

INTRODUCTION

This is part 3 of finding aid 434, consisting of a computer index arranged alphabetically by keyword. This finding aid is also available in hard copy at the Public Archives and at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton.

Researchers are reminded that there are other finding aids to the Bennett Papers. Parts 1 and 2 (available on microfilm reel C-4495) consist of file lists to the Political, Personal, Invitations and Clippings Series. Part 4 is a re-sorted version of part 3, in which the computer index is arranged by volume number complete with full file descriptors. Part 4 is also available on microfilm reel C-10859. The Public Archives makes the microfilm copy of finding aid 434 available on interlibrary loan.

The Public Archives has only a microfilm copy of the Bennett Papers. The originals are held by the University of New Brunswick. Persons wishing to borrow portions of the papers on interlibrary loan should take note of the UNB reel number. This is essential since the University, not the Public Archives, makes the microfilm copy of the Bennett Papers available on interlibrary loan.

The computer index to the R.B. Bennett Papers will be of use to most researchers looking at the papers since it provides more detail than the file lists. This finding aid covers the three most important series, the Political, Personal and Invitations Series . The Political Series consists of correspondence, memoranda, etc, covering 1878-1947. The bulk of this series is official files relating to Bennett's tenure as Prime Minister, 1930-1935. The Personal Series contains both family and personal and political correspondence, 1877-1960, and the Invitations Series consists of correspondence on the subject of invitations to Bennett to speak. The fourth series, consisting of Clippings, was not indexed but a file list is available.

Like the computer finding aids to other Prime Ministers' Papers, the index to the R.B. Bennett Papers is arranged alphabetically by keyword. Keywords are nominal and subject entries which are significant for research purposes. Entries which are not considered to the historically significant are called stop words since they do not appear as keywords. Some common stop words are "committee", "department", "government" and "report". Unlike other Prime Ministers' indexes at the Public Archives, the Bennett index consists of one continuous alphabetical sort.

It will be immediately apparent to researchers who have used other detailed computer indexes to Prime Ministers' Papers that the Bennett index is different in several respects. First of all, the indexes to the Macdonald, Borden and Meighen Papers are extremely detailed (each item being indexed) where as in the case of Bennett there is a file by file index. This in turn means several things. The references given in the index will not be as easily traced as those in the more detailed indexes. For example, to find a particular item in a 400 page file it may be necessary to search the whole file. Also, since the index is less detailed, only the most significant subjects and authors in each file have been included.

Researchers using the Bennett Papers are advised to look at other parts of finding aid 434. The file lists (parts 1 and 2) and the volume sort of the computer index (part 4) will sometimes be of more use to researchers than the main computer index (part 3). This will most likely be the case when the researcher is making a detailed examination of subjects which the file lists cover. Such standard subjects include agriculture, elections, external affairs, finance, justice, railways, senatorships, trade and commerce and unemployment relief. With subjects like these it may be futile to copy out hundreds of references from the computer index only to find that most of the entries are from a limited number of volumes.

Since there was no limited subject vocabulary used in preparing the Bennett index, a particular topic may be indexed one way in one place and another way later on. For example, researchers looking for items on trade should look under both imports/exports and the name of the commodity. The same thing applies to Great Britain-United Kingdom-British, USSR-Russian and United States-American. Another example of this is the case of immigration. "Immigration European" and "European Immigration" both occur, as do "Veterans Pensions" and "Pensions Veterans". The point of this is not to give up when a subject of interest is not found. When place names are joined to other items in keywords, it is also difficult to be consistent. Both options should be tried in searching for such entries as "Vancouver Women's Canadian Club" or "Hamilton Relief Work". This also applies to the officer of a city or other organization, for example, W.J. Stewart" or "Toronto Mayor".

Other points to be mentioned include the following:

1. When no country is mentioned, the entry refers to Canada. For example "High Commissioner to UK";

2. "R.B. Bennett" is rarely used in the index since most of the entries refer to him.

3. Like other authors, Lords, Dukes etc are to be found under their surnames, e.g. "Bessborough";

4. Abbreviations used in the index include "Asn", "CNR", "CPR", "Co", "Dept", "Lt-Governor", "RCMP", "Rly", "USA", "USSR" and "WWI".

5. Finally, researchers should look at both "St" and "Saint", "Mc" and "Mac". "Co-operative" and "Cooperative".

Pages missing on the microfilm copy of the papers may mean several things, such as the presence of duplicates or an error in numbering. Also, most periodicals and other published items readily available in large libraries have not been filmed.

K BENNETT, RT. HON. RICHARD BEDFORD (1870-1947)

Microfilm, 1878-1947, 597 reels. Finding Aid No. 434.

Richard Bedford Bennett was born at Hopewell Hill, New Brunswick, 3 July 1870. He taught at Douglastown, New Brunswick, 1888-1890. After having studied law at Dalhousie University, 1890-1893, he became a partner in the law firm of L.S. Tweedie in Chatham. In 1897, Bennett moved to Calgary as a junior partner of Senator James Lougheed. The partnership was dissolved in 1922 and Bennett established the firm of Bennett, Hannah and Sandford. He remained a member until 1937. Bennett was a member of the Legislative Assembly of the North-West Territories 1898, and the Alberta Legislative Assembly, 1909-1911. In the House of Commons, Bennett represented Calgary West, 1911-1917 and 1925 to 1938. He was Federal Minister of Justice and Attorney General for three months in 1921 and was Minister of Finance for two months in 1926. At the first convention of the Conservative Party in Winnipeg in October 1927, Bennett was elected leader. Following the defeat of the King government in July, 1930, he became Prime Minister. Bennett also held the offices of Minister of Finance, 1930-1932 and Secretary of State for External Affairs, 1930-1935. After the Conservative defeat in 1935, Bennett served as Leader of the Opposition until 1938 when he retired from active political life. In 1939, he moved to England and settled on an estate in Surrey where he lived until his death, 27 June 1947. In 1941, he was created Viscount Bennett of Mickleham, Calgary and Hopewell. He never married.

The Bennett Papers were given to the University of New Brunswick in 1949 by Ronald V. Bennett, who inherited them from his brother R.B. Bennett. In 1965, the University loaned the papers to the Public Archives of Canada to be arranged, microfilmed and indexed. The papers were returned in 1976. The papers mainly cover Bennett's period as Prime Minister, 1930-1935. There is only one reel of political papers for the period up to 1919. The papers contain material for most of Bennett's adult life, but they are weakest for the New Brunswick and Alberta periods.

The finding aids to the Bennett Papers consist of four parts. Part 1 contains file lists to the Political Series and Personal Series. Part 2 contains file lists to the Invitations Series and Clippings Series. Part 3 is a detailed computer index to the Political, Personal and Invitations Series, arranged alphabetically by keyword. Part 4 is a variation of part 3. Instead of being sorted alphabetically, the computer index is arranged by volume number. This last finding aid will be of particular assistance to researchers using material in consecutive volumes, since it is in effect an extremely detailed file list, showing the significant contents as well as the titles of each file. All of the parts of finding aid 434 are also available on microfilm, and the Public Archives makes them available on interlibrary loan. Parts 1 and 2 are filmed together on reel C-4495, part 3 is on reels C-10855 to C-10858 and part 4 is on reel C-10859. Researchers are urged to read carefully the introductions to each part of the finding aid to determine which part will be of most help to them.

Political Series, 1878-1947. Microfilm, 435 reels (also University of New Brunswick Volumes 1-873).

Correspondence, memoranda, notes and printed material arranged in subject files alphabetically by file title within eight time periods. The largest group of files is contained in Section F which covers the period when Bennett was Prime Minister. The prime consideration of the Bennett ministry, 1930-1935 was the depression. Among the matters about which there is a considerable amount of material in the papers are banking, civil service, Conservative Party, farm relief, finance, grain, Imperial Conferences of 1930 and 1932, railways, requests for assistance, tariff revision, trade and unemployment relief. The original organization of the papers has been retained for the most part.

Section A, 1878-1911, (Vols. 1-2): Reel M-907.

Section B, May 1911 - April 1917, (Vol. 3): Reel M-907

Section C, May 1917 - November 1921, (Vols. 4-5): Reels M-907 and M-908.

Section D, December 1921 - 16 October 1927, (Vols. 6-26): Reels M-908 to M-916. This section contains many files which were apparently created by Hugh Guthrie as Leader of the Opposition, 1926-1927.

Section E, October 1927 - August 1930, (Vols. 27-75): Reels M-917 to M-948. Leader of the Opposition files.

Section F, August 1930 - October 1935, (Vols. 76-830): 373 reels (see microfilm conversion list for actual reel numbers). Prime Minister's Office files.

Section G, October 1935 - July 1938, (Vols. 831-867): Reels M-1471 to M-1490 and M-1497 to M-1498. Leader of the Opposition files.

Section H, July 1938-1947, (Vols. 868-871): Reels M1498 and M-1499.

Additional material, 1928-1938, (Vols. 872-873): Reel M-1500.

Personal Series, 1877-1960, Microfilm, reels M-3140 to M-3186 (also University of New Brunwick Volumes 874-972). The 47 reels of personal papers contain Bennett's business, financial and family correspondences, letters of congratulations and messages of appreciation as well as a great deal of correspondence for the period 1939-1947 when he lived in England. In addition, there is genealogical material and non-official correspondence for the period when Bennett was Prime Minister. The Personal Series also contains a wealth of political papers. Of particular interest are the Notable Persons Files, 1910-1947, which are organized alphabetically by author and contain letters from numerous persons of note.

Invitations Series, 1927-1946. Microfilm, reels M-3859 to M-3868 (also University of New Brunswick Volumes 973-995). Invitations to and from Bennett, related political and personal correspondence and occasional drafts of speeches by Bennett. This series is arranged chronologically by province.

Clippings Series, 1870-1949. Microfilm, reels M-4476 to M-4580 (also University of New Brunswick Volumes 996-1317). This series consists mainly of clippings from the Prime Minster's Office and Leader of the Opposition's Office, arranged alphabetically by file title within nominal and subject subseries.
