PIANOS.

The tendency in prices of all manufactured goods has for years been steadily downward. In most lines the quality has gone down with the price. The public has gone bargain mad.

We deplore the fact that this spirit has invaded the fine arts—and people are buying pictures, books and musical instruments at "so much a square yard." But there is no royal road to true culture. A highly artistic musical instrument cannot be made by the "hit or miss" process, and sold for a trifle. A good piano is the result of painstaking, intelligent effort, and costs a fair price. It is cheaper at a fair price than cheap stuff is at a trifle.

THE NORDHEIMER PIANO represents the highest possible standard of merit at the lowest possible cost. Not a dollar put in for the non-essentials, and not an essential left out. A full assortment of these artistic pianos always on exhibition in our ware-rooms. Sold on easy payments.

ANARCHIST PLOT TO KILL ALFONSO

With the Discovery.

When a Crazy Man Attempted to Present a Paper to the King-Alfonso's First Proclamation.

Madrid, May 19 .- An anarchist plot against King Alfonso has been discovered and six arrests in the matter, including that of Gabriel Lopez, an employe of an insurance company, have been made. Dynamite cartridges were found on the premises where Lopez was arrested. Lopez says he received a package of cartridges from another anarchist with instructions.

The discovery of the plot against the king is confirmed by the newspapers here. It is now said that nine dynamite cartridges were seized. Further arrests have been made, and the prisoners include medical students, a printer, a carpenter and a mason. The captured cartridges are being analyzed by the military authorities. POLICE HAD WARNING. According to the newspapers here the police had an inkling of the anarchist plot against the king since last March, and in April they discovered an anarchist meeting place in a fashionable quarter of Madrid. Three Andalusian anarchists arrived here May 2, and were arrested shortly after their arrival. After their arrest it was leaned that a doorkeeper of an insurance company, which is situated in the Carrera San Gerenimo, on the route of yesterday's royal procession, and near the chamber of deputies, and a number of cartridges, believed to be of dynamite, in his possession. The man was arrested yesterday.

Gabriel Lopez, the doorkeeper, was examined before a magistrate, when he declared that the man who gave him the cartridges and told him to throw them as the royal coach passed was Francisco Suarez. Suarez is no-torious for the part he played in an attempted outrage under the late Canovas de Castillo seven years ago, when he accompanied an anarchist named Ruiz, who intended to explode a bomb in Canovas del Castillo's garden. The bomb exploded prematurely, Ruiz was killed and Suarez was badly injured. He was committed to prison forseven years, and has only recently liberated. Lopez accused of giving him the dynamite cartridges. This Suarez denied, and both men are

The manifesto fell flat and the pub-

FERRY BOAT DISASTERS

Collision in New York Harbor on Account of Fog.

Many Lives in Peril, But Only One Person Killed.

New York, May 19. - The Staten Island ferryboat Middletown arrived at her slip, foot of Whitehall street, from Staten Island, shortly before 11 o'clock this forenoon, with her cabin badly damaged by collision in the fog with the steam yacht Aileen. It is reported that one man was killed. The Aileen belongs to Richard Stevens, New York Yacht Club. It is learned that the man killed was J. C. Atterbury, of New Brighton, S. I. No one else was hurt. The bowsprit of the yacht went into the men's cabin on the feryboat and broke off.

ANOTHER FERRYBOAT COLLI-SION.

New York, May 19. - The ferryboat Mauch Chunk of the Central Railroad of New Jersey collided with a railroad float off the battery today. The Mauch Chunk had a number of passengers aboard and her captain did not back off the float for fear that the water would rush in at the hole made by the collision. The float and the ferryboat drifted down the bay together, and as there was a heavy fog, were soon lost to sight from shore. The ferryboats Easton and Castleton went out to stand by the Mauch Chunk to take off the passengers if necessary. All the passengers were taken off. No one was

There were about 50 passengers on the ferryboat and for a time there was much excitement.

The announcement is repeated, says a New York dispatch with show of authority that the Western Union Telterday from the Pennsylvania Company to vacate its occupancy on the railroad right of way of the Pennsylvania system; also to vacate all telegraph offices and stations on the premises of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. It is added that the Postal Telegraph Company will take up the Western Union contract upon terms satisfactory to both parties. The Madrid police are extremely reticent regarding the discovery of the anarchist plot. Several of the papers now question whether the arrested men really entertained the intentions attributed to them.

Just as the royal coach emerged from the Plaza de Armas into the square in front of the palace, a young man among the sightseers behind the cordon suddenly pushed through the ranks of soldiers and police and rushed toward the door of the chariot, with his hat in one hand and holding outstretched in the other a paper. Before he reached the door the state lackeys and equerries hurried to the scene and quickly overpowered him. The prisoner was taken to the guardroom of the palace, where he was in-terrogated. The letter he had in his had proved to be an address to the king stating that the Infanta Maria Teresa, who was with the king in the royal coach, had promised him hand, and begging the king, as the brother of the infanta, to accede to the marriage. The prisoner was carefully searched, and it was found that he carried no weapon. His remarks reguarding the Infanta Maria Teresa left no doubt as to his mental condition. Reference to the records shows that Ruiz as arrested last December at the gates of the palace, where he manifested a desire to present to the the Infanta Maria Teresa, who is the only infanta not married, a letter, a bouquet and a box of sweetmeats. The custom of presenting to the king or queen or other members of the royal family petitions while they are out driving is quite common. Only last Thursday the king was driving in the city when a workingman stepped from the sidewalk, raised his hat and presented to the king a letter, which King Alfonso took smilingly and handed to an officer who was with him. FIRST PROCLAMATION.

King Alfonso's first proclamation is addressed to the nation. After saying that lessons of experience are awaiting him. His majesty expresses the hope that he will receive from the people, the inspiration which will supply what time has not yet taught him. The pro-clamation concludes thus: "If Providence aids me and if the Spanish people continue the support they have accorded my august mother during her regency, and I do not doubt they will, I have confidence that I shall succeed in my desire to do all that untiring devotion can accomplish for the good of the fatherland and the peace, grandeur and well being of the Spanish native candidate, and Mr. Whitney delivered addresses at Owen Sound on Thursday night. POLITICAL NOTES. In Toronto the registration for the four days this year was 4,000 greater than in 1898. The totals are: In 1898, 9, 792; in 1902, 13,624.

Hon. D. C. Fraser speaks at Alvinston, East Lambton, on Tuesday Hon. John Dryden gave a vigorous reply to the personal attacks that have been made upon him during the campagin, and in doing so secured not only the sympathy but the assurance of support from scores of the residents of this district at a splendid meeting held in Claremont Friday night.

THE PREMIER'S MEETINGS. Premier Ross has now completed his calendar of meetings for the balance of the campaign. In the ten days yet remaining he will deliver no less than eight speeches, which, with those already given, will constitute a remarkable record for a political leader. In addition to the engagements already announced, the premier will speak as follows: London, Wednesday night, May 21, in the interests of Col. F. B. Leys; Glencoe, Monday, May 26, in Mr. Ross' own riding, and Ottawa, Wednesday, May 28, in the interests of Messrs. Lumsden and Bingham. Mr. Ross' other meetings for the balance of the campaign, as already announced, will be as follows: Monday, May 19, Chatham; Tuesday, May 20, Simcoe; Thursday, May 22, Mount Brydges; Friday, May Checking the Ravages of Kidney Disease.

Kidney troubles are most dangerous because of their tendency to carry the disease to other organs of the body until such a state of weakness is reached that the disease eats down the living tissues more rapidly than the strength of the patient will enable him to rebuild them.

It is because of this that Bright's disease, Diabetes and other kidney oubles prove so frequently fatal and Dr. Albert Wesley Kahle, of 190 Delaware avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., is a kidney specialist and his system is one

Sense of the Blind.

It is impossible for the most of us to realized the nature of a sixth sense as it is to represent to our imaginations the conditions of an existence in fewer, or more, than our familiar three dimensions. But the greatest mathematicians sions. But the greatest mathematicians are said to attain to the conception of a fourth dimension, and it is certain that some people possess a rudimentary and mysterious faculty of perception, which is distinct from the familiar five, says the London Globe. According to Dr. Javal, the blind Parisian physician, it is the development of this latent sixth sense which serves to compensate the blind for their loss of sight even more than an increased alertness of hearing and of touch. The seat of this rudimentary sense is in the head; to some of its possessors it appears more definitementary sense is in the flead, to some of its possessors it appears more definite-ly in the forehead, while other localize it in the interior of the ear. Hoping to get rid of them gradually, he destroyed one of their largest nests, and in order that they might not enter it again, surrounded the fragments with sheets of flypaper.

The ants would have to pass over this paper if they wanted to rebuild their nest, and he argued that their feet would certainly be caught in the sticky substance.

Next morning, however, he discovered Next morning, however, he discovered that the ants were not quite such fools as he supposed them to be. Instead of venturing on the stickly flypaper they had spent the hours of the night in covering it with grass and dirt, and when this was done they had crowded back to the ruined nest and speedily rebuilt it. Dr. Schroeder vouches for the truth of this story, and says that he has in his possession a portion of the flypaper.

Scotch Wit. [London News.]

The People's Friend cites the following as a sample of "characteristic Scottish wit-keen, grim and caustic": A certain parishioner dealt in old horses, altering his spells of labor with heavy sprees. During the period of depression which followed each over indulgence John habitually took to bed, and there diligently studied the family Bible. During one of these fits of attempted reformation his condition prompted his wife to call in the Rev. Mr. Wallace, the parish minister, who at the time happened to be passing. "Oh, Maister Wallace, come in and see oor John; he's rale bad."

"What's wrang wi' him?" "He's feart to meet his Makker," said Mrs. John. Quick as fire came the crushing re-"Humph; tell'm he needna be feart for that; he'll never see'm." There are some good stories of this kind in Dr. John Kerr's "Memories, Grave and Gay," just published by Messrs. Blackwood. Here is one: She had just lost her husband, and the minister calling to condole with her found her sitting in front of a large bowl of porridge. "Terrible loss, terrible loss," sighed the minister. "Aye," was the reply, "it's a terrible less to me. I've just been greetin' a' nicht, and as sune as I finish this wee drap porridge, I'm just gaun to begin

"The statue of the great Prussian king in the capital of the mightiest republic the world has ever seen, as a gift from Emperor William, will constitute one of the most interesting and sympathetic historic mementoes is existence. Prince Henry of Prussia's visit, Miss Roosevelt's christening of the emperor's yacht, and the present of the statue are merely symbols. The real motive of the rapprochement be-tween the two peoples is mutual esteem which, is politics, is always highly effective. The friendship of the two nations is the result of a historical process, and therefore is not likely to be subjected to severe shocks in the immediate future, but more probably it will contribute to diminish economic differences."

ANOTHER VIEW. The Vorwaerts (Socialist) is inclined to disparage Emperor William's Friday. The other members of the exgift, it says that if congress accepts it, King Frederick's will be the only statue of a monarch at the Republican capital. of "The Last Days of Pompeii." "A gala event of unusual magnitude had been arranged to take place on that day and everybody had arisen in a happy anticipation of the event. "The air was uncommonly sultry, a thin and dull mist gathered over the valleys and hollows of the broad Cam-

"But yet it was remarked in surprise by the early fishermen, that, despite the exceeding stillness of the atmosphere, the waves of the sea were agialong the blue and stately Sarnus, whose ancient breadth of channel the traveler now vainly seeks to discover, there crept a hoarse and sullen murmur as it glided by the laughing plains and the gaudy villas of the wealthy

"Clear above the low mists rose the time-worn towers of the immediate town, the red-tiled roofs of the bright streets, the solemn columns of many temples and the statue-crowned portals of the Forum and the Arch of

"Far in the distance the outlines of the circling hills soared above the vapors and mingled with the changeful hues of the morning sky. "The cloud that had so long rest-1 over the crest of Vesavius had suddenvanished, and its rugged and haughty brow looked without a frown over the beautiful scenes below "Despite the earliness of the hour, the gates of the city were already opened. Horseman upon horseman, vehicle after vehicle poured rapidly in; and the voices of numerous pedestrian groups, clad in holiday attire, rose high in joyous and excited merriment; the streets were crowded with citizens and strangers from the populous neighborhood of Pompeii, and noisily, fast, confusedly swept the many streams of and gigantic through the darkness, ife toward the fatal show.

"Four condemned men had been compelled that day to meet in deadly fire! Its summit seemed riven in two gladiatorial combat in the arena. The or rather, above its surface there day was nearly ended when one them, learned and crafty, noticed that each confronting each, as demons con-Vesuvius was about to break forth. 'Behold!' he shouted with a voice of thunder, which stilled the roar of lighted up the whole atmosphere far the crowd: 'behold how the gods pro- and wide; but below, the nether part of the crowd; 'behold how the gods protect the guiltless! The fires of the avenging Orcus burst forth against the false witness of my accusors!'

"The eyes of the crowd followed the gesture of the Egyptian, and beheld, with ineffable dismay, a vast vapor shooting from the summit of Vesuvius, in the form of a gigantic pine tree; the trunk, blackness—the branches, fire! the fire that shifted and wavered in its hues with every moment, now fiercely luminous, now of a dull and dying red, that again blazed terrifically forth with intolerable glare!

silence-through which there suddenly broke the roar of the lion, which was echoed back from within the building by the sharper and fiercer yells of its fellow-beast. Dread seers were they of the burden of the atmosphere, and wild prophets of the wrath to come! "Then there arose on high the universal shrieks of women; the men stared at each other, but were dumb. At that moment they felt the earth shake beneath their feet; the walls of the theater trembled; and beyond in the distance they heard the crash of falling roofs; an instant more and the mountain cloud seemed to roll toward them, dark and rapid like a torrent; at the same time, it cast forth from its hosom a shower of ashes mixed with vast fragments of burning stone! Over the crushing vines-over the desolate streets-over the amphitheater itself -far and wide-with many a mighty splash in the agitated sea-fell that awful shower! "No longer thought the crowd of justice or of Arbaces; safety for themselves was their sole thought. Each turned to fly-each dashing, pressing, crushing against the other. Tramping recklessly over the fallen-amid groans, and oaths, and prayers, and sudden shrieks, the enormous crowd vomited itself forth through the numerous passages. Whither should they fly! Some, anticipating a second earthquake, hastened to their homes to load themselves with their most costly goods, and escape while it was yet time; others, dreading the showers of ashes that now fell fast, torrent upon torrent, over the streets, rushed under the roofs of the nearest houses, or temples, or sheds-shelter of any kind -for protection from the terrors of the open air. But darker, and larger, and mightier, spread the cloud above them. It was a sudden and more ghastly Night rushing upon the realm of "The cloud which had scattered so deep a murkiness, over the day, had now settled into a solid and impenetrable mass. It resembled less even the thickest gloom of a night in the open air than the close and blind darkness of some narrow room. But in proportion as the blackness gathered, did the lightnings around Vesuvius increase in their vivid and scorching glare. Nor was their horrible beauty confined to the usual hues of fire; no rainbow ever rivaled their varying and prodigal dyes. Now brightly blue as the most azure depth of a southern sky-now of a livid and snake-like green, darting restlessly to and fro as the folds of an enormous serpent-now of a lurid and intolerable crimson, gushing forth through the columns of smoke, far and wide, and lighting up the whole city from arch to arch-then suddenly dy ing into a sickly paleness, like the ghost of their own life. "In the pauses of the showers you heard the rumblings of the earth beneath, and the groaning waves of the tortured sea; or, lower still, and audible, but, to the watch of intense fear, the grinding and hissing murmur of solid mass, and by the lightning to assume quaint and vast mimicries of human or monster shapes striding across the gloom, hurling one upon the other, and vanishing swiftly into the turbu-lent abyss of shade; so that, to the eyes and fancies of the affrighted wanderers, the unsubstantial vapors were as the bodily forms of gigantic foes-the agents of terror and death.

'The ashes in many places were already knee-deep, and the boiling showers which came from the steaming breath of the volcano forced their way into the houses, bearing with them a

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII strong and suffocating vapor. In some places immense fragments of rock, hurled upon the house roofs, bore down along the streets masses of confused ruin, which yet more and more Graphic Description From Pen of with every hour obstructed the way, and as the day advanced the motion of the earth was more sensibly felt-the footing seemed to slide and creep -nor could charlot or litter be kept steady, even on the most level ground. "Sometimes the huger stones, striking against each other as they fell, broke into countless fragments emitting sparks of fire, which caught whatever was combustible within their reach; and along the plains beyond the city the darkness was now terribly relieved, for several houses, and even vineyards, had been set on flames, and at various spair which a volcanic eruption causes intervals the fires rose sullenly and fiercely against the solid gloom. The add to this partial relief of the darkness, the citizens had, here and there, in the more public places, such as the porticoes of temples and the entrances to the forum, endeavored to place rows of torches, but these rarely continued long; the showers and the winds extinguished them, and the sudden darkness into which their fitful light was converted had something in it doubly terrible and doubly impressive on the impotence of human hopes, the lesson of despair "Frequently, by the momentary light tated and seemed, as it were, to run disturbedly back from the shore, while encountered each other, some hurrying toward the sea, others flying from the sea back to the land; for the ocean had retreated rapidly from the shorean utter darkness lay over it, and, up-on its groaning and tossing waves, the storm of cinders and rocks fell without the protection which the streets and roofs afforded to the land. Wild, haggard, ghastly with supernatural fears, these groups encountered each other, but without the leisure to speak, to consult, to advise; for the showers fell now frequently, though not continuously, extinguishing the lights, which showed to each band the deathlike faces of the other, and hurrying all to seek refuge beneath the nearest shelter. The whole elements of civilization were broken up. Ever and anon by the flickering lights you saw the thief hastening by the most solemn authorities of the law, laden with and fearfully chuckling over the produce of his sudden gains. If in the darkness wife was separated from husband or parent from child vain was the hope of reunion. Each hurried blindly and confusedly on. Nothing in all the various and complicated machinery of social life was left save the primal law of self-preservation. "Suddenly the place became lighted with an intense and lurid glow. Bright which closed around it like the walls of hell, the mountain shone—a pile of seemed to rise two monster shapes, tending for a world. These were of one deep blood-red hue of fire, which the mountain was still dark and shrouded, save in three places adown which flowed, serpentine and irregular, rivers of the molten lava. Darkly red through the profound gloom of their banks, they flowed slowly on as toward the devoted city. Over the broadest there seemed to spring a cragged and stupendous arch, from which, as from the jaws of hell, gushed the sources of the sudden Phlegethon, and through the stilled air was heard the rattling of the fragments of rock, hurtling one upon another as they were borne down "There was a dead, heart-sunken the flery cataracts, darkening instant the spot where they fell, and suffused the next in the burnished hues of the flood along which they floated. "The ground shook with a convulsion that cast all around upon its surface. simultaneous crash responded through the city, as down toppled many a roof and pillar-the lightning, as if caught by the metal, lingered an instant on the imperial statue-then shivered bronze and column! Down fell the ruin, echoing along the street, and riving the solid pavement where it crashed!'

THE REGISTRATION RETURNS. The registration of voters for the Provincial elections ended Saturday night. In London 2,494 names were added to the lists, or 410 fewer than in The falling-off is easily accounted for. Registration in 1898 occurred in February, when times were slack, and many more men being out of work than at present. a greater number were able to register in the daytime. Everyone knows there is not an ablebodied man in the city who need be idle now, and few can afford to take time to register in working hours. The result has been that the booths have been crowded in the evening, and many have lost their votes rather than wait their turn. This has been the principal cause of the drop in registration figures. Another factor is the absence of any excitement over the campaign, either local or Provincial. The explanation is that the people are quite contented with things as they are. They feel there is no case against the Government; that it has done well by the Province, and that there is no occasion whatever to get "worked up."

SECOND PART OF THE PROGRAMME.

The Free Press is now inviting Liberal prohibitionists who might be inclined to vote for Mr. Daly to save their votes by supporting Mr. Beck, who, it says, is "individually as good a temperance man as Mr. Daly." The great object to be kept in view, according to this disinterested life-long opponent of temperance, is to punish law, by turning him out of office, and superannuated issues. putting in his place Mr. Whitney, who is an avowed opponent of prohibition. The thing seems a little bit mixed, but motto of Norway to this Province: Press, so far as anyone can make elevates a nation, let the world learn rifle, and then entered the other leg

The first part of the programme was to encourage a prohibition candidate at all, but would support the New Ontario only two weeks ago. independent prohibitionist. Then when Mr. Daly had started his campaign, and some Liberal prohibitionists are committed to his support, the Conservative prohibitionists can either help nominate Mr. Beck, as Dr. Roome and Ald. Winnett did, or else quietly drop out, and poll the straight party vote. That was a nice little scheme. But now the smart men who think they are manipulating a few honest people, are going to try the second part of the programme. After all, you know, what you really want to do is to punish that wicked Ross; don't waste your votes on Mr. Daly, who cannot be elected; come and give them to Mr. Beck, who is "just as good a temperance man as Mr. Daly," and yeu will be all right. "Will you walk into my parlor?" says the spider to so much

RECONCILING THE INCOMPAT-

There is a story told concerning an old colored man down South who, at the time when the relations between master and slave were slowly re-adjusting themselves after the war, was asked by his former boss whether he preferred to work the plantation on shares or for wages. The old darkey to eat? scratched his head in deep meditation and finally said, "Wal, massa, dunno. Wagen is good, and wukkin' on shares, dat's good too, but I'd like ef dey could be kin' o' brung togedder somehow."

Mr. Whitney evinces just about the same degree of intelligence in the promises to reconcile the absolutely incompatible of which he is so lavish. He is going to inaugurate a policy of strict economy-going to put an end to lavish expenditure-and yet he is going to reduce taxation and to build when I see it!" and maintain half a dozen agricultural colleges in place of one. He does not specify, be it noted, what expenditures he will reduce or where he can save a dollar on present outlay, but he is going to incur additional expenditure and at the same time avoid direct taxation. If these two objects can be not so far astray in his ideas of political economy,

OPPOSITION DISAGREEMENTS. It appears impossible for Mr. Whitney and his would-be rival for the Conservative leadership, to agree upon any point. They were constantly contradicting each other in the House last session, and since they have taken the stump frequently make statements entirely at variance with each other. Mr. Whitney said that "during his hand." Although accompanied by the absurd claim that this prosperity was due to the mythical Opposition "policy" respecting the manufacture of saw logs, the admission is nevertheless an important testimony to the soundness and effectiveness of the Government's New Ontario programme of development. But Mr. Carscallen, speaking at Burlington on the 13th, in the presence of his leader, told quite another story. His tale of calamity and stagnation was as follows:

"All along the line there was a gradual stream of complaint from a'l classes of the people, who had since become perfectly satisfied that Mr. Whitney would redress the wrong and grievance existing there. There was nothing but distress and disappointment among settlers."

These men traveled together through the newly settled districts, met the same people, and heard the same accounts of local conditions. Yet they bring back two entirely different statements. If the Opposition chieftains cannot even agree as to what they saw and heard, how could they possibly agree on matters of policy and intricate problems of administration? The only question upon which they can preserve even the appearance of harmony seems to be the exceeding depravity of the Ross Government and the party that excludes them from of-

THE HORSE MARKET.

Toronto, May 16.—Prices have ranged somewhat lower this week for all classes of horses but drafts. There was a special lot of handsome, smooth Percherons averaging about 1.500 pounds, which sold at Grand's for $212.50 each. These are good prices, but the animals were a very fine lot. Several choice express horses weighing from 1,250 pounds to 1,359 pounds sold for $165 each. Carriage horses were off from $5 to $30. Draft horses were off from $5 to $30. Draft horses sold at an advance of from $5 to $15. Drivers and roadsters were $10 to $25 cheaper. General purpose horses sold at a decline of $5 to $10 each and second-hand general purpose horses were off

AT SEVERAL POINTS

Only Young Trees, the Experts Say Will Be Affected.

Washington, May 19 .- Large numbers of seventeen-year locusts have made their appearance in this city and reports of similar visitations have reached the department of agriculture from Altoona, Pa., and Nashville, Tenn. The department sent 5,000 postal cards throughout the country, asking for immediate reports on the first appearance of the locusts. The de-partment has a full record of their appearance in 1885, and its experts know where to look for them this year. Acording to the charts, Maryland and Indiana with the adjoining counties of their neighbor states are to be most affected by the pest. The department entomologists say that young nursery trees and young shoots of mature trees are all that will sustain injury from the visitation of the locusts, and that there is no cause for alarm over their appearance. It is anticipated that the locusts will be reported from other portions of Pennsylvania and Tennessee and from

Three Years of Suffering Before a Cure Was Found-All Credit Given to

DR. CHASE'S. KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Before reading Mr. Gallant's letter, which is quoted below, look over these symptoms and see if your kidneys are in a healthy condition. Scores of people attribute their sufferings to stomach troubles or indigestion, when the real cause of the discomfort is in the failure of the kidneys to properly filter the blood.

When poisonous impurities are left lurking in the system, disease of the most painful and dangerous kind is bound to show itself sooner or later. It is possible that you have kidney dis ease, and have not recognized it as

The symptoms are: Pain in the back and over the kidneys, sediment in the urine after it stands for 24 hours, unusual desire to urinate, pain in passing water, gradual loss of flesh and weight, pain in limbs, not unlike rheumatism, dry, itching skin and brittle hair, fullness under the eyes and dropsical swelling of the legs, sleeplessness, indigestion and constination.

If you have any of these indications of kidney disorders, it is time for you to begin the used of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the most thoroughly reliable treatment for kidney and liver disorders that is known to science. Many of the best people in the land take a pleasure in recommending great remedy of the famous doctor, because it has cured them when other remedies failed. Mr. Ellis Gallant, Paquetville, Gloucester county, N. B., writes: "I feel it my duty to write you, as I have received much benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was taken three years ago with a pain just below the ribs of the left right over the kidney. At first it did not cause me much suffering, but a year ago the pain, at times, was very "After hearing repeatedly of the

He had a magical influence over masses of men, and a power of words like that of huge masses of water in a tempest than anything else.
His Midlothian speeches made one think less of a river coming down than of a sea coming up. His skill in constructing a difficult measure was not ever approached by any man of his time, and nerhan was never exceeded by any man perhaps was never exceeded by any man at any time, says the London Spectator. These and many other merits we must freely allow him, but when the final esfreely allow him, but when the final estimate of him is made, many traits must be introduced, and not least his extraordinary power of believing precisely what he wished to believe. He had a tender conscience, but, save only where finance was concerned, he had that conscience thoroughly under command. If it showed the slightest recalcitrancy his will was ready to say, "Just you dare!" And yet, when all has been said for and against him, there can be no doubt that he will remain the most notable Englishman of his generation—as much out of place among the Liberals as Disraell was among the Conservatives; but, like him, a head and shoulders above all his rivals, and as much superior to Disraeli himself CHICAGO, May 17.—Butter—Steady; creameries, 18c to 21½c; dairies, 17c to 20c. Most horrifying details of the condition of the Carib country, where thousands of cattle and human corpses lay in a state of decomposition for several days during the agitation, are revealed. > In a small shop, which was opened three days after the eruption, 87 decaying corpses were discovered, and not one of them recognizable. In the dwelling house of the manager of one of the estates, 30 corpses were found in a similar condition, and other sickening discoveries have been made. The district is being rapidly cleared. Toward evening yesterday there was slight convulsion, followed by a discharge of smoke, but this caused no alarm. The bed of lava in the Windward district is still hot. The abyss, 500 feet deep and 200 feet wide, which existed between Langley Park and Rabacci, is filled with lava; and the physical features of the mountain on either side are apparently more beautiful than before the eruption.

Fort-de-France, Island of Martinique, May 17 .- United States Consul Ayme and other United States officers, with a guide, searched the St. Pierre ruins ON CANCER for the body of United States Consul Thomas T. Prentiss. The guide posifor the body of United States Consul tively identified the consulate. party found a large quantity of table silver bearing the initial "M." Tons searchers found one body. The bodies buried beneath the rock have, it is believed, been reduced to ashes.

The French officials have burned most of the exposed bodies. Every safe visible in the ruins is open. Seventy-one persons have been sentenced to imprisonment for five years, and eleven women have been condemned to serve three years, for looting. Mont Plee is continually throwing out smoke and heavy dust, and yester-day, prior to the landing of the searching party, the eruption was quite violent. Ashes fell while the exploration 14 was being carried on.

WITNESS OF THE ERUPTION. Ferdinand Clerc, a millionaire, and mayor of Trinite, witnessed the erup-tion of Mont Pelee, and lived to tell about it. He says that on the morning of May 8 he noticed the rumblings from the volcano were more pronounced than they had been up time. The barometer in his house flut-tered violently, and he at once gave orders to prepare for flight. Clerc took his wife and four children with him and hastened from the city. He advised all his friends to hasten away also, but his advice was disregarded. WARNING UNHEEDED

He left behind him at his house, 28 of his friends who had gathered there at his call, and whom he advised to get away as quickly as they could.
As Clerc and his family were leaving St. Pierre he saw Mr. Prentis, the American consul, standing in front of his house with Mrs. Prentis, and warned him to flee the city at once, but the consul only laughed and waved his hand as he answered: "Oh, there is no danger, don't be afraid."

OVERWHELMED WITH FLAME. When Clerc reached Morne Rouge, distant from St. Pierre about six miles, he looked back and saw a huge mass of slate-colored stones and ashes burst from Mont Pelee and tumble down on St. Pierre. This was immediately followed by a great wall of flame, which seemed to rise and topple over on the doomed town. The whole thing lasted not more than two minutes. So sharp-ly defined was the wall of flame that a bull caught on the edge of its track was roasted to crisp on one side and not a hair of the animal was singed on the other. A man named Lasserene with a companion, was entering St. Pierre in a small carriage, drawn by a pair of mules. The mules were instantly killed, and Lasserne and his friend were severely burned, but the coachman who was between the mules was not burned or injured in the least.

the negotiations certain. Very divergent, however, are the views taken both in London and Pretoria of the prospects of the conclusion of peace within the next few days. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's extremely cautious words in his speech Friday have not discouraged the sanguine hopes of the masses, but those who knew the Boers best fully expect them to make a further attempt in the negotiations, if not in the field, to gain better terms than are contained in the British offer. ENERPRISING YANKEE BUYERS

Reaping Immense Profits Off Canadian Farmers

An End Should be Made to the Boasts of American Speculators of the Beef Trust.

A gentleman from the United States has recently made a tour of Ontario, and he thinks the people there are "dead slow." He says that at every place he found a "Yankee from the States" engaged in speculation. At nine villages there were "Yankee hog buyers, who up to April 1 had purchased 6,112, mostly shore pigs, at 21/2 cents a pound. These were worth 5 cents in the United States, and the cost of food in driving them was paid for by the increase in weight. The writer villages, where the merchants were buying hogs by the carcass for Yan- Wolseley Barracks this morning. kees, at from $2 75 to $3 25 a hundredweight, to pack. At the same time. pork was $7 a hundredweight in New York and $6 a hundredweight in Buffa-Result: Pork that cost the Yankees $10 a barrel, they are now asking $16 for." But the clever "Yankees" did not spend all their energies in the purchase of cheap pigs. Two "Yankees" spent the winter in buying up 14,000 ords of beach and maple on the banks of the Trent River and Lake Ontario. They paid our farmers a dollar a cord for it, and they received from the railways to whom they sold it from $3.50 to $4. The freight arranged was a dollar, so they got a profit of from one dollar and fifty cents to two dollars a cord, or some hundred and fifty to two hundred per cent. Says the critic: There was a hundred and fifty per cent business for the Yankee, while smoking his cigar at a hotel, while hundreds of Canadian farmers were at work for him at a mere pittance." Then again, railway ties for delivery o New York and Ohio are taken out from the Canadian shores of Lake Ontario and Erie. Yankee contractors are paying our farmers from 10 to 15 cents each for these, and they get from the railways 40 to 50 cents each. It is said there will be 100,000 of these ties shipped this year, while of railway bridge timber there will be 3,000,000 feet

There is a potato famine in the United States and prices at Buffalo are $1 25 a bushel, yet Canadian farmers are delivering them to shipping points at from 25 to 31 cents a bushel. Yankees are buying our cows at from $10 to $15 a head. Last week, our friend says he saw a drove of 800 of them going to Yankeeland by way of the suspension bridge—and when on the other side they were worth $25 or more. They would have to pay a duty of twenty-seven and a half per cent, but even when that was paid there was pretty nearly a hundred per cent profit. Eight hundred cases of butter were bought recently in Toronto at twelve and a half cents a pound, and were sold in the United States at twenty-five and thirty cents. specific instance is quoted of a Yankee having "picked up five hundred kegs of butter in Hamilton in one day at thirteen cents. Three days more and at a net advance of two dollars a keg." at a net advance of two dollars a keg.' Making all allowances for exaggera- for the complainant and Mr. Ivey for tion there is no doubt sufficient truth the defendant. in this indictment for a useful lesson to be learned. Instead of our farmers POLICE COURT. doing business with these enterprising gentlemen at the country store, they must do it directly in the big cities with reputable firms and companies. Canadian cities there are many middlemen of wealth, probity and capacity, with whom our farmers might do business, to their mutual profit, while a study of the fluctuations of prices in the great meat and provision markets ought to stop such sacrifices as those quoted. What applies to Ontario also applies in some measure to other provinces, and they cannot be acquainted too quickly with the fact that he Yankees are boasting and laughing about the way they are skinning our country people. The beef trust is causing famine prices to be paid for all farm produce in the United States, and Canadian farmers ought to get good prices for their eggs, cattle, pigs and what not they are asked to sell to the agents of the trust or speculators

What Is Money?

Colonel Henry Watterson, Pride of Kentucky, and Titular High Priest of Dr. Macrae wanted to know. No, Miss the "Star Eyed Goddess of Reform," Brooks had not, but she had heard attended a performance of "Arizona" that electricity was very good for at the Columbia Theater, Washington, recently, and was moved to philosophic flights by a sentence in Mr. Thomas' text. "The world should pity a weman who has money." The golden voice of Grace Thorne in-

EDWARD THE ELDER'S ANNI-VERSARY.

London, May 19. - Kingston-on-Thames, one of the many charming little riverside towns on the outskirts of the great metropolis, will today be en fete. On Whitsunday, 902, King Edward the Elder, son of the successor of Albert the Great, was crowned on a stone that now rests in the market-place at Kingston and the thousandth anniversary of that interesting historical event will today be popularly celebrated. A stained-glass window commemorative of the good deeds as Edward the Elder as they have filtered through the shadows of the dim and distant past, was unveiled in the town hall by the Bishop of Rochester on Saturday. THE PAGEANT.

Today the main thoroughfares of the town will be given up to pageantry.
The procession promises to rival the annual shows in London on Lord Mayor's Day. There will be a historic tableau of the Saxon coronation, with archbishop and nobles complete; a car depicting Father Thames, and others representing the ancient trade guilds. A May queen will be drawn in a garlanded coach by sixteen children. A military tournament, with the quintain and other mediaeval features, is fixed for the afternoon, and in the evening Morris and May-pole dances will take place by limelight. It might not be easy to trace many points of resemblance between Edward the Elder and Edward VII., but, as the

The score does not indicate the play, as, during the first half, the Young Torontos showed up well and gave their opponents a good argument, the Tecumsehs' combination being accurate, and as the Young Toronto's defense weakened the home scored almost at will. Hagan and Angus showed marked improvement, and, assisted by Roach, put up a sturdy fight. For the Young Torontos, Dobbin played his usual strong game, while Wenbourne, Henderson, and Stollery did good work, but the defense showed lack of form.

OFFICIAL AT REST

Market Clerk Joseph M. Wilson Died on Sunday.

ILLNESS WAS A SHORT ONE

Mr. Wilson Proved Himself a Good Citizen During His Many Years' Residence in London.

Joseph M. Wilson, for over twenty years clerk of the Covent Garden Market, in this city, died at 7 o'clock last evening, after an illness of about three weeks. Mr. Wilson was a faithful and conscientious servant of the city, and he will be greatly missed by the many with whom he was constantly brought in contact, through the performance of his duties.

The late Joseph M. Wilson was the tenth child of the late John Wilson, of county Wicklow, Ireland. He was born on Jan. 19, 1840, and two years later came to Canada with his parents. He learned the trade of a cabinetmaker, but later entered the service of the Great Western Railway, where he remained for twenty years, following which he spent another score of years as market clerk. Mr. Wilson took an active interest in municipal affairs, and sat for fourteen years as a member of the board of education, being chosen chairman for two terms. In 1866 he was a member of the artillery company, which went from London to assist in repelling the Fenian invaders. Mr. Wilson was an enthusiastic lover of trees and flowers. Over forty years ago he planted the first shade trees on the old Central school grounds, and he afterwards took a lively interest in the beautifying of the city by tree-planting. In 1864 Mr. Wilson married Miss Catherine Allen, the daughter of the late Henry Allen, one of Delaware township's oldest and most respected settlers. Two sons and three daughters survive, they being: John and Fred, of St. Louis; and Fannie, Josie and Katie, at home. Two sisters and two brothers—Mrs. Collins (Sarnia), Mrs. Hy Jeffrey (London), Rev. W. H. Wilson (Pittsburg, Pa.), and Mr. Nicholas Wilson, of the Collegiate Institute teaching staff—are the only survivors of a family of thirteen children.

DOYOLHEASALA ARRESTED

His ocupation on the records of the department is said to be no factor in the present campaign, said a showman. Martin is propiretor of a Mr. Daly, was met by the attitude of medicine company of Indian acrobats, dogs, etc., and it requires two big cars to carry the paraphernalia of the show. In the warrant, by virtue of which Detectives Brooks and Stein-hebel arrested Martin at the Brush street depot, last night, it is alleged millennium, and it will not hasten prothat Martin, on Sept. 30, 1895, passed a worthless sight-draft for $35 on John Wigle, proprietor of International Hotel expressed himself on the question, when Windsor. An attachment was sworn he said that he would require a nineout as soon as Martin, now the pro-prietor of a show of his own, reached Windsor. It is said that after notice of attachment had been served on the railroad company, the cars were plac-ed on a transfer and brought to Detroit. Another story is to the effect that the papers were not served while the cars were on Canadian territory. Deputy Sheriff Rumpull boarded the boat, but was unable to find Martin, as he was in Detroit all the time. For some time after the boat landed on this side, Rumpull waited around the depot yards watching the property, but as a Canadian officer he was powerless. The prisoner has retained Frank H. Dohaney as his attorney and, it is understood, he will fight extradition.

RALLY OF LOCAL PROHIBITIONISTS

Candidate F. W. Daly Outlines His Platform.

W. W. BUCHANAN ALSO SPEAKS

Socialists Take a Hand in Meeting-Mr' Hazelgrove Speaks.

A rally of the supporters of Mr. F. W. Daly, the local prohibition candidate, was held in the city hall on Saturday night. There was a good attendance, the seats in the lower part of the hall being filled, and many standing at the door. All present, however, were not prohibitionists, as it became evident during the evening that many present were members of the Socialist Labor party, who had come to cheer the utterances of their candidate, Mr. Fred Hazelgrove, in his reply to Mr. Daly.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Jos. Brown, and the following gentlemen occupied the platform with him: F. W. Daly, B.A., the candidate; W. W. Buchanan, editor of the Liberator; Lieut. McMillan, of the Salvation Army; Rev. A. K. Birks, Rev. C. T. Scott, Rev. H. D. Moyer, Rev. T. E. law court. The temperance man who Harrison, James Bowman, D. A. Mc-Dermid, George Rowntree, J. Gordon afford to sneer at the hotel man for Wright.

After a few introductory remarks by Mr. Brown, Rev. H. D. Moyer, of Belmont, was called upon. He gave instances of the alleged violation of the license law in East Middlesex and of the manner in which the inspectorship is conducted. Mr. Moyer said that after the election there would be a re- day, as experience has shown that the count at the throne of God, and many would be found to have either elected or defeated themselves for a place near

n the prohibition interests, was the said he had it on good authority that consternation had entered the ranks are hard to secure, and instead of there troit Free Press will interest many a ward, each party has now only two Londoners, in particular those whose or three. This, Mr. Daly thought a bills were not paid by the showman hopeful sign, and it presaged victory for the cause of prohibition. The people of London were sick of politics, and Mr. Daly instanced the condition of of the city. "If they do this in public for their party, what won't they

The argument that prohibition was the papers. The Free Press and The Advertiser had editorials trying to prove that Col. Leys and Adam Beck were better prohibitionists than Mr. Daly himself. The Free Press claims that Mr. Beck is a total abstainer. A man may be a total abstainer till the hibition. Col. Leys, speaking to the temperance deputation at Toronto, had tenths vote for prohibition before he would enforce it. Neither candidate has expressed himself on the platform in London, for the simple reason that both were afraid of losing the liquor vote of the city. Mr. Daly then mentioned the various planks of his platform, which included prohibition, clean politics, independence of party, the development of New Ontario, the building of government railways; the development by the government of electric power at Niagara; a more vigorous immigration policy; government printing of schools books, and technical education. He expressed his personal views and convictions on Speaking of the referendum, Mr. Daly said the Ross Government's course had been hostile to the true principle of the referendum. The principle of the referendum, not as applied only to prohibition, but to all questions, should have been adopted as a part of the constitution.

In conclusion, Mr. Daly said he expected to pol la very large vote, as he pected to poll a very large vote, as he temperance vote, the young men's vote and the labor vote. He said he felt his interests safe in the hands of the people of London.

The Socialist Candidate. Mr. Fred Haselgrove, the candidate of the Socialist Labor party, was next called to the platform to give his views

FAT VS. BRAINS Food That Makes Brilliant Newspapers.

Nervous prostration cannot continue if the right kind of food is used, but food that will build fat does not always contain the elements necessary for rebuilding the soft gray matter in the nerve centers.

A lady tells how she got well from using Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. "I was treated by several physicians at the hospital. My disease was pronounced neurasthenia (nervous prostration). The doctors gave me various nerve tonics without producing any beneficial results. I finally got so weak that I could not work either physically or mentally.

invitation issued to all local candidates to appear and discuss the question. Mr. Haselgrove did not confine himself to a discussion of prohibition. In a vig-orous address he administered forcible and impartial knocks to Mr. Daly, the prohibitionists, the capitalists, the clergymen, the London Trades and La-bor Council, the South African war, the educational system, the Ross Government, and the opposition. The Socialist Labor party, he said, was the only one which offered a true solution of the many vexed social problems. Mr. W. W. Buchanan. The last and principal speaker of the evening, Mr. W. Buchanan, then came to his feet. He opened by complimenting Mr. Daly on his address. He also spoke appreciatively of Mr. Hazelgrove's speech, and said it was one which should prove of benefit to everyone who heard it. He showed the many points at which his own views were in sympathy with those expressed by Mr. Hazelgrove.

Coming to a consideration of the prohibition question, Mr. Buchanan said that while a majority of the people of Ontario had declared their de-sire to go out of partnership with the liquor business, neither political party was found ready to take up prohibi-tion as a policy. Would Premier Ross have had the courage to turn down all his sacred promises to the temperance people if he did not know that the men on the opposite side of the house already had their guns spiked and dare not appeal to the sentiment of the prohibitionists? Why would not Mr. Whitney come out and place himself at the head of the temperance party which would sweep him into power? Because he, too, was afraid of the power of the liquor trade.

Mr. Buchanan resented the statement made in a local paper that he was a rabid Tory who had always been bitter against the Ross Government. He said that in all his residence in Ontario he had been a Reformer, and he had never been connected in any way with the Conserva-tive party. During a campaign, however, said Mr. Buchan, the were hardly responsible for what they said. Mr. Buchanan said he was glad to see preachers getting into the arena of affairs. If there is any class of citizens who should be foremost in the discussion of political affairs, it is the ministers.

Speaking of the referendum, Mr. Buchanan said that it was in some respects a very good act, and in others a very bad act. It was one which could be supported by the large class who, while not believing in absolute prohibition, believe that the saloon is a curse and a menace. The saloon tosupports the political parties cannot afford to sneer at the hotel man, for partments of state. Let temperance men declare that the province shall go out of partnership with the traffic. The referendum bill was bad in several respects. For one thing, the day for voting should not have been made separate from the provincial polling people will not turn out to vote for an abstract principle half as readily as they will to support a candidate. Another bad feature of the bill was the forsaking of the majority principle.

"The Liberal party boasts that it has made a secret ballot," said Mr. Bunext speaker. Mr. Daly, in opening, chanan, "yet that government stuffs the ballot box in advance with 260,000 anti-prohibition ballots. The friends of the old parties. Campaign workers of temperance must toil through the December snows or mud to vote for prohibition, but its opponents can sit comfortably at home."

The referendum is also not a true referendum, because by it the government does not adopt the measure, but merely gives it to the people to adopt or reject it. It is a violation of the principle of responsible government. The government can be impeached more strongly on its maladministration of the liquor license act than on any other point. There is plenty of public opinion behind the law, but not enough official opinion.

Mr. Buchanan closed with an illustration drawn from the harnessing of Niagara Falls for the purpose of securing limitless power. In like manner, he said, the immense power of the church should be utilized for everyday affairs, to lift the burden from toiler and to secure better conditions for the masses. He asked that all vote for Daly and prohibition. This concluded the meeting.

What the Drummer Said.

A capital story is associated with the name of Dr. Lueger, the notorious anti-Semite burgomaster of Vienna, says waited upon him as a deputation, and before dismissing them he said to one: "What would you do if the emperor ordered you to shoot the burgomaster of Viena?" Chambers' Journal. Three soldiers once

"I would shoot the burgomaster," was the stolid reply.
"Oh!" said Dr. Lueger, "and what is your religion?"
"I am a Protestant."
"In that case I am only slightly surprised at you," said the burgomaster.
Turning to another soldier, he repeated the question.

"If the emperor bade me shoot the burgomaster I would obey," replied the

"And what is your religion?" "I am a Roman Catholic."
"In that case I am exceedingly surprised at you." The third soldier, when addressed replied:

"I would not shoot the burgomaster."
"Ah!" shrieked the burgomaster, highly pleased, "and why not, my friend?
What is your religion?"
"I am a Jew."
"What!" shrieked Lueger. "Do you know that I am the greatest anti-Semite in all Austria and Hungary, and you would not shoot me?"
"I haven't a rifle," replied the man. "I am a drummer."

Afraid of Thirteen.

M. Georges Leygues, minister education in France does not like the number 13. It was recently necessary for him to meet some school teachers, and he was somewhat embarrassed when he learned, an hour before the time fixed for the meeting, that the number of teachers who intended to call upon him would be 13. He soon, however, saw a way out of the difficulty; for, summoning one of his subordinates, he instructed him

In due time the teachers came, and the minister, after assuring himself that his subordinate was in the room, received them cordially. In the presence of fourteen persons he felt quite at home, and he was congratulating himself on his forethought in summoning his subordinate, when suddenly one of the teachers became ill and was obliged to leave the room, the result being that the minister, to his disgust, found himself in the presence of 13

The object of the teachers was to obtain some concession from the minister, but in view of what has occurred they are by no means certain it will be Asked if he brought any message from Senator Hanna or any other member of the Civic Federation, Mr. Easley replied in the negative. Despite Secretary Easley's reticence, however, his presence here at this time is regarded as significant, from the fact that he spent part of yesterday in Washington in conference with Senator Hanna and Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, and a member of the National Civic Federation.

TALK WITH SOFT COAL OPERATORS President Mitchell remained close to headquarters all day, going over matters headquarters all day, going over matters pertaining to miners in many states. His time was principally taken up by a conference with the Illinois soft coal operators over a few disputed points in the Springfield, Ill., bituminous district. The matter was finally disposed of, an agreement being reached which was satisfactory to both sides.

Nothing official was given out regarding the colling out of the bituminous Nothing official was given out regarding the calling out of the bituminous miners. It is understood, however, that the district presidents of the three anthracite districts are in communication with the presidents of the bituminous districts for the purpose of getting two of them to make up five necessary to call a special national convention to consider the advisability of calling out the soft coal miners. This is believed to be a mere formality, as it is thought the West Virginia and Michigan districts will agree to the assembling of such a convention.

EXTRA POLICE. Harrisburg, Pa., May 17.—Gov. Stone today issued commissions to 250 coal and iron policemen for duty in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. Libbey glass works also went out.

CONFERENCE AT SAGINAW. Saginaw, Mich., May 19.—Today at 9 o'clock the joint conference of operators' and miners' committees will reconvene, and miners' committees will reconvene, after an adjournment of a week. It is anticipated the result will be reached very soon. As to what this will be both sides profess to be ignorant. The operators are not saying what decision they have reached with regard to the miners' demands, but it is thought they may submit a compromise proposition. The miners say they will insist on their de

PAPER MILL MEN PREPARING. PAPER MILL MEN PREPARING.

Boston, May 19.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin says: "A feeling of unrest has sprung up in the wholesale paper circles, owing to the rumor that the operatives in the mills are preparing to strike. There has been a meeting of the workers, but as yet it has been impossible to ascertain what was done. As there are but few mills which have any reserve stock, dealers here fear that in the event of a strike prices would have to be advanced.
