OBSERVE THE HARVEST HOME

Special Services of Thanksgiving at Holy Trinity Church Yesterday.

Excellent Discourses and Enjoyable Music—The Edifice Was Beautifully Decorated.

Large congregations attended both services at the harvest home festival at Holy Trinity church yesterday and enjoyed two excellent discourses from Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Ingersoll.

The church was beautifully and gracefully decorated with emblems of harvest-tide and presented a most picturesque and attractive appearance. The adornments were the work of the ladies of the church and were testimonials to their taste and skill.

The music at both services was much enjoyed. In the absence of Messrs. W. S. Ball and M. Polson, the choir directors, Mrs. E. D. Laurie trained the choir on the special music prepared for this occasion and the results were a tribute to the ability and effort of this accomplished young lady. In the evening, too, Horace S. Davis gave a most pleasing rendition of the baritone solo, "Abide with me."

Rev. Dr. Thompson delivered two earnest and eloquent addresses. He is a speaker of exceptional force and power, and his vigorous words appealed with directness to his hearers.

In the evening the reverend gentleman chose as his text the words of Ruth II, 7: "And she said, I pray you, let me glean and go after thee: the reason among the harvest: so she came, and hath continued even from the morning until now."

After alluding to the blessings received by the beautiful material harvest of 1903, the speaker directed attention to the putting of the harvest in the granary of the Almighty from time to time. Christian people should gather the golden head of dependence on Almighty God for all the goodness received, not only as a nation, but as the individual.

Canada has been bountifully blessed and it behooved her people to offer thanks and praise to God.

To-morrow evening a harvest home entertainment will be held in the lecture hall adjoining the church, for which a specially fine program is being arranged.

YOUNG CULPRITS

Two Lads Sentenced for Breaking in a Wabash Freight car, Judgement Reserved as to Two Others

John Ellis, Edward Ellis, James Burns and three other lads under the age limit were arraigned this morning on the charge of breaking into a Wabash freight car. John Ellis has been up several times before although he is only 16, and he was sentenced to 30 months in the Central. James Burns was sentenced to three years in the Reformatory. Edward Ellis was allowed out on $200 bail for a week to permit of the boy's record being inquired into. Two of the young lads were let go with a warning and the third was remanded for a week. The latter had given valuable information to the police and the Crown is not pressing the prosecution.

There were several charges against Burns and John Ellis, including breaking into the grocery stores of Darwin Pelette and R. S. Dunlop. The boys denied the charge but said that they sat on the other side of the street and watched a "robber" do the job. As some of the candy taken and thrown away showed the marks of small teeth, the police did not put much reliance in the story of the lads. P. C. Dezella did some good work on this case and it was largely due to his efforts that convictions were secured. Wabash Detective V. G. Williams was here also working on the case.

One of the features of the case was the fact that the boys acknowledged that they were in the habit of stealing rides to Detroit on the freight trains when they felt like it. John Ellis took a trip as far as New Jersey. The Judge and Detective Williams are anxious to have stealing a ride on a train made prima facie evidence of vagrancy. Judge Houston has written the Attorney-General about this. If the suggestion is acted upon the number of tramps will be largely diminished.

FINE ADDRESS

Rev. Jas. Livingstone Preaches Eloquent Sermon at Victoria Ave. Anniversary—Excellent Music.

Anniversary services were held in Victoria Ave. Methodist Church yesterday, and all services were exceedingly well attended. Rev. James Livingstone, as has been the case for many years past, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening, and his splendid addresses were fully appreciated by the congregations.

Mr. Livingstone was always popular with Chatham audiences, and was never more popular than he is today. He has a way about him which impresses all most favorably. He has a fine address, and his way of telling it is most pleasing.

Able assistance in the services yesterday, was that rendered by the choir, under the very able supervision of Harry Horstead. The singing was excellent. In the evening a male quartette, composed of Messrs. Horstead, Rutley, Wrigley and Trotter, sang "Good Night" in a very pleasing manner, unaccompanied.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Livingstone selected his text from St. Matthew, chapter 6 and verse 9, "Our Father which art in Heaven, be the words."

"These words," the speaker began, "are to be heard in every walk of life. They have been repeated in the little log church, in the great cathedral. The words are always appropriate, the christening of a babe or the crowning of a king."

"Most people are not fully acquainted with the force of the words. God is brought into the foreground as a person, not as one hidden away, but as a person who appears frankly in close relationship. People, as a rule, have ideas of God as a great power, a spirit, a life-giving spirit, a fairy. God has put the power of choice in the little animalcule; what a responsibility in comparison must he then surely place in man. The speaker illustrated his point by the experiment of putting sugar on the end of a wire and watching the animalcule coming to it and partaking of it, and when the sugar was taken off and gone away disappointed, not returning until more sugar was put on. In just the same way God offered the sweetest of life and the responsibility placed in man to take it was great. "Put yourself in touch with the flowers and birds and things of life, it is life itself."

"The term Our Father is a personality. We have received as much life from him as from our own mother. If our faith is fastened in God's Fatherhood, it is no longer, as upon a little stone, but on a solid rock which cannot be removed. Fatherhood in an earthly sense was to look after the education of the young. The parents are most anxious that their boy should receive his education and in many instances great self-denial is practised in order to educate the boy or girl. God likes to see people enlightened by education. He likes to see the faculties developed."

In speaking of the last word of the text, the reverend gentleman said God was at home in Heaven, and Heaven is the At Home of His children, and life is their way from home.

In conclusion, the speaker spoke of the closeness of our at home time and advised the best possible use of present opportunities.

Mr. Livingstone will speak at the concert in connection with the tea-meeting this evening.

CHAMBERLAIN'S MANIFESTO.

Is Britain to Continue Having Nothing to Bargain With?

London, Oct. 5.—"Every other nation and all our own self-governing colonies have refused to accept the gospel of Cobden, and yet, although they ought, according to its dogmas, to be in the last stage of depression and decline, they have grown during the last twenty years in wealth, population and trade and in everything that goes to make up the greatness of a nation." That is the keynote of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's manifesto, which will be published October 5 in the form of a preface to a shilling pamphlet entitled "Mr. Chamberlain's Proposals: What They Mean and What We Shall Gain by Them," by C. A. Vince, Secretary to Mr. Chamberlain's tariff organization.

Mr. Chamberlain does not mince matters. With characteristic aggression he carries the war into the enemy's camp. "Those who maintain," he writes, "in a spirit of blind obscurantism the absolute inspiration of an antiquated doctrine will have much to explain." His remarks are addressed to "men of all political opinions, since the questions now raised are not necessarily matters of party politics; nor indeed is it likely that the issues will be ultimately decided on strictly party lines." He begins by saying: "It is difficult to believe that the results of the investigation will not convince every impartial man of the necessity for some reconstruction of the system which has remained stationary and unaltered for more than half a century, while every other policy has been modified and adapted to meet modern requirements."

SURPLUS FOR CITY HOSPITALS

Suggestion as to the Disposition of Bungalow Fund held by Mayor McKeough.

His Worship Heartily in Accord with the Proposition—Consent of Contributors Must be Secured.

In view of the abandonment of the athletic bungalow project, resultant upon the decision of the military authorities to erect a first class armory on Tecumseh Park, his worship Mayor McKeough, the treasurer of the bungalow fund, has still on hand the sum of $96.50, after returning the amount of $101.50 to the City Football Club.

This balance includes the proceeds of the Bungalow Benefit Concert and generous donations by his worship, and Wm. Martin.

The Planet would suggest, after interviewing Mayor McKeough and obtaining his cordial consent and encouragement, that this amount be divided and donated to the two city hospitals, which are doing such a splendid work.

To do this, the consent of the Macaulay Club and the solicitors who prepared the program of the benefit concert, Manager Brisco and Messrs. Martin and the Mayor would, of course, have to be secured—but there is little doubt that the suggestion would meet with their favor.

The fund could not be devoted to a worthy object.

BRITISH COLUMBIA IS CONSERVATIVE

McBride Government Sustained in the Elections—J. Martin Among the Slain.

Two Cabinet Ministers Were Defeated—List of the Successful Candidates of Each Party.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 4.—Although returns from a few outlying districts are incomplete, there is little doubt that the McBride Government has been sustained. The first party lines election has ended in a victory for the Conservatives by a majority of five over the Liberals and of two over the Liberals, Socialists and Labor parties combined. The figures are:—

Conservatives 22
Liberals 17
Socialists 2
Labor party 1

Two Cabinet Ministers went down, Attorney-General McPhillips being defeated in Victoria, and Provincial Secretary Goodhue losing in Rossland. But Joe Martin, unofficial leader of the Liberals, was snatched under in Vancouver, and the Conservatives count the loss of the two Ministers as little beside the crushing of Martin. This city was overwhelmingly Conservative, the Ministerial five getting an aggregate vote of 12,000, while Martin and his four Liberals received 7,400.

Among the surprises of the contest was the defeat of former Attorney-General Eberle by H. Tanner, Liberal, and the decisive majority of former Financial Minister Carter Cotton over ex-Provincial Secretary "Winchester" Brown in Richmond. The Liberals claimed that Hon. R. F. Green, Minister of mines, was defeated, but a telegram received from him this evening states he is elected.

LIBERALS ELECTED.
The Liberals elected are:—W. W. B. McInnes, Alberni; Dr. J. M. King, Cranbrook; W. A. Murray and Harry Jones, Cariboo; C. W. Munro, Chilliwack; W. C. Wells, Columbia (acclamation); John Olson (acclamation); J. R. Matton; John O'Brien; T. W. Patterson, Brown, Greenwood; T. W. Patterson, Islands; J. A. McDonald, Rossland; Tanner, Sarnich; Victoria City, R. L. Drury, W. C. Cameron, J. D. McNiven and Richard Hall; and Yale, S. Henderson.

CONSERVATIVES ELECTED.
The Conservatives elected are:—Dr. Young, Atlin; Hon. R. McBride, Premier, Dewdney; C. E. Pooley, Esquimalt; Geo. A. Fraser, Grand Forks; E. J. Fulton, Kamloops; A. McDonald, Lillooet (acclamation); Robert Grant, Comox; John Houston, Nelson; T. Gifford, New Westminster; Price Ellison, Okanagan; C. W. Clifford, Skagway; T. Taylor, Revelstoke; F. C. Cotton, Richmond; L. W. Stratford, Similkameen; Vancouver City, Hon. R. F. Tatlow, Minister of Finance; J. E. Garden, Hon. Chas. Wilson, President of the Council; J. Bowser, and A. H. B. McGowan; Ymir, Harry Wright; R. J. Green, Kaslo; W. R. Ross, Fernie.

NO ICE

Maple City Dealers Have Exhausted their Supply and Will Stop Delivery Thursday.

Two weeks ago the Maple City ice dealers stopped delivering to private customers and decided to reserve their available supply for the butchers and grocers of the city. Now there is scarcely any ice left and by Wednesday or Thursday there will be no ice in the city. J. L. Scott is making an effort to get a supply shipped in, and unless he does, the Maple City butchers, grocers and hotel men will feel the situation keenly. The butchers will perhaps suffer the worst should this mild weather continue. Those who are lucky enough to have large ice boxes say that if they can get their refrigerators filled that they can get along nicely for about two weeks with the present weather conditions prevailing. After that, they could only hope for cold weather.

VERDICT FOR $8,000.

ARCHER AGAINST THE SACRED HEART SOCIETY.

Chancellor Boyd Charged Against the Plaintiff—Several Legal Points to be Settled—Argument of Counsel.

London, Ont., Oct. 5.—The case of Mary Archer v. the Order of the Sacred Heart closed at 6.30 on Saturday evening, when the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff, fixing damages for wrongful dismissal at $5,000, and declaring Miss Archer as entitled to $3,000 as wages for the last six years of her connection with the order, making $8,000 in all. The verdict was a surprise. Chancellor Boyd, in his charge, was decidedly unfavorable to the plaintiff. He told the jury that, not only did Miss Archer stand practically alone in her allegations, but the essential points were denied by many witnesses. His Lordship explained that the controlling point for the jury to decide was as to whether plaintiff was insane while in the convent here, and said that the evidence of the physicians who signed the insanity certificates had been uncontroverted. His Lordship said it was for the jury to weigh for themselves whether there had been adduced sufficient reasons for the release of plaintiff's vows. This question the jury answered in the affirmative, assessing the damages for wrongful dismissal at just half the amount claimed.

Before the argument closed Miss Archer was again placed on the stand. She swore that she had nothing whatever to do with the disturbances in the convent. In reply to other questions, witness said she thought the Mother Superior would know who the guilty party was. "I think," she said, "the burden of circumstantial evidence rests with those who had the keys."

The jury were out two and a half hours.

A number of legal points are to be cleared up before judgment is entered in accordance with the verdict. The defence at the outset made certain objections, but the Chancellor ruled that the jury should first pronounce as to the facts. The points raised, and which will be argued at Toronto, are: First, that the court has no jurisdiction, as the dismissal and the incarceration in the asylum took place in Quebec Province, and, therefore, an Ontario court is not competent to try it. Second, the defence holds that there is no liability for wages, as plaintiff never contemplated receiving any. Third, that it was not necessary, according to the constitution of the order, for them to have any reason for dismissing her, but even if they were required to have reasons sufficient cause had been shown.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 5.

THE STREET SCHOOL.

It will well repay all Maple City parents to read the pointed interview in Saturday's Planet, suggesting a curfew bell for the children, and do a little thinking for themselves.

The Planet cannot say that it favors a civic curfew, but it would count it a privilege to encourage parents to deal firmly and effectively with flagrant existing conditions.

They are not exaggerated in the article. A walk around our streets any Saturday night between the hours of nine o'clock and midnight will convince the reader of that. Children, whose tender ages should emphatically entitle them to home restrictions at these hours, are parading around and getting into mischief and disgrace.

The Police Court annals have recently shown a deplorable increase in juvenile misdemeanors and invariably the young miscreants have been children who were allowed to run the streets at night.

It is a serious matter—and parents should deal with it seriously.

MR. WHITNEY'S PROPOSAL.

In making arrangements for the payment of the overdue wages at the Soo, the Ontario Government has adopted the suggestion made by Mr. Whitney in an interview printed on Monday last. The leader of the Opposition, referring to the Premier's announcement that the land grant to the Algoma Central would be withheld by the Government until the wages of the workmen were paid, then stated that he feared this course of action would not help the men, and added:

"I presume the Premier's desire is to cope with the difficulty, but half measures will not do. If the law does not provide for the payment of the men by the Government under the circumstances, I am sure that public opinion and the Legislature as well would justify the setting apart of a portion of the land grant indicated for the payment of the workmen, and that they should be paid without delay. It may be that such a course would be exceptional, and that difficulties would arise, but in this case we should consider that difficulties are made to be overcome, and it would be a dark blot on the fair name of the Province if we allow the workmen to suffer, and perhaps starve, while we hold property out of which relief can be afforded them—relief which, by the way, will be in this case nothing but the justice to which they are entitled."

An accurate reckoning will show this to be the 493rd day of the North Renfrew vacancy.

It pays to be a Grit, that is if your principles are sufficiently elastic to allow of your playing the game of a graffer, says the Warton Canadian. A syndicate of which Messrs. Bowman and Connors are head pushers, a year ago secured the fishing rights in Lake Nepigon for practically nothing. To get the product to market a railway was necessary from the lake to Wabigon. The road is of no use to anybody but the fish syndicate, but it is receiving the usual aid from the Ontario Government. If Ross happens to be kicked out of power by the bye-elections, which seems very probable, a host of political parasites will come to grief, but it would be a blessing for Ontario.

The Harvest Thanksgiving services, held yesterday in Trinity Church, were much enjoyed by the large number present. The church was tastefully decorated with grain, flowers and fruit, and there was special music in the evening. Rev. C. W. Hughes, of Tilsonburg, and Rev. J. W. Collins, pastor of the Church, were the officiating clergymen. The former preached two splendid sermons, taking in the morning as his text,

Matthew 13:12, "The Kingdom of Heaven is yours."

The evening service was also well attended, and the choir gave a fine rendering of "The Church's One Foundation."

The services were conducted in a most impressive manner, and the congregation was deeply moved.

CHAPTER III Visitors.

Marjorie thankfully availed herself of Miss Hyde's considerate offer, and retired to her room very early in the evening.
When she went downstairs next morning she found Mr. Hyde in the breakfast room, his fine, fresh complexion all glowing from his matutinal bath.

He greeted her with the utmost cordiality and kindness.
To herself she said that if only the laughter had the frank, pleasant manner of the father, her home might be a very happy one indeed.

In a moment or two Miss Hyde appeared, dressed in an elegant morning gown, and looking even more beautiful than she had looked the night before.

Her manner, however, was restrained, though perfectly well-bred and polite.

Evidently she had no intention of getting on terms of freedom with her young companion until she knew her better.

Mr. Hyde seemed to notice and be vexed by his daughter's coldness.

Indeed, once Marjorie saw him cast a glance of unmistakable reproof at her.

After breakfast, the members of the family were free to follow the day's occupations or diversions.

Mr. Hyde rose next on horse-back, first commending Marjorie very kindly to the care of his daughter.

"You must remember she is among strangers, Madeline, and try to keep her from feeling lonely," he said, as he left them.

"And you, my dear, must make up your mind to regard us as your friends."

A mist of grateful tears dimmed Marjorie's eyes as, standing by the window, she watched him ride away.

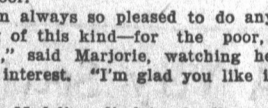

How kind he was, how generous, how true a gentleman.

Already she loved him as she might have loved a dear and honorable relative.

Oh, if only his daughter were more like him! She turned to find Madeline's eyes fixed on her with that same scrutinizing gaze she had seen in them last night.

This time a slight shade of melancholy crossed Miss Hyde's brow, as though she saw something which gave her pain.

She suggested they should sit by the fire and do some needlework together.

Marjorie readily acquiesced, and a servant brought in a great roll of flannel from which Madeline commenced, with great dexterity, to cut a number of garments, which, she said, were for the poor.

"I'm always so pleased to do anything of this kind—for the poor, I mean," said Marjorie, watching her with interest. "I'm glad you like it, too."

But Madeline disclaimed all merit in the transaction.

"If I were left to myself I should never make a single garment," she said, with frank carelessness. "I do it simply because my father wishes it. He likes me to be kind to the indigent."

"He is kind to everyone, I think," said Marjorie, softly.

Miss Hyde made no answer.

A curious look flitted over her face—almost a mocking look—as though she had her own opinion about her father's kindness.

All that day Miss Hyde and Marjorie were alone together, for the master of the house did not return till early in the evening.

Little by little the elder girl's manner unbent.

The air of cold restraint dropped from her; her face lighted up into new beauty.

Marjorie said to herself—
"Oh, how I could love her if only she would always be like this."
The truth was it was Marjorie's own sweetness that had softened Madeline.

IMPOSSIBLE, for you to enjoy motherhood," says the doctor. Sometimes he qualifies the statement, and says: "Impossible without an operation." Yet both these "impossibles" have been made possible by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Many times the hindrances to motherhood are to be found in womanly diseases or weaknesses, which are perfectly and permanently cured by "Favorite Prescription." This great medical remedy cures for women cures in regularity and dries debilitated drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I wish to add my testimony to hundreds of others as to the value of Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was in a hospital for treatment. My case has been regarded as a hopeless one, and they knew not what the trouble was. Heart was bad, stomach all out of order; tired out; severe pains in all parts of the body; sinking spells, and nearly every ailment a woman could have. I took many a bottle of 'patent medicines' without effect, and ten months afterward I gave birth to a ten-pound boy. All physicians had stated as a fact that I never could bear a child. Both the baby and myself were strong, and I got along splendidly—thanks to your medicine."

eye.
"I got a wire from them at the station," went on her father, easily. "They will be here for dinner. Isn't it time you went upstairs to dress?"

"I think it is," said Madeline, speaking in an abstracted, preoccupied fashion. "Come, Marjorie."

And they left the room.

Ten minutes later Marjorie, as she dressed in her own chamber, missed a little gold sleeve link from her cuff, and feeling sure she had dropped it either in the hall or on the staircase, she slipped out to look for it.

At the bottom of the stairs she found it; and as she stooped to pick it up she heard Mr. Hyde's voice in a room close at hand.

It was slightly raised, undoubtedly in anger or displeasure—
"Do as I tell you," he said, imperatively. "You know my plans. Silence! I will not hear a word. Enough for you that I mean to be obeyed."

It was not intentionally that Marjorie had overheard even this much, and she went upstairs again as soon as she had got her sleeve link, without pausing for a single unnecessary moment.

She concluded it must be one of the servants Mr. Hyde was speaking to, and wondered what had been done to arouse such severe displeasure in so mild-tempered a man.

A couple of minutes later there came a tap at her door, followed by the entrance of Madeline.

"You've begun to dress, I see," she remarked, carelessly. "I thought I would come in and tell you to put on one of your prettiest dresses. My father will like it, I think, and take it as a compliment to the arrival of his nephews."

Marjorie was only too pleased to do anything to gratify Mr. Hyde.

She acquiesced at once.

"Will you choose for me?" she said to Madeline. "Ah, do, please."

Madeline walked to the wardrobe without speaking, and looked at the two or three evening dresses which hung there.

"You might wear this, I think," she said, pointing to a very pretty frock, emerald-green in color, and most charmingly made. "I will send you a few flowers to wear with it."

"Oh, thank you; how very, very kind you are."

Again a slightly mocking smile curved Madeline's perfect lips.

Marjorie did not see it, however, for her face was averted, and a moment later Madeline quitted the room.

When the dinner bell rang and Marjorie went downstairs, she made as fair a picture as the mind could frame or the eye could rest upon.

The delicate shade of her dress harmonized exquisitely with the fairness of her skin.

Her eyes were sweetly lustrous behind their long silken lashes; her beautiful golden-brown hair, shaded her white brow, and was gathered in a simple Greek knot at the back of her dainty head.

She looked sweeter than words can say.

Mr. Hyde, who was alone in the dining room, glanced at her with a well-pleased smile.

"Did Madeline send you the flowers, my dear?" he asked, looking at a lovely cluster of pink roses which were pinned across her bodice.

"Yes, sir. It was very kind of her, wasn't it?"
"I trust you will never meet with anything but kindness from Madeline," said the old gentleman, earnestly.

THE STAGE

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At the Chatham Grand:—
General Hospital Benefit—Oct. 9.
Side Tracked—Oct. 10.
Pauline & Co.—Oct. 12-19.
Lyceum Course—Oct. 26.
Sadie Martinot—Oct. 27.
Firemen's Benefit—Oct. 29.
Over Niagara Falls—Oct. 30.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

One of A. Q. Scammon's excellent companies will be the attraction at the Grand on Saturday night, Oct. 10th, presenting the cyclone of fun "Side Tracked." There are more realistic situations in the play of "Side Tracked" than perhaps any other show of its class on the road, while the ludicrous comedy situations cannot fail but to amuse all. The entertainment abounds in catchy music, good specialties, pretty girls and amusing situations. There is not a dull moment from start to finish.

Miss Sadie Martinot, who stands in the forefront of actresses famous for depicting such parts as the notorious Mrs. Ebb Smith, Camille, Sapho and Countess Zieka, will soon appear here in A. W. Pinero's engrossing study of the social problem whether a woman who has erred can, or should be allowed to regain her status in society as set forth in his brilliant play, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Miss Martinot's performance of Paula Tanqueray is said to be an artistic and impressive one. Her supporting company is excellent. Date for Chatham Tuesday, Oct. 27.

To the long list of parts in which Miss Kathryn Kidder has achieved distinction she has this season added another, the title role in "Lady Calmore's Flirtations," a play written especially for her, and which gives promise of proving as famous at her hands as did "Madame Sans Gêne."

The new play affords her, it is said, a field for the display of her rich dramatic gifts that cannot fail to be welcome to all admirers of the versatile art of this favorite actress. Miss Kidder and the excellent supporting company which Manager Jules Murry has secured for her will be seen here soon in this successful production. Date for Chatham, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

BEATING A "SCOOP."

The Way President Hayes Once Saved a Newspaper Man.

President Hayes was generally counted as a cold man by the correspondents, but there is one dignified writer of "brevier matter" who, when a Washington correspondent, had need to find a vulnerable joint in the president's armor and succeeded completely.

Then, as now, great pains were taken to prevent premature publication of the president's message. At the same time it was the custom, which it is not now, for certain newspapers to print a forecast of the message a few days in advance. One year the correspondent of W. S. Story's Chicago Times learned late on a Saturday night that the Chicago Tribune man had sent an abstract of the message by mail for publication on the following Monday morning.

As he knew that to be beaten on so important a matter meant discharge by the irascible Story, he put in all of the following Sunday trying to secure an abstract for himself. At about noon he got so close to a printed copy that he began to have hopes, but they were dashed to the ground when the custodian thereof refused an offer of $1,000 for the document.

Finally, at about 3 o'clock, the correspondent met a senator, a great friend of the president, to whom he poured out the complete story of his troubles. The senator didn't believe he could be of service, but finally consented to take the correspondent with him to call upon the chief executive.

At first the president was adamant, though he would not deny that the Chicago Tribune man had stolen a march on his rival. At last, being convinced that failure meant the close of his career's journalistic career, Mr. Hayes said:

"I can't send you to any one for a copy of the message, as you suggest. You can't be helped by any one but me, and I am crowded for time. But under the circumstances, I will outline the message briefly on condition that you keep the source of your information a secret. You must not take notes, but write wholly from memory. I may repeat the exact phraseology of the message in part and that wouldn't do in your dispatch."

Then for the space of twenty minutes the president talked steadily, the correspondent listening meanwhile as if his life depended upon good hearing and good memory. The result was a column and three-quarters in the Chicago Times the next morning and promotion instead of discharge for the newspaper man.

BLOOD DISEASED MEN

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itching of the skin, sores or blotches on the body eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—indications of the secondary stage. Don't ruin your system with the old foggy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over 20 years. No names used without written consent.

Mr. E. A. C. writes: "Your remedies have done me more good than Hot Springs and all the doctors and medicines I had previously tried. I have not felt any of those pains or seen any ulcers or blotches for over seven years and the outward symptoms of the loathsome disease have entirely disappeared. My hair has grown in fully again and I am married and happy."

24TH REGT. BAND

Bandmaster Walker, of the Military Organization is Here—A Splendid Record

W. H. Walker, the bandmaster for the 24th Kent Regiment, arrived in the city Saturday. Mr. Walker has made a very favorable impression indeed. He served 20 years in the Imperial Navy, during which time he served three years as bandmaster with Admiral Sir R. E. Freemantle, K. C. B. in the East Indies. He was also on H. M. S. Blake with Admiral Sir John Hopkins. Since coming to Canada Mr. Walker served two years as bandmaster in the Gov.-General's Footguards, Ottawa, eighteen months as bandmaster of the Waterloo band, seventeen months in Guelph as bandmaster of the 30th Regiment and city band. On his departure from Guelph for this city, Mr. Walker was made the recipient of two presents, one from the members of his band and the other from the officers of the Musical Society. The new leader of the 24th Kent Regiment's brass band will get to work at once. Besides organizing a brass band he will form an orchestra and the lovers of good music may expect to be gratified at an early date.

The chair of Old Testament exegesis and literature at the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, has been offered to Rev. Dr. Workman.

By King Edward's command, a memorial service for Sir Michael Herbert will be held to-morrow in Marlborough House Chapel, adjoining St. James' Palace.

Two young men named A. Parent and J. Curtis were killed at Montreal by a trolley line coming in contact with a service. They went to the rescue of Derickman Prevost, who was badly shocked.

HIS FIRST ENCYCLICAL.

The Pope's Message is Entirely Religious in Tone.

Rome, Oct. 5.—The Osservatore-Romano publishes the text of an encyclical by Pope Pius X., commemorating Leo XIII. The encyclical, the first issued by Pope Pius, is entirely religious in tone. The most important and interesting part is as follows: "We proclaim that we have not in the supreme Pontificate any other programme than to gather all things in Christ, so that Christ shall be all in all. There will not be lacking those who, measuring divine things by human laws, will try to discover what are the secret intents of our soul. We say to them that we do not wish to be, and with Divine aid, shall not be, before human society other than the minister of God, of whose authority we are the depositary." His Holiness declares that obedience to the laws and submission to the Government are the duty of all citizens.

The encyclical closes thus: "It is evident that the Church instituted by Christ must enjoy full and entire independence."

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh, Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. LES DEBATS BANNED.

Archbishop Bruchesi's Pastoral Letter.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—A pastoral letter from Archbishop Bruchesi was read in all the Roman Catholic churches in this diocese, forbidding "by virtue of episcopal authority and the rules of the index" all faithful to read, sell, buy or keep in their possession Les Debats, a French Sunday newspaper, of which Mr. E. Charles is editor. The letter says that the paper insulted bishop and priests, citizens worthy of respect and Jesus most sacred, eulogized condemned literary works, praised the productions of a French writer who died recently, and whose name cannot be uttered in a Christian church, published regarding the theory of evolution doctrines that border on heresy, insulted the memory of Bishop Bourget, Plus IX and the syllabus, and turned into ridicule a pastoral letter on Sunday observance. These offences it had committed in the face of repeated warnings. As the ban is likely to force the paper to cease publication, it is expected that a civil suit for damages against the Archbishop will begin, a proceeding not without precedent here.

BUCHANAN ELECTED.

Final Victory Over Notorious Sam Parks.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 5.—Frank Buchanan of Chicago won a final victory over Samuel Parks and his following Saturday, when he was elected President of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers over Hugh F. Donnelly of Albany, N.Y., by a vote of 43 to 40. Wm. McCain of Kansas City, a Buchanan adherent, was elected First Vice-President, and John J. McNamara of Cleveland, a Parks candidate, was elected Second Vice-President. J. W. Johnston of New York City, a Parks man, was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer over J. L. Milton of Pittsburgh, who represented the Buchanan element. Toronto, Canada, was chosen as the next place of meeting.

The Star this morning says:—The most important thing done by the convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers in its entire session held here was the repudiation of the national agreement made last April between the International Association and the National Association of Manufacturers and Structural Steel Erectors. The delegates were pledged to keep the matter secret. This repudiation was engineered through by Samuel Parks. It means that his big union in New York and the unions in other cities are free to demand more wages and to strike when they see fit.

CLOTHING DEPT.

New Fall Sack Suits.

The man who wears a Austin & Co. Suit is often asked "Wh'os your tailor?" Because Austin & Co's suits are conspicuous among good clothes for their correctness of style, perfect fit and excellent workmanship. That ordinary ready-made clothes do not approach them in any of these points is a conceded fact. It remains but for you to know it. AND NOW BY COMING HERE, of course, and trying on one of our suits. You will note in our suits the broad shapely shoulders, the long lapels and narrow snug-fitting collars, and coat fronts that are tailored so that they will never wrinkle or loose shape. And you note these features in our $7.50 Suits as well as our suits at $12 and $15.

A Very Special Line of Men's Suits at $12.00.

Among them is the new three-button single-breasted sack and the regular single-breasted sack, handsome pattern tweeds, worsteds and cheviots, in striped overlaid and mottled grey effects and a beautiful assortment that is practically limitless, of plain smooth botany serges, exceptional values at $10 to $12.00.

Our Special $12.00 Topper.

Twelve dollars is a nominal price, but you get phenomenal overcoat value for that price here. Dark Oxford and the new olive effects in covert cloths of rich soft texture, cut in 32 to 38 inch length, well lined, a custom tailor could not duplicate this overcoat for less than $20.00, our price is only $12.00.

SEVEN MEN KILLED.

Result of an Explosion in Distillery at Peoria, Ill.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 5.—With a terrific crash a section of Corning's distillery was blown to pieces, and seven men lost their lives as a result. Five others were seriously hurt. No one knows definitely the cause of the explosion. A copper cylinder or cooker gave way and burst through the building, literally tearing part of it to pieces. The killed are Jas. McManus, Chas. C. Powells, James O'Keefe, V. Schaefer, Geo. C. George, Guy Brennan and John Wilson.

Fort Erie Kidnapping.

London, Ont., Oct. 5.—The child kidnapped from his home near Fort Erie a week ago and discovered by Chief Mains at or near Strathroy, has been taken home. The little one, whose name is George Roberts, is only seven months old, and the mother is a widow. The woman who carried off the child, and who wore the garb of a nun, had been in the Roberts family for four months, and by her kind attention to the babe had won the confidence of its mother. She also helped about house, and made herself agreeable to all. The kidnapper was traced to Strathroy, where she had been staying with a woman on Front street, and where she left the child. When she went away she spoke of a desire to buy a chair for the child and herself. She did not appear to have any money, but her nun's dress and her appeals for charity won for her assistance from many people. Her baggage was found at Romoka, and has not been called for by the owner. The woman is very slight, about 110 pounds in weight. She is about fifty years of age, but looks younger. Along with her nun's dress she wore a black tam o' Shanter. Miss Keefe is a member of a very respectable family, who for many years lived in Strathroy. A widowed sister still resides there.

TORNADO KILLED MANY.

Village of St. Charles, Minn., Was Destroyed.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 5.—A tornado swept through this State and parts of Michigan and Minnesota Saturday afternoon, and the following summary of despatches received here show with what result:—

The tornado struck St. Charles, Minn., a place with 1,500 inhabitants, and ruined the town. Seven persons were killed and twenty-eight injured. The entire main street of St. Charles was literally wiped out. Hardly a business place is left standing. Forty-two residences were destroyed.

Two were killed, three fatally injured and a score of others badly hurt at Independence, Wis., and the surrounding country. Many farm buildings were torn down. At Eagle Valley, north of La Crosse, the Reformed Church was destroyed, and houses on the prairie surrounding were demolished.

Baraboo, Wis., reports a cloud-burst lasting three hours. Many buildings and windmills were blown down.

STORM AT FORT WILLIAM.

C. P. R. Coal Bridge Wrecked, Causing a Loss of $30,000.

Fort William, Oct. 5.—The storm here Saturday was the severest experienced in years. There was heavy lightning and thunder all afternoon and a terrible gale at night.

One of the large steel bridges of the Canadian Pacific's new coal handling plant was blown from its tracks and wrecked, with a large portion of the plant. Steel girders and structural bridge work are twisted into an inconceivable shape. The company's loss is $30,000, and comes at a time of year when the plant is kept in constant operation.

Elevator "D" was also damaged, a large hole being made in the roof. The smokestack on the C. P. R. round house was also blown down.

BOBS' PREDICAMENT

London, October 3.—The Daily Mail states that Field Marshall Earl Roberts had an amusing experience at Newbury railway station on a recent afternoon.

Having witnessed the homeward march of Sir John French's force through Newbury, Lord Roberts drove in an automobile to the railway station to catch the two o'clock train for Paddington. On his arrival at the station he asked for the use of a room in which to change from uniform to mufti.

He was shown into the station master's office, the door of which locked itself with a spring, the result being that the commander-in-chief could not escape from imprisonment until one of the station officials could be found who understood the fastening.

Fortunately, Lord Roberts was released in time to catch his train.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New For The Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

YOU PAY ONLY IF CURED

Expects No Money Unless He Cures You. Method and Full Particulars Sent Free. Write for it This Very Day.

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from colleges and medical boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes, and so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has both the method and the ability to do as he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their names and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation of parts, impotency, etc. This wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interests of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply Dr. S. Goldberg, 308 Woodward Avenue, room F, Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once to Dr. S. Goldberg.

CULINARY CAPERS.

What salt is to an egg such is rice to gumbo. No self respecting cook would ever think of parting the two.

For sponge cakes always sift the flour twice, for the oftener the flour is sifted the lighter will be the cake.

Fresh meat must never be salted when frying, for salt tends to extract the juice of the meat and at the same time harden it.

It is recommended to soak ham in sweet milk overnight after slicing it for frying or broiling. The milk is said to make it very sweet and tender.

If the cream for whipping seems rather thin, try adding a pinch of powdered gum arabic, sifting into the cream with a little powdered sugar.

A very good upper crust for a deep pie is made by rubbing a tablespoonful of butter into three tablespoonfuls of flour—pastry flour preferred. Use enough ice water to make a paste.

A very rich fruit dessert is figs a la creme. Steam large figs for fifteen minutes, cut open at the widest end and fill with a mixture of apricot jam and chopped English walnuts. Close the figs, roll in powdered sugar and serve with whipped cream.

The Kitchen Thermometer.

Every up to date kitchen has a thermometer in it nowadays, and it is in almost constant use. There is no uncertainty, therefore, as to whether the oven is just right for the roast, nor when it is proper that the poundcake should be slipped in. The state of the oven has of course a great influence on the amateur cook's efforts. If there is anything in the world that is exasperating it is to make a cake with great care and then to have the oven so hot that the top crust burns before the inside bakes. It is bad also to have the bread bake so quickly that it does not have a chance to swell as much as it should. These catastrophes and many others happened to the amateur cook before the thermometer came into vogue as a part of the kitchen equipment. They couldn't happen now with it hanging within easy reach, all ready to be taken down and placed in the oven for a space. Many of the new cookbooks not only tell how long each dish must be cooked, but they tell exactly at what temperature they must be kept while cooking. This is of the greatest help to the woman who does without the services of a cook.

Women as Wage Earners.

According to statistics of the London county council there are in London 2,334,456 females, of whom 719,331 are wage earners. More than half a million are unmarried. The occupations followed by these female workers are said to cover the whole range of employment. These statistics are remarkable as showing how large a proportion of the work done in the world's greatest city is carried on by women. The suggestion that the entrance of women into so many lines of work is to the detriment of the other sex and of the industrial situation is plainly fallacious. The enlistment of the gentler sex in the ranks of wage earners increases the aggregate production and adds greatly to the total wealth of the world. The drawbacks are not economic, but social. That there should be more than half a million grown women in the city of London unmarried and engaged in daily toil does not argue a normal condition of society. The situation may not be so extreme in our American cities, but is rapidly becoming so.—Atlanta Journal.

Women Grooms.

An American lady is responsible for a remarkable innovation. She took over to England a number of women grooms, and now they have become a fad with wealthy English. The especial duty of the feminine groom is to attend her mistress when out on horseback. It is now pointed out that she is much more desirable in that capacity than a man. She is useful in case of illness or accident, and she can wait on her mistress in many useful ways. Besides she serves for company if the latter feels inclined to talk, while the male attendant must, of course, be steadfastly ignored. Women grooms do not care for the horses. If competent they teach their employer to ride, aiding her to mount and dismount. These positions are usually held by the daughters of the riding masters.

Setting Colors.

Before a new print goes into the tub set the colors. The way of doing that depends on the colors. For green, blue, pinkish purple, mauve and aniline reds soak ten minutes in alum water, using four ounces of alum to a tub of water. For the madder tints soak in sugar of lead solution—an ounce of the salt to a gallon of water. For black, black and white, grays and deep purples dissolve a handful of coarse salt in a tub of water and soak about seven minutes. Some blacks are made fresher and more permanent by putting strong black pepper tea into the first suds. It is best to try the color of anything by wetting a small piece in the various solutions and using that from which it comes out brightest.

A Charitable Queen.

Philanthropy is with the queen of Portugal as much a passion as hunting, music or painting. She is at the head of all Portuguese charitable establishments, which she directs in person even to the minutest details. Many and many a time she will quit the palace at some early morning hour unaccompanied, simply dressed in black, and none of the household dare ask whither goes her majesty, for all know she is bound on some secret errand of mercy. Once when a civic guard, recognizing her and seeing her enter one of the lowest quarters in Lisbon, followed to watch over her safety, she sternly forbade him to divulge what he had seen or to unmask her anonymity.

RESTING IN MIDAIR.

Faculty of Poising Possessed by Some of the Largest Birds.

"While I never have seen it explained in print," said one of the ornithological sharps of the zoo, "it is a wonder to me persons should express amazement at the ability of certain birds to hang poised in the air without wing motion."

"It is a favorite trick of the great condor. Away in the air, far beyond the mountain tops, these birds hang poised as motionless as if perched on solid rock. True, their wings are outstretched, but even through glasses not the slightest motion is perceptible. They remain in this position for many minutes, sometimes for an hour, making a careful scrutiny of everything below them in their search for prey. Then, with a slight tilting of the wings, they flap slowly away, or, having found what they were seeking, dart like a bullet toward it. The eagle, hawk and other species have this same faculty of poising apparently on nothing."

"These birds move about until they meet an uprising current of air. It may come from immediately beneath them, from wind deflected by striking a cliff along the sea, or may come from a great distance, where a rushing wind struck the side of a mountain and was turned upward. Being on the wing most of the time in search of prey, they have learned to utilize these uprushing air currents for their own purposes. Coming to one of these and heading to the wind, they fix their pinions at an angle which will permit them to rest there and scrutinize something that has taken their attention perhaps on the plain below. Thus, while they seem poised on nothing, the air current rushing upward buoy's them."

"You see the same thing in mid-ocean when ships are followed by flocks of gulls, in some rare case clear across the ocean. When the ships start out the gulls fly here and there, sometimes away on high and again skimming the surface of the water in search of food. As the hours and days pass they tire, and then you will see them poise for rest on the air current rising from the stern of the ship. The onrush of an ocean greyhound creates a swiftly rising air current in its wake. This curls over like a wave and rushes into the vacuum made by the steamer, and on it the gulls are carried along without effort and at the same speed at which the ship is traveling."

BIT OF FRENCH HISTORY.

An Empire Lost For Want of the Right Sort of Riding Habit.

An old legend which makes no pretense to truth tells how a kingdom was lost for want of a horseshoe nail. But a volume of sober historical and biographical purpose, written by Count d'Herrison, makes it appear that the Empress Eugenie, after the battle of Sedan, lost the chance to preserve the empire of her husband by not possessing exactly the right sort of riding habit. It was the evening of Sept. 3, 1870.

The news of the surrender of the French army and of the Emperor Napoleon at Sedan had spread about Paris. The city was excited, and there was talk of a revolution and the banishment of the imperial family. At this juncture Emile de Girardin, a man who was trusted by the empress and who had had no little experience during the previous changes of government, arrived at the palace of the Tuilleries. "If your majesty were to appear on horseback in the midst of the people," Girardin said, "and announce the abdication of the emperor in favor of the prince imperial, your own assumption of the title of empress regent and the appointment of Thiers as prime minister, the empire might be saved. Something must be done to turn the tide."

The empress accepted the advice. But when this leader of the world's fashion sought for a proper costume for her performance it could not be found. The only riding habit in the Tuilleries was a fantastic one of green, embroidered with gold and silver, made for a festal hunting occasion, and the hat was a not less fantastic three cornered affair of the epoch of Louis Quinze. The empress felt that it would not do to appear in this garb on such an occasion. Her appearance in it might have the opposite effect upon the people from that which she intended. The plan had to be given up, the empress and the prince imperial were banished and the Napoleonic empire was at an end.

A NOSE FOR NEWS.

The Genuine Newspaper Reporter Is Born, Not Made.

"Poets are born, not made," said the retired newspaper man to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "and I might add that reporters come into this world in much the same way. For instance, the 'born' reporter will get a story if there is one in sight, while he who only has what I would call a mechanical sort of training will skim over the same ground without ever discovering that anything out of the ordinary has happened. Not many years ago I was holding an important position on one of the principal journals of Chicago. I was one day put on the city editor's desk, and wanting to test the ability of two new men on the staff, I assigned both of them to the same story. Of course neither knew the other was in the neighborhood, and you ought to have seen their respective reports. One of them had a two column story that created a sensation from one end of the city to the other, while the other turned in about two 'sticks' of the driest stuff I ever remember to have read. I am satisfied that both the men covered the story to the best of their respective abilities. One of them simply had a 'nose for news' and the other didn't. As I said, reporters are born, not made by studying 'journalism' in the abstract. The natural born reporter is at home in a newspaper office, he can live on ink and can sleep soundly on the imposing stone. He sees little news in a dog biting a man, but he is quick to grasp the importance of an item telling about a man biting a dog."

A Puzzling Problem.

The man seemed to be very much excited.

"We've made a bet," he said, "on a question of law, and we've agreed to leave it to you."

"I'll do the best I can to settle it," returned the great lawyer, gratified by this evidence of the opinion in which he was held. "What is the question of law?"

"Why, a two dollar cat belonging to Brown ate a ten dollar bird belonging to Jones, and we want to know who has legal title to the combination of bird and cat."

A Word In Season.

The playwright turned pale with excitement and a sudden rush of pride as he heard from his position in the wings the sound of stamping feet and roaring voices.

"They are calling for the author!" he cried feverishly. "What shall I do? Must I make a speech?"

The manager, who had not only heard but seen the audience, took him by the elbow.

"The best thing you can do," he whispered, "is to slip out of the stage door and escape while there's time."

The Eucalyptus Tree.

When the world's supply of coal is exhausted, which is not a matter for immediate worry, the eucalyptus tree may be grown as a substitute. This eucalyptus stores up more of the sun's energy than any other tree (1 per cent. of that reflected on the unit of area), and in South Africa it has been found cheaper to raise it than to import coal. An acre of eucalyptus plantation will produce each year the equivalent of thirty tons of coal.

His Musical Taste.

"You never applaud at a concert," "No," answered Mr. Canroix. "If I enjoy a piece well enough to applaud I know by that fact that it isn't the sort of music that mother and the girls would approve of my applauding."

Convictions that remain silent are neither sincere nor profound.—Balzac.

Stanstead Junction, P. Q., 12th Aug., 1893.

MESSRS. C. C. RICHARDS & CO.
Gentlemen, I fell from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting my men in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on my back and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg. Only for its being very fleshy would have broken it. In an hour I could not walk a step. Commenced using MINARD'S LINIMENT and the third day went to Montreal on business and got about well by the use of a cane. In ten days was nearly well. I can sincerely recommend it as the best Liniment that I know of in use.

Yours truly,
C. H. GORDON.

Beauty is born in the blood. Beauty is more than "skin deep," it is blood deep. When the blood is tainted by disease the flesh will feel it and the skin will show it. Sallow or muddy complexion, pimples, blotches, and eruptions are only the surface signs of impure blood. Face washes, lotions, complexion powders, may palliate the evils, but they cannot cure the disease. The only cure is to cleanse the blood of the poisonous matter which is the cause of the outbreak in the flesh and skin. Impure blood can be absolutely purified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Its effect on flesh and skin is marked. Sores heal and disappear. The skin becomes smooth, and regains its natural color. The eyes brighten and sparkle, the whole body is radiant with the brightness and beauty of health. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, assists the action of the "Discovery," by cleansing the system of clogging matter.

FAMOUS ENGLISH BANKS.

Recent Amalgamations—History of One of the Oldest Concerns—Their Founders—Some Checks Drawn.

The history of private banking enterprise is a branch of literature which appears to have been decidedly neglected. Perhaps this is because it has been considered that some of the secrets of the bank parlor, which require to be preserved with such scrupulous care, might possibly be disclosed. On the other hand, in view of the bank amalgamations which are constantly in progress, and of which the latest example is found in the combination between the Union of London and the Smiths and the group of enterprises, which for convenience sake, are known as Prescott's, it seems almost a pity that each banking house has not been compelled to keep a chronicle of the leading incidents in its career. Old and famous firms are being absorbed, and their identity runs some risk at least of being obscured by the process. In a few cases, happily, an attempt has been made to place on permanent record the story of old established private banks. There is Bristol Old Bank, for instance, one of the few commercial enterprises of the kind founded before the Bank of England was created. This was one of the undertakings amalgamated with Prescott's in 1891, and now included in the larger combination already mentioned. There is an interesting account of this and other Bristol banks in an elaborate volume, entitled "The History of Banking in Bristol," by Mr. Charles H. Cove, whose pen covers the period from 1750 to 1890.

An odd thing about the Union Bank of London is that, while it has absorbed or amalgamated with a number of the older banks, including that of Messrs. Smith, Payne, and Smiths, which was originally established at Nottingham as far back as 1866, it is of itself relatively modern origin. Its prospectus was issued in January, 1839, at which time, it appears, there were only three joint stock banks in the monetary capital of the world. The bank seems to have been largely of Scottish origin. It originally began business at 8 Moorgate street, but in 1845 removed to its present premises, 2 Princes street. The nominal capital of the undertaking at the time it was created was £250,000. The recently announced amalgamation will bring the amount up to £250,000,000. It is only of late that the Union Bank has acquired in a policy of combination.

Prescott's Bank was first established in Threepenny street in 1776, under the style of Prescott, Grote & Co. There were, as inevitably happens, a good many changes in the course of years, and eventually the firm came to be known as Prescott, Grote, Burton, Loder & Co. Dimsdale & Co. took up banking business some four years earlier than the firm with which they were destined soon to amalgamate. They were located at 50 Cornhill, the present offices of Prescott's Bank. This house was originally known by the sign of the Golden Helmet and the Golden Bear, and when Prescott's and Dimsdale's threw their fortunes together it became their joint habitation. One might run through a long list of distinguished names associated with Dimsdale's Bank, but it is sufficient to say that, after absorbing the house of Drewett, Fowler & Co. it was known in 1891 by the title of Dimsdale, Fowler, Barnard & Dimsdale. The name of Prescott naturally occupies a prominent position in the records of the combined firm. Mr. Charles Prescott, who had been a partner for many years, and who did not very long ago, was the first chairman of the amalgamated enterprise. The memory of the Grottes is still affectionately cherished at Cornhill. They were Dutchmen, as the name indicates.

Of the history of the banking house of Smith, Payne, and Smiths a good deal of information has lately been forthcoming, thanks to the industry of Mr. H. T. Easton. The firm is remarkable for being until lately the oldest of its kind in the United Kingdom, and as having in the persons of one family carried on business for over two hundred years. The bank, indeed, has had a reputation ever a long period of history as second to none. Branches of Smith's bank were established at Lincoln in 1775, at Hull in 1784, and at Newark in 1808, the latter the date of the Nottingham enterprise. The London business was partly attributable to Samuel Smith, a grandson of Thomas Smith, who was a goldsmith in Wood street. As his brother's business in Nottingham was growing in importance, a London bank was resolved upon—truly a unique experiment for a provincial firm. It carried on business at various places, eventually in Lombard street, and finally for long years close against the Mansion House.

In the "thirties" this bank kept the accounts of some of the biggest firms in the city, and it apparently also had the patronage of publishers, for there is a record of a cheque drawn by Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co. for £10,000 in favor of Lord Macaulay for his "History of England." A couple of other interesting cheques were those drawn by Sir H. M. Stanley in Central Africa, for which he received payment from Arab traders, and, oddly enough, one of the cheques was paid through the Union Bank of London, with which Messrs. Smith, Payne & Smiths were ultimately to be identified.

It is worth observing that while the process of amalgamation necessarily means to some extent the overshadowing of famous names, yet the conditions which have been observed by the Union Bank and its co-partners, if the term may be permitted, are calculated in no inconsiderable degree to keep them alive. A leading feature is the maintenance of a system of local Directors, which meets the objection that this kind of combination necessarily involves the centralization of banking in Lombard Street and its vicinity.—London Telegraph.

STRUCK THE BOOT OF HIS TROUBLE

James Atwell Cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And his Lumbago and Urinary Troubles Vanished once and for all—He Tells His Story.

Campbellford, Ont., Oct. 5.—(Special).—That Urinary Troubles and Lumbago are the result of disordered Kidneys has been proved by James Atwell of this place. He had Lumbago and pains in the bladder and in passing his urine would hurt him so as to almost cause tears to come to his eyes.

He cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and his pains of all kinds vanished.

Speaking of this case, Mr. Atwell says: "I think Dodd's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in my case, but I will never be without them in the house. I had Lumbago and Bladder Trouble for years. I tried other medicines and a bandage prescribed by the doctor, but I could get no relief till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cured me."

If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

A queer reminiscence gleam crept into the eyes of the barber with the long, low, rakish forehead as he suddenly rested his razor while shaving the Adam's apple of the lean, nervous looking man in the chair.

"I was King Louis XIV. of France last night," said the barber suddenly, the razor still poised about half an inch above the lean customer's Adam's apple.

The customer blinked and breathed hard, the shaved side of his face being nearly as white as the still lathered other side.

"Wait a minute," he said, placing a shaking hand on the barber's shaving arm.

He sat up straight in the chair with a wild look, and then made a bolt for the door.

"Wew!" he yelled as he went. "What an escape! King Louis XIV.! Bug house! He wouldn't have done a thing to me"—And, with a towel streaming in the breeze and one side of his face still lathered, he hopped down the street.

"Well, I'll be dabbled!" muttered the barber. "Now, what kind of cogs has that fellow got in his cunk? I was only trying to tell him that I was King Louis XIV. at the barbers' masquerade ball last night, and look at him going after the mile record!"—Detroit Free Press.

Ontario's Wonderful Soil.

The best crop stories of recent years are placed in the shade by a report of a yield of red winter wheat on a farm in Norfolk County, Ontario. Well-authenticated information from that district is that a production of 1,410 bushels was obtained from 27 acres, or an average of 52 bushels. In some portions of this area the yield was 64 bushels. The grain is described as being of excellent quality, some of it weighing 63 to 65 pounds to the bushel.

Antiquities in the Colonies.

Some of the British Colonies are so rich in antiquities that it is difficult to value them to their true worth. At the Murdoch sale recently a twenty-dollar gold piece of British Columbia, dated 1862, made £116, and the ten-dollar piece of the same type realized £58. It is believed that no specimen of these two coins has ever before been offered for sale by public auction; in fact, the only other specimens known are in the British Museum.

Millinery!

THE BEST CROP STORIES OF RECENT YEARS ARE PLACED IN THE SHADE BY A REPORT OF A YIELD OF RED WINTER WHEAT ON A FARM IN NORFOLK COUNTY, ONTARIO.

Well-authenticated information from that district is that a production of 1,410 bushels was obtained from 27 acres, or an average of 52 bushels. In some portions of this area the yield was 64 bushels. The grain is described as being of excellent quality, some of it weighing 63 to 65 pounds to the bushel.

Antiquities in the Colonies.

Some of the British Colonies are so rich in antiquities that it is difficult to value them to their true worth. At the Murdoch sale recently a twenty-dollar gold piece of British Columbia, dated 1862, made £116, and the ten-dollar piece of the same type realized £58. It is believed that no specimen of these two coins has ever before been offered for sale by public auction; in fact, the only other specimens known are in the British Museum.

KELLY-WILLSON

The home of Mr. H. Willson, of Florence, presented an attractive appearance on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock, when his daughter, Miss Mary E., was united in marriage to Dr. W. Albert Kelly, of Florence, son of Mr. George W. Kelly, of Chatham. The house was everywhere decorated with white and pink asters, and under a canopy of white and green the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Dehl, of Tara.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white organdie, in train, carrying a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and wearing the usual veil. Her bridesmaid, Miss Grace Miller, of Dresden, wore a gown of white organdie trimmed with lace and liberally eaten ribbon, and carrying a bouquet of red roses. Dr. Currie, of Thamesville, attended the groom. After dejeuner, the bride, substituting for her wedding gown a neat suit of gray cloth flaked with white and green, and hat to match, left with her husband for their new home amid showers of rice and good wishes, where a reception was given them by their many friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Kelly will reside in Florence. The presents were numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Some of the guests from a dis-

ARTHUR S. H. TUPPER.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK HIS TRAIN NEAR SANDON, B.C.

His Political Speeches in the Kootenays Offended Some Socialists, and it is Alleged They Made Threats Against Him.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 5.—British Columbia politics, for long a by-word and reproach in their peculiarities, have now descended to the Kootenay level, according to the account given by Sir Herbert Tupper of an adventure he had on Thursday night last, which came within an ace of closing his career. He had been stumping the Kootenays in the Provincial campaign, and finding these districts hotbeds of extreme Socialism, he had handled their anarchistic tendencies without gloves, exciting some savage comments and threats in Kaslo (unheeded at the time) that he would not get out of the mountain country alive.

In order to reach Vancouver on election day it was necessary for him to take a special train from Kaslo up to Sandon Thursday night, and this train—a locomotive pushing two cars up the steep mountain-side railway which overhangs the famous Sandon gulch—was crawling upward twelve miles out of Kaslo, when the lookout sighted an obstruction upon the track, with the forward car almost upon it. The emergency brakes were at once applied, and the locomotive, by 18, and some slow speed, the heavy downpour of rain placed to skid ten feet or more, and destruction to skid ten feet or more, saved the cars from being telescoped by the locomotive, or, with it, leaving the rails and going crashing down the mountain side. Investigation disclosed that a heavy timber, 18 by 18, and some twelve feet long, had been deliberately placed across the track. The police are now working energetically to bring to justice the perpetrators of the outrage.

SURTAX HURTS GERMANY.

Press Urges an Arrangement with Canada.

London, Oct. 5.—The German press continues to urge all manner of objections to the adoption of a protectionist tariff by Britain. The Chamber of Commerce, Chemnitz, Germany, reports that the increase in import duties into Canada has hit the Saxon textile industry very hard, especially cotton woven gloves and stockings, which were largely exported from Saxony to Canada. The additional increase of 33 1/3 per cent. will completely prevent the continuation of the Saxon export to Canada. The toy industry is also seriously affected, and the whole of this export trade to Canada will be lost if the increase of 33 1/3 per cent. duty be on permanent. The German Chamber of Commerce urges a friendly arrangement with Canada on the basis of mutual concessions. It points out the serious consequences of a customs war with Canada as it would endanger German commercial relations with Britain and German industries could not stand the consequences of a customs war with Britain.

TURBINE FOR ALLAN LINE.

Order Given at Belfast for the New Boat.

London, Oct. 5.—The Allan Line has ordered at Belfast a 12,000-ton turbine steamer, the first of this kind to be used on the Atlantic. The new steamer is destined for the mail service between Liverpool and Canada. She will have a speed of 37 knots.

NEW SERVIAN CABINET.

The Change Apparently Due to Failure to Punish Regicides.

Belgrade, Oct. 5.—A new Cabinet has been formed, with the following as its leading members:—Premier, Geo. Gruios; Foreign Minister, Andra Nikolic; Interior Minister, Stojan Protic; War Minister, Andrejevics. The Cabinet change is apparently due to differences regarding the policy towards the murderers of the late Queen Draga and King Alexander.

BASEBALL.

ANOTHER FOR PITTSBURG.

Boston, Oct. 5.—Pittsburg won the third game of the world's championship series here to-day by defeating the Boston Americans 4 to 2. About 25,000 people saw the game. Philippi pitched another superb game for Pittsburg, holding the Bostonians to four hits.

Pittsburg.....112000010-4

WHOLE PARTY PERISHED.

Missionary McLaughlin and Six Children Drowned.

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—It is now certain that Missionary McLaughlin of the Methodist Church, who left Huron River on September 7 with six Indian children, perished, with the entire party. Word has reached Selkirk that two bodies, one of an elderly Indian and another of an Indian boy, were found in Lake Winnipeg, near Big Island, at a point where Mr. McLaughlin and the party were supposed to be when the big storm occurred. It is supposed that the elder Indian had been engaged by Mr. McLaughlin to assist in navigating the sail boat in which they were coming up the lake. Rev. John Simmons, in charge of northern missions, for the Methodist Church, is now on the lake with a tug, endeavoring to locate the body of Mr. McLaughlin or to discover traces of his whereabouts. Friends are hoping that news may come of the missing missionary from some of the islands near which the disaster occurred.

ELEVEN PERSONS DROWNED.

Result of Capsizing of a Steamer Near Marinette, Wis.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 5.—The steamer J. H. Hackley capsized and sank off Green Island, seven miles from Marinette. Eleven persons were drowned. Seven were rescued after drifting all night on wreckage.

The drowned—Geo. Leclair, jun., Jacksonport, Wis.; Joseph V. Orus, captain of the Hackley; Edna Barringer, Lawrence Barringer, Freeman Thorp, Henry Rabito, Carl Kelly, all of Fish Creek, Wis.; Miss Frances Vincent and Miss Vincent's sister of Egg Harbor, Wis.; Nelson Nelson, Sturgeon Bay; Frank Fitzgibbons, Jacksonport.

A. E. WALLACE SUED.

Atlas Loan Debenture Holder Charges Fraud and Deceit.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—The feeling in St. Thomas with regard to the condition of affairs in the Atlas Loan Company has led the creditors of the company to demand an investigation of a complete character into the company's finances. What is believed to be a test case, which will be supported by a number of the creditors jointly, has been begun by Michael Heenan, a detective employed by the Michigan Central Railway Company at St. Thomas. A writ was issued on his behalf by Kingsmill, Hellmuth, Saunders & Torrance at Osgoode Hall late on Saturday against Mr. A. E. Wallace, claiming damages "for the fraud, misrepresentation, misfeasance and deceit of the defendant."

ANNUITY FOR SIR WILFRID.

Senator Beique Explains the Nature of the Testimonial.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—The following letter from Senator Beique appears in Saturday's issue of Le Canada: "Sir,—Some of the Opposition papers concern themselves beyond measure about the financial position of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and especially respecting a gift which a few of his personal friends offered him in 1901, not of a capital sum of $100,000, but of a moderate life annuity purchased from an insurance company. The resolution which was adopted on that occasion shows better than I can express it how this subscription, entirely confined to friends, irrespective of politics, is beyond criticism. Here is the text of the resolution: 'That whereas Sir Wilfrid Laurier has devoted the whole of his life to public affairs, and the expenses attendant upon the high position he has attained are necessarily large, and in excess of his emoluments of office; whereas a number of his personal friends and admirers have, out of respect for his high character, expressed a desire to contribute toward the creation of a fund which may relieve his mind from all anxieties; and whereas the said fund should be raised in such a way as to entirely safeguard his independence towards the subscribers thereto, the persons here present form themselves into a committee for the purpose of carrying out the above object, and especially seeing that the subscription be confined to persons having no favors to expect from the Government. The committee also to advise as to the best means of insuring the application of the fund to Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier's exclusive benefit.' (Signed) F. L. Beique."

CANADA'S EXPEDITION.

The Neptune Should Now be in Hudson Bay.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 5.—The Newfoundland sealing steamer Neptune, conveying the Canadian Government expedition to Hudson Bay, whither it is going with the object of expelling any American whalers found fishing in those waters, passed northern Labrador September 3 and entered Hudson Strait. The steamer was expected to reach Chesterfield Inlet, in the northwest section of Hudson Bay, about September 20, and make its winter quarters there. The expedition will not be heard of again until next summer.

TEACHER DROPPED DEAD.

W. R. Cummings of Trout Creek Expired on the Street.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—W. R. Cummings, a school teacher at Trout Creek, Barry Sound district, dropped dead in front of the Red Star Restaurant at Jarvis and King streets about 8:30 on Saturday evening. He had been in the restaurant, and was leaving when he suddenly staggered and fell. Dr. Greig was called, but before he could reach the spot the man was dead. Policemen found the body taken to the morgue.

PURITY. LAGER BEER

"The Beer That is Brewed in Glass"

We use the mechanical refrigeration (ice machines) instead of natural ice for cooling both the beer and our cellars because it is the only sanitary method and temperatures are controlled with absolute certainty, enabling a brewer to produce far better beer.

We have duplicate refrigerating machines to provide against injury to the beer on account of improper refrigeration, arising from accident to machinery.

We do not manufacture ice and cool with it but we remove the heat from the rooms thereby producing cold.

The natural ice method is antiquated and unsanitary.

All things being equal, a home industry is entitled in preference but in brewing the investment required to produce a reasonably perfect beer is so large that but few will undertake it providing their intention is to furnish a P.U.P.E., WHOLESOME and PROPERLY AGED BEER.

A properly constructed and equipped plant can hardly be constructed, equipped and operated on an investment of less than $75,000.

We use large necked bottles to permit of cleaning properly. It is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse a small necked bottle and if not cleaned the beer is sure to become infected and ptomaine poisoning follows.

Lager beer that is too young or improperly finished will produce bowel troubles, but the expense and risk in carrying beer to a proper age causes many to dodge it and let the consumer pay the penalty.

We have storage capacity for over 200,000 gallons of Lager, Ale and Porter in bulk, exclusive of our bottle storage cellars, and ship only thoroughly matured goods.
