to the electric bell, and rang I flew to the electric ben, sale vigorously for the steward. But by this time he was busy on deck, hand-clothes and the jewelry, and the diamond, and, what's quite as important mond, and, what's quite as important with the most ing departing passengers their lug-gage, and pocketing tips in return; and no one heard or heeded my sum-mons. It was impossible for me, halfclad as I was, to rush up above hours back, and I was going t the amongst the crowd; and as hastily as station to see what had become of possible I slipped into the other man's you, when I suddenly caught a back clothes : had come off much the view of your very counterpart—trav-worst over the bargain, for there was elling cap, and that brown ulster of not a sou in the pockets of the sub-stituted garments, while my watch and chain, money and jewellery were all missing.

Here a short intervie wwith a fleryfaced and flerce-moustached official told me the nature of my supposed offence, but did not in any way improve my prospects of release. The object of my cabin companion was now quite clear to me, though all my exclama tions with regard to the change of clothes were smiled at by the offi-cials, who evidently thought them very clumsy excuses. I was acused of being concerned in a large diamond robbery, and was supposed to have been travelling to Amsterdam in order to make use of my knowledge of precious stones in disposing of the spoils among the "fences" in the Jewish quarter of

The actual thief was confidential clerk to a large Irm of diamond merchants in London; his escape with the booty had been noticed a few hours after his departure from town, and full particulars of his clothing and general appearance had been cabled to Rotterdam, with instructions to detain him on the arrival of the boat. But "my friend" had foreseen some difficulty of this kind, and had lain his plans accordingly.

Selecting me as a man of about his own height and appearance, he had managed easily enough to change the clothes in the cabin, the drugged cigar aiding him in his scheme. Clad in my brown ulster and travelling cap, he had passed off the deck with the other passengers without atracing any special attention, and was probably in the act of negotiating with Amsterdam traders at the mor examination by the official at the sta-

The fact that I had no diamonds in my possession at the time of my arrest meant nothing; they might have been concealed anywhere in the ves sel, or even have been thrown overboard. The steward, to whom I appealed in support of my story, could only assert that he had found me asleep, or feigning sleep, while the other passengers were all preparing to land—and, of course, this told against me. There was only one man in Holland who could help me out of my scrape, and at the name of Van der Denn, diamond merchant, of Amsterdam and Hatton Garden, the officials they promised that he should be communicated with "in due course." I was compelled to content myself with

DEATH OF MOSES LAWRENCE.

The death took place on October

30th of Moses Lawrence, a man who was well known throughout the province. Mr. Lawrence, who was 92 years of age, was born at Sackville where his father had a fine farm, his grand father having removed from the United States to that part of New Brunswick long before the revolution.

The deceased came to St. John in 1840, and was proprietor of a hotel at Bar-

CLOSING ARGUMENT

In the Notorious Durant Murder Trial.

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—The closing argument in the Durant case took place today. The court room was the court that he would never enter the room again if he had to fight his way through such a crowd.

The afternoon session of the court was several times interrupted by the oaths of officers and the cries of women. At last the court ordered the sheriff to arrest every person who should refuse to go out of the buildyears.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Capt. and Mrs. William Clark of Carleton celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday. The groom of fifty years is 72 years old and the bride is in her 72nd year. Both are in excellent health. Clark came to this country from England when about 21 years of age, and has resided here ever since. He fol-lowed the sea during his active life, but retired some years ago. Mrs. Clark was born in Carleton and is the daughter of the late Israel Patchell. The old couple were the parents of twelve children, seven of whom are dead. Four sons, one daughter, thirteen grandchildren and two greatgrandchildren are living. The sons are William, Samuel, Howard and Albert. William resides in Boston; the other three sons are residents of St. John. Samuel married a Miss Prown, Howard a Miss Mailman and Albert a Miss Sprague ,all Carleton ladies. The daughter is Mrs. William Irons, who resides in Providence, R. I. All the family with the excep-tion of the eldest son William and his four children were home to join with their parents in the celebration of the joyful event. The late Rev. Fred Coster, formerly rector of St. George's church, tied the nuptial knot so many years ago. In the evening the family and friends of the aged couple assembled at the latters' house, and Rev. Thos. Marshall read and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Clark a purse of gold, tiful gifts from friends have been received Mrs Clark has been a meniber of the Methodist church for 54

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.-The Novre Vremya publishes a despatch from Vladivostock saying that the British squadron of warships in the waters of the far east has been concentrated at Fou Chan and adds: "Great Britain is zealously seeking a pretext for declaring war upon China, in order to counteract the success of Russia and restore her shattered prestige in the Pacific."

HAS RESIGNED

Bob White's Address to the Electors of Cardwell.

Toronto, Oct. 29.-A. Robert S. White has issued an address to the electors of Cardwell by which he dispells all doubt as to the genuiness of his resignation. "In as much," says White, "as the impression exists that delay in filling the office of collector of Montreal was due to a reluctance on the government to submit their policy to the judgment of the collectors of Cardwell by selecting myself for the va-cancy, I decided without solicitation on the part of the cabinet, and with-out intimation of my purpose to any of its members, to dispel that impression so far as I could by resigning the representation of the county of my own accord. As a consequence, the opportunity will shortly be accorder you of pronouncing upon the public issues of the day, while the government will be relieved of any embarrassment my presence in parliament may have caused in naming a collector for the port of Montreal, as desired by the merchants of that city.

HORSELESS VEHICLES.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The contest of horseless vehicles began this afternoon on Washington Park race course, where for three days carriages propelled by electricity, steam, oil, gas air, will undergo tests preparatory to the final race of Saturday. Over 100 vehicles have entered for the final race.

NEW FIELD OF WORK.

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S FIRST SERMON AS A WASHINGTON PASTOR.

ached Before a vast Multitude-A Eloquent and Picturesque Discourse on "All Heaven Looking On"-Paul Standing in the Amphitheatre.

Washington, Oct. 27.-Those who krow that no church in this or foreign countries has been able to hold ardiences that have assembled when it was announced that Dr. Talmage would preach will not be surprised that vost multitudes attempted in vain to hear his first sermon as paste in Washington. The subject of his opening sermon at the national capital was "All Heaven Looking On." the text selected being the famous passage from Hebrews xii, 1, "Seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses."

In this my opening sermon in the national capital I give you heartlest Christian salutation. I bethink myself of the privilege of standing in this historic church so long presided over by one of the most remarkable men of the century. There are plenty of good ministers besides Dr. Sunderland, but I do not know of any man except himself with enough brain to have stood successfully and trium-phantly 43 years in this conspicuous Long distant be the year that gospel chieftain shall put down the silver trumpet with which he has marshaled the hosts of Israel or sheathe the sword with which has struck such mighty blows for God and righteousness. I come to you with the same gospel that he has preached and to join you in all kinds of work for making the world better, and hope to see you all in your homes and have you all come and see me, but don't all come at once, and without any preliminary discourses as to what opose to do I begin here and now to cheer you with the thought that all Heaven is sympathetically looking on. "Seeing we are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses."

Crossing the Alps by the Mont Cenis pass, or through the Mont Cenis tunnel, you are in a few hours set down at Verona, Italy, and in a few minute begin examining one of the grandest ruins of the world—the amphitheatre. The whole building sweeps around you circle. You stand in the arena where the combat was once fought or the race run, and on all sides the seats rise, tier above tier, until you count 40 elevations, or galleries, as I shall see fit to call them, in which sat the senators, the kings and the 25,000 excited spectators. At the sides of the arena and under the galleries are the cages in which the lions and tigers are kept without food, until, frenzied with hunger and thirst, they are let out upon some poor victim, who, with his sword and alone, is condemned to meet them. I think that Paul himse once stood in such a place, and that it was not only figuratively, but literally, that he had "fought with beasts

The gala day has come. From all The gaia day has come. From all the world the people are pouring into Verona, Men, women and children, orators and senators, great men and small, thousands upon thousands come until the first gallery is full, and the second, the third, the fourth, the fifth -all the way up to the twentieth, all the way up to the fortieth. Every place is filled. Immensity of audience sweeping the great circle. Silence! The time for the contest has come. A Roman official leads forth the victim into the arena. Let him get his sword with firm grip in his right hand. The 25,000 sit breathlessly watching. I hear the door at the side of the arena creak lion, his tongue athirst for blood, and, with a roar that brings all the galleries to their feet he rushes against the sword of the combatant. Do you know how strong a stroke a man will strike when his life depends upon the first thrust of his blade? The wild beast, lame and bleeding, slinks back toward the side of the arena; then, rallying his wasting strength, he come up with fiercer eye and more terrible rear than ever, only to be driven back with a fatal wound, while the combatant comes in with stroke after stroke until the monster is dead at his feet, and the 25,000 people clap their hands and utter a shout that makes the city tremble.

Sometimes the audience came to see a race, sometimes to see gladiators fight each other, until the people, com-passionate for the fallen, turned their thumbs up as an appeal that the vanquished be spared, and sometimes the combat was with wild beasts.

The fact is that every Christian man has a lion to fight. Yours is a bad temper. The gates of the arena have been opened and this tiger has come out to destroy your soul. It has lacerated you with many a wound. You have been thrown by it time and again. but in the strength of God you have arisen to drive it back. I verily be-lieve you will conquer. I think that the temptation is getting weaker and You have given it so many weaker. wounds that the prospect is that it will die, and you shall be victor through Christ. Courage, brother! Do not let the sands of the arena drink the blood of your soul.

Your lion is the passion for strong drink. You may have contended against it 20 years, but it is strong of body and thirsty of tongue. You have tried to fight it back with broken bottle or empty wine flask. Nay, that is not the weapon. With one horrible roar he will seize thee by the throat and rend thee limb from limb. Take this weapon, sharp and keen, reach up it from God's armory-th sword of the spirit. With that thou mayest drive him back and conquer.

But why specify when every man and woman has a lion to fight? If there be one here who has no beset-ting sin, let him speak out, for him I offended. If you have not fought the lion, it is because you have let the lion eat you up. This very moment the contest goes on. The Trajan cele-bration, where 10,000 gladiators fought and 11,000 wild beasts were slain, was not so terrific a struggle as that which at this moment goes on in many a soul. That combat was for the life of the body; this is for the life of the soul. That was with wild beasts from the jungle; this is with the roaring lion

Men think when they contend against ar evil habit that they have to fight it all alone. No. They stand in the centre of an immense circle of sympathy. Paul had been reciting the names of Abel, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Sarah, Isaac, Joseph, Gideon and sed about with so great a cloud of wit

Before I get through, I will show you that you fight in an arena around which circle, in galleries above each other, all the kindling eyes and all the sympathetic hearts of the ages, and at every victory gained there comes down the thundering applause of a great multitude that no man can number. "Being compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses."

On the first elevation of the ancient amphitheatre, on the day of a celebration sat Tiberius, or Augustus, or the reigning king. So, in the great arena of spectators that watch your struggles, and in the first divine gallery, as I shall call it, sits our king, Jesus. On his head are many crowns! The Roman Emperor got his place by cold blooded conquests, but king hath come to his place by the broken hearts healed, and the tears d away, and the souls redeemed. The Roman Emperor sat, with folded arms, indifferent as to whether the swordsman or the lion beat, but our king's sympathies are all with us. Nay, unheard of condescensions! I see him come down from the gallery into the arena to help us in the fight, shouting, until all up and down his voice is heard: "Fear not! I will help thee! I will strengthen thee by the right hand of my power!" They gave to the men in the arena in the olden time, food to thicken their so that it would flow slowly and that for a longer time the people might gloat over the scene. But our king has no pleasure in our wounds, we are bone of his bone, flesh of his flesh, blood of his blood

In all the anguish of our heart, The Man of Sorrows bore a part.

Once, in the ancient amphitheatre, a lion with one paw caught the com-batant's sword and with his other paw caught his shield. The man took his knife from his girdle and slew the beast. The king, sitting in the gallery. said: "That was not fair, the lion must be slain by a sword." Other were turned out, and the poor victim fell. You cry, "Shame, shame!" at such meanness. But the king, in this case, is our brother, and he will see that we have fair play. He will forbid the rushing out of more lions than we can meet. He will not suffer able. Thank God! The king is in the gallery! His eyes are on us. His heart is with us. His hand will deliver us. "Blessed are all they who put their trust in him!" I look again, and I see the angelic gallery. There they are—the angel that swung the sword at the gate of Eden, same that Ezekiel saw upholding the throne of God and from which I look away, for the splendor is insuf ferable. Here are the guardian angels. That one watched a patriarch; this one protected a child: that one has been pulling a soul out of temptation. All these are messengers of light. Those drove the Spanish armada, on the rocks. This turned Sennacherib's living hosts into a heap of 185,000 corpses. Those yonder chanted the Christmas carol over Bethlehem until the chant awoke the shepherds. These at creation stood in the balcony of Heaven and serenaded the newborn wrapped in swaddling clothes of light. And there, holier and mightier than all, is Michael, the archangel. To command an earthly host gives dignity, but this one is leader of the 20,000 chariots of God and of the 10,000 times

10,000 angels. I think God gives cammand to the archangel, and the archangel to the seraphim, and the seraphim to the cherubim until all the lower orders of heaven hear the command and go forth on the high behest. Now, bring on your lions. Who can fear? All the spectators in the angelic gallery are our friends. "He shall give his angels charge over thee to keep thee in all thy ways. They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder; the young lion and the dragon shall thou trample underfoot." Though the arena be crowded with help, strike them down in the name of God and leap on their fallen carcass Oh, bending throng of bright angelic faces and swift wings and lightning foot, I hail you to-day from the dust and struggle of the arena! I look again and I see the gallery of the prophets and apostles. Whe are those mighty ones up yonder? Hosea and Jeremiah and Daniel and Isaiah and Paul and Peter and John and James. There sits Noah, waiting for all the world to come into the ark, and Moses, waiting till the last Red Sea shall divide; and Jeremiah, waiting for the Jews to return, and John of the Apocalypse, waiting for the swearing of the angel that time shall be no longer. Glorious spirits! Ye were howled at; ye were stoned; ye were spit upon. They have been in the fight themselves, and they are all with us. Daniel knows all about ions. Paul fought with beasts at Ephesus

In the ancient amphitheatre, the people got so excited that they would shout from the galleries to the men in the arena: "At it again!" "For-"One more stroke!" ward!" out!" "Fall back!" "Huzza, huzza!" So in that gallery, prophetic and apostolic. they canont keep their peace. Danier cries out, "Thy God will deliver thee from the mouth of the lions!" David exclaims, "He will not suffer thy foot to be moved!" Isaiah calls out: "Fear not! I am with thee! Be not afraid not! I am with thee! Be not dismay-ed!" Paul exclaims, "Victory through ed!" Paul exclaims, our Lord Jesus Christ!" That throng of prophets and apostles cannot keep still. They make the welkin ring with shouting and hallelujahs.

I look again, and I see the gallery of the martyrs. Who is that? Hugh Latimer, sure enough! He would not apologize for the truth preached, and so he died, the night before swinging from the bedpost in perfect glee at the thought of emancipation. Who are that army of 6,666? Rome and her children. While ther were dying for the faith she stood encouraging them. One son was whiped to death by thorns; another was flung from a rock; another was be-headed. At last the mother became martyr. There they are, togethera family group in heaven! Yonder is John Bradford, who said, in the fire, "We shall have a merry supper with the Lord to-night!" Yonder is Henry Voes, who exclaimed as he died. "If I had ten heads, they should fall off for Christ!" The great throng of mar-tyrs! They had hot lead poured down throats; horses were fastened to their hands and other horses to their feet, and thus they were pulled apart; they had their tongues pulled out by redhot pinchers; they were sewed up in the skins of animals, and then thrown to the dogs; they were daubed with combustibles and set on fire! If all the martyrs' stakes that have been kindled could be set at proper distances they would make the midnight all the world over. bright as noonday! Now they watch us with an all observing They know all the pain, sympathy. all the hardship, all the anguin, all the injustice, all the privation: They cannot keep still. They cry: "Courage! The fire will not consume. The floods cannot drown. The lions cannot devour! Courage, down there in the arena!" What, are they all looking? This night we answer back the salutation they give, and cry, "Hail, sons and daughters of the fire!"

I look again, and I see another gal-lery, that of eminent Christians. What strikes me strangely is the mixing in companionship of those who on earth could not agree. There I see Martin Luther, and beside him a Roman Catholic who looked beyond the supersti-tions of his church and is saved! There is Albert Barnes, and around him the presbytery who tried him for heterodoxy! Yonder is Lyman Beecher and the church court that denounced him! Stranger than all, there are John Calvin and James Arminius! Who would have thought that they would sit so lovingly together? There are George Whitfield and the bishops who would not let him come into their pulpits because they thought him a fanatic. There are the sweet singers Toplady, Montgomery, Charles Wesley, Isaac Watts and Mrs. Sigourney. If heaven had had no music before they went up, they would have started the sing-And there the band of mission aries-David Abeel, talking of China redeemed, and John Scudder of India saved, and David Brainerd of the aborigines avangelized, and Mrs. Adoniriam Judson, whose prayers for ma took heaven by violence. All these Christians are looking into the arena Our struggle is nothing to theirs. Do we, in Christ's cause, suffer from the cold? They walked Greenland's icy mountains. Do we suffer from the heat? They sweltered in the tropics. Do we get fatigued? They fainted, with none to care for them but cannibals. Are we persecuted? were anathematized. And as they look from their gallery and see us falter in the presence of the lion, I seem to hear Isaac Watts addressing us his old hymn, only a little changed:

Must you be carried to the skies On flowery beds of ease, While others fought to win the prize, Or sailed through bloody seas?

Toplady shouts in his old hymn: Your harps, ye trembling saints, Down from the willows take. Loud to the praise of love divine, Bid every string awake. While Charles Wesley, the Methodist, breaks forth in his favorite words, a little varied:

A charge to keep you have. A God to glorify;
A never dying soul to save
And fit it for the sky!

I look again, and I see the gallery of our departed. Many of those in the other galleries we have heard of, but these we knew. Oh, how familiar their faces! Theay sat at our tables, and we walked to the house of God in company. Have they forgotten us? fathers and mothers started us on the road of life? Are they careless as to what becomes of us? And those children, do they look on with stolid indifference as to whether we win or lose this battle for eternity? Nay. I see that child running his hand over your brow and saying, "Father, do not fret; mother, do not worry." They remember the day they left us. They remen ber the agony of the last farewell. Though years in heaven, they know our faces. They remember our sor rows. They speak our manes. watch this fight for heaven. Nay, I see them rise up and lean over and wave before us their recognition and encouragement. That gallery is hot full. They are keeping places for us. we have slain the lion they expect the king to call us, saying, "Come up higher." Between the hot struggles in the arena I wipe the sweat from my brow and stand on tiptoe, reaching up my right hand to clasp theirs in rapturous handshaking, while their voices come ringing down from the gallery, crying, "Be thou faithful unto death, and you shall have a crown." But here I pause, overwhelmed with the majesty and joy of the scene. Gallery of martyrs! Gallery of saints! Gallery of prophets and apostles! Gallery of martryrs! Galery of saints Gallery of friends and kindred! Oh, majestic circles of light and love! Throngs! Throngs! Throngs! How shall we stand the gaze of the universe? Myriads of eyes beaming on us! My riads of hearts beating in sympathy for us! How shall we ever dare to sin again? How shall we ever become discouraged again? How shall we ever feel lonely again? With God for us, and angels for us, and prophets and apostles for us, and the great souls of the ages for us, and our glo rified kindred for us. shall we give up the fight and die? No, Son God, who didst die to save us! No ye angels, whose wings are spread forth to shelter us! No, ye prophets and apostles, whose warnings startle us! No. ye loved ones, whose arms are outstretched to receive us! No, we will never surrender!

It is a One-Man Power But Has an Immense Force of Writers. In the administration of the paper the editor, Mr. Buckle, is the sole judge of what shall and what shall not be printed. He is not only a brilliant scholar with a phenomenal mem ory, but also ranks amongst the first political minds of England, Journalism is his religion. In the office he is a priest at the altar. Contrary to the general idea, there is no formal counor committee in The Times. It is a one-man power. The editor writes nothing himself, but he controls all that is writen. When in doubt he consults his assistants, chief among whom is Sir Donald MacKenzie Wallace, the foreign editor, whose opinion on international affairs is said to be more in demand than that of any other British diplomat, with the exception of Lord Dufferin, whose sec retary he was in India. Sir Donald was spoken of at one time as the probable ambassador to Russia. Next in rank is the financial editor, who is simply the adviser of the paper on financial matters, for another editor directs the financial reports. There are six permanent editorial writers, and five others "on call." In addition to the editor sometimes ploys famous experts to write their specialties. One editorial writer never begins his work until midnight. Then come intermediate grades-the colonial editor, the ecclesiastical news writer, the agricultural writer, the art critic, the council of five military experts, the naval writer, the geographical writer, the dramatic critic, and so on. The legal department has 18 trained law reporters for the principal civil courts, eight for the assizes, and 17 for the Police Courts. London is mapped out into 19 districts, and there is in each district a reporter responsible for all news not covered by departments. Then there is a labor reporter, cricket reporter, a golf and football reporter, a yachting reporter and two racing reporters. There is a special writer for fires, one for railways, one for astronomical news. So the staff ramifies out into almost every department of life in an orderly and well-balanced system. The chief of the staff of parliamentary reporters, Mr. Broadrib, has 18 stenographers under him, two whom are "summary writers," There is also a Times representative in each of the 670 electoral districts of ### Great Britain.-McClure's Magazine. Holy Wells.

Studying the history of what are called holy wells in Europe, we must go back to a remote period. The be-lief in the character of a certain waing capable of curative powers, even when there is no special solution of the alkaline earths, or of gases in it. arises from the superstitions indulged in by primitive man. There are certain waters still worshipped in India, in Japan and in Mexico. The Messrs. Couch, in describing the antecedents of holy wells in Cornwall, have traced back the beginnings as far as possible with a study of the folk-lore. When Britain became Christian, Pope Gregory found the peo ple believers in the miraculous power of certain gushing wells. As it was impossible to uproot the belief, it was easier to assort wells to particular saints than to put them under the protection of heathen gods. Though wells were Christianized, much of the old paganism remained. Even before the coming of the Normans the clergy found that devotional worship about the wells was tinctured with magical methads, and in A. D. 124 a local council forbade "superstitious ad fontium adorationes." In England the reformation stopped well worship. The remnant of a superstition of the past found there to-day in wishing wells. Chemical analysis of water has quite killed all the former humbuggery. Fairies now may dwell in what wer once holy wells, and there is one in Cornwall, to which tens of thousands came in the long past, where to-day little children drop bent pins into its waters as an offering, and wish that they may find a sixpence.-New York

fext of Lesson-I Samuel xv, 10-23 Colden Text-To Obey is Better Than sacrifice-I Samuel xv, 22-Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

10. 11. "It repenteth Me that I have set up Saul to be king, for he is turn-ed back from following Me and hath not performed My commandments. When the kingdom was given to Saul both he and the people were reminded by Samuel that if they would only obey the Lord and serve Him in truth all might be well (chapter xii, 14, 24). Saul had only reigned two years when he proved disobedient and was tole that the kingdom would be given to another, even a man after God's own heart (chapter xiii, 1, 13, 14). In the chapter for to-day another act of disobedience is recorded, which brings matters to a crisis. As to the Lord's repentings, so often referred to, we must remember that He never changes His mind, nor is sorry for anything He does (verse 29, Num. xxiii, 19), He comes to a point where to us to make a new departure which from eternity He knew He would just at that point, He is said to would just at that point, He is said to repent. See Acts xv, 18.

12. "He set him up a place." Or, as in II Sam. xviii, 18, a pillar after his own name. It was not, as in chapter xiv, 35, an altar unto the Lard, but something to magnify himself. Jesus rever magnified Himself, but always like Wether (John xviii 4). His Father (John xvii, 4). Paul de-termined that Christ should be magnifled in his body either by life or death (Phil. i, 20).

13. "Blessed be Thou the Lord; have performed the commandment of the Lord." When we compare verses 3 and 9 of this chapter, we wonder how Saul could say that he had performed commandment. Either he misunder stood the command, or prevented it, or deliberately lied. There is a genera-tion that are pure in their own eyes, but whose covereth his sins shall not prosper (Prov. xxx, 12; xxviii, 13). Unless we have a heart right with God, and seek only His pleasure the devil will make us believe that black is white (II Thess. ii, 10, 11).

What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears and the low ing of the oxen which I hear?" It is an old word, but true as God Himself and oxen tell no tales, but these were telling that Saul had not obeyed God.

15. "The people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God." Under the plea of "for a good object" Saul seeks to justify the things done. That his heart is wrong, and he knows it, is seen in his saying that the people did it, and it is also seen in his saying "the Lord thy God," instead of "the Lord our God." God wants nothing from the enemy either for sacrifice or service.

16 "Then Samuel said to Saul, Stay and I will tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, "Say on." We look back to the morning when Samuel said to Saul, "Stand thou still awhile that I may shew thee the word of God" (chapix, 27), but what a contrast! Then it was a message of grace, but now one of judgment. Observe that as in was a message of grace, but now on of judgment. Observe that as in Samuel's childhood, so now in his advanced years God still talks with him in the night season.

17. "When thou wast little in thine the control of the con

17. "When thou wast little in thine own sight, the Lord anointed thee king over Israel." See chapter ix, 21, and compare Judg. vi, 15. It is good to be and continue little in our own estimation. It is better to say with Paul, "I know that in me—that is, in my flesh—dwelleth no good thing" (Rom. vii, 18). We read that king Uzziah was marvelously helped till he was strong, but when he was strong his heart was lifted up to his destruction (II Chron. xxvi, 15, 16). My highest place is lying low at My Redeemer's feet.

18. "The Lord sent thee on a journey.

18. "The Lord sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and utterly destroy the sinners the Amakelites." The reason of this command is seen in Ex. xvii, §—16, and the Lord's determination is in verse 14. But He is long suffering, not willing that any should perish, and so He suffered them to continue and so He suffered them to continue over 400 years—surely an abundant time for repentance, but they continued sinners before God.

19. "Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the Lord?" Being redeemed to God by the precious blood of Christ, the great word for all the rest of our life is "willing and obedient" (Isa. i, 18, 19). See Ex. xix, 5, 6. It is not ours to question or reason or to put our construction upon His to put our construction upon His commands, but simply and cheerfully to obey. Consider the obedience of the Levites in Ex, xxxii, 26-28, and see the condemnation in Mal. ii, 4-6.

20. "Yea, I have obeyed the voice of 20. "Yea, I have obeyet the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag, the king of Amalek." Here he confesses to have saved the king, who was certainly included in the destruction, and yet insists that he had obeyed the Lord. It is the old story so common to day of perverting the word of the Lord. It is the old story so common to-day of perverting the word of the Lord (Jer. xxiit, 36) and of thinking that He does not mean just what He says, but His language is generall, figurative or has some other meaning. 21. But the people took of the spoi to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God. He still puts some blood upon the papple, but now acknowledges that the sheep and oxen should have been atterly destroyed. An opinion of our cwn as to how the Lord wants things cwn as to how the Lord wants things done is very dangerous. His commands are very plainly stated (Deut. xxvii, 8; Hab. ii, 2), and our part is prempt, implicit and unquestioning obedience. His thoughts and ways are as far above and better than ours as heaven and earth. Why, then, question them?

22. "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice and to hearken than the far

22. "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice and to hearken than the fat of rams." Mercy and the knowledge of God are more desirable than sacrifice or burnt offering (Hos. vi, 6). See the Saviour's endorsement of this in Math. ix, 13; xii, 7. All sacrifice and burnt offering pointed to Him, and He was the perfection of obedience and submission to His Father, wholly yielded to Him that He might do all the to Him that He might do all rhe works and speak all the words. The command to obey the voice of God preceded any reference whatever to burnt offering and sacrifice (Jer. vii,

"Because thou hast rejected the 23. "Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord He hath also rejected the from being king," See also verse 26. Truth is the characteristic of Father, Son and Holy Spirit, but whoever rejects the word of God makes Him a liar (I John v. 10), and thus, cuts himself off from all fellowship with God Saul now confesses his sin and himself off from all fellowship with God. Saul now confesses his sin and acknowledges that he sought to please the people rather than God (verse 24). That he was not, however, a truly humbled man is seen in that he de-sired Samuel to honor him before the people (verse 30). See Gal. 1, 10; I Thess. ii, 4.

BEHRING SEA CLAIMS.

The Canadian Delegates Have a Conference With Secretary Olney.

Washington, Oct. 30.-Secretary Olnev had a conference with Sir Julian Pauncefote and his Canadian advisors, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Chas H Tupper, respecting the arrangements of adjusting and settling the British Behring sea claims. No statement of the discussion can be elicited at the state department, but there is little doubt that it related not directly to a settlement of the claims just now, but rather to the formation of a commission to examine carefully all of the claims and means of settlement. Inasmuch as it is the usual practice in such cases to arrange for the creation of these commissions by formal convention or treaty, and this would necessitate the submission of the plan to the senate at its next session, it is probable that Secretary Olney has endeavored to show Sir Julian that there is no occasion for hasty action, as a delay till congress meets is inevitable in any case.

Washington, Oct. 31.-The Camadian cabinet officers Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Charles H. Tupper, have gone home to Canada. It is stated that having given all assistance necessary at present to Sir Julian Pauncefote in the presentation of the claims of Britsh sealers for indemnity on account of seizures of their vessels, a longer stay here would be useless. They had one informal and one formal conference with Secretary Olney, and were received by the president.

Whether any advance has resulted be stated, but as the British side express saltisfaction with the progress being made in the negotiations, it is assumed that Secretary Olney has inclined a favorable ear . to the sugrestion that a commission be created to settle the claim.

Brutal Murder of Mrs Mary McDade of Providence.

Providence, R.I., Oct. 31.-Mrs.Mary McDade of the town of Johnston, was shot and killed tonight at her home by her son Thomas McLaughlin. She was lying back sick in bed at the time and was terribly kicked and beaten before a bullet through her temple put an end to her sufferings. . She was married two weeks ago to James McDole, a blacksmith, and was 56 years old.

The son's disapproval of her second marriage is believed to have led to the crime. McLauchlin was captured at 10.30 o'clock in the swamp, a few hundred feet from the scene of kill himself by shooting, but was unsuccessful. He was in a very critical condition and will die.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The gratifying news was received from the war of-fice today that the imperial government has cancelled the contract entered into with the dominion several months ago for the supply of 10,000 Martini-Metford rifles for the use of the Canadian militia. This order was placed on the recommendation of General Herbert, but when the first consignment of rifles reached here they were found to be not the class of weap-on expected, being too heavy. The allegation was made by many exper-ienced marksmen that the barrels were simply Martini-Henry barrels plugged to Metford bore. Now that the hands of the government are free purchase more of the magazine rifles, it is expected that the Lee-Metford will be placed in the hands of all permanent and city corps.

The government has been notified that Chili has given notice of the abrogation of the treaty of friendship, ommerce and navigation signed be-Great Britain and Chili 4th October, 1854. The first case argued in the supreme court today was Merritt v. Hepen-stall. Appellant in this case was the defendant, who was sued for injury committed in St. John, N. Hon. Mr. Daly had a hearty laugh today over the sensational reports that recently appeared in United States newspapers in regard to sending a mounted police detachment into the Yukon country. So far from anticipating trouble there the police had been welcomed by the residents as a guarantee for the preservation of law and order among the mining population. Among those most persistent in urging the dominion government to send the police to the Yukon district were trading firms controlled by Unit-ed States citizens. So far as the position of Fort Cudahy is concerned, the minister remarked that there was no question about it being in Canadian territory. Six years ago the survey of Wm. To the course of the discussion, in which the advantages of the proposed line were thoroughly put forth, the premier pointed out that the company in order to compete with lines running from New York, Boston or Portland would require to give rates just as low as rom these American ports. St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 3.-While constructing the railway across the island this summer several coal seams were discovered, covering an area of several square miles. Experts pro nounced them first class, and last week a carload was taken out and brough to this city, where several successful tests were made on it last night, proving it superior to the Cape Breton coal. Contractor Ridd, who is building a railroad, has leased all the coal areas from the government, and if the yield realizes his expectations it will be developed into an important industry.

There was a serious runaway acciient on Ferry street last evening, in which Joseph H. Rich, a well known contractor of this city, was thrown from his carriage and badly injured. His horse ran into Main street, and was captured after wrecking the carriage. Mr. Rich was taken to his home where it was found he had a number of bad cuts about the head and severa bruises about the body, which will confine him to the house for several weeks.

There was another incendiary fire in Edgeworth last night, when a small barn owned by Arthur F. Heddleston f Medford street was destroyed. The loss was small. This is the third in-cendiary fire in this neighborhood within a short time.

THE RETAIL GROCERS.

President MacPherson on the Char lotte Street Merchants and the Country Market.

The Retail Grocers' association of St. John met in regular monthly ses ion last evening in the room over Inclair's store on Union street, President MacPherson, of MacPherso Bros., in the chair.

After calling the meeting to order the president said he regretted there was not a larger number present. A number of the Charlotte street gro cervmen seemed afraid to come near the meetings of the association, or t connect themselves with it. They evidently labored under the impression that if they became members of the association they would, by the facitself, be obliged to close their stores early in the evening. The speaker emphasised the fact that the grocery men of Charlotte street were the first to make a move in the direction of early closing, and now they refused to closed along with other retailers. President MacPherson said the report had become current that the object of the association was to regulate prices. This was not so. The as sociation would endeavor to see that its members and their patrons were given fair play. Some farmers, he pointed out, when selling berries glected to fill their boxes, while other farmers, or berry growers, were never in fault with respect to this matter. It would be the work of the associa tion to protect the honest farmer. Then he maintained that the country market had become little more tha a huxter shop. Men who did not produce anything could go out around the country, purchase meat, ter, vegetables, eggs, etc., them to market and sell them as cheaply as they (the retail grocers) could. Some time ago, the speaker said, a gentleman from Ontario came to St. John with a large number of grapes. The market was dull just then and every dealer was supplied. This man asked more for his grapes than any person could afford to pay. He was offered a few cents less than he asked, but refused and threatened to place his grapes in the country market and retail them unless he got his price. Mr. MacPherson said the his threat, and would, no doubt, have done so and practically cut the throat of every dealer in the city had not a number of them joined and bought him out. This was only an illustration of what was being done every S. Tufts said only producers should ket. As it was, however, men living in the city could make periodical trips country, buy up a large into the amount of produce and upon the payment of a paltry market fee, they were allowed to sell it. These men did not have to pay taxes, rent and all the incident to a retail grocery business. The speaker said there was not back bone enough in the officials, referring particularly to the members

Mr. Bonnell thought the chief object of the association would be to learn the names of "bad pay" persons and protect the members from them. There was a little more discuss along these lines, after which the meeting adjourned. Mr. Vanwart, opposite Golden Ball corner, was made a member. The early closing movement does not seem to be gaining ground very rapidly, although the Union street stores closed early last evening.

Constantinople, Nov. 3.—The official nnouncement of the Armenian commission of control is as follows: President, Chefik Effendi of the court of appeals; Djemal Bey, manager of ehe Bank of Agriculture; Carathedori Effendi and Abdullah Bey, councillors of state; Johannis Effendi, procurer of the imperial court of accounts; Djelal Bey of the court of appeals; Dilber ndi, legal councillor to the minister of finance. Official telegrams state that several persons were killed and wounded at Direbirkar on Friday during some riots from an Armenian attack upon the Mosques.

Some Sectioun Armenians attacked Lieut. Hassan Agha, who with his wife and children was travelling through Marash, and killed the whole family and rifled the bodies of the victims. The Armenian missionaries in Bitlis have again complained to United States Minister Terrell that they are in danger. Mr. Terrell and Hon. Mi ael Herbert, the British Charge D'Affaires, have therefore again made a demand upon the Porte to insure the protection of the Americans. The reports which have been published of Purkish attacks at Kharput, Sivas. London, Nov. 4.—The Times says editortally: The Turkish news is of a grave and disquieting character. Like most things, the Turkish appointment of the Armenian commission of control, appears to come too late. The Porte seems to hope the summoning of the reserves will restore order, but at best the process of restoration is likely to be a rough one.

In an editorial in the Standard, the writer considers that the Moratorium will seriously hamper Turkey in raising further loans in Europe. The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard says: "The credit greatly helped the Ottoman bank to surmount the crisis which is now sub siding. Ex-King Milan of Servia lost published." The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says that it is reported there that Tewfik Pasha is to be appointed grand vizier.

London, Nov. 4.—The papers this morning are full of Turkish troubles, and have columns of special corres-pondence from Constantinople. Dr. Morton observing while in Trinidad for his health, the spiritual destitution of the imported heather labor from the East Indies, came to take the place of the freed slaves, and they are still coming with all their heathenism at the rate of 2,500 per annum. The result of Dr. Morton's appeal to the church was that he was returned to the island as their missionary, and from his first effort to teach three little children on his doorstep, has sprung schools containing over 5,000 pupils.  LUMBER AND LIME. There is no change to note with regard to the outside markets. strength of the British market is maintained, and that over the border is steady. Quite a large amount of lumber is yet to come in by rail and from the head of the bay, and quite a number of cargoes are still to go forward on English account. The most pressing problem just now is how to secure the stranded millions on the upper hn. Twenty-four square rigged vessels loaded at Pugwash this year, and shipments from the head of the bay Departure of Rev. John Robbins and Family From Truro for England Some Facts About Bermuda Onions.

ANTIGONISH.

Antigonish, Oct. 27 .- The store of T. J. Bonner was burglarized last night or this morning, and about $350 worth of jewelry stolen. The burglar or burglars entered by a window pane in the front door. Suspicion rests upon two persons who were seen about noon today on the rallway track about seven miles from town, and who immediately fled to the woods when they found they were noticed. Constables have gone in pursuit of them.

BRIDGETOWN.

Bridgetown, N. S., Oct. 29.-A few days ago a negro, an Indian and a white man named Alexander Gay got full at Annapolis and strolled down on one of the many wharves, where Gay was robbed, and somehow got in the river. He was rescued by the crew of a vessel near by, and the next morning his companions were brought before Stipendiary Leavitt on a charge of robbery. At the conclusion of the first day of trial Gay disappeared and Deputy Sheriff Gates spent all next day in a vain search for the mis-sing witness, but at length located him back in the woods beyond the General's bridge. Gay was in a stupid to work next week laying rails. state and did not know where he was or how he got there, and it is supposed he was drugged and carried out there in an unconscious condition.

Bridgetown, N. S., Oct. 30.—By paralysis George Middleton of Lawrence-town has lost the use of the left side of his whole body. Roland G. D. Richardson, 17 years of age, got an "A" scientific high school certificate this year, making 1,-441 points out of a possible 2,000. This was the only "A" certificate won in this county this summer and is the highest grade given. Fred O. Foster of Acadia colleges passed 14 out of 18 subjects prescribed for the "A" classubjects because Seventeen candidates got "B," eighteen got "C," and thirtyone got "D." One hundred and ninety candidates in the county made application, but many of them were seeking an advance in grade and are not all to be reckoned as new teachers.

John Wyhi of Round Hill, for many years an employe in the wooden fare factory and a prominent member of the Baptist church, died Sunday morning of cancer in the stomach. John H. Charlton, proprietor of the Middleton meat market, had a finger amputated yesterday morning. slight cut produced blood poisoning, Curry Bros. & Bent have the contract from the Din. A. railway for building the new stations at Arcadis, Tusket and Belleville. with the above result.

HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 29.—The Grand Division Nova Scotia Sons of Temperance held its first meeting in the annual session tonight. The membership now numbers 13,548. A total of were added during the year, which, allowing for losses, shows an increase during the year of 1,162. There are 260 divisons, an increase of 28. The amount of cash on hand or invested by divisions is $20,759. The Grand Division has on hand a balance of $966. The meeting tonight was one of the largest for years and the usual number of initiations took place. Retiring Grand Worthy Patriarch Gould stated in his annual address that prohibition is and should be the object and aim of temperance workers. Whether this could be accomplished best by separate political organization is for each person to decide for himself or herself. As an order we cannot do that; each member by our laws is left free to determine, and this is one of the wisest laws enacted by the founders of the order, throwing our doors wide open that all may enter

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 30.—The Grand Division Sons of Temperance of Nova Scotia held its second sitting today. At a mass meeting tonight C. A. Everett of St. John was one of the speakers. He was warmly received. He reviewed the history of the temperance movement in New Brunswick, and stated that Fredericton and St. John were far advanced in temperance sentiment. M. E. Bradley of Washington also spoke at length. A very sad drowning accident occurred off Lockport harbor, near Gull Rock, at three o'clock this afternoon, by which three fishermen of West-minster Head, viz., Frank Williams, his son Frank, aged 18, and Nicholas Holland, a young man of 20 years, lost their lives by the capsizing and sink-ing of their boat while returning from fishing. As the wind was moderate the capsizing is regarded as somewhat mysterious. The crew of a boat distant half a mile noticed the accident and reached the spot just as Williams senior, who was a strong swimmer, sank, but too late to save him. Mr. Williams, who was an industrious and successful fisherman, leaves a wife Halifax, Oct. 31.—This city has compulsory school law. Seventy-nine es were handed in at the police court today for parents of children who have not been attending school. There are two cases of offenses under the school law, in which children are truants, and where parents have neglected to send them. There are said to be nearly a thousand reported in all. The cases will come up next week.

They were captured that afternoon in Allen Tait's hay mow. Tuesday they were committed for trial. Next day Judge McIsaac, under the Speedy Trials act, sentenced them to ten years in Dorchester. That was speedy justice, but Gillis showed himself equal of the law in acting promptly. He had sprung open the door with a piece of chair and taken to the woods. He has not yet been captured.

The stock of the Halifax Gas Co., par value of 100, is quoted at about 80. Not long ago it was 102, and years ago it was one of the best values in the city. For the last twenty travelling through the province and years he has been collector of city from his knowledge of the business. He said that 3,222 carriages had come from Ontario into the maritime provinces in 1895, and said in effect, that the freight on these shipments, with the expenses of selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from where they were made, amplified from the selling carriages so far from the selling carriages ounted to a considerable sum, a large portion of which could be saved by manufacturing here. This saving would tend towards making the proposed enterprise successful and help in the way of gaining and holding this line of lower province trade. As well, iron, steel and coal could be more readily obtained here than in Ontario, and that the proportion of wood ma terial required to be imported efficer here or there would be about the same, respectively. He estimated that a factory turning out yearly from 700 to 1,000 carriages of an average selling value of $65 each, could be started for about $45,000. This amount Mr. Bunker proposed raising by forming a company and offered to invest $4,000

Nearly all of those taking part in the proceedings showed a disposition to back up the enterprise if it promised to pay a fair return for the money invested, and to be a benefit to the town.

Mr. Bunker was plied with a good many questions, but was very cautious about giving away the secrets of the trade in public. This reticence was supposed by some to imply that there was lots of money in making carriages. Probably he was more communicative while looking up prospective share-holders about Truro and vicinity on

GREAT OPPORTUNITIES.

It is not surprising that the field of railway operation should have charms for ambitious and clever young men who have faith in themselves. The field offers to the men of the greatest administrative or engineering gifts very great rewards. Though to the mass of employes it furnishes only a mere living, to the few it gives positions of influence and distinction. The chief officers of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways have larger powers than most cabinet ministers. while they enjoy material rewards such as no man in Canadian public life can hope to obtain. The other day it was announced that a railway man, hardly past forty years of age, had been made general manager of the Grand Trunk at a salary three times as large as the income of the premier or chief justice of Canada. A day or two later the intelligence came that the present assistant manager had been called to a new position offering an income of $20,000 to $25,000 a year. The interests under the control of an officer like the manager of the Grand Trunk are so great that the amount of his salary is an item of almost no significance to the company. The yearly allowance of the general manager may easily be lost or gained in the operations of one autumn day.

A QUEER LEADER.

Last year Mr. Laurier at Waterloo Ontario, said: "When we are in power we will relieve the people of protec tion, which is a fraud, a delusion, and a robbery. * * * * I come before you tonight to preach to you this new gospel of free trade. I denounce to you the policy of protection as bondage; yes, bondage, and I refer to bondage in the same manner in which American slavery was bondage. Sir, our policy is freedom of trade, such as exists in England, such as is practiced in Great Britain. I propose that we follow England's example and open our ports to the products of the world." The other day he was in the same neighborhood supporting the candidature of Mr. Snider, who in Mr. Laurier's presence said: "I should not want to go down and represent you with the idea in your minds that I would endeavor to help free trade; that is, entire free trade, for I don't think we could possibly have it." Mr. Snider added: "If it (protection) is a wrong system it has been introduced through the influence of the representatives of the people chosen to represent them. The system has brought changes in our manufacturing lines. It would be simply ruin if any party, either liberal or conservative, should go to work and wipe out of existence what has been brought about under For my part I am willing to admit him into the ranks of the liberal party just as he is, and will be a good supporter I am sure of the liberal cause.'

MR. JOHN HUMPHREY

We regret to have to announce the death of John A. Humphrey, ex-M. P. P. for Westmorland, an honest and sagacious public man; an enterprising and honorable man of business. Mr. Humphrey belonged to the best type of our masters of industry. He was brought up with a practical knowledge of the various industries which he carried on. But he steadily kept pace with modern industrial methods, and never had occasion to complain that trade and work had gone away from him. He attained prosperity because he earned it by industry and care and foresight. He had faith in his country and in the possibilities of his own neighborhood. It was faith accompanied by works, and brought its due reward. As a polof sincerity and honest purpose. So he had the respect of his political opponents in the legislature as well as of his friends

THE ST. JOHN STEAMSHIP SER-VICE.

The offer of the management of the Beaver line ships will, if accepted, give St. John a good fortnightly freight and passenger service to Liverpool. The amount which the company asks is less per trip than is now paid the Allans. The Allans do their winter business with a foreign port, but their $2,500 a trip is paid just the same when they take cargo at Portland as when they take it at Montreal. The Beaver line ships are not as large as those of the Allan line, but the larger ones are larger than the smaller ones of the Allan fleet. Of the Beaver ships the largest in recent service is frequent sailings are, of course, delike that proposed, if it can be ob- successful.

tained, will make an excellent beginning. It is possible that the service may be obtained for a somewhat smaller outlay than $25,000 for the season, but this proposition is more reasonable than any which have been suggested in recent years. The premier suggests that even if the steamers should be subsidized they could not do business unless freights were reduced to the Boston or New York rate by rail and ship. So far as through business is concerned, there is no doubt that the rates would have to be competitive. This fact would no doubt be considered by the steamship men at the beginning. The risk of securing cargoes would be theirs, for it is evident that the subsidy would only go a short way toward paying running expenses. No one would have so strong an interest as the steamship men in securing freight. Another direct interest would be that of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, which would have the hauling of the freight over a very large part of their route. Then, we believe, that it is not too much to say that the business men of this city, and the people of the province, would do all that could be expected of them to develop traffic by the direct line. It would be in the interest of all to make the thing a success.

The proposition is advanced by the Grand Division of the Sons Temperance that a physician who issues bogus prescriptions for liquor in order to enable persons to drink in Scott act counties should have the same punishment as any other violator of the act. There is no doubt such a doctor is guilty of a serious offence, though unless he shares in the profit the offence is not precisely the same as that of the illicit seller. It would usually be difficult to prove that the prescription was not given in good faith, though of course this might be done in cases where prescriptions are issued wholesale and in blank, as is said to have been done by some practitioners farther west. The medical associations would be expected to see that the issuer of such prescriptions would not be long in a position to prescribe for

The Daily Standard Attacks French Canadians in a Violent Manner.

Glouce ster Fishermen Complaining —The Lum ber and Fish Markets.

(From our own correspondent.)

Boston, Nov. 2.-The recent declara tion of United States Senator Chandler of New Hampshire that this coun try and Great Britain were destined to again go to war, created consider able comment, but probably Senator Chandler will never be any better known outside of New England than he is by the people in it. They know that occasionally Senator Chandle must be heard on some question or other, and that the best part of it all is that his remarks invariably fail create consternation or cause the least alarm in any direction. Senator Chandblotting Great Britain from the map of the known world, and cutting up Canada into states of the "glorious "jingo" senator represents borders on Canada, yet it is not believed Canadians will be in very much of a hurry to take down their guns and marc forth to meet the foe. The Boston Daily Standard, the organ of the A. P. A. element in New Eng land, which has endeavored to gain the patronage of provincialists in Boston and vicinity, made a disgraceful and unwarranted attack on French-Canadians in its editorial columns a few days ago. The paper charged Great Britain with being too generous to the inhabitants of Canada of French lescent, and stated that they had repaid this generosity by remaining an alien and treacherous element ever since. As many were liberals at home and have followed a French-Canadian as their leader, it may be imagined ular with them. The attack has cre ed a general disgust and cannot be excused because of religious animosity on the part of the writer. It is all the more peculiar when the fact is sidered that there are three ministers of the gospel and a former Nova Sco tian on the editorial staff of the paper Sir William Dawson, the well known Nova Scotian, was a speaker in the Lowell Institute course of rectures in this city Thursday night. BRITISH LUMBER MARKET. The Timber Trades Journal of Oct 26th, speaking of trade in London, concludes that unless there are large imports during the next two or three weeks, which is not probable, the price of wood goods should turn higher, as stocks are moderate. Regard-ing next season it says; were married here a few days ago.

Rev. J. A. Gordon of St. John preached at the First Baptist church. Lawrence, on Sunday.

Capt. John Yorke, who has led Salvation Army corps in different places in New Brunswick and Nova Scotta, was married to Lieut. Edith Berkeley of Waterbury, Conn., in this city Thursday night.

A recent American electrical journal says that the electric ratironeds of goods soil indiscriminately. Shippers had goods soll indiscriminately. Snippers nau better take our remarks to heart, and con-sider which are the most favorable posi-tions of those we have pointed out. The consumption is only of a normal character, and there will have to be a general all-round find provement of some standing before the meaning that a general rally in wood valt will en-ue. On the contrary, sellers m not look to a palpable uprise till well into the season, and advanced f. o. b. pric would considerably delay if not nip it the bud.

The above relates to London. Of trade in Eiverpool the Journal says:

There is a decided improvement in the timber trade of this port, and from the amount of woods going into the various railway yards and other depots for transmission up the country, the increased volume of business done is quite apparent. The quays of the Canada and Brocklebank docks are showing extensive spaces of bare ground which last week were covered with pine timber, oak, birch and other Canadian log produce. These have gone direct into consumption, generally in large lines, especially the waney board pine and square oak timber, whilst the parcel of birch recently sold by public auction at the hands of A. F. & D. Mackay is rapidly disappearing, and little, if in fact any of it, is being stored. We also see several stocks of old birch logs, chiefly of lower port shipment, which have been stored on various outlying grounds for some months have rapidly disappeared. This is particularly noticeable on the North Carriers storage land, which is beginning to wear a singularly bare appearance for this time of year. Spruce deals have advanced in value during the week owing to the increase in freight and the higher rate of intrade in Liverpool the Journal says: surance demanded for the winter season. We understand the cargo per s.s. Gallego, from St. John, N. B., which has just arrived, has been sold at a corresponding advance over recent sales, and still higher rates are being asked for the future shipments.

Cardiff reported some in in the timber trade, and at Glasgow business was good and deliveries ab the average. Quebec 1st spruce deals sold at Glasgow, Oct 23rd, at 11 1-4d per cubic foot; 2nd at 10 1-4 to 10 1-2d, 3rd at 9 1-4 to 10 3-4d; some others at Liverpool Timber News of Oct 26th says of trade at that port: "The advance in prices continues. Floorings are very firm and fetch 7s 6d per std in what they were selling at a month ago. Thirds Quebec pine deals are very firm, owing mainly to advan-cing freights. The last Liverpool auction sales show an improvement in sawn pitchpine, and a decided advance

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Nettie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray of Penobs-quis, Kings county, and W. F. Radford of Hyde Park, Boston, Mass., were married Thursday, Oct. 31st, at bride's home by Rev. C. W. Hamilton of Sussex. The wedding was a very quiet one, a few intimate friends being present. The bride wore a neat travelling suit of navy blue. The happy couple left on the Halifax express for their future home in Boston followed by a shower of rice and the good wishes of hosts of friends. The bride received many handsome presents, among which are a diam brooch from the groom, a cheque for $50 from S. Hayward of this city, unclof the bride, $10 in gold from Mr. and Mrs. Allison of Sussex, $10 in gold from her father, a solid silver escallor from Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Baskin of McAdam Junction, a hands quet lamp from O. H. Warwick and wife of this city and many other valuable gifts. The Sun takes much pleasure in extending its heartiest congratulations.

GRAND MANAN

Grand Manan, Oct. 31.-Capt. James Pettes has about completed the re-moval of the Marble Ridge house to the site on his own estate. He will finish the job next week. Mrs. Miranda McDonald has bought the Fred Moses dwelling and premises at North Head. Herrings are still here in large Some are of the very smallest size and some of the very largest, and in excellent condition Silver hake are abundant. A weir at Two Islands had seventy-five hogsheads of them in it a few daws ago. Codfish, haddock and pollock are also abundant. Large codfish and haddock were taken in the weirs near five hundred haddock out of another at the same place two or three days ago. The herring are so abundant that the line fishermen find that fish in-shore will not take the hook all. Dry pollock are quoted at $1.75 per qtl; bloaters at 40c. per box, and mediums at 5c. per box for the Boston and New York markets. Fresh herring are sold at $1 and $1.35 per

The sardine str. Sawver of Millbridge, Me., has made her second trip here for large herring. Samuel Wal-lace, ex-collector of customs of Millbridge, came down in the steamer to see the island. Dr. Sawyer, the owner of the steamer, is one of the most enterprising and pushing citizens of Millbridge.

Lubec is here loading with lobsters for Councillor Russell of Seal Cove. E. M. Robertson, fish merchant and curer, of Lower Cove, St. John, has been visiting the island. Mr. Robertson thinks there is a grand chance for a man with some capital to invest in the fish business here.

Millan McDowell of Beaver Harbor has been visiting his brother and sister here, J. D. McDowell, our postmaster at Grand Manan and Jerome Doggett.

BRITISH BUTTER MARKET.

Boston, Nov 2-Cable advices to Geo A Cochrane from the principal markets as less active The situation can only called barely steady, as the heavy shipments from the United States and Canada, coupled with the starting of the Australian product, arrivals which are expected to be large and regular after the 25th of November has caused buyers to be less anxious and resort to the hand to mouth policy making it doubtful if present value can be sustained. Should shipments from the United States and Canada this week be as large as last, there is no doubt but that prices will recede. Cheese markets are all better, but the recent sharp advance causes a more quiet feeling and prices are barely

Conducted By J. W. Manchester. V. S., St. John, N. B.

The Weekly Sun takes pleasure in notifying its readers that it has perfected arrangements with J. W. Manchester, V. S., whereby all questions with respect to diseases of the lower animals will be answered by him, and treatment prescribed in those cases where it is asked for through the columns of The Sun.

All enquiries must be addressed. VETERINARY DEPARTMENT. Weekly Sun, St. John, N. B.

Wm. H.-I have a three-year-old colt that laid down on a stake about weeks ago. When I found him the stick was between the flank and oody. I got a man to examine him and he says there is a tear about inches long on the inside skin. The tump which is forward of his flank is now about as large as a water pail. There is no mark on the skin. Ams.—I have very little doubt but that your colt is badly ruptured, and if so you had better destroy him, the size and position of the rupture leaving little chance of recovery.

J. J.-I have a horse, nine years old, that has been running at the nose for two months. At times the discharge is more than others; the matter is quite thick and white, and sometimes it is thin and has a disagreeable odor. The horse has a good appetite but seems weak if he works his regular feeding time. Before this came on he had a roaring or whistling in his nose when drawing hard, Please advise.

Ans.-Your horse has a form of atarrh. The treatment may be tedious. An operation would probably relieve him more quickly than medicine but you may try the following: Syringe out the nostrils twice daily with a saturated solution of acid boracic, and give daily in food the following lose: Ferri sulphate, drams, 2; cupri sulph., dram, 1; cantharides. pulv., grains, 5; arsenic, grains, 10. Let me snow how the case progre

M. C.-My horse, six years old, was when I got him cut down in feed, and he has a crackling in his fore leg. He was sore in the fore feet: I put bar When I lift his feet his legs crack. He is a good driver, but has always worked on the farm until about ten weeks ago.

Ans.—The crackling you speak of is probably due to rheumatic trouble. It nay never inconvenience him, and I know of no cure for it.

N. S.-I have a farrow cow, twelve years old, that during the last fortnight has almost stopped milking in the evening. She gives five or six quarts in the morning and about a pint in the evening. I feed her reguarly one quart of meal and half a peck of potatoes after stabling. She is out in the daytime.

Ans Keep your cow in the barn and feed her well and I do not think you will have any trouble with her.

At this time of year the weather is too cold for cattle to be out long, and a chilling will generally reduc-yield of milk.

You read a lot about cheap clothes and see some very low prices quoted; but when you go for your suit you have to pay perhaps double what you expected.

You are disappointed; not because you can't buy a suit for very little money, but because the low-priced one isn't nearly as good as you are led to believe it is.

You must bring yourself to recognize this fact that the clothes you see advertised at such ridiculously low prices are not the sort you wear. The surest way to get the clothes you want is to go to a store that gives back money same as we do, without any fuss, if whatever you buy turns out not to be the sort you took it for.

Mrs. York Tightened the Noose Around His Neck.

The Jury Reached Their Decision on the First Ballot.

The Usual Application Made for Leave to Move for a New Trial.

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.-For about 30 minutes today the nerve at which all men have marvelled, forsook Holmes, and bowed and broken he sank his head into his hands and sobbed like a child. Meanwhile the woman he persists in calling his wife, and upon he had pinned his highest hope sat two yards away, telling a story that slowly but surely tightened the noose on his neck. For one hour and forty minutes she red to the court crier the words that told how Pietzel had come to the wenth street house, where they were stopping the night before the murder, and how Holmes had been away for five hours of the next day, coming back ed and carrying her hurriedly off to Indianapolis. It was the day after this that the corpse was found in the Callow Hill street house.

of her examination Holmes asked to conduct the crossexamination himself, and standing in a corner of the dock, nervously wringing his hands, he put a few questions. Then he said he would reserve the right to call her as a witness for

Throughout her testimony, Mrs. Georgiana Yorke, for so she calls herself, never once bestowed a passin glance upon the man she once loved. During the greater part of it, kept her blue eyes rivited on the floor, when it became necessary to raise them she was careful to shift them that the pale, shrunken figure in the dock should not come in Miss Yoke is a tall, slender plonde of the subdued type, and demeaned herself like a woman of refinement and intelligence. She was tastefully dressed in deep black. But four witnesses remain to be heard before the closing of the com-

Then the defence will open, and in spite of Holmes' statement that would himself testify and also call Miss Yoke, his counsel privately stated to-night that the defence would offer no evidence, but submit the case on argument alone. Their first victory was tonight, and it disappointed those morbid listeners who had counted on viewing the bones of the dead body of Howard. The de fence strenuously objected to the introduction of any further evidence touching the alleged murder of the The jury were temporarily taken to their room, and arguments followed, at the end of which Judge Arnold sustained the contention.

This was evidently a blow to the nonwealth, and District Attorney Graham fought against it with great vigor. Holmes showed no elation at the triumph, but his lawyers were unfeignedly jubilant.

Holmes, as calm and unmoved as ever, was placed in the dock at ten o'clock. His counsel, Messrs. Shoemaker and Rotan, promptly went to him and a long and earnest colloquy

Holmes did most of the whispering and was apparently offering sugges-tions. He appeared to be brighter and more cheerful than at any time since the trial began and after his couns had resumed their seats, he chatted laughed with two court officers stationed next to the little golden barred cage in which he sat. The first witness of the day proved be a lively one. This was Sydney L. Samuels, a member of the bar (f Fort Worth, Texas, a young and clean shaven man with a twinkling eye and the most perfect self possession. He spoke quickly and sharply and invariably referred to Holmes as "the indi-vidual." This amused even Holmes, who smiled broadly whenever the term was used.

Inspector Cary of the insurance company was recalled, Mr. Graham saying he proposed to prove by him that Holmes was a much married man and that Miss Yoke was not his lawful wife, as he asserts, and is therefore competent to testify against him.

Mr. Cary said he had seen at the prisoner's house in Willamette, Ills, woman representing herself as Mrs. H. H. Holmes. He identified a photo-Philadelphia Oct. 31.-The court re-

Philadelphia. Nov. 1.-Tomorrow night the world will probably know whether or not Holmes will hang. When the trial began last Monday everybody anticipated a siege of at least two weeks, but yesterday the another which will help to push it to swift conclusion. The decision of Judge Arnold that no testimony would be admitted other than that bearing directly on the murder of Benj. F. The counsel made the astonishing statement that they wanted time to find out what the defense was going to be, because they had been so busy listening to the evidence against them they had no chance to prepare an answer to it.

The court gave the attorneys an This over they came back to court and pleased everybody except the morbid mob by declaring that they would call no witnesses but submit the case on argument alone.

There is an impression that Lawyer R. O. Moon will do the talking for defense, and his forensic ability is of no mean order. It was he whom Holmes called upon last Monday when he dismissed his lawyers. He admitted being familiar with the main facts, and will be well qualified to address the jury.

There was no change in Holmes' demeanor today, although a keen obsever might have perceived a deeper pallor on his cheeks and in his blue eyes the glare of a wild beast.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.-Henry H Holmes was convicted of murder in the first degree at 8.51 tonight for killing Benjamin F. Pietzel. The jury retired to deliberate at 5.40 o'clock afternoon. According to one of their number they had reached their verdict before the doors of their room closed upon them. They ate their supper first. Then they took a ballot and every man of twelve answered "Guil murder in the first degree.' For decency's sake they talked about the case for an hour and a half. Then word was sent into court that they had agreed. This was at 8.15 o'clock It took a half hour to get the court in readiness to receive the verdict.

Holmes said to his counsel before he was taken back to prison: "I feel that this condemns me. It was an unjust trial." Immediately after the announce ment of the verdict the usual applica tion for leave to file a motion for a new trial was made. Judge Arnold fixed the 18th of this month for a hearing. At twenty minutes to nine Judge Ar-nold took his seat and the jury filed solemnly in and took their seats in the box. Holmes was brought in and placed in the dock. The condemning words came promptly from the "Guilty of murder in the first degree." The afternoon session was taken up by Mr. Rotan's argument for the defence. His main plea was that the evidence was altogether circumstantial and could not be relied upon.

Miss Webster's Convicts Christmas Eve, was more enthusiastically received, albeit the Sackville palate is somewhat jaded with male elocution. Her excellent dramatic ability and clear clean cut enunciation gave great pleasure and in her response to insistent encores Miss Webster showed a humorous versatility. Mr. Wooton, the new onservatory director, made a most favorable impression in his artistic enterpretation of Rubenstein, Schubert and Chonin, all the selections being rendered with great brilliancy. His closing solo, the beautiful Hungarian rhapsodie of Liszt, one of the show pieces of piano artists, was exquisitely played and listened to with the closest attention. This musical evening was such as lingers long in the nory, and cheers and brightens for an indefinite time the monotonous round of this busy work-a-day world.

ODE TO THE MOUTH.

Some mouths look like peaches and cream, some like a hole chopped into a brick wall to admit a door or winlow. The mouth is a hotbed of toothaches, and a baby's crowning glory. It is patriotism's fountain head, and the tool chest for pie. Without it the politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth, and the cornetist would go down to an unhonored grave. It is the grocers' friend, the orators' pride and the dentist's hope. -Nunda Herald.

Durant Convicted of the Murder of Blanche Lamont.

When the Verdict Was Brought in Men Cheered Wildly and Women Went Hysterically

The Case Will be Appealed, Causing a Year's Delay-Still to be Tried for the Murder of Minnie Williams.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.-Theodore Durrant, assistant superintendent of Emanuel Baptist church Sunday school, was today convicted of the murder of Blanche Lamont, for which he has been on trial since July 22 last. The jury were out twenty minutes and arrived at the verdict on the first ballot. As there was no recommendation of mercy, the punishment was fixed

The scene in the court room when the verdict was announced will never be forgotten by those who were pre Judge Murphy finished his charge at 3.30 and the jury at once retired. The throng of spectators who had remained in the overcrowded court room all the afternoon to hear to hear the judge's charge, settled back in their seats to await the return of the Mrs. Durrant and the prisoner talked and laughed together as if an acquittal were a foregone conclusion. They were surrounded by half a dozen riends and the conversation was animated when it became whispered about that the jury had agreed upon a ver-

In an instant a hush fell upon the little circle that had gathered around the prisoner.

Durrant's face, always pallid, assumed a ghastly hue, and his mother was speechless. Then the door at the was speechless. Then the door at the rear of the room opened and the jury filed in and took their seats in the box. Intense excitement followed. Murphy was summoned. Clerk Morris asked the usual question as to whether the jury had agreed upon a Foreman Warren Dutton verdict. arose and replied in the affirmative. "We, the jury," he said, "find William Henry Theodore Durrant guilty of murder in the first degree. As the aged foreman, pale and trem bling, read the words that fixed Durrant's fate, a low rumbling noise, like the roar of a mob, arose from the rear of the court room. The next moment men were cheering wildly, while women wept hysterically in excitement. The baliff rapped loudly for order, but the tumult continued for a minute before anything like quiet could be brought out of the disorder. When District Attorney rose and asked that a day be set upon which the sentence of death should be passed upon the prisoner, Judge Murphy said the sentence would be passed next Friday, upon which day he would also set the day for the trial of Durrant on the charge of murdering Minnie Williams. During the tumult that followed the announcement of the verdict, Durrant and his mother were lost sight of, except by the few who sat nearest them. As the last words of the verdict were uttered, Durrant made a spasmodic effort to rise to he could do so his mother, with a half sigh, half moan, threw her arms around his neck and sank back into her chair. His mother's grief seemed to make Durrant forget his own position, and the next few minutes he sat with his arms around her neck trying to soothe her. The long strain of the trial, however, had completely shattered her self-control and it was some time before Mrs. Durrant could leave the court room. Durrant's father was not in the room when the verdict was returned. Durrant recovered his old composure as soon as he his mother and prepared to left turn to the county jail. With his overcoat swung carelessly over his arm, he walked leisurely out of the room, twirling his slight moustache with apparently as little concern as if he were merely a spectator instead of principal figure in the exciting scene. Aside from the spectators, Mrs. Noble, Miss Lamont's aunt and Maud Lamont, the dead girl's sister, were apparently the happiest persons in the When the verdict was announced Mand Lamont arose from her seat, clasped her hands and then cried of shere excitement. Mrs. Noble mix-ed smiles with tears and shook hands with a number of friends, who crowded around to congratulate her. As soon as Durrant left the building the crowd surged out of the room. Fearing that some violence might be offered the prisoner, he was taken out another door and driven by a circuitous rout to the county jail. By common consent, District Attor ney Barnes is given most of the credit for the conviction of the greatest murderer ever tried in California. It is believed that Mr. Barnes' which consumed two days and a half in its delivery, had much to do with removing any lingering doubt from the minds of the jurors, if at any time there was a juror who was not convinced of Durrant's guilt. Barnes' adconsidered one of the most logical and eloquent efforts that was ver made before a California jury. The case will be appealed to the supreme court and it is expected nearly a vear will elapse before a decision will be obtained. Gen. Dickinson took exception to three features of the Dis trict Attorney's argument today and an exception to the charge of the judge. San Francisco, Nov. 1.-Miss Carrie Cunningham, the reporter who tes-tified in the Durrant trial that Durrant had told her he saw the Blanch Lamont murderers in the belfry of Emanuel church, and who said that Durrant showed her an envelope containing a statement to be opened after he was convicted, has made public her side of the story. She said that when she visited Durrant at the jail he told her a remarkable tale with the idea that she was a witness for the defence. Durrant told her the folbelfry and ascertained that Blanche Lamont was murdered on the second landing. I encoutered the murderers promised never to reveal what I had discovered and rushed down stairs." Miss Cunningham said Durrant told her that the murderers exercised an unaccountable influence over him and what he had seen. He said that he had given the statement to his atbut they had decided not to

A King's Co N. S. Man Suffers For Long Weary Months.

Had Reached a Stage When He Was Unable to Turn in Bed Without Aid—Hundreds of Dollars Spent in the Search for Relief—Dr. Williams Pink Pills Again Prove Their Wonderful Health Giving Power.

(From the Kentville, N. S., Chronicle.)

Mr .David O. Corkum of Scott's Bay Road is the owner of one of the bes farms in Kings Co., N. S., and is one of the best known farmers in that section of the county. He is naturally a hard working man and when strong is always to be found busy on his place. Last winter he spent the whole season in the lumber woods, was strong and healthy and worked as hard as anyone. But it has not always been so. In fact it is the wonder of the neighborhood that he is able to work at all. Before moving to Scott's Bay Road, Mr. Corkum lived at Chester, Lunenburg Co., N. S., and while matism, which affected him in such a way that he was unable to do manua labor of any kind. About this time he moved to his present home, but he could not get a moment's respite from the effects of his disease. Feeling that must get well at any cost he had his old doctor brought from Chester to his relief, but he was unable to do anything for him. He tried many kinds of medicine, hoping to receive benefit, but to no avail. Being deter mined not to die without a struggle he had doctors summoned from Halifax, but still continued to get worse, About three years ago he took to his bed and his case developed into bone and muscle rheumatism of the worst ype. It spread through all his bones up into his neck and into his arm, causing partial paralysis of that limb rendering it utterly useless, since he could not lift it above his waist. the strength left his muscles, and he was unable to turn in bed without aid. He was able to stand upon his feet. but could not walk. Still the doctors waited upon him and still he took their medicines, but with no beneficial result. During this time Mr. Corkum paid out several hundred dollars in hard cash for doctor's bills and medi cine, all of which did him not one particle of good. After lying in bed for fifteen months his case was pronoun ced hopeless and he was given up by About this time he heard of Dr Williams' Pink Pills, and as a last resource he resolved to give them a trial. The first four boxes produced no noticeable effect but at the fifth began to notice a change. Feeling encouraged he kept on, and from that he rapidly improved and after using the Pink Pills for a period of some twelve weeks he was restored to perfect health. Such was the wonderful story told a representative of the Western Chronicle by Mr. Corkum a short time ago. Mr. Corkum is now 59 years of age and prefectly healthy and feels younger and better that he has for years and attributes his recovery solely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pills, and he is willing to prove the truth of these statements to anyone who may call upon him. These pills are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition of the blood or a shattered nervous system. CAPT. JAMES W. GEROW

Has Struck a Rich Vein in a Virginia

County. James W. Gerow, son of Geo. W. Gerow of this city, has made a very fortunate speculation at Riverside, Rockbridge Co., Virginia. He is the president of the Glasgow Development Co., organized principally by Norfolk capitalists in 1890. They purchased large tracts of land opposite the town of Glasgow, with which they connected it by a bridge. They went up the valley and bought 1,100 acres of land rich in iron ore. The ore is located on a hill, and a gravity plant has just been put in, covering a disof 6,000 feet up the incline, by which ore is hauled from the mountain top to the railway below. Gravity is the only power used. The full cars coming down haul the empty ones up. Three cars are used each way, and they pass each other at three different points, where switches work auto-matically. The plant is guaranteed to convey 250 tons in ten hours. Each car carries three tons. There is ore enough in sight to keep the operation for years, and it has been proved to be of the finest quality. The company will begin shipping ore to Roanoke at once, a test of the gravity plant has proved it to work perfect success. The Staunton, Va., Spectator of Oct. 16th devotes two and a half columns to a description of the company's operations. Mr. Gerow, the president and manager, is therein credited with having done the lion's share of planning and executing the various works and getting the ore tested and the tramway built. "Captain Gerow," it says, "has resided in Rockbridge county since 1890. He has won for himself the esteem of all who know him. He is recognized as a straightforward, intelligent man, well equipped for the important special

The Rockbridge county News of Oct. 10th also contains a description of the works and the testing of the gravity plant, the only one of its kind in the United States. It was built by New York company. Of Mr. Gerow the News says: "Captain Gerow is a pleasant and genial gentleman, and liked by all. He has been with us for some time, working our iron ores. He has great faith in our mountain resources, and with his untiring energy will bring to light the ores contained in them.

Capt. Gerow, it may be added, was master of the ship Minnie Gerow for eight years before he was 29 years old, and never met with an accident. Subsequently he was manager of the Cotton Press Co. of Norfolk, Va., until the concern was sold out to a New York firm. His old friends in the east will be glad to hear of his suc-

At St. Andrews on Thursday afternoon Fletcher Denley and Herbert Williamson were amusing thmselves firing at a cent they had put up for a target in Joseph Denley's door yard on the commons. Fletcher went to the target to see where the ball had struck. Meanwhile Williamson loaded his rifle and sat down to wait for Denley's return. In the act of sitting down and while Denley was approach ing, by some unaccountable means the rifle was discharged, the bullet, a 22 calibre, striking Denley in and trating into the lower part of the ab-domen. Joseph Denley hitched up a horse and drove to town for medical aid. Drs. S. T. Gove and Harry Gove went out, but they were unable locate the bullet. The latest account was that the wounded man was rapidly sinking. Fletcher Denley is a nephew of Joseph Denley's and came here last week from Presque Isle, Me., to visit friends. He is a fine young man about twenty-five years of age, and eldest son of John Denley, blacksmith, a former resident of St. Andrews.

MURDERED!

A Young Man Riddled With Buckshot in Chatham.

The Perpetrator of the Terrible Deed Fled From the Town on Horseback.

Arthur Luke, the Victim, Aged Seventeen Was the Son of Wm. Luke, Lumber Surveyor in Richards' Mill.

Chatham, Nov. 1.—This has been the most sensational summer Chatham has ever seen. One startling event has succeeded another in rapid cession that it seems as though the elements of destruction and crime vere trying to see which could put the darkest stain on the records of community. On the 17th of August the Miramichi disaster occurred. The loss of three young lives was the result. The anxiety in regard to the outcome of the manslaughter charges against the captain and deck hand of the late fire swept away a portion of the town, rendering many homeless and destitute. The excitement of this deplorable misfortune had not more than passed its height when the cry of murder shocked the nervous system

A bright and promising youth of seventeen summers has been shot down where he stood on the street enjoying with his young chums the festivities of Halloween. His name was Arthur Luke, and he was a son ing for him with a warrant for his of William Luke, a respectable indus-trious citizen of Chatham and a sur-veyor in Richar's mill. Mr. Luke formerly belonged to Newcastle, but moved to Chatham three years ago, and has since resided here. The shooting was done by Joseph Doherty, son of John Doherty, filer. Doherty, who was under the influence of liquor, was returning from up town to his home in the east end. He was met by William Wright, Thos. Clancey and another fellow. The two former and Doherty got into a row, after which Doherty left for home. When he reached home he loaded his gun and came out to look for Wright and Clancey. He met a crowd of boys, including Arthur Luke, Stanley Fleiger and Gibert Beotte. Seeing that he was drunk and very angry they took the gun from him. An examination of it revealed the fact that there was no cap on it, and thinking it was not loaded they handed it to him. He immediately retired with it to a back yard near by, placed a cap on the nipple and came out and took deliberate aim at Luke and fired. The load, which was of buck shot, entered the ower portion of the body, tearing and mangling it in a fearful manner. Luke fell back and cried to his companions that he was shot. He was removed to the house of Mrs. McKendy, wher two doctors were immediately summoned. The body was so mangled from the shot that recovery was im-possible. He was removed to his father's home, where he died this morning in great agony.

Doherty, realizing what he had done, orse from Elkin's stable and left town on horseback. No clue to his whereabouts has yet reached the officials, although a search has been boy and hurt his spine in so doing, kept up since eleven o'clock last and that this was the cause of his night. Doherty is about nineteen years of age and of dark complexion. When he was a small boy he was a terror in a small way, and he has grown in terrorism and not in grace. He has been mixed up in frays before today, but no legal steps were taken to punish him for his offences. Cor-oner Benson swore in the following jury: Geo. Stothart, foreman; Andrew Marquis, M. J. Doyle, W. T. Harris, P. C. Johnston, Geo. Sutton and Thos. Connors. They viewed the remains and the court adjourned till 7 this

The inquest was resumed police court at 7 this evening. R. B. Bennett appeared for Doherty.
Stanley Flieger, the first witness, testified that he was one of the boys who was with Luke when the shooting took place. His evidence went to show that the boys with him and Luke tried to take the gun away from Doherty, he warding them off with it and telling them to leave him alone. They persisted in their efforts, when Doherty ran away from them and into a yard, where three of them followed him. Flieger did not go in and did not see the shot fired, but heard the report and Luke cry out. The other witnesses were Dr. Jos. B. Bennon and Dr. Baxter. The former testified to the condition in which he found deceased, while the latter was the physician who made the post-mortem. He testified that Luke was 17 years of age, well developed, being 5 feet 9 inches in height, and would weigh about 150 pounds. He found on the right side extending from the hip point to the lower rib 35 wounds. He examined the intestines carefully, fol-lowing from the junction of the large and small intestine up to the stomach. In that distance he found 18 wounds Three of them were long and lacerated from one half to an inch in length. Both Drs. Bennon and Baxter swore that the injuries they found on the body caused death. Wm. Groat, the next witness, testified to meeting with Doherty when he was coming home about 10.30. Doherty had a gun and jumped into the road. He pointed the gun up in Groat's face, at the same time telling he he would shoot him. Groat asked what was the matter, and Doherty put down the gun and told Groat not to tell anyone where he was. At this ime Groat did not know that Doherty had shot Luke. Groat also testified half Doherty was drunk. Chatham, Nov. 3.-The coroner's court reassembled at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Gilbert Buote testified to being with Luke when the shooting took place. Buote, Fleiger, Luke and Knowles met three men at Coleman's corner. One of them told the boys that Doherty had just passed up street with a gun, and for them to take it from him. The boys followed after Doherty, and Luke called out to him. Doherty told them to keep away from bim, at the same time pointing the gun at them. Luke and Knowles then took hold of Doherty, who was so drunk he fell. They held him down until Buote examined the gun and found there was no cap on it. When they let him up Doherty ran into the middle of the road, levelled the gun at them and snapped it. The boys ran at him, and he retreated into Kerr's back yard, they following him He then chased fhem out. Buote then went to Coleman's corner, and when he returned saw Luke again in Kerr's yard. This time he had a stick in his hand. Luke then came out to join the rest of the boys on the street. Do-herty followed and fired the shot which struck Luke. John McIntyre, who was next sworn, corroborated the evidence of Buote in detail. McIntyre was in Kerr's house when the shooting was done. He did not think Doherty could tell which of gun was discharged while it was in Doherty's hands. Thomas Knowles, another of the boys who witnessed the shooting, was next sworn. His testimony varied from Buote only in the fact that the witness threw a stick into the yard at Several other witnesses were sworn. The evidence of all was substantially alike. Before retiring the foreman, on behalf of the jury, asked for the statement given by Luke before his death to Police Magistrate McCulley. The coroner informed him the thad nothing to do with the case and would not be given to the jury.

It did not take very long for the jury to reach a verdict, which in effect was that Luke came to his death arrest. It is stated that Mr. Mays, a mill driver, met Doherty on Friday on his way to Bay du Vin. Lais reportis also contradicted. The impression prevails that Doherty is out along the Richibucto road. That is the way he went, and it was a man from out that way who brought to Chatham the horse on which Doherty made his

Doherty's father is in communication tion with him, and it is reported that he will bring him to town and give

The statement given by Luke to the police magistrate is said to contain nothing more than the names of the persons who were present at the shooting and would be able to tell how it happened.

The air is full of rumors telling of the many startling episodes of Joe Doherty's life. Some of them go back to his school days, while others are of more recent date. Since Doherty was a boy of very few years he chewed tobacco. While at school one day, the story goes, the teacher, a young lady, found some tobacco on him. She took it much against Doherty's wishes When school opened after dinner Joe got out of his seat, walked up to the teacher's desk, pulled an old revolver out of his pocket and pointed it at the teacher, at the same time de-manding the tobacco. It is needless to say he got it. Another story is told of a French youth who died last spring after a brief illness. There was some talk as to the cause of his death at the time, but it was not very general. Since the crime of Hallawe'en occurred it has been revived. The story is current that Doherty and some other boy "rammed" the French ject the father of the French youth said he believed the "ramming" his son had received caused his death. Continuing he said: I was strongly advised to prosecute Doherty, but that could not bring back my boy to me, and as I have shown mercy to Doherty I hope to receive mercy should I ever be in need of it. opinion is freely expressed that Do-herty is of unsound mind. He has read a great number of dime novels, and prided himself in being a regular "woolly west" cowboy. His occupa-tion has so far been that of a butcher and you will find people who will say that the work of slaughtering cattle ince he was the veriest kid, in coninnetion with an overwhelming desire for exploit and excitment, had nuch to do with the affair by which Luke lost his life. The funeral of the late Arthur J. Luke was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The procession probably contained the largest number of people on foot that ever attended a funeral in Chatham. The Chatham brass band with muffled drums marched ed, playing the dead march. The funeral was under the auspices of I. O. G. T. lodge, No. 150, and the members marched in regalia and read their urial services at, the grave. N. McKay conducted the services and the interment was in St. John's Presbyterian cemetery.

THE INTENSE HEAT CAUSES HEART FAILURE

Act Wisely by Keeping Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Always Near by. The beauty of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is that it gives relief immediately. The testimony of thousands who have used this remedy is that where even death was feared, within half an hour after using the medicine the danger had passed way, and it was only a short time before the natural composure of the patient returned. The great risk with many who are troubled with heart disease is that they trifle with the disease, either by using medicines that are perfectly useless, or delaying reatment altogether. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart always gives ease effected an entire cure.

ONE DOLLAR SENT TO SUN PRINTING COMPANY NOW BY A WEEKLY SUN TILL 1st JANUARY,

Many U. S. Woollen Mills and Shoe Factories Shutting Down.

General Business at Montreal, Toronto, Hali-fax, Quebec, Winnipeg, etc.—The Week's Fallures.

New York, Nov. 1.-R. G. Dun & Co. n their weekly review of trade will say: The rapid recovery in cotton, and the rise in sterling exchange to a point at which the exports of gold were made, have not increased confidence. There is a little better demand for most manufactured products. Cotton has risen to 9 cents again, although the Financial Chronicle and Fillion intimating the yield at 7,000,000, and Neill at 8,000,000 bales, differ not widely. Either yield would exceed the world's consumption, with three million bales of American carried over. Receipts are at present very small compared with last year's, and it is stated that banks here have more money loaned on cotton to enable holders to keep it without marand the rise in sterling exchange to the boys he was shooting at. Doherty did not take a deliberate aim, but the more money loaned on cotton to enable holders to keep it without mar-

Wheat declined 13-4 cents and corn 21-2 cents, in spite of many adv reports about winter wheat, which will be marketed nine months hence. Very large estimates of the corn crop have depressed prices. Pork and lard are not much changed, though hog receipts and packing are heavy. The larger demand for manufactured products has held prices of cotton good and even advanced some prints in spite of last week's decline in cot-ton. The mills are said to be carrying only moderate stocks. More activity is also seen in iron and steel pro ducts. The nail combination has duced its November output to a third of its usual quantity, and the rail output is only about half the quantity required for renewals alone, which shows the enormous amount in use of steel for building and other purposes. Metals are weaker, and plate makers are taking a good part of the busi-ness by selling at ten cents below prices for foreign plate.

Many shoe factories have closed, and the shipments for the week have been 4 per cent. less than last year. The controlling fact is that have fallen 1-2 a cent for the week and 27 per cent. from the high point, and leather is declining randdly, but boot and shoe quotations are but slightly reduced. Nor has the demand for woollens improved, and every week the closing of additional milling is noted.

Failures for the week have been 278 in the United States, against 249 last year, and 53 in Canada, against 50 last year.

New York, Nov. 1.-Bradstreets tomorrow will say: Bank clearing houses at Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Halifax and Winnipeg report a total of $90,050,000 for the month of October, a gain of .9 of 1 per cent. as compared with the like total in 1894, and of 11 per cent. as contrasted with 1893. When compared with the October total for 1892 the Canadian cities show a decrease of 5 per cent. This week's bank clearings total at the same cities is $21,037,000, compared with $22,476,000 last week, and with $18,455,000 in the last week of October last year. Gen eral trade at Toronto in staple lines shows no new features, and prices renaining strong for dry goods and hardware. A similar situation is re-ported from Montreal. The demand for hardware and paints is relatively the most active; that for dry goods report satisfactory business. At Quebec city there is less than a seasonable volume of trade and no change from the preceding week. Hallfax reports a fair business in staple lines, with collections moderate. St. John advises that a large number of logs will be hung up for want of water and that business there is not active. The total number of mercantile fail ires reported from the dominion Canada this week is 48; last week 36.

and in this week one year ago 46. MRS MAYBRICK'S CASE.

The American Committee Much Encouraged by Dr. Winslow's Statement.

New York, Nov. 1.-The American nmittee of the Woman's International Maybrick association met today. The object of the association is secure the pardon of Florence E. Maybrick, the American woman who in 1889 was sentenced to life imprison ment in England for the murder of her husband, James Maybrick, a Liverpool cotton broker. The purpose of the meeting was to arrange for obtaining the necessary funds to carry on the work of the committee. To this end it has been decided to appeal to the women of England and America to open popular sub scriptions of one shilling in England and twenty-five cents in America. The American committee is much encouraged by a statement secontly made by Ford Winslow, the famous English alienist, who from the first has championed Mrs. Maybrick's cause. Dr. Winslow believes that Mrs Maybrick can be pardoned within six months time, if sufficient pressure is brought to bear by the proper authorities upon the English home secre tary.

HIGHLY ENDORSED. The Work of Rev. Ben-Oliel in Jerusalem

A few weeks ago a Boston paper published an article casting discredit upon the work of Rev. Ben-Oliel, a misisonary in Jerusalem, and also that of his daughter, Miss Florence Ben-Oliel, who has been lecturing in the maritime provinces in the interests of this mission. The reports to which the Boston paper give currency were sent to the leading papers in this province, and from them were copied into others. These statements are to the effect that Mr. Ben-Oliel has no mission in Jerusalem, or at least has none of any account.

These statements, it may be added, resemble in a very remarkable degree those circulated by an American consul at Jerusalem several months ago. At that time the friends of Miss Ben-Oliel took the matter up and proved beyond a doubt that the charges were false in every particular. A number of the leading clergymen in the United States, England and Scotland were communicated with and in every case they referred to Mr. Ben-Ollel as an honest man and a Christian, and spoke in the very high-

Arthur Payne of the Metropolitan tabernacle, son of one of Spurgeon's leading decomes, who spent several weeks whiting the missions in Palestine, writing to the late Rev. A. J. Gordon of Boston for the Wauchword, says speaking of Mr. Ben-Ohel: "It is my firm conviction that such a gifted servant of our common Lord, who has been placed in such an influential position, ought to receive open-hearted and substantial support. His knowledge of languages, his success in the past in dealing with the most hardened, all seem to call for our prayers and our purses on behalf of the Jerusalem Christian Union missions."

Thos. J. Emery, who was engaged by Rev. Mr. Gordon on behalf of Miss Ben-Ohlel, after looking into the matter thoroughly, wrote to the condens of the lord of the descriptions. Medicine.

ttacked With a Bad Cold, His Trouble Wen From Bad to Worse Until he Was Threat ened With Locomotor Ataxia—Then Dr Williams' Pink Pills Cured After Other

The remarkable cures affected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have long been a matter of newspaper notoriety, and many of them-well described as miracles-have been in our own province, but we believe so far none have been published from Yarmouth. A Times representative enquired where such matters would quarter likely be known, and learned that of restoration to health directly trace able to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills right in our midst. Curious to ascertain the facts in relation thereto, our representative called on Mr. Charles E. Trask, who had been known to have experienced a long illness, and now was apparently in excellent health, by W. C. Lea went aground on the bar on Saturday in going out of the harbor, but was floated off at high tide on Monday without damage. Crapaud, Oct. 22.—Our gental and worthy school principal, Mr. McPhall, appeared out at church on Student his cure being attributed to Pink Pills. Mr. Trask, who has been an accountin his office on John street when the reporter waited on him.

Found Mr. Trask in His Office "Yes," he said, "there can be no ossible doubt of the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my case and I will be pleased if the publication of the facts helps some other sufferer back to health. I caught cold, was careless and caught more cold. The first thing I knew I was seriously ill. could not walk. All strength seemed to have left my legs and the weakness increased. From being obliged to remain in the house I became obliged to remain in bed, but still supposed it was but a very bad cold. I became so helpless I could not move in bed without help. I had good at-tendance and the best of care and ursing, but as week succeeded week seemed to grow worse instead of better, till I was worn to a mere shadow and began to care very little if I ever recovered. A hint that I was threatened with something called loco-motor ataxia reminded a friend that my case seemed similar to some of those described in the Times, which had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this first drew attention to them as a possible aid to me. I admit that I was skeptical—very skeptical there are so many medicines being advertised just now, and I was never much of a believer in them. Well, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were purcha and I took them, as I suppose I would have taken anything else, simply as the routine of a sick room. The first box seemed to show little effect, and equal to the record one year ago, on Sunday last, and as a result it is while jobbers of groceries and teas report satisfactory business. At Que provement, and I was correspondingly encouraged. The pills were continued and I became rapidly better, so that I was able to sit up and go about the house, and occasionally go out if the weather was fine. Day by day I grew stronger, and to make a long story short, I feel I am today in as good health as ever I was in my life, and I can hardly realize I am the same man who suffered for six months, a helpless, despondent being who never expected to be on his feet again. While I have no desire for publicity am quite willing these facts should be made known for the benefit of others, and I am ready at any time to bear hearty testimony to the genuine worth of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

They restored me to health when I never expected to be about agin." Mr. Trask certainly looks the picture of health, and remembering the long period when he had been laid up our representative left, fully convinced that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have well deserved all that was said of them elsewhere. When such cases can be pointed to in our midst there can no longer be any doubt of the reliability of the many statements of wonderful cures effected throughout country.

Serious Charge Against Abbe Rousellot.

MARQUIS DE NAYV 'S TRIAL.

Bourges, France, Nov. 3.-The trial of Marquis de Nayve on the charge of murdering his stepson continues her accompanied by further sensational scenes. The two sons of accused Henry and Rene, declared today tha the evidence they had given at the magestrial enquiry had been dictated by the Abbe Rousellot, who testified yesterday that the marquis had treat ed his sons brutally and that he had been guilty of immoral conduct, as was exclusively cabled to the Associated Press.

The boy today testified that the abb dictated their testimony at the former enquiry in order to damage their father who did not treat them badly. Henry, when confronted by Abbe Rousell declared that his mother pletely under the priest's influence. Abbe Rousellott angrily gave the lie to Henry throughout the latter's testimony.

FAST RAILWAY TIME.

From Chicago to Atlanta, Ga., in a Little Less Than Twenty-Three Hours.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The fastest time ver made between the north and south by railroad was inaugurated today. The limited train leaving Chicago this morning over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad had the honor of initiating the record breaking. It will reach Atlanta, Ga., tomorrow at 4 p. m., making the running time 22 hours and 58 minutes. This, accoding to General Agent Stone, will be the regular daily standard hereafter. The change thus started it is said, is the beginning of a practical revolution in the operation o southern railway lines inevitably involving a vast network of roads and emphasizing the recent break-up of the Mason and Dixon line in transportation matters.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

Several errors occurred in the financial statement made on page two with reference to the receipt appointment of moneys by the N. B. and P. E. Island committee. The total amount raised by the General Missionary society is $237,496.57—a decrease of $13,900.64. An item of great interest to the maritime conferences is $18,999.83, being proceeds of securities belonging to the home mission fund which have been settled up and paid over to the Missionary society this year. The interest on these securities has been paid each year into the funds of the society. The sum of $18,999.83 added to the regular sources of income gives a net increase of a little over $3,000 as compared with last year. The following are the correct am-

James D. O'Connell, now of Boston, but a native of Havelock, Kings Co., where his family is well known, was in the city on Friday. Mr. O'Connell has lately returned from a trip to Europe and has been spending a week or two with old friends in Kings county. In conversation with a Sun reporter Mr. O'Connell said he had been much surprised and annoyed by a report current among some of his Kings county friends to the effect that one of his brothers had been hanged for murder. He has one brother in Boston and three in the town of Hope, Idaho. As these are all the brothers he has, and as they are all in perfect health and have always been law abiding citizens, neither accused nor even suspected of any wrong do-ing, he is at a loss to know how the story could have originated, unless some person of the same name was in some way confounded with a member of his family. Mr. O'Connell could hardly be expected to relish the sort of sympathy that well meaning friends lavished upon him. The story is absolutely without foundation. Mr. O'-Connell, who has been engaged in ton for the English market, has during the present year acquired a property in Sussex, and also owns a thousand acres or more in Havelock, and will within the next year retire from business in Boston and return to this

THE DEAD MAN AT THE WHEEL.

Five years ago this present summer (1893), an English sailing ship was struggling and tumbling in the midst of a cyclonic gale in the South Atlantic. As a part of the effort to bring the ship to the wind the mate sang out to the man at the wheel to put the helm hard over. Seeing that the man made no movement to obey the order, the mate rushed to him in a fit of rage. On getting in front of him the officer looked at him for an instant and ejaculated "My Gracious! The poor steersman's eyes were turned up in their sockets, the upper lip was withdrawn from the teeth, and the facial muscles fixed as though cast in bronze. He was dead, with his horny fingers still gripping the spokes. A stroke of lightning had done the job in the fraction of a second. He may have heard the first words of the mate's order and been deaf to all the others. But how long was the electric battery in the heavens loading for that fatal shot? Tell me that. But, you say, not many people are struck dead that way. True, not many comparatively. There are things, however—. Well, here's an incident that may help you to understand. In February, 1890, Mr. George Mar-tin, of 22 Smalley Road, Stoke Newington, London, was working at Ching-ford. One day while thus engaged a sharp pain struck across the small of his back. The writer of these lines once had that same pain strike him while he was washing his hands at a sink in his own house, and fell to the floor as though a musket ball had gone through him. Millions of men—(it's nearly always men, seldom women)—

The pain he speaks of disabled him as a blow from a club might have done. Or rather, he says, it felt like the thrust of a knife. He dropped his work and set out for home, but had trouble enough getting there, because he could not use his back. Every attempt to walk or to stir brought on the agony again. Finally, however, he home, and sent for a doctor immediately, who said he was suffering from gravel and prescribed some medicine. Getting worse, he consulted successively two other doctors. The last of these medical gentlemen as-

Only think of the deep wisdom these men. One said gravel, the other said stone. simple fact? Well, the last doctor recomm Mr. Martin to go to a hospital. So he went. He became a patient in the University College Hospital. This was in April, 1890. While there he passed a tone, suffering excruciating pain as the hard, angular substance tore the tender passages. Improving a little by and by he returned to his work, but was never well. In a letter, dated April 20th, 1893, he says, "Often I had to give up my work for a few days at time. For two years I was in this condition, suffering awfully. Finding the doctor's medicine did me no good, I made up my mind to try a medicine that three years ago cured my sister Mrs. Meory of Chelson, Torquay, after the doctors said she was incurable. I began taking it in November, 1891, and in two weeks a second stone came from me. But no more. I was soon as well as ever. This medicine-whichwas eigel's Syrup—cleared all the gravel from my system without giving me any pain. I have never had any sign of the complaint since.—(Signed) Geo. Martin.

We beg to shake hands with Mr. Martin. Probably he does not realize how narrow an escape he had from chronic and a deadly disease. The shock that struck him at Clingford was the opening gun, the first sensible touch of the poison—uroemia—kidney touch of the poison—uroemia—kidney secretion, uric acid in the blood. His case has a history of indigestion and dyspepsia—the foundation and cause of it all. Gravel, or stone, is formed by the uric acid uniting chemically with fine alkalies of the body. FATAL NEW YORK FIRE.

At Least Four Lives Lost in a Pelham Street Blaze.

New York, Nov. 3.—Several lives were lost in a fire which started about 1 a. m. on the second floor of the six-story brick building at 7 Pelham street and owned by Well and Meyer and used as a sweat shop. bodies were taken from the ruins and one man who jumped to save his life from the flames was so badly injured that he died soon afterward. The dead are: Tacob Shapiro, watchman; Isaac Penson, found in the ruins; unknown man found in the ruins.

Morris Dirchaer jumped from a cond story window and died in Gov-ernor hospital of a fractured skull. The fire, which originated from some unknown cause, spread with great rapidity through the building and the cuses adjoining.

Five alarms were sent in, and although a large number of engines were playing on the flames for hours, nothing could be done to save the structures themselves, and the buildings, numbering 3, 5, 7 and 9 were completely destroyed.

The fire caused terror in the thickly populated neighborhood, and people ran out of their houses into the pending destruction of their homes After the flames had been extinguished, because there was 'ittle more to burn, a search was being made for the dead. It was believed that many might be in the ruins. The first body, a totally unrecognizable mass of charred flesh and bones, was found in the doorway of building No. 7 at nine o'clock.

discovered on the third floor. This, too, was baiely recognizable, but was This, identified as that of Jacob Shapiro by relatives.

At 1 p. m. still another charred form of immense stature was found. This proved to be the remains of Isaac Penson, who was identified by his son, Jacob Person, of 342 Cherry street. The loss is estimated at Several buildings in the vicinity were-somewhat damaged by the heat of the flames, but the losses in no case were serious.
