AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR CAMPBELLTON

Present Council Will Prepare Estimates for Big Work for Next Season.

A meeting of the town council was held in the fireman's hall on Thursday evening, His Worship Mayor McKay in the Chair, with Councillors Bisset, Duncan, Belle-Isle, Patterson and St. Onge present.

A communication was read from Fred J. LeBlanc who in April last had his right knee badly injured on Roseberry Street on account of a broken plank in the sidewalk. He wanted to know if the council was prepared to do anything for him. Laid on table to be taken up later.

A communication was read from a former employee in the Streets Department wanting to know if the council was aware of his discharge from the town's service. Councillor Duncan explained that the writer of the communication asked another employee had been laid off, owing to there not being sufficient work for them. There was as much work being done now with these two men off as there was when they were on the job. At his request the communication was laid on the table to be taken up later.

A communication was read from Electrical Engineer O'Leary with reference to an overcharge for light at the Hotel Dieu Hospital. He pointed out that both meters there had been tested, and found to be running fully 70 per cent. too much. As the government inspector was to be in Campbellton within the next few days, the matter of the overcharge for light and electricity to the hospital was allowed to stand over until his arrival.

A communication was read from the Deputy Minister of Railways, with reference to the railway. The railway had been asked to have the railway put in. The deputy minister informed the council he had referred the matter to the proper railway authorities. Placed on file.

A communication was read from the Town Solicitor in which he expressed his opinion that the town was liable for the support of certain paupers, even though they may have no legal residence here. His opinion was asked for on this point with reference to a particular case now at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, which the management there were not particularly anxious to keep, and were only doing so until the town found a more suitable place. On motion the town clerk was instructed to write the rates for the keep of such patients, and the Public Charities Committee were given full power to act in the matter when these rates were submitted to them.

A communication was read from W. J. Comeau requesting that the street upon which his store was situated be better lighted. On motion the Electric Light Department was instructed to have poles and light placed there at once.

The town clerk read a communication from Councillor Wallace dated in June in which he said he was closing a copy of his resignation placed in the Mayor's hands in April last and requesting that it now be accepted.

On motion the communication was placed on file.

A communication was read from J. D. H. Harquail Co., asking for the payment of an account amounting to some $784. It was explained this payment was being withheld for the payment of school taxes. The firm had been exempted several years ago from the payment of town taxes, and for years, through mistake or ignorance, had escaped paying the school tax. The courts a few years ago having decided that no municipality has the power to relieve any person from paying school taxes, the town was now exacting payment from this firm for school taxes for the past two years. The company declined to pay these school taxes and the town was withholding payment of their account. The matter was finally left in the hands of the Finance Committee to deal with.

A communication was read from C. McNeice, chartered accountant, offering to take over the audit of the town's accounts at the end of the year for $175, railway fare and board extra referred to Finance Committee with power to act.

X'MAS NUMBER WELL RECEIVED

Many Compliments on Excellence of Graphic Christmas Edition.

The Graphic has received many kind words and congratulations upon the excellent appearance and general makeup of the Christmas Edition, which was issued Dec. 15th. It was the general opinion that in every respect it was the best yet. When it is considered that the entire work of this edition was done in one week, with all our staff working overtime each night, our progress will understand why orders for general printing have been delayed.

We sincerely thank the merchants for their very generous patronage and trust that their announcements in our columns have been beneficial to their business.

We wish all our readers a Merry Christmas.

Received permission to tap W. H. Miller & Co's private light wire running to their mill. Referred to Electric Light Committee.

Councillor Belle-Isle from the Special Committee appointed to interview the Town Solicitor as to the power to order a legal investigation into the workings of the electric light department, reported that both meters there had been tested, and found to be running fully 70 per cent. too much. As the government inspector was to be in Campbellton within the next few days, the matter of the overcharge for light and electricity to the hospital was allowed to stand over until his arrival.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

It is characteristic of the men of this generation that they have not only a medicine chest, but a large one.

I first spent a considerable sum of money in buying a medicine chest, and I have since then been a great benefactor to my family and friends.

WRETCHED SERVICE ON DALHOUSIE BRANCH

The article in the Telegraph of recent date in regard to train service on the Dalhousie Branch was assuredly very much a propos. It is indeed high time that the very unsatisfactory state of affairs which here prevails should be fully exposed. Our train service has been going from bad to worse until to-day it is little short of wretched.

On the morning of the first, for example, the train with mail from both Maritime Expresses did not reach here until 9 o'clock and as a consequence there was no delivery at the Post Office, of registered letters, parcels etc until 10.30. Enquiry as to the cause of delay revealed the fact that the train had been struck on one of the grades because of a lack of proper sanding device on the engine. For work such as this the branch engine should be so equipped as to get sand on all driving wheels and not on one only. In any case the engine with which we are now being served is not otherwise suitable for the work it has to do. For one thing it has six foot driving wheels which are not adapted to heavy grade work. It has, in addition, as we are informed, so long a wheel base that it cannot successfully negotiate the curve on the wharf approach but must either mount the rail or break it. The latter is what happened recently when an attempt was made to place some cars for a steamer; the expedition loading of which was imperative. It is a peculiar coincidence but none the less a true one that whenever there is much to do on the branch the crew usually find themselves with an engine that cannot do the work; and when there is little or nothing to do they not infrequently have a comparatively capable locomotive.

Nor is it simply in the matter of engines that we are being poorly served. The passenger accommodation has long been a source of legitimate grievance. We have never had a very pretentious passenger car but until recently we had one in the arrangement of which there was manifest an attempt to give what might be characterized as "First Class" accommodation. Today we have a car which the most elastic imagination could scarcely characterize as affording "Second Class" accommodation; it is nothing of "First."

Now why is it that such a state of affairs is allowed to continue when the facts are or should be known by the Superintendent and Master Mechanic? Have they no power or authority to act? If not, their services should be dispensed with for there is no need of officials who are powerless. Now the record of our just grievances does not end here. For years, we have connected with all main line passenger trains. Today we have connection with certain trains only and very poor service at that.

Connection with the Maritime Express in justice to our citizens, should immediately be re-established. Again, the station has become a place for loafers of all kinds, both male and female, who gather in large numbers and occupy the seats and places that should be reserved for the passengers and others having legitimate business. Recently a clergyman who had to wait sometime for his train was unable to get a seat because all available space was usurped by these loafers whose language and conduct is public is anything but edifying. Why have police on the system? Why have police on the system? If things like this are to be tolerated?

Such are some of the evils of which we have been the victims, evils, which we hope to see remedied in the near future. Perhaps it is too much to expect better service so long as Mr. D. B. Hanna and his imported officials, who seem to care little for the needs of the people, continue to exercise control over the National Railways. One of these officials, speaking of the Branch, is reported to have said that if he had his way he would take the rails up altogether. And no doubt it would come to that yet were the officials in question to continue arbitrarily in power.

But the prospect is that they will not. As in the past and so we look for an improvement. We look in particular to the Superintendent and Master Mechanic to make some immediate changes for the better. We look for better service and we shall insist upon it.

A RESIDENT.

Two beginners went one day to fish. They sat down and cast their lines, and waited. Presently one grew weary of waiting, so he said to his friend, "Will you stop here while I go for a stroll?" As he was strolling back he was glad to see that his friend had got a bite, and was winding his line. Whilst yet in the distance he saw his friend land the fish and throw it back into the sea. "Run-three the fish back," heard the astonished reply:

"Why, it was bad!"

"Bad! How's that?"

"Why, someone had stood on it; it was flat!"

A Born Superintendent.

"And your son?"

"Was born to be a superintendent."

Hah!"

"He never gets tired of watching other people work."

THE TIMELY USE OF THE FANNING MILL

(Dominion Experimental Farm Notes.) For farmers fully appreciate the importance and advantage of using the fanning mill in the late fall or early winter to prepare the seed for next season's grain crop. The average farmer, if he is planning his work intelligently, will know about how much will be required for the spring seeding and should grade the seed in advance of the time it will be required, but the job of cleaning up or fanning the seed grain is generally left till spring just before the rush of seeding commences. It is then very hurriedly done and, besides, this, the best, or at least some of the best of the grain has been sold or has been used for feeding purposes. The very best of the grain produced on the farm should be saved and used for seed. The plump, well matured, uniform kernels will give a more uniform germination, more uniformity in the standing crop, and a higher yield. A high yield and quality in a suitable variety should be the objects sought in all crop raising.

Immediately after the fall ploughing is done and the old jobs, generally left all summer for fall attention, have been cleared away, the fanning mill should be overhauled and put in good running order. The gears should be oiled and all slackness tightened up. A large fanning mill will allow small seeds to sift through when they should be fanned out. The sieves should be sorted out and the proper ones made ready for the particular kind of grain that is to be cleaned. It is well to look over the sheet of instructions sent out by the manufacturer with the fanning mill when it is sold. These instructions will tell the proper sieve or combination of sieves to use in order to secure best result. It is not enough to run the grain through the mill once, it should be passed through three or more times, if necessary. The first fanning will remove chaff, dirt, and light kernels, the subsequent fannings will grade up the seed and secure the most uniform, plumpest and heaviest kernels, which only should be used for seed. If it is necessary that seed grain be purchased, it is well to examine it closely and if not properly cleaned it should be given additional fanning. There is no work on the farm that will be more amply repaid than this extra care in cleaning the seed grain. If seed has to be purchased see that the supply is ordered from a good source, preferably registered seed. It should be well matured, sound, plump and true to variety. An increase in yield of from two to five bushels per acre can easily be secured by the extra care mentioned above. This increase yields much more than pays for the labour entailed.

A RED AND GREEN DINNER.

The Christmas colors, red and green, are so cheerful and "Christmas" that they can't be repeated too often. Every corner of the house that can hold a Christmas decoration is almost sure to be full of spicy evergreens and brightly holly. A form of Christmas decoration not so often thought of, however, is the carrying out of the Christmas colors and Christmas shapes, like trees and stars, stockings and holly leaves, in the Christmas dinner. Yet it can be done with very good effect in almost every course.

Bread for the canapes or hot rolls, made by any preferred recipe, may be cut out with a star-shaped cutter.

The soup may be a red one, made from beef or tomato; or a green one, with spinach as the basis.

The turkey, or, if the old English Christmas dinner is preferred—a little roast pig or a roast of beef—may be garnished with parsley and red cranberries.

Tomato jelly on lettuce may be used for a dinner salad.

The plum pudding may come to the table decorated with real holly leaves and berries.

The frozen dessert may be a bombe with the outside of loganberry sherbet, and the centre of vanilla or pistachio ice cream, mousse, or parfait.

Candies of almost any shape or color are acceptable at Christmas time, but there are many kinds that can be given a holiday air by the careful use of colors, and that may be purchased of almost any first-class grocer.

ANTHRACITE COAL 1921

To those who are hoping for lower prices:

We are in the coal business. We believe we know conditions.

We cannot predict future prices. We do not think further reductions are likely. Present mine wage agreements don't expire until March 31, 1922.

There isn't much hope of general reduction in freight rates.

If the proposed Pennsylvania State Tax on anthracite becomes a law, this will mean an additional 15.00 or even 25 cents after next July 1st.

Coal is far cheaper today than it will be next winter if you hold off buying! That is absolutely certain.

You received the same advice in 1919—those who took it suffered no hardship of consequence during the big bituminous coal strike.

We are simply appealing to your common-sense.

You insure your house against fire, don't you? Not because you expect fire, but as a protection in case a fire does occur. The best insurance you can buy now is fuel insurance—you don't know what's coming next winter.

The steel interests of Montreal recently had a survey made, with a resulting recommendation that coal be bought now, and stored to the limit of facilities.

The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore says:

"Protect yourself at once for all family and factory coal needs."

We say: "Buy your coal now—take reasonable quantities throughout the spring and summer. In this way, you will avoid an excessive demand (like last fall), and a shortage with high prices next winter. Then, if unusual conditions arise in the winter, who can measure the value of the coal already in your cellar?"

Call us up—we'll work with you.

RUSH OF TRAVEL AT CHRISTMAS

Heavy Travel Looked for By the Canadian National Railways.

The Christmas Season is the time of travel. "Home for Christmas" is a custom that has come down to us through the ages. In old days it was the stage coach. Now it is the solid steel trains of our great Transcontinental Railway that annihilate distance and make a long journey a period of comfort and pleasure.

The Christmas rush to the old country is already over. A few days ago a special train of tourist cars and standard sleepers passed through Moncton en route to Halifax, filled with people from Western Canada, who sailed from Halifax to England. They left it. From Winnipeg this special carried them to Halifax over the lines of the Canadian National Railway—the "National Way from Coast to Ocean." The train equipment was of the finest—the tourist cars being of most modern type and the standard sleepers the same of comfort. They had made the journey in record time and all were delighted with the fine train service afforded them.

Christmas this year, happening on Sunday, with Monday observed as a holiday, gives an opportunity of an extra day for a week-end trip, and this is being taken advantage of by many. A large flow of local travel is being looked for, and the Canadian National Railway are making every preparation to handle the expected rush.

Inquiries at ticket offices and consequent reservations also show that there is to be considerable travel between East and West, and from coast to coast. The through services of the Canadian National offer splendid opportunities for those who desire the quickest and most comfortable journey. From the Maritime Provinces the finest of train service is afforded to Montreal, where connection is made with the famous "Continental Limited" leaving Bonaventure Station at 9:00 p. m. daily for Ottawa, North Bay, Cochrane, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

At Montreal connections are made by the Grand Trunk train for Toronto, and at Toronto with the famous express "The Nipissing" for Parry Sound, Sudbury, Port Huron, Fort William, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Connections at Quebec are made with the Transcontinental train which connects at Cochrane with the Continental Limited. All these through trains are the very finest in their appointments and assure the traveller of the most delightful journey.

What is therefore more fitting for Canadians than a trip through Canada—across Canada's National Highway, by the trains de luxe of the Canadian National Railway?—Dec 14-26.

Visitors to Italy who travel on Sunday have to pay a special tax.

"What did you buy your gift for her birthday?" he asked his friend.

"Oh, nothing! I can't afford it."

"Oh, but you ought to have given her something! Didn't she suggest anything?"

"Oh, yes. She wants a bar of platinum set with diamonds in a line; or she said she wouldn't mind a rope of pearls, or some new furs. So I let her birthday slide. I'll probably buy her something for Christmas, if by then she has named a thing or two that I can afford to buy."

Public notice is hereby given that Pierre Joseph of St. Quentin in the County of Restigouche and Province of New Brunswick pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 141 of the Consolidated Statutes of New Brunswick 1903 respecting assignments and preferences by insolvent persons did on the Tenth Day of December A. D. 1921 make a general assignment for the benefit of his Creditors to the undersigned Stanislas Blanchard of Dalhousie in the County of Restigouche, High Sheriff of said County; and also that a meeting of the Creditors of the said Pierre Joseph will be held at the Law Office of Arthur T. LeBlanc in the McDonald Block, Water Street in the Town of Campbellton on Thursday the Twenty Ninth Day of December, A. D. 1921 at the appointment of Inspectors and giving directions with reference to the disposal of the said Estate and the transaction of such other business as shall lawfully come.

Notice is further given that all persons are required to file their claims duly sworn with the assignee within three months from the date of this notice unless further time be allowed by a Judge of the Supreme Court or County Court and that all claims not filed as aforesaid within the time limited or such further time as may be allowed by any such Judge shall be wholly barred of any right to share in the proceeds of the said Estate as if any claim not filed as aforesaid did not exist but without prejudice to the liability of the debtor therefore.

Dated at Dalhousie in the said County of Restigouche on this 14th Day of December, A. D. 1921.

The Sensational Gateway of "Lucky Tommy" O'Connor—Was to Be Hanged Thursday.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—"Lucky Tommy" O'Connor, gunman and killer, who was to have been led today to the death cell in the Cook county jail to await hanging on Thursday morning for the killing of a policeman, instead was leading a combined force of 5,000 police and deputies a merry chase, after a sensational escape from the county jail. Four jail guards were overpowered by O'Connor and four other prisoners, but O'Connor's reputation as a killer suffered when he failed to use a revolver which had been smuggled to him.

The jail break was characterized by Chief of Police Fitzmorris as a "frame up" between O'Connor and jail officials and the chief ordered his men to bring in O'Connor, "dead or alive." Searching inquiries also were started by state's attorney Robert C. Groves and Sheriff Peters. The sheriff suspended three guards. Jail guard Davis Stranes, "Darling Dave" O'Connor, the gunman's brother and several prisoners were to be questioned again today.

ESCAPED AS HIS DEATH DAY DREW NEAR

The Sensational Getaway of "Lucky Tommy" O'Connor—Was to Be Hanged Thursday.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—"Lucky Tommy" O'Connor, gunman and killer, who was to have been led today to the death cell in the Cook county jail to await hanging on Thursday morning for the killing of a policeman, instead was leading a combined force of 5,000 police and deputies a merry chase after a sensational escape from the county jail. Four jail guards were overpowered by O'Connor and four other prisoners, but O'Connor's reputation as a killer suffered when he failed to use a revolver which had been smuggled to him.

The jail break was characterized by Chief of Police Fitzmorris as a "frame up" between O'Connor and jail officials and the chief ordered his men to bring in O'Connor, "dead or alive."

Searching inquiries also were started by state's attorney Robert Crowe and Sheriff Peters. The sheriff suspended three guards. Jail guard Davis Straus, "Darling Dave" O'Connor, the gunman's brother and several prisoners were to be questioned again today.

All jail rules were violated in handling the prisoners, according to a member of the state's attorney's office.

In investigating reports of plans to assist the escape of O'Connor, jail officials say they learned that on Saturday night a man drove an automobile to the side of the jail and passed up and down the street for three hours. The most generally accepted theory is supposed the fire started in the kitchen. The mother and children were overcome by smoke while trying to get out by the front door, which they were unable to open.

Earlier in the evening, Johnson had gone to the assistance of a neighbor, whose chimney was on fire. On his way back home he called at a neighbor's house and while there heard cries of fire and rushed out to see his home in flames. The fire spread with such rapidity that the access by the back door was impossible, and when the front door, which was seldom used, was broken open the mother and children were found huddled together, dead.

MOTHER AND SIX CHILDREN BURNED

Father Absent Aiding Neighbor
To Put Out Another Fire.

Windsor, N. S., Dec. 16.—Mrs. Rebecca Johnson and her six children were burned to death when fire destroyed their home at the colored settlement, five miles from here, last night. It is supposed the fire started in the kitchen. The mother and children were overcome by smoke while trying to get out by the front door, which they were unable to open.

NOT ANXIOUS ABOUT THRONE OF ALBANIA

Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte Declares
He Is Not Giving Serious Consideration to Invitation.

New York, Dec. 17.—Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, great-grand-nephew of the famous Napoleon, declared yesterday that he was not giving serious consideration to an invitation to ascend the throne of Albania.

"Any invitation to occupy the throne of Albania would have to come officially from the Albanian government," he said, "and I can definitely state that up to the present time I have received no such offer. As to whether or not I would consider such an offer if made officially, that is a matter which is too remote at the present time for me to discuss."

FOSSIL SKULL FIND PUZZLING SCIENCE

Discovery Made In Northern Rhodesia
Expected to Prove Earliest Type Of Man.

London, Dec. 17.—Considerable interest is being taken in the fossil skull of what is expected to prove to be the earliest type of man, discovered in the "Bone Cave" at Broken Hill, Mines, Northern Rhodesia, Africa, and donated to the British Museum.

Professor G. Elliott Smith, Professor of Anatomy of the University of London, after examination of the skull has informed The Times that "It is the skull of a most remarkable type of mankind quite new to science. The Professor adds: 'In my opinion it is undoubtedly a new species of the human family, if not a new genus.' Herebefore the Java skull has been the most primitive type of human remains that has been found, and according to Professor Smith the African skull presents certain resemblances to it, especially in the general form of the great eyebrow ridges, the flatness of the skull and its broadness at the back. The Gibraltar skull, he says, is the most primitive found on the threshold of Europe, and the presumption is that this race came from Africa. It is quite possible, Professor Smith thinks that this new skull may represent the ancestral form of this race in Europe. The new skull has great projection of the eye-brows, but the upper part of the face is flat, something like that of an ape."

One of the most striking things about the new skull is the enormous impression of the neck muscles at the back of it. "The creature must have had a tremendously thick and powerful neck, Professor Smith says—very much more powerful than any other fossil skull would suggest to have existed in the types of man they represent. "Another very remarkable feature of this new skull, the Professor states, "is that some of the teeth are affected with dental caries, a most remarkable thing for the earliest type of man. It is a comparatively recent acquisition, and does not date back long before the time of the Pyramids. This ancient man, however, suffered badly from toothache! I do not know of any other case earlier than the Pyramid age of dental caries existing in a human skull."

The skull is in an extraordinary good state of preservation. However, owing to blasting operations at the mines where it was found, the lower jaw is missing.

SMOKE CONSUMER IS A SUCCESS

Invention of Canadian Does the Work in Good Shape.

A Canadian has invented a wonderful device known as the "Perfection Smoke Consumer," which saves fuel and does away with the smoke which has been such an annoyance ever since steam engines have been in use. It also increases the heat of the fire.

The invention in action is wonderful to behold. There the engine stands with the clouds of smoke arising as usual. Suddenly the smoke consumer is switched on. The smoking ceases, and through the fire-door one may see the smoke accumulating in the fire-box. There is a flash as the flare begins and the smoke is completely consumed, while no gas is allowed to escape.

To the company that owns a smoke consumer it means a wonderful saving of fuel, greater heat and service from the fire, and the elimination of the smoke stacks and the obnoxious smoke fumes affording better health to the whole world. Is it any wonder with these powers to benefit the world, that it is becoming popular among the largest companies in North America? It has been tested on a steam traction boiler in the home town of the inventor, Allandale, Ontario, and proved a wonderful success by the best railway mechanics. It is now being installed on a locomotive on the T.N.O. railway, North Bay, Ontario, and in the near future it will be placed on some of the largest buildings in Toronto. The railways throughout Canada and the United States have been looking for such an invention for years, and now it is a case of only a short time until the great railways of North America and Europe may boast of the new smoke-consuming system.

The inventor of this new perfection smoke consumer is Mr. George D. Brown, a fireman and steam engineer of Allandale, Ontario. He was born at Point Duquesne in the county of Westmorland, New Brunswick, forty-four years ago. For fifteen years he has spent his energies studying steam and the prevention of smoke. Three years ago he moved to his present location, where he has been experimenting on steam boilers, until recently when he completed his invention, which is the only one of its type in existence.

When patented it showed its superiority over seventy-seven smoke consumers in the United States, and fourteen in Canada.

When the sooty smoke has been eliminated from our fair land, and nature's pure air is unsmirched by artificial industries, man may stand up and say to all the world—"The superheated steam smoke consumer is an incomparable invention."—A. C. Douglas.

OLD SUN TEMPLE IN ENGLAND

London, Dec. 1.—"Devil's Den," part of the wonderful Sun Temple remains at Avebury, is to be artificially strengthened under the export direction of Mr. Denis Pasmore, a well-known West of England archaeologist.

The stone pillars which form part of the structure are in danger of collapse, and the Wiltshire Society has authorized Mr. Pasmore to restore the monument without interfering with the character of the place.

Avebury remains are older than Stonehenge, although the actual date has always been a matter of controversy.

Professor Flinders Petrie who has "dug" all over the world, has again been at Avebury, where he is on holiday to re-read the riddle of Avebury and Silbury Hill.

This latter mound, 135 ft. high, the greatest hill made by man in Europe, was excavated in 1777 and in 1849, while some discoveries were made in 1886. Its secret still remains buried, however.

Avebury, which is believed to date from the early Bronze Age, and to have consisted formerly of great stones, was last excavated in 1908, when red deer antler picks and a neolithic flint knife were found.

Archaeological societies in the Western counties are showing distinct signs of revived activity.

Besides this work on the part of the Wiltshire Society, the neighboring county of Somerset is busy resuming

"BLUE EYED BABY" HERE AGAIN

Splendid Production, by Local Amateurs to be Repeated at Opera House next Wednesday.

When "The Blue Eyed Baby", a three act comedy, was presented here a little over a month ago, by local amateurs under the direction of Miss Nita MacDonald, it proved to be a popular drawing card and received so much favorable comment that many who did not have an opportunity of seeing it at the time, were keenly disappointed.

These and others who say they can enjoy seeing it again have been insistent in their demands that the production be repeated.

Many will therefore no doubt be delighted to hear that in deference to these many requests arrangements have been made to present this comedy at the Opera House one night only, next Wednesday, Dec. 28th.

For this return engagement only one admission price will prevail, namely 50c. to any seat in the theatre with all seats reserved. Tickets are now on sale and going fast. The box office opens Tuesday morning next at 10 a.m. and tickets can then be exchanged for reserved seat coupons.

A percentage of the proceeds is to be donated to those in charge of local charities for the poor.

LARGE DEFICITS

THINGS OF PAST

But C. N. R. Will Not Show Profit Every Month, Says President.

D. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian National Railway, denies that he stated at Kitchener on Thursday that the day of deficits was past, as reported in Press despatches from that city.

"The despatches from Kitchener of my address to the Canadian Club in that city yesterday do not correctly report what I said," stated Mr. Hanna to The Toronto Globe. "I would be very glad indeed to be able to say that I thought the day of deficits had passed. What I did say, and I said it more than once, was that I felt that the day of large deficits had passed."

Lean Months to Meet.

"I pointed out that, while we had a small net in August, followed by a better result in September, and net earnings of more than a million dollars in October, and expected some net earnings in November, and even a small margin to the good in December—notwithstanding the reduced rates—we would hardly expect to avoid a little setback in January and February, when weather and other conditions made it very difficult to make ends meet, and when, particularly in view of the serious unemployment situation we were not cutting our maintenance forces as drastically as we would feel justified in doing if other employment were available."

"Also, as to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, I said that while we had made a good showing in 1919 with the few ships we had in service, 1920's operations were not so good, although the returns provided more than half a million dollars for interest after taking care of operating expenses and depreciation, but as to the results this year the matter was 'in the lap of the gods.'"

Shipowners Lose.

"As everyone knows, the conditions surrounding ocean steamship services are extraordinary bad, and we feel
