British and Russian Squadrons Watching Each Other.

Lord Neville's Appearance at the Bow Street Station.

Canada Ranks Seventh as a Butter Exporter to the British Market.

CANADA'S BUTTER ON THE BRIT-ISH MARKET. London, Jan. 25.—Canada is entitled to the honor of ranking seventh as a butter exporter to the British market. In 1894 the Dominion exported to England 20,887 cwts, and in 1897 109,402 cwts. Canada, since 1894, supplied 50.4 per cent of the cheese imported by England, the percentage for 1897 being 58.6 or 1,626,654 cwts. The cheese is of excellent quality, securing almost three-fifths of England's entire trade. WATCHING EACH OTHER. London, Jan. 25.-A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Nagasaki, Japan, says: "The British and Russian squadron's are strictly watching each other's movements. When the British battleship Centurion, flagship of the squadron, left Nagasaki yesterday (Sunday) she was shadowed by the Russian gunboat Sivootch. The Japanese fleet is still at Yokosuka, but is expected to sail shortly for Wei Hai Wei. No serious developments are looked for. ALGIERS QUIET. Paris, Jan. 25.-A dispatch received from Algiers says that at 11 o'clock last night perfect tranquility prevailed. The streets have been cleared, and were held by the troops. Altogether, hundred arrests have been made and one hundred persons are to be put on trial. M. Jaures received a dispatch from Algiers saying that the town was in flames, and that a hundred Jews had been killed. He doubted the authenticity of the message, the signathe government has had no information of anything so serious.

FUTURE OF KIAO CHAU. London, Jan. 25 .- The Times says, editorially: "We are glad to learn from various trustworthy sources that the rumors of Germany's intention to open Kiao Chau to the world's commerce are well founded. If this decision is maintained, Kiao Chau will probable become a great, busy and flourishing entrepot of the world's trade—a northern Hong Kong. The wisdom of the decision cannot be doubted. It will tend to improve the unnecessarily strained relations between England and Germany. It is to be noped that other nations will follow Germany's example, and that the far eastern question may thereby be greatly simplified." THE AGITATION IN PARIS. Paris, Jan. 25.—The military club was guarded yesterday by the police, who were also stationed within the Palais Bourbon (Chamber of Deputies), while a reserve force of 100 policemen was drawn up in the court yard of the ministry for foreign affairs. There was another body of police in the garden of the Tuilleries and a detachment of the Republican Guard was stationed in the court yards of the ministry of marine. There were big crowds of people in the neighborhood of the Chamber of Deputies. There was an anti-Hebrew riot at St. Malo. The mob smashed the windows of the business houses belong-

Suddenly Comte de Bernis bounded up the stairs of the tribune on all fours like an animal, dealt M. Jaures a heavy blow on the back of the head and kicked him on the legs. M. Jaures was knocked over and stumbled down the steps. Picking himself up he saw Comte de Bernis making off with a crowd of deputies while the remainder of the house hooted him, crying "Coward" and "Traitor." M. Jaures threw a knotted handkerchief after him.

Court. London, Jan. 25.-Lord William Nerille, son of the Marquis of Abergavenny, who was arrested yesterday, after being confined in an ordinary cell at the Bow street police station, was brought up in the extradition court at Bow street. He fidgeted uneasily, and seemed on the point of breaking down in tears. Mr. Horace Avery prosecuted in behalf of the treasury and Sir George Lewis appeared for the defense. Mr. Avery read the charges, which were practically a repetition of the testimony presented during the re-promissory notes signed by Mr. Clay, whose signature is alleged to have been obtained by Lord Neville through fraudulent misrepresentations. Counsel added that Mr. Clay's statement made at that time remains uncontradicted, Lord Neville failing to appear. Sir Ceorge Lewis interrupted Mr. Avery at this point, remarking: could he when he was not called? He was willing and eager to testify." Mr. Avery contended that the offense amounted to forgery, and asserted that it was a case of deliberate and gross fraud perpetrated by the prisoner on a youth sixteen years his junior. Mr. Clay identified the notes and letters.

Before the adjournment Sir George
Lewis insisted upon making a statement. He said that in the Clay trial Lord Neville was not called. Now he would be put in the dock after a long illness. Continuing, Sir George Lewis remarked that Lord Neville, when he heard the prosecutor intended to institute proceedings against him, and at the earliest intimation of these pro-ceedings he hurried back to England and surrendered. Counsel for Lord Neville demanded that the case be heard, and intended to "fight it out at the earliest possible moment." hearing of the case was adjourned for a week, the prisoner being admitted to ball in £2.000 furnished by his brother Henry and his brother-in-law, Lieut .-Col. Hon. Charles Garthon Pardy, son of the first Earl of Cranbrook. The actual charge against Lord Neville is having procured the signature of Spen-cer Clay to two notes for £8,000 and £3,000 respectively by false representations relative to the nature of the documents signed by Mr. Clay, who corroborated the statements made by Mr. Avery.

HON.GEORGE W. ROSS AT BARRIE. Barrie, Jan. 26.-The first public utterance of the minister of education since the prorogation of the legislature gave to the meeting here last night, to promote the candidature of Mr. David Davidson, more than a local interest. The new Grand Opera House was crowded. The close attention with issues, if they can be dignified by that name, upon which the campaign is being fought out. The crowd, which was not all of one political faith, gave frequent and vigorous expression ments advanced by the minister in justification of the claim that the Hardy government is entitled to a continuance of public confidence. Mr. Ross devoted an effective portion fact that the opposition, while loudly clamoring for a change, have not challenged the legislative policy of the government on the most important questions that have been dealt with, by proposing to substitute anything in its

SIR OLIVER'S ESCAPE.

The Lieutenant-Governor Nearly Struck by a Runaway Team.

Toronto, Jan. 25.-Mr. W. L. Ramsay, assistant police court clerk, had a very narrow escape yesterday afternoon while riding his bicycle. He was proceeding along Queen street west, and just as he reached Simcoe street a runaway team coming down that street dashed across Queen street. The whole thing was so sudden and unexpected that Mr. Ramsay was unable to get out of the way and he was sent flying to the other side of the roadway. Much to his own surprise he sustained no injury beyond a bad shaking up, but his '94 bicycle, strong as it was, was pretty badly twisted and warped. The lieutenant-governor, Sir Oliver Mowat, who was passing at the time, also had a narrow escape, for, according to Mr. Ramsay, he had to "handle himself like a four-year-old in getting out of the way." This fact seemed to atone for all the trouble and the injuries Mr. Ramsay had suffered, for n telling the circumstances afterwards he appeared to be overjoyed at Sir Oliver's escape, and astonished at the activity he displayed. Steamship Arrivals.

Handles Tammany Cash. Collects Millions and Gives No Chieftains Who Took the Position Poor, Now Rich-Croker Again Assumes the Coveted Position. New York, Jan.25.—The Herald says: Few people have any idea of the the vast possibilities of the man who occupies the position of chairman of Tammany's finance committee, which position Mr. Richard Croker has just apportioned to himself because he could not trust the former occupant of the position, John C. Sheehan. The chairmanship of the finance committee carries with it the leadership of Tammany. With the democracy in control of the government, it is a place of more importance, so far as power and profit are concerned, than any office in the city, including the mayoralty. Through the control of the Tammany machinery William M. Tweed accumulated a great fortune. John Kelly, who followed him, found no difficulty in obtaining a competency. When Mr. Croker took hold, in 1885, he was a poor man. He left the chairmanship on May 19, 1894, the possessor of wealth which was reckoned at more than $1,000,000, and which enabled him to indulge on a large scale in one of the most costly forms of amusementracing. John C. Sheehan, who had come from Buffalo a poor man, was placed in the chair which Mr. Croker's retirement left vacant. It is understood among his friends that today he is able to draw his check for $500,000, and that the check would be honored. No accounting is ever made by the chairman of the finance committee of what is done with the money which passes through his hands. The fact that Mr. Croker, through the Tammany executive committee, gave away $40,000 of campaign funds to the Cubans and to the poor after the last election showed how successful his efforts as ! money getter had been The dictatorship of Tammany which the finance chairmanship carries with it opens numerous opportunities for profitable investment to the man who must be obeyed. He is able to direct he action of Tammany members of the legislature, which is an important power from many points of view. He exercises a similar control over the municipal assembly. He knows in advance where the city is going to make improvements and thus increase the value of private property. He is able to predict what the policy of the city is to be in regard to important enterprises. The rapid rise in the securities of existing transportation corporations following the practical veto of the underground rapid transit plans was an illustration of how valuable Mr. Croker, having held the position

A Bogus Mason Sent to the Penitentiary.

After Traveling "Dead Head" All Over the World and Obtaining $20,000

by Fraud.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 25. - George Fleming, who has just been convicted and sent to the state penitentiary at Walla Walla, to serve two and a half years for obtaining money under false pretenses, has made a confession, which, if were not corroborated by more than 100 letters from different

Masonic lodges in the United States and Canada, would be received with incredulity. Fleming is a bogus Mason, yet so skillfully has he applied himself that he has been accredited by past grand masters with his knowledge of Masonry. By his own admission he lived for years on money borrowed under false pretenses from Masons, in amounts varying from $10 to several hundred, or, as he told ex-Sheriff Van De Venter, "according to their circumstances and times." The total amount of money thus obtained will probably reach $20,000; but he has borrowed so much that he does not pretend to recite all the instances. He has traveled all over the world, and never spent a cent for railroad or other transportation. He has so many aliases that he cannot name them. He was known in Mississippi as Prof. Willey; in Kentucky as Alexander Craig; in Pennsylvania as William Bell; in Cincinnati and Chicago as Charles Wilson; in St. Louis as William Mays. In Paris he claims to have met and dined with the Prince of Wales and President Dudley Ward. For dessert he borrowed $150 from the prince on the strength of Masonry. In Madrid he worked Hannis Taylor for free transportation to the rock of Gibraltar by

The record for 1897 is unprecedented in the history of Canada. The total exports and imports entered for consumption reached the enormous total of $271,501,-000, compared with $219,386,000 in the calendar year 1896, or an increase of over $52,000,000. BASEBALL affalo, Jan. 25.—There was a meeting here resterday of members of the | pletaly."

Eastern and Western baseball leagues The members of the Eastern Leagues The members of the Eastern Leagues. The members of the Eastern League convened in executive session for the purpose of ratifying the purchase of the Scranton franchise and its transfer to Rochester. The question of the Wilkesbarre franchise and other important matters will convent the state. portant matters will occupy the atten-tion of the members.

President Powers appointed the committee who will meet the westerners. He stated that the principal work was to make some sort of an arrangement whereby there should be no friction between the two leagues. He said: "One of the great evils at this time is the fight for higher salaries and the bidding that is indulged in between the leagues. For instance, if there is some player disengaged, and we offer him $200 a month, he will say: 'No, I can get $300 in the Western.' That is the sort of bidding we do not want. Then the drafting evil has to be done away with. If we have a player whom one of the Western clubs want, the club will make an offer of $500 for his release. Well, perhaps they could not draft him and we would not sell for $1,000. Now, if that club has power and friends in the National League, we soon learn that our player has been drafted into one of the big clubs, and after a time is transferred to the Western club. Reports to the contrary, notwithstanding, t is absolutely certain that Wilkesbarre will remain in the Eastern League. Manager Shannon said: "Perhaps you will be surprised to learn that we are the richest club in the league, and our franchise is not for sale." It seems that the magnates are figuring on a tenclub league. To the present eight may be added Newark and Hartford. In the afternoon President Powers announced that the only business of interest that was transacted was ratification of the sale of the Scranton franchise to Charles D. White, who will place a team in Rochester. At the conference between the Eastern and Western League delegates it was agreed to make a salary limit of the manager is a player these figures may be increased to $2,125. It was decided to petition the National League not to adopt the proposed amendment to the drafting resolutions, which provides that a National League club may have 30 days in which to try a player before finally accepting him. As the managers of the Wilkesbarre club showed conclusively that it was financially able to maintain its position in the league, it was decided to continue as an eight-club league, with Syracuse, Providence, Wilkesbarre, Springfield, Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto and Mon-

ATHLETICS BOXING MATCH AT TORONTO. Toronto, Jan. 25.—There was a large audience at the Auditorium Saturday night to witness the boxing match between Tommy Dixon, of Rochester, and Eddie Santry, of Chicago, for twenty rounds. Dixon fought very hard and showed great pluck, but was clearly sed, though neither man was much the worse for the tussle when it was over. During the last few rounds the big fellow pushed Dixon all over the ring, but Dixon was smart and dapper, and he saved himself by clinches. The referee gave the decision to Santry at the end of the 20th round. The contest was under the auspices of the Toronto Rowing Club, and was won on points.

Aurora, Jan. 25 .- Dear Sir: The article published a few days ago relating to the recovery of Rev. F. Elliott, of Richmond Hill, has been discussed at length in this town. It states facts similar to those of many cases here, all of which are well known to our citi-It is refreshing to find such a prom-

Mr. Elliott taking so pronounced a step as he has done, in publicly recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills. His experience with this wonderful medicine is exactly similar to that of Aurora people. There is no medicine to be pro-cured that can approach Dodd's Kidney Pills, which never fail to cure. Bright's Disease and Diabetes, ong said to be incurable, are cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills as easily as a ouff of wind blows out a candle flame. They have been used in this town by scores of people who were given up to die, by their doctors, and who surprised and delighted their friends by their rapid and thorough recovery, after having used these heaven-sent pills. There is no medicine on earth that can compare with Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Heart Disease, Paralysis, Gout, Gravel, Stone in Bladder, Urinary Troubles, Blood Impurities, Female Weaknesses, and all other Kidney Diseases. The pills are simply infallible in these ailments.

It is the duty of every man to lighten the sufferings of his fellows as much as possible, and for that reason, I write this to proclaim to all victims of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and any of the other Kidney Diseases I have named, that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them as certainly as night follows day, if they are given a chance. All sufferers can get Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug store. They cost only 50 cents a box, six boxes $2 50, on receipt of which price they will be sent by The Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto. Yours, etc., HUMANITY.

Near the close of last night's session of the City Council, Ald. Greenlees arose and said he had a few questions to ask Ald. Douglass. REMOVING TO LONDON. Messrs. George White & Sons' Company (Limited), of this city, wrote, stating that they intended purchasing the business of Macpherson & Co., Fingal, and desired to remove it to London. This would double their staff of workmen, increase the size of the premises, and entail a large investment. The Messrs. Macpherson, the letter continued, had been offered large inducements to go elsewhere, and they (White & Sons) would have to pay a large amount for their goodwill. They (White & Sons) asked the same concessions as if Macpheron & Co. had moved their buiness to London.

call a special meeting this week to discuss the matter with the Messrs. White. NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE. Ald. Taylor read the report of No. 3 committee, which was unimportant. W.

Graham, moved that 300 cords of stone be procured, to be broken by hand, in addition to that broken by the crusher. He said the amount spent would be saved in charity.

Ald. Carrothers said it would cost $2,100 to break 300 cords by hand, and $1,125 to break the same quantity by the crusher. It would provide just as much work to break 600 cords by steam as 300 by hand, and the cost would be

London, Tuesday, January 25, 1898. Elected by Acclamation. A bye-election for the Dominion

House of Commons took place in Quebec city yesterday. The vacancy was caused by the elevation to the Supreme Court bench of the province of Hon. Francois Langelier, an old and respected member of Parliament. Mr. A. Malouin, a prominent Liberal, was the only candidate nominated, and he was declared elected by acclamation.

The result proves how much reliance can be put on Opposition claims that demoralization has seized the Liberal party, and that the people but wait a chance to reverse their verdict of June 23, 1.96. Here was a division of the historic city in which, according to the veracious newspaper correspondents, the Government forces have for months been hopelessly divided, yet the moment a vacancy is caused, and an opportunity is presented for a contest, the Opposition forces are nowhere, while the supporters of the Government so forward united to victory.

Quebec Center is no exception to the general rule. There have now been 28 bye-elections for the Dominion since the general contest of June 23, 1896, and in 26 of these the Liberals were victorlous. The contests were confined to no one province, but have been held in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and the Northwest.

There is no recesssion from the position taken up by the country eighteen months ago, and there are many indications that the people of Ontario will also stand fast for the best government which this province has ever possessed when the day of polling arrives, This is indeed a Liberal era.

Sir Charles Tupper keeps on telling those who listen to him that the Laurier Administration is the most unpopular of the age, while the electors, at every opportunity, continue to give it their support by their votes. The latest instance is Quebec Center, where no Conservatie candidate was put up, and the Liberal was returned by acclama-

man who has traveled much, and is therefore in a position to take a wide riew of the trend of events. His recent article in the Revue de Paris is comment upon passages in book by M. Pierre Leroy It is a luminous compendium of the British imperial situation at the end of the 60th year of the Victorian era, and an appendix to that "Greater Britain" which was the prophetic expression of this far-seeing writer nearly 30 years ago. Sir Charles Dilke begins by reminding France that, whether rightly or wrongly, she stands after Greater Britain as the chief among the European powers who have made great sacrifices to found an empire beyond the seas. The question then remains whether France is still to be imitative, or whether the conviction gains ground that the British Colonial Empire has only given her a trifling increase of strength. The writer at once proves that the military force represented in view of war is incontestable, though at present the war organization is wanting. On the other hand, the British fleet is the real safeguard of the much-talked-of diffuseness of the empire against any probable adversary. Australia and New Zealand would probably be in a position to attack whilst this maritime supremacy is assured. In other words, the naval basis of Great Britain is amply safeguarded. Sir Charles Dilke is convinced that the best colonies are that cost little or nothing. In support of this he might have instanced the Dominion of Canada, which, while it costs the empire little expenditure of public money, has done a great deal for the consolidation of British interests. Canada, for example, has built a transcontinental railway, at her own expense, which is invaluable as an alternate route to the east. She has built and maintained the intercolonial railway, as a cementing egency for British interests on this continent. In her own interests, as well as centributing to the naval supremacy of Great Britain, it may be possible for Canada to do something more without imposing undue burdens on the people. The reasonable fortification of our seaboard cities has been spoken of as one means of doing our fair share towards helping the Motherland in preserving the interests in which all parts of the support, and it doesn't make both ends ter died some years ago. must be left to our rulers.

The unity of the British Empire, Sir Charles Dilke holds, is preserved by its contiguity, and by a robust sentiment which is far above all theories of federation. A British "zollverein," he says, is not contemplated. The present ideal must be a defensive and close union of Great Britain, founded on freely contracted engagements. The passages referring to the prodigious diversity of the British colonies when compared to the wooden and too similar groups of half-banished citizens from Germany and France, will, a Paris correspondent informs us, be highly instructive to the militant colonials of the stomach, and instead of being a both countries. The writer is replying to M. Leroy Beaulieu, who is a travelVegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct

The San Jose Scale.

With the threatened destruction by the terrible San Jose scale of the pleasant prospect of Ontario fruit-apples, peaches, plums, pears and grapesgaining a market in the British Isles and other European countries, and even rivaling the value of the cheese product of the Province, the prompt and vigorous measures to fight this insect invader taken by the Hon. John Dryden, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, are other evidences, if that were needed, of the wisdom which marked the selection by Sir Oliver Mowat when Premier of the Government, to which he is now her Majesty's representative, of a practical farmer as the responsible head of a department having to do with the greatest industry in the country.

Under authority conferred by the Legislature, the Minister of Agriculture already has inspectors at work in the nurseries and orchards of the districts where the scale has got a start, and it is being thoroughly stamped out. How serious a matter dealing with this dangerous microscopical pest is may be understood when it is learned that not only all kinds of fruit trees, shrubs and bushes are subject to destruction by the scale, but all hard wood growths in our forests as well may be ruined. The enormous loss suffered in the seventeen states of the neighboring republic, where the scale is ravaging, is but a measure of what this Province will escape by the Government's admirable action Appropriate in this connection is the following extract from an interview with Mr. Albert Pay, proprietor of the Prospect Hill fruit farm, near St. Catharines, Ont .: "My politics are opposed to the Government of Ontario," said Mr. Pay, "but I must say that in Mr. Dryden the present administration has a most competent man. When he asked me to come to Toronto to look over his bill, I, and those with me, expected to find that we were necessary to the perfection of that bill. But we were not. The bill had been drafted, and was submitted to us for our approval. We found the ground fully covered and instead, of teaching the Minister how to preserve the fruit, we found ourselves listening to Mr. Dryden's plans. It would be impossible to find a more capable Minister of Agriculture in the Province. We were delighted with him.

"It is the Government's intention," continued Mr. Pay, "to destroy, or cause to be destroyed, every fruit tree that is known to be infected with the San Jose scale. It is believed that the pest was brought into Canada from United States nurseries, and it has become so fatal to the fruit trees that extreme measures are necessary. The bill provides for compensation to an amount which will enable the grower to replace the trees without expense to himself, and the penalty for neglecting to destroy infected trees is such as to induce every owner of an orchard to see that the law is carried out. When the infected trees are destroyed we can then start over again under a new law providing for the rigid inspection of all imported nursery stock and the exclusion of trees affected by the scale."

In past election contests, seats have been lost to the Government through over-confidence. It is no comfort to anyone, after election day, to sit down and count how victory could have been achieved if reasonable forethought had been exercised. Nowhere should the Liberals be over-confident. We know here on Saturday night. it is a failing they have, but it can easily be avoided.

Scheme to Cover the Distance by Electrie Railway in an Hour.

New York, Jan. 25.-The Journal and Advertiser today says: "One hour to Philadelphia on an electric railroad from Jersey City is the latest project of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The controling stockholders of the Jersey Central will furnish the bulk of capital for the new venture, and the Jersey Central tracks will be used the greater part of the way. The road will be extended over the meadows of Newark, and by the use of the Jersey Central tracks part of the way, and new tracks where a shorter route can be built, the line will be extended through Trenton to Philadelphia. The third-rail Watkins alternating system will be used, whereby a speed of more than 80 miles an hour can be attained. The principal difficulty with the electric third-rail system along surface roads lies in the danger to life from the highly charged electric rail. This difficulty has been overcome by a late improvement, which leaves the rail charged with electricity only when the car is passing over it. This invention also permits the power to be utilized for 300 miles instead of 15 miles as

Richard Croker's Brother Starts a Far Reaching Strike.

New York, Jan. 25 .- The action er, manager of the Cork and South Coast Railway, in arbitrarily dismissing a signalman has provoked a strike which threatens to spread throughout all Irish railways, says the Dublin correspondent of the World. The men allege the signalman was dismissed solely because he had taken a prominent part recently in laying grievances before Manager Croker. They went on a strike at an hour's notice. The employes of other Irish railways have given notice that they will strike rather than handle any goods coming by Croker's road, unless the signalman is reinstated. Manager Croker is noted among Irish railroad men as the hardest and most domineering of taskmasters. He is always in more or less trouble with

TWENTY STABLES BURNED. Destructive Blaze in the West York

Exhibition Grounds. Woodbridge, Ont., Jan. 25 .- Fire yesterday destroyed twenty of the stables pelonging to the West York and Vaughan Agricultural Society, and the large poultry house and banquet hall erected last year narrowly escaped destruction. The fire was discovered at 9:15, and in 30 minutes the whole of the stables were burned to the ground. There was no water near at hand, and the fire engine could not be used. A bucket brigade was formed, however, which poured water into the large hall which adjoins the stables, and, although it had caught fire several times they succeeded in saving the building. It is not known how the fire origin

NOT LONG PARTED. Chatham, Jan. 25 .- A very sudden death was that of Moses Bechard, one of the best-known residents of Dover, residing on con. 6. The late gentleman's wife was buried Sunday, and the blow was too much for him. He took sick two hours before his wife's funeral and did not recover.

SUDDEN DEATH. Hamilton, Jan. 25 .- On Saturday afternoon Jeremiah Donovan, a molder, died very suddenly at the Delmonico Hotel, John street, where he boarded. He left the hotel in the morning and returned shortly after noon, under the influence of liquor, and lay down to sleep near the closet of the cellar. He was carried upstairs and made comfortable. About an hour later Mr. A. Daly, the proprietor, went and looked at him, and discovered that he was dead. Dr. Balfe expressed the opinion that apoplexy was the cause of death. Coroner Woolverton deemed an inquest necessary, however. Deceased was about 55 years of age and was a very

At Least Five Lives Lost and $400,000 Worth of Property Destroyed-Thrilling Rescue.

Washington, Jan. 25 .- A fire, in which the loss will run up to $400,000 worth of property, and at the very least five lives were lost, took place last night. The Great Eastern block, at the corner of Post street and Riverside avenue, six stories in height, and constructed of brick, caught fire about 11:40 p.m., and in three hours was total-

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY LIVES IN PERIL All of the upper two floors and part of the third floor were used for lodging purposes, and at least 150 people were asleep in the building when the fire started. While most of them escaped with only their clothes, it is thought a number perished. The last out of the upper stories reports forms lying in the halls and

WOMEN SHRIEKING IN THE FLAMES. The origin of the fire is supposed to heard an explosion shortly before the flames appeared. The Great Eastern block was built in 1890 at a cost of $250,000, and was owned by Louis Levinski, of San Francisco, who carried but $50,000 worth of insurance. A FATAL LEAP. Because of the network of wires surrounding the building it was with the utmost difficulty that ladders were elevated. While they were going up the people were at the windows, flames and smoke bursting out about them. The crowds of people on the streets below shricked in sympathy with them.

Mrs. H. A. G. Davies, of Nebraska City, Neb., fell or jumped from a fifth story window. She died at the Sacred Heart Hospital two hours later.

A THRILLING RESCUE was that of Robert Mason, his wife and their two-year-old son from the fifth floor on the Post street side. From a

000 Bushels of Wheat,

Refusing Six Cents a Bushels Advance, or a Profit of $465,000.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Covetous of Joseph Leiter's vast accumulations of raw material for bread, emissaries of foreign financial powers are besieging the young Napoleon of the wheat pit, holding before his eyes alluring checks with long-drawn-out rows of figures in the left-hand corner to induce him to let go his holdings. Thus far Mr. Leiter's grasp has but closed the tighter, and On the Bartender of the Tomlinson fused to "give down." The money of-fered he has not considered "as good as wheat."

One of the most ardent of the would-be buyers is Mr. Rappaport, agent for the well-known Paris house of Dreyfus & Co., who is now in the city. Two days ago he is said to have offered Mr. Leiter an advance of 6 cents for the entire contents of his overflowing granaries over the average price of 86 cents, which it is understood was paid. This offer was declined, and Mr. Rappaport is said to be drawing a deep inspiration for a new proposition.

WHEAT CORNER CONTEMPLATED. The fact that Mr. Rappaport is a son-in-law of Baron Rethschild is believed by some to be significant. It is thought that while Dreyfus & Co. are able to undertake a deal of this magnitude on their own account, it is not unlikely that the Rothschilds are backing it, and that an unexampled corner in wheat is in contemplation. If the offer of a 6 cent advance had been accepted, Mr. Leiter would have made a modest profit of $465,000 on his present stock, which is estimated at 7,750,000 bushels. On the authority of L. Z. Leiter, this offer is said to have been more than doubled, from which it appears that a clear million is considered by Joseph Leiter to be an in AMERICA'S BEST DOCTORS Say Dodd's Ridney Pills Are the Only Cure for Bright's Disease.

Ingersoll, Jan. 24.—Only a couple of weeks ago, the remarkable recovery of farmer G. J. Cook from Kidney Distribution of Doddies through the second of the ease, through the agency of Dodd's Kidney Pills, was reported. Now the whole town is talking of a yet more extraordinary cure by that od-sent medicine.

Michael Sherlock was cured of kidney and bladder disease of five years' standing by a short course of treatment with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and makes public statement of his case.

The most eminent physicians on the continent now pronounce Dodd's Kidney Pills the one and only sure, unfailing cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Disease and all other kidney and blood disorders.

If they do not choose to contribute, the mayor says the $70,000 voted by the ratepayers will be spent according to the plans approved. The county will then be upon the same footing as at present, paying so much per patient.

A fund of nearly $2,500 is in the hands of the ladies who promoted the idea of a children's pavilion at the hospital. The city hall fair netted about $1,400; and the collections in the schools and the grant by the jubilee committee made up the balance. It is for the ladies to say when and how they will dispose of the money. The have been in the engine room. The advocates may raise more by a canvas for funds or may rely on the council to aid them. At any rate the money will be applied to a good purpose.

The breach in the Conservative ranks of the school board has been healed. Dr. Teasdall has suppressed his ambition to the chairmanship, and unless the party machinery breaks down, Trustee J. M. Logan will get the honor.

Ald. Douglass' plea that Frank Chrysler has been laid off "for a certain length of time" in order to "divide the work" is, to say the least, disingenuous. Such a plea might be made for the regular corporation laborers, but Chrysler was in a different class. His position, though a humble, was a permanent one, as much as that of any other city official. The irregular mode of his dismissal was the more glaring because the board of works was not even consulted by its chair-

At present there is nearly $1,500 in the hands of the Jubilee Hospital Company. Of this, $1,000 is the amount raised at the jubilee celebration in June; the remainder is private subscription. The $1,000 will have to be transferred to the city, and will probably be applied to the new hospital expenditure. 1. Joseph Smith has not been mar-

The facts are that Mr. Smith has been acquainted with Miss Clark for years. His visit to Toronto was not only "about six weeks ago," but in October.

ANOTHER NATIVE WAR.

London, Jan. 25.—The presidential election in the Transvaal is being watched here with a considerable amount of interest, not only on account of the vast British interests that exist in the Transvaal, but likewise because there is every indication of the fact that Great Britain is on the eve of another big native war in South Africa, a war compared with which all those that have taken place until now will appear mere child's play. It is the Basutos who are about to rise, and as they are the finest light cavalry fighters in the world, are well mounted, well armed, and are able to put between 20,000 and 30,000 warriors into the field, a large British force will be required to reduce them to subjection. Nor is it the Basutos alone who are likely to cause trouble in the near future. From mistaken notions of philanthropy the government has authorized the repatriation of Dinazulu and other exiled Zulu chiefs. Now Dinazulu is Cetewayo's son and heir, He is the hereditary head of the Usalu tribe, which is the ruling clan of the warlike Zulu nation, and the Zulus on the gold fields openly declare that there will be fighting against the English the moment that Dinazulu returns. It may be added that Dinazulu has always been a great friend of the Boers, and may rely on receiving their secret or public support in the event of his fulfilling the wishes of his clansmen and countrymen by going to war with England.

"Even if you decline to remunerate me for this useful information, Miss Craven," he said insinuatingly, "I shall still tell you. He has done worse than that to spite me, and my turn has come now. He has done worse than this to hundreds of people. If it had been only me he had injured I would have been silent, but it is hundreds more, and so my duty is to bring him to justice." do not wish to hear any of this,"

said Honore, Indifferently, as it seemed; "it has no effect upon me at all." But still she sat quietly to listen, and Bickerton Slimp could not read the agonizing effort it cost her to hear, and-above all-to discredit what he said about her old guardian. "Even if I did not betray his hidingplace," resumed Mr. Haughton's wouldbe partner, "it would be discovered soon, and he'd be hunted out. He isn't used to making himself scarce at a moment's notice, and taking different characters on different emergencies, as some are. There'll be plenty after him, too—mad as bloodhounds when they know what he's done. No, there's no doubt about his being soon taken, but thought it right to warn you first, Miss Craven, because if you wish your

One poor widow thinks she has bought, through him, the house she lives in, while it really belongs to a wealthy builder in Kinbury-for Mr. Haughton suppressed one set of deeds and supplied another. He has overdrawn his banking account and borrowed money which is due. No, there can be no help for him, although his credit in Kinbury and the neighborhood is so good that the crash may not occur just yet; may not, I say, unless I take the matter in my own hands. Mr. Slimp made an effort to regain the ground he had lost by this one too daring step. Cunningly, long ago, he had discovered both the one passion of his master's life, and the indifference with which it had been treated by his ward; and, judging by his own contemptible feelings, he had imagined that Honore might rejoice over an opportunity of repaying her old guardian for the persecution she had suffered at his hands. But this feeling could only last one minute, and he knew that it had been injurious to his cause. Still, he could regain his ground, he fancied, and it was an unctuous satisfaction to lengthen his confidence against his erstwhile master. There was, too, the novelty of truth in so many of these cheering disclosures of fraud and duplicity. But he hurried now over the information, as if he feared its being still more summarily cut short. He might well fear. Honore had heard the one thing she wished to hear, and now no heed was paid to any fur-

"I will think of what you tell me," said Honore, quite coldly, though she was actually trembling in her fear of this man in his treachery; "I will see you again.' The fear, so proudly battled with, took the form in Mr. Slimp's eyes of a new courage, and he gazed in servile admiration on the girl's beautiful, easy figure, now that she seemed to understand him at last.

"In the meantime pray fix your own price"—the word was uttered in the very refinement of scorn, and Honore's eyes swept over the narrow form of the little traitor before her-"for secrecy, and I will purchase it from youif your terms suit me." you, Miss Craven, a thousand pounds is scarcely worth speaking of;

therefore, you would not, I hope, think a thousand pounds---"To effect my purpose," said Honore, quietly, while she raised her eyes fully to his crafty face, "one thousand pounds would be too little. Make your own terms, and I will see you here at this hour tomorrow." An expression of immense self-satisfaction settled in Mr. Slimp's face. He could afford now to be confidential even on an almost extraneous subject. "If poor Mr. Haughton's last move * had not so signally failed him, Miss Craven," he began, in a tone for which she could have annihilated him where he stood, "the old and well-established name and business would have been saved, and his present difficulties never made public; but that last move did fail, and he himself had no power of getting out of his present scrape. He felt so very certain of the identity of Mr. Keith, of Westleigh Towers, with the man who murdered Squire Myddelton, of Abbotsmoor, eleven years ago, that, even with the only very slight and presumptive evidence which he was able to amass during almost two years of search and inquiry, he went in person to inform Mr. Keith that the whole proof was in his own hands, and that he would at once give him over to the law as the condemned and escaped criminal, Gabriel Myddelton, unless he chose to buy his immunity-you understand, Miss Craven? That move, as I said, most signally failed; for-a humiliating fact which we first learned interview-the innocence of Gabriel Myddelton is now legally established; and I myself saw the documents proving it. The words all entered Honore's ears with a clear and almost appalling distinctness, and her heart was wildly beating; yet she stood there utterly unmoved until he departed, with an impressive reiteration of his intention to be at her service next day at that hour. But the silence and the stillness left her when he left her. She moved softly and restlessly about the great silent room, repeating to herself those words which seemed to mean so much. "Not guilty! Gabriel's innocence! Not Gabriel-not Gabriel! Dying! And this crushing weight upon her? Was fear for Lawrence, or-for whom? Had it fallen upon her when she heard of her guardian's crimes or of Gabriel's innocence, or of that interview which one of Gabriel's cousins had had with the man on whom he laid se foul a charge?

Ill-health in man is almost invariably the result of disorders of the digestive and nutritive organs. Little Honey.

The Allurements That Trap the Unwary-Rev. Dr. Talmage's Sermon.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.-Dr. Talmage draws practical lessons as to the allurements which entrap the unwary. The text is I. Samuel, xiv., 43: "I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod that was in my hand, and, lo, I must die."

The honey-bee is a most ingenious architect, a Christopner Wren among insects, a freebooter robbing the fields of pollen and aroma, wondrous creature of God, whose biography, written by Huber and Swammerdam, is an en-chantment for any lover of nature, and whose product is an oft-used Bible symbol. A miracle of formation is the bee; five eyes, two tongues, the outer having a sheath of protection, hairs on all sides of its tiny body to brush up the particles of flowers, its flight so straight that all of the world knows of the bee-line. The honeycomb is a palace such as no one but God could plan, and the honey-bee construct; its cells, sometimes a dormitory, and sometimes a storehouse, and sometimes a cemetery. These winged toilers first make eight strips of wax, and by their antennae, which are to them hammer, and chisel, and square and plumb-line, fashion them for use. Two and two, these workers shape the wall. If an accident happens they put up buttresses of when about the year 1776 an insect before unknown, in the night-time attacked the beehives all over Europe, and the men who owned them were in vain trying to plan something to keep out the invader that was the terror of the beehives of the continent, it was found that everywhere the bees had arranged for their own protection, and built before their honeycombs an especial wall of wax, with port-holes, through which the bees might go to and fro, but not large enough to admit winged combatant, called the Sphinx Atropos. Do you know that the excitement caused by swarming raises the heat of the hive some four degrees, and they must die unless they leave their heated apartments, and they follow the mother bee and alight on the branch of a tree, and cling to each other and hold on until a committee of two or three bees have explored the region, and found the hollow of a tree or rock not far from a stream of water, and they here set up a new colony, and ply their aromatic industries, and give themselves to the manufacture of the saccharine edible. But who can tell the chemistry of that mixture of sweetness part of it the very life of the fields. hanging in the woods of Bethaven during the time of Saul and Jonathan. man should that by God's command must be exterminated. If they disobeyed they were accursed. through the woods they found a place Coming where the bees had been busy-a great honey manufactory. Honey gathered in the hollow of the trees until it had overflowed upon the ground in great profusion of sweetness. All the army obeyed orders, and touched it not, save Jonathan, and he not knowing the military order about abstinence, dipped the end of a stick he had in his hand into the candied liquid, and ate the ho- deal in coffee, or sugar, of flour. Where racing, have no faith in luck, answer one good honest, healthful book is read now, there are a hundred made up of rhetorical trash consumed with avidity. Taste for pure literature is poisoned by this scum of the publishing house. Every book in which sin triumphs over virtue, or in which a glamor is thrown over dissipation, or which leaves you at its last line with less respect for the marriage institution and less abhorrence for the paramour, is a depression of your moral character. Your best interests forbid it, your moral safety forbids it, your God forbids it, and one taste of it may lead to such bad results that you may have to say at the close of the experiment, or at the close of a misimproved lifetime: "I did but taste a little honey with the rod that was in my hand, and lo, I must die." Corrupt literature is doing more today for the disruption of domestic life than any other cause. Elopements, marital intrigues, sly correspondence, fictitious names given at postoffice windows, clandestine meetings in parks, would I have satisfied thee." and at ferry gates, and in hotel par- God to the recreant. Life is so short, and your time for improvement so abbreviated, that you cannot afford to fill up with husks, and cinders, and debris Why pick up the honeycombs that have in them the flery bees which will sting you with an eternal poison while you taste it? One book may for you and me decide everything for this world and the next. It was a turning point for me when in a book store in Syracuse one day I picked up a book called "The Beauties of Ruskin." It was only a book of extracts, but it was all pure honey, and I was not satisfied until I had purchased all his works, at that time expensive beyond an easy capacity to own them, and with what delight I went through reading his "Seven Lamps of Architecture," and his Stones of Venice," it is impossible for me to describe except by saying that it gave me a rapture for good books and an everlasting disgust for decrepit or immoral books that will last me while my life lasts. But multitudes of people have a natural fondness for all kinds of intoxicants. They like to aid disastion. toxicants. They like to aid digestion; they take it to produce sleep; they take it to make them oblivious, or they feel happy. They begin with mint julep sucked through two straws on the Long Branch piazza, and end in the citch, taking from a jug a liquid half kerosene and half whisky. They not only like it, but it is an all-consuming passion of body, mind and soul, and after awhile have it they will, though one wineglass of it should cost the temporal and eternal destruction of themselves, and all their families, and the whole human race. The only way to cure the habit is to stop short off, and when a man does that he needs God to help him. And there have been more cases than you can count when God

Furthermore, the gamester's indulgence must be put in the list of temptations delicious but destructive. who have crossed the ocean many times have noticed that always one of the best rooms has, from morning until late at night, been given up to gambling To many there is a com plete fascination in games of hazard or the risking of money on possibilities. It seems as natural for them to bet as to eat. Indeed, the hunger for food is often overpowered by the hunger for wagers. It is absurd for those of us who have never felt the fascination of the wager to speak slightingly of the temptation. It has slain a multitude of intellectual and moral giants, men and women stronger than you or I. Down under its power went glorious Oliver Goldsmith, and Gibbon, the famous historian; and Charles Fox, the renowned statesman; and in olden times senators of the United States, who used to be as regularly at the sambling house all night as they were in the halls of legislation by day. Oh, the tragedies of the faro table! I know persons who began with a slight stake in a ladies' parlor, and ended with the suicide's pistol at Monte Carlo. But in this connection some young converts say to me: "Is it right to play cards? Is there any harm in a game of whist or euchre?" Well, I know good men who play whist and euchre and other styles of games without any wagers. I will not judge other men's consciences, but I tell you that cards are in my mind so associated with the temporal and spiritual ruin of splendid young men, that I would as soon say to my family: "Come, let us have a game of cards," as I would go into a menagerie and say: "Come, let us have a game of rattlesnakes," or into a cemetery, and, sitting down by a marble slab, say to the gravediggers: "Come, let us have a game at skulls." Conscientious young ladies are silently saying: "Do you think card-playing will do us any harm?" Perhaps not, Plenty of this luscious product was day of eternity, when we are asked to say: "I was introduced to sames of chance in the year 1898, at your house, and I went on from that sport to something more exciting, and went on down until I lost my business, and lost my morals, and lost my soul, and these chains you see on my wrists and feet are the chains of a samester's doom, and I am on my way to a gambler's hell." Honey at the start, eternal catastrophe at the last! Stock gambling comes into the same catalogue. Many men are doing an own. honest and safe business in the stock market, and you are an ignoramus if you do not know that it is just as

Young men, buy no lottery tickets, purchase no prize packages, bet on no baseball games or yacht no mysterious circulars proposing great income for small investment, drive away the buzzards that hover around our hotels trying to entrap strangers. Go out and make an hone living. Have God on your side, and be a candidate for heaven. Remember all the paths of sin are banked with flowers at the start, and there are plenty of helpful hands to fetch the gay charger to your door and hold the stirrup while you mount. But further on the horse plunges to the bit in a slough inextricable. The best honey is not like that which Jonathan took on the end of the rod and brought to his lips, but that which God puts on the banquetingtable of mercy, at which we are all invited to sit. When a man may sit at the King's banquet, why will he go down the steps and contend for the refuse and bones of a hound's kennel? But he visited Italy, and one day on the Mediterranean with two friends in a boat which was 24 feet long he was coming toward the shore when an hour's squall struck the water. A gentleman standing on shore, through a glass, saw many boats tossed in this squall, but all outrode the storm except one, in which Shelley and his two friends were sailing. That never came ashore, but the bodies of two of the occupants were washed up on the beach, one of them the poet. A funeral pyre was built on the sea shore by some classic friends, and the two podies were consumed. Poor Shelley! He would have no God while he lived, and I fear had no God when he died. Discussed by 12 Members of the Board of Trade.

Replies to Questions by the Minister of Justice-A Limit Proposed in Connection With the Expenses of Winding Up-Small Attendance at Board Meetings.

The London Board of Trade held another meeting last night to discuss the proposed insolvency act and answer the questions contained in the recent communication from Hon. David Mills, minister of justice.

President A. B. Greer presided, and spoke of the lact of interest taken in such important measures by the merchants of the city. Out of a membership of 85, only a dozen members put in an appearance, six of whom were members of the council of the body. He lamented the fact that the question had been laid over from time to time in the hope of getting a fairly representative meeting of the board, but they were doomed to disappointment. Another question to be dealt with was the re-leasing of the present room. Members had notice of these important questions coming up, but they passed by the door and went to the club. Mr. W. J. Reid-We had better hold a meeting at the club. (Laughter.) Mr. D. W. Blackwell and other meminstrumentality of the board's efforts, while only a few-a small percentage, indeed-were willing to put their shoul-should the next one not be well at-The question of insolvency legislation, submitted by the minister of justice, was then taken up. It was the general opinion of the board that it will be some time yet before an act bearing upon this question, and meeting all requirements, could be gotten through the house. The letter of the minister of justice was taken up clause by clause, and dealt with without much discussion, as follows: 1. Why the expenses might not be quite as low under the provincial statutes as under the Dominion law? Mr. Bland replied that it was for the government to make them as low. Mr. Brodrick presumed that under the proposed Dominion measure they would be lower than at present. Mr. W. J. Reid said the expenses in Glass; Viviano (piano solo), "Waltz ited. Under the present system it cost as much to wind up a $2,000 estate as a $4,000 one. If there were a fixed limited charge there might be something left for creditors. "We all know," he said, "what it means now. The estates are eaten up by expenses connected with winding them up. Creditors get reports, and in many cases that is all they get. Mr. W. A. Gunn said that a uniform cause the expenses of winding up one estate would be more than another. Mr. Bowman-If there was a limit, was unanimously "No." the proportion would at least be the

Mr. Bowman said that although in the Ontario act there was no limitation of costs, he understood the proposed legislation would cover the point. On motion of Messrs. Bowman and McDonald, the following resolution passed in answer to the question: "Resolved that this board is of opinion that, while the provincial law does not sufficiently control the expenses of winding up an estate, the proposed Dominion act should be so framed as to limit and control expenditure in connection with insolvent estates. 2. In what respect, apart from the question of cost, is the present provincial law in the Province of Ontario inadequate to meet the requirements of

Mr. Greer—The only answer we can sign his book debts to this amount. If make to that is "Because it is not a arate laws, and a universal one was sought.

Mr. Bland-And the Ontario law is the best in the Dominion today. Secretary Nelles stated that in the memorial, the expense under existing laws was taken up, and the legislation sought was something to cover up the deficiencies of the provincial laws. Mr. Reid failed to see why an Ontario merchant selling goods in the Lower Provinces should not have the same privileges and protection as a New Brunswick merchant selling goods in Ontario. Mr. Gunn-What about Quebec? Mr. Greer-We have all been there. They take your goods, turn the estate over for $1, and leave you out. Their law is founded on French law. Why, they stole a whole hearse from me. The following motion was made by Mr. A. St. L. McIntosh and Mr. Brodrick, and carried: "Resolved, that in the opinion of this board, the present provincial law is inadequate, because it is not universal in its application." 3. Are the board of opinion that the trader should be denied the privilege of pledging by way of collateral security his property for bank accommoda-

"No" was the unanimous answer. Mr. Brodrick offered a full explanation of the operation of the bankers' act and the insolvency act. The banks could not accept property as collateral security, but a manufacturer could pledge his property to the bank under non-trader continues still liable for this debt? Mr. McIntosh-Decidedly, no-not while the non-trader remains liable.

This was carried as an answer, on motion of Messrs. Bland and Gunn. The fifth clause embodied three sub clauses 5. (a) Ought not any insolvency law to discourage traders from inviting non-traders to become tion indorsers on their behalf? Mr. McIntosh-The difficulty there would be to draw the line of demarkation between the trader and the bank. Mr. Brodrick said many men made measure could hardly be applied be- a living by becoming accommodation indorsers, and they should still have that privilege. The board further resolved that the matter of the discharge of debtors should be left entirely to the judgment and discretion of the creditors.' Mr. Gunn brought up another matter, contending that there should be ter, contending that there should be a registration of all hypothecated assets and book debts. He said a man might buy from him for years, and buy from an opposition firm only six months. If the purchaser went to the young firm to purchase say $25,000 worth of goods, and they were suspicious and wanted security to the extent of $15,00, the merchant could asthe merchant, after 60 days from the assignment of these book debts became insolvent, the young firm would be $15,000 better off than the other

New York, Jan. 25. - The World says: The appointment of Gov. Griggs, of New Jersey, to the attorney-generalship of the United States will be made the occasion for a dinner to him, which will take place at the Waldorf-Astoria on Feb. 18. His hosts will be limited to 30 and each will be assessed $100. Gov. Griggs will be presented with a silver service to cost $2,000, and, in addition, he will receive a silver loving-cup, to cost $2,500. It will be a memorable banquet. Even in this city, where elaborate functions of the kind are anything but rare, a dinner that costs $100 a plate is so infrequent as to attract attention. Gov. Griggs, however, has long been the attorney of rich corporations, and those whose protege he is are in a position to spend this sum of money without feeling it. It will take four or five hours to do justice to this dinner, and all the while an orchestra behind tree ferns and The question of rental of the present | palms will play. There will be cigars that cost $1 each and all manner of extravagances. It is promised that it shall be one of the most marvelous banquets that New York has known.
