Evacuation of Allied Occupied Territories, Enemy Claims Is Made In the Interests of Peace---Italians, French, British and Americans Announce Successes,

Vienna, Wednesday, Oct. 30, via London.-Austrian troops fighting on Italian soil will be withdrawn, according to an official statement issued by the war office tonight. The text of the state-

"Taking into account the resolve so often expressed to bring about a conclusion of an armistice and peace, putting an end to the struggle of nations, our troops fighting on Italian soil will evacuate occupied regions.

"In the Italian theatre there has been only minor fighting activity on the Tyrolean front. Between the Brenta and the Piave Rivers fresh and superior enemy forces attacked Mont Asolone and Monte Pertica. Our troops, with unexampled and soldierly faithfulness, brought all the enemy's efforts to naught.'

have reached the Livenza River at Francenigo, and the Italians have occupied Oderzo, according to an official statement on the operations in Italy, received by the war office today. The text of the statement reads:

"The advance of the tenth army continued without check throughout the day. British cavalry detachments, in close touch with Italian cavalry, have reached the western outskirts of Sacile

River at Francenigo.' British troops have entered Asiago, according to another report from the British war office covering the operations early Wednesday. The statement also reports continued progress by the third, tenth and twelfth armies along the Piave. The statement reads:

The advance continued this morning. The tenth army has reached a line two miles east of Ormelle, the western edge of Lutrano, Albiana, Codogne and Vendemiano, and is continuing the advance. In yesterday's operations the Yeomanry captured more than 200 prisoners. "The third army has crossed the Piave south of the tenth army.

To the Editor of The London Advertiser: Your editor of The London Advertiser:

Your editorial in the edition of October 26 has been read by many officers and men of the 18th Battalion, and it is very gratifying to us all to know that the battalion has not been forgotten by the citizens of London, where we trained faithfully and efficiently for six months. The many acts of kiminess shown to us while in London were a great inspiration to us to do our duty well, and, judging from the achievements of the battalion in action in France and Flanders, Millitary District No. 1 will never have cause to regret that the 18th Battalion was mobilized in Western Ontario.

The incident to which you refer, while crossing the Channel on our way to the front, was the first real test of the steadiness of the men. There was not a man who became excited, and everyone was steady as veterans under the trying conditions. It has never been my privilege either in military or civil life to be associated with a better class of officers and men, than those who were with me in the 18th Battalion. There are few of the original officers and men who left Canada with the battalion now, but I am informed by Lieut.—Col. L. E. Jones, who is now in com-Your editorial in the edition of October and men who left Canada with the bat-tailon now, but I am informed by Lleut.-Col. L. E. Edward Patton, a derellet on the ocean of life, found a haven in police court this morning. Old and trembling, he had to be helped to a chair, and, ragged and unkempt, he told a pitiful story to the magistrate of his fight for existence. He was sent down to jall for 30 days, where he will at least be warm and have enough to eat. The authorities in the meantime will consider his case and something will be done for him.

SEVERE RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too terrid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

THREE-FOLD REASON FOR BUYING BONDS IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

As Memorial to Fallen, as Patriotism, to Help Missions.

Buying Victory Bonds with a three-fold object is a plan which will be laid before the Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican Sunday schools of the city, and throughout the Dominion of Can-ada, at the earliest possible opportun-ity, on Sunday next, in places where the closing regulations, owing to Spanclosing regulations, owing to Span ish influenza, are lifted by that time.

As Memorial.

The first idea to be placed before the schools is to buy a Victory Bond or bonds, as the case may be, as a memorial to members of the school who have fellen in the school who have ial to members of the school who have fallen in the war. In the second place, by so doing, the school will render patriotic service to the country. In the third place, the bonds thus purchased will go to the great missionary forward movement which has been inaugurated in each of the three denominations; first by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada at the meeting in London in June; next by the Church of England of Canada at the convening of the General Synod in Toronto in September, and next by the Toronto in September, and next by the Methodist Church in Canada at the General Conference held in Hamilton the beginning of October.

One of the ministers states that each school thus investing in Victory Conds will receive an oak tablet on which to place the names of former members.

They are not so crazy at the Hospital for Insane. Over $6,000 worth of bonds were sold Wednesday with Just about one-third of the institution covered by the salesmen. The patients would be crazy not to buy.

Canon Tucker and Organizer Norman Tovell talked to the employees of the McClary Manufacturing Company at noon today and were received with great applause. There is keen competition between the east end plant and the up town shops, and large thermometers have been installed in the respective dining-halls to keep the employees posted as to the race for bond buying honors.

Some miscreant left the back door to Victory Loan Headquarters unlocked Tuesday night and the po-lice called up Geo, M. Reid at 3 a. m. HYDRO COMMISSION ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY IN ADVANCING MONEY TO BUILD L. AND P. S. SAYS. AUDITOR States That the Return of the Money Does Not Affect This Fact—It Spent $309, 128 in Three Years on Local Line.

That the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario acted without authority in advancing money for the building of the London and Port Stangley Railway is the contention of Geoffrey T. Clarkson, who was appointed by the Provincial Government to audit the books and accounts of the commission since its formation in 1906. It was largely owing to the rumors that were attendant on the construction of this railway that the audit was demanded.

The accountant offers one or two suggestions as well. He points out that municipalities should pay the provincial commission for construction work more promptly. Criticism is also voiced at the practice of municipal commissions in taking the estimated price of the schools and Sunday closed another week, and open churches, theatres and poolroof by the provincial commission does with the attendant on the construction of this railway that the audit was demanded.

Board of Health Meets and Changes Order-Medical Officer of Health Says Epide mic Is Abating Now, Though Not Ended.

Since "Safety First," where the public is concerned is supposed to be the watchword of the board of health, the said board met this forenoon to reconsider its decision of Wednesday in regard to removing the ban on churches, theatres and schools the beginning of the week. The board decided that Sunday schools should not be allowed to reopen until Sunday, November 11, and that proclamation should be made accordingly. There was no change of heart concerning churches and theatres. Indeed, the original reopening order was made sufficiently elastic to include the poolrooms in the permission to reopen on the strength of the women teachers are helping in the diet kitchen in the collegiate, at Victoria Hospital, and in pursing cases of influheart concerning churches and theatres. "We are just as responsible as the board of health for the welfare of the school children," declared Mr. Strong, "and it is nothing more than criminal having children from a home where the fit has prevailed mixing with youngsters who have had nothing to do with the disease. At the same time, a certain number of cases will require help for some time to come, and private nurses will require to be kept on cases until at least the middle of next week. "I think the board is getting off very ghtly," said Mr. Somerville. "This epi-emic is a far bigger thing than we ealize just now. "We are too close to it. The oldest doctors state it is the worst thing that has come to the city in their recolection. It is worse in every way than the epidemic of influenza of 1899." present epic No Street Car Release. While the theatres and poolrooms will be allowed to open for business as usual on Monday, it was definitely stated that there can be no letting up for the street cars. The cars must only carry as many passengers as they have seats, thus conforming to the provincial regulations. Inspector Lutman reported concerning the section of the postoffice in which the letter carriers sort the mail. Mr. Lutman stated when he went to aspect the building yesterday the bostoffice inspector from Toronto was been also been also been as the building the state of the section of the s here, and he laid before him the harge being made of insufficient air This is a real treat.

charge being made of insufficient air space and ventilation.

The room, said Mr. Lutman, is 20 by 80 by 13 feet. Six hundred cubic feet is the amount of air space each individual should have. Forty-four letter-carriers are employed there two hours a day, one hour in the forenoon and one hour in the afternoon. Six employees are on duty there the remainder of the working day. Better ventilation might be obtained by opening doors and windows, which would create a draft. The postoffice officials stated that the building is to be torn down and that in the meantime there is objection to putting further expense on the present quarters.

The board's view of the report was that the case was not so aggravated when the men were there for such a short time each day. Dr. Downham's view was that there was danger spreading infection on account of the men working in such close quarters during the epidemic. That was why the matter had been pushed. City Clerk Baker reported that he had written the postmaster-general as in-structed.

RULES THE FOOD BOSS

OTTAWA, Oct. 30.—An order on wheat flour just passed by the Canada food board defines the only four wheat flour substitutes as oat, barley, corn and rye flours. All consumers must now take one pound of substitutes to four pounds of wheat flour.

The order allows anyone to have on hand 100 pounds of flour or sufficient for 60 days' ordinary requirements; while any farmer whose home-grown wheat has been ground by or exchanged directly with a miller, or any person living more than five miles from a mill or licensed dealer, may keep on hand 200 pounds of flour or what is sufficient for 200 days.

Feeding milling wheat or its mixtures to live stock or poultry is forbidden except where grown together, containing not more than 25 per cent of milling wheat. Orders Nos. 31 and 40 are repealed.

TREAT THEM ROUGH.

PPARENTLY but one great English news-A paper supports Lord Milner's advice to go easy with Germany. That paper, the London Post, warns the Allies against armistice conditions which might "sting the German people into resistance." The Post was the organ of that small arrogant band of "die hards" which tried to prevent the House of Lords passing into the hands of popular government. That it should fall in with Lord Milner's views is quite natural. Milner would save the dignity of the Hun rulers. He doesn't care to see the kaiser and his precious band of criminals roughly handled. They must be spared any great humiliation. The Post seems to take this same stand. The German people must not be irritated by harsh terms, we are told, stronger resistance. What does the Post mean by the "German people"? If the reference is to the "democratic Germany" which Berlin loudly claims has replaced the autocratic government of the Prussian war lord, the warning will have little effect on the Allied council. So far as the Entente are concerned there has been no change in the rulership of Germany. The kaiser, Hindenburg, the crown prince, Prince Max, are still in the saddle. In his last note President Wilson stated candidly his disbelief in overnight reforms that had turned over the kaiser's powers to the Reichstag. From here it looks as if the Post were camouflaging, putting up a wail in behalf of the imperial junk-Germany" which Berlin loudly claims has reputting up a wail in behalf of the imperial junkin any event why should Germany, from the capitulation. kaiser down, escape the severe punishment it so richly deserves and which can only be assured by and harsh? The Entente is determined to bring ridden peoples. about an enduring peace and punish the nation by any foolish advice as that of the Post's or Lord Milner's. Foch, Haig and Pershing will attend to any further and greater resistance to which Germany may be "stung" by the Allied demands. If the unofficial report of the Allied terms for an the unofficial report of th that made war. It is not going to be turned aside armistice are correct, there is no intention of the run on the banks of the Rhine commences. treating the enemy gently. Rather has the war council in conference at Paris adopted the motto which the British tanks carry on their sides "Treat Them Rough." That's the only kind of treatment the Boche, soldier or civilian, understands. The more of it there is the quicker will he howl the final "Kamerad."

GOOD HATING.

The MOST casular reading of the war reports during the last few months shows the fighting along the western front more ferea and mercliess than was formerly the case. This has been put down largely to the desperate resistance of the Germans to prevent the complete downfall of their armies beneath the heavy blows of Foch. Another explanation of the unusually fieree fighting, and one that appeals to our reason and sympathies, is given by Lieutenant Coningsly. Dawson, the brilliant young author-soldier who is back in America on a Secture tour in the interest of the fighting Lieutenant Dawson declares that the smabling successes of Hair's men in the last two months have been due to the spirit of harted that developed during the summer. It began with the Hun bombing of the hospital at Etaples. The sight of the butchered nursing sisters wheel out once for all any consideration for the enemy. Before the butchered nursing sisters wheel out once for all any consideration for the enemy. Before the butchered nursing sisters wheel on lone for all any consideration for the enemy. Before the butchered nursing sisters wheel on lone for all any consideration for the enemy. Before the butchered nursing sisters wheel on lone for all any consideration for the enemy. Before that attrocky the Boche was thought of pityingly and humorously. After it a white Hame of anger and hatred swept through the British forces along the entire front that has been concentrated in blow after blow. "No quarter" became the motto, and according the first is a white lame of anger and hatred levels and the summer of the summer

"If we make peace, with Germany intact, he (the Hun) will think that frightfulness pays, as he does not believe that he has been inhuman, from a moral standpoint.

"If the governments of the Allies do not interfere, if they leave the armies to settle the war, we will be in Berlin by August. The Americans who have not been through France or Belgium, and have not seen the devastation of the Huns, cannot realize what the war is. They can conjecture and sympathize only. The people of England have a better idea, because they are so much nearer to the war zone. The people in France and England are not talking about peace. They are determined to go on, no matter how long it lasts, until the enemy is thoroughly beaten. What they are looking for is Judgment Day, and after that they will talk of a new heaven and a new earth."

That's good red stuff, a refreshing contrast to the Milner "let them down easy" policy.

A WAR FOR CHILDREN.

THE CHILD that frisks about these autumn days "and feels his life in every limb," what does he know of the things so many people have been doing to make the world a safe place and fit place for him to live in? He is not particular and himself in general. "If conscious of anything more than the universal you don't make love to them they think contempt held for the kaiser and a whole boyfull you're slow, and if you do make love of admiration and envy for every soldier he meets. to them they think you're easy. It really seemed as if Fate was against the brave and hard-working little Beavers, for Sammy Muskrat had dug very hard and fast in the tunnel which he was digging under the dam at Mirror Pond.

He said to himself, as he got the tunnel almost done, "I can see light now on the other side of the dam, and I believe I'm almost through. It's the hardest piece of tunneling I ever did in my life, and I don't believe any of the Beavers know what ruin will soon overtake them."

And in a few minutes the tunnel was finished, and Sammy Muskrat had dug the last shovelful of mud from his tunnel, and was packing up his tools to swim back home.

But he strand just a second in the mouth of the tunnel, in the lower end.

You see, he had been digging the tunnel under that dam for several hours. All the time his tunnel was filled with water from Mirror Pond, which was trying to rush through his tunnel and reach the Murmuring Brook below the dam. Victory Comes High, But WE MUST HAVE IT!

THIS IS NO TIME to count the cost of Victory-when hundreds of thousands of our own Canadian boys are charging, full speed ahead, with the Huns on the run.

This is no time for loyal Canadians to stop and consider the terrible price, in blood and tears, this war has already cost the world.

When the word goes forth over there to CHARGE, every man is on his toes—straining every muscle-eyes front-head up-bayonet fixed-to sweep the German hordes back out of Belgiumout of France-back, ever back-until they throw up their hands with "Kamerad! Kamerad!" on their cowardly lips.

Here, in Canada, when the word goes forth to "LEND," let us all be worthy of the gallant boys who have given up home, and comfort, and even life itself, for the cause of Victory.

We at home must furnish the funds that will keep the victorious Canadian troops supplied with food and clothing-with guns and ammunitionwith tanks and shells and airplanes.

Victory is within our grasp. Continue the great offensive and the war will be won.

ruptible.—I. Coriminars, IX., 25, THE APPLAUSE OF MAN IS TRAN-SIENT.

It is by no means necessarily ignoble for us to desire the approbation and applause of our fellow-men; but it is after all a corruptible crown, not corruptible in the sense of being wrong, but in the sense that it is not lasting, that it will soon fade and die. We should therefore not depend upon the approbation of our fellow-men. When received, it should be with humility, but to depend upon it means to depend upon a broken reed. Today the people will applaud us and temorrow they may curse. As long as what we do pleases the crowd, we receive its favor, but the moment we begin to do or advocate that which may be against their preferences, they are as vigorous in our denundation as they were before in our praise.

BRAVES' EXPENSES HIGH LAST SEASON

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—In a few days the fate of the Boston National League club will be settled. The own-ers of the franchise have some heavy ers of the franchise have some heavy obligations to meet as a result of exorbitant salaries paid to the officials of the club and to one of the players.

According to report, former President Percy D. Haughton drew $15,000 a year for his services. Manager George Stallings also had a $15,000 contract. Business Manager Hapgood's annual stipend was $7,500, while Capt. Charley Herzog collected more than $12,000. These men, therefore, sewed up the owners of the Braves for a total of $50,000 in salaries. In order to meet this expense it was necessary to record 100,000 50-cent admissions at Braves' field. The players salaries probably amounted to at least salaries probably amounted to at least $60,000, while the rent of the park and other overhead charges reached $75,000 more.

The total expenses of the club for 1918, therefore, were in the neighborhood of $185.000, the equivalent of 470,000 50-cent admissions. The predicament of the Boston club proves that baseball expenses must be greatly reduced if the magnates want to avoid bankruptcy when the game is resumed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 30.—Local fuel commissioners throughout the province have been advised by R. Home Smith and E. L. Cousins, in charge of fuel administration for Ontario, that a regulation will shortly be issued limiting private residences to 40 tons of hard coal during the coming winter, and that those who used more in previous years must arrange for substitutes. If proper response to the request to churches to hold union services to conserve fuel is not forthcoming, orders will be issued making necessary regulations. Every effort must be made by municipalities to secure a supply of wood fuel.

The foreshadowing of the order to limit hard coal in private residences started a rumor that Government House was to be closed, but it is stated that substitutes are being used in part, and a portion will be closed.

How Diseases of the Bones Are Treated With Minerals

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG. A. B., M. A., M. D., (Jo has Hopkins University.)

by which methods sores and bone maladies were and bone maladies were acts:

When a substance is the precise way in which water and it is placed in a bottle, flask or other vessel closed with a transparent frum head or bladder, and this vessel closed in turn is immersed in water to a level with the water inside, it will be seen that the liquid in the inner vessel increases at the expense of that in the outer one. Water has passed through the membrane from the outer vessel to the inner one.

If, however, you analyze the water that has decreased in volume in the outer vessel, you will find that the salt or substance in the inner solution has in part penetrated the membrane and is to be found in the water of the outer container. The solutions have passed back and forth through the tissue-like parchment which separates them.

Determining the Pressure.

If a solution of sulphate of copper or bluestone is brought in contact with a solution of ferrocyanide of potash, a delicate membrane or film of copper ferrocyanide forms where the two liquids are in contact.

Membranes are said to be impermeable, permeable and semi-permeable. The copper ferrocyanide membrane is impermeable to the salts from which it is formed and it is capable of withstanding much pressure, but not from all other solutions.

To determine the pressure on either side of a membrane a special apparatus standing much pressure, but not from all other solutions.

To determine the pressure on either side of a membrane a special apparatus is in use. This tells you by measure exactly what the omosis or osmotic pressure is for a particular membrane and any solution used.

Sugar in water has in fair concentration more than an atmosphere of pressure. Of course, different concentrations exert different pressure. The pressure is usually proportionate to the richness of the amount of any substance in solution. Weak solutions exert weak pressures.

Osmosis or osmotic pressure like other physics and chemical effects play a significant role in the realms of animal and vegetable life. The flow of blood and lymph in your physiological cosmos, as well as the upward pressure of sap in trees and the food and drink of vegetation from the soil, are all examples of osmotic pressure. osmotic pressure. osmotic pressure.

The applications of osmosis to the treatment of disease is already in actual use, thanks to the discoveries of Dr. Frederick Pridham. Its employment in the treatment of deep-seated open sores, sinuses and bone destruction by disease appears to be of great benefit in the healing of many old chronic disorders.

this unconventional and unexpected change. Heeding this, the move may be turned to advantage, especially if the avenue for good fortune comes through legitimate schemes, intrigue or secret affiliation, or is the fulfillment of premonition, prophecy or mediumship, or relates to music, poetry and art in their highest forms, since all these are under the dominion of Neptune, this day in benefic sextile with Luna, bringing blessings through genius or inspiration.

Those whose birthday it is may expect an interesting year, but must avoid extravagance and make changes with forethought. A child born on this day will be original, creative, unconventional, independent and love much change.

HOW THE MOORS MAKE BREAD.
"Oh, dear!" cried Betty, when her namma asked her to run to the bakery or a loaf of bread. "I hate to go to the bakery."

"The very idea!" exclaimed a merry volce, and Gocomeback, the little travel elfin, hopped up beside Betty. "If you lived in Morocco you might complain," and before Betty knew what was happening she was flying through the air at a great rate.

at a great rate. Over mountains and seas they flew until at last Gocomeback sailed to the ground right in the centre of the queerest little village Betty had ever seen. Some of the rude huts were built of mud with thatched roofs, and some were thing the contraction of the season of th

C. K. Q.—Kindly advise what to do for epilepsy?

A.—Epilepsy of a special kind is cured by surgical measures. Much help comes to others at times from the use of bromides, especially the triple effervescent bromide tabloids in water. Plenty of water should be drunk, three quarts a day. The intestines should be always kept active. No muscular work may be done and no meat usually eaten. The diet is not essential other than the avoidance of gluttony and excesses, or the artificial stimulation of tobacco and cther drugs.

ground right in the curb water seen. Some of the rude huts were built of mud with thatched roofs, and some were to on high posts, where, Gocomeback told Betty, lived the poorer class of the Moors.

Betty peeked into one of the tumble-down huts. On one side in the one room stood a hand-loom, several earthen jars, a lamp which was only a clay saucer with a wick burning in a little mutton fat, a mattress and a rug, a teapot and a funpy-looking thing Gocomeback called a handmill. "What's a handmill?" asked Betty, looking at the two flat stones with a peg of wood running through their cenre.

"A handmill is for grinding corn so they can make flour to bake their bread," replied Gocomeback. "The peg keeps the upper stone from falling off the lower stone. The corn is put into the hole and the grinder seizes the wooden handle fixed in the upper stone. wooden handle fixed in the upper stone near the edge, there, and turns the stone round and round until the corn falls between the stones and the flour sifts out at the edges and falls to the mat under it."

"And they have to do that every time they want a loaf of bread?" whispered Betty.

"Certainly," replied Gocomeback.
"They mix the meal with water and

"They mix the meal with water and bake in thin pancakes in earthenware bowls over a charcoal fire."

"And it's good enough to eat!" exclaimed Betty with a giggle.

"You probably wouldn't think so," laughed Gocomeback. "But they don't know any other kind of bread. Why, in some of the villages they haven't even tasted bread. They live on milk, cheese and goat's flesh. That's why I say you shouldn't cry and get cross when you're asked to go to the bakery for bread."

"I certainly would rather do that than to have to grind the flour every time I wanted a bite of bread," laughed Betty. "It takes time to run and get it, but that's not near so hard as making it, and then it doesn't even look good after it is baked.

"I guess it would take you some time to get used to eating it," laughed Go-

What Happened When Dicky Faced Madge.

Dicky stopped short as he reached my desk, and I could hear him breathing hard. I knew that he could not help but see his personal checkbook lying open before me and I dug my nails into my paims in the effort to appear unconcerned.

"Tired, dear?" I asked, getting out of my chair, for I felt that I must stand up to meet whatever he might choose to say to me.

He ignored my question and forcing myself to look at him I saw that he was rigid with anger, and every drop of blood seemed to have drained from his face. I have seen Dicky in royal rages, unforgettable tantrums, but there was something about this cold anger that frightened me.

His eyes, the pupils darkened to blackness, fairly stabbed me, and I saw that his lips, when he opened them to speak, were stiff and dry.

"Since when," he began slowly, felly, "and I wish you would please excuse me from any further discussion to my desk and piller my belongings.

"Dicky!" I protested, hotly, for the letters?" he demanded.

IN MEMORIAM. WILEY—In loving memory of our dear father, Daniel Wiley, who died one year ago today, October 31, 1918: It is one long year ago today

Since our dear father passed away; We saw him suffer and heard his sighs With aching heart and weeping eyes. We saw him sinking hour by hour, Yet could not stay death's awful But now he calmly sleeps at last, All pains, all aches, all sufferings past.
The moon and stars are shining
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath lies the one we love,
But whom we could not save.

WALL STREET. New York, Oct. 31-Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Further heavy selling of popular issues attended the active opening of today's stock market, United States Steel bearing the brunt of the movement at a decline of a large fraction. High-grade rails also reacted, C. P. R. losing 2 points. These recessions were calanced by a 5-point rise in Mexican Petroleum, and advances of 1 to 2 points in Marine preferred, American Smelting, Baldwin Locomotive, General Motors, Texas Company and People's Gas. By the end of the first half hour most losses were fully retrieved, Steel rallying 11/4 points. Noon .- On the early rebound the mor comprising the war group rallied with United States Steel, and oils also scored further gains, but rails made an in-different showing, aside from the con-sistent strength of Southern Pacific. Much of the improvement was sacrificed in the second hour, when fresh selling forced United States Steel down 2 points from its best, other leaders reacting to a like extent. Before midday, however, fresh support was seen in steels and other prominent leaders, the market then showing firmer tendencies all NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Any doctor will recommend that people take iron to build up the blood after an attack of Spanish Influenza. The germs of this dread malady impoverish and poison the blood, and as a result the system is left in a weakened condition. The limbs feel weak, and the man or woman recuperating from "Flu" find they have no inclination to perform their duties. The best and most modern way known to science to take iron is in the form in which it is put up in Tonal-Iron Capsules, the new French gelatin remedy, and hundreds of people are using it after an attack of influenza with excellent results. These capsules are soft and dissolve very quickly in the system, and all the iron they contain is quickly absorbed. This remedy also contains several other non-narcotic stimulants, and creates an appetite, as well as working on the bowels, liver and kidneys. When hard pills are taken into the system they frequently pass through whole without benefiting in any way. Tonal-Iron Capsules are guaranteed by the manufacturers, and are sold by all druggists in Canada and the United States for $1 abox, or malled anywhere in Canada on receipt of the price. DRIVER IS NOT TO BLAME FOR DEATH OF CRAWFORD LAD

Jury Brings In Verdict Exonorating J. H. Aldis.

"That Ervine Crawford, 160 Horton street, came to his death by being struck by a motor car on October 24 at Horton and Ridout streets, and that from the evidence placed before us we place no blame on the driver of the car." This was the verdict given by the jury which investigated the death of the Crawford lad last night at the police retaining of the Crawford lad last night at the police station.

Dr. Emerson L. Hodgins, the first witness, testified that he was called to attend the boy, and found him in a semi-conscious state. He also found an abrasion on his leg about one inch long. He found no fractures in the limbs, but evidence of a fracture of the skull. He considered it inadvisable to operate, on account of the boy's condition. The boy died of concussion of the brain, caused by a fracture of the skull.

J. H. Aldis, 74 Bruce street, owner of the car, testified that he was driving with Mrs. W. Aldis and her sister. Helen Woollatt, as passengers, in the Woollatt, as passengers, in the seat. . Aldis stated that when he saw the coal wagon ahead of him he changed the gears into intermediate and slowed the car down to about five miles an hour. He did not notice the boy till he jumped off the wagon, and was backing up. He also claims that he blew the horn twice when about fifteen blew the horn twice when about fifteen feet away from him, and immediately started to apply the brakes.

He thought the boy had ample time to get to the sidewalk, but that he seemed to be in no hurry, and when the car knocked him over and was stopped the front wheel was resting on his body.

H. E. Hickson stated that he was standing in the doorway of the hydrostation, when he noticed the boy behind the wagon walking backward and eating an apple while looking up Ridout street hill. Mr. Aldis was driving very slowly, he said.

Mrs. Aldis said that she did not see the boy till he was about three yards away, and that they were so close to the curbing that it was impossible to turn in any further.

Helen Woolatt did not see anything till the accident had occurred.

Arthur Sheldrake gave evidence to the effect that he was sitting with the driver of the coal wason, with his back to the horses. Owing to planks lying in the wagon with their ends projecting.
