MANY PRELATES TO ATTEND CONGRESS. Sixty-nine Bishops and Archbishops Have Accepted Invitations for Eucharist Congress at Montreal—Largest Gathering of Church Dignitaries Ever Held in America.

Montreal, April 29.—So far invitations accepted by ecclesiastical dignitaries show that sixty-nine archbishops and bishops will attend the Eucharist Congress in Montreal.

The number of ecclesiastical visitors of high degree will be the largest gathered together in America. In Europe it is easily possible to secure a greater number, but in Canada where the total number is necessarily less.

In addition to the many archbishops and bishops, there will be priests in considerable number, but no effort has been made to estimate what that number will be because every priest who can possibly make the journey will do so.

The housing of the clergy will be quite a task, but the matter has been well provided for by the General Committee. High dignitaries will be housed in various residences which have been offered, and in presbyteries.

A list of the papers to be read and which the clergy will read on their own, was given out today. This concerns the English-speaking section only.

The following have accepted invitations to read papers before the English speaking section.

Very Rev. J. J. Glennon, Archbishop of St. Louis; Very Rev. F. S. Fitzgerald, Holyoke, Rev. P. J. Hartigan, Deseronto, Rev. L. A. Lambert, St. John's, N. Y.; Very Rev. J. Cavanaugh, C. S. S. R., president of Notre Dame University.

THE BATTLE OF BUGSLEY. PUGSLEY'S SCHEME. Independent Montreal Star in Sarcastic Reference to Minister of Public Works Exposes Attempt to Circumvent House in His Anxiety to Complete Deal With American Syndicate.

Mr. Graham acquiesced, and the amendments were rejected. Mr. Graham next presented a special joint stock bill. It stands in his name, but it began life as four separate bills Mr. Graham has formed a merger of the bills.

By the minister himself, to extend the authority of the railway commission to include works already begun. To simplify procedure with regard to stringing wires across a railway, to extend the powers of companies with regard to granting passes.

The House discussed for some time Mr. Pugsley's bill relating to water and water powers in the cities of British Columbia. Mr. Guthrie proposed it, and after some discussion it stood over.

The electric bill then came up, the clause affecting the New England Mutuals giving rise to a keen discussion. The clause finally passed with the addition of a clause prohibiting these companies from advertising in the newspapers or by circular.

ANOTHER CROOKED BUGSLEY SCHEME. Independent Montreal Star in Sarcastic Reference to Minister of Public Works Exposes Attempt to Circumvent House in His Anxiety to Complete Deal With American Syndicate.

Under the caption "Mr. Pugsley Again," the Independent Montreal Star discusses in sarcastic vein the action of the Minister of Public Works to amend the long Sault Rapids in the hands of United States capitalists.

The second scheme, like its predecessor, seems to be simply a device, instead of making effective permission to dam the St. Lawrence, granted to a forgotten company ten years ago, by providing for the transmission of the electricity thus generated.

Neither could his assumption of innocence nor his fervid declaration of highly patriotic sentiment divert public attention from the part he was prepared to play in making the "grab" effective.

Widows Worship Old Broken Mining Fan

Chicago, Ill., April 29.—The widows of Cherry, Ill., desolated by the mining horror several months ago, have saved the fan that helped keep the entombed miners alive for days after the main shaft was filled with flames and gases.

Upon the fan, rudely constructed of thin strips of wood nailed on a tree branch, was scrawled the last message of the miners:

"All Alive, 2 p. m., 14," told the story of their last stand against invading death. The body of a miner lying across the fan showed that the men had worked until exhausted and overcome by the poisonous gas. Because of this the widows marched to the company's office, when they learned that the fans were already loaded upon a freight car to be removed to Chicago and that the fan they would be kept in Cherry as a monument to the men and boys who died in that hell underground.

FOUND JEWELS WORTH $50,000

Mrs. Moss' Jewels Found Hidden in Base of Old Pedestal After Search Lasting Several Months.

How $50,000 worth of jewelry which had been hidden in the hollow base of an old pedestal was accidentally discovered two months ago by Beverly Kator, grandson of Mrs. Theodore Octavia Moss, the eccentric widow of the veteran theatrical manager, who died last January in the old-fashioned brownstone house at 543 Madison Avenue, New York, was told yesterday by Mr. Kator and corroborated by Mrs. Moss's son, Royal B. Moss.

It is said that in the last twenty years of her life Mrs. Moss spent $600,000 on an old Fifth Avenue store. Her bill there, it is said, averaged $40,000 a year for twenty years. She bought thousands of dollars' worth of costly embroideries, spangled gowns, millinery trappings, walking and evening gowns, kimonoes, scarves, hundreds of yards of rare laces, textiles, silks, satins, and linen. Her son, Royal B. Moss, and her two grandsons, Beverly and Frank Kator, lived with her after the death of their own mother, decided to get rid of the big collection of jewelry which it was well known Mrs. Moss had long possessed.

It was decided to dispose of the jewelry along with the other purchases, particularly as many of the gems had old-fashioned settings. The collection which was advertised at auction was a branch containing 325 diamonds, an antique necklace of great value, a jeweled giraffe, Russian enamelled pendants with six diamonds, a half moon with twenty-nine diamonds, a necklace of thirty diamonds, the centre stone of which weighed sixteen karats and other articles.

PAWLOW TESTS ON HUMANS

Dr. Kast Reports on Sham-Feeding Experiments to Secure Gastric Juice—Article in Post Graduate.

New York, April 30.—Medical journals issued by leading hospitals in this city show that the Pawlow dog experiments in gastric secretions are being practiced not alone upon animals, but also upon human beings.

These "sham-feedings," as they are called, are now being tried upon human beings, according to an article that appears in the Post Graduate, a monthly journal of medicine and surgery published by the Board of Directors of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital.

It is easy to show that the amount of gastric juice varies according to the appetite of the animal or upon the quantity and quality of the food. The gastric secretary apparatus is, indeed, wonderfully regulated and points, under normal conditions, just as much juice into the stomach as is necessary, with regard to the digestive work to be done.

ONE POINT OF VIEW

By COLIN MCKAY.

St. John does not only need clean streets. It needs a comprehensive plan of city development—a plan which will regulate its growth and assure the realization sometime in the future of that beautiful St. John which is growing up in haphazard fashion. In the heart of the city practically all the streets are too narrow, and this condition is being extended to the suburbs.

It is hard to convince a man he is a fool and entirely unnecessary. You can fool him without convincing him.

SAINT JOHN, SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 30, 1910

MR. PUGSEY AGAIN.

It must be a great source of satisfaction to good citizens in all parts of the Dominion to realize that the Hon. William Pugsley is Minister of Public Works, that his probity is the bulwark behind which Canada's interests are sheltered, and that his alert honesty is ever ready to detect and expose the attempts of grasping corporations to secure by devious if not corrupt means privileges which should be preserved for the Dominion. A minister of the Crown who did less would of course, be not only a disgrace to his party, but a menace to his country. This makes Mr. Pugsley all the more appreciated by those he serves so well.

The stormy career of the ill-fated St. Lawrence Power Transmission Bill which Mr. Pardee and he jointly fathered, is still too fresh in memory to need retelling; if the amendments with which that unfortunate measure was loaded before it passed the House were cruel, the distrust in the integrity of Mr. Pugsley's motives displayed by gentlemen on both sides of the House was tragic, or would have been if Mr. Pugsley had been thin-skinned enough to resent reflections on his public honor. Charm he never so wisely, the Minister of Public Works was not able to persuade his fellow-members that the bill he was so zealous in promoting had other objects than to turn the Long Sault Rapids, with its inestimable valuable water-powers, over to a United States syndicate which was notoriously prepared to spend millions for the "promotion" purposes. Neither could his assumption of highly patriotic sentiments divert public attention from the part he was prepared to play in making the "grab" effective. Fortunately the public is coming to know its Mr. Pugsley and to appreciate at its true value the relationship between his utterances and his actions.

There is, therefore, little reason for being surprised when we learn today that the Ethiopian uncovered and chased out of the St. Lawrence Power Transmission woodpile, has been discovered, snugly ensconced in another of Mr. Pugsley's pet measures, entitled "The Navigable Waters Protection Act Amendments." That is to say, the Honorable Minister, finding his generous intentions towards the appreciative New York syndicate blocked in their first essay by an unsympathetically honest House, has devised another means for securing what he and his American friends are after, a little more crooked, more complicated and harder to diagnose than the first, but which promises to secure the same results in the long run. More than that, he has engineered it through the House and halfway through the Senate before any of the public bodies which have the preservation of the integrity of the St. Lawrence at heart have discovered and called attention to this danger.

The second scheme, like its predecessor, seems to be simplicity itself; instead of making effective permission to dam the St. Lawrence, granted to a forgotten company ten years ago, by providing for the transmission of the electricity thus generated, Mr. Pugsley has merely struck out two phrases in the clauses of the act controlling the building of dams in navigable waters, and thus taken from Parliament the right to any voice in such matters whatever. The Shipping Federation has appealed to the Senate to postpone final consideration of the bill until there is time to examine thoroughly into this "little joker" feature. The Council of the Board of Trade goes farther and urges that good and sufficient reasons exist for rejecting it forthwith, and the Harbor Commissioners have formally added the weight of their influence to that of the other two bodies. In the face of these disinterested, public-spirited protests, it is unlikely the Senate will allow the bill to be reroadied through without careful consideration. Meantime, it is easy to understand why Mr. Pugsley appeared to take so philosophically the overturning of his plans by the amendments applied to his first "grab" measure. We can but reiterate our conviction that a Minister of Public Works of high moral calibre and with a keen sense of personal honor would be an invaluable asset to Canada.—Montreal Star.

CONCEALING THE RAKE-OFF.

The incident in the Public Accounts Committee yesterday shows that Mr. Pugsley has carried all his New Brunswick tactics to Ottawa. Concealment is part of his strategy. Nobody could find out the facts about public business in New Brunswick while Mr. Pugsley had charge. He fenced up all avenues of investigation. When private individuals got money out of the public treasury it was hidden away in a suspense account. Other deals were concealed by secret over-drafts, and notes that were kept out of sight until the ministry fell.

Ever since he went to Ottawa Mr. Pugsley has been showing his friends new ways to keep back the facts. He carried into the Public Accounts Committee a number of methods, previously unknown there, of blocking inquiry. He lent his adroitness to those who wished to suppress the facts about the sub-target deal. Now he is trying to keep back information concerning the lease of buildings for departmental purposes.

The government rents two buildings from the Imperial Realty Company, paying something over $68,000 a year rent. It was pointed out some years ago that the rent was more than twenty per cent. of the assessed value. The government also pays taxes on the Woods building as well as the cost of heating and light. Much of the cost of fitting up the offices was borne by the treasury. A common explanation given for the generosity of the government was the current belief that certain ministers were large but silent partners in the real estate company.

It would seem that the terms were sufficiently generous without a rake-off in lights. When the government agreed to pay the cost of lighting, the honest way would have been to charge the department with the exact cost of the service. But the statement is that the government is charged with more than three times the cost. The owners of the building pay the light company three thousand and the government pays them more than nine thousand. The $6,000 is rake-off.

This is the matter which Mr. Pugsley insists upon concealing. The account is before the Public Accounts Committee, and Major Sharpe naturally wants to know what is the actual price charged by the electric light company for the service for which the government pays $9,000. It is a reasonable inquiry, but Mr. Pugsley advises the witnesses not to answer the questions relating to the matter. Thus Mr. Pugsley hopes to keep from the public the amount of rake-off that is made. The concealment is imperfect for the real price seems to be generally known at Ottawa. But Mr. Pugsley has been able so far to keep it off the official record.

Why is Mr. Pugsley so afraid to have the people know?

CITY VALUATIONS.

The return made by the city assessors contains indications of progress. These officials have felt justified in increasing the value of real estate, personal estate and income, making the total assessment $28,952,000, or $730,000 more than last year. A gain of two and a half per cent. is perhaps not large, but it is at least a change in the right direction. The increase in five years is $2,867,000 or nearly eleven per cent. It is really more than this, because something over $1,000,000 was dropped from assessable incomes by exemptions adopted a few years ago. Assessed incomes are $450,000 less than five years ago, showing there has been considerable gain in larger incomes. Real estate a million and a quarter in five years.

The gain in population may or may not be fairly indicated by the increase in the number of rate-payers. There are on the roll this year 13,001 rate-payers, which is a gain of 108 during the year. Previous gains were: in 1909, 142; in 1908, 341; in 1907, 170; in 1906 a decrease of 115 was reported. The five years increase was 706, a gain of a little under six per cent.

The tax rate is 1.98, the same as last year, but it will produce $14,000 more.

Speaking of income assessments, which are not levied on the proceeds of investments, but upon individual earnings by personal service, it might be noted that some ten years ago $5,000 or $6,000 was the high-water mark, while only three or four citizens earned $4,000 or over. In the list published by the Globe we notice fifteen incomes of $4,000, five of $4,500, five of $5,000, three of $6,000, two of $6,500, four of $7,000, one of $7,500, one of $8,000, and two of $11,000.

FINDING A UNIVERSITY HOME.

It is gratifying to find the Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick selected as a member of the British Columbia commission to choose the site of the future provincial university. The quest is one of grave importance to the Pacific province. In the last issue of the University Quarterly, the subject of the location of a university is discussed with special reference to the case of British Columbia. President Murray of the University of Saskatchewan devotes a large part of his first report to an account of the considerations that arose in finding a home for his school. Mr. McBride concluded that a group of men who had some experience in the administration of universities would determine the question for British Columbia better than local politicians. Hence the appointment of a board of five commissioners, including four university presidents and one law school dean. It is a tribute to the east, perhaps, that four of the five are natives of the Maritime Provinces, while three, Dr. Jones, Dr. Murray and Dr. Weldon are New Brunswickers. Chancellor Jones will be obliged to leave for the west a little before the formal closing of the university year, but the Senate has thought it best that he should extend this courtesy to and confer this service upon a sister province. The appointment is an honor to the Chancellor, and gives him an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with some special aspects of the life and activities of British Columbia.

CARTWRIGHT ON TESTIMONIALS.

Following is the text of the resolution unanimously adopted by the House of Commons in 1891 on motion of Sir Richard Cartwright:—

"That the acceptance of gifts or testimonials of any kind on the part of Ministers of the Crown or of any members of their families from contractors, Government officials, or other persons having pecuniary relations with the Government is entirely opposed to sound principles of administration, and is calculated to bring Parliamentary government into contempt; and that the example thus given tends to corrupt and demoralize the officials serving under Ministers who have accepted or permitted the acceptance of gifts or testimonials as aforesaid."

This motion was accepted by Sir John Thompson, then leading the House. Both sides then agreed that no minister or member of his family should thereafter receive any testimonial without knowing who were the contributors, and thus having perfect assurance that not a dollar had come from any contractor or government official, or person having pecuniary relations with the government. So far as can be learned this rule has not been followed in the case of the Fielding testimonial. It is announced that the donors are anonymous. Mr. Fielding owes it to himself, and to his colleague Sir Richard Cartwright, to see that the veil of secrecy is removed, as the latter demanded, and to take care that the portion contributed by contractors and other beneficiaries is returned.

ANOTHER QUEBEC LIBERAL REVOLTER.

Senator Choquette's opposition to militarism and Imperialism is not new. He was closely connected with Le Soleil newspaper when it was attacking the Tupper government for buying 50,000 Le-Enfield rifles. As one of Sir Wilfrid's organizers and fellow campaigners in those times he knew the line of attack. Mr. Choquette has been organizer for the Quebec district. He has had the direction of the government newspaper in Quebec. After a period on the bench he returned to active political life to resume his former attitude. Mr. Choquette who has gone through the country seeking support for Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the premier's own platform will not consent to go back to tell them that this was all a sham. He is consistent and probably sincere. Finding that Sir Wilfrid is a good deal of a humbug Senator Choquette refuses to be a humbug of the same class. That is all there is about it.

The Cape Breton strike will be included in the next list issued by Mr. Mackenzie King's department of labor troubles settled under the Lemieux Act.

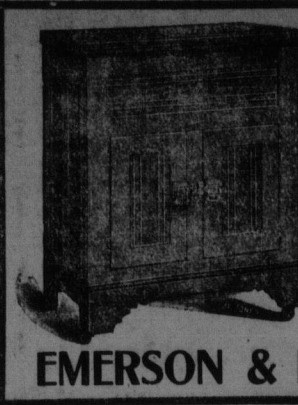

Even Mr. Lloyd-George should be satisfied with the promptness of the Lords in passing his budget.

SPRING

Spring came smiling down the valley. In her trailing robes of green: Cold grey sky and leafless branches All were dreary to be seen!

On her brow she wore a festoon Of May flowers, fresh and fair; And a crocus blossom nestled In her long, loose-flowing hair—
Hair a sheen of brightest yellow,
Spun from sunbeam's richest gold;
And she shed both light and warmth
Where the world had been so cold.

And where her light footstep rested
Bright green mosses sprang and grew;
And she scattered fragrant blossoms
Over hedge and field anew.

The grey, old forest trees she docketed out,
In a shining robe of green;
From her arms she threw blue violets
On the bank beside the stream.

To woodland glades, far in the shade,
Her sweetest breath was wafted along;
And her merry laugh rang out as she passed.

Joining the brook's glad song.

Wilson and Black Were In Great Form

Defeat McLellan and Law by Smashing Score in Two-Men Contest at Black's Last Evening—Trojans Give Junior St. Peter's Bad Trimming—Standing of Leagues.

McLellan and Law got their own team with an average of 91, while Black's Alleys last evening, in the two men-series, when they stacked up against Wilson and Black. The veteran "Harry" Black was in great form, and the way he picked up spares made the fans sit up and take notice. He rolled the highest string of the evening with 115, went over the century mark three times and finished with the tall average of 97.

The losers were led from the start and did not look like winners at any stage. McLellan played his usual good game, but Law did not show the stellar qualities which he exhibited on former occasions.

For Health And Economy Eat More Bread

TEN cents will feed an ordinary family a day on first class bread. This does not mean ordinary bread. For there is an important difference between ordinary bread and first class bread. It isn't a difference of looks or methods of making or baking. It is a difference of nutrition, food value, healthfulness. And this food value depends on the flour used. For there is a wide difference between flours.

Ogilvie's Royal Household Flour

If all flour were the best flour, then all bread, properly made, would be good bread. But all flour is not first class because all wheat is not first class. Wheat, you know, varies in quality almost as much as apples or potatoes; there are as many different grades of wheat as there are grades of butter—or wool. And every difference in grade represents an actual difference in nourishing value, food elements, wholesomeness. Flour made from a low grade of wheat is by no means so healthful as flour made from high grade wheat. Now the wheat that goes into OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is of the very highest grade. It contains the highest possible percentage of nutritive value. The makers of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" maintain expensive laboratories and baking departments where skilled men scientifically analyse each day's milling. None but the very best Red Fyfe wheat—rich in nutrition and healthfulness—can pass. For this reason bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR contains the maximum of food value and furnishes the maximum of energy and strength. And for the same reason "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" makes the finest pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, rolls, and pastry of all kinds. It is the one flour that a housewife should use in order to have her household baking strictly first class. "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" with 125 pages of Recipes that have been tried and tested will be sent free to your address if you mention the name of your dealer. The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE ENLISTED IN RANKS OF CIVIC HOUSECLEANERS

Will Be Asked To Take a Hand On Arbor Day--More Offers Yesterday of Men and Teams.

Up to the present, public-spirited citizens have interested themselves in the movement to give the city such a brightening up as it never had before to the extent of offering 21 teams and 34 men to assist the force the city authorities will place in the field on Arbor Day.

T. H. Estabrook, president of the Board of Trade, while pleased at the response to his suggestion, is of the opinion that twice as many teams and men are needed to do the work thoroughly.

He asked the principals to lay the matter before their teachers, and have them point out to the children the advisability of making a special effort to clean up the back yards this year. They should let the children understand that any action they might take would be purely voluntary on their part, and that the school authorities had no thought of compelling them to give an exhibition of civic pride.

HALLEY'S COMET SEEN HERE WITH NAKED EYE YESTERDAY MORNING

W. F. Burditt Detected Strange Visitor as Bright Point of Light at 4 a.m., Close to Venus.

Faint, but distinctly visible to the naked eye, as a bright point of light, Halley's famous comet was discovered early yesterday morning by W. F. Burditt, of Crouville, who was on the watch for it.

The sky was clear for the first time since Sunday week, and about 4 o'clock Mr. Burditt caught his first glimpse of the strange visitor from the depths of space. It appeared as a faint star a little above the eastern horizon, and almost 3 degrees to the north of the planet Venus.

Mr. Burditt told The Standard last evening that he had no doubt he saw the comet, as there was no known star where he discovered the point of light, and as some of the stars he detected it at the point in the heavens where the comet should appear.
