Civil Service Reform

We boast of our devotion to British traditions, and often betray an unctuous Pharisaeism in our attitude towards the United States. The truth is, however, that in the regulation of the civil service we are half a century behind the neighboring country. Great Britain introduced the system of competitive examinations fifty years ago, and nothing has so contributed to the purity, the efficiency and the dignity of the British public service. In the United States practically the whole inside service is subject to an independent Civil Service Board, and gradually the whole outside service as well is passing under the control of the commission. The result has been to improve the character of the public service in marked degree and to rid the nation of enormous public evils. But in both countries a long and desperate contest was necessary to destroy the patronage system.—Toronto News.

Mr. John Carlton's Condition Improved

Lynedoch, Ont., July 13.—The report that Mr. John Carlton ex-M. P. had his leg amputated is incorrect. Instead their occurred what surgeons regard an almost remarkable instance of a withering away. A blood clot formed in an artery in the right leg, stopping circulation, and his life was despaired of. A short time thereafter, however, the whole leg, close up to the knee, withered away and dropped off. The only operation necessary for the surgeon was to remove a small portion of bone that protruded from the knee. The wound is nearly healed, and Mr. Carlton's condition is now regarded as quite favorable.

The usual instances of such a kind result from a severe frost bite. A numbness sets in if circulation is completely cut off, and the process of decay is often almost painless.

Piles are easily and quickly checked with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. To prove it I will mail a small trial box as a convincing test. Simply address Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. I surely would not send it free unless I was certain that Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment would stand the test. Remember it is made expressly and alone for swollen, painful, bleeding or itching piles, either external or internal. Large jar 50c. Sold by All Dealers.

Legal Ethics

Mr. Bryan argues that it is a crime that so many legal practitioners "sell themselves to the corporations." He believes the time will come when it will be held "not less disgraceful for a lawyer to assist in a gigantic robbery than for a highwayman to go out and hold up a wayfarer." These observations were made in support of a movement by leading members of the American bar to raise the ethics of the profession as a whole to a higher level. A committee of the Association, headed by Judge Parker and Judge Brewer, propose that candidates for the bar shall be required to bind themselves by oath to abstain from certain practices. They should counsel and maintain only such actions as appear to them as legally debatable and just. They should resort only to such means as are consistent with honor and truth and should never seek to mislead the judge or jury by any artifice or false statement of fact or law. They should be careful of the honor of parties and witnesses, should never reject the cause of the defenceless or oppressed, and should never delay any man's cause for money or malice. The objection to the course of action suggested is that lawyers of the first rank will observe these ethical principles without compulsion and that the less scrupulous will not be restrained by the imposition of any formal oath.

Canada's Future

Mr. W. J. Dawson, evangelist, who has spent some years in the United States and has also visited Canada, in a letter to the Christian World of London, England, tells the people of the old land that there is not even a whisper of political union with the American republic in the Dominion. Among other things he said of Canada: "Her sons believe in her. Among all the young men I have met from England, no one wishes to go back. It is the land of opportunity and they know it. Here there is abundant work for all who are not too fastidious—high wages and the certainty of success for ability and industry. The immense resources of Canada are only just beginning to be understood. What is wanted—no every-one says—for her development is capital. But her chief want is men. Kipling's recent invitation to England to pour in English immigrants, touches the heart of the problem. It is the sons of Great Britain who are most needed, men of sturdy strength and high character, and for such Canada offers a warm welcome."

Canada's Tercentenary

One of the interesting features of the Tercentenary will be the Tented City erected near the grand stand on the battlefield. This will furnish comfortable hotel accommodation at moderate prices to thousands. The tents are in three sizes. Tent "A" to accommodate twelve people comfortably, will cost $150 for the twelve days. Tent "B" to hold five beds, or four comfortably is $75; and Tent "C" to hold three beds, or two comfortably, is $50. Beds can be had separately in any of these classes for any number of days at $2 per bed per day in "B" and "C" and $1.50 in "A." Meals will be furnished at 50 cents each in three big dining tents. In another place meals will be served at 25 cents. The lavatory tents are equipped with drainage, water supply, and most modern conveniences.

Town Council

The Town Council met Tuesday evening 14th inst. with Mayor Lawrence in the chair—Aldermen all present except Ald. Craig. Records of last meeting were read and approved. Wm. Mersereau was granted a renewal of license to run a pool room.

The question of erection of telephone poles within the town evoked some discussion, and it was finally decided that the street committee have power to locate poles—that all poles shall be five inches at the top and twenty feet above ground. An order was passed authorizing the fire committee to make necessary changes and repairs on the fire wagon. A number of bills were presented and ordered paid. The salary of the town treasurer was increased fifty dollars per year, making it now one hundred and fifty dollars.

An invitation was extended the Weir-owners and Weirfishermen's Union to hold their annual picnic here. Edward McGrattan was elected school trustee to fill the vacancy caused by James Bogue whose term of office expired. Adjourned.

OBITUARY

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. Robert Tayte which occurred at his residence Tuesday morning after a lingering illness. The deceased is survived by his wife, three sons and four daughters. He was seventy-three years of age.

Mr. Tayte was born at Shellic, and came here when a boy. He was a respected and enterprising citizen, and the news of his death will be heard with the deepest regret by a large circle of friends. Greetings extend its deepest sympathy to all members of the family.

Mr. Luther Tayte, a brother, who has not been here for many years was present when his brother passed away. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2.30 o'clock.

It is the old story of a scarcity of fish, with a firm market and packers in Maine and elsewhere behind in their orders. In European waters the run of sardines continues very light. French cables to Strohmeier & Arpe of this city say that in France practically the only fishing is at Arachon. It has been a failure in other localities formerly noted for yielding fair harvests. In Norway some fish are being caught, but the quantity is poor. They are considered too soft for the making of good sardines.

An importation of Japanese sardines, per the steamer Kameric, by Strohmeier & Arpe, was made during the week. The firm of Bontiller & Co., of Centreville, Digby County, N. S., who were the pioneers in the kippered herring trade, of Nova Scotia, have recently increased the capacity of their plant, and will add sardines to the lines of fish in future put up.—Fishing Gazette.

Interesting Data Relative the Equitable's Proposed Building

Three times larger than world's biggest office building. Its weight will approximate 251,000 tons, or 503,000,000 pounds. Will have 1,500,000 square feet of rentable floor space. Annual rent $3,750,000; operating expenses $750,000, leaving $3,000,000 income on $20,000,000 investment, or a 12 per cent return.

Will be equipped with 38 elevators; experts figure 60 will be required. Ride in express elevator from street floor to top of building will consume three minutes, equal to ride in subway from Wall Street to Borough Hall, Brooklyn. Will have 2,750 offices. Allowing four persons to each office there will be a daily population of 15,000, exclusive of hordes of transients.

There will be 10,000 outside windows. One cleaner can do 35 of them in one day. Will take one man a year to clean them all. Force of 500 employees, with weekly payroll of $2,500, or $150,000 per annum, will be needed to take care of the building.

$60,000 will be spent for coal annually and $15,000 paid in water taxes. Will require water works to supply offices greater than the plants of many cities of the size of Syracuse. 62 story building.

Catarrh: Cannot be Cured

with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

WEDDING BELLS

MAGEE-WINSLOW

William J. Magee, a popular young man and an active member of the Young Men's Society of St. John and for some time manager of the society's baseball team, was married this morning to Margaret Winslow, daughter of Joseph Winslow, of 17 St. Patrick street. The marriage took place in the Cathedral at 6 o'clock in the presence of relatives and close friends of the bride and groom. The bride wore a pretty travelling suit of blue with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Rita Marshall, of St. George, who was attired in a costume of white point d'esprit with black picture hat and carried a bouquet of red roses. C. P. O'Neill was groomsmen.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Meahan and the bridal party then drove to Mr. Winslow's home where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Magee left on the steamer Government for a honeymoon trip to include Boston, New York and other United States cities. They will make their home at 23 Carmarthen street. That both are popular is shown by a very large and fine array of wedding presents received. Many friends will offer hearty congratulations and good wishes.

Mr. J. C. McAdam, granite manufacturer of Amherst, was in town this week erecting a handsome block granite monument in the old burying ground, to the memory of the late Mr. William Hall.—Springhill Tribune.

Thanksgiving Will be on a Monday

Ottawa, July 16.—In Commons yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier in reply to a question by Mr. Kemp, stated that Thanksgiving Day this year would be on a Monday instead of a Thursday as usual. The change had been specially requested by commercial travellers associations, and the government had decided that in the interests of business men and the public generally Monday would be most convenient for Thanksgiving.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Such a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn boys' growths back to fish heads. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfect, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism but now, at last, I can cure all curable cases of this deplorable disease. These cases are Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Sciatica, Neuralgia, and all the other ailments that result from the accumulation of uric acid in the system, and the taking of this remedy as directed will remove the uric acid from the system, and the Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no need of special exercise to suffer longer with this disease. Well, and in confidence recommend

The Gastric Juices Are Not Doing Their Duty and You're in the Grip of Nervous Dyspepsia

A putrefied and sour indigested food rise in your mouth.

Your vision is crossed with specks that float before the eyes.

Very shortly you'll have nausea, rank breath and sleepless nights.

What you need is Ferrozone.

It regulates the gastric juices, puts new life into the stomach, braces digestive powers, gives the aid that's so badly required.

Ferrozone is the best treatment because it goes to the root of the trouble, remedies the conditions that cause dyspepsia and thereby cures permanently.

If you want proof, read the experience of Mr. E. P. Davison, a well known editor of Portland, who writes:

"Ferrozone is beyond doubt a most powerful cure for indigestion and weak stomach. Food so badly digested, with a sour taste and offensive breath, greasy stools, my weight ran down, and I was almost afraid to eat."

After using Ferrozone for a few days, I felt better, my weight began to increase, and my looks fully indicated all that was wrong. Ferrozone cured me on my feet again. It braced up, renewed my digestion and made me well man."

Doctor and patients alike speak of the merit of Ferrozone; it is different from other remedies, different because it cures you stay cured. Try it; sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

The Greatest Fireman in the World.

Traffic on the Broadway side of Madison square stock-stilled as in that five minutes when President McKinley was buried.

Motors halted with protesting grunts. Wagoners and cabbies whooped.

Thousands of listening ears heard a raucous clang of nervous, jerky, screeching alarm—and red and shot from Fifth Avenue into the square, shot toward the Flatiron passed the motionless vehicular phalanx, plunging into Broadway and out of sight, writes Gilson Villeta, describing Chief Edward F. Crocker and his fire-fighters in Broadway Magazine for June.

Three minutes previous to the flag of the big red motor past the Flatiron Chief Crocker was working at the desk at fire-headquarters in West Sixty-seven street, creating, examining, signing documents in the case as the Big Protector of despicable property worth a billion and a half. Here for four hours every morning of his nine years as chief (four hours minus time spent at fires) he listened to the minutiae of reports and orders relating to the forty-one hundred officers and fire laddies under him and the millions of dollars in equipment allowed him.

Chief Crocker is, indeed, head of the most efficient, best equipped and largest fire department in the world, working in the biggest fire area in North or South America. His fighting territory covers more than three hundred square miles in which there are two hundred and twenty-five posts (fire houses) garrisoned by a number of men equal to four full infantry regiments.

The best known fireman in the world, on arriving at the Hudson street blaze, took in all details at a glance—as a general, newly arrived on the battlefield, could size up the fight. "Stretch in other there," he cried, meaning that they should lay another line of hose.

And he followed this, with a volley of their commands issued Maxim style.

Now came one of those almost daily happenings that cause the rank and file to adore their chief. There were stints, ls, combustibles in the cellar of the spring building. To enter might mean walk into an explosion. But, though was like searching out death to grip it, the throat and throttle it, that cellar was entered. Crocker ordered two men to "Get in there!"

For an immeasurable fraction of a second the two firemen hung back.

"H—!" said Crocker. "Come on!" and he led the way into the maw of possible eternity. In the cellar he and his men did what had to be done. Then they crawled out—and hardly was the cruel completed when their was a terrific explosion in the cellar.

And that was a fireproof building.

"What is fireproof, Chief?" "Nothing," he answers. "There are no fireproofs."

A Great Assembly

What is perhaps the greatest gathering in the history of the English church opens today in London. Delegates from Africa, India, China, Austria, Central America and every part of the United Kingdom, including bishops and clergymen and lay delegates of both sexes, are now assembled for the Pan Anglican Congress, one of the most important meetings in the history of Protestantism.

Eight thousand members representing practically one hundred millions of people will take part in the various branches of the assembly and the work which they will do directly concerns every congregation and every home.

Speaking of the Congress the New York Sun remarks: "It is evident from the programme that the Church of England and the British Colonies are feeling awake to the tendencies of our day, aim to understand their meaning, to give direction where the way is dark and to kindle a new and ardent sympathy with all promising attempts to ameliorate the light of human beings. That in truth is the fundamental motive of the Anglo Congress."

It was arranged some time ago that every Bishop should bring to the assembly a thank offering from his Diocese, either money or any men and women willing to undertake work in the mission field. The expectation is that a million pounds in cash will be raised, a portion of which will go to Canada in order to carry out the establishment of a new diocese at Edmonton. The Bishop of Winchester and ten of his clergy will volunteer for service in Western Canada.

Plans have been prepared for the establishment of new dioceses in Northern Australia, Khartoum, Singapore, North Rhodesia and Manelauria, which will bring the total number of dioceses of the Church of England throughout the world to two hundred and fifty-seven.

Some of the chief problems which will be considered by the Congress are: The sanctity of marriage, the drink traffic, gambling, luxury, companies and dividends, the unemployed, training for Holy Orders, the relations between local churches and the Anglican Communion, monopolies and trusts, the duty of the Clergy to society reform, Christian science, dramatic literature, journalism, ministry and laymen, reality and inspiration, Christianity and Socialism.

These and many other questions will be handled at sectional meetings, such as those adopted by the British Association. The sections are seven in number, and are classified as follows: The church and human society, the church and human thought, the church's ministry, the church's mission in non-Christian lands, the church's mission in Christendom, the constitution and organization of the church, the church's duty to the young.

Following this assembly the Lambeth Conference will be held, so that the present month will be one of great importance in the history of the Anglican church.

A Forward Step

That the new Civil Service Bill which the Laurier Government is putting through Parliament is regarded abroad as a measure of substantial reform is indicated by the following editorial review of its outstanding features by the New York Times, one of the solid papers of the United States. Says the Times: "The American system of regulating appointments to the Civil Service by competitive examinations conducted by an independent commission is provided for in a Bill just introduced in the Canadian Parliament by the Government, and will doubtless be adopted. The principle is applied to promotions also. The Bill is introduced relates only to the Departments at Ottawa, but can be extended to the outside service, which is much the larger, at any time by an Order-in-Council. The system contemplated originated some 60 years since in England and passes to the chief daughter State after adoption by the United States. It marks a definite step forward in sound administration." And it might be added that the whole regime of the Laurier Government has been signalized by definite steps forward in sound administration. It is a Government which does things.

HAVE YOU MADE A MISTAKE

We all make them occasionally and when we discover our mistakes the best thing we can do is to correct them with as little delay as possible. Many honest people have been induced to buy inferior cream separators because of false statements made by the manufacturers and their agents. Others have bought cheaply constructed machines for which great claims are made and which are advertised as being sold at a great reduction in price by mail order houses and others who have no reputation to sustain, and who have no interest in the separators they sell other than to convert them into money. As a matter of fact these machines are sold at a higher percentage of profit than is asked for Tubular Separators. They are cheaply built and scarcely worth anything at all. To those who have been unfortunate enough to buy these inferior machines we offer relief. We want them to enjoy using the best separator made and will help them to do so. If you have an unsatisfactory separator and want a good one come to us for information regarding our exchange proposition.

Law Should be Changed

The people of Canada have another object lesson in the decisions given by two Judges, in election cases in the recent elections in Quebec and Ontario. There is a glaring injustice done to one or the other of the candidates, and the law should no longer be allowed to exist as it is. The decision of the voters in choosing a candidate should not be set aside by any irregularity through ignorance of a presiding officer, especially where it is admitted that he committed the irregularity without impartiality.

The two cases are these: In the Ottawa county election, at poll No. 2, Buckingham South, all the ballots, sixty in number, were set aside by Judge Rochon, because the deputy-returning officer had not put his initials on the back.

In the St. Ann's division election, Montreal, at poll No. 50, the ballots did not have the initials of the deputy-returning officer. Nevertheless, Judge Archibald admitted them as good, because it was evident they were the same that had been placed in the ballot box by the deputy-returning officer, and they had no mark by which the names of those who had used them could be known. In that poll Mr. Tansy had a majority of 11 votes.

If Judge Archibald had decided the same as Judge Rochon, Mr. Walsh would have remained elected by 9 votes. Independently of the result the contradiction in the two decisions is confusing.

The Duty of a Newspaper

Contradicting the reports that La Presse was to be other than an independent newspaper under the renewed management of Mr. Berthiaume and denying that Sir Wilfrid Laurier or any other political leader was interested in its transfer from the possession of Mr. David Russell and McKenzie and Mann, the newspaper remarks: "We might perhaps add as an indiscretion, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was, from the very beginning, the principal party to that unconditional repurchase of La Presse. For after all, said he to all those willing to hear him, conscientious leaders prefer that the truth should come to them. Why should not La Presse honestly tell me as well as others, what it thinks of me?"

No leader worth following would ask more of any newspaper or any man, and no newspaper worth consulting would grant more.

A party newspaper that bases its advocacy upon any other foundation than the truth, fairly presented and honestly interpreted, is worse than useless to its party and is a curse to the community it professes to serve.

There are two sides to every public question, and every newspaper has a right to hold its own opinions and to attempt, if it desires, to lead others to its way of thinking. But the paper that, in this attempt, perverts or suppresses facts, defeats its own purpose. A lie of any kind, especially a political lie, seldom escapes detection and the word of a known liar, whether a man or a newspaper has no weight.

This necessity of literal exactitude applies especially to the news columns. Naturally there must be more latitude on the editorial page. From a given fact to men, though both are sincere, are very apt to deduce widely different conclusions. Each man's vision is different in some degree, from the vision of all other men. So as long as editorial comment is written honestly and rings true, there is little ground for complaint, and the newspaper's influence is only injured in so far as events may prove the comment incorrect. But in the presentation of news, political or otherwise, there is no room for variation to the right hand or the left.

The Fourth Estate, a newspaper published in New York for makers of newspapers, states the case concisely and truthfully in a recent issue as follows:

"To its readers, to the persons written about and to itself a newspaper owes the duty of the utmost accuracy. A report colored by any kind of partisanship is an abomination, however smart it may be.

"Complaints by candidates for office that they are not fairly treated in the news columns of opposition papers are not always reasonable, it is true, for the office-seeker is naturally prone to regard as biased any published matter not altogether favorable to him. But the complaints are by no means groundless. A paper that refuses candid and impartial news report of what goes on in the enemy's camp does not perform a service to its party. It merely weakens the confidence of its readers in it for in the long run the truth comes out anyway.

"A one-sided news report, moreover, is a survival of that provincialism that has been so often cultivated in American newspapers, even in those published in large cities.

"Let the editorial writers say what conscience and policy may dictate but let us have no coloring of the news."

Prospect of a Great Harvest

At the beginning of another national year, the forty-first of confederation, there is reason to hope that one of the most prosperous years of all is in view. True, the business depression of the past twelvemonth or more is not absolutely past, either here or elsewhere. But the harvest prospects in America are so excellent as to leave little doubt of an early and more satisfactory restoration of business vigor throughout the continent, while as to Canada in particular, not only are present business conditions better than in most parts of the United States, but the harvest seems likely to prove the best beyond comparison this country has been blessed with. In every part of Canada, east and west, the story is the same of a splendid agricultural promise.

The most prominent feature of the outlook is the Northwest grain crop. Conditions seem to continue perfect for an abnormal product per acre there. Most of us probably fail to realize what this might mean. In a recent utterance by a prominent bank manager, a concise idea was given. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, general manager of the Imperial Bank, said in his address at the annual meeting:

"The acreage under crop in the three northwest provinces in 1906 was 7,900,000 acres, in 1907 it was 8,300,000, in 1908 the acreage is estimated at 9,500,000, but the yield in 1907 was only 165,000, 000 bushels as compared with 212,300, 000 bushels in 1906. Fortunately, the price of grain was much higher in 1907 than in 1906, but notwithstanding this there was a falling off in the net cash receipts from the crop of about $20,000, 000."

There is, therefore, this year not merely one million two hundred thousand acres more than last year growing grain in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, but the prospect of a yield per acre is greatly more; while the selling price does not seem likely to be much less per bushel. As compared with the bumper year 1906, Mr. Wilkie states that there are one million six hundred thousand more acres under cultivation. The yield per acre is said to be likely to be larger, and the prices as good or better.

Mr. Wilkie in his summing up of the situation said: "There is every indication of a magnificent harvest throughout the northwest; nothing could be of greater service to us and to every Canadian banking institution, and we hope when we meet you next year to demonstrate that we have not only been able but also willing through our own resources to avail ourselves of the opportunities to take on a full share of the increased trade which must follow upon agricultural prosperity."

In this, Mr. Wilkie specifies only the Northwest, but as we have remarked, the outlook is similar elsewhere. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia, are all expecting an exceptional harvest. It is said that the hay and clover crop of Ontario alone will be worth over twenty million dollars more than last year's.

Debt is the beginning of slavery. A creditor is worse than a master, for a master possess only your person, a creditor possess your dignity and he spurs it with a blow.

HIGH TARIFF TALK

"Canada's purchasers abroad are on the increase and our factories are working full time!" Is there anything deplorable in this?

Yet the ones who uttered these words, speaking for the manufacturers, demands a tariff wall that would secure for the manufacturer freedom from competition. Will they ever be satisfied until they are so placed as that they may make their price and the people will be under the necessity of paying it? We are reminded of the story of the cook on board ship who by mistake gave the fore-castle hands some food that had been prepared for the cabin, with the result that they declared that the meat was no good because it had no "chaw" in it. Their worries, the manufacturers attribute to a defective fiscal system.

Then further they demand that the Dominion Government should bring skilled artisans into the country. They condemn the Government for confining its efforts to the encouragement of the immigration of agriculturists and railway laborers. In other words the demand is that to make the existing situation still more attractive to the manufacturers, workmen should be brought in at the country's expense, to which organized labor objects most strenuously.

Deploping of imports has come to be a matter of regular ritual to the extreme protectionist. They are altogether unmindful of the fact that a generous volume of imports means a good rate of payment for the exports for which they are exchanged.

The manufacturers must depend on the industry of the farmers for their market, and the farmer could not get paid for their exports if no imports were allowed. Limitation of imports demands so much out of the pockets of the producers of the agricultural output of the country. Protection now to a very high degree, the manufacturer has to ask for more means to grind the people.

There is no change it would seem in the granite situation. A strike in any industry is a serious matter to the community in which it occurs, but when that industry is the chief source of revenue to a locality, as is the case of the granite industry in this place, then a strike means a calamity to everyone who lives in the town in which it occurs. In this age of strife between labor and capital there is very apt to be lacking that clear unbiased judgment so necessary in settling a difficulty of such an intricate nature. Every thinking workman and every thoughtful employer must realize the fact that one needs the other and that their interests are inseparably connected and that the welfare of the one must be the thought of the other. The employer must not think that the interests of the workman conflict with his, nor must the workman envy the prosperity of the man for whom he works—they both have their just claims, and if the one robs the other calamity will surely come sooner or later to both. It is a well known fact that all wealth is produced by labor, and that even the money or capital which starts a business and carries it forward is labor concentrated and turned into an exchangeable commodity.

Now the only difference between the employer and the employed, is that the employer has his labor in the shape of an exchangeable article; it may be in money, plant or other property, or all of these, which he places at the disposal of the working man to enable him to change his labor also into a concrete and exchangeable article. The employer fixes a certain value on this money or property he places at the disposal of those who work for him, and this is generally spoken of as the profit of capital. What should the employer have profit upon? First, the money he places in the business should return him the interest which money commands in the open market in safe and conservative investments, this rate of interest varies from 3 to 4 1/2 per cent. Second, the risk which a manufacturer takes in conducting a business also demands consideration. This is a difficult thing upon which to place a value; for in some industries it is much greater than in others and there can be no fixed value on this item of profit. Third, there is the wear and depreciation in the value of the plant with which an industry is conducted—these three claims will cover all the demands of capital.

What has labor to place against this? First, the cost of preparing to do skilled work. In many trades several years are required—stone cutting for instance requires an apprenticeship of three years. Second, the value of the labor given. Third, the risk or hazard of the work which in stone cutting is considerable. It will readily be seen that both parties to the disagreement have just claims upon each other—and these claims are alike than would appear at first sight. There has been, is, and no doubt always will be difficulty between labor and capital. But as the minds of men broaden there will doubtless be a less selfish view taken of these difficulties which will arise from time to time between the great partners who carry on the industries of the world. The mistake which prevailed in the past with the employers of labor was that of getting all possible from the partner in the business was being robbed of his just dues. This course was pursued relentlessly until the workmen were driven into open revolt and the Unions saved the laborer from total slavery. It would seem that history is about to repeat itself; for with the splendid organization which labor possesses, there very often appears to be lacking that generosity and forbearance which should always accompany power, and the labor Unions often act as though they like the employers of old, would take the pound of flesh and glory in the power of taking. Such tactics on either side will surely ruin both labor and capital.

So imminent is the danger, that the governments of many countries are attempting to deal with the all important question. Measures are being taken to enforce arbitration if necessary in industries of such magnitude—as would be endangered by labor difficulties, effect the well-being of the state.

It can readily be seen what a long strike in a great industry means to a community. In this strike here in St. George for example a loss of $10,000 has occurred to the town and this loss is irrevocable. Short as the trouble has been the effect is already far reaching and no man can say where it will end if this state of affairs should continue any length of time. The solution of the difficulty would seem to be in arbitration. Both parties think they are in the right, both have grievances, both have just claims, but surely there is some place between the claims of each where justice lies and where both parties to the quarrel may meet to bury their differences and once more continue a relationship which will be profitable to all concerned.

"The reason that it is so warm," says an eminent meteorologist, is that we have been having a hot spell. That is all I know about it and it is all anybody knows about it." Wise!

A correspondent writes: "We can't take a drink, can't smoke a cigarette can't use curs words—can't give our opinion of the people who are responsible for the town's incorporation—can't do anything but pay taxes. Thank heaven they have not taken that right away from us, but I am looking for something worse,—more increase in taxes."

It is said the art of whistling will soon be counted among the lost, unless there is a revival of the cherry spirit that seems to be forsaking men. Nobody whistles as he works in these strenuous days. He has too much on his mind to pucker his lips in a whistle. Nor does he hum or sing to himself for that matter. Life is, if not downright sad, too busy for that joyous and unconscious expression of contentment. The London Queen says whistling is terribly neglected. Only the birds remain faithful. But it would appear in some localities that even they are losing heart for song.—Ex.

In the course of a recent interview, Sir Thomas Shongnessy made the following observations relative to the duties of those who live in cities and towns:—

To secure good sewerage, to keep the streets neat and clean, to make the place attractive and healthful are absolute necessities. Then comes the beautifying stage. Beauty is a good asset. The scenic wealth of the Canadian Rockies is worth a mint of money to the Canadian Pacific Railway, and while the loveliness of the mountains cannot of course be reproduced elsewhere, it is an object lesson which should appeal even to the sordid, for the attractiveness of a place brings visitors from afar. And the average tourist who is pleased with a place is a generous money spender.

The chairman of the school board, Mr. Edw. McGrattan was graciously permitted to serve out his term. At the time of his appointment he was not a candidate for the office, and only accepted because urged to do so. Mr. McGrattan is forced to step aside, not through any objection or criticism of his work as chairman of the board, but merely to carry out a programme that is being put through all over the Province. Mr. McGrattan is quite willing to abide by this programme, as are all officials who have proved most satisfactory in office. Not a whisper of adverse criticism has been heard condemnatory of the school board, thus forcing the conclusion that the affairs of the schools are admirably administered, and there is no valid reason for making a change in those responsible for such good results.

He was brought to St. George and Dr. Alexander summoned, who on examination found a bad fracture of the arm. The injury was attended to and the young man, while suffering a great deal, is getting along as well as possible.

Mr. C. E. King and others have returned to Grand Manan, having completed the season's business at their fishing and packing factories here. The industry just referred to, while it lasts, is a boon to the community. A good amount of cash is placed in circulation and it must be said for the boys from Grand Manan they are a credit to their island home, an industrious, sober, well behaved set of men.—Port Elgin Cor. Sackville Tribune.

While on a trip up the Tobique River, Surveyor-General Grimmer had a rather exciting adventure. One evening the surveyor-general, accompanied by Miss Hazen and Miss Grimmer, with Messrs. Moore and Crammins as canoe men, went out after dark with a jack lantern to look for moose. With a light in the canoe the canoe is invisible to the moose and it is possible to get very close as the animals stand in the water. Quite a number were seen and finally the canoe passed quite close to a large bull and in doing so the light from the lantern was turned full on him. This happened in a narrow stream or began at the head of the lake and the shadows of the trees cast by the lantern alarmed the moose so that in rushing for the opposite bank, he bounded with his fore feet right into the canoe, which was invisible to him, and went right over it, sinking it with his weight. The animal struck the surveyor-general and bruised him considerably. Fortunately there were only a few feet of water where the adventure occurred and the party escaped with nothing worse than a ducking. The guides, in referring to the incident, said the moose was not attacking the canoe or its occupants but was alarmed by the shadows cast by the lantern.—Moncton Transcript.

August 10th is the day fixed for the Weir owners and Weir fishermen's Union picnic. A committee headed by Mayor Lawrence is actively at work completing arrangements. The ladies of the Baptist and St. Mark's churches will provide dinner—two bands will furnish music, and an excellent program of sports will be carried out for which suitable prizes will be given. There will probably be an excursion from St. Stephen on str. H. F. Eaton, and excursions from the Islands, Eastport and other places. Contributions will be received by Mr. G. Frauley, it is hoped that those who can will contribute generously in order to make the day the biggest of the season. The official program will be announced in our issue of August 5th.

The storm of Saturday night and early Sunday morning played havoc with the road improvements on Portage and Main streets. An ex-alderman who owns a cow and lives on the outskirts of the town, has been in the habit of placing a creamer in the cold waters of a spring close by his residence and night after night the contents would disappear. The other evening he determined he would capture the culprit. The night was warm, so arming himself with a shillalah of good dimensions he sat himself down on the bank within sight of the spring and the creamer. For hours he kept the vigil, and many pipes of tobacco he consumed and many castles built. Then he began to feel hungry and after a time went into the house for a mouthful, cutting the big end off a loaf of the staff of life he stationed himself in a window overlooking the spring and after a time satisfied his hunger—then back he went to his station by the water and found his creamer gone, which all goes to show that a watcher should never get hungry or, should carry his lunch with him.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" householder? Means furnace can be operated without fear as to "puffing" gas; furnace can be left without doubt as to whereabouts of gas.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" coal account? It means, instead of owner with "ordinary furnace" fear having to keep check-draft indefinitely closed to "let off" gas—when there's two-thirds parts of heat-energy to one part of gas passing up chimney—draft can with all safety be opened, and coal saved for another day's duty.

"Scandals" Exploded

The true purpose of Parliament is to discuss the affairs of the nation, not the character of the members of the Government. The action, when it returns to the office, shows that it has confidence in their character; and no Opposition has a right to go out of its way, as the present Opposition, has done, to tear in pieces the reputation of the Government, either collectively or individually. Besides, as matters have turned out thus far, it has been a sheer waste of time. For, in no single respect, has anything discreditable been brought home to any minister in authority.

How, George E. Foster tried to make a scandal out of the Minister of Marine's expenses to the Colonial Conference. The money was not voted in time for the conference; and as the minister was also going to Europe to see about an icebreaker, he took the whole of his expenses from the icebreaker appropriation. Mr. Foster accused Mr. Brodeur of having "stolen" the money, but it was shown that if Mr. Brodeur had "stolen" this money, Mr. Foster when he was in the Cabinet of the last Conservative administration, had done worse. He not only wrongly took his travelling expenses out of a vote for commercial agencies, but he never returned the money; whereas Mr. Brodeur did, when he got his appropriation for the Colonial Conference, return the money to the icebreaker vote. In this way the icebreaker vote may be regarded as having given the minister "temporary accommodation" to the extent of his bids and those of his rivals being so Colonial Conference expenses; and, under the circumstances, the greatest stickler for recititude would not charge anything improper against the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Mr. Foster, when a minister of the Crown, also did some voyaging, and it was shown that, if Mr. Brodeur's expenses were excessive, Mr. Foster was not less extravagant. The result of two months' agitation, culminating in a go upon; and the Government's three days' and nights' continuous session, was that Mr. Foster withdrew the word "stolen" and, in effect, apologized.

The next great line of attack was the Government's policy and practise of disposing of timber limits. As to policy, the Government was shown to have continued that of their predecessors—only with a little more regard for the public interest. The Conservative Government had literally given away thousands of acres of timber lands without exacting a dollar bonus; whereas the present Government had always received a bonus on whatever timber land it had disposed of. The Opposition were beaten on the point of policy; and it then concentrated its fire on the personal association of T. A. Burrows with the late Minister of Interior. Mr. Burrows, before he was returned in 1904, successfully tendered for some 19 timber berths in Western Canada; and owned a part interest in the Imperial Pulp Company. But his total interest in timber limits did not exceed 640 square miles, and much of this was very poorly timbered. The Conservatives made the country believe that Mr. Burrows was monarch of nearly half a continent of timber; whereas there are Conservatives in Ottawa and Montreal that own seven times as much as he does, and there is a company in the Rocky Mountains that has obtained over 60 limits since the Laurier Government rose to office. Mr. Burrows, moreover, paid much more in bonus than his competitors; and if he had obtained such information as the Opposition allege he corruptly obtained through J. G. Turiff (the late Commissioner of Dominion Lands), he foolishly threw away many thousands of dollars.

The investigation before the Public Accounts Committee proved that Mr. Turiff opened the tenders in the presence of his secretary, who kept a tally of the amounts of the tenders as they were received, and who swore that as far as could be seen, there was nothing unusual or underhand in connection with the receipt or awarding of the tenders. Mr. Burrows' statement in the House of Commons, in the closing debate on the subject, was a complete explanation of his dealings with the Department of Interior, and left no room for any inference of corruption, the difference between his bids and those of his rivals being so substantial that no one would contemplate that he would be so generous as to give the Government such large margins if he had had inside information of the amounts of his rivals' tenders.

The third alleged scandal, which was developed from time to time during the session, was the Ross rifle. Here there was absolutely nothing to give the Government such large margins if he had had inside information of the amounts of his rivals' tenders. The third alleged scandal, which was developed from time to time during the session, was the Ross rifle. Here there was absolutely nothing to give the Government such large margins if he had had inside information of the amounts of his rivals' tenders. The third alleged scandal, which was developed from time to time during the session, was the Ross rifle. Here there was absolutely nothing to give the Government such large margins if he had had inside information of the amounts of his rivals' tenders.

Lee-Enfield—from the Government factory in Great Britain, could be laid down in Canada. There was not a tittle of evidence of any graft either on the part of the Minister of Militia or of the Military critic of the Opposition, who was unfortunate enough to side with the minister.

The fourth alleged "scandal," which was fabricated rather late in the session, was that the Minister of Militia had first induced the Government to give aid to cold storage companies and then formed a company to take advantage of such aid. The facts were that, before the policy was adopted on the recommendation of the House of Commons, the Minister of Militia incorporated a company, in which he had a predominating interest, but, on the Government adopting the policy of aiding cold storage, he disbanded the company; and one of his associates became interested in the New Brunswick Cold Storage Company, which subsequently obtained a Government subsidy. Everyone in New Brunswick admits that the company is well worthy of such aid, for it is well equipped and will give farmers a full opportunity of getting their produce in the British and European markets in a condition to enable them to secure the highest prices. The Minister of Militia took a patriotic interest in giving this service to the producers in the Maritime provinces; and, if the Government had not adopted the policy it did, he would have gone on with his company. Yet the Opposition deftly made it appear that the Minister of Militia has a "cold storage graft."

The fifth and most recently exploded "scandal" is the Hodgins charges. Here the country was being robbed of $4,000,000 through over-classification. He now says that it is a question for arbitration; and the inquiry has been closed. The result of the investigation has only been to cause doubt as to the standing of Mayor Hodgins as an engineer; and it is to be regretted that he should have ever been so foolish as to let his feelings over his enforced resignation overcome his better judgment. When he made the statements he did to the "Victoria Colonist" he was, undoubtedly, the victim of very bitter feelings and, if he had allowed the balm of time to heal the soreness which he naturally felt, he would, no doubt, have never let himself become the subject of such questionable notoriety. The incident is practically closed, however, and the public will be glad to know that the commission which has been entrusted with the oversight of the National Transcontinental is neither lacking in its sense of duty nor incompetent as guardian of the public interest.

Pain will depart in exactly 20 minutes if one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets is taken. Pain anywhere, remember! Pain always means congestion, blood pressure—nothing else. Headache is blood pressure; toothache is blood pressure on the sensitive nerve. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—also called Pink Pain Tablets—quickly and safely coax this blood pressure away from pain centers. Painful periods with women get instant relief. 20 Tablets 25c. The St. John Exhibition

We have just received a copy of the St. John Exhibition Prize List. Its general make-up speaks well for Mr. R. H. Arnold, the energetic manager of the Exhibition Association. The Exhibition will open on September 12th and close on September 19th. Competition is open to the world. Fifteen thousand dollars are offered in premiums which are divided among the following sections—Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry, Butter and Cheese, Agricultural Products, Horticulture, Honey and Apiary Supplies, Natural History and Fine Arts. The prizes offered are well worth going after by anyone who has "the goods."

While we have no doubt that side shows will be in evidence, we are glad to note that Manager Arnold, who is a practical farmer himself does not attempt to hoodwink the farmers of the Province by giving these side shows so much prominence in his advertising as has been customary heretofore. Mr. Arnold has a different view of an industrial and agricultural fair. He believes farmers now-a-days are too intelligent to spend their time and money on that which is not bread. The bread they come to seek at an agricultural exhibition is sound agricultural knowledge. Good judgement is shown in not lauding the side shows. The people who are light-headed enough to seek such quarters will find their medium. Mr. Arnold's aim is to have a strong agricultural exhibition and we trust he will meet with the encouragement that his zeal merits.—Maritime Farmer.

Heat prostrates the nerves. In the summer one needs a tonic to off-set the customary hot weather. Nerve and strength depression. You will feel better within 48 hours after beginning to take such a remedy as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its prompt action in restoring the weakened nerves is surprising. Of course, you won't get entirely strong in a few days, but each day you can actually see the improvement. That tired, lifeless, spiritless, feeling will quickly depart when using the Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will sharpen a failing appetite; it aids digestion; it will strengthen the weakened Kidneys and Heart by simply rebuilding the worn-out nerves that these organs depend upon. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by All Dealers.

A Cheerful Countenance

There is as much truth as poetry in the lines:

"Laugh and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone."

And perhaps it is well. There is inevitable sadness enough in each lot without adopting that of others. Sympathy for real troubles should always be given, along with what help is possible. But there are many persons who, especially in their own families, talk too much of their own ills and troubles, although they are always smiling and genial among strangers, and ever ready with a pleasant "thank you" for every service rendered. If they can rise above their despondencies in the presence of strangers, with a persistent effort they can stay above them at home, till they may in the end forget a part of them, at least, in finding how much better they are liked by those around them. If you would pass successfully through life, wear a bright face and a pleasing manner even though they may sometimes mask a heavy heart.

If brothers or sisters err, the world says "shun them; thus you will show that you disapprove of the act, making an example of them." Alas! how many examples we have of this mode of teaching crowding the haunts of many to-day. Once bright, young lives, over whose pure lips and innocent brows mothers watched in all earnestness; but the trembling feet took one false step, and so we thrust them out of our hearts, out of our hunches, and would even thrust them out of heaven. Is it right, is it just, is it Christ-like?

Don't Worry

The need of some place to drop down for a moment and forget things is a crying one in most homes. There ought to be enough sofas around to accommodate all the family. Five minutes rest will prevent many a family row, and how can you get rest if you have to pull shams off the beds and roll up the coverlid? A shabby old lounge where you can get at it is worth its weight in gold; and you won't want to die half so many times if you make use of it. The loosening of the tension for ever so few minutes may save your reason some day. Don't go out and try to walk off your worries; don't tell them to your friend either. Just throw yourself down on the sofa for a little while; shut your eyes and pretend you have no care. The worries will be lighter before you realize it, your brain will be clearer and your f stronger to meet those that are closest.

Fair Lists Must Be Had

The Dominion government has given up its intention of having the Manitoba lists prepared and revised under Dominion auspices. The lists, as recently prepared and revised under provincial auspices, will be accepted and a board of judges will superintend the distribution of the voters into the various Dominion constituencies and the allocation of the same to their respective polling sub-divisions. The provincial lists of British Columbia with which the Liberals are fairly well-satisfied, will also be accepted. But in the six constituencies of Ontario, which are not yet municipally organized, the government will have the lists prepared anew, under a committee of judges, who will also revise them. The unorganized districts of Quebec will not be touched, however; as the number of people affected is not thought sufficient to justify the expense that would be incurred in carrying out the work. Whatever is done in the way of preparation, revision or allocation will be done by judges or their appointees; so that the whole of it, so far as the Dominion government is concerned will be done impartially and with no chance of partisan bias.

The Dominion Government in this matter, has set an example, which, it is to be hoped, the Provincial administrations will follow; and then there will be no longer room for the repeated insinuations of misconduct and of actual electoral misdemeanors, which have disgraced Canada's political history since Confederation.

The Dominion Elections Bill, in its other provisions, cuts at the root of many of the devices, which have been resorted to for the purpose of preventing the true will of the electorate being reflected in the declaration of the election; and a deputy returning officer will no longer be able to void a ballot by writing upon it through error, stupidity or intent, a name, letter, figure or other sign, which may be interpreted as an identification mark. The whole spirit of the bill is a transparent attempt to secure purity in politics; and as such it will add greatly to the reputation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government, being in itself a complete refutation of the many slanderous insinuations of sinister motives, with which the introduction of the bill was heralded by its opponents.

The compromise, which was made to get over the Manitoba lists, was made in the light of a concession on the part of the Roblin government, which, instead of confining a revising judge to a short sitting of a few hours, at the end of which he must close his court whether the business was finished or not, enabled him to adjourn his court and sit another day to conclude the business which remained over from the previous sitting. This, Sir Wilfrid Laurier thought, placed the Liberals of Manitoba on a fairer footing with their opponents; and gave them a more reasonable opportunity to rectify the partisan bias, which the date lists had when they left the hands of registration clerks, who it should be remembered, are the appointees of the Roblin government and are invariably Conservatives, ready to strain the law in favor of their friends and to narrow its scope when Liberal voters are in question.

Such a statement as this would be unjustifiable, under ordinary circumstances but the present case of partisan bias has been so frequent in the last ten years that no impartial individual can close his eyes to them; and with the notorious fact of 450 Galicians having been rushed onto the lists in Winnipeg only last year, fresh in one's memory, it cannot be regarded save in the most serious light.

Something had to be done, however, to get over the deadlock in parliament. The Opposition, blind to everything but party advantage, resolved to keep the public service without money, in order to force the government to accept the lists from the hands of the Roblin government; and, as the rules designed to safeguard freedom of speech were capable of being used to obstruct to an indefinite extent, and the Opposition were using them for that purpose, Sir Wilfrid Laurier saw that much harm would come to the country if the deadlock were prolonged. He resolved, therefore, to take Premier Roblin's concession at its face value, and to compromise.

The ink of the revision judges is scarcely dry; and, therefore, complete knowledge as to how the lists stand is not yet available.

The compromise gave the government of Manitoba the opportunity to repair by administration the wrongs alleged to have been done in administration. If the registration and revision which has now been concluded results in fair lists, no further action will be needed and the compromise made by the premier will have been justified. But if the result is not a fair list the word of the Premier has been given that means will hereafter be taken to secure preparation of the Manitoba voters' lists for Dominion purposes on a like basis to that which has been provided in the case of the unorganized districts in Ontario.

How to Tell her age

Girls of a marriageable age do not like to tell how old they are, but you can find out by following the subjoined instructions, the young lady doing the figuring: Tell her to put down the number of the month in which she was born, then to multiply it by 2, then to add 5, then to multiply it by 50, then to add her age, then to subtract 365, then to add 115, then tell her to tell you the amount she has left. The two figures to the right will tell you her age and the remainder the month of her birth. For example, if the amount is 822, she is twenty-two years old and was born in the eighth month (August). Try it.

The Evil of Fretting

There is one sin that seems to us in everywhere and by everybody underestimated and quit too much overlooked a valuation of character. It is the sin of fretting, so common that unless it rises above its usual monotone we do not observe it. Watch any ordinary coming together of people and see how many minutes it will be before somebody frets—that is, makes more or less complaining statement of something or other, which most probably every person in the room, or in the car, or on the street corner, it may be, knew before, and which probably no one can help. Why say anything about it? It is cold, it is hot, it is wet, it is dry; somebody has broken an appointment; ill cooked a meal; stupidly or had faith somewhere has resulted in discomfort.

There are plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how much annoyance may be found in the course of every day's living, even at the simplest, if one only keeps a sharp eye out on that side of things. Even holy writ says we are prone to trouble as sparks to fly upward. But even to the sparks flying upward in the blackest of smoke there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road the sooner they will reach it. Fretting is all time wasted on the road.

Mrs. Lena French returned home from Wilson's Beach, where she was visiting friends there.

(From Another Correspondent)

The Salvation Army held a very successful picnic Saturday afternoon, although the weather looked very disappointing in the morning. It cleared off beautiful in the afternoon and was attended by a large number, everybody enjoyed themselves by the good things provided for them. Major Phillips of the Salvation Army was present and spoke very interesting of the work in the army. Sunday the meetings were attended by a large number in Wm Mitchell's store.

The building was unable to accommodate the people, Major spoke in the evening on memory. His words will long be remembered by many. Quite a sum was raised for the erecting of the new Citadel the land had been given to them some time ago, for to build. The officers in command of the work here are, Capt. Brewer and Lieut. Y. A. Liddle.

Heat prostrates the nerves. In the summer one needs a tonic to off-set the customary hot weather. Nerve and strength depression. You will feel better within 48 hours after beginning to take such a remedy as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its prompt action in restoring the weakened nerves is surprising. Of course, you won't get entirely strong in a few days, but each day you can actually see the improvement. That tired, lifeless, spiritless, feeling will quickly depart when using the Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will sharpen a failing appetite, it aids digestion; it will strengthen the weakened kidneys and heart by simply rebuilding the worn-out nerves that these organs depend upon. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by All Dealers.

ST. ANDREWS

Miss Bessie Grimmer entertained a few friends very pleasantly Friday evening. The alumni society of the Charlotte County Grammar School, enjoyed several hours at Shamcook Lake on Friday last.

Charlotte County

Some time ago Mr. W. H. Hatheway, M. P. P., in a letter to the Globe complained that their was neglect of Maritime Province interests in regard to wharves and lights, while unnecessary works were being erected in Quebec province. Mr. Hatheway specifically mentioned Charlotte County, and asked: "What is Mr. R. E. Armstrong, of St. Andrews doing? What are all the liberal party doing that they fold their hands and wait?"

Mr. Armstrong was able to show in the St. Andrews Beacon that the conservatives while in power had neglected Charlotte County, it being represented by a liberal while the liberal government had gone much for it while it is represented by a conservative. In its last issue the Beacon supplements this fact by the following list of appropriations in the estimates which "amply verifies the Beacon's statement that the liberals were doing their best to restore Charlotte County to the map of Canada!"

St. Andrews wharf, $10,000. Seal Cove, Grand Manan, Island breakwater pier, $5,000. St. George, part reconstruction of wharf, $5,000. Cummings Cove, Deer Island wharf, $2,500.

Leonardville, Deer Island, reconstruction and extension of wharf, $4,500. North Head, Grand Manan, breakwater wharf, additional revote, $8,000. White Head, Grand Manan, wharf, $6,500.

Walchpool, Campobello Island wharf, $6,500. This is tolerably good evidence that whatever is being done in Quebec or elsewhere Charlotte County is not being neglected. Most, if not all of these needs of Charlotte, were under consideration of the government before Mr. Hatheway undertook to criticize the governments alleged inaction. Comparison of the liberal governments course with the neglect and indifference of the conservatives when in power is entirely to the discredit of the latter.—Globe.
