FEATURES OF EARTHQUAKES

SOME OF THE PHENOMENA THAT ATTEND NATURE'S CONVULSIONS—SPEED OF EARTH AND SEA WAVES—VOLCANOES ARE LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR QUAKES.

In view of the recent frightful convulsion of nature in Sicily and Italy. It may be of interest to our readers to know a few of the many phenomena which attend these seismic disturbances.

It may be said that every earthquake results from the passage of an earth-wave from the place where the shock is felt. The probable cause of these shocks is the action of central heat, but there is much diversity of opinion on the matter.

SPEED OF EARTH WAVES.
In trying to determine the speed of the earth-wave many interesting experiments have been made, principally by exploding gunpowder in solid granite, in dislocated granite, and in sand.

FISSURES OR RENTS.
Fissures or rents are often made by the passage of the shock, for owing to their rigidity, the strata are unable to accommodate themselves to the undulatory motion, and so become rent.

PREPARATORY WARNINGS.
This fact causes some of the phenomena attending great earth shocks. Thus if a shock passes through a dyke of granite or gneissstone running through loosely-compacted strata, it will traverse the dyke at a greater rate than the looser strata, and it will set up lateral vibrations through the loose strata before the principal wave reaches them.

UNDERGROUND NOISES.
Earth shocks are usually accompanied by underground noises, but in some of the most violent shocks these are entirely absent. In the great earthquake of Riohamba (Ecuador), Feb. 4, 1797, there were no noises of any kind.

THE SEA-WAVE.
Another interesting phenomena connected with earthquakes is the great sea-wave which has been known to land with such destructive effects. This wave is observed only when the origin of the shock is at the bottom of the sea.

DISTRIBUTION OF EARTHQUAKES.
As regards the distribution of earthquake, it may be generally affirmed that few parts of the earth can be regarded as exempt. Nevertheless, there are certain districts which are more liable than others to be visited by them.

NOTABLE RESULTS OF EARTHQUAKES.

1812-Caracas; 10,000.

TELLING CHARACTER BY EYES.
If eyes are placed too close together, the owner is jealous and critical. If eyes are far apart, the owner has fine memory and broad intelligence. Deep-set eyes show melancholy and moodiness. Protruding eyes show self-indulgence. Wide open, round eyes mark a mind that is not developed, is credulous and serious about small gossip. The owners have no self-control. If the eye is very oval, almost almond shape, with the outward curve shaped to a point, look out for a

CASTRO, TYRANT AND EXTORTIONER

VENEZUELA PRESIDENT WHO "PLUCKED" HIS COUNTRY AND IS NOW IN EUROPE—SAID TO HAVE SQUEEZED $60,000,000 OUT OF VENEZUELA.

Castro, and Castro promptly entered Caracas and proclaimed himself president. Some years previously he had served the federal congress as representative from his province. He was smooth and dirty, and cordially hated by his colleagues. Having come into power, he did not hesitate to wreak vengeance upon those of his former fellow-legislators against whom he had entertained a bitter feeling. Some were imprisoned, some assassinated and some exiled. He began at once the reign of terror which he since has continued.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

Doctors had to give her Morphine to ease the Pain

Five Boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Her

Oct. 1, 1908.
For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a Water Tumor. I would get so bad at times that I could hardly endure the pain. I could neither sit, stand nor lie down. Hypodermics of morphia had to be given me or I could never have borne the pain. Many physicians treated me, but my cure seemed hopeless, and my friends hourly expected my death. It was during one of these very bad spells that a family friend brought me a box of "Fruit-a-tives" to the house. After much persuasion I commenced to take them, but I was so bad that it was only when I had

The Happenings of a Week in the Old Land

ENGLAND

The late Sir Elliott Lees, Bart., of Poole, left an estate valued at £2,475,000. Two of the London tube stations are to be linked up by a moving platform. Ten million turkeys were fattened for the Christmas market in London alone. Thirty-three of the heroic charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava are still alive.

child, in accordance with his annual custom at Christmas. It was stated at the Bolton Guardians' meeting that the funeral procession of a woman who died recently in the workhouse was a hearse drawn by four horses and three coaches drawn by two horses each.

Thomas Barton, a blacksmith, of Fairfield, Buxton, who was treasurer of the Fairfield Friendly Society, and the oldest bellringer in Fairfield, had a heart seizure, and died soon after. An Ardiegh (Suffolk) laborer named William Gardner, who had been accepted for an old-age pension of 4s per week, was found on Tuesday hanging from a beam in his cottage.

Relieving Officer Duffin reported to the Ballymena guardians that he had great difficulty in procuring a shroud at the usual price, 3s cents. At a meeting of the senate of the New University, Dublin, the Very Rev. James H. Walsh, archbishop of Dublin, was elected chancellor.

police court on charges of forgery in the name of the Knight of Glin and others. The accused were arrested on their honeymoon, one of the prosecution witnesses being Mr. Burton, of Carrigroholt Castle, where the male prisoner was formerly employed.

000 tons of carrying power. The list includes a large proportion of local steamers and very few foreigners. Owing to the increased cost of production and the large stocks on hand the Campbelltown whisky distillers last year produced only 865,000 proof gallons of spirit, which is one-third less than in 1907.

SIDELIGHTS ON NOTABLE PEOPLE BY THE MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Lord Walsingham, who lost his first wife two years ago, has just, the age of 68, contracted another marriage, his bride being the daughter of a Mr. Gwyther Williams, of Belvedere, Isle of Wight.

The late Lady Walsingham was a remarkably gifted woman. She was a daughter of "the beautiful, the gallant, and the immortal Locke" of whom Lord Lytton writes in his novel "Ernest Maltravers."

Lord Walsingham shares with Lord Grey the reputation of being the finest shot in England, and his aim is so accurate that he is able to shoot wasps on the wing.

Since men born as citizens of the United States are debarré thereby from being created by the British realm—an honor which they can only obtain by virtue of inheritance, like Lord Fairfax—the next best thing in this line at their disposal is to figure as the father of a peer.

It belonged to the Satchvilles from the reign of Richard I. to that of Henry III, then to the Killigrews, to the de Yees, to the Rolles, to the Walpoles, and finally to the Trefusis family. Lord Clinton is married to a daughter, the fourth Earl of Antrim, and is a man of about 45 years of age, whose time is wholly taken up with the management and administration of his great property.

Her body was escorted to the grave by several thousands, many of whom bore wreaths and floral emblems, tied with the colors of the Irredenta Society, that is to say, of that society which, it is said, was formed at the addition of Emperor Francis Joseph's Italian speaking provinces to the Kingdom of Italy.

Something very much akin to a tragedy took place the other day in the royal manor of King Alfred, at Madrid. For, without any warning whatsoever, the English head nurse, Miss Bunting by name, who had been with Queen Victoria Eugenie since about three years, and who was the birth of the little Prince of Asturias, suddenly fell over dead from her chair, in the presence of the queen and the children.

The career of the late Gen. Sir Hector Macdonald, who by gallant fighting won his way up from the ranks to the grade of general, and to a knighthood of the Order of the Bath, had so tragic an ending that there are many who are interested to learn that his only son, who bears his father's name of Hector, has now entered the great Elswick works, near Newcastle-on-Tyne, founded by the late Lord Armstrong.

King Leopold's pictures, of which an inventory is now being made, are likely to come upon the market ere long. He represents according to expert valuation, several millions of dollars, and he is anxious above everything else to prevent their passing into the possession of his daughters at his death.

who have vested rights therein. So he is about to disperse the collection by means of sale, which will enable him to invest, the proceeds thereof beyond the reach of his daughters, for the benefit of his natural children by Baroness Vaughan.

Another remarkable feature of the collection is a sketch by Rubens, representing the miracle performed by St. Benedict in the presence of Totila, king of the Goths. Designed by Rubens in 1529, after the death of his natural children, he served for a painting for an altar piece for the Abbey of Aflinghem, but never was executed.

The year 1899 was one of splendid brilliancy. The centenaries which shall celebrate the coming year are, accordingly, of exceptional literary and artistic importance. The literary man alone, but to the politician and the scientist even more.

As people who adopt an artistic career, especially in the musical line, seem to consider it necessary to assume an Italian name, it may be just as well to explain that Sig. Arturo Tibaldi, the violinist, who is sailing for the United States for the purpose of undertaking a professional tour, is in reality Arthur Larking, son of Lady Adela Larking, and of Col. Cuthbert Larking, a gentleman of the Duke of Connaught, Lady Adela Larking, the daughter of the second Earl of Lisdown, is an honorary lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Connaught, and Cuthbert Larking's father, the late John W. Larking, was a noted figure in the Levant during the reigns of Khedive Ismail and Khedive Talaat Pasha, wielding a considerable amount of influence as governor of the Imperial Ottoman Bank at Constantinople.

One of the features of all the Imperial dinner parties, court banquets, and court ball suppers at Vienna is the perfection of the bonbons, small fancy cakes, candies, etc. These are served to all the guests at dessert, but rarely eaten, and usually laid on one side of the plate. Before the guests rise from the table the servants quietly place these delicacies in boxes adorned with the Imperial crown and arms, for the purpose of enabling them to be taken home to the children.

Princess Xenia of Montenegro, whose jilting of King Alexander of Serbia in a most humiliating manner, after all the negotiations for her union to him had been concluded, led to his unfortunate marriage with Draga Maschin—a murder which was responsible for his shocking murder—is undergoing a period of agreeable banishment, which she is spending on the banks of the Sene.

Prince Nicholas could not, in the face of the representation of the Austro-Hungarian Government, to both of which he is indebted for so many favors, especially in the shape of financial assistance, allow his daughter's indiscretions to pass unpunished, and somewhat at a loss to know what penalty to inflict upon this high-spirited, handsome girl of 26, he finally decided to temporarily banish her by ordering her to travel abroad.

Centenaries of the Year 1909. Great men who were born a hundred years ago. The year 1899 was one of splendid brilliancy. The centenaries which shall celebrate the coming year are, accordingly, of exceptional literary and artistic importance.

When the political and moral progress of a nation is measured by the number of its literary and artistic geniuses, the year 1899 was one of the most fruitful years in the history of the world. It was the year in which the great English novelist, Charles Dickens, died, and the year in which the great American poet, Walt Whitman, was born.
