

59TH YEAR. NO. 23352

ANDERSON IDENTIFIED AS WYOMING BANDIT

BRITISH SEARCH STEAMERS OFF COAST OF IRELAND

Provisional Government Protests Action of Destroyer in Irish Waters.

EXPECTS CIVIL WAR

Protestant Archbishop Fears Hostilities Will Open Before Next Week.

Belfast, June 2.—After a 24-hour's orgy of shooting, incendiarism and looting, the city enjoyed a comparatively quiet night, although sniping continued in the Millfield area, and a woman was severely wounded.

Many Catholics are reported to have left Belfast, fearing for their lives.

The British destroyer Warwick, which yesterday searched the steamer Crugabie, in Lough Foyle, off the northern Londonderry coast, halted two other vessels bound for Londonderry, and warned them not to stop anywhere unless so ordered by warships.

It is reported that the provisional government in Dublin is contesting Great Britain's right to search ships in these waters.

Heavy firing between Irish republican army forces and Ulster special constables occurred during the night at Dungroley Cross, on the Lough-Arماغh border. It lasted seven hours, and it is believed three of the specials were killed. The inhabitants along the border in the vicinity have fled to Dundalk.

Firing also occurred at Culleville, going on for several hours. In Irish republican army headquarters, it was stated that the republican forces suffered no casualties in either case.

The Most Reverend John A. F. Gregg, Protestant archbishop of Dublin, started a diocesan meeting here today with the statement: "If we are not already engaged in civil war in Ireland, it may be upon us this week or next."

CHIEF OF STAFF ATTENDS.

LONDON, June 2.—Today's cabinet meeting, considering the Irish situation, was again attended by General Earl of Eglinton, the British chief of staff. The meeting was concluded shortly after 1 o'clock.

ULSTER IN DANGER.

LONDON, June 1.—Interest in the Irish situation shifted today to Ulster, where the borderland disturbances and the Belfast outrages are more serious than ever. The conferences of Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and the Marquis of Londonderry with Premier Lloyd George were not productive of optimistic statements regarding the solution of the problem.

It is understood that the question of the support to be given to Northern Ireland in case of an invasion of that territory was considered and an agreement reached. The situation remains grave.

Mr. Lloyd George has cancelled his Whitstable holiday, and is awaiting tomorrow's conference between the Ulsterites and the Earl of Balfour at the foreign office. Lord Balfour attended a meeting of the Belfast signatories of the treaty this afternoon, the discussion lasting more than an hour. This did not contribute much, however, to brighten the situation.

Fierce fighting at Belfast continued this morning with considerable sniping throughout the afternoon. The death toll in the two days' engagement has reached fourteen, while 50 persons have been wounded. Along the border the military has replaced the specials. Enemy activity among the naval forces indicates the anxiety of the Northern government over the menace of an invasion.

A meeting in Downing street of the cabinet and the Irish delegates, lasting an hour and a half, preceded Michael Collins' departure for Dublin. No statement was issued.

Ten Thousand Children On Frolic at Springbank

HAPPY KIDDIES REVEL IN JOYS OF PICNIC DAY

Enliven Streets With School Yells As Cars Speed To Park.

GAMES AND RACES GALORE

North and South London Pupils Stage Baseball Contest.

There were no public school children in London at noon Friday. Miles from pencils, rulers and books, ten thousand of them were all having the time of their young lives at Springbank Park, for the long-awaited annual public school picnic is in full swing.

Since 8 o'clock in the morning, special cars have been carrying capacity loads of exultant humanity to the picnic grounds. Until noon, London was a city of noise, for in all sections of the city cars were speeded toward the Springbank line while the youthful passengers roared their school yells continuously.

Hardly a wink. No Pied Piper of Hamelin was needed to arouse the children from their slumbers when day dawned. In fact, many of the pupils slept hardly a wink all night and counted the minutes until it was time to get up and dress.

London mothers were up as early as the children preparing lunches and packing them in boxes, to be taken to the schools and shipped from there to the park.

Even when the schools were reached, the children, decked out in their school colors, were impatient until they were allowed to go to the points where they were to board the street cars. And even then their every move betrayed their impatience. They were not satisfied until the cars halted in the park, and they were allowed to run and jump at will.

Most of the classes had dinner ready by noon, but long before that the children had eaten numerous ice cream cones, bags of peanuts and other "goodies." Nevertheless, they were able to do justice to everything that was set before them on the paper table cloths laid on the grass. Lemonade, sandwiches galore, and cake disappeared in less time than it takes to tell. Only the fact that enough food had to be saved for a second meal in the evening prevented the youngsters from devouring everything that had been eaten.

Was Day of Days. Of course London's school children do not always gorge themselves, but Friday was the day of days in the school year, and besides romping and playing in the frolic air at Springbank Park does make one exceedingly hungry.

Not a minute was wasted by the children. As soon as they had eaten they were practicing for the races, despite the popular idea that one must rest immediately after a meal or suffer pain.

Each school had its own program of sports. Shortly after 1 o'clock the park was alive with runners and jumpers. Each school had scores of them. Reputations for running and jumping were made and blasted within a few short hours, but none of the contestants cared a whit for personal gain. They participated in the races for the sake of sport, and the losers were as cheerful as the winners.

Late in the afternoon schools of the north side of the city and of the south side battled for supremacy on the diamond. There two games, one between the girls and the other between the boys.

Really Human After All. Perhaps as interesting to the children as their own sports was the game of baseball between the school trustees and the teachers. When they saw their very own teachers chasing a fly in the outfield, or sliding into third base, they were convinced that their tutors were really human after all.

Not until darkness falls will the exodus from the park begin. Then, their pockets filled with pop-corn, candy, and peanuts, the pupils will start for home, convinced that they should be at least 24 hours of daylight on school picnic days, and wishing to return to Page 2, Column 5.

Summer Heat Melts Snow in Yukon So Fast That Rivers Overflow Banks

Dawson, Y. T., June 2.—The last remnants of winter's ice are melting so rapidly in the Yukon River, and its tributaries that floods are reported in many sections with the warmest May weather ever experienced in the territory. Four days ago it was 85 in the shade in Dawson, and 92 at Hazelton, which beats the previous May record by 5 degrees.

The Klondike River overflowed its banks at Rock Levee, which protects Bear Creek and its machine shops, lower stories of roadhouses, shops, barns and residences were flooded. The inhabitants moved to upper stories or the hills, while the whole town was covered with a uniform depth of two feet of water. The waters are receding today, and the worst is over.

Decide On True Bill In Delorme Slaying

MONTREAL, June 2.—Adele Delorme, whom Justice Monet yesterday intimated to the grand jury considering his case, had been dispossessed of his clerical status by church authorities, will be called upon to appear before a jury of the Court of King's Bench now in session on a charge of murdering his half-brother Raoul.

This morning officials of the courthouse stated that Justice Monet had decided on a true bill in his case, and that a report to this effect will be made to Justice Monet this afternoon.

ACCEPT VARSITY BRIDGE TENDER

Western University Awards Contract for Building of $125,000 Structure.

Bridge Is First Move in Erection of New Buildings.

John Putherbough, contractor, will build the new concrete bridge over the Thames River to connect the new street with the new site of the Western University.

His tender has been accepted by the university heads, and it is expected that work will be proceeded with immediately. The amount of the tender has not been announced, but it is believed that the bridge will cost about $125,000.

The bridge will be a three-span structure, the center span being 130 feet, and the two ends 80 feet. The whole construction will be reinforced concrete on a concrete foundation and a stone superstructure.

The roadway will be 20 feet, and there will be two 6-foot sidewalks. The bridge will be well lighted with five light clusters on each end and six single light standards across.

LLOYD GEORGE'S VACATION ENCOURAGES OPTIMISM

Premier's Departure for Wales Regarded as Sign of Improvement in Irish Situation.

LONDON, June 2.—It was announced at noon today that Premier Lloyd George would leave for Cricklethorpe tonight to open the war memorial there tomorrow, and that he would probably be away for a week. The fact that the premier is planning to absent himself from London so long encourages the belief that there is some improvement in the Irish situation.

Further informal meetings were expected today between Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, and Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann. It is understood the present discussions are centering principally upon the draft of the Irish constitution submitted by the Irish representatives with a view to framing it in such manner that it will not be at variance with the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

While outward indications show little change in the situation, well-informed quarters are more optimistic regarding the outcome of the negotiations than they were yesterday.

Toronto, June 2.—Authorized capital of $18,390,300 is represented by companies whose incorporations were reported in the Monetary Times during the week ended May 27, compared with $26,552,600 the previous week. A comparative summary by provinces shows that Ontario leads with a total of $8,220,000 and Manitoba second with $6,315,000.

JAPANESE CROP POOR.

Ottawa, June 2.—By the Canadian Press.—The department of trade and commerce has been advised that the spring wheat crop in Japan this year will be poor, owing to the unlight favorable weather conditions everywhere experienced.

ELLIOTT SAYS SCIENCE HAS NO QUARREL WITH RELIGION

New York Pastor Declares Greatest Scientists of World Were Men of Prayer, at Devotional Exercises of London Methodist Church Conference.

DECLARING that science is not incompatible with religion, and that he liked the Darwinian theory, Dr. George Elliott of New York, informed delegates to the London Methodist Church conference that the greatest scientists of the world were men of prayer, during devotional exercises Friday morning.

"Prayer is a primary duty," said Dr. Elliott. "A man that does not pray is an animal. In the rush of the world, a man to save time, must be a man of prayer. Time is saved through the acquisition of power by prayer."

Dr. Elliott pointed out that Martin Luther, one of the busiest men of his time, spent one hour daily in prayer. "The man who is going to do things and have power must take time to get the acquisition of prayer," continued the speaker. "I have no quarrel with the Darwinian theory. I like it. I like the theory of evolution because I can go out and listen to the singing of birds and see the beautiful trees and say that I am akin to them all. Science has no quarrel with religion. There is no incompatibility between the acceptance of Christ and science at the same time." The greatest scientists of the world have been men of science and prayer.

Four ministers of Michigan desire to enter the London conference of the Methodist Church. Their applications will be considered by the conference. The ministers are Rev. Harry E. Smith of Oxford, Joseph Didden of Utica, George A. Beacock of Frontenac and J. A. Sherlock of Sanilac.

Regarding the proposed union of Caven Presbyterian and Main Street Methodist churches, Exeter, the conference committee reported, while appreciating the recommendation that such union be consummated, the matter should be referred to the new committee. This was agreed.

Rev. J. W. Hibbert commented on the fact that church property, trust and connexional funds must be looked into in this case, and hence immediate action is indicated.

A memorial recommending that the Dominion transfer committee be reduced in size was defeated by the conference Friday morning. The conference recommended that the present system, whereby the committee consists of all conference heads, together with the general superintendent and secretary, be continued. The proposed change was to reduce the personnel to a permanent committee of three.

A memorial to make the general conference delegates to be elected by ballot, with seniority as a basis, was defeated. The proposed change was to reduce the number of delegates to be elected without nomination, was referred.

Charles Austin of Chatham then presented the missionary report. He pointed out that Miss Edith Tufts of Centennial Church, London, was going out to the two million fields. The net increase reported was $3,228, or 6 1/2 per cent. The report set $178,500 as next year's objective.

Rev. J. H. Arnutt, assistant secretary for missions, reported that the Dominion increase this year is 54 per cent over the previous quadrennium, or 48 per cent per member. Including the national campaign increase, it reached 95 per cent. He declared that the situation is still serious, as although the boards had caught up in accounts, a deficit will be faced this year.

The missionary committee recommended that a primary residence be inaugurated at Muncie as soon as possible under the superintendency of Muncie Institute. The motion presented the fact that on five Indian reserves in London conference there are approximately 75 orphan and dependent children between the ages of 9 and 12 years, and that the country is under an obligation to these children. Therefore establishment of the primary school was recommended, and the conference adopted this motion.

A second resolution from this committee urged that the home missions and Sunday school departments make a thorough investigation of the five Indian reserves in London conference to bring about a betterment of moral and social conditions, thereby protecting the natives. This resolution was also adopted by conference.

During the session, President J. Edwin Millard announced that Rev. Walter E. Rigby of London, president of the London conference 23 years ago, died Thursday night. Immediate Past President Joseph Hibbert paid tribute to Mr. Rigby, pointing out that he was the pastor who ordained him.

A resolution of condolence to the bereaved relatives was then passed by the session, and Rev. John Garbutt, George Henderson and George Kerr were appointed to act with President Millard in representing conference at the funeral.

The conference passed votes of thanks to Rev. Joseph Hibbert, past president, and Rev. I. W. J. Kilpatrick of Ripley, retiring secretary, for their services.

Complete Indictment In Merchants Bank Case

MONTREAL, June 2.—The bill of indictment against D. C. Macarow, former general manager of the defunct Merchants Bank, charging him with willfully having made a false and deceptive return to the Dominion government concerning the bank's financial standing for the month of October, 1921, has been completed and signed by Premier Taschereau, as attorney-general of Quebec.

It is now ready for presentation to the grand jury of the Court of King's Bench, when it returns from a week's recess, which begins tomorrow.

THINK DIBSDALE CAN BE MOVED

Officials Believe Slayer of Christina Near Can Leave Hospital.

Wound Is Reported To Be Causing Youth Much Pain.

Officials believe Gordon Dibsdales, 24 years old, 334 Oakland avenue, slayer of his sweetheart, Christina Near, 15 years old, 886 Adelaide street, may be sufficiently recovered from the gunshot wound which he himself inflicted to be moved to a cell in the county jail within the next 24 hours.

Members of the family visited him Friday morning, but were allowed only a few minutes to converse with him. They were not allowed to give him anything, as such action is contrary to the rules of the hospital, which are especially strict in the case of a patient of his category.

His wound is reported to be causing him much pain, but it is healing nicely, despite a certain amount of inflammation, physicians attending him find.

May Be Defendant. William Near, the father of the victim of the slaying of Tuesday night, and its consequent shooting Wednesday afternoon, may be the defendant in a court action brought by Dr. George S. Weir, attendance officer.

According to Dr. Weir, the girl did not have permission under the adoption act to go to work. The officer intimated that the Fraser Cap Company might be asked to explain why the girl was given employment without a certificate.

"I believe that if the proper thing had been done the girl would never have been shot," declared Dr. Weir. "She had a permit to work at the Penman factory, but changed her job. We were never notified of this, as we should have been."

Deny All Rumors. Rumors circulated to the effect that Dibsdales had declared his intention of shooting his sweetheart's brother also, were declared by officials, to lack foundation, as they say, Dibsdales has spoken hardly a word to anyone since he has been confined to the hospital.

Christina Near, Dibsdales' dead lover, whom he had asked to be his wife, will be buried in Woodland Cemetery Saturday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. G. A. Leichter of Adelaide Street Baptist Church.

BILL TO AMEND O. T. A. BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Member Says Crown Attorneys Should Not Prosecute Technical Cases.

MR. RANEY AGREES

Amendments Provide Penalties For False Labels On Liquor.

Toronto, June 2.—The first morning sitting of the legislature this session was held today. The House opened at 11 o'clock. Attorney-General Raney introduced a bill to amend the provincial judicial district of Cochrane, which will probably pass without opposition.

The bill to regulate filing of claims in connection with the Toronto cleanup deal, was adopted by the House in committee. The consolidated municipal act, which is a bill incorporating all the municipal acts and amendments of bygone years, came before the committee. The committee accepted the suggestions of W. F. Nickle (Kingston), and Provincial Secretary Nixon, to take the bill as read, and it was thus speeded upon its way. The bill to amend the Ontario temperance act coming up before the House in committee caused a lengthy discussion as to how the act should be enforced.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson stated as an instance of undue severity a case in his constituency where a man was buying a horse and after the deal was completed, he was offered a drink, which he accepted. Since it was in a public place he was charged with a breach of the act and heavily fined. He argued that this brought the act into disrepute.

Blame Crown Attorney. J. W. Currey (Toronto), said such action was blameable upon the crown attorney. He should have refused to prosecute. The magistrate had no option once it was prosecuted but to impose the fine, but a crown attorney who brought such a case into the court should be no different sympathizer with the crown attorneys should be informed by the attorney-general that the punishments provided by the O. T. A. were intended to prevent flagrant abuses, not technical nor unintentional breaches.

Charles McCreia (Sudbury) said that great care should be exercised in treating all classes of the community on the same level and if anything gave the advantage to the poor man. He had no sympathy with the bootleggers nor rum runners, but he had sympathy with a man who thoughtlessly broke the act.

K. K. Homuth (Waterloo South) said it was unfortunate often to have to leave the unfortunate breakers of the O. T. A. to the tender mercies of the magistrates and crown attorneys. Magistrates who did not sympathize with the O. T. A. would be inclined to be lenient with offenders, and those who favored the act would be severe, with the result that different kinds of sentences would be given in different localities for similar offences.

Raney Agrees. Attorney-General Raney said he agreed in advising magistrates and crown attorneys against pressing cases unfairly or giving penalties that were not merited, but these cases have not been frequent. The general inclination of magistrates was towards too great leniency. The clause in the amendments which held a man who counsels or aids in the breach of the O. T. A. in the same class as one who actually commits the offence was dropped.

The amendments provide penalties for false labels on liquor; makes the minimum for first offences for having liquor in a public place $100 instead of $200; in addition to ordinary fine for selling liquor, a person selling unlawfully manufactured or adulterated liquor will be sentenced to imprisonment for not less than three months; any law enforcement officer guilty of a breach of the O. T. A. will be sentenced to one month in jail in addition to the fine provided were he not such an officer, and minor changes.

The bill was adopted by the House in committee.

LONDON WOMAN ADMITS GIVING "TIP" TO POLICE

Mrs. Olive Koehler, of 236 Clarence Street, Crown's Star Witness in Bank Looting.

DEFENCE GRILLS WITNESS

Second Prisoner To Face Trial On Charge of Participating in Robbery.

Sarnia Ont. June 2.—When the court resumed proceedings Friday afternoon the crown called to the stand Albert McKay, Wyoming undertaker, who testified that on October 20 last, while he was in the Bank of Toronto there four bandits entered, one of whom was the prisoner Yohn, who covered him with a pistol.

BY WILLIAM SHARMAN. Sarnia, June 2.—Mrs. Olive Myrtle Koehler, of 236 Clarence street, London, the crown's "star" witness in the case against the four London men, alleged to be the Wyoming bank bandits, declared on the witness stand at the preliminary hearing here this morning when George Anderson was committed for trial as being a companion of Edward McMullen, committed at Wyoming Wednesday last, that she was the woman who had furnished the London police with information that had led to apprehension of the prisoners.

Mrs. Koehler admitted further that she had hoped that she would receive the $5,000 reward offered, and gave assurance that she would make formal application for same.

The crown is presenting its case against George Anderson, John ("Casey") Yohn, and William Ayers, each case being disposed of separately.

Anderson was first called today, and after the hearing of three witnesses, County Magistrate J. J. Jarvis declared that the evidence submitted compelled him to hold him for trial.

Through his attorney, Norman Newton, of Meredith & Newton, London, the prisoner pleaded "Not Guilty."

As at Wyoming, the crown called two witnesses—the teller at the bank and Miss Bailey, a customer in that institution at the time of the robbery.

Not unlike "a bolt from the clear sky" was the first move by the defence, who called to the stand, when the crown "treated" the mysterious Mrs. Koehler, the crown's "star" witness.

"There is nothing like carrying the war into the enemy camp," declared counsel for the defence, as the crown endeavored to regain composure, and the crowded courtroom awaited with eager expectancy the entrance of the woman about whom so much discussion had centered earlier in the trial.

Replying to Mr. Newton, witness stated that she lived at 236 Clarence street, London, and was married, although she and her husband had not lived together since December last.

Lives With Widow. "I live with a widow, Mrs. Ballif," she stated.

"Who is supporting you?" asked the defence.

"I support myself," was the reply. "I have been nursing Mrs. Ballif," "What ailment has she?" "A bad cold," replied witness. "What wages was she paying you?"

"Ten dollars a week," replied the witness, who explained further that the landlady did not get sick until a week after she arrived.

At this point, Crown Attorney Willson precipitated a lively debate between the defence counsel, the magistrate and himself, as to the necessity of this inquiry.

While the crown asked for a ruling from the bench, Attorney Newton warned the court that in his legal capacity he was entitled to certain letters. Turn to Page 2, Column 8.

ADMIT ROBBERING ELMIRA STORE

Three Burglars Appear Before Magistrate Weir in Toronto Court.

Abraham Klein Charged With Having Received Stolen Goods.

Kitchener, June 2.—Percy Brenzell and Reggie Hughes, arrested in Toronto yesterday in connection with the burglary of the J. A. Schroeder store in Elmira early Monday, were brought to this city last night by Detectives Tuft, Stewart and Nourse of the Toronto police, and remained until June 7 by Magistrate Weir in police court this morning.

Reggie Johnson, also arrested in the case, is being held in Toronto and will be brought to Kitchener later. It is understood Johnson is holding out, while the other two have practically admitted their connection with the Elmira job. This cleans up the case according to the Toronto detectives, who were interviewed here this morning before leaving for Toronto.

Abraham Klein, president of a restaurant here last night upon the arrival of the Toronto officers. He is charged with receiving stolen goods. Thirty-seven rolls of cloth, said to be part of the loot taken from the Elmira store, were found in his attire. Klein claims he purchased from the Toronto police, believing them to be representatives of a firm which was selling out. He states he paid $275 for the cloth, while the prisoners from Toronto are said to claim that Klein paid them only $50, and that the deal was put through at this house here Monday morning about 5 o'clock.

The goods recovered from Klein's house are valued at $3,000. The rest of the loot, consisting of suits, straw hats, caps, ties and plus, were recovered in Toronto and identified by Schroeder. The goods taken from Klein's house here last night were also identified by Schroeder. Klein has been allowed out on $5,000 bail, but bail was refused the Toronto men.

ELLIOTT RECONCILES SCIENCE, RELIGION

their work during the past year. Many delegates endorsed the splendid efforts of these two officers and their untiring zeal manifested on behalf of the conference.

Thursday afternoon A. B. E. Brighton, on behalf of Mayor Cameron Wilson, officially welcomed the delegates to the conference delegates, and acknowledging the honor accorded London, expressed the hope that the conference would return next year.

In reply, J. C. Hay of Listowel declared London to be first in Canada for beautiful homes, general surroundings, hospitals, and schools. "Nowhere in Canada have we been more royally entertained," he said.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh of King Street Presbyterian Church, on behalf of the Presbyterian clergy of London, and C. M. R. Graham, on behalf of the laymen, then addressed the session.

Speaking on church union, Mr. McIntosh said: "It is my personal conviction that organic church union should be consummated, for I am what is known as a union man. But I firmly believe that proper deliberation should precede such union, so as to make for the familiarization of details, doctrines, ideas and services that will never need to be repeated."

"It will be to the great gain of all concerned when union is finally consummated," said Mr. McIntosh.

Had Got Religion. C. M. R. Graham, in extending greetings from the Presbyterian laymen, introduced himself as one who "has got" religion. The Methodist Church, but joined the Presbyterian Church "so as not to lose it." He mentioned the fact that the Presbyterian General Assembly now in session will consider church union in all probability, on the eve of the Methodist general conference, when this important subject will come up for discussion.

He declared that the church of today lacks a centralized objective, and that there is an inadequate organization, the speaker terming the present status "overorganized."

In reply, Rev. L. W. Hill said: "I do wish after twelve years of courtship that the holy romance be published. If the church cannot do her duty I should be written, I join with every Roman Catholic. I join with every man who follows Jesus Christ. I think we will not lag behind in church union."

Principal Perry S. Dobson of Alma College, St. Thomas, presented a report on the conference. The aim of his institution he asserted to be the development of Christian character and preparation of girls for the responsibilities of womanhood.

He pointed out the policy of Alma College and its new building, estimated to cost $25,000. The conference then unanimously voted to raise this amount, with portions allocated to each United. Rev. J. W. Hibbert made this motion, and incorporated in it appreciation of the work being done by the college and its principal, Centennial Church was again provided to capacity at the general session of the London Methodist Conference. Thursday evening when the speaker was Dr. Merton S. Rice, of the North Woodward Tabernacle, Detroit, known as one of the finest and most eloquent speakers of American Methodism.

Pope, Ignoring Conventions of Vatican, Appoints Maid Servant

ROME, June 2.—Pope Pius has ignored the conventions of centuries by installing his old servant, Signora Linda, within the precincts of his apartment, in charge of his wardrobe, maid, and wardrobe maid, says the Giornale d'Italia.

Signora Linda has been with the Ratti family for forty years. Upon his appointment as cardinal, Archbishop Pius quickly called her to govern his household, and after only seven months as a cardinal he was elected pope.

Upon his elevation Signora Linda prepared to retire to a convent, but instead was summoned to Rome and installed by Pius in charge of his wardrobe, to which she adds many other duties, ordering the frugal meals for the pope and his secretaries, overlooking the details of housekeeping and insisting upon economy and order.

world today which will make for an era of greater peace and happiness. "Today more than ever," Dr. Rice continued, "men must put forth a greater effort, and thousands of failures in life are due to the margin of dishonesty in the statement, I did the best I could." It becomes a duty of us to make that statement, until death itself forces us to abandon our efforts, when we consider the immensity of the problems which the world has before it for solution.

"We must tune our souls to higher keys and walk through life imbued with a spirit of optimistic confidence born of our faith in God."

Dr. Rice's address followed a splendid musical service by the choir of Centennial Methodist Church.

William Heaman, president of the Laymen's Association of the London Conference, presided.

BILL TO AMEND O.T.A. BEFORE HOUSE

provision was also adopted. Attorney General Raney explained that the present system was that a man could go to a distillery, order a consignment of liquor to be shipped to a fictitious name in some United States or other foreign port, load the liquor on a truck and start for a given place on the United States border.

Once en route, however, he could unload it, either at some point in Ontario or some point in the United States where he would evade the United States customs.

Ship By Rail. This act will prevent this to some extent in that a distillery must ship by rail or boat. In the case of rail it is pretty certain to go to the place consigned and not evade the United States customs. Mr. Raney explained that there was some doubt whether the province had power to prevent liquor being shipped by boats, and accordingly the bill makes no attempt to do so.

R. L. Brackin, Kent South, in moving an amendment to permit liquor being carried by highway, if it were proven to be bona fide for export, said the new act gave a monopoly to Hiram Walker & Sons to the kind of export business the bill seeks to avoid. That distillery is on the river and a boat can load there with liquor, clear for an American port and then go "wherever it likes."

The amendment was tabled. Mr. Raney saying that it would take the entire effect out of the bill. He said that even under the present act distillers could ship to some Canadian port and then tranship to boats.

One of the chief objects of the bill is to force all liquor going to the United States, entering the customs there, and while it is a step in that direction the attitude that the province has no control over the traffic by water, some of the speakers argued would still enable smuggling.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT SHORT SKIRTS

Why worry about short skirts, bobbed hair, or unbuttoned galoshes, they do not injure morals, manners, or character when in style. It is more important to buy her a perfect blue white diamond from John A. Nash, Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "Where You Will Eventually Buy."

He was the general chairman of the Michigan Central Railroad brotherhood, of which he had been a member for 23 years. Mr. Babe filled Mr. Murdoch's place after he went on the board of commerce, and since he became minister of labor, and was yesterday chosen as his permanent successor by the convention here assembled.

SAYS YETS ARMY IS RABBLE NOW

"General" McDonald Declares "Red and Sinn Feiner" Lead March.

To Submit Re-establishment Scheme to Committee in Afternoon.

Ottawa, June 1.—"They are just a rabble now, and are being led by a New York Sinn Feiner and a Toronto 'red'."

Such was the way "General" E. C. McDonald, the deposed leader of the army of unemployed soldiers, now marching on the capital, summarized the situation since leaving his former followers at Prescott yesterday.

McDonald arrived last night from Prescott, and while waiting to speak to T. L. Church, M.P., he reviewed some of the history of the movement and army of which he was recently in command.

A dollar ten a day for every day's service, or as an alternative a start in life by assistance to secure housing and employment is the re-establishment scheme to be suggested by "General" E. C. McDonald, former commander of the "hikers" army, to the government re-establishment committee this afternoon. Hence his resignation of the leadership of the unemployed army.

E. C. McDonald has resumed the title of "Mister." He arrived in the city late yesterday, and despite his disabilities spent most of the afternoon and evening interviewing members of Parliament. He has been asked to lay his re-establishment scheme before the committee this afternoon.

"The government, as well as the public, have not yet realized the sense of the 'red' element in Canada, an element which is bidding its time and aiming to gain a foothold among returned soldiers," he said last night.

privileges, and intended to exercise them to the limit. "I don't know why the crown should attempt to conceal these facts. We should have every disclosure from your star witness, and nothing should be kept back, everything there is about her."

As the judge continued counsel for the defense insisted that the questions were pertinent and expedient.

When Magistrate Jarvis finally allowed the examination to proceed witness denied that she had received an interview with A. R. Douglas, crown attorney, at London.

Answering the next question, Mrs. Koehler said that she did have an interview with A. R. Douglas, and Detective Harry Down of London, when she imparted certain information that led to the arrest of the four men.

She admitted that she felt entitled to the reward and intended applying for the same.

Knew Wilfred Jones. "Do you know Wilfred Jones?" the defense asked.

"Yes, I am acquainted with him," was the reply.

"Will he share in the reward?" questioned Mr. Newton.

Poincare, Lloyd George To Dine in Downing Street

PARIS, June 2.—Premier Poincare, it was announced this afternoon, has accepted Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation to lunch with him at the prime minister's official residence in Downing Street on Thursday, June 8.

The French premier will be in London for the Verdun commemoration. The two governmental heads, it is presumed, will discuss pending problems at this meeting.

later Anderson threatened to "drill" him in ten seconds if he did not "throw off" the combination of the safe.

Witness said he could see the prisoner's face clearly, as he did not wear a mask. He had no doubt but that Anderson was the man.

Cross-examined by Attorney Newton, Taylor stated he saw Anderson in London jail with seven other men. He went to the jail with H. E. Lambert, his brother, but he could not remember whether Lambert went to the cell with him or not.

"Was Mr. Palmer along?" he was asked.

"Not the first time," replied witness.

At this juncture counsel for the defense complained that crown witnesses seemingly were attempting to evade. He asked the court attendants to take action to exclude them.

"We don't want that 'mysterious female' drifting around again," he warned.

Admits Three Visits. After a persistent cross-examination the teller admitted that he had gone into the jail three times at London on the same day to view the prisoner.

He was positive that the prisoner did not wear a mask during the robbery. The third bandit, however, wore a handkerchief, he remembered.

"This is a most remarkable case," commented the attorney. "One witness sees the prisoner with a mask, while another witness is equally positive that his face was bare. Your fine lot!"

In conclusion the teller declared he was "absolutely positive" certain that Anderson was the man who held him up in the bank.

Pearl C. Bailey, employee of Wyoming postoffice, second crown witness, stated that she was in the bank standing at a window when a man came in and got change from Taylor for five dollar bill. While the transaction was made she stood to one side, she said.

"There is the man," witness declared, pointing to Anderson in the prisoner's box, "who got the change and then pulled a gun and said to the teller 'hands up.'"

Wore A Peak Cap. Cross examined witness could not remember the clothing the bandit wore except that he wore a peak cap.

On the day of the robbery she had not seen prisoner until today.

Witness stated she had a good memory for faces and had determined to remember Anderson's face. She said she was frightened but could recall all that had happened, however, she insisted that it was her business to pay particular attention to strangers.

SIGNS POINT TO CHINESE PEACE

Developments in North Tend To Minimize Power of General Chang.

Military Leader in South Demands Resignation of Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

Peking, June 2.—Restoration of peace in China, torn by civil conflicts for years, seems nearer than at any time since the Peking government first encountered armed opposition. The whole matter, as viewed in the light of recent developments, revolves around Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the Southern or Canton government, whose fight to wrest control from the Peking government has been based on the contention that Ihsu Shih Chang's occupancy of the presidential chair was illegal, and that he and his associates were unduly subject to Japanese influence.

Developments in the north tend to minimize the power of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, who recently let it be known he planned to establish an independent government in Manchuria, as a disturbing factor.

Heu, in response to the pressure of public opinion, offered his resignation to the cabinet at an extraordinary session yesterday as a means of relieving the country of its difficulties.

The resignation apparently came as a response to a public sentiment which has been growing for some weeks. There are indications that the same pressure that brought about Ihsu's withdrawal as a central figure in Chinese politics is operating to remove the southern president, Gen. Chen Chung-Ming, the principal military power of South China, a few days ago demanded Dr. Sun's resignation and announced that he intended to support a movement to bring about a reassembly of the Parliament and the restoration to office of Li Yuan Hung, who was forced from his presidency by the military in 1916.

The accession of strength to those opposing him is believed likely to prove a powerful factor in influencing Dr. Sun's decision.

NURSE THINKS NOTHING BETTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Advised for all Women in Poor Health

Toronto, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and it is the only patent medicine I ever recommended. I am a nurse and if I find a woman in poor health I always tell her to take it. Although you know that doctors and nurses do not use patent medicines I must say that I think there is nothing better than your Vegetable Compound. When I first took it I was so tired when I got up in the morning that I could not eat, and when I went to bed I was too tired to sleep. My mother-in-law told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was just what I wanted, so I tried it and I first took two bottles when I felt better. Since then I have found that there is nothing that makes me feel so well, for it seems to build my system right up. I don't know any other medicine that has done so much for women."—Miss H. WASSER, 19 Wellesley Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Women testify again and again that they have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound "after other medicines have failed." It has been tried for nearly fifty years and not found wanting. If you are suffering from any of the various ailments which accompany female weakness try it.

ADD $6,000,000 TO CITY'S VALUE

Assessors Bring Valuation of London Property Up To $70,000,000.

New Scheme Regarding Annex Incomes Will Add to Rate.

When the assessment, now under way, for the purpose of the 1923 taxes is completed the total assessment of the city will be close to $70,000,000, an increase of about $6,000,000.

The total assessment for the purposes of the 1922 taxes was $63,000,000. This was an increase of close to $10,000,000, due to the launching of the Richter scheme of assessment.

The new system was not made applicable to the whole of the past year, however, London West and the larger portion of No. 3 Ward, south of the G. T. R. tracks, was not included.

The first work this year was the valuation of these two areas, and this has added materially to the assessment. Then for the most part there has been a general increase of $100 and $200 on houses all over the city.

Ward 4 assessment figures, which were announced by the assessment commissioner, showed a material increase in assessment, and Wards 2 and 3 will show an even greater increase. Ward 1 will about average up with Ward 4.

Income assessment is expected to equal, if not exceed, the total for the 1922 taxes, and this despite the fact that there has been a general decrease in incomes.

The federal income commissioner found that average deduction was around 35 per cent. However, London has made a hard drive on incomes, with the result that many people will be called upon to donate their first income taxes to the city in 1923.

The assessing of residents, who have their place of business in the annex at their residence in the city proper instead of their place of business, will add considerably to the tax total also. In the past, the tax levied on these incomes has been at the annex rate, 15 mills. Under the new scheme, the incomes will be scattered all over the city and will pay at the full city rate.

MAINTENANCE MEN MAY ASSIST STRIKING MINERS

Climax in Conference With Operators Expected To Be Reached Friday.

New York, June 2.—The climax in the two-months' conference between the hard coal miners and the operators was expected today, when the operators were to give their answer to the United Mine Workers' rejection of a proposed cut of 21 per cent in the wage scale. The miners demanded an increase.

Upon the attitude of the operators answer depended the future of the coal parley. Both sides believed that the breaking-off point in the negotiations was near. It was understood that the operators would insist on wage reductions of some kind and decline to consider any demands for an increase.

Union leaders said last night that if a strike was called, an order would be issued immediately to bring out the 8,000 maintenance men who since April 1 have been on duty to protect the mines.

U. S. Youths To Languish In Cells For 10 Days On Vagrancy Charge

JOSEPH CLAYTON, Leonard J. Smith and Wm. Young, three young adventurers from the U. S. A. and the state of Pennsylvania, to be more exact, all pleaded guilty to trespassing on the G. T. R. and will spend the next 10 days in the Middlesex county jail.

It has been some time since Clayton and Young came into close contact with a barber, but Smith, who occupied the middle seat between his friends in the police court Friday, looked as if a sharp razor had been carefully chased over his "dome."

"What were you doing?" demanded the court. "Freight ridin'," replied Clayton.

"What about you, Smith?" continued the court. "Same thing. Come from same place," said the youth of few words.

Young had nothing to add to the story, so without any more words the court handed out the usual sentence of $10 or ten days to the three trespassing vagrants.

JUDGE TELLS JURYMEN TO FORGET MAN WAS PRIEST

Justice Monet instructs Grand Jurors in DeLorme Case.

MONTREAL, June 1.—After hearing the evidence of Detective Georges Lajoie, the grand jury considering the case of Adelard DeLorme, charged with the murder of his half-brother Raoul on Jan. 7, this afternoon intimated, it is said, that it did not want to hear any more witnesses. This alleged action had made a rumor current around the court house that the grand jury had come to a decision on the question of whether a true bill or no bill should be brought down against the accused. No official announcement of this will be made, it is believed, until tomorrow, when the grand jury will present a series of reports on the case it has considered. It is possible more evidence on the DeLorme case may be called tomorrow.

The text of the address of Mr. Justice Monet to the grand jury in the court of King's bench this morning follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury.—I am going today to depart from my usual habit of not giving instructions to grand juries. I would draw your attention to the case of DeLorme which will come before you. Pardon me if I say 'DeLorme' because it is believed, the name of the man who is charged, but simply DeLorme. The religious authorities have dispossessed him of his sacerdotal character and his soutane. I know that you are good Catholics, but you have not the right to think of his old priestly habit. You must act towards him as towards a simple person, and as if he had never been a priest."

CLAIMS SERVICE STANDARD OF MAN

Dr. George Elliott Addresses Members of Kiwanis Club at Luncheon.

"True worth of a man rests in the amount of service given to the world, for the standard of service and servant is the standard of Jesus Christ," declared Dr. George Elliott, of New York, speaking before the Kiwanis Club at their noonday luncheon Friday. "The supreme human value, of all values, is simply service," the doctor said. Dr. Elliott, who is attending the Methodist conference in London at the present time, and who is prominently identified with that religion in the United States, spoke on "The Measure of a Man."

Commonly Applied. From the early life of a man, physical measurements were commonly applied to him. He was measured in pounds and ounces, or feet and inches. This, said the speaker, was the primitive method of measurement of a man.

"But," he continued, "countries where athletics had been stressed in the national life at one time or another, that time had been a period of decadence. I still have enough of the old spirit to believe that there is something in the physical measurement of a man."

In the United States it was claimed that the people of different cities judged men by different standards. In New York they asked, "what are you worth?" in Boston, "how much do you know?" in Philadelphia, "who are your parents?" in Chicago, "what was not the highest Shakespeare, of whom no one knew the physical size, was higher in history than earl or king, yet the standard that made him so renowned was not the highest, it was the intellectual standard. Judged by Reputation.

Nor could he be judged by reputation, for reputation was something that the doctor had learned "is a bubble, brilliant with all the colors of the rainbow, which when pricked bursts and leaves only soapuds," went on Dr. Elliott.

There was only one true standard, the standard of service, which contained the joy of creating and which was the standard of Jesus Christ, declared Doctor Elliott.

Six new members were admitted to the club at the meeting, namely, Les March, Earl Fuller, Cy Edy, Gordon Thompson, Art Harrison, Bill Reome, Joe Stone. The new members were introduced by Col. the Rev. Wm. Beattie, who commended to them the interests of the Kiwanis Club and service. "It is in that proportion that you give that you receive," said Col. Beattie. Arthur Ford, president of the club, presided.

LONDONERS OBEY PURE FOOD LAWS

H. J. Davis, senior food and drug inspector of Canada, was in the city Thursday and visited several soft drink establishments, wholesale houses and retail stores.

The inspector failed to discover any violation of the food and drug laws in his tour, with the exception of two places where he discovered that wholesale dealers in flavoring extracts were putting the name of the flavor on the neck of the bottle instead of in the main panel of the bottle label.

There is a fine of $50 and seizure of goods for this offence, and so the retailers were warned to stop the practice or face prosecution. There will be one delivery by letter carriers in the morning, but special delivery letters received will be delivered.

Court Allows Mrs. Wright One Week To Send Her Two Boys To School

Mr. and Mrs. John Wright will have to send their two boys to school or they will be taken away from them and sent to the Industrial School. This was the ultimatum handed out by Magistrate Graydon Friday morning in police court.

"They sent the boys away to the grandfather and I withdrew the case. Then they came back again," complained Attendance Officer Dr. Weir. "I can't understand why people don't send their children to school," stated the court. "If you don't send them to school I'll have to take the children away from you, Mrs. Wright, and send them to the Industrial School, where you will have to pay for their keep. Why isn't Mr. Wright here this morning?"

"He had to work, and didn't want to lose any time," was Mrs. Wright's reply. "I have to lose time, too," announced the attendance officer. "These boys should go to school."

"Well, the mayor of the city gave one boy a certificate," interposed the magistrate. "He has a cut on his arm," informed Mrs. Wright. "He doesn't learn with his arm, does he?" inquired Mr. Graydon. "These two boys do nothing but run the streets," said Dr. Weir. "You better summon the mayor to give evidence."

"I'll impose a fine on your husband and send the boys to the Industrial School," decided the magistrate. "This is final. I'll give you one more week to get these boys to school, and I advise you to see the mayor, Mrs. Wright."

ALLIANCE EXPLAINS VICTORIA VOTE

Secretary Tells How Referendum On Lord's Day Act Was Conducted.

"A most erroneous impression has been created by a dispatch from Victoria, stating that upon a vote taken on the 'rigid' enforcement of the Lord's Day Act, the citizens by an overwhelming majority declared just issued by the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada.

According to this statement, the facts in the case are: "The proposed vote was not upon the 'rigid' enforcement of the Lord's Day Act, but whether it should be enforced at all, as indicated by the notice."

"Are you in favor of the Sunday closing of all stores and businesses within the meaning of the Lord's Day Act?"

"Upon representation by the Lord's Day Alliance, the mayor, following the advice of the city solicitor, instructed the returning officer to withdraw all notices . . . and to cease from any further act looking to a submission of the aforementioned question." This advice was that the municipal act does not give the municipal council any authority to submit by referendum to the municipal electors whether the Lord's Day Act should be enforced.

"A vote was taken, but how, the Victoria Alliance explains: "The plebiscite was got up, staged and managed entirely by the 'Anti-Bible Sunday League.'"

"2. Although the city council refused to allow the plebiscite, the vote was taken in the public market at the same time and place as that upon an important city bylaw."

"3. No representative of the Lord's Day Alliance, or of any like-minded organization, was officially connected with the plebiscite. The proceedings were therefore without official scrutiny or regulation of any kind."

"4. A large number of citizens deliberately refrained from voting; the Lord's Day Alliance having requested their friends to take no part in the plebiscite."

"5. Notwithstanding the one-sided character of the proceedings, out of a total possible vote of 12,500, only 5,876 were claimed as against the enforcement of the law."

FORMER LONDONER GETS N. Y. HONOR

Dr. F. Fitzgerald Receives Surgical Appointment At Fifth Avenue Hospital.

One of the most coveted honors in the surgical world was recently conferred upon a New York resident when Dr. F. J. Fitzgerald was appointed one of the chief surgeons of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital which is to open probably next month. Dr. Fitzgerald, who is regarded by many as the foremost ear, nose, throat and eye specialist now practicing in New York City, is a former Londoner, and son of the late Judge W. W. Fitzgerald of this city.

Dr. Fitzgerald was born in London and graduated from the Medical School of the Western University. He then went to New York City and commenced practice as a specialist in eye, ear, nose and throat diseases. His rise in his profession has been uniform and steady, and now he is to be the hospital specialist in rhinology, laryngology and ophthalmology at the Fifth Avenue Hospital.

For some twenty years he was one of the specialists at the New York Eye and Ear Hospital, at 13th street and 2nd avenue, recognized as one of the finest hospitals of its kind in the world. For the past four years he has been operating at the Hahnemann Hospital at 67th street and Park avenue. The Fifth Avenue Hospital will be the successor of the 67th street institution. The new hospital will have 300 beds.

Dr. Fitzgerald went to New York five years ago. For the past three years he has been performing operations at St. John's Riverside Hospital. His patients include many Yonkers people. He is married, and has two children, a son, William, who attends the Riverside Country School and a daughter, Catherine, who is a student at Haleside School. Dr. Fitzgerald is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

JOHN C. FITZGERALD SUES BROCKVILLE CONTRACTORS

Claims in Court He Was Not Given Chance to Finish Work.

The case of John C. Fitzgerald, London painter, who is suing the Canadian Contractors and Builders of Brockville for $1,423.89 for work alleged to have been done on a building at Westminster Hospital, commenced before Mr. Justice Middleton at the court house Friday morning, and was still in progress at press time.

Mr. Fitzgerald claimed that he was not given a chance to finish the work, while the defence submitted that the job progressed so slowly that the government was forced to step in and complete the work.

Mr. Fitzgerald is appearing for the plaintiff, and Jared Vining for the defence.

The action of the First National Bank against M. White & Son of this city on a promissory note, was held over till June 25, in order that witnesses for the defence might be examined in Port Huron.

WINS ACTION AGAINST LONDON ALLEN'S THEATRE

Helena Costume Company Awarded Judgment in Dispute Over Electrical Contract.

Judgment in favor of the Helena Costume Company against the Allen theatre was given by Mr. Justice Middleton Thursday afternoon at the court house, in the action brought by the plaintiff against the theatre for the use of power supplied since May 1, 1921, till March, 1922.

The plaintiff company alleged that $2,882 was due for electrical energy supplied the London picture house. The total amount that the company will receive has not yet been computed, according to J. C. Elliott, K.C., counsel for the plaintiff, but it is said the amount will practically total the sum claimed.

The plaintiffs declared that prior to May 1, 1921, power was supplied for the picture machines and the organ at a flat rate of $53.90 per week. After that time power was supplied the organ at a flat rate of $5 per week. The current was not to be used for any other purpose, it was claimed.

Power was used illegally after that time, it was alleged, and the theatre was billed for 44 weeks at $53.90 per week, less $5 a week paid for power for the organ, and $620 per week service charge.

W. R. Meredith appeared for the Allen Theatre.

INSPECTOR PIPER CLAIMS RENTING HOUSES ARE SCARCE IN CITY

DESPITE all the new homes being erected, houses to rent are quite scarce in the city, according to Building Inspector Piper.

"The bulk of the new homes now going up are of the working-man variety, of which the inspector stated there is a great need. When these are complete he says it will result in a lot of second-class houses close in being for rent."

"Good houses," he says, "are just as scarce as they ever were. When one becomes vacant it is not left long enough to make it necessary for the owner to hang out a 'To Let' sign."

EXPECTS "U" TO OBTAIN GRANT

Col. Brown Receives Telegram Indicating Government Will Pass Estimates.

Col. W. J. Brown received a telegram Wednesday morning from Toronto which indicated that the Ontario government grant of $400,000 would be passed in the supplementary estimates in the Provincial Legislature Friday.

Some doubt concerning the grant had arisen over the fact that in the original supplementary estimates no provision had been made for the Western University item.

No opposition on the floor of the House is probable, Col. Brown states. Of the $400,000 to be passed, $200,000 is for the university maintenance and $200,000 for building. As soon as the house rises, which will be within a week or two at most, the $200,000 for building will be paid. As soon as this money is received building operations on the new buildings will be commenced, Col. Brown states.

The remaining $200,000 of the grant will be paid to the university on November 1 next, the end of the fiscal year.

While the university authorities were continually confident from the time that they were assured of the grant that it would be passed this year, the circumstance of the missing item had been enough to cause anxiety in some circles.

DISLIKE WORDS OF EDWIN SMITH

Public School Teachers Contemplate Action Against Board Chairman.

Chairman Edwin Smith of the board of education may be having a good time at the school picnic today, but he is in for anything but a "good time" with the public school teachers, according to statements made by several of them Thursday night. In fact, legal action against the chairman of the board is being contemplated.

Chairman Smith declared at a committee meeting Monday afternoon that if collegiate teachers were allowed to go to Toronto and mark departmental examination papers, "there would be a big holler from public school teachers."

"I know it," continued Mr. Smith at the meeting. "The teachers of the public schools are watching this, and if the classrooms of the collegiate are not kept open you'll have 225 of them after the board's hide."

Teachers of the public schools do not take this "dog in the manger" attitude, a member of the teaching staff informed The Advertiser.

"Mr. Smith has no right to speak for us, we can do that ourselves, and there will be some speaking done when the matter comes up at the annual meeting next week."

It is advisable to take legal action against the chairman of the board for making such rash statements. He had no authority to make them and should retract. He is becoming very "fair" to the public school teachers all of a sudden.

"We certainly do not object to collegiate teachers carrying a little extra money. We can all do with a little extra these days. They earn every cent they are paid for the work done at Toronto."

"Mr. Smith may find that our action in court may speak louder than his words," concluded the educationist, who is in close touch with the public school teachers.

PLAN BALL GAMES AT THAMES PARK

A temporary ball diamond is being laid out by the parks board at Thames Park, according to Philip Pocock.

Plans are in the making, however, for the laying out of a large, permanent diamond next year, and this will involve utilizing the layout of the park to erect a miniature amphitheatre.

The large hill at the back of the diamond site will readily lend itself to the erection of a bleachers at little cost. It is proposed to have regular games scheduled on the diamond, and a small charge may be made for the stand. In this way, Mr. Pocock says, the cost of the stand will be covered in a year or two.

As to the proposal that the playgrounds department should open up a new playground in the east end, Mr. Pocock says that he is more than willing to do so but cannot see where the money to meet the expense involved is to come from.

PICTURE AT GRAND HAS DEEP APPEAL

"The Bigamist," Starring Ivy Duke, Proves Splendid Headliner.

With "The Bigamist," one of the finest films ever shown here, as the feature picture, the Grand Theatre presents an excellent bill for the last half of this week. "The Bigamist" stars Ivy Duke, called, and with real claim to the title, "the world's most beautiful woman." Plot Begins in Africa. The plot revolves around the lives of Herbert and Pamela Arnott, who, for five years had led a happily married life in Cape Town, South Africa, where Herbert's business interests kept him, and where Pamela delighted in presiding over the beautiful big home which he had built her. After five years of married life there was no cloud in their sky. Then one day the blow falls. Pamela discovers that her supposed

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Product of Canada

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from disordered stomach or rundown blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical - and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are the vitamins and nuclein which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

PREDICTS ERA OF PROSPERITY

Rev. Dr. M. Rice Addresses Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and Canadian Clubs.

Declares Revival of Business Is Evident in Every Line.

Optimism was the keynote of an address delivered to members of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and Canadian Clubs, and Chamber of Commerce by Rev. Dr. Merton Rice, pastor of North Woodward Tabernacle, Detroit, at a luncheon held Thursday evening.

Dr. Rice, who has traveled extensively in the United States, and is familiar with the financial conditions of his country, impressed his audience with the manner in which he summed up the trade status of the present, which he characterized as abnormally prosperous.

Speaking of the United States and Canada in his opening remarks, Dr. Rice said: "It seems to be very difficult to find a line of distinction between us. With regard to your welfare drive, which is coming off, there is a feeling here. I know that it is akin to 'I don't think we can put it over this year.'"

"There is just the same thing reflected back in your country as in our country. A welfare campaign saves us from the very things we want to be saved from. Let's do it at once and get it all over with."

Died of Overwork.
"In Indianapolis recently they conducted a ceremony burying George. George died of overwork, everyone saying: 'Let George do it.' They put George out of business with elaborate ceremony. They got rid of shift into someone else. 'Let George do it' has wrecked more public campaigns than any other thing, without question."

"The industrial situation has changed in the last few months," continued the speaker, "and changed for the good. It will be more so in the very near future. Our city of Detroit has been overwhelmed with prosperity. Some think it is a flare. Perhaps it is, and will pass back to normal."

"I recently addressed a basket-

Saves Woman and Baby From Death Under Wheels of Heavy Fire Truck

Special to London Advertiser.
BRANTFORD, June 1.—The clanging of fire bells and the sound of horses' feet, Mrs. J. Wilson of Echo Place, started to cross the road with her infant baby Edith Wilson in a baby buggy. The heavy Seagrave truck was close to hitting the buggy when Sergeant Borthwick, of the local police force, rushed out from the opposite side of the road and flung the buggy and pushed Mrs. Wilson to safety. In doing so, however, the baby fell out of the buggy and only for the quick action of the sergeant the child would have received serious injury.

It is presumed that the woman became dazed with the truck careening down the street and that she had not the power to push the baby buggy to safety.

teach us what a period of financial stringency will teach us.

"I doubt if it has been reflected upon your country as much, as your banking laws are far better than it is not what you can get out of the world. In death your hands are as clean as when you come into the world. From poverty to poverty they will be shaken clear when you leave."

"Nothing is more satisfactory to you than to know that you have leaned out to do kindly things of the world. I bid you Godspeed in your tasks, and hope you put over your great drive before you."

Dr. Rice, who is a prominent Detroit Rotarian, and is familiarly known as "Mike," interspersed his remarks with ready wit and humorous stories which won the hearts of his audience.

U. S. TRADE WITH CANADA SLUMPS

WOODSTOCK, June 1.—Three of the most valued members of the Woodstock Collegiate staff have resigned. J. M. Laur, B.A., head of the mathematical department, has been appointed to the staff of London Collegiate at a salary of $2,800. He was receiving $2,500 in Woodstock.

E. M. Trace, M.A., has gone to join the Technical School staff at London at a salary of $2,600, which is an increase of $200. Miss A. M. Hooker, B.A., specialist in moderns, is leaving the teaching profession. Her salary at Woodstock was $1,800.

Members of the local board feel greatly disappointed over the loss of these teachers, having felt that the scale of salary set in Woodstock Collegiate was sufficiently high to keep other collegiates from overdoing their teachers. However, while Woodstock's maximum is $2,800 per annum, that of London is $3,200.

FAIL TO PROVE SEDITION CASE

Accusers of Celt Considered Unreliable Witnesses by Kitchener Magistrate.

Patrick Murphy Denies Statement He Was Alleged To Have Made.

Special to London Advertiser.
KITCHENER, June 1.—Patrick Murphy, charged with sedition, was found not guilty in police court today by Magistrate Weir, after the evidence of witnesses in the case had been heard. Crown-Attorney Bowby, after evidence had been put in, declared that he could see no reason for sending the man up for trial.

Murphy is an Irishman who has crossed the Atlantic about 35 times, coming to this country to sell Irish linen. It was alleged that in conversation with a man and his wife in the apartment house at which he is stopping, he declared he was sorry he allowed his two sons to go to fight the Germans, as he would have preferred them to go to England and assist in destroying the British Empire. Murphy claimed he never made the statement.

The man and woman who were responsible for the charge had to admit in court that they were not man and wife, but had been living as such since coming to Kitchener.

Both the crown and magistrate considered the character of the witnesses as such as to render their evidence unreliable. Murphy was allowed to go. He claims he will sue the pair for damages.

Kitchener is to receive a new inventory in the Automatic Records, Limited, capitalized at $100,000. The managing director of the concern, L. O. Dale of Toronto, has been in the city for some weeks negotiating with local businessmen in connection with locating here. The negotiations have reached such a stage as to warrant the tentative announcement that the company will locate here. They will turn out patented machines, including automatic ticket numbering and dating devices, cancelling apparatus and time clocks.

Yes Madame, these are the soaps that give you Premiums—Buy them and save the wrappers

Comfort Premiums—like our Soaps have been famous for over 30 years

Thirty years ago we decided to adopt Premiums as our method of advertising, believing that our customers would appreciate getting high class Premium goods, at no cost to ourselves, as well as standard quality soap products. Our success has been remarkable, and Comfort Soap has had the largest sale of any laundry soap in Canada.

During the war we had to give up handling Premiums as they could not be secured, but now we have them in greater variety and even better quality than ever before. Our premiums are given for wrappers from Comfort Soap, Pearl White Naptha Soap and our other products which are sold by all dealers.

REMEMBER OUR LATEST OFFER:—

IT'S A CHEERFUL GAME THEY'RE PLAYING NOW.

Book Review.
THE EX-KAISER of Germany has written a book, and the chances are that he will make a million dollars out of it.
 His son is also out with another long yarn in the way of a serial newspaper proposition, from which he will make a good heap of money.
 The world had all the kaiserism it wanted from 1914 to 1918.
 The world does not need, want or relish any writings from this group of assassins and baby killers.

Time To Back Down.

IT would be good practical politics for Sir HENRY DRAYTON to quietly withdraw the amendment he has presented to the Fielding budget.
 As the debate goes on it becomes very evident that those taking part are in a more serious frame of mind than the ex-minister of finance.
 Many of the Progressives are protesting against sections of the budget, and in certain cases they bring up very relevant facts that have a practical bearing on the case.
 Mr. DRAYTON has blundered and blundered seriously in his attempts to interpret the spirit of the house. Apparently he is going to persist in heralding his blunder from the house-tops.

Income Taxes.

AFTER POINTING out the size of the Canadian national debt the absurdity of the amendment that stands in the name of Sir HENRY DRAYTON, and the need for careful financing in the future, J. J. HUGHES of Kings, P. E. I., gave some interesting facts on the income tax in various countries during his address on the budget at Ottawa.

Taking various incomes as the basis for making his comparison, he showed what the income would be. It works out as follows:

On $5,000—
Canada	40 00
United States	40 00
Great Britain	460 00
Australia	121 51
New Zealand	158 45
On $5,000—
Canada	120 00
United States	120 00
Great Britain	377 88
Australia	234 70
New Zealand	482 62
x—Plus 5 per cent.
On $10,000—
Canada	419 50
United States	500 00
Great Britain	2,206 00
Australia	968 00
New Zealand	1,378 00
x—Plus 5 per cent.
On $20,000—
Canada	2,889 00
United States	1,994 00
Great Britain	7,159 00
Australia	3,045 00
New Zealand	5,848 00
x—Plus 5 per cent.

Getting Them All.

IF A MAN were to develop into a bit of a shell fish he might escape quite a few of the taxes that are being tagged onto people who do all sorts of queer things.

For instance, were a man to remain single he would not have to pay a marriage fee, nor give presents to the best man, the bride-maid, the flower girl, etc. Nor in after years would he have to pay indirect taxes every time he bought an outfit in the store for himself, wife or family.

If he refrained from smoking he would contribute nothing to the coffers of the country. Were he never to get mixed up in an O. T. A. case he would rob the province of $200 that might otherwise be taken from him. If he never speeds his car he cheats the authorities out of the fines that might be assessed against him.

If he never went and bet on a horse race they would get nothing from him in the way of a rake-off. If he were a tight-wad and never passed cigars around to the boys there would be no chance of collecting anything in the way of revenue from him. If he didn't smoke there would be no need of him totting around a box of matches on which there is a splendid tax.

And so it is that in order to make our system of taxation 100 per cent efficient we may have to start again and tax men's virtues as well as their follies. For it is a fact that quite a number of powerful good men have quite a lot of money.

London Street Railway.

THE Ontario Legislature passed the bill giving the London Street Railway Company power to charge a five-cent fare, and it will likely become effective as soon as royal assent is given to the measure.
 Dr. STEVENSON failed in his efforts to have a three-month hold on the bill in order that the citizens of London might have an opportunity to consider taking over the road.

There are certain things in connection with the franchise of the London street railway that the rate-payers generally may not know, and at this time these facts are interesting.

The bylaw is No. 916, and was passed by the Ontario Legislature on the 29th day of March, 1873, but having regard to other bylaws that were passed, it was thereby provided that the privileges granted to the company should extend for the period of fifty years from the 8th day of March, 1875. This places the date of the expiration of the franchise of the company at March 8, 1925.

The company was under obligation to place cars in operation of the same pattern, and equal in finish and equipment to those now used on Euclid avenue, in the city of Cleveland, and the same shall be in every respect equal or superior to the said cars. "Each car shall be supplied or maintained with fenders of the most improved design for the safety of the public. Cars shall not be crowded—a comfortable number of passengers for each class of cars shall be from time to time determined by the said engineer, and approved by the council of the corporation, and no greater number of passengers shall be carried upon or permitted to be in any car than the number so authorized, if any passenger on board the car objects, and calls the attention of the conductor to the crowding." The interpretation of this particular clause, then, seems to be that it will be up to some passenger, who has just secured a toe-hold in the rush hours, to make himself heard, and as the conductor pushes the little metal box in front of him, to hold up the performance and repeat: "Under Bylaw 916, section 2 of clause 18, passed on the 29th day of March, 1873, I hereby exercise the powers granted unto me as a citizen of the city, and notify you, the said conductor of this car, which is the equal of anything they have in the city of Cleveland, that I protest against the excessive number of passengers aboard, and call upon you to thin them out." That's according to the bylaw, so if you object to the sardining in the rush hours, you have the cure in your own hand.

There is an interesting clause regarding the assuming of the ownership of the road by the corporation. It can be done by giving a year's notice of its intentions to do so. This means that, if the city intends to take over the road, it will have to declare its intention on March 8, 1924. If the city does not take this action, the ownership and operation of the road automatically reverts to the company for another period of five years, and so on it goes until such time as the corporation decides to take over the road from the company.

The claim has been made that the increased fares will have a bearing upon the value the city will have to pay for the road, because it will have a greater earning power under the five-cent rate. This matter is dealt with in section 20: "In determining such value, the rights and privileges hereby granted, and the revenue, profits and dividends being or likely to be derived from the enterprise, are not to be taken into consideration, but the arbitrators are to consider only the actual value of the actual and tangible property, plant, pavements and equipments and works connected with and necessary to the operation of the said railway." In other words, the increased fares will not have a bearing on the price the city will have to pay, should it desire to take over the road. The price will be determined, as shown above, by the actual physical condition of the road. If the company can go ahead now and gather up money on the strength of increased fares, and put the plant and equipment in better shape, it may be possible, on that plea, to secure a larger price than if it were allowed to run along as at present. Amounts spent on improvements are very hard to determine, apart from actual voucher accounting of sums so expended.

The fares that were set in the original bylaw in 1873 are the same as those collected today, viz.: a cash fare of five cents for adults, tickets seven for a quarter, and rush-hour, nine for the same amount; children, three cents, or two tickets for five cents. There is not another place under the sun, where a commodity is being sold on the basis of things as they existed in 1873.

As this paper has said before, it desires to repeat: The charging of a five-cent fare, as allowed by the Legislature, does not settle the problem. The officers of the company may secure more capital for improving the service, on the strength of being able to recover it were arbitration to take place on taking the road over. It is not an attractive proposition from the standpoint of the investor.

The city council of London, or the public utilities, had they the power, should have entered into negotiations with the street railway months ago, in an effort to anticipate 1925, and get started on a permanent basis right now. This question will never be settled until it is settled right, and the present is not the right method from the standpoint of the ratepayers and the patrons of the road.

LITTLE 'TISERS

One of the hottest elections of the season resulted in the return of SENATOR PEPPER in Pennsylvania.

As a writer about spirits and spiritualism, it must be admitted that CONAN DOYLE could write good detective stories.

Some critics complain that the new tariff hits them, but the reduction of duty on collars may keep them from getting it in the neck.

What LENINE has done to Russia is best indicated that by way of making small change his presses are now turning out 1,000,000 rubles notes.

PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE seems to hold to the position of prominence by following the advice of Old Bill of war fame: "If you know of a better 'ole 'op to it."

A want ad in a western paper has the following: Cow For Sale—Gives good quality milk, also rope, pulleys, stove and refrigerator. At last reports the cow was still living.

A campaign is on now to keep boys from robbing birds' nests. The idea is very good and very splendid. But how about bringing the family cat into the arrangement? The batting average in the cat league must be fairly high at this season of the year.

WOODROW WILSON, if we remember right, used that fine phrase, "Too proud to fight," but SENATOR WATSON of Georgia evidently never paid any attention, for he asked one of his colleagues to step out into the corridor a few days ago to settle a fine point in the discussion of the day.

Dishonest Work

[Manchester Guardian.]
 MR. CHAMBERLAIN told the House of Commons on Wednesday that in the present congestion of government business the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle could not be considered. He added that when there is time to consider it the government will not, "in the present condition of British agriculture," recommend its removal. Both excuses are typical of the dishonesty with which this matter, a small one no doubt in this country but a legitimate cause of grievance in Canada, is constantly handled. At the last Imperial conference in 1917, it was agreed by the British minister of agriculture that the embargo, which was imposed a quarter of a century ago, nominally at least for purely sanitary reasons, should be lifted. It was admitted that there is no disease among Canadian cattle to justify its retention for that reason; and a definite pledge was given that so soon as tonnage was available it should be removed. There was no question of the step being dependent on the condition of British agriculture at any given time.

Since that pledge was given, a royal commission, for which there seemed no particular need, has reported that it should be carried out. Four years have passed and still no action is taken. Yet Mr. Chamberlain speaks as though the government were in no way implicated in the matter. It is not surprising that Canadians should be puzzled and hurt by these evasions. They are not square dealing. If Parliament could be persuaded to pass a straightforward measure protecting the farmer in this country at the expense of the consumer and the Canadian stock-raiser that would at least be an honest stroke. But to retain a sanitary regulation for which there is no need and which we are pledged to repeal as a mask for a protective measure that dare not be advanced as such is a shifty and unworthy device of which Canada has every right to complain. Time is promised for discussion of the question before long. No discussion should be needed; and we hope the house will point out to the government that honest action in this matter is long overdue.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is WELTER. It's pronounced wel-ter, with the accent on the first syllable. It means, to tumble about, wallow or roll; the act or motion of wallowing; hence confusion or turmoil. It comes from Anglo-Saxon "wiel-tan," to roll. It's used like this: "From the welter of figures which tariff disputants quote, it is difficult for the average man to form much opinion concerning the probable results of pending changes in the law."

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR
 A PAIR OF IDOLS. By Stewart Caven. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., Publishers. $2.
 ONE simple test could easily discover the readers whom "A Pair of Idols" will delight. Her head if to the word "ireland" they immediately answer "Blarney stone," and to the word "girl," "sentimental," then this story is for them.
 Its scene is laid in the Ireland of fiction. Gracie, the heroine, is a saucy colleen who wins the love of the hero by a courtship compounded of feminine wiles and tomboy acrobatics.
 There are incidents in the narrative which arouse the reader almost to the point of standing up to cheer for Gracie. Her methods may not be de rigueur, but Foch himself showed no more undaunted courage against heavy odds, nor more ingenuity.
 The exploits of Gracie make diverting reading, but the author himself unfortunately cramps her style by the effluence of his own.
 When Gracie got her hero to the point of kissing her, the author tells it thus: "It was then they kissed. Her head fell back in the instant of her abandonment to the surging pleasure that overwhelmed her when he crushed her to him in arms that seemed made of cushioned steel, and she felt his lips pressing upon her half-opened mouth. Joy rushed up through her like a spray of permeating, electrified ether, commencing at her feet and escaping through her hair, and with a sob she came to herself and opened her eyes and smiled. She felt as if she had been born again, or that her soul had passed through a bath of sublimating fire."
 But Gracie herself comments: "You're a fine one! Taking a liberty like that without asking!"
 Whereupon he asks her to marry him, and the author leaves it at that.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.
 NO 230 SELLING THE UPHILL WRITER.
 To many it may seem like a fairy tale that the correspondent for a business firm should be able to read the character of a customer from his hand-written letter, regardless of the subject-matter of that letter. But it can be done.
 As a matter of fact graphology, one of the most important branches of the science of characterology, can be made most valuable, for instance, to a mail order house.
 Consider a moment. Suppose the correspondent for such a business has before him two communications from customers. They have written inquiring details of a certain piece of merchandise or a sales offer which has been advertised. Both are cases which are important enough to warrant personal letters in reply, not mere forms. One of these inquiries shows writing in which the lines slant upward to the right. The writing in the other droops as the pen reaches the right-hand side of the page.
 These letters should be answered in very different tones, for the first inquirer is an optimist. The other is a pessimist. To the former you are quite safe and wise in enthusiastically recommending the best in every thing. He is prepared to believe the best. The pessimist, on the other hand, is inclined to look for the worst in things. He is instinctively afraid there is a "catch" in the proposition somewhere. Don't try to counteract this by being over-enthusiastic on the basis that he will discount what you say anyhow. Rather, be extremely careful. Talk a trifle about disadvantages and obstacles, but show him that in spite of these disadvantages and obstacles your proposition really seems to work out as a good one.

COLLEGES TEST USE OF FILMS

Chicago Professor Secures $10,000 Grant To Investigate Visual Education.

Two Illinois Universities Conduct Experimental Work With Motion Pictures.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Ten thousand dollars is to be spent in the next twelve months in an effort to determine just what value the motion picture has in the education of children.

It is claimed that the most extravagant promises have been made by enthusiasts for this means of imparting information to the young, while detractors have classed the films as practically valueless. Where the truth lies between these extremes Dr. Frank N. Freeman of the University of Chicago will endeavor to learn.

Dr. Freeman, professor of educational philosophy and connected with the School of Education of the University of Chicago, has been awarded $10,000 by the commonwealth fund of New York, an endowment formed for research work in various lines. Various sums are granted upon application, and after investigation discloses the worth of the object sought, and are for a period of one year. At the expiration of that time a report must be made on the results attained.

Two Problems Faced.

"There seems to be two general problems presented for solution," said Dr. Freeman. "One is to determine what can best be taught by moving pictures, and to devise means of enlarging this field, and the second is to find ways of improving the pictures themselves."

"Some of the films in use in the schools are of a purely educational character, but more of them are in the nature of literature, in that they are partly entertainment. There are, of course, biological and nature study pictures that might be classed as strictly educational. There are also in this class the animated diagrams showing the circulation of the blood, nerve action, etc."

Visual education at present is not systematized. The situation reminds me of an enthusiastic friend who went to Mexico to take pictures. He shot everything in sight, and then when he got back it took a geographer to cut and paste and get an

Deny Canada Will Offer Russia Any Loan.

OTTAWA, June 1.—The government of Canada has no knowledge of the alleged message from Canada offering a loan of fifteen million dollars to the Russian authorities for the purchase of Canadian food-stuffs.

If such a loan has been offered it is from private sources and not from the government. It is stated at the finance department that Canada has no money to lend at the present time.

Experience with the Rumanian and Greek loans granted for a purpose similar to that of the alleged Russian loan is not conducive in any case of further advances.

understandable story out of the films.

"Motion pictures will not spread over the whole curriculum, but will be incorporated as a part of the school work. What is best to show is a matter for much study. Some subjects, of course, lend themselves very readily to the film, as the hatching of salmon and orange culture. Pictures of the various stages in these industries are, I think, readily understood by the children. 'Getting vicarious experience,' one man called it.

"Valuable results are obtained in the presentation of objects which the child has never seen. If, for instance, the child never had seen a ship or a picture of one, a film of a vessel moving over the water would convey much more meaning than oral information."

Experiments Proceeding.

Experimental work now is going on in the University of Chicago, at the University of Illinois and in at least two cities where there are large school systems. Pictures are being taken, shown to the pupils and the results observed. One test is to determine whether it is possible by motion pictures to show the child the proper way to sit while writing; another will be on the proper use of tools, the pictures being made in the school shops.

"Due to the lack of precise information on the film in the educational field," said Dr. Freeman, "films sometimes are much too long. Again they are too short. How much film a child can absorb is a matter of experiment. There is a grave lack of system, too, in the matter of captions. I have seen films that were more than 60 per cent captions. Is this the best length or should there be no captions at all and such matter left to oral exposition after the manner of the illustrated lecture?"

"I am of the opinion that the film is not so far superior to other methods as to be substituted in a wholesale way, but that it has its definite field and is excellently adapted to certain things beyond doubt."

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL, Staff Correspondent The London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, May 31.—Garfield McKinnon of Guelph, secretary-treasurer of the Rural Mail and Postoffice to Railway Station Mail Contractors' Association, is fighting a battle in Ottawa on behalf of the rural mail carriers of Canada.

Mr. McKinnon has enlisted the sympathy of a majority of the members from Ontario in the cause of the mailmen, and now is preparing to carry the fight to the cabinet members. He expects a favorable decision within the next ten days.

The mail carriers are asking for the abolition of the contract system for mail carrying, and that in its place a flat rate of $70 a mile a year be substituted. Because the mail carriers did not enjoy an increase in pay or a high cost of living bonus similar to other government employees during the past few years they are asking that the revision in pay be made retroactive to 1917.

They are also asking for ten statutory holidays a year.

One other request is that all rural mail-boxes be placed on the right hand of the road. With many boxes on the left hand at the present time there is always a great danger of accidents because of cars approaching from the rear of the mail delivery vehicle.

FRIDAY will bring a deputation from Galt to plead for action towards a new postoffice for that city. The deputation, which will be headed by the president of the board of trade, will wait upon Hon. Dr. King, minister of public works.

It is not the intention of the deputation to urge the immediate erection of a federal building, although the people of that city feel that the need is very acute, but the government captions. Is this the best length or should there be no captions at all and such matter left to oral exposition after the manner of the illustrated lecture?"

Shows Big Decrease in Trade With U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—There was a big decrease in the trade of the United States with Canada during the month of April as compared with the same month last year. This was disclosed by trade reports issued today by the department of commerce.

United States exports to Canada amounted to $43,000,000 against $49,000,000 for last year, while imports were $21,000,000 against $31,000,000.

United States exports to Europe during April aggregated $182,000,000 compared with $175,000,000 in April of last year.

for three weeks more at least. There will be no session next Saturday owing to the king's birthday.

It was thought at first that the Progressive caucus would result in the elimination of several budget speeches and thereby bring about a shortened session. After the caucus, however, members of the Progressive party admitted that little along this line had been accomplished, and that the house would still listen to many orations before the debate had ended.

National I. O. D. E.'s New Constitution More Democratic, Duly Cautious

THE annual meeting of the National Chapter of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire in progress in Vancouver, is epoch making in the history of the order in Canada, from the fact that the revision of the constitution is the outstanding business.

According to the report of Mrs. McDougall of Montreal, convener of the committee on constitution, here are some points in which the new constitution differs from the old that will be of interest to members of the order in Western Ontario:

It embodies incorporation of chapters.

Refrains from further mention of granting of charters to other national chapters than authorized in the act of incorporation.

Provides for a full use of chapters' powers to make bylaws for management of their own business.

Provides representation to all provinces of the national executive.

Preserves to the national chapter its right to elect, but under a system of proportional representation to all provinces.

Alters system of nomination for the national executive by giving provincial chapters the privilege of electing nominees on a proportional basis.

Grants full measure of autonomy to provincial chapters in approving provincial governments.

Places a check upon enactment of hasty legislation by requiring a year's notice of motion to the national chapter for amendments to the constitution.

Looked Like Marguerite Wedding, Was Really "I Serve" Club Bazaar

It looked like a June wedding at first glance, so transformed into a bower of beauty was the school hall of the Crown Memorial Church on Thursday afternoon, with quantities of early summer flowers. But the only bride in sight was a demurely veiled doll lady, who stood guard in the centre of a table of fascinating needlework, decked with bridal wreath and daisies, and explained to all who inquired as a "trousseau table."

In reality the occasion was the opening of the grand summer bazaar of the "I Serve Club," which has made its name of city-wide significance, owing to its good deeds along social service lines. Much time must have been sandwiched in between by the expert young needlewomen for the making of all the novel and interesting articles which awoke longings for a millionaire purse, just for one hour. (Not to say that long prices were asked by any means.)

The marguerites made their debut to usher in June, and at the same time the I Serve sale. Garlanded with the yellow-centered white daisies that the booths, completely hiding the framework, and looped the tables, at which were offered children's wear in charge of Miss Kathleen Cowan, bags and baskets in fascinating array, offered by Miss Ella McGuffin; the most captivating of aprons, smocks and accessories, the home-made break, cakes, and tarts, fit for the king (or was it the queen) of hearts were sold to eager customers by Miss Helen Talbot. A novel idea was evolved for the campers' delight by the offering of evergreens that the honoree brought, and over all was a tent canopy. The goods were the kind for which there is eager demand for summer camping, hair pins, hair nets, easily laundered and very smart bed spreads, table covers and other necessities with an original angle. Miss Theresa White looked after "The Veranda," where jardi-

PACK-CARLEY.

A smart wedding took place at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the Methodist Church, Lambeth, when Alice Elena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carley, was married to William Leith Pack, second son of the late William Pack and Mrs. Pack of Lambeth, Rev. J. E. Hunter officiating. As the bridal party entered the church, the wedding march from "The Crown" was played by Mrs. Charles Turner of London. The church was artistically decorated with purple and white iris and tall, stately palms, with clusters of pink peonies tied with tulle, marking the guests' pews. The ceremony was performed under a white arch decorated with smilax and valley lilies. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her wedding gown of ivory tulle, with graceful sleeves of chantilly lace, and a girldle of white sequins and beads. Her veil, which fell to the hem of her skirt, was caught with rose point lace and orange blossoms, to form a coronet, and she carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses and valley lilies. Miss Mary McGuffin of Calgary was a dainty little flower girl, wearing a frilly frock of shell pink organdy and a poke bonnet of lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet. Master Billie McGuffin was the ring-bearer, wearing a little velvet suit with a white satin blouse, and he carried the ring in a basket of flowers.

During the signing of the register, Miss Dorinda Abbott sang "The Crown." Mr. George and Mr. Harold Pack, brothers of the groom, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, followed by a dainty wedding supper, served at small tables decked with flowers. The bride's table was artistically decorated with roses, valley lilies and pansies, tastefully arranged and centered with the bride's cake. The rooms were decorated throughout with a profusion of spring flowers and pink and white streamers. Assisting were Misses Marjorie Lyons, London; Helen McLaren, Tilverton; Pearl Mann, Lambeth; Beattie Sirok, Toronto, and Minnie Pack of Lambeth.

Mrs. Carley, mother of the bride, gowned in black duchess satin trimmed with jet and sequin, with a harding blue girldle, and Mrs. Pack, the groom's mother, wearing a gown of gray and black tulle, and a crown of gray and black tulle, received, with Mr. and Mrs. Pack.

The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the organist and soloist silver bar pins, to the flower girl a silver bracelet, to the ring-bearer a signet ring, and to the ushers gold pencils.

Mr. and Mrs. Pack left on a honeymoon, which will be spent on the Kawartha Lakes, the bride traveling in a smart suit of navy tricotine, a white blouse trimmed with green frills and a jade green hat. Upon their return they will reside at Leithelm, Lambeth, and will be at home after September 1.

Among the guests, who numbered over 60, were many out-of-town people, including Miss Clara Banghart, Judge Ross and Mrs. Ross, Mrs. J. C. Best, Mrs. E. H. Best, all of Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. George Allen of Allenton, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mann of St. Thomas, Mrs. C. F. McGuffin, Calgary; Mrs. Leith, London; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner of Hartfort, Conn., and Mrs. J. C. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Lampert, Mrs. William Hayman and Mrs. Charles Turner, all of London.

BABY'S WEEK EXHIBIT NEEDS THREE ROOMS

Committee Arranges With Technical School Principal—Erect Posture Slides Featured.

Mrs. Harry Blackburn, Mrs. Glennie Wilson of the executive of the London Child Welfare Association, with Miss Bertha Smith, superintendent of Child Welfare nurses, paid a visit on Thursday afternoon to the London Technical and Art School to consult with Principal H. B. Bost regarding the amount of space that will be available for the child welfare exhibit to be held next week, June 6, 7 and 8.

Three rooms will be put at the disposal of the committee, in which to place the exhibit, the fine one loaned by the general conference of the Methodist Church in Canada. Lantern slides are to play a prominent part in preserving and promoting health, associated with inaugurating an "erect posture" campaign in New York State, too, a war upon the present-day fashion plates and flapper walk, Miss Horton is endeavoring to produce a similar movement in Canada. The importance of correct posture is so fully recognized by the Child Welfare Association that space for this feature has been granted.

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing in London.

HEAR ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

Reports from the Lambton and Middlesex Association, Women's Mission Circle conference, held Wednesday in Sarnia, were a feature of the closing meeting of the season of the Women's Circle of Tabernacle Street Baptist Church, held on Thursday afternoon. These were ably presented by Mesdames E. L. Brown, J. W. Jones and R. L. Wilson. A letter from Miss Laura Allyn, the medical missionary supported by the circle in Pethapuram, India, read by Mrs. W. J. Jones, contained interesting information with regard to the political and social unrest of India at the present time, the appreciation of the people of the hospital and other medical service. Mrs. Stewart read items regarding missionaries of the church in India, prepared by Mrs. Stillwell. A special collection was taken on behalf of Dr. Allyn and her work. In this connection the circle has a novel method of keeping the obligation before the members. Cards on the calendar order to hang on the wall in dark blue were distributed, each bearing a picture of "Our Own Medical Missionary," and depending from the bottom a little silk bag always ready to receive coin. Mrs. Hazelgrove presided, Miss Gwendolyn Ware contributing a much-enjoyed solo.

"TECH" GIRLS GIVE JOY.

A happy time is in store for the little people of the Children's Aid Society Shelter a few days hence, when they receive a big bundle of gifts made for them by the members of the Service and System Club, organized among junior pupils in the household science department of the London Technical and Art School, with Miss Florence Robson, daughter of Capt. Tom Robson and Mrs. Robson, as president. Fascinating little sweaters have been knit of soft gray, beautified with trimmings of white. The daintiest of outfits have been made up, fit for the most fastidious little girl in London to wear, and in addition soft, woolly scarves for chilly days, scrap books and paper and cardboard dolls, many of which are gowns, trousers, etc., cut out of magazine. No less than 36 envelopes containing the dolls and their trousseaus will gladden the hearts of the doll-adoring children.

STILL HOPES FOR CHAIR.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am very grateful to you for putting my letter and request for wheel chair in your corner. Please find inclosed 10c for Sick Children's Hospital fund; I wish it were more. The first time I wrote you was many months ago, asking the Boxes if any of them were leaving city and wanted a good home for a singing canary. I would be glad of the gift of one in my lonely existence. But my need now for chair is greater. The world, what I can see of it, and the lovely blossoms look beautiful to me. How much we have to thank God for, have we not? I will send you some hints that may be useful to boxes. Keep a bottle of liquid glue and a bottle of cheap yellow vaseline in the house. If, as often happens, the tag comes off a new shoe lace, take needle and coarse, black sewing thread, insert needle at bottom of impression where tag came off, wind tightly round, push needle through top, make a knot, then immerse in glue, only takes a moment. Will outlast shoe lace. If the walls of a room will not hold a nail, insert a smaller nail than you need, push, or a smart knock with hammer; put heavy nail into glue, push into hole, let dry for some hours; then you can hang picture of heavy weight or whatever you wanted nail for. If door hinge squeaks, apply vaseline, open and shut door a few times, then there you are in The Advertiser office sorting, reading, writing, etc. Yes, I said everything is full of promise. I am, too, if I could only catch Sir Hawk, who has sent me, he would find my promise was not made in vain. I wonder if any of the boxes have some geraniums they do not want. I tried putting mine out too soon—sort of rushing the season—with bad results. Will sign myself, IMA MAY BIRD.

It would be more satisfactory if the boxes wishing mint roots would send me for your address, including a hospital mite, and you could send the roots direct to them. Yes, I, too, have a chance to enjoy the orchards, May Bird. Aren't they lovely just now? I hope someone has some geranium slips for you.

WANTS EGGS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Hoping you will have time to spare to read my letter, as doubtless everyone is so busy spring cleaning, gardening, etc. But I am wondering if any of the country readers

I sincerely hope that you are fortunate enough to obtain a wheel chair, for the summer months, as you would be able to stand the hot weather better if you got out, wouldn't you? Maybe someone would lend you one for a while. If they feel they cannot afford to give it to you. Thank you for the household hints, which are very useful. I am quite sure your first letter never reached the Mail-Box, as I do not remember as used, and last a lifetime.

SORRY FOR MISS GREY.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having been an interested reader for a long time, I felt I must write when I saw an inquiry for mint roots. I have hundreds and anyone wishing for them can have what they want by paying postage, or I could send some to Miss Grey, and they might make a little to swell the Sick Children's Hospital fund. Say, Miss Grey, I am sorry for you these lovely May days. Our orchard is in full bloom and everything full of promise, and could help me out. I would like to get a few eggs. I would like to get a few eggs, but am not able to get any eggs. I want them for pets, as I have plenty of spare and at present lonely time, to attend to them. So if any of the Mail-Box readers could spare a few eggs of either kind of bird, I would gladly pay all expenses. I have a few chickens at present, also some little banties, which are so cute and tame.

Inclosed find mite, and my address is with Miss Grey.

"BEXHILL SUSSEX GIRL."

Anyone who has eggs to spare may have your address from the Mail-Box, Sussex Girl. It must be interesting raising fowl. I must be interested in remembering our hospital fund with a mite, all of which helps towards our objective.

ROSY CHEEKS RETURNS.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxes,—It is a long time since I have written to you. Have had sickness in home, but restored to health again. The good Lord has blessed me with a darling baby girl. He knows what is best for us. Dear readers, did you ever try making children's sleepers for summer out of blue chambray, cutting the feet off and using little touches of white finishing braid, of the waist and opened down front. I got some shirting and made wearing suits for him, using the desired length below knees. They are easily ironed and handy to put on. Have a nice correspondent through the Mail-Box, and the best of it is I Mail-Box, and the best of it is I hope some salvia seeds. Success to Boxes. ROSY CHEEKS.

We are delighted to hear from you again, Rosy Cheeks, and to hear about the arrival of your baby girl. Thanks for the hints for baby clothes, and the hospital mite. I am sending you some cinnamon bulbs and seeds, but there are no salvia seeds in the Mail-Box. It must be interesting to meet some of the correspondents.

WANTS HIGHLAND DRESS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am going to ask you to favor me by asking through your page if anyone can help me to get a Highland suit for a little girl about 8 years of age. If anyone has one they don't need I could take the pattern off it, or will be willing to pay for whatever I get. I hope someone will help you get a pattern for the little lassie. I have put your name on file in case it is asked for.

Radio Radiations

Amateurs are requested to make their queries as brief as possible to facilitate the publication and answering of the questions. Address your communications to the Radio Editor, The London Advertiser.

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.
ARRANGEMENTS have been completed between the Radio Telegraph Service and the Postoffice Department whereby amateur radio operators desiring radio receiving licenses in Western Ontario may procure them from the postoffice officials instead of sending to Ottawa as was the case in the past.

Brantford have been empowered by the naval department to issue these licenses to amateurs upon the receipt of a fee of one dollar. Beginning June 1 the department will issue radio receiving licenses to all persons applying to them, irrespective of their nationalities. However only British subjects, as formerly, will be allowed to take out licenses for transmitting sets.

Any amateur desiring a license may obtain the same by applying to the postmaster in any of the above-mentioned cities or by writing to Mr. Beattie at Mount Brydges. W. E. Beattie is radio inspector for Western Ontario, and has declared himself willing at all times to aid amateurs in any difficulties that may confront them.

They Grow Longer!

IT is true—actually true—that skirts are longer; and that is a sign that the terrible schism that has disrupted the world of fashions for two years finally is healed.

Two years ago Parisian designers said skirts were to be longer and for all the seasons of those two long years Canadian women have continued to wear them short.

However, the breach is healed. Canada admits that, perhaps, after all, skirts are longer.

The lines of all the newest frocks are very simple. Low waists and longer skirts are worn. The trimming does not break the lines of the dress (no ruffles or puffs) but consists for the most part of colorful embroideries or flat trimmings applique.

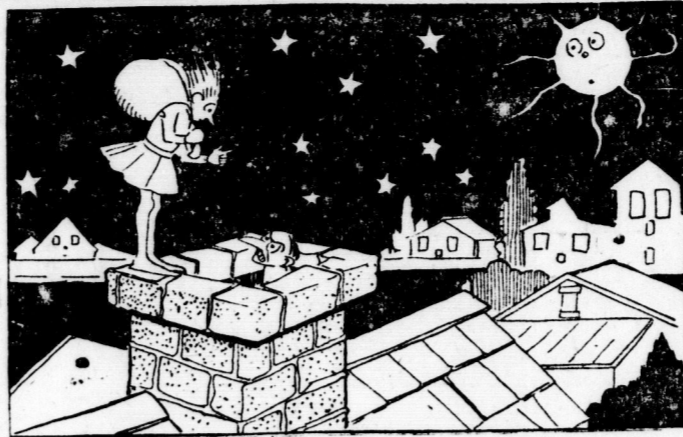

Hold Induction Service at Chalmers Church. Rev. John Richardson, Formerly of Wyoming, Introduced to Congregation.

One of the most impressive ceremonies in the history of Chalmers Presbyterian Church was the induction of the new pastor, Rev. John Richardson, formerly of Wyoming, Thursday evening. The service was largely attended by members of the congregation.

Two members of the session introduced Rev. Richardson and his wife to the congregation. An interesting feature of the service was the reading of a letter from Rev. Mr. Moffatt, the first pastor of Chalmers Church. Rev. Mr. Moffatt stated that he was inducted on the same day 25 years ago.

WINK'S IN TROUBLE Comet-Legs Steals a March

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

"Oh, ho! You have, have you?" said a voice.

WINK, the dream-fairy from Snoozelium Town on the Moon, slung three little poppy-leaf bags over his shoulder and slid down a bright moon-beam to the earth.

It was a glorious night, a night so clear and lovely you could see the colors of the flowers in the garden. There were faint stirrings and rustlings everywhere—night sounds, people call them. Some say it's the tiny insects, and some say it's the wind.

But it's really the fairies that come from the moon. Over in the forest the trees rustled and swished softly. That was the Tree-Fairies who hop from branch to branch looking out for the birds, their babies and nests.

Up in the air was the faintest hum—the wings of the Cloud Fairies. Here and there one could hear a faint chirp—the Chimney Fairies on the chimney-tops calling to one another. And there! That sounded like a happy laugh. One of the happy Dream Fairies, of which Wink was one.

Wink slid down his moon-beam to the roof of Tommy Brown's house and climbed up to the top of the chimney. He expected to find Black Cap there. Black Cap said he'd be sure to see that none of Eena Meena's bad fairies with dreadful dreams could get down first.

But Black Cap was not there! It was the first time the little Chimney Fairy had failed him.

"Oh, well," said Wink. "I'll go down to Tommy's room anyway. I do want Tommy to have this nice dream about a pony on his birthday. And I want to put an idea into his daddy's head. I've a dream for him, too!"

"Oh, ho! You have, have you?" said a voice. It was Comet-Legs! He had just come from Eena Meena and he had a dream along. Wink could see, in an ugly toad-skin bag, (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1922.)

FARMERS FIGHT THUGS IN WOOD

Two Bank Bandits Shot To Death by Posse of 500 Farmers.

Fugitives Trapped in Woods Wage Desperate Battle For Liberty.

ORTONVILLE, Mich., June 1.—Two of four bandits who this morning robbed the States Savings Bank at Metamora of $6,500 were shot to death, and the two others captured this afternoon by a posse of 500 armed farmers.

All the stolen money was recovered. More than a thousand shots—from revolver, rifle and shotgun—were exchanged in the battle that followed the trapping of the bandits in a 1,000-acre wood, known as Coleman's Woods, near Davison Lake, a few miles southeast of Metamora. One of the captured bandits and one of the posse were wounded, the latter probably fatally.

The robbery of the bank occurred shortly after 9 a.m. The four bandits, looking like farmers in their broad-rimmed straw hats and faded blue overalls, drove up to the bank in a green touring car. Two remained outside, while two entered the bank. Only two employees, the cashier and the assistant cashier, were in the bank.

Pour Money Into Bag. Neither bandit uttered a word, but one slipped a paper toward the cashier, on which was scrawled: "Do not speak or you will die."

When the bank official looked up he was confronted with a revolver. He and his assistant were driven into the vault and locked in. The robbers gathered up all the money in sight, which they poured into a grain bag, and fled to their automobile. As they drove away they were shot at by several citizens whose suspicions had been aroused by the conduct of the men who waited in the car.

Local officers commandeered an automobile and gave chase to the robbers, while citizens began organizing a posse. Farmers all over the countryside responded eagerly to the alarm, and the posse soon numbered 500 determined men, all of them armed.

So closely pressed were the bandits that they abandoned their car a few miles from Metamora and took to the thick woods at Davidson Lake. Here two farmers, working in their fields, saw the bandits running in pairs, each pair carrying a big bag. The leading pair abandoned their bag, which was found filled with cartridges, and fled into the thicket.

One Bandit Surrenders. The second pair were carrying the bag containing the loot when the posse spread through the woods in all directions. Leo Cummings, cashier of a bank at Goderich, and George Whitley, also of Goderich, at the head of the posse fired on the pair and were fired on in turn. A second volley from the pursuers brought down one of the bandits and caused the other to surrender. The wounded man gave the name of Mike Kolski, 30 years old, of Flint. He had been shot through the right leg. His companion gave the name of Jerry Skopendy, 35, of Detroit. Both were turned over to a guard while the search continued for the other two bandits.

Fight To The Death. This led the posse into the very heart of the woods. Here the two bandits, both armed with automatic rifles, exchanged volley after volley with their pursuers, who fought from behind the cover of trees and brush. The battle raged almost an hour—then a silence from the bandits that signified the end.

In a pool of blood lay their bodies. Each riddled by bullets. Beside them were their guns and a large quantity of empty shells. At 4 p.m. neither bandit had been identified. In the pocket of one, however, a scrap of paper was found bearing the name "A. Amsey."

LAKESIDE HAS ADDED CHARMS

Port Stanley Beach Now Equipped With Latest Amusement Devices.

Old Boardwalk Replaced by Wide Cement Promenade For Strollers.

Each year brings a recurrence of the popularity of Port Stanley as a summer lakeside resort for holiday-makers of Western Ontario, and in equal measure each season finds an amount of improvement and new features introduced there.

A few years ago Port Stanley was a well-known summer resort, but it was also the sort of summer resort which could be thoroughly well-known after but one visit, for there were very few attractions there, with the exception of the water sports and dancing. But now, a day's visit serves only to stimulate interest and provide one with merely a taste of the pleasures which are to be derived there.

Not very long ago there stretched along the water front a boardwalk, which had a dignified-enough title, but was yet ruinous to heels, and made strolling along the lakeside an arduous task. Now, however, there is a fine cement walk laid out along the length of the water front, and for those who wish to rest along the way there are benches where one may watch the waves in quiet content.

Attractions Added. The attractions along the boardwalk rival those of the most widely-advertised American resorts, practically every sort of fun-providing device or game being introduced there, and in such numbers that one needs at least a week to "do" the boardwalk properly.

He who spends the summer at Port Stanley need never feel the heat of even the warmest days, for the hill overlooking the lake is swept with the coolest breezes from the south, even when a temperature of more than 100 degrees bears down weightily on the city. There are all sorts of ideally cool and delightful situations for picnics, and for those who wish to abandon even the effort of putting together picnic lunch, Port Stanley has a dozen excellently-appointed restaurants and lunch rooms.

Many Enjoy Dancing. Conveniences for water sports and canoeing are all that could be desired, and in the evening there is the popular amusement of dancing to be found in abundance and under the most delightful circumstances.

To derive the utmost of rest and recreation from Sunday, Port Stanley is an ideal spot at which to spend it. In the afternoon one may enjoy the cool delight of bathing or a long swim. Exhilarated after the water sport, one finds a delightful dinner, served in a manner to suit the most fastidious, to be easily procured, and in the evening the boardwalk finds hundreds of people enjoying a promenade, tempted by the cool lake breezes. There is always plenty of music and action, and one need have not the slightest doubt that a holiday spent at Port Stanley will provide the utmost in the way of enjoyment.

LABOR MEMBER SCORES DRURY'S CONTROL BILL

Peter Heenan Voices Strong Opposition To Lake of Woods Measure.

FEARS BLOCK OF TREATY

Charges Premier Being Used By Winnipeg Interests To Aid Manitoba.

TORONTO, June 1.—Denouncing Premier Drury's Lake of the Woods control bill as a surrender of provincial rights and unwarranted concessions to Winnipeg interests who sought to secure power benefits from Ontario's northwest waters, Peter Heenan, labor member for Kenora, headed with the Ontario Legislature tonight not to enter into any such agreement as the premier had submitted to the house.

In effect, the member for Kenora contended that Premier Drury was being used by the Winnipeg interests, who, in the agreement before the house for second reading sought to have Ontario consent to hold up her waters, store them in such a way as would permit Manitoba power interests to utilize them, without cost, when they got good and ready.

"We in the northwest portion of the province," said Mr. Heenan, "are utterly opposed to this—more opposed even than when the bill was before the house last year—because it will interfere with the treaty being signed."

Warmth of Hearst's Welcome In Britain Wouldn't Melt Snowball

LONDON, June 1.—William Randolph Hearst, millionaire American newspaper owner, whose publications never fail to seize an opportunity to propagate anti-British feeling, has received the shock of his life in the coldness of the reception he has received since he reached London a few days ago.

Hearst has been displaying unusual reticence posing as a man who hates press interviews, and apart from an obviously carefully prepared statement, which he gave out soon after landing and which masquerades as an interview, he has lain low since arrival.

Probably never before in the history of British journalism, which has a long tradition of hospitality, has any visiting newspaperman been treated with such open dislike from his conferees.

One of the London papers suggests Hearst's experience with victims of his own fake interviews have made him afraid to open his mouth. British publishers as a whole are absolutely ignoring him and it is believed they have no intention of extending the usual hospitality shown to American newspapermen.

Indeed Hearst's welcome is probably the least of any prominent man since the war, even Turks, Germans and Bolsheviks having been better received.

of the Woods situation. In January, 1919, Ottawa passed an order-in-council creating the Lake of the Woods Control Board to consist of four members, two chosen by Ottawa, and two by Ontario, the casting vote in the case of a tie being with the Dominion appointee. Mr. Drury claimed that Ontario by an order-in-council a month later agreed to this, casting vote and all.

Meanwhile, proceeded the premier, the question of development of power sites arose. Preliminary agreements were entered into between the Ontario government and Mr. Backus, by which, among other things, the control of the Norman Dam was given to Ontario. Unusually developed among power users lower down the Winnipeg and English Rivers, and eventually they took up the matter at Ottawa.

The premier said that because of this uneasiness he went to Winnipeg in December, 1920, and later to Ottawa and eventually negotiations resulted between Ottawa and Toronto resulted in the proposed concurrent legislation. As a consequence a bill was introduced at Ottawa and passed, and one in Toronto last session, which was withdrawn, the premier fearing it would be defeated.

Set Up Joint Control. This joint legislation set up a joint control board, the premier explained, but did away with the casting vote by the Dominion appointee, and set forth that in case of dispute the matter should be referred to each of the governments for negotiation.

Mr. Drury then referred to the subsequent introduction into the Dominion House of the Lake of the Woods regulation bill. The excuse for this latter bill, he said, was that the Norman dam might get out of the hands of the province into private control.

This Ottawa act contained a clause declaring that for all time works under its jurisdiction were works for the general advantage of Canada. This, said the premier, involved every power development in Ontario.

Ontario might have carried the matter to the courts, the premier said, but there was a change of government at Ottawa.

Replies to Lennox. The Ontario temperance act featured another lively sitting of the Legislature this afternoon, when Attorney-General Raney discussed the charges launched by Colonel Lennox. The report of the public accounts committee in connection with these charges has not yet been received by the House, and Mr. Raney discussed them in moving the second reading of the act to prevent liquor being carried on a public highway.

He said these charges had not been substantiated, and implied that they were along the line forecasted by the Liberty League, when it announced in a circular that it planned to attack the Ontario temperance act in the Provincial Legislature.

He started to criticize the Conservative leader's speeches when points of order were raised by W. F. Nickle, Kingston, and H. P. Hill, West Ottawa, that Mr. Raney was not within the rules of the house in carrying on such a discussion on a second reading of the bill. After many exciting passages and several rulings by Speaker Parliament, insisting that the mover must stick to the principle of the bill he is supporting, the attorney-general threatened to challenge this ruling. It was smoothed out, however, and the second reading passed.

Amendments Passed. The second reading of amendments to the Ontario temperance act, which inflict penalties for the use of false labels, additional punishment for the sale of "swamp whiskey," additional punishment for O. T. A. enforcement officials, who themselves break the act, and lessening the penalty for a man caught with a bottle in a public place, was passed without opposition.

The act incorporating the Ontario Co-operative Dairy Products, Ltd., passed the house in committee. Hon. Manning Doherty explained that it was planned that the company deal with grading and marketing butter and cheese. It was not intended to manufacture dairy products in competition with the smaller factories.

The bill was amended to make this clear.

Hon. W. E. Raney, in moving the second reading of the bill to restrict the transportation of liquor by making it unlawful to carry it in any vehicle on the roads of this province, began to resume the fight which he claimed was being waged under cover against the Ontario temperance act. He said one stage of the conflict was reached in the public accounts committee today. The first gun was fired about the time the present session opened in February, when the Liberty League, knowing a circular urging that the best way to fight the act was in the Legislature, and that the league had begun a lobby which had already met with success, and that there was a nucleus of members there prepared to assist in attacking the "Drury-Raney" temperance party.

Claims League Defunct. J. McNamara (Riverdale) wanted to know if the attorney-general was aware the Liberty League he referred to had passed out of existence some time ago.

The attorney-general replied it was in existence when this circular was printed. It had behind it, respectable citizens who had a perfect right to start such a propaganda, but they soon found themselves unfortunately associated with Janizaries, mercenaries, bootleggers, moonshiners, blindpiggers and rum-runners. They all joined to put the propaganda over.

He referred to speeches made by Hon. Howard Ferguson as forecasting some less stringent temperance policy after prorogation. "After dissolution," Mr. Ferguson corrected.

The charges made by Colonel Lennox (North York) were then taken up one by one. These took the form, Mr. Raney said, of a blanket charge that the attorney-general knowingly had employed thugs and criminals to force the Ontario temperance act, followed by a series of definite charges to support the blanket charge. He read the various claims of Mr. Lennox that employee after employee engaged in the enforcement of the O. T. A. had been convicted of serious crimes and many of them had continued to be employed by the attorney-general.

Comparison of the charges by Mr. Lennox with what was brought out in the evidence given before the public accounts committee, Mr. Raney said, showed that not one had supported the blanket charge, many of them were exaggerated or partially untrue and the remainder had no application to the real charge.

Point of Order Raised. At this stage the point of order was raised, and the subject was changed.

Failing to secure the information asked for in any one of his half dozen questions relating to the corporation tax act enforcement, H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., tonight intimated his intention to press tomorrow his motion for a return of all legal opinions and correspondence, including an alleged communication from the chief justice of Ontario.

After stating his reasons for declining to give the information asked for, Mr. Raney said: "Without questioning motives, the only persons interested in the answers to these questions are those who are maintaining the controversy against this legislation, and there is no duty on the part of the government to make disclosures at the request of persons who adopt the same attitude as that adopted by the Ontario Jockey Club.

Answers Dewart. In reply to Mr. Dewart's question as to the government's intention in the matter of submission of a stated case of the validity and jurisdiction of the corporation tax act or intention to introduce further remedial legislation, Mr. Raney simply said the government had not formulated any policy on the subject.

Concerning communications received from "any legal or judicial source in regard to either the declaration of the corporation tax act," Mr. Raney said: "Any such communications there may have been are privileged, and their publication would be against the public interest.

"There is a controversy now pending between the crown and the Ontario Jockey Club, in which the authority of this Legislature to enact the statutes above mentioned is being questioned, and it is therefore, not in the public interest that the crown should be called upon to disclose the advice it has received, whether voluntary or otherwise, or proceedings it has in view for maintaining the authority of the Legislature."

In connection with his replies, Attorney-General Raney tabled the letter of May 29 to the Ontario Jockey Club announcing the exaction from track moneys.

Radicals—about 120 deputies dissenting.

France wants nothing but the execution of the Versailles treaty, and desires resumption of normal relations with Germany, but cannot overlook the ferment of hatred against France in Germany, added the premier. He gave a pledge that France would not attend a political conference at The Hague, but said the government was willing to assist the Allies, neutrals and former enemies by sending French experts to the conference of experts on June 15.

Reconstruction of Europe was impossible without the aid of the United States, in the opinion of M. Poincare, and the Genoa conference was a failure politically, but a success from the financial and economic standpoint.

"Germany only understands the argument of force," said the premier in conclusion. "The best way to se-

STATES POSITION OF BOND HOLDERS

OTTAWA, June 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—The position of the government with regard to holders of Grand Trunk Pacific 4 per cent debenture stock has been placed before shareholders in Great Britain by Major Bell, deputy minister of railways and canals. Major Bell, in replying to an inquiry from Sir Francis Harrison-Smith, K.C.B., Wilton Lodge, Marlborough, England, states that: "The position of holders of those Grand Trunk Pacific 4 per cent debenture shares is appreciated, but the Canadian government is scarcely in a position to make good unfortunate business investments of that nature."

ARNDT IS AGAIN FOUND GUN SHY

Doc Bullard Relieves With Six Runs Against Him.

BAY CITY, Mich., June 1.—Bay City made it three out of four from the London champions by taking Thursday's game in easy fashion, 8 to 3, before a very small crowd. Don Summers, Wolf ace, who lost but one game this season, and four innings it looked like the Tecumseh were going to cut out the victory streets by Malnoquet and Schaefer in the first innings pushed across the first counter. The London boys added in the fourth on singles by Fisher, Brown and Beecher, and catcher Guast's muff of a pop from the outfield. But after that Summers tightened and did not allow a single hit after the fourth frame. Arndt, backed with two down in the third, after the Wolves had a total of six runs, four singles and a passed ball figuring in the scoring. Their runs came in a second inning. The London boys, who had a 20-player limit now, ceased Arndt and was nipped for a triple and two singles in the fifth, good triple and another triple put across the last counter. ### Thorpe's Release Marks His One Failure in Sport Realms.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 1.—Jim Thorpe, star athlete and baseball player, is today a free agent in the baseball world as the result of his unconvictional release last night by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League, to bring that hand of ball players within the 20-player limit now effective. Required to choose between Thorpe or a promising youngster, the Portland manager decided for the new blood. Thorpe has been handicapped by a lame shoulder and inability to hit. There was purchased from Toledo last winter for $5,000. He was the highest-priced player in the coast league, his contract calling for approximately $1,000 a month.

READING FROM LEFT TO RIGHT: MILLER, RUTH (ABOVE) AND WALKER. MILLER is a right-handed hitter who takes a nasty cut. He was secured by Mack from the Washington club in the trade that involved Peckinpaugh of New York and Dugan of the Athletics. Other hitters who are on the heels of Williams are Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals and Walker of the Athletics. Williams is not discouraged at his slump in the home-run market. He aims to hit 40 home runs and is confident he will turn the trick. He thinks such a total will lead the American League in that department.

Garrett, Gilmore, the Barchelor, Barge Club, Philadelphia, today qualified for competition in the race for the Philadelphia Challenge Cup, emblematic of the amateur sculling championship of the world, by winning the preliminary event, in which two other prominent scullers participated. John H. Durman of the Argonaut Rowing Club, Toronto, finished second, and Tom Rooney of the Undine Boat Club, Philadelphia, third.

GOLDSMITH BEATS BEAVERS TWICE

Pitches Fourteen Innings Without Being Scored On.

SAGINAW, June 1.—Goldsmith's wonderful pitching feat Kitchener two games today, 10 to 3 and 5 to 0. Goldsmith replaced Wayneberg in the third inning of the first game, with Kitchener leading 3 to 2, in 14 innings, seven of the first game, and the entire route of the shortener. He allowed Goldsmith was not scored off. He allowed two hits in the last seven innings and three in the last five and never more than one to an inning.

Inter-Club Bowling Will Commence Its Season At Thistle Greens June 8

Thistle greens will be the scene of the first inter-club tourney on June 8. While the schedule has not been definitely announced, bowlers are asked to keep a weather eye on the club notice boards for further dates. Judging by the interest aroused over this new departure, the event will be one of the most popular bowling features ever introduced, and it will also serve to broaden out the social side of bowling. The Bowling Club is holding its first tourney Saturday next, and a phone call to 276, members are reminded, will make sure of their entries being in. In 21 years the greens at the Riverside club have never been smoother or faster. The L. R. C. bowlers are holding their first "night owl" competition on June 6, starting at 7:15 o'clock.

START TO REBUILD SARNIA-PT. HURON MINT LEAGUES

Six New Players are on Way, So Axe Will Have to Fall.

SARNIA, June 1.—Work has already commenced on the rebuilding process of the Sarnia-Port Huron baseball machine in anticipation of a strong bid for second half honors. The local club is too far down on the list to expect to overcome the long lead of Hamilton and Saginaw, but the Twin City combination will be in the first division when time is called at the end of the first half.

WITH AMATEUR NINES

Orients and Alerts will be the first game at Queen's Park Saturday afternoon, and as Alerts have a chance to tie up the series and Orient will have their claim to the honors complete, this contest assumes unusual proportions.

Nopper or Hank Down will do the heavy lifting for the champs. Barney Clarke, Ping or McLeod will be out in the bull pen for the Alerts with the choice undecided until the umpire calls play.

Hermits and Forest City provide the second game, and as both have strengthened up considerably, this clash will show some good baseball and some new material.

The way the Sunshine Parkers are going should have attracted some of the O. R. A. scouts ere this, and some of the Saturday performers will hail from that circuit.

The fact that they messed up five plays and were held at six hits while St. Martins got a dozen bingles accounts for St. Peters A. bill in the night in the Catholic Association League game at Sunshine Park. Even if the score was a bit lopsided, the game was good with the exception of the fourth when St. Martins massed nine runs and got all tired out doing it.

5 ENTER OAKS STAKES.
LONDON, June 1.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Interest in the running of the Oaks Stakes in the morning of the 14th renewal of which will feature the closing day of the Epsom summer meet.

The Oaks, second oldest of the classic races, will be run on the 14th of June at Epsom on a course 1 1/2 miles long. The first race was won by Lord Derby's colt, but on three occasions since then have the Derby colors been carried to victory in this classic.

Edgar, that race the starter tomorrow will number an even dozen.

The probable starters, with jockeys, follow:

Southwest (Donoghue), Lattice (Edwards), Anonyma (Hulme), Myria (Edwards), Galactea (Hulme), Lattin (Edwards), Breeze (Edwards), Lord (Smith), Adulation (Fox), Pogrom (John Brennan), Silver Lin (Carlsack), Windsor (Edwards), and 12 others.

R. W. Park's silver filly will be ridden by Carlsack, who also had the mount when the Lattin was Queen of the Oaks in 1917. On May 14 of that year the Earl of Derby originated the Oaks Stakes—named after his seat at Epsom, which was the first race on a course 1 1/2 miles long. ## CHATTER

STRANGE as it may seem, Papa Gibbons has never seen either of his boys, Tommy, the light heavyweight, or Mike, the middleweight, since they left the middleweight club.

The two nag the "old man" constantly to step over and see one of them, but he always says "Next time. That bird looks like a tough egg. I wouldn't want to see you all see one of them."

Nevertheless, Gibbons reads all the dope after every fight, wishing he had attended.

A few years ago the "old boy" was out-smarted when Tom and Mike framed him into a private exhibition. The average well-informed Argentine knows the Argentine that there's no air about the Buenos Aires offer of $50,000 for a Firpo-Dempsey fight there. It's not the money, but it's the confidence in putting it in the bank.

Firpo's a while of a guy, 4 feet 3 1/2 inches tall, as compared with Dempsey's 6 feet 1, and weighing 200 pounds to Jack's 190. He has a punch, too, but what first-class man's going to stand still while Firpo lands it on him?

Firpo himself probably knows perfectly well that the chance he stands against Dempsey. But if the latter's willing there's every likelihood he'll land will be dragged into the affair against his better judgment by his crazy countrymen. And they do say that Jack, tempted by that $250,000, thinks seriously of taking the Argentine in the fall.

LITTLE DRIBBLES

As a result of the draw made by the L. and D. officials, St. Thomas Rovers, who received a bye, have to meet Grand Trunk in the next round of the cup competition.

This will mean that the winners of this fixture will go into the semi-finals with St. Andrew, Tunnel City and W. O. R., winners of the first round games. The Grand Trunk-Rovers clash must be staged on or before June 17. No date has been set for the semi-final games, but they will in all probability be during the next week.

DRESDEN BEATS CHATHAM.

DRESDEN, May 31.—The baseball season opened auspiciously here today when the Dresden ball team defeated the Chatham by a score of 10 to 1.

The regular weekly half-holiday allowed everyone to attend. The Dresden Band was in attendance, and Mayor P. A. McDuffee pitched the first ball. The team was in fine form and enthusiasm ran high. Dresden gave a good account last year in the Kent League, and the boys are planning growth for this season.

MISS LEITCH WON'T DEFEND HER TITLE

LONDON, June 1.—Miss Cecil Leitch, holder of the Canadian women's golf championship title, will not defend her title this summer because of an injured arm. She strained the muscles of the arm in the summer of 1921, during her play in the United States and Canada, and was ordered by physicians to rest the arm for several months. She did this, but on resuming play for the British championship this year hurt the arm again.

LYNCH GETS DECISION.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Joe Lynch, former bantamweight champion, tonight defeated Midget Smith in a twelve-round contest at Madison Square Garden, getting the judge's decision. Lynch's opponent called on him to outpoint his aggressive opponent in a majority of the round.

TWO CASTOFFS ROUNDED UP.

Mac's back club. They are "Peep" Young of Detroit and "Doc" Johnston of Cleveland.

When Cleveland secured "Stuffy" McInnes from Boston to play first base there was no place for Johnston.

The Cleveland club asked except the Philadelphia Americans waived.

During the winter Connie Mack had purchased the rights of the Milwaukee club Hauser, the star first sacker of the American Association. He was flattered on as a certain for a first base.

MAC BELIEVED THAT YOUNG'S TROUBLE WAS PURELY MENTAL.

Mac believed that Young's trouble was purely mental, and that a change of scenery also might work wonders for Johnston.

His opinion has been verified, for both have played great ball for him. In discussing their cases Mack simply says: "The addition of Young and Johnston has made by club. I was positive neither was through as a big leaguer and that they would deliver for me. Their fine work has exceeded my fondest expectations."

UMPIRE TOMMY CONNOLLY BROKE ED WALSH IN AS AMERICAN LEAGUE UMPIRE THIS YEAR.

Walsh when at the height of his pitching career was a mighty hard man to umpire for. There were two reasons. In the first place Walsh had a deceptive spittball which he would chuck over the plate at the knee. The spittball is hard to judge. A low ball is the most difficult to call correctly.

In addition, Ed was rather hard to please. One day while working in a game at Chicago Connolly, rather tired, pitched a ball which Walsh thought was making ready for the game.

"How is Ed getting along?" asked the newspaperman of Connolly.

"Very well," replied Tommy. "He has a fine chance to make good. Umpiring is not exactly new to him. When he was a star pitcher he desired to apologize for not knowing that Mr. Walsh throws nothing but strikes."

That bit of sarcasm stopped Ed for the rest of the day.

STRATHROY BEATS ILBERTON NINE

STRATHROY, May 31.—The Strathroy baseball team motored to Ilberton this afternoon and won their game by 9 to 2. In spite of the difference in the score, the teams were both well matched and the game was a very close one. The score then being 3 to 2 in Strathroy's favor. At this stage the game, however, the Strathroy boys started connecting with the ball and the bases were filled. Basil McCandless picked out one to his liking and landed it for a home run, thus bringing in four runs. The Ilberton boys were able to get only a few scraps of runs during the game. The Strathroy southpaw, who pitches a nice steady game.

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP Here's Your Decision

WHENEVER an umpire calls a balk, play is automatically suspended. All base runners are entitled to advance one base. Often the umpire calls a balk on the pitcher for some infraction of the rules, only to have the pitcher throw the ball to the batsman, who may swing a hit. No attention should be given any play that might arise. The calling of the balk suspended play, and the action of the pitcher in delivering the ball and the batter swinging at it should be given no consideration. The only action of the umpire in calling a balk is for all base runners to advance one base. Just remember the moment the umpire rules a batter at bat further play immediately becomes impossible.

Buy Your Tires on a Business Basis

WHICH COST LESS—tires that give thousands of miles of motoring pleasure—or—tires that finally "blow themselves" after a few hundred miles of irritation and trouble?

WHICH COST LESS—sturdy, dependable, easy-riding tires that take you where you want to go, whether the road be smooth or rough, hard or soft, wet or dry, hot or icy—or—tires that have to be cemented and patched, nursed and doctored, and become bandaged cripples after their first few hundred miles?

Buy your tires on a business basis. Don't count first cost only. DOMINION TIRES give the lowest mileage cost—instantly fewer tire troubles—and prices to-day average one-third less than pre-war prices.

DOMINION TIRES are better than ever, and are recognized by motorists as the standard by which to judge tire values and tire service.

Convinced Amendment Was Framed by Leader of Conservative Party.

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL, Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, June 1.—In a speech equalling in every way the brilliant oration of R. A. Hoey, member for Springfield, Wednesday night, W. G. Raymond, Independent Liberal of Brantford, explained to an attentive house this evening his stand on the budget, thereby allaying a curiosity which had existed generally in every party since the beginning of the session.

Mr. Raymond summed up his speech in the words: "I believe in a protective tariff giving incidental protection," hastening to assure the house, however, that although the Liberal party had made slight reductions on things in which Brantford was vitally interested he would vote with the government.

He was a Liberal born, a Liberal by conviction and a Liberal he would remain.

The speech of the Brantford member was easily the event of the day, not only because of the great interest it created, which was accentuated by the speaker's excellent delivery and ready wit, but because also it was the first speech from the government side directed at the tariff policy of the Progressive party.

Mr. Raymond said in part: "I believe that the people of this country look upon the minister of finance as a wise administrator, as a true patriot, as an honest man, which, the poet has told us, is the noblest work of God."

"He is a man who has talked to crowds and kept his virtue, or walked with kings nor lost the common touch. He is one whose name will be handed down with satisfaction and pride. I believe that his last achievement is one of which the country in general will feel it is probably the very best that could be done under difficult circumstances."

Thrust upon Drayton. "There is one disappointment that I have, however, in this debate, and it is that the amendment, in the form in which it was moved, instead of expressing some sound or un-sound economic principle, does not express any. It simply derogates the whole debate and draws it down to the field of mere party politics."

"Anyone who will read the amendment introduced by the member for West York (Sir Henry Drayton) will see at once that is the object of it, the aim and the end of it, to open up a discussion that will go back to the last election."

"I believe it was thrust upon him. I think in the amendment we can see another form; we can see it has been suggested, it has been dictated. It has probably been written for him and placed in his hand to move, and he has moved it, because he is under the discipline of his masterful leader, the right honorable member for Grenville (Mr. Meighen)."

"We should look at this budget both as representing our riding and in a general sense as Canadians. I see at once that is the object of it, the aim and the end of it, to open up a discussion that will go back to the last election."

"That may be true. The returning officer said it was. While it is a fantastic and paradoxical phrase, I presume, possibly, it is meant for a reproach. If so, we can recall instances of where even priests and prophets were reproved. Balaam was reproved; we all remember that, and I believe, in this case, the reproach rebuked the rebuker of Balaam. When I am called a Liberal protectionist, it is that is what I understand it to mean, namely, to desire a reasonable, rational revenue tariff on industrial products of the manufacturers of this country. I must acknowledge to being a protectionist whatever odium the word may bear in some men's minds. But I claim that that has always been the policy of the Liberal party."

Reviews Tariff Policy. Mr. Raymond then related the history of Canada's tariff policy to show that it originated first with a coalition government. It was raised first by the Alexander Mackenzie government who were accused of being protectionists by the Conservatives. The speaker claimed that even in 1896 the Liberals maintained a certain amount of protection.

"It is well known in the older settled parts of Canada," Mr. Raymond continued, "that the factories existing there are dependent on a certain amount of reasonable protection that is offered by a revenue tariff for their existence and while that is felt it is not likely that the Liberal party would announce that it was ever going to renounce that policy which has so long been the accepted policy of Canada."

"What effects my constituency is the removal of the two and a-half per cent from agricultural implements, from plows, binders, cultivators and the various implements that are used upon the farm. Our city is dependent upon the agricultural industry, upon the manufacturing of agricultural implements. When there are no agricultural implements making, our people are idle and their families are starving. At least one-half of the employees in the city of Brantford are employed in factories that make these goods."

Two and a-half per cent of these plows, cultivators and implements of that kind may seem to be a very small amount, but when you remember that, for instance, on a binder the duty on which was originally only two and a-half per cent, and that two and a-half per cent off that is 20 per cent of the protection it had, it forms a considerable amount. "Remember, too, that these implements, made to supply the Canadian market, are made at the closest possible cost, are exported from Canada to certain countries in competition with the world, but that trade has been cut off, we have now nothing but the Canadian trade to depend upon. The condition of the money market in some countries, and the unsettled condition in others, such as Russia, have made exports almost impossible, I think absolutely impossible.

"Now, these are things that are serious, I take it, not only to Brantford, not only to the constituency that I represent, but very serious to Canada. If you are going to drive manufacturers out of Canada, or going to reduce to the lowest possible minimum—possibly nothing could drive them all out, but if it were possible for you to do so, it would depreciate the value of farm lands in all these vicinities, and it would bring us down to where we should be only working to the one end, that one end would be the development of agriculture."

Addresses Progressives.

The speaker, then addressing the Progressives, told how fallible was the argument that Canada should develop only her four basic industries. It was all right to take the products from the soil and field, he said, but they alone did not create wealth. They needed the skill of the workman to convert them into more valuable products. As examples, he held up Switzerland, Belgium, Holland and England as non-productive countries which grew wealthy and cultured through skill in manufactures.

"When I am told that I am a Liberal protectionist or a protectionist Liberal," Mr. Raymond continued, "if you translate 'protection' as I translate it, I may take it as a compliment or flattery, or anything you like, but it perhaps does not carry all the sting that the honorable gentleman who said it intended it to convey to one who would like to see this country developed, and upon those lines that I have mentioned."

"I maintain that we should have a reasonable revenue tariff that will be levied upon all goods coming into this country. That should be equal and fair as far as possible to all the different lines of manufacture, and that would give incidental protection to those who are engaged in industry. I do not think capital needs protection so much as it needs the safety of law, that property should be absolutely safe. I am speaking not for capital, but for the laborers, the skilled mechanics who go to make up and build up a great country."

"If it is a protectionist to hold the view that we should have a revenue tariff giving incidental protection to manufacturers, I am certainly a protectionist; and as to being a Liberal protectionist, sitting on this side of the house, holding such a view, and supporting the government that has removed from the manufacturers 2 1/2 per cent of the protection they have enjoyed, there are strong reasons that are as deep as my very being why I should not be called anything else."

Mr. Raymond, going back to the days of the Magna Charta, related the history of the great reforms in England, brought on by the spirit of the people, to show why he is a Liberal, why he always was one, and why he shall always remain true to the spirit of his party.

Kyte Favors Reciprocity.

In resuming the budget debate this afternoon, G. W. Kyte, Cape Breton West and Richmond, declared that the Conservatives had realized there was no need to make the tariff an issue in this country while Mr. Fielding was minister of finance. They knew that industry would not be upset.

Mr. Kyte declared himself a supporter of a tariff policy which would give the government sufficient revenue to run the country and no more. He had been unable to discover a single country which had free trade, while his own was a free trade country. In fact she was an example of what a tariff for revenue should be. The sales tax did not apply to a large number of articles used by the poorer people.

Therefore the 50 per cent increase proposed in the budget did not affect those who were having a hard time to get along. The minister of finance could always be relied on to do his best for the common people. In answer to a question from the Progressive benches, Mr. Kyte said that the present tariff was most certainly not a tariff for revenue. He regarded a revenue tariff as the ideal of some of the members of the Progressive party. He doubted, however, whether the Progressives would feel justified in bringing in free trade at present.

Mr. Kyte was wholly in favor of reciprocity with the United States in 1911, and just as much in its favor today.

R. K. Anderson (Conservative, Halton) estimated the total of importations on which the government had reduced the duty by 2 1/2 per cent at $60,000,000 a year. Therefore, the reduction in tariff duty to the people of Canada totalled approximately a million a year. Increased taxation provided for in the budget, would total approximately $29,000,000 a year.

The last election was the first occasion on which a party had been returned to power without a definite tariff policy.

There were influences in the government, in the Liberal party and in the Progressive party which would insist on the government implementing its tariff policy. Great Britain had had tariff for revenue for a good many years, and in 1910 had collected $16,200,000 per capita. United States with a tariff for protection only, which under the Fordney bill would practically prohibit outside competition, collected $2.88 per capita. Canada, with a middle course, collected $12.49 per capita.

Touching on the repeal of the anti-dumping clause, Mr. Anderson regretted it very much because it meant surplus fruit—the crop to the south being two or three weeks ahead of Canada—from the United States would be thrown on the Canadian market to compete with the fresher fruit on this side of the line.

Miss Agnes MacPhail (Progressive, Southeast Grey) said that in her speech she would assume full responsibility for herself and her constituents. It had been said that this budget was a step in the right direction. Apparently it was one step forward and a step back. The gains made were of no material value. In listening to the last speaker, Mr. Raymond, she had thought he was building a house with the roof first and he had nothing to hold up the roof while building the walls.

He was going on the basis apparently that protection would build up the secondary or key industries out of the basic industries. These declared, could not be built up at the expense of the basic industries and if the participating power in the latter was curtailed, then there must be a corresponding reduction in the former class of industries. The principle of protection had been harmful to the agricultural industry. It had brought about rural depopulation. The rural population in Ontario had decreased by some 29 per cent with allowance for births and immigration, during the ten years, 1901 to 1911. In Miss MacPhail's own riding, there had been a loss of 52 per cent. If the secondary industries were built up at the expense of such basic industries as agriculture the inevitable result would be that agriculture would die out and then would follow national decay.

Protection alone was not responsible for the deplorable rural conditions of today. Some of the causes were unsatisfactory school systems; lack of a cheap credit system for the farmers and the over-building of transportation systems. Miss MacPhail believed that Canada's national ideals of late years had not been of the best. In the last 25 years Canadians had come very near to being dollar-worshippers. They sought to acquire large fortunes, so they were willing to "do the other fellow." There were instances of legislation which burdened the many that the few might profit. Farming did not pay today. There were no farms from the Atlantic to the Pacific which could be rented at a figure that would give 6 per cent on the investment.

RELIEF FAILS TO REACH STEAMER

Wiltshire Runs Ashore On Barrier Reef in Heavy Gale.

LONDON, June 1.—Four of the crew of the British steamer Wiltshire, ashore on the New Zealand coast, have been landed by the life-line, according to advices to the Daily Mail. The rescue of the others, numbering nearly 100, is expected.

BUCKLAND, New Zealand, June 1.—The 12,000-ton British steamer Wiltshire, with a crew of nearly 100 on board, is ashore on the New Zealand coast in a perilous position today, with small prospects of rescue because of the tempestuous seas running.

The Wiltshire ran ashore near the Barrier reef in a heavy gale last night. She became full of water this morning and since has broken in two. Relief parties on the cliff today could see the crew, but were unable to get out to the vessel because of the terrific breakers. There are no passengers on board.

Two New Zealand steamers standing nearby, being unable to approach the Wiltshire, while attempts made by some of those on board to swim ashore have been futile. It is feared the would-be rescuers will be unable to do much until the weather abates.

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

REVAL, Estonia, June 1.—Fifty-one of the 124 Communists arrested in the recent roundup of alleged propagandists throughout Estonia have been convicted and sentenced. Sixteen must undergo periods of forced labor, varying from four to ten years, while the others received lighter sentences.

M. Wilderau, a member of the Estonian embassy in Moscow, has been arrested there.
NAPLES, June 1.—Billions of locusts are destroying fields and gardens in the farming district six miles from this city. Within the last four days many acres of wheat, hops, clover and corn have been wiped out, and it is estimated that the pests are causing $20,000 damage daily.

PARIS, June 1.—The vibrations of gay Paris are putting the world's greatest timepiece out of commission. The Paris observatory, which daily sends the time throughout the world by wireless, is now, owing to the vibrations, incapable of calculating the hundredths of a second. This is not exact enough and M. Baillaud, director of the observatory, today presented to the Academy of Sciences a report on conditions and suggested that the observatory be moved from Paris.

ROME, June 1.—The government is becoming concerned over the evidences of growing unrest in the provinces where the feud is raging most fiercely between the Communists and the Fascists. As a measure for the restoration of order, it has prohibited all parades and assemblies throughout the country.

NICE, June 1.—Following a banquet of local lawyers here thirty-five of them have been taken suddenly and seriously ill with symptoms of poisoning. There were but fifty persons present at the dinner. Complaint was lodged today against the restaurateur and after considerable difficulty the judge, aided by what legal talent was left in the city, found a clause under which to charge the man. The charge is "blessures par imprudence," which corresponds to the American term of criminal neglect. The remainder of the food served at the banquet was seized by the police. The limit of the prosecuting eloquence depends only on the outcome of the illnesses.

LONDON, June 1.—The names of the two experts who will represent Great Britain at the Hague conference on Russian affairs were announced by Austen Chamberlain, the government leader, in the House of Commons today. They will be Hilton Young and Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, he said.

Mr. Young is the recently appointed financial secretary to the treasury. Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, formerly parliamentary secretary to the board of trade, and more recently director of overseas trade, was one of the British experts at the Genoa conference.

Mr. Chamberlain said it was not contemplated that any other British representatives would attend the Hague meeting.

PARIS, June 1.—Long voyages of migrating birds are well known, yet it is not always easy to obtain tangible evidence of their journeys, and bird lovers will be interested in the story from Alsace about a swallow's winter travels and sojourn.

Last fall a resident of Osthelm captured a swallow nesting in a gable and released it, with the following message on parchment attached: "During the summer of 1921 I lived with —, at Osthelm. He would be glad to learn where I passed the winter when I return."

The bird now returns to its Alsatian home, bearing the following inscription: "Have been staying with a shoemaker, Joseph Eddy, on the Island of Martinique, who salutes my present host."
