The Tarte Committee in Conference.

Possible Defection of Several Ontario Conservatives.

Sir John and Chapleau Warned a Year Ago of the Boodling Operations.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 16.—The Tarte Committee held a formal meeting this morning with closed doors and agreed to report both the majority and minority reports to the House. There are fairly substantial rumors in the air that some of the Ontario Conservatives will not accept the Thompson report in full.

[Associated Press Dispatch.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—The Privileges and Elections Committee met to-day. It adopted the majority report of the sub-committee by a vote of 18 to 9. The minority report will be moved as an amendment in the House.

WARNED LONG AGO.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—George E. Cox, president of the Conservative Association of Ottawa, told the Public Accounts Committee yesterday that a year ago he went to Sir John Macdonald's house and acquainted him with the rumor that Senecal and Bronskill were receiving commissions. Here are a few of the facts brought out in recent sessions of the committee: (1) Sir John Macdonald warned a year ago of the doings of Senecal and Bronskill; (2) Chapleau informed in the fall of 1889 of the corrupt agreement between Berthiaume and Young; (3) the Dominion type foundry threatened with the repudiation of a great contract and restored to favor on giving a check for $1,500 to Francois Benoit, president of the French Conservative Association; (4) the visit of Dansereau, Chapleau's other self, to New York, where he told the Potter Company and the Hoe Company how to contribute Yankee gold to the campaign funds of the truly loyal and British Tory party in Canada.

NOTES.

Hon. John Jones Ross, M.D., member of the Senate for the De la Durantaye division, has been appointed Speaker of that House as the successor of Chief Justice Lacoste. Mr. Ross on the resignation of the Mousseau Ministry in Quebec formed an Administration in 1884; he resigned with his colleagues in January, 1887, and was called to the Senate.

In the Senate yesterday the bill respecting the Bais des Chaleurs Railway Company, as amended, was read the third time and passed.

THE LABOR ELEMENT.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 6.—The long-talked-of amalgamation between the Brotherhood of Telegraphers and the Order of Railway Telegraphers was accomplished at yesterday's session of the Grand Lodge of the former organization. It was also resolved that the operators' organization make application to be admitted to the Federated Council of Railway Employes.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are holding their annual session at Montreal, Chief P. M. Arthur presiding, and 400 to 500 delegates being present.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—The lumbermen's strike on the Chaudiere continues. Eddy's factory and Wright's quarry have resumed work, but the mills are still idle.

Ten Carloads of Sealskins.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 17.—Part of the sealskins brought in by the sailing fleet of this port will be forwarded at once to Montreal on a special train of ten cars. The whole is valued, at the present prices of skins, at upward of $2,000,000. This is the most valuable cargo that has crossed the continent from this country.

O. L. S. Benchers.

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—A meeting of the benchers of the Ontario Law Society was held yesterday. The number of scholarships to be offered for competition was increased, and the temporary rule which applied at the examinations in May, 1890, was made permanent, so that there are now offered one scholarship of $100, one of $60, and five of $40, instead of one of each as was previously the case.

Why the Wedding Waits.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The delay in the marriage of Lord Hartington to the Dowager Duchess of Manchester is due to deference to the remonstrance of the Duke of Devonshire, who is an earnest opponent of second marriages, holding that the sacrament is thereby vitiated. The age and feebleness of the Duke, whose death is inevitable before long, cause Lord Hartington in the meantime to respect his wishes.

Five Hundred Miles by Canoe.

ST. JOHN, Sept. 16.—A feat never before accomplished has been performed by Eugene Underhill and Murray Bocock, of New York, the latter a Yale student. They arrived here yesterday, having traveled in a canoe from Moosehead Lake to the mouth of the St. John River, a distance of 504 miles. They had three guides and three canoes. They left Mount Kineo on the afternoon of Aug. 19 and landed at Indiantown Sunday, having been 24 days on the journey. Of this time, however, only fourteen days were actually spent in traveling, the rest having been passed in camp, fishing and shooting.

Serious Crossing Accident at Stratford.

STRATFORD, Sept. 17.—While crossing the Buffalo & Goderich Railroad yesterday morning at the Nelson street crossing, Mrs. Thomas Duncan, who lives on Railway avenue, was struck by the engine of the passenger train and received injuries about the head which are likely to prove fatal. The engineer, James Green, says that he saw her approaching the track but supposed she would stop before she reached it, as the train could be plainly seen from the crossing and the bell had been ringing for some time. Almost before he was aware of it, however, she had stepped directly in front of the engine, the buffer beam of which struck her and threw her a distance of about fifteen feet. She is about 54 years of age and came to this city with her husband from Hamilton at the time of the removal of the G. T. R. shops, of which her husband is an employe. At present she is lying in an unconscious condition, her skull being fractured near the left temple.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE!

Resulting from Recent Floods in Spain.

Three Thousand Persons Perish in Consugura Alone—The Rice Crop Destroyed by a Terrible Storm.

MADRID, Sept. 16.—Accounts from Consugura are appalling in the extreme. The town is a heap of ruins, surrounded by a vast expanse of water, leaving visible here and there tree tops, chimneys and floating wreckage of all kinds. It is estimated 5,000 head of horses and stock have been drowned. The flood at Almeria has plunged the city into absolute darkness, destroying the gas works and electric light establishments.

The River Andaray has overflowed its banks and converted the valley into a vast lake. Carts are kept going from house to house collecting the dead. Survivors give harrowing accounts of the flood. Many mothers were seen struggling in the water to hold up children and finally succumbing to the rush of the torrents. The bodies of 60 persons were found in a public hall, where they had been overtaken by the flood in the midst of a wedding feast. A heavy rain fell Friday and Saturday, swelling the mountain torrents that poured into Amarquilla. The flood destroyed four stone bridges and twenty mills, besides an enormous number of houses. Wreckage and corpses were carried 40 miles.

The mayor of Consugura puts the fatalities there at 3,000.

A terrible storm which set in near Valencia Tuesday morning has destroyed the rice crop.

The Government has set apart $100,000 for relief measures, and has asked the Bank of Spain to grant credits to the governors of the suffering provinces. The Queen has given $40,000 to start a relief fund.

MADRID, Sept. 17.—The Governor of Jaen, capital of the Province of the same name, telegraphs that the whole commune of Aubeda is submerged; that the damage is enormous, and that there has been considerable loss of life.

An estimate of the damage to property in and about Consuegra places the losses at $2,500,000, not including the money and valuables buried everywhere in the ruins.

An eyewitness describing the scene at Consuegra says: The river rose by leaps and leaps, carrying everything before it with resistless fury. It was an awful sight to see the now thoroughly terrified people climbing to the roof of their houses, and shrieking vainly for help, which it was impossible any longer to render. The houses collapsed one after another, and were swallowed up in the seething torrent. Daybreak saw hundreds of men and beasts struggling in the water, clinging in despair to wreckage and whirled along so rapidly that they were in a moment lost to sight. The misery existing at Consuegra is intense. So far 945 corpses have been recovered. The national relief fund has reached $100,000. The town of Temploque has been converted into an island by the flood, and communication with the town is almost impossible. The storm wrought immense damage in Murcia, Saragossa and Malaga. The railway works at Rondo were greatly damaged. Three persons were drowned and many cattle perished. The consignees of goods delayed on the railways are heavy losers.

NOTHING IN IT.

The Mitylene Maneuver Did Not Materialize.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—It is now stated that the Mitylene scare has arisen from the fact that a party of British naval officers, on Saturday last picnicked on a desert island off Sigri and that they re-embarked the same evening on board their vessel and sailed away Sunday.

While it is now admitted that a British force has not seized the Island of Mitylene, news to the effect that the island had been occupied was received from Mitylene and elsewhere by the various embassies at Constantinople and in this and other capitals. The French, Russian, Italian and Turkish Governments and the Sultan personally received information of the alleged landing of a British force.

The new Turkish Minister of the Interior telegraphed to the British ambassador at Constantinople, Sir William White, asking the latter to explain the reports as to the landing of a British force on Turkish territory.

Sir William in reply assured the Turkish Minister that no fortification had been constructed on the island by British troops.

This was confirmed by dispatches received during the night, which stated that the force which had landed from the British war ships had re-embarked and the men-of-war had left the island off Mitylene for Marmorito.

DOMINION ELECTIONS.

Trying to Amend a Very Faulty Act of Parliament.

The Necessity for Getting Rid of the Partisan Returning Officer.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—When the House opened to-day Mr. Girouard, standing at his desk behind a parapet of type-written books of evidence, begged Mr. Speaker's permission to present the report of the Privileges and Elections Committee on the charges which Mr. Tarte made on the 11th May, more than four months ago. Three pages carried the stack of foolscap to the clerk's table while honorable members laughingly called upon Mr. Girouard "Read, read." To Mr. Davies' question Mr. Girouard said the report of to-day's meeting of the committee, with which would be the minority report, was included in the minutes of proceedings.

Replying to Mr. Laurier, Sir John Thompson said the report of the Cochrane Committee would be taken up to-morrow.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. McDougall (Cape Breton) asked the Government about a dispatch in this morning's newspaper which tells of the capture of the Canadian sealer Hamilton Lewis by a Russian man-of-war near Copper Island, on the Russian side of the Bering Sea. Mr. Tupper said the Government were expecting a report on the subject and would take the proper steps to guard Canadian interests.

Mr. Laurier asked the Government what they could tell the House with regard to the calling out of the militia in Hull on account of the strike.

Sir Adolphe Caron said he could only tell the House what the papers had reported. The militia had been called out by a requisition, signed, as the statute requires, by three magistrates.

Mr. Edgar—What was the force considered necessary by the magistrates?

Sir Adolphe Caron—Four companies. The discretion of the Government has not been called upon.

Mr. Davies—Has the trouble been allayed or has the Minister of Militia any official knowledge about it?

Sir Adolphe Caron—I can only tell the honorable gentleman what I ascertained from the newspapers, as he could. It is out of my jurisdiction. I have no responsibility.

Mr. Barron proposed an amendment to the election law to the effect that where the ballots are tampered with while in the possession of the returning officer, deputy returning officers or election clerks the officer must show that the offense was committed without his knowledge, assistance or connivance. In other words, that the complainant must prove the fact of the possession or custody and the fact that the ballots have been tampered with, but that when these facts are once established the officer must clear himself of complicity in the fraud. Mr. Barron cited in support of the amendment the action of the returning officer of Queen's county, N.B., who awarded the seat to the minority candidate, and the frauds committed in the elections in West Northumberland, South Grey, Nicolet and Montmagny The speech made by Sir John Thompson disclosed no sufficient reason why an amendment so obviously in aid of pure elections should be opposed, but it was voted down. Mr. Hargraft supplemented Mr. Barron's account of election frauds by a clear statement of the attempt to cheat him out of his seat and the people of West Northumberland out of their representative. It was strongly urged for the Government that they should change the system which allows the Government candidate to nominate his own returning officer.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) pointed out that ever since this law had been on the statute book there had been returning officers who had acted in an irregular and improper manner, but could honorable gentlemen point to an instance where the officer had been charged with misconduct when the officer was a sheriff or registrar of any county in Ontario? Was there a single case in which the candidates had complained against the conduct of returning officers when those officials had held these offices as they had against persons appointed for this special purpose? Great dissatisfaction would arise and great wrong would be done if the law remained as it was. Some other method of appointment should be made. This ought not to be considered from a party standpoint; it was a matter that vitally affected the country. Practically the appointment was at the mercy of the Government candidate in every constituency, and there was no guarantee that a properly qualified officer would be chosen.

Mr. Chapleau contended that there were few cases of wrongdoing amongst the returning officers at the last election. He admitted, however, that there were many instances where the present method had proved unsatisfactory.

Sir Richard Cartwright observed that the Minister of Justice admitted, and with very good reason, that the present mode was eminently satisfactory. He wanted to call the attention of the House to some of the remarks of honorable gentlemen opposite. He specified notably the member for Brockville. That gentleman had said that to revert to the old system, under which this duty was entrusted to sheriffs, was pre-eminently objectionable, because those officers might possibly be partisans. Therefore Mr. Wood appeared to approve of a system whereby these officers must be partisans, must be appointed by the Ministerial candidate of the day. He had no doubt that the people would be well content to have a returning officer appointed by neither political party. The matter of appointing a returning officer might be vested in a board consisting of one official nominated by the Dominion Government, one official nominated by the Provincial Government, and one official nominated by the people.

The amendment was lost on division.

Sir John Thompson withdrew his motion for the third reading to allow the House to go into committee to consider an amendment proposed by Mr. Davies. It was that where a re-count is held the judge shall review the decision of the returning officer as to the number of ballots cast for each candidate at any polling sub-division where the ballot box may be missing, and that he shall have power to take evidence in the case.

Mr. Mill (Bothwell) suggested that the clause read that the judge shall take evidence, because he might consider the evidence adduced before the returning officer sufficient.

Sir John Thompson said he did not think this provision necessary.

Mr. Davies' amendment was adopted and the committee rose.

An amendment by Dr. Landerkin that the declarations of returning officers shall be made one week after polling day instead of two weeks, except in the electoral districts of Algoma and Gaspe and the county of Ottawa, where the time may be extended if necessary to two weeks, was lost on division.

An amendment by Mr. Mulock that the envelopes containing the ballots after they are counted on polling day he signed with the signatures of the agents of candidates instead of with the initials, as the bill provided was adopted.

The bill was read a third time.

Upon the House going again into committee to further consider the Controverted Elections Act, Mr. Dalton McCarthy's amendment, which will change the venue of the trial of election petitions from the Court of Appeal to courts of first instance, was taken up. There were, Mr. McCarthy remarked, ten judges in the courts of first instance, and they were not nearly so much oppressed with work as the appellate tribunal. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. McCarthy withdrew an amendment which he had proposed when the bill was last before the committee limiting appeal to questions of law. He proposed an amendment which will have the effect of increasing the amount of deposit to be made upon an appeal being made from $100 to $500. Progress was reported and leave granted to sit again. The House rose at 11:15 p.m.

AMUSEMENTS AT THE ASYLUM.

The Fourth Annual Athletic Sports a Grand Success—List of Prize Winners.

On the beautiful slopes of the asylum amusement grounds were assembled Tuesday a good many interested spectators, including male and female inmates, besides a great number of visitors from the city. Throughout the entire series of athletic sports and games the best possible order was maintained, and the smoothness and regularity with which everything was conducted was doubtless due to the perfect arrangements made beforehand by the most energetic members of the committee, who deserve special mention, namely, Dr. Sippi, George Angus and George Rennie. Dr. Sippi's presence on the field as manager, was on all sides conceded to be invaluable, Messrs. Angus and Rennie, as starter and secretary respectively, perhaps did as hard work and well earned praise as any, although all the members of the committee strove hard to make the games what they were—the most successful sports ever held on the asylum grounds. Through the kindness of Colonel Smith and officers of "D" School, their excellent band provided music during the afternoon, under the able leadership of Sergeant Walsh. The committee sincerely thank their friends in the city who so handsomely contributed to the prize list. THE TORONTO INDUSTRIAL.

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—Yesterday was Germania day at the fair. Discouraging showers came down in the morning, dampening the spirits and new clothes of the many excursionists arriving from the surrounding towns, but the German societies were determined not to lose their day through such a trifling affair as a rain storm, and swelled the crowd of visitors. The receipts totaled up $6,866 80, or $2,973 30 less than the corresponding day last year. The new fruit building was thrown open for the first time, and proved a most important feature.

THE KAY ELECTRIC WORKS.

The Kay Electric Works of Hamilton are to the front with a fine exhibit of five electric motors on the north side of the machinery hall, and deservedly are attracting a large share of attention from visitors. The Kay Motor is simple in construction and durable, and requires but little attention. The company manufactures motors from a half-horse up to 50-horse power, and dynamos from 10 to 500 lights. Parties interested, and who attend the Exhibition, should interview the Kay Company or communicate with them. bd

THE "NORTHEY" STEAM PUMP.

In Northey & Co.'s exhibit in machinery hall, north side, there is a new force pump that is a marvel of simplicity, powerful in its workings, regular in its action, and altogether worthy of the attention of those who need such an article. Mr. Northey has had a most extensive experience in the manufacture of steam pumps, and those who have seen his new pump working will aver that he has one now that is "perfection" in all its points. bd

NOTHING LIKE SUCCESS—BERLIN PIANO COMPANY IN THE LEAD.

Mr. John Wesley, the veteran of the piano trade of Canada, and manager of the Berlin Piano Company was present yesterday at the Industrial and when met at their exhibit in the main building was in the best of spirits. Being interviewed as to the prospects of trade, he stated that they never were busier and were working at nights to keep up with the ever increasing demand for their instruments. In reply to the questionings of our reporter, Mr. Wesley said they had more applications for agencies than they could grant, as the company never allowed more than one representative to each district, besides it did not require talkers to sell their pianos, as the instruments spoke for themselves. Mr. W. S. Russell, who has been a partner with Mr. Wesley during the past fifteen years, and an expert in the voicing of instruments, is known throughout the continent as an authority upon the essential qualifications of a first-class musical instrument, is associated with this company. A large amount of credit is due to the ability of the members of this firm for bringing Canadian manufactured pianos up to their present high standard, they being equal to the best American makes, and are being recognized by our cousins across the line to the extent that they often get the preference. The objects that any first-class maker should aim at are fullness and purity of tone, elasticity of touch, combined with fine singing qualities and prompt repetition, and, as their pianos will demonstrate, the Berlin Piano Company have attained the highest points of all these qualities that are necessary to a first-class instrument.

The manager stated that he had just returned from a trip east, having visited their agencies at St. John, N. B., Montreal and Ottawa, and reports that trade prospects were bright. The company have agencies in Winnipeg and all principal places between here and the Pacific Coast. RHEUMATISM AND NEURAL GIA

Arise from poor digestion, etc. Kidneys fail to extract the uric acid from the blood. Heart disease and other maladies seize with such ruinous force that break down our strongest youths in a few weeks. So says Popular Hygiene and adds: "St. Leon Water has the power to fight and destroy the cause, is the most powerful antidote known, and should be taken freely to absorb the deadly poisons that undermine the system." Try it. It will prove the truth of above.

The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have "used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my "own use, and found it does me "more good than any other remedy. "I have been troubled with what I "call Sick Headache. A pain comes "in the back part of my head first, "and then soon a general headache "until I become sick and vomit. "At times, too, I have a fullness "after eating, a pressure after eating "at the pit of the stomach, and "sourness, when food seemed to rise "up in my throat and mouth. When "I feel this coming on if I take a "little August Flower it relieves "me, and is the best remedy I have "ever taken for it. For this reason "I take it and recommend it to "others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c." ③

London, Thursday, Sept. 17.

THEY STAND BY SIR HECTOR.

Two reports will be laid before Parliament on the Langevin-McGreevy scandal. One represents the views of the Conservative leaders on the committee; the other voices the decision of the Liberals. When the Dominion Government took public money to buy the services of Mr. Osler, Q.C., to use all his great skill as a lawyer to let the Minister down easy, it must have been made evident to the most unsophisticated that the object was to whitewash the late Minister of Public Works. But by many members of the Conservative party it was hoped that the administration would think better of its determination, and endeavor to live up to the lofty professions of its leader, as enunciated in recent speeches in the Senate.

The finding of Sir John Thompson and his associates, given side by side with the clearly expressed and logical conclusions of the minority in another column, will cause wide disappointment not only to members of the Liberal party but to those adherents of the Conservative party who have been hoping that Langevin would be censured and punished as he deserved. It is not enough that the enormous robberies from the country should be laid to the charge of McGreevy and his associates or to Sir Hector's subordinates. No one who followed the evidence could reach the conclusion that McGreevy could live in the same house, and eat and sleep with Sir Hector for the past dozen years, and in many ways act as the Minister's confidential collector and disburser of funds for political purposes, and leave the Minister wholly in ignorance of the rascalities that it is now confessed were indulged in by the decamped M.P. If it is contended that such is the case, it must be premised that Sir Hector was and is a blind fool. Does anyone take him for that? He was Sir John Macdonald's trusted lieutenant; he was the leader of the Quebec Conservatives; his biographer says that he knew every detail of business in his department.

Parliament cannot honestly accept the conclusion of Sir John Thompson and his associates in the Privileges and Elections Committee that Sir Hector is wholly innocent of blame, and that on his wicked partner McGreevy, with a subordinate official or two, must condemnation fall. If such is the decision of the majority led by Sir John Thompson, then there should be an end to the professions of intended punishment for incapables and boodlers high and low, and the virtuous Mr. Abbott should go out of business as a purifier of the public service.

IS IT FULFILLMENT OF PROPHECY?

There are those who do not think there is anything very wrong in seizing Turkish territory, as the British Government is reported to have done within the last few days—that is, provided the other European Powers are in some way pacified. It may turn out that the Turkish Government, for some tangible reason, is not averse to the seizure. But if this partition of Turkish territory is to be continued where is it to end, and how can the Powers object to Russia sharing in the spoils? There have been some indications that Turkey had started on a career of reform, but it makes haste very slowly. The trouble incident to the maintenance of Mohammedanism as a dominant power in the country once more brings out Cobden's prophecy in a strong light. Addressing the House of Commons, the great English Liberal said: "You must address yourselves as men of sense and men of energy to the question—what are you going to do with the Christian population? for Mohammedanism cannot be maintained, and I should be sorry to see this country fighting for the maintainance of Mohammedanism. * * * You may keep Turkey on the map of Europe if you like, but do not think you can keep up the Mohammedan rule in the country." How would it do to once more restore the control of Constantinople to the Greeks?

THE AUCTION OF PUBLIC OFFICES

The Conservative majority of the committee which tried the charges against Mr. Cochrane, M.P., have prepared a report exculpating the accused. As Sir Adolphe Caron was the leading influence on the Government side of the committee, perhaps such a result was to be expected. But it is not in accord with the evidence. It was shown most conclusively that Mr. Cochrane farmed out the patronage of the riding of East Northumberland to the Conservative committee, who, with his cognizance, paid an old debt of $1,700 by the sale of Government offices for cash. It was proved that Hedley Simpson gave $200 for a lighthouse, Arundel Simpson gave $200 and a life lease of his farm for a position as bridge tender on the canal, Wm. Bown, J. D. Clouston and Thomas Fitzgerald gave $150 each for a similar position, Robert May paid $150 for a similar position and C. D. Vanalstine paid money for a bridge, but had his money returned because the office sellers had run out of bridges.

There was no pretense that these men were prominent members of the party. They were in fact so obscure that up to this traffic in offices they had rarely subscribed a cent to the election funds, but when the exigencies of Mr. Cochrane and his friends demanded it—the accused member being responsible for the payment of a note taken up by the money paid by Simpson—these large sums were forthcoming. Though Simpson only received $400 a year, he was assessed $200, and the men who earned $1 25 a day during the season of navigation on the canal were charged $125 to $150. The old plea was advanced that Mr. Cochrane knew nothing about the committee's doings, but it was not sustained by the evidence, and Mr. Cochrane refused to be put on oath to deny what was conclusively shown. Two or three bridge tenders who first applied to Cochrane for positions were referred by him to the patronage-selling committee. A member of the committee, Mr. Bullock, testified that Mr. Cochrane was present during a portion of one meeting, held in his store after the store had been closed for the night, while the question of offices was under discussion. There is also absolute proof that the persons who submitted to the bleeding process got the offices, and that the recommendation of Mr. Cochrane was necessary before the Government would make the appointment, while the $200 paid by Hedley Simpson passed through Mr. Cochrane's hands to those of Mr. Payne, one of the committee. In the face of such evidence how can the committee, how can Parliament hold Mr. Cochrane, M.P., to be wholly innocent? It is so clear that even the London Free Press says Mr. Cochrane has forfeited his seat. Unfortunately for the purification of Parliament, the committee majority report in favor of exonerating Mr. Cochrane from all blame in the contemptible business, and there is reason for fearing that they will be sustained. The reasonable view is to hold all the parties implicated guilty as proved, and to proceed criminally against them, as recommended by Messrs. Cameron, of Huron, Mulock and German, the Liberal members of the committee.

WEALTH IN TREES.

The ADVERTISER is an advocate of a persistent effort being made to reafforest Ontario as fast as its forest wealth is cut down and disposed of for the public benefit. In other words, the policy of the forestry department should be to plant as many young trees every year as there are old ones cut down. Thus our timber wealth would be replenished at comparatively little cost. That this policy is a profitable one for the State and for individuals has again been demonstrated on the Healey estate in England. Speaking to the members of the English Arboricultural Society, who have been making a sort of tour of observation of the growing timber (which must not be confounded with fruit trees) in Durham and Northumberland, Mr. Jewitt stated that when the late Mr. Ormiston bought the Healey estate there was little or no wood upon it, but he planted about half the land with trees, and before he died saw the first growth cut down and the land replanted. The gross receipts for timber sold amounted, we are assured, to £56,000—certainly a very large amount to be taken off an estate which had originally cost only £22,000.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

THE report that Great Britain had added to her dominions by annexing a little Turkish island, is now stated to be incorrect. What a flurry it created!

A PORT HURON man has been killed for going between a man and his wife to save the latter from a serious beating. It is evident the idea yet prevails in the Michigan town that a man who interferes in a domestic row is a common enemy, for whom no punishment is too severe. The court may hold a different view when the murderer is brought to trial.

MR. CHAPLEAU will vote for the whitewashing of Sir Hector, not that he loves the late Minister of Public Works the more, but that he may provide a soft place to fall upon when he is placed in a somewhat similar predicament to that which his antagonist in the scramble for fat things has recently occupied.

WESTERN grain men think it hurts Canadian interests to have Northwest "frosted" wheat graded as such. Canada cannot help that. Nothing is to be gained by concealing the truth. The Northwest is producing many million bushels of wheat that is not frosted. Let that fact be kept well in the foreground, but let us not mislead the public. The country has lost enough already by overdoing the "boom" idea. The day will come when the frost streaks will be combatted. It will pay to be honest and patient.

A GENTLEMAN who has just returned from Murray Bay says that the Hon. Edward Blake has declared that he does not intend to offer as a candidate for Kingston, and that he will not re-enter active politics. The greater is the pity. With a report in favor of whitewashing Sir Hector Langevin seriously laid before Parliament, and the further proposition made that the sale of public offices to the highest bidder, through the agency of a member of Parliament, should be condoned, Mr. Blake would have had great scope for his denunciatory powers.

HON. MR. ABBOTT, Tuesday introduced into the Senate a resolution affirming that Canada desires to be exempted from the operation of the provisions of the British treaties with the German Zollverein and with Belgium. At present Canada is compelled to admit all articles, the produce or manufacture of Belgium, at the same or at no higher rate of duty than is imposed upon similar articles of British origin; and in the treaty with the German Zollverein entered into in 1865, it is stipulated that the produce of those states shall not be subject to any higher or other import duties than the produce of the United Kingdom or any other country of the like kind, and that the exports to those states shall not be subject to any higher duties than exports to the United Kingdom. It is contended that these treaties are incompatible with the right of the colonies to make their own trade arrangements, and it is deemed advisable that the stipulations should be removed so that Canada may make the best possible trade arrangements with Great Britain as well as with the United States.

HOW WE WOULD DEVELOP!

[Toronto Week.]

Had Canada the advantage of reasonably free access to the vast market created by the 60,000,000 of people on her borders, in addition to those now within her reach by sea, the capital she so much needs would flow in in abundance.

THE INGRATES!

[Hamilton Times.]

The workmen in the Ottawa saw mills, who have been getting $6 50 a week for working 11½ hours per day, have struck for $7 a week and a 10-hour day. How can they have the heart to interrupt business when the N. P. has already made them so rich?

ANOTHER SCANDAL LOOMING UP.

[The Week, Toronto.]

The astonishing fact that among Indian expenditures were charges for beer and cigars, and that between 1883 and 1889 the expenditure for agricultural implements was under one treaty, $218,615, under three other treaties $201,000 for the same purpose and on a population of 12,000, and that during these years the total amount spent on agricultural implements and general expenses exceeded $2,000,000, suggest the probability of a Northwest Indian scandal at an early day.

FOSTER'S CONSTITUENCY.

[St. John Telegraph.]

Kings county had in 1851 a population of 18,842 souls. In 1881 the population was 25,617, showing an increase of 6,775. The population is now shown to be but 23,091, a decrease of 2,526 in the past ten years. In the same period the assessed valuation of this fine county had decreased by over $800,000. Within this period of depreciated values and fleeing population Minister Foster, as representative of the county, has been rolling up the burden of taxation and the National Policy has got in its legitimate work. What wonder that the honest farmers of Kings have tired of Foster and taxation?

THEY MAY WELL BE PROUD.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]

Canadians should realize now what they owe to Oliver Mowat and Alexander Mackenzie. Here are two proofs to the world that the virtues of personal honor and business rectitude can be carried into public life. Mr. Mowat has been twenty years in office without a scandal attaching to his name or to his party. Mr. Mackenzie has listened to his opponents admit the purity of his public record. No Canadian, free from the blind frenzy of party feeling, believes that either of these statesmen ever did or ever winked at a dishonest transaction. We believe in party. But, as Dr. McMullen says, there is a great deal in character. However much our Conservative friends may differ from the Liberal policy, they know that in Ontario and at Ottawa, both in the past and at present, the Liberal party has had honest leaders. This is a great point in its favor.

SEWER LEVELS.

Are They Taken Right by the City?—Some Talks on the Subject.

"No, the levels for sewers and drains are not taken right," said Contractor Moses Cox the other day, as he was studying the plan for the Maple avenue sewer in the city engineer's office. "To secure the proper grade the levels should be ascertained at regular intervals of say 50 feet—or better less. Look at this," he continued, alluding to the plan. "You see, here are different spaces, ranging from 50 to 170 or more feet between levels. That should not be. The fact is, there should be a fall of nine inches every 100 feet, as there is in Old London's sewers. Here six inches is considered sufficient, but it isn't enough, and that's the reason why the sewers choke up. Yes; it would make our work easier if the levels were taken better, and the inspector could tell then if a man was doing his work right. But if he is satisfied, why of course it's nobody's business to kick. I generally take my own levels, so as to facilitate the work and have it done properly."

"Levels are taken properly and the construction of sewers at present is all right," said Engineer Fred Henry. "The trouble lies in the higgledy-piggledy system. It was designed originally without allowance for the growth of the city. The trunk sewers branch off in different directions just as the handiest ways of reaching the river suggest themselves. In uneven places levels should be taken every 50 feet and always are. Of course where there is an even stretch of ground it is not necessary to ascertain the levels at such short distances."

"The Dundas street sewer is no use beyond Adelaide street," remarked Dr. Gardiner. "It is not deep enough at the start. The same thing may be said of King street and other sewers. I do not think the pipes are laid properly. At present they are laid one by one and each pipe may not be exactly in a straight line with the other. This would interfere with the free passage of the sewage. It would be better if the pipes could be put down say 15 or 20 at a time in bee line so as to have them more exactly straight."

Contractor John Walters has laid a good many sewers, and when asked if the city authorities took the levels right, said he knew nothing about it—but with a very knowing look. He gave the impression, however, that they were not taken at all to his satisfaction, and that he generally did that part of the work himself.

Mr. C. A. Jones, civil engineer, strongly favored the taking of levels every 50 feet. He did not know for a fact whether such was the case, but hoped the city authorities did so. It was necessary in order to get the right grade. Mr. H. C. McBride, of the same firm, coincided with Mr. Jones.

Engineer J. M. Moore thought the system of laying the sewer pipes by patches was imperfect. A complete set of pipes should have been laid throughout the city at one time. The most desirable sewerage system was to have two separate pipes for the storm water and house sewage. The former pipe would necessarily be much larger than the latter. The sewage from the houses could be conveyed outside the city limits and deposited in a low stretch of land where it could easily be treated with chemicals and the odor be removed. Of course to change the present system into one of this kind would necessitate a large outlay of money.

It was stated at the engineer's office that levels were taken carefully and at distances of about 50 feet.

Shot by His Little Sister.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 16.—Frank Bowen, of Verona, was shot in the abdomen on Monday by his little 8-year-old sister while endeavoring to dissuade the child from playing with a revolver. Murdered His Wife's Protector.

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 16.—Yesterday morning, as several railway employes were going to their work near the Port Huron engine and thresher works, they heard a woman calling "murder" in a farm house, and as the cries were continued they ran towards the house, led by Wesley McDonald, a painter, aged 30, and were met by Farmer Thelo Kyhn, a German, aged 55, who at once shot McDonald dead and then ran off to the woods. He was afterwards captured two miles away by a sheriff's posse and brought to Port Huron. He is a quarrelsome man and had repeatedly assaulted his wife brutally, but she feared to give evidence against him. He is a well-to-do farmer. By his first wife he had twelve children, and it is boldly stated now that he killed her and afterwards buried her in his own yard. Strong threats of lynching were indulged in, but better counsels prevailed.

FOR PROHIBITION.

Proceedings of the Alliance Convention at Toronto.

Stirring Address by President W. H. Howland.

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—The Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance met for business at 9:30 yesterday morning, when Mr. W. H. Howland took the chair. The Executive Committee's report (given yesterday in these columns) was read and referred to the various committees for consideration. A delegation was received from the Quebec branch of the alliance. The delegates were cordially welcomed and invited to take part in the deliberation of the meeting. The usual committees were chosen and the convention adjourned.

In the afternoon President Howland made a stirring speech. He was satisfied that the progress of the temperance cause, though not so aggressive during the past year, was none the less steady and sure. Total abstinence was growing in favor all over the country—even the brewers and distillers were becoming abstainers, and the principle of temperance for the individual was making enormous strides. How, then, was it that the cause generally was not stronger and more influential? He believed it was because most people had the idea that someone else was doing the work, and that they could, therefore, afford to be idle. They would, he thought, have to convince people of their individual responsibility, and get them all working together. There were in this country, today, he believed, sufficient numbers of practical temperance people to give a prohibitory law to this whole Dominion. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the Scott Act, he always felt they would gain even from the repeal of that measure, because they now had the opportunity of proving that the Scott Act was a good thing in lessening the sale of intoxicants. The increase in the consumption of beer in 1890 over 1888 (when the Scott Act was in force) was 1,250,000 gallons, while in the same year the increase in the consumption of spirits was 1,200,000 gallons. These figures were for the Dominion. Up to 1890 the statistics for the Provinces had been given separately for purposes of comparison, but this had been done away with, and it looked like a movement on the part of the Inland Revenue Department to aid the liquor interest. Boodling in money matters had been exposed. This was boodling of another kind. The fact was that the increased consumption was in the Province of Ontario, and, what was worse, the Scott Act only covered about one-twelfth of the Province, and this tremendous increase was, he believed, to be found in this one-twelfth of the Province. In 1884, before the Scott Act was in force there were 692 convictions for drunkenness; in 1887, under the Scott Act, there were only 186 convictions in the same counties. Since the act was repealed there were in these counties in 1890 506 convictions—an increase from 186 to 506. (Applause.) Take the counties which continued under license, and what was the result? In 1884 there were 2,985 convictions, in 1888 2,999, and in 1890 3,010. These figures proved that the Scott Act, abused as it was, had the effect of reducing and preventing the increase of the sale and use of intoxicants.

In Great Britain, he continued, the consumption of intoxicants is rated at 30 gallons per head, in the United States at 12 to 15 gallons per head, while in Canada it was 4½ gallons per head. There was no better chance for a promising business than the possibilities between 4½ gallons in this country and the equivalent in the United States at 15 gallons. It was a strong inducement to capitalists. The whole business of manufacturing intoxicants was now in the hands of cold-blooded, cool-headed monopolists. There was no longer the jolly hotelkeeper, controlling and directing his own business, and amenable to kindly influences, but there was now behind this traffic the capitalist, whose aim was to increase, increase, increase, no matter what the consequences to his fellow-men. "Gentlemen," he cried, warmly, "to-day is the day for prohibition. Every year it will be harder to accomplish anything, and our business now is to secure all that we can in this Province, keeping ever before us, as the great aim of our labors, the total abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants."

"We are going to be detained for a year," he said, "by the recent action at Ottawa. They are simply playing with us. Gentlemen," he added, with emphasis, "I would not pay any more attention to that convention than I would to a dead dog, for it will be a dead dog anyway." (Loud applause and cries of "Hear, hear.")

In conclusion he expressed a desire to have a change in the presidency. He had occupied that office a good many years, and was anxious to step down and work in the ranks.

Mr. Howland's address made a deep impression on the gathering. The greater part of the afternoon was taken up in the consideration of the report of the Committee on Legislation and Law Enforcement, the following being decided upon as changes in the law of the Province that were desirable:

1. That the majority of electors in a polling sub-division should have the right to prevent the re-issue of a license.
2. That all sales to persons under 21 should be prohibited, and no minors be allowed to loiter in a barroom.
3. That penalties for violation, especially on the part of license holders, should be made more severe.
4. That all second and subsequent convictions should be punished as such and increasing penalties inflicted.
5. That a license should be forfeited and the holder disqualified for repeated violation of the law, even if the offenses should not be the same.
6. That fines should be made available for prosecutions where the prosecutor is a private party.
7. That any person should have the right to apply for the cancellation of a license wrongfully issued.
8. That the signatures of petitioners for a license or transfer of license should all be genuine and bona fide, and should be published.
9. That no druggist should sell liquor except on a certificate.
10. That bars should be abolished.
11. That the sale and disposal of liquors in clubs should be restricted.
12. That the time for laying an information should be extended for three months.
13. That no shop licenses be issued.
14. That hotels except for accommodations for lodgers be abolished.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening meeting Dr. Arnott, of London, presented the report of the committee on political action, indorsing the recommendations of the Executive Committee in favor of an aggressive policy by the organization of local clubs composed of persons pledged to support only such candidates for public office, political parties and governments as are distinctly opposed to the continued existence of the liquor traffic.

Rev. A. C. Courtice said he honestly believed if they could get a straight appeal to the people on the prohibition issue they would have a tremendously strong decision in their favor. The question was now hampered by many little issues that would then be swept away.

Mr. F. S. Spence did not believe a third party would be successful, because it had been tried here on a broad basis and also in Nova Scotia. They should continue to fight along the lines already laid down and not be too eager or too sanguine as to the immediate adoption of their views. Other speakers advocated the adoption of the report, which was agreed to.

The Executive Committee recommend:

4. (a) That in case the Ontario Local Option Law is sustained by the Court of Appeal, an immediate effort be made to secure the adoption of prohibitory bylaws thereunder in as many municipalities of our Province as possible.

(b) That in case the Court of Appeal does not sustain the Local Option Law in such form as to make its effectiveness certain, that the Ontario Government and Legislature be urged to forthwith enact a measure of effective Provincial prohibition. Such a measure should be general if the Legislature has power to make it general, otherwise it should be available to the electors of every municipality.

The Committee on Nominations reported the following list of officers: President, W. H. Howland; vice-presidents, Hon. J. C. Aikins, Hon. A. Vidal, Hon. G. W. Ross, J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., George A. Cox and J. Jamieson, M.P.; secretary, F. S. Spence; treasurer, Robert J. Fleming; executive committee, Rev. W. A. Hunter, H. O'Hara, Mrs. McDonnell, J. W. Manning, Rev. G. J. Bishop, James Thomson, Mrs. J. S. Williamson, Rev. R. H. Abraham, Joseph Tait, M.P.P., W. H. Orr, Rev. A. M. Phillips, Jacob Spence, James Dobson, Rev. Wm. Frizzell, J. B. Hay, Rev. E. Cockburn, E. Falconer, W. W. Buchanan, E. J. Davis, M.P.P., Rev. A. C. Courtice, Miss E. Skinner, H. Arnott, M.D., J. T. Middleton and Malcolm Gibbs.

The Finance Committee reported receipts for the year $1,202; expenditures, $1,177; balance, $25. It was urged that a strong effort should be put forward to raise $3,000 during the coming year.

JUVENILE SMOKING.

A resolution that the convention should petition the Ontario Legislature to so amend the Municipal Act in connection with the prohibition of the sale of tobacco to minors, so as to raise the age limit from 14 to 18 years of age, and also to extend the option of prohibition to incorporated villages and townships, as well as towns and cities, was adopted, and the convention adjourned.

Histogenetic

System of Medicine.

All diseases successfully treated by a new system of non-poisonous and tasteless medicines. Send for free book explaining system and testimonials of the most remarkable cures on record.

I have been a great sufferer from a female weakness of long standing, and have been treated by several physicians, and have also been under treatment in the Toronto Hospital, and all failed to cure me. I saw a medical book explaining the Histogenetic System, and resolved to give it a trial. I consulted Dr. Rear, who prescribed these remedies and assured me they would cure me. I had my doubts, but was determined to try once more. I took treatment two weeks, and am utterly astonished at the results. I am nearly well, and no language can describe how thankful I am that my life is spared. This testimony is voluntary, and I give it hoping that hundreds of my sex may try the medicines and receive the same marvelous good that I have. They are good to take, and, unlike any medicine I ever took before, leave no bad effects.

MRS. J. FAWCETT.

June 5, 1890. 102 John street, Toronto.

I was attacked with congestion of the liver and inflammation of the kidneys, attended with excruciating pains in my side and back. Could not lie on either side—could scarcely breathe. The slightest movement caused agonizing pain. Nothing gave me relief. I sent for Dr. Rear, knowing he had cured by daughter of a dangerous illness with Histogenetic Medicine after she had been given up by four skillful physicians. In one week my pain was gone and liver and kidneys acting as well as ever. The cure is complete. It acts the most like magic of any medicine I ever took. I sincerely hope that the suffering ladies of Toronto and elsewhere may try the superior merits of these pure and tasteless medicines. My object in giving this testimony is purely through sympathy for the sick and dying.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Few changes occurred during the past week in grain. Wheat closes 2c below our last weekly review, and 1c higher than lowest point touched during week.

Oats are also lower, but, like wheat, rallied a little towards the close, influenced by light receipts.

Peas scarce; sales quiet, from $1 to $1 10 today.

Rye higher, selling at $1 15 per 100 pounds.

In feed stuff the only change was in shorts, they declined $2 per ton; bran held firm at $12.

Oatmeal lower, about 25c per cwt.

Fruits and vegetables plentiful and lower; peaches, 70c to $1 20 per basket; plumbs, 50c to 60c; grapes, 4c to 5c per pound; tomatoes, 50c to 70c per bushel; best muskmellons, 80c to $1 20 per dozen. General quotations at close:

—"Gulliver's Travels" will be portrayed with living reality by the "Royal Midgets" Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, with a Saturday matinee. A dispatch from Jackson, Mich., says that the man who is under arrest in London on a charge of burglary, and who gives the name of John Mack, was Tuesday indentified by means of photographs sent by Warden Davis as the convict Davis from Kalamazoo who escaped from the State prison at Jackson a few weeks ago. Mack appeared before Judge Elliot yesterday and was found guilty of stealing a gold watch, three gold rings and $2 from Mrs. Whittle, of Tilbury Center. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

A Brilliant Company.

Mme. Modjeska, after an absence of over two years, returns to London next Sunday, and on Monday evening will present for the first time here her famous interpretation of Scribe and Legouve's beautiful heroine, Adrienne Lecouvreur, in the celebrated play of that name. This role is one which Mme. Modjeska has made peculiarly her own in past seasons, and in conception and execution she embodies the true spirit and intention of the authors, making the long-suffering heroine instinct with the poetry and heroism of the time. The play will be presented with all the accessories of gorgeous costumes, appropriate stage settings and effects, and a strong cast, including the talented young English leading man, Mr. T. B. Thalberg, late of the principal London (England) theaters; and Messrs. John A. Lane, Benj. G. Rogers, Howard Kyle, Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Smith, Miss Kate Meek, Miss Christine Lubinski, and others of the late Booth & Barrett Company. The regular prices have been slightly advanced and seats will be placed on sale Friday morning. Early application is advised.

Collision on the G. T. R.

Two G. T. R. freight trains collided yesterday at Stoney Creek, five miles the other side of Hamilton. The conductor of No. 30 is said to have pulled out of the city without an order and run into a special from Fort Erie. One of the engines was damaged and the cars derailed, so that through trains for the west have had to come via Paris. A brakeman named Winters was injured. The 11:20 train for the west did not arrive in the city until 2:30 p.m. in consequence.

A Hamilton telegram says: A smashup occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning a short distance east of Stoney Creek. Two freight trains, both traveling at a good speed, collided, causing much destruction of rolling stock, etc., but fortunately there was no loss of life. One brakeman, Cecil Winter, living at 37 George street, Toronto, was badly injured. At 4:30 a regular train, in charge of Conductor Thomas Smith and Driver Hushing, left Hamilton east-bound. At the same time a special freight was west-bound from St. Catharines. About a couple of miles east of Stoney Creek the two trains dashed into each other on a level stretch of line. The engines, Nos. 222 and 227, did not leave the track, but telescoped into each other, and several of the cars on each train piled up on the engines. The drivers and firemen jumped and escaped uninjured. The accident occurred in front of John Coughlin's section house. Brakeman Winter, who was on the fourth car, was pitched into the yard and several heavy stones, with which the car was loaded, fell upon the unfortunate man, crushing both his legs badly. He was removed to the City Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the right leg below the knee. His left foot is badly crushed, but the doctors hope to save the limb.

It Commences Soon.

The executive of the Fair Board met Tuesday night, when the chairmen of the different committees submitted their reports on the various departments. It is desired to be understood that children's day is on Saturday, and Monday will be societies' day. The admission for children will be 5 cents. Chief Williams will, as usual, have charge of the constables on the grounds, and the necessary help has been supplied the different committees. All vehicles must enter by King street gate. The attractions in the horse ring will begin on Saturday, Sept. 10. Everything must be in place by Friday morning. Light will be supplied in the main building to-night and to-morrow night. Mr. George Reid states his belief that the display in the main building will be the grandest in all respects that has ever been seen in London. Sixteen tons of cheese are to be shown and the other dairy exhibits will be in proportion.

Western Fair Notes.

The carpenters' hammers are everywhere heard yesterday in the buildings in the hands of men interested in the placing of goods on exhibition. The scene is a busy one, and the diligence of the workmen will soon create order where everything is now confusion.

The waterworks department has everything now in excellent running order.

Unnecessary crowding will be avoided by the improved facilities for purchasing tickets and the modes of entry that have this year been adopted.

The fountain in the main building has been decorated, and will be a greater attraction than heretofore.

Officials and employes are everywhere busy, and are doing their work apparently without friction.

The horticultural hall this year will be taxed to its utmost, but arrangements are made to accommodate all exhibitors as far as possible.

To-night the electric light will enable city exhibitors to get the work of placing their exhibits well advanced, and it is important to them and to the directors that there shall be no delay on their part, as applications for space are coming in daily yet from every direction.

The London Hunt.

The annual meeting of that flourishing organization the London Hunt was held Tuesday at the Tecumseh House. First Vice-President Dr. Niven occupied the chair in the absence of President George C. Gibbons. Reports from the master, treasurer and house committee indicated a healthy and vigorous state of affairs, the material welfare of the club giving reason for congratulation. Nearly all the retiring officers were elected as follows: President, George C. Gibbons; first vice-president, Dr. J. S. Niven; second vice-president, H. R. Abbott; master, Major A. M. Smith; treasurer, W. C. L. Gill; secretary, George F. Burns; executive committee, Capt. Denison, Dr. George H. Wilson, Adam Beck, W. T. Strong and J. B. Kilgour; house committee, Messrs. Strong, Burns and Abbott. John Fulcher, the popular huntsman, will continue to perform those duties. The annual ball will be held in the City Hall on December 11. Capt. Denison, Adam Beck and J. B. Kilgour will look after the arrangements. A smoking concert will also be given this month. Six applicants were balloted for and elected members of the Hunt. Votes of thanks were tendered the officers, the huntsman and others.

Getting Down to Business.

Between 20 and 25 applications awaited the consideration of the Humane Society at a meeting held Tuesday in W. C. Coo's rooms for the purpose of appointing an inspector. A ballot was taken and resulted in the election by a large majority of Mr. J. Minhinnick, of East London, to the position. A suggestion to leave the duties of inspection in the hands of the police instead did not meet with favor. The appointment is for three months in order to test the efficiency of the move. No doubt the position will be made permanent, and if so the official will have a distinctive uniform. The meeting yesterday was large and influential, the Bishop and Dean of Huron being among those present. Messrs. D. S. Perrin, Talbot Macbeth and Fred W. Matthews, members of the society, waited on the police commissioners at a special meeting yesterday to ask them to co-operate with Mr. Minhinnick by instructing the force to work with him and assist in every possible way in carrying out its objects. They also asked for desk room and telephone service for their officer, and that the officer should be made a special police officer for the city. They met with a favorable answer.

The Great Benefit

which people in run-down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver. c

BARNES ACQUITTED.

The Charge of Arson Not Proved—Now Accused of Perjury.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening the trial of Benjamin Barnes for setting fire to his house and barns in West Williams on April 24 last, was concluded. Some 30 witnesses had been examined for the prosecution. At the conclusion, counsel for prisoner submitted there was not sufficient evidence upon which to convict him. Mr. Hutchinson, Crown attorney, considered the circumstances as pointing towards the guilt of the prisoner. Judge Elliot considered the evidence insufficient and accordingly acquitted him.

At the time of the fire inquest at Parkhill on July 24 Barnes swore that he saw George Snowden running away from his house just after the blaze had started. Snowden proved that he was not there, and then laid a charge of perjury against the prisoner. The trial on this charge took place before Squire J. B. Smyth yesterday morning. Richard J. Doyle, manager of the Dominion Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Owen Sound, testified that he heard Barnes swear at the fire inquest that he saw George Snowden running away from the fire just after it had started. At the trial yesterday Snowden swore positively that he was not on the property of Barnes at any time during the day of the fire.

Snowden's father stated that George had just recovered from a severe attack of inflammation and could merely walk. He also said that his son walked three-quarters of a mile that afternoon to a friend's place. This friend's name was Skerratt, and he lived about half a mile from Barnes' house. After he had been there about half an hour he noticed the smoke issuing from the prisoner's barn.

Alfred Snowden testified that he saw his brother about 1:30 on the afternoon of the fire, and that at about 1:45 he saw him go into Thomas Skerratt's house. The fire was discovered about 2:10.

Thomas Skerratt swore that he lived between Parkhill and Barnes' house. George Snowden came to his house walking at 2 or nearly 2 o'clock on the day of the fire from the direction of Parkhill. He went away about 4:30 that afternoon. Trial is still going on.

A Romance of Chelsea Village and East Hampton Town.

"I am thinking of your happiness, my dear," his mother said; "I trust I am not selfish. I could have wished, of course, that it had been some one who—some one whom I knew and loved, but——"

There lurked in this broken sentence an allusion that Randolph understood—an allusion to a cherished hope of his mother's. Perhaps he felt in some way guilty, for he made no direct reply, saying only:

"You will know Celia, mother, and you will love her. You cannot help it."

"I hope so," said the poor woman, with the best smile that she had for the occasion. "When shall I see her? Would it not be well for me to call on her mother?"

Randolph Wykoff went away from this interview with an easy mind and a heart filled with loving admiration of his mother. She was a wonderful woman, he thought, thus to combine feminine gentleness with masculine common-sense. How kindly and how wisely she had taken it! It did not come into his mind that in the course of that brief conversation he had been led to propose and to pledge himself to two things which he had never thought of before—first, that there should be no announcement of his engagement to Celia—no actual engagement, in fact—for a year to come; second, that the engagement should be of not less than a year's duration from the date of the announcement. These two ideas seemed to have been of his own conception. He knew, or he thought he knew, how much personal annoyance his marriage to Celia Leete would bring him. He had no desire to add to this annoyance, or be guilty of a precipitancy which he himself could not excuse. His world would be ill-spoken enough; it was not for him to justify unkind criticism. It came to him as the most natural thing imaginable that Celia Leete ought to be introduced to some of his friends, at least, as Celia Leete, before they knew her as his betrothed. And he could hardly get his present business off his hands and feel free to devote himself to a wife short of a year or two of hard work.

Three days later Mrs. Wykoff was sitting in the darkened front parlor of the Leete house on the hair-cloth sofa under the chromo of the "Old Oaken Bucket." On the opposite wall hung the ambrotype of Mrs. Leete's mother, taken at the age of eighty-seven. Mrs. Leete's mother showed a mouth that seemed to be simply a straight line where the lips turned in. What little hair she had hung in a large flat festoon on either side of her head. A broad lace collar covered her shoulders. It was fastened under the chin by a brooch of rast size, which was, in fact, a box with a glass front, designed, apparently, to contain specimens of the hair of deceased members of the wearer's family, after the depressing fashion of the days of ambrotypes and inchoate civilization. On the face of Mrs. Leete's mother was an expression of stern resolve. She was sitting for her picture, and she was sitting hard.

Mrs. Wykoff was gazing hopelessly at this monument of respectability when Mrs. Leete entered the room, red in the face from a hasty change of dress, and agitated by a nervousness the existence of which she would not have admitted to herself.

Why does your thoroughbred collie bark at the tramp or the peddler within your gates, and greet shabbiest gentlehood with a friendly wag of the tail? It is because there is a difference in human beings, just as there is in dogs, and the dogs know it. The human beings know it, too, although there are some who belie their knowledge—who, having learned that the rank is but the guinea's stamp and that the man's the gowd for a' that, go about trying to make themselves and others believe that there is no such thing as an alloy in the world, no counterfeit coin, no base metal.

Mrs. Leete was agitated even to her inmost spiritual recesses when she saw this handsome and well-dressed woman rise and come forward to meet her, with such an easy grace and dignity—with such a soft rustling of her black raiment. It was five minutes at least before the perfect tact that went with these outward and visible things had put the hostess at her ease.

After a little, Celia came shyly into the room, with cold hands and a pale face. Mrs. Wykoff's heart leaped in pleased surprise when she saw the girl of her son's choice. She kissed Celia almost with tenderness, and she felt a genuine thankfulness for the child's delicate beauty and her modest bearing. "I can understand it now," she thought, "and it is better than I had dared to hope."

But presently in came Mr. Leete, in his Sunday broadcloth, with a new collar making him very uncomfortable about the chin, and with him came Dorinda, red as to her bodice and black as to her skirts and wonderful as to the dressing of her hair, and all was not so well with Mrs. Wykoff.

Mrs. Wykoff's visit lasted scarcely an hour, yet, when she had gone, every member of the family except Celia felt that affairs wore a new and less pleasing aspect. There was no longer a delightful certainty about the prospective alliance of the Leetes to one of the oldest and wealthiest families in the country. Three days before, Randolph Wykoff had asked Mr. Leete for his daughter's hand, and the offer had been accepted with no longer hesitation than was absolutely demanded by the self-respect of the head of the house. Since then, all the family had lived in a rose-tinted dream. Now, Mrs. Wykoff's friendly, informal chat had somehow served to marshal before their eyes an array of hard, cold, unwelcome facts. How had it been done? They did not know. They could not blame Mrs. Wykoff; she had been amiability itself. Yet there were the facts, patent to all of them. Why, it was Mr. Leete himself who had advanced the idea that for two young people to talk of marriage after three months of acquaintance was simply absurd. It was he who had said that people—he did not perhaps know what people, but, in fact, people—would comment with justifiable severity upon such heedless haste. Certainly the suggestion that at least a year must elapse before the announcement of the engagement had come from him; and none of the house of Leete was sufficiently versed in the subtleties of polite diplomacy to inquire how the notion came to Mr. Leete.

It was Popper Leete, in very truth, that Mrs. Wykoff had directed her masked batteries, and with more effect than she suspected. She had touched lightly on Randolph's youth, his inexperience, his impulsive nature, and she had called attention to the undeniable truth that young men do not always know their own minds. Mr. Leete had taken the hint, and to his mind it had an exaggerated significance.

"I d'no but what she's right," he said to his wife; "mebbe we've been too easy about saying 'yes.' She's a business woman, and she's got a good, sound head. Folks useter say that John Wykoff and his wife was as good a business firm as there was in town. Now, she knows this young feller, an' what do we know about him? Nothin', when you come right down to it. We don't know what his ideas are, or what sort of a man he is, anyway. We don't know how he spends his evenin's, or what he does with himself when we don't see him. Now, s'pose he was only foolin' with Celia, and was to get tired of her an' skip out to Europe, some day eruther? We can't tell. S'pose he was to marry her and then turn out bad? Look at the way them Newport folks are all the time gittin' divorced an' bein' shown up in the noozpapers. How do we know but what he's been a-makin' up to a dozen girls over there in Europe. Now, really, we don't know much more about that young man than if he was a European himself."

"Oh, Popper Leete," remonstrated his wife, "'tain't so bad as that!"

There are plenty of married couples in the world who can lay their hands on their twain hearts and unanimously declare that the time of their betrothal was the happiest times of their lives. There are other people, however, who can honestly say that they were never more uncomfortable and generally miserable than they were in the No Man's Land through which civilized matrimony must be approached.

Perhaps the months or years of engagement may be enjoyable to those who enter upon their contract in a business-like and practical spirit, or to those easy-going mortals who take their love on trial, much as they might take a type-writer or a patent lamp. But to two young people dreadfully in love and dreadfully in earnest, this stretch of time is like the trying pause when the soldier on the battle-field waits for the order to advance.

The woman's position is certainly doubtful and disagreeable. She belongs neither to her parents nor to her betrothed—not even to herself. Hers is the proud prerogative of deciding between blue and pink for the dining-room paper, between script and old English for the engraving on the spoons—while, perhaps, her former owners and her future owner are settling on a religion for her and for her children in posse.

In Plain English!

Unquestionably considered of incalculable consequence in correcting all constitutional contaminations, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Can conscientiously commend it to careful consideration confident of its competency in all controllable chronic complaints.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the result of much research and wide experience by a practical physician of world-renown; its formula embraces the most potent restoratives of the whole vegetable kingdom. It is especially recommended for all blood disorders—dyspepsia, liver and kidney complaints, scrofula, saltrhuem, catarrh and consumption—in its early stages—insuring relief and cure in all cases!

Gently expressed—Waiter, please take this cheese away again. It is too uneasy for me.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Affections once firmly set are generally tenacious, no matter what the object may be. To this fact the success of H. McKay & Co., of this city, is largely due. Those who have tried their Norma cigars never forsake them, and thus the firm retains all their old customers, and by the reputation only of the goods add new ones to the roll. For excellence the Norma at 10 cents is superlative.
