LARGE CROWDS AT RINK.

The attendance at the skating rink so far this season has been above all expectations and on every occasion that the rink has been open large crowds have been in attendance. That the management appreciate the support they are receiving is very evident for from now on the rink band membership will be increased and while the music has been good it will be even better from now on. The curlers expect to get down to work right after New Year's and being confident they expected the new rink will be completed by that time.

NUPTIAL EVENTS

BOOS—WEBER

A very pretty quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's father Mr. Christian Weber, William Street when his daughter Selma was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Michael E. Boos of Chesley in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride who was given away by her father was unattended and as they entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mr. Earl Steine, nephew of the bride, Rev. S. E. Schrader stepped forward and tied the nuptial knot.

Following the ceremony and after receiving the congratulations of the assembled guests, an adjournment was made to the dining room where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Boos left amid a shower of congratulations on a honeymoon trip to Hamilton, Toronto and other points. They will reside in Chesley where the groom has a prosperous hardware business.

The pastor took as his text at the morning service "Speak to the children of Isaac, but they go forward". In an evening service on "The Coming Power of Christianity". Christianity was defined as "Jesus Christ vitally living in the hearts and lives of men". The principles of Jesus are the foundation on which the government of nations rests. In order to bring this about we must keep an open bible, keep in close contact with God, and hold up the cross of Christ.

ANNUAL XMAS PROGRAM HELD AT ZION CHURCH

The annual Christmas Entertainment of Zion Bible School was held on Thursday evening last, and attracted a large audience, the spacious S.S. building being taxed to its full capacity. The Junior Department rendered a mixed program of songs and recitations, well rendered, after which the senior School gave the cantata, "The Coming of the King" by Smith and Towne.

The various parts were rendered effectively, and an enjoyable and profitable evening was spent. On Saturday afternoon the primaries had their Christmas supper, while the beginners of the school are to be royally entertained this afternoon at 2:30.

Sunday was a full day at Zion Church. Rev. S. K. Knechtel of Bridgeport, gave a forceful and searching address in the morning on "Occupy Till I Come", while the pastor, Rev. J. P. Hauch, gave a practical and searching appeal for better service in soul-saving, at the evening service.

"Home-coming Day" was observed at the Bible School session yesterday, and about a dozen of our students and workers were lined up on the platform,

A pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon Dec. 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Betzner, 15 Church St. when their daughter, Myrtle Viola was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Forlier of Cobourg formerly of Kitchener. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Irene Betzner and Mr. Arthur Kimmel of Cobourg acted as best man. Rev. J.H. McBain officiated.

After a dainty wedding supper the happy couple left for Toronto and points East. They will reside in Cobourg.

Express Thanks.

The Sisters in charge of St. Agatha's Orphanage desire to express their thanks to the members of the Kitchener Young Men's Club who presented the little children in their charge with a large number of most useful gifts on Christmas day, in connection with the Community Christmas Tree fund. The thoughtfulness of those in charge of that fund including the St. Agatha Orphanage among the beneficiaries is most highly appreciated.

The Sisters likewise desire to thank the Knights of Columbus for their visit and their gifts on Saturday last, when the little orphans were again gladdened by the receipt of most practical gifts, thus making the Christmas of 1919 the brightest one in the lives of the great majority of them. May all benefactors be repaid a hundredfold for what they have done for the "Little Ones."

Mrs. John Singer of Detroit is a visitor here.

"Time?" Weenty echoed. "O, what do you hear in the clock—it goes tick, tick, tick."

"No, that's not it," Sister Loola shook her head.

"Then I know!" Weenty exclaimed. "I've seen pictures of Time. Father Time. He is old and has a long, long white beard."

"Yes, but he's not really truly a person, you know."

For the YOUNG PEOPLE

ON NEW YEARS EVE

JUST at twelve o'clock, Sister Loola told Weenty, "That's when the Old Year goes out and the New Year comes in."

"Can you see them?" Weenty asked. "What do they look like, Loola?"

"Why," said Loola, "I'm not really sure. It's Time, you know. She's looking quite wise as a big girl who had been to school for two whole years should."

"Time?" Weenty echoed. "O, what you hear in the clock—it goes tick, tick, tick."

"No, that's not it," Sister Loola shook her head.

"Then I know!" Weenty exclaimed. "I've seen pictures of Time. Father Time, he is. He is old and has a long, long white beard."

"Yes, but he's not really truly a person, you know," Loola said.

"Are you sure, Loola?" Weenty asked. "I've seen lots and lots of pictures."

"Well," admitted Loola, "I've never seen him but, of course, there's lots of things a little girl like I haven't seen." Which was a very wise way for Loola to think for quite some time and worth knowing.

"Then there might be," Weenty said.

"Anyway, we could look," Loola answered. "It wouldn't do any harm."

"Where?" Weenty asked. "In the clock?"

"No, silly, in the sky, I guess," Loola said.

"O-o-o-o! Just like fire-crackers!" Weenty exclaimed.

"I'm not sure a bit," Sister Loola hastened to say. "It might be that way, though."

Nurse came in at this minute and tucked Weenty into bed. Sister Loola hurried to go to bed, too.

"—and be sure to wake us, Nurse," Loola said.

"Wake you!" It was Uncle Bob's voice from the hall. "My! My! My! You reckon on being very sound sleepers, you two. All the bells and whistles will be ringing and blowing at such a rate you'd have to be deaf as well as sound asleep if you missed seeing the Old Year out."

Loola ran to the door and peeped out.

"O, but, Uncle Bob, I do go awfully sound asleep," she said. "Are you going to see the Old Year out?"

"I surely am," said Uncle Bob.

"Where?" Weenty called out from her crib.

"O, just around," said Uncle Bob. "One is apt to meet with the old fellow any place at all. But don't you be afraid of not waking up, children. The Old Year will tend to that."

"See, there is an Old Year!" Weenty exclaimed excitedly. "O, let's ask Uncle Bob about him."

"Then I know!" Weenty exclaimed. "I've seen pictures of Time. Father Time, he is. He is old and has a long, long white beard."

"Yes, but he's not really truly a person, you know," Loola said.

"Are you sure, Loola?" Weenty asked. "I've seen lots and lots of pictures."

"Well," admitted Loola, "I've never seen him but, of course, there's lots of things a little girl like I haven't seen." Which was a very wise way for Loola to think for quite some time and worth knowing.

"Then there might be," Weenty said.

"Anyway, we could look," Loola answered. "It wouldn't do any harm."

"Where?" Weenty asked. "In the clock?"

"No, silly, in the sky, I guess," Loola said.

"O-o-o-o! Just like fire-crackers!" Weenty exclaimed.

"I'm not sure a bit," Sister Loola hastened to say. "It might be that way, though."

Nurse came in at this minute and tucked Weenty into bed. Sister Loola hurried to go to bed, too.

"—and be sure to wake us, Nurse," Loola said.

"Wake you!" It was Uncle Bob's voice from the hall. "My! My! My! You reckon on being very sound sleepers, you two. All the bells and whistles will be ringing and blowing at such a rate you'd have to be deaf as well as sound asleep if you missed seeing the Old Year out."

A HAPPY NEW YEAR
 NEW YEAR bells are ringing—snow is in the air,
 Mistletoe and holly are hanging everywhere;
 Every one is happy while trudging through the snow,
 No one is sad or sorry to see the Old Year go;
 And every place where friends are meeting
 You hear the "Happy New Year" greeting—
 For on this day all girls and boys
 Wish to their friends the season's joys.

and then at each other. They didn't know whether to be frightened or not. But at last Weenty got up enough courage to speak.

"I believe he's the Old Year," she whispered to Loola.

"So you know me," said the old man. "I thought you weren't quite sure about me."

Loola looked a little abashed but Weenty spoke up.

"We weren't sure, Mr. Old Year," she said. "You see we'd never really seen you and until Uncle Bob spoke of you we—"

"Of course, you'd never seen me," the Old Year broke in. "although I have lived with you every day. Well one year is a short time to get acquainted with everybody in it, isn't it?"

"And now that we have met you and won't stay!" Loola exclaimed. "Tell us where do you go after the year is up?"

"Well, I go and join all the other Old Years that were before me and we sit around and talk about old times and I tell them all the latest news of the past year, then it's time for a new Old Year to join us."

"O," said Sister Loola. "Do you see all the years of very long ago, as far back as George Washington, who is in the History books?"

The Old Year chuckled.

"Why Washington's time was young you ought to hear some of them."

"And the Little New Year, where is he?" Loola asked.

"I have to go out and hunt him," the Old Year answered.

"Where?" asked Weenty.

"Not in the clock, anyway," said the Old Year with a twinkle in his eye.

"And what are you going to say to the New Year?" Loola asked. "Will you tell him about us?"

"Of course. And I'll give the New Year the presents. You know today is his birthday."

"What presents?" Both the children asked in the same breath.

"Why the presents a year always gets. We pass them along to each other and they are usually in pretty good condition. There is the sky, for one, blue and gray, cloudy and sunny. Then there is rain—it's nice to paddle in, and snow, one can have lots of fun with it. There are the seeds for the flowers; they are interesting to watch come up. There are no end of sap for the trees and one must cut it up and out into fruit and leaves. The furry little animals and the big ones, the birds—O, there are a lot of things for the new year."

"I thought those things belonged to everybody," Loola said, a bit timidly. "So they do," the Old Year agreed. "That is if you can enjoy them. And, of course, you must have Time to do that."

"That's so," said Loola.

"And so you see you have to have them from Time," said the Old Year. "Now there are three hundred and sixty-six days in this New Year—it's less than a year, you know—and as you sleep just about half of every day (being proper children), you have just one hundred and eighty-three days in which to enjoy all these beautiful gifts of the new year."

"Dear me!" said Loola, "that doesn't seem so very many."

"Enough, but not say to spare to be cross or unhappy in, is it?" remarked the Old Year.

"No, indeed! And I shall try very hard to economize my happy days," said Loola.

"And when we play together there will be just twice as much time, won't there?" Little Weenty put in.

"I shouldn't wonder at all," the Old Year said. "And now I will have to go—and I wish you a Happy New Year, while all the bells are ringing in it."

Before the children could answer he had gone. Loola hopped out of bed and ran out in the hall. Little Weenty sat up. In the hall Loola found Uncle Bob just coming up the stairs.

"Well, Happy New Year," he cried. "Did you see the Old Year, children, and did he come out of the clock?"

Uncle Bob laughed and Loola thought he sounded quite like the Old Year.

Loola And Weenty Looked At Him And Then At Each Other

New Year's Day In the Morning

WHEN Robert Merrill made out his Christmas list he put a diary at the very top of the list. That didn't mean that he was going to give anyone a diary, not at all. He meant that he hoped somebody would give him one—and sure enough they did! For on Christmas morning he found a diary, bound in red just like a regular book and with his own name in gold letters on the front, on the floor beneath the Christmas tree. Moreover under that name there was a diary marked Elizabeth Merrill for his sister. Evidently Santa Claus had thought that little brother Billy, who hadn't started to kindergarten yet, wouldn't have any use for a diary for he didn't leave but two. And, of course, Santa was right—folks have to be able to write before they can keep a diary.

Nobody in the family quite understood where Robert got his idea for wanting a diary but, anyway, he got the idea somewhere and as he got the diary too, everything was all right. But there was one trouble with the diary that Robert had not foreseen—that was that he couldn't begin to use it right away. There was no page for the day after Christmas nor for the next day.

"I'll have to wait a whole week!" he exclaimed disappointedly. "before I can write a single thing!"

He took his diary up to his room. And he sat down on the big window seat and wrote and figured for an hour Billy came to the door and wanted to go sled riding but Robert said he was too busy just then—they'd go later. Elizabeth came to see if he would play checkers with her and he slipped his papers and diary under the pillows quickly and said he'd be down pretty soon. And then, as soon as she had gone, he pulled them out and began figuring again.

"What you doing Robert?" asked his mother, as she went along the hall a little while later. "didn't you know that Elizabeth was waiting for you in the library?"

Robert started up guiltily, for all the world as though he had been doing something he shouldn't be doing. He stuffed his papers under the pillows again and hurried down to his sister. Now if that had happened once, nobody would have thought anything of it. But it didn't happen just once. It happened every day and sometimes even two or three times a day. Every one in the house began to notice that Robert was doing something very mysterious. Even father observed Robert's thoughtfulness and asked, one evening, "what's bothering you son? Want any help?"

To which offer Robert replied, "No thank you, Dad, I'm just a—figuring."

Carol in the middle of the night. So it was ten o'clock when the Merrill family finished breakfast.

"Now you can show us!" said Elizabeth when the dishes were cleared away. "You know you promised you'd tell right after breakfast on New Year's morning."

"Come on into the library then," said Robert.

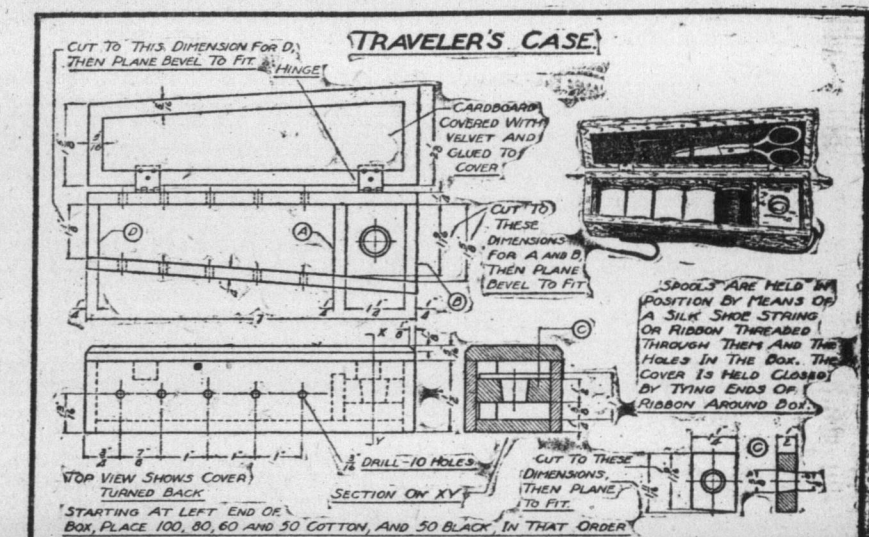

"Can we come too?" asked Mr. Merrill.

But Robert had hurried up the stairs after his precious book. In a minute he was back and he spread open his book and sorted out his papers on a small table where Billy and Elizabeth both could see everything.

"Now I'll show you," he said, and with a proud intake of breath he began.

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES, THAT A BOY CAN MAKE.
 BY FRANK I. SOLAR
 INSTRUCTOR, DEPT. OF MANUAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT

CHIS little article will be found to be most useful, not only by those who have much sewing to do as a regular part of their work, but by boys away at college, and older boys away from home where they no longer have the watchful eye of mother to keep their clothing in good repair. Of course, it goes without saying that girls will find the case a very great convenience, whether at home or away. Bottoms are bound to come off, and little rips will appear in clothing, and it is not always convenient to send the articles to the tailor. A little bit like the one shown herewith will provide the means to make the little repairs for yourself, thereby saving much time and no little expense. You may wonder why a thimble is included in the kit when it is recommended for the use of boys as well as girls, but if you have ever had occasion to sew on a button, you surely have discovered that a thimble is a mighty convenient thing to have.

When I was in college I was not fortunate to have such a fine little case to keep needles, thread and odd buttons in, but I had them with me just the same—except the thimble. I could have used it to great advantage, however, for many times I have pushed the butt end of the needle into my finger in endeavoring to sew on a button. The case will be found a very fine gift for any occasion, and especially will be appreciated when it is known that it represents your own hand work.

The material for this should be a very good quality of wood. Walnut is very attractive and is recommended for use if it is possible to secure it. The application of linseed oil and later a thin coat of shellac rubbed down with very fine sandpaper will give a very pleasing finish.

An examination of the drawing will show that the front part of the box is not parallel with the back. The ends are square with the back, but the front makes a small angle with them. It will require careful work to get good joints and the attractiveness of the box is dependent upon the quality of your work.

According to our drawing, it will be seen that the bottom is $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick, $\frac{1}{4}$ " wide at one end and $\frac{1}{2}$ " wide at the other end, and $1\frac{1}{2}$ " long. The ends are square with the back edge. Reduce this piece to the required dimensions, and then the side pieces, front and back. It will be well to fasten these pieces temporarily in place in order to fit the end pieces. The dimensions for these latter pieces and for the partition A are given slightly over size in order that you may have a slight margin for fitting. Fit them very carefully, remembering the caution given above regarding the attractiveness of the box. Part C will also have to be fitted with care and to assure you, the dimensions shown are slightly larger on one side. The hole in this part is cut on a slant to give the thimble a little better support. No special suggestions are needed with regard to this piece, or any of the remaining pieces that go to make up the case.

Small hinges are used between the box and the cover, and as the material is so thin, a hinge should be selected that can be fastened in the manner shown on the drawing.

A piece of cardboard covered with velvet and glued to the cover provides the means for holding the accessories and needles.

The thread is held in accordance with the explanation given in the note—the small spool at the left end and the others placed in order of their size.

A RESOLUTION
 During 1920 I intend to study and persevere. I also will be considerate, and respectful to my father. I'll do all I can for those about me, and not be cross—Jack.

"Now I'll Show You," Robert Said

I'll tell you on New Year's Day—maybe.

The funniest part of it was that Robert hated to figure. He had always been the one who got lower in arithmetic than any other subject. And as for keeping accounts or anything like that—he never had even tried it. And now Robert, he who never added one and one if he could get out of it, was figuring in every spare moment. It was too mysterious! The family simply gave it up and waited for New Year's morning.

And finally that day came. Everybody slept a little late because of very special permission they had all stayed up to see the New Year in and to have the fun of lighting New Year candles and singing the New Year stamps and saving money and not spending foolishly and all that? Billy couldn't answer, but Elizabeth nodded yes.

"And you remember how I always am 'broke' and my allowance gone and everything?" Even Billy nodded yes this time—all the family knew about Robert's poor business management.

"Well," continued Robert impressively, "I'm not going to be that way any more! Never! I'm going to put down everything I think I want to spend in my diary and then see how it looks before I spend it. And I'm going to think so hard that lots of times I won't spend it. And I'm going to buy a thrift stamp or give the teacher some money for a thrift stamp

Sass or Zettel For Mayor

When men have served the city faithfully for years as members of the City Council, they are fairly entitled to promotion when the proper time comes.

Both Ald. Zettel and Ald. Sass have served their fellow-citizens efficiently and conscientiously. They are familiar with the needs of the city and, having borne the heat and burden of the day, it seems essentially fair that they should receive first consideration when the ratepayers choose their Mayor for 1920.

It is an honorable and worthy ambition that members of the Council should seek to crown their municipal career with the highest office in the gift of the citizens. We believe that our people appreciate faithful service and that the Mayor for next year will be drawn from the Aldermen who have given so freely of their time and services in the difficult years through which we have just come.

Chickens Home To Roost

The Globe is fairly frothing at the mouth with anger and disgust at the Union Government. The Government committed the unforgivable sin the other day when it finally decided that the war is over and that the war-time orders-in-council should be rescinded, including the order prohibiting the importation of liquor from Montreal.

So the chickens are coming home to roost. If there was one thing more than another responsible for the formation of Union Government, it was the right-about-face of the Toronto Globe in 1917. Thus were thousands of Liberals misled into supporting the Borden crew, to say nothing of the smaller fry of so-called Liberal newspapers throughout the province who take their political creed direct from the columns of the Toronto newspaper.

Where Do We Go From Here?

And now the idol is shown to have feet of clay. Even Rowell has shown the cloven hoof and is no longer of the elect. Where and whom will the Globe and its newspaper satellites worship now? Mr. Cawar for a time seemed about to receive the crown of political perfection. But since he has come out flat-footed for free trade, the Globe has informed its readers that complete free trade is impossible.

The Toronto editor is walking in the wilderness, living like the prophet of old, on political grasshoppers but very little honey.

COMMENT

Aren't the chaps who are running for office friendly fellows these days?

If Sir Robert really wants to retire, why not try a general election.

If anybody in your family shows what seem symptoms of the sleeping sickness, just start the alarm clock.

We don't believe Santa Claus is a democrat, else why did he leave all the best presents at the rich people's houses?

In New Zealand, the Union Government was returned to power, thus giving N. Wesley Rowell courage to smile for the first time since Oct. 20th.

The Ottawa Citizen describes the cancellation of the orders-in-council as two amnesties:—one for the non-fighters and one for the booze fighters.

Sir Robert Borden is the only prime minister who was in office when the great war began and was in office when it ended.

Brantford Expositor.—Perhaps so, but no other Prime Minister in all the civilized world had the benefit of the War Time Elections Act.

At the recent hanging in Hamilton, the executioner expressed strong disapproval of the present method of execution. He is right. Hanging is about the most inhuman and barbarous method that could be devised. We hope Mr. Mowat's bill of last session to substitute electrocution will become law in the coming year. Better still, the death penalty should be abolished entirely.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

The Shrewd Wayfarer.

Harold Bell Wright, the noted singer, said in an after-dinner speech in San Francisco: "After all, financial success is the best proof of a book's merit. All good books, from 'Robinson Crusoe' down, have had a phenomenal success—made hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"We all know this is true about financial success. We are all like the tramp who asked the old gentleman for the price of a glass of beer."

"I have no money," the old gentleman said, "but I will give a little advice, friend." "The tramp lit a cigaret butt and blew a contemptuous puff of smoke into the old gentleman's face."

"Well, if ye aint got no money," he said, "yer advice can't be very valuable."

The Newspaper Case.

(Ottawa Journal.)

The white paper on which newspapers are printed has been going up rapidly in price lately. Not in cost of manufacture. The cost of manufacture of newsprint is $40 to $50 per ton, according to the location or advantages of the mill. The present selling price of newsprint in Canada under the Paper Controller's order, is $69 per ton, but increases to $80 per ton on January 1. The selling price in the United States is $80 to $90 per ton. Canadian mills sell in the United States nearly nine-tenths of their whole product. Consequently, most of the Canadian paper mills are making at present not far from one hundred per cent. profit on the cost of manufacture.

Business is Business.

(Sentinel-Review.)

The general manager of a creamery concern in the west informed the Board of Commerce the other day that so long as his company remained in business it would take advantage of the law of supply and demand, to make all the money it could by supplying the foreign demand for milk and milk products. "Business is business," was his explanation of the fact that people in Canada were compelled to pay extravagant prices because some people in some other part of the world were badly in need of food.

"Business is business," of course. But it is easy to quote old sayings. For instance: "It's a poor rule that works both ways." If it is good business to protect the Canadian producer against the foreign producer, why should it not be regarded as good business to protect the Canadian consumer against the foreign consumer? It is good business, we are told, to protect infant industries. The baby is an infant industry. According to the Board of Commerce thousands of Canadian babies are starving because the foreign demand for Canadian milk has raised the price beyond their reach. If we protect our infant industries against foreign supply should we not protect our babies against foreign demand? Isn't a baby as well worth protecting as the product of a factory?

Shells from Dead Ages.

(Galveston News.)

On many lofty hills in Texas are vast accumulations of oyster shells. How did they get there? It was long regarded as a first-class mystery, and even awakened awe in superstitious minds.

The explanation is simple enough. Most of Texas was one time under water and much of its submerged area was covered by an oyster bed—probably the biggest that ever existed. Eventually the region was uplifted by geologic causes; streams cut their way hither and thither through the new-made land, and there and there hills were left with oyster shells still remaining on their summits.

There is no question about the ancient oyster bed, because it is there today forming a continuous sheet twenty feet thick half-way across the state. Composing a limy rock, in which the shells are loosely cemented together, it equals in extent and thickness the coal seams of Pennsylvania.

Would Help Canada.

(St. John Standard.)

A "Buy in Canada" campaign might encourage the movement of American capital and enterprise to this country. Today the United States has much capital seeking investment, but it will not be utilized to develop industries here if American products find an easy sale in Canada. If American or British capital is encouraged to come here by patriotic buying, American and British immigrants will come here, too, and business generally will be stimulated, and a large home market developed for the farmer as well.

Close Quarters.

(San Francisco Star.)

An Irishman was recently travelling in a train accompanied by a minister, when two very stout old ladies entered. They placed themselves one on each side of Patrick and he was much crushed between them. The minister, on seeing Pat so placed, remarked: "Are you quite comfortable?" To this question Pat quickly replied: "Sure, sorr, Oi haven't much room to complain."

GOES 25 MILES FOR MORE TANLAC

Farmer Says It Restored Wife's Health After He Had Spent Hundreds in Vain.

"Well, sir, it is twenty-five miles from here, where I live, and I come all that distance just to get some Tanlac," said W. M. Nance, a well known and prosperous farmer who lives at Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, while in the Liggett-Findlay Drug Store in Calgary, the other day.

"You just ought to see the way this Tanlac has brought my wife out," continued Mr. Nance, "and here of late I have been feeling mighty bad myself, so I thought about the best thing I could do was to get started on Tanlac as quickly as possible. Now, my wife's trouble was of five years' standing, and during that time I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get something that would help her, but it was just that much money thrown away. She had a bad case of stomach trouble, and everything she ate would cause gas to form so bad that she could hardly get a good breath. Then she was so nervous and restless that she couldn't sleep at night. She also suffered from headaches, and sometimes she would get so dizzy that she couldn't stand on her feet. She just kept getting worse all the time until she was just past going altogether."

Well, I noticed that Tanlac was highly recommended for that kind of trouble, so I bought a bottle of it and she commenced taking it. In all my life I never saw anything to equal the way my wife improved after she commenced taking Tanlac. Why, she has gained at least fifteen pounds in weight, and is as well and hearty as she ever was in her life. She has a fine appetite, and eats just as much as she wants and she never suffers a particle afterwards. She does all her housework now, and it doesn't seem to tire her a particle. Now, that is what Tanlac did for my wife, and when I commenced to go down hill a short time ago, Tanlac was the first thing I thought about, and after seeing what it did for my wife, I am sure that it will soon put me on my feet. Yes, sir, Tanlac is a real medicine and you may count on me to say a good word for it every chance I have."

Tanlac is sold in Kitchener by E. O. Ritz & Co., in Galt by R. W. McKelham in Hespeler by Jno. R. Phin, in New Hamburg by W. H. Bouillon in St. Catharines by R. W. Hamilton, in Watford by A. E. Richert & Co., in Preston by H. L. Frick, in Waterloo by A. B. Learn, in Doon by L. C. Bullock.

Letter to News Record

RADIAL RAILWAYS.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:—The proposal made by Mr. Lippert, Chairman of the Light Commission and voiced by him at the ratepayers' meeting last Tuesday evening, that the Hydro-Radial line connect into the city via Queen street, suggests an alternative to the Hydro Commission's plan to enter the city at the west end, and thus further congest our already crowded narrow thoroughfare. Mr. Lippert's suggestion, however, open to two (at least two) formidable objections. First, that to lay down railway tracks on Queen street is to destroy hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in paving this residential street; and again disfiguring it with poles and wires, to remove which cost a lot of energy and money; secondly, the radial lines will intersect King street at the most congested corner in the whole city.

It is suggested that the Hydro Radial line come into the city via Benton street, thence up Frederick street, west on Lancaster street to the G. T. R. crossing, and by a short piece of track paralleling the main line of the Grand Trunk connect with the G. T. R. line to Elmhurst.

To go out Ahrens street (as suggested by Mr. Lippert) is only to intersect a maze of tracks at the G. T. R. station and continue the "switch back" and delays now necessary to connect for Elmhurst, and which the Lancaster street tracks, which condition our Light Commission is properly objecting to.

The Bridgeport cars ought to take the Frederick street-Lancaster street route, thereby eliminating the awkward section from Water to Guelph streets; and when that line is extended to Elora, the Interurban station will be at the heart of the city and still be off the congested King street tracks, which condition our Light Commission is properly objecting to.

Another very important consideration is that these radial lines converging at Market Square will give the cross-city transportation service so immediately necessary and, seemingly, so remote of accomplishment otherwise. With stops at South, Albert and Mill streets and at Five Points, Queen north and the G. T. R. on Lancaster streets, those sections of the city will be served with a not infrequent car service, with transfers to the city line. They then will become more desirable because more readily accessible residential districts, with increased property and assessed values which will go a long way towards meeting the cost of street railway extensions.

Moreover, when the main line of the Grand Trunk is electrified its cars would stop at the Lancaster street station, enabling passengers for north and south to connect directly with radials to their destination, without the cross-city transfer which will be necessary if such passengers are disembarked at the present Grand Trunk station.

More adequate and quicker transportation is one of the pressing problems of this growing city; and in solving such let us as citizens think in terms of and plan for the future and not merely in terms of immediate convenience. It is in this spirit that this communication is offered to your columns, Mr. Editor, and to the consideration of fellow ratepayers.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly. No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

The Bride of Llewellyn

"There is no doubt that you will have a much calmer and clearer expression in your eyes now, Simmons." "Is there? But, dear sister, pray do not call me Simmons. That really is not my name. And neither am I a maniac, nor the monomaniac that you and the doctor suppose me to be." "Never mind about that now. Don't excite yourself over it." "Yes but I must mind about it. And get you and the doctor to mind too. I have been thinking very intently. And I know what I am about to say to be the truth, strange as it may appear to you; yet not more strange to you than what you state appears to me. I am not Simmons, the hood-bearer but Arthur Powis, an officer in the navy."

"Well, well, let it be so; only do not talk about it and trouble yourself over it," said the sister, soothingly. "I tell you I must, sister, and you must listen, for you must be convinced. I am Lieutenant Powis. I have the clearest memory of all the persons, places, scenes and events of my life, from my earliest childhood, on through boyhood, youth and manhood, up to that dark night when I was struck down by the negro—that fifteenth of October which, you say, passed more than twelve months ago. Since that night I remember nothing until I find myself in this hospital. If what you tell me is true, which I suppose it to be, then there is a whole year totally obliterated from my memory—utterly lost out of my life. There is the great mystery. Sister, help me to solve it by telling me all that you know concerning me during the past year—the lost year of my life."

"Poor fellow, I will tell you, in the hope that what I say will do you some good. But pray, pray do not agitate yourself over it," said the nurse, gently. "Take hold of my wrist, and keep your finger on my pulse while you speak, and then you will know for yourself how quiet I will be."

The sister did all things the man requested. First of all, with her hand upon his pulse and her eyes watching his countenance, she told how strangely through his fever and his delirium he had raved of a life that did not seem ever to have been his. And how these strange ravings so stimulated her curiosity and excited her interest in him that she had caused diligent inquiry to be made into his antecedents, but that she had been able to trace his life back no farther than a year, or something less; that during that period he had been employed as a stone-mason's laborer under one contractor, but that he had lodged with various poor people, always changing his lodging house so as to follow and be near the scene of his daily labor, and that he had lived last at the house of a widow Simmons, an old clothes vendor in Tilden's alley. While the sister spoke the man listened attentively, with corrugated brows and eager eyes, yet with a tolerably calm pulse. When she made the last statement he said:

"And that was the reason, I suppose, why they called me William Simmons?" "No, you had been known by that name many months before; in fact, ever since you had lived in New York," said the sister. And then she fell into silence, as if she either could not or would not tell him any more. "Go on, dear nurse! What were my habits during that time?" "Industrious, temperate, regular—in fact almost irrepresible," replied the sister slowly. Then she added, suddenly, as if spurred by a conscientious regard for truth—"except—" And then she paused again.

"Why a singular habit that you had of stopping before a certain brownstone palace, and standing there with the hood on your shoulders and staring up into the windows of a young lady's chamber. This habit, harmless in itself, appears to have given great annoyance to the highly respectable family that occupied the house, as well as to your employer, who often deducted a half day's wages from you on account of lost time, and to your landlady, who would let your meals grow cold to punish you for keeping them waiting. For, you see, you always stopped in going to and from your work or your meals to stare at those windows."

As the sister continued to speak the man's face assumed an expression of intense and almost agonized study. As she ended, he suddenly started, snatched his hand from her hold, and with a wild light shining in his eyes, exclaimed: "I stood before that house to listen—to listen to a—sweet invisible songstress! Was it not so?" "Yes, yes; you remember so much, then? I am so glad! You are certainly on the way to recovery," replied the sister joyfully. "No, no; it has gone! quite gone! Only while you spoke the vision passed before me like the reflection of something felt, or seen, or done, in a dream." "What vision so passed, brother?" "The vision of myself, dressed as a poor laborer, with a hood on my shoulders, standing before a grand house, gazing up into high windows and listening to a voice that sounded like hers—or, rather, dreaming that I did all this, and trying vainly to call or wake—but there! It has gone again!" sighed the man, in despair. "You had better rest now, and not talk any more just yet," said the Sister Domitilla, gently. "I will obey you, kind nurse; I will not talk since you wish me to be silent. But—I must listen! Tell me something more of this strange hodman, who seems to have been transformed or dreaming self, sister."

Wants Treaty Renewed

Tokio, Nov. 27—Marquis Shigenobu Okuma, Japan's venerable statesman, is strongly in favor of a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance which expires in 1921. Rerevision of the provisions should be made in consonance with the requirements of the new world conditions he says but the fundamental principle of the alliance that both Great Britain and Japan should maintain peace in the far east and in India and protect their mutual interests should remain unchanged.

I've Kept My Name Out of the Papers all Summer Which is More Than Some People are Able to do.

The fact is, folks, I've been so tremendously busy that I had not time even to think about newspaper advertising. It takes a lot of my time just to give SERVICE to my clients, for I am determined always to give the very closest attention and the very best service to every one who does business with my office.

First of all YOUR business is MY business, whether you list a property with me to sell, or whether you wish to buy a property through me. Then, I have only one price for a property listed with me, whether the purchaser is rich or poor, whether he is buying a home for himself or making an investment, the price here is always the same to everybody. "The Square Deal," remember. Also, I am the sole and only person conducting this business and I give my personal attention to every transaction and every client gets the full benefit of my experience, knowledge and personality. Consider these points and you will come to me to sell or to buy real estate, either in the city or the country.

WANTS CONTRACT UPHOLD.

Grocers Appeal Against Cancellation of Contract With Canners.

Hugh Blain, president of the Canadian Wholesale Grocers, appeared before the Board of Commerce, Toronto, to appeal against the cancellation of a contract made by the members of the association with the Dominion Canners Company by Dr. McFall. He was accompanied by ten of the grocers, and the argument put before the board was that Dr. McFall as Cost of Living Commissioner had no right to cancel the contract.

The contract called for a 2¢ cent per tin rebate on all goods ordered by the grocers from the canners 12 months ahead.

Burglars Visit Dunbrooks.

Sometime during Saturday night an entrance was made into Dun-brooks Silver Store but as to whether the thief got away with any of the stock cannot be determined until an inventory is taken. The entrance was made at the rear on the second story he having climbed onto the roof of the bowling alley his footmarks being easily traced in the snow. The glass in the door of the workshop was broken and as the key was on the inside of the door access was easily made.
There appeared to be only one defender the job and the matter has been placed in the hands of the police.

Fractured Arm.

Rev. A.L. Zinger, C.R. pastor of St. Mary's Church had the misfortune to slip on Saturday morning about eleven o'clock on the steps in front of the church building. As a result he fell on his right side and sustained a fracture of the right arm near the shoulder. He will be confined to the house for some time, but fortunately he does not suffer very much pain. Father Zinger's many friends throughout the city were greatly grieved to hear of his mishap and they hope sincerely that he may soon be able to resume his pastoral duties.

AT ST. JOHNS.

The services at St. John's Church yesterday were both of a musical nature, as befits the spirit of Xmas-tide. In the evening there was a capacity congregation who thoroughly enjoyed the old Christmas Carols, hymns and anthems. Mr.
Carlo Benner sang with splendid effect "There is a land of pure delight," and Mr. J.H. Franks did the solo work in "The Birthday of the King." The choir was fully up to standard in the responses etc., and lovers of church music will be interested in the fact that Mr. Harry Teller, choirmaster, intends giving "The Crucifixion"
during the next Lenten Season.

SWARMING INTO PALESTINE.

Hebrew People Crowding Back.

New York, Dec. 26—A great tide of emigration is sweeping into Palestine, influenced by the conviction that Great Britain will shortly accept a mandate for the Holy Land and that the dream of a national home for the Jews is about to be realized according to cable advices received by the Zionist organization of America today. The cable messages state that the world conference of Zionists, which was scheduled to be held at Basle in January 18 has been postponed in view of the "assured possibility of immediate negotiation for the mandate over Palestine."

At the same time a London cable message received by the Jewish Morning Journal of this city stated that peace negotiations with Turkey would open shortly after the New Year and of this possibility, the Greater Actions as possible in London to cope with what is termed the acute problem of restraining wholesale emigration to Palestine.

In a message sent to Judge Julian

Zionist body, S. Levin, Zionist executive at London, says the situation in

WILDE SIGNS TO BOX ASHER.

Milwaukee Wis., Dec. 28.—Jimmy Wilde is soon to figure in his second American bout. Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan, who in his halcyon days was recognized as one of the stars of the ring, came to Milwaukee and signed the British flyweight to box "Babe" Asher in St. Louis on January 8. It is understood Wilde is to be paid a $15,000 guarantee by the Mound City engagement, which will be over the eight-round route.

Asher will make 116 pounds at ring-side. He has been known to make 112 and 114 pounds. Asher gained his reputation in the trenches and also by his work in the interlarded boxing bouts after the signing of the armistice. Wilde is in perfect condition now, having been in constant training ever since his bout in Milwaukee on December 6 with Jack Sharkey. Sullivan who is matchmaker for the St. Louis club, saw the Briton perform at the Auditorium in his American debut.

"He is undoubtedly the greatest boxing machine for his inches and weight I have ever seen," said Sullivan. "Asher should put him to a good test."

WEAK PT. COLBORNE TEAM NO MATCH FOR PARKDALE

Port Colborne, Dec. 28.—The Parkdale senior team of Toronto beat the local intermediate team here last night 10 to 2. The locals were not as badly outclassed as the score would indicate and gave Collett a chance to distinguish himself. The visitors played well together and at no time did they show any signs of distress.

The local team was badly crippled. They were minus four of their best players. Myers, Bell, Shea and Brickenden were absent, and Chet Irwin, owing to sickness, was only used at intermission.

Roach Plays A Good Game.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—St. Patrick's made their bow to local fans on Saturday night when they defeated Quebec in a fairly interesting game by the score of 7 to 4. Frank Hefferman trotted out a speedy hard-working aggregation, which, when team play is perfected, and the players are in better condition, should make a bold bid for the National League championship.

The work of Mickey Roach, the Hamilton Tiger star, "Babe" Dye, and Frank Hefferman was the cynosure of all eyes. Many thought that they would not prove as effective in the pro ranks as they did in the O.H.A., but this opinion was wide of the mark, for the amateurs made good with a vengeance. "Babe" Dye never played better in his career, but for some reason or other he was not given much chance to show his wares. He was only on the ice for a few minutes at a time, but while he was on he kept the visiting defense constantly on the alert. Dye tricked Mummery and Carpenter with his fake shot as easily as he was wont to do in the Ontario Association.

Roach Makes Good.

Mickey Roach did a lot of useful back-checking, and also proved a valuable puck carrier. He had the honor of scoring the first goal of the match, when five minutes after Referee Smeaton sent them on their way, Dye, carried the disc down the side, passed it over to Noble, who transferred it to Roach, and the latter hit the twine behind Brophy. The cheers that greeted the achievement of the speedy forwards were deafening.

St. Patrick's—Goal, Lockhart; defense, Randall and Hefferman; centre, Roach; wings, Noble and Wilson. Subs—Denney, Dye and Cameron.

Quebec—Goal, Brophy; defense, Mummery and Carpenter; centre, Malone; wings, MacDonald and Carey. Subs—Marks and Ritchie. Referee—C. Smeaton.

HALIFAX SEEKING OLYMPIAD IN 1924.

Geneva, Friday, Dec. 26.—The permanent Olympic Committee has received a request that the Olympic games in 1924 be held at Halifax. The question will be decided at the games to be held at Antwerp next summer, and several countries are expected to be strong contenders.

International Exposition.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 27.—The big made by Halifax for the Olympic games in 1924 followed the decision reached at a great Provincial convention in this city early in the month, at which it was decided to hold an International Exposition here four years hence as the central feature of a world-wide re-education movement, calculated to bring about the return to their former homes of thousands of Nova Scotians domiciled abroad.

MADDEN DECLINES TO BO-LEVINSKY

"Wild Bert" Kenny Replaces New York Pugilist in Bout in Toronto

Toronto Dec. 27.—It will go "Wild Bert" Kenny and not Bartley Madden who will meet Battling Levinsky at the New Year's boxing show to be held at the Arena under the auspices of the United Veterans' League. Late Saturday night Manager Rodgers, who looks after Madden's interests, wired the U. V. L. matchmaker that Madden had backed out of the match with Levinsky, and, though the latter did not say so in so many words the inference is that the so-called "Irish champion" was not overly anxious to get in the ring with Morgan's fast light heavy-weight.

BILL MILLS

THE MEN'S MAN,
6 King St. E.

Fearing a contretemps of this nature, the U. V. L. was not caught unprepared. They had a second string to their bow in Kenny and immediately got in touch with his manager, Charlie Kenny, who jumped at the chance of meeting Levinsky. Kenny has the distinction of carrying Champion Dempsey along for ten rounds at the Fairmont Club in New York two years ago, and of having outpointed the Battler himself at Bridgeport, Conn., over the same route. His nom de ring is no misnomer. He is a wild tearing two fisted individual and just the sort of a man to give the clever slinky Levinsky many anxious moments.

Kenny will arrive in Toronto on Tuesday morning and make his headquarters at the Prince George, where Levinsky will come along next day.

New York, Dec. 29.—The National Collegiate Athletic Association, which, though not an authoritative body, nevertheless exercises a vast amount of influence over college sports, will hold its fourteenth annual convention at the Hotel Astor tomorrow, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. "Physical Efficiency as a National Asset" is to furnish the keynote for the gathering this year. Secretary of War Baker is to deliver an address at the morning session and other prominent men in the world of amateur sports will present papers and addresses. With the greatly increased interest in all sports at the various colleges and universities the meeting is expected to attract more than ordinary attention.

Chief Engineer Gaby Says Some Local Opinion
solutely Wrong and Asks For Careful Congauging in the Same.

MEETING HELD HERE LAST

The Hydro Radial by-law was explained at a meeting of representatives of the Merchants' Bank Hall last evening by two representatives. Mr. T. J. Hannigan, secretary of the Hydro Radial Highway Union, and Chief Engineer Gaby of the Hydro Commission.

The explanation offered by the Chief Engineer of clause in the by-law was an absolute denial of the contention by the city solicitors. Mr. Hannigan's statements also included such a denial. Mr. Gaby said it was never intended that clause (e) of section 2 should include streets. He read the clause which is as follows:

"To furnish a free right of way for the railway and for the power lines of the Commission over any property of the corporation upon being so requested by the Commission and to execute such conveyance thereof or agreement with regard thereto as may be desired by the Commission."

"Read that carefully and note the language. It cannot mean a street. For how could you execute a conveyance of a street? You cannot do it. What is meant are park lands, sewer lands and so forth. This has been repeatedly said in Toronto, Sir Adam Beck has said so, Mr. Gaby said so."

Same As for Power Lines

Mr. Gaby further said that this by-law is the same as that for the Hydro Commission's power lines which by-law has been carried out to the satisfaction of the municipalities.

Today they are not complaining. Let City's Line Connect

"We do not want to take over your street railway. We want to give a good service over it. Therefore we will have our own line. It would be to the advantage of your own street railway to run a line to our railway acting as a feeder for us," Mr. Gaby added.

Several citizens during an informal discussion asked questions. During this it was pointed out that it is necessary to have the by-law submitted in all places exactly the same.

"The by-law is the same in all places as in Toronto, Hamilton and all the others which have voted on it. If it meant the giving away of street rights do you imagine the Toronto and Hamilton would have consented and carried them? Not for a moment," Mr. Gaby remarked.

Have City's Consent

Mr. Gaby asked about clause 0 of section 1 also took issue with some opinions. He read the clause. It is as follows:

"Provided always that as part of any line of railway to be constructed and operated by the Commission, the Commission may purchase, lease or obtain running rights over any steam railway, electrical railway, or street railway or any part thereof."

Nothing Without Consent

Mr. Gaby added: "Now that says the Commission may acquire. But it says nothing more. What it does imply is the fact that the Commission may acquire a railway but there must be the owners' consent. It does not say the Commission can do it without the owners' consent. The assertion that that clause empowers the Commission to take over your street railway is absolutely wrong."

Mr. Hannigan pointed out how the chain
