DISTRIBUTION OF PREMIUMS.

Thursday afternoon, June 26th, was the time appointed for the premium distribution at the Sacred Heart, our renowned educational Institution of London, and as we sauntered through the shady groves and broad avenues leading to the Academy, the sweet strains of music from the distance quickened our step, and in a moment we stood in the beautifully decorated hall. His Lordship, Bishop Walsh was already there, surrounded by his devoted clergy. Beautifully executed programmes were passed round to the distinguished guests by two little girls, whose simple, easy movements betrayed careful training. The pupils, decked in their pretty white robes, were seated on either side of the apartment. Their simplicity of dress added another charm to their many attractions, and their bright faces beamed with happy expectations. They were, indeed, themselves far lovelier ornaments than the perfume-breathing exotics profusely distributed throughout the apartment.

Six gifted young ladies, Miss N. Duffanel, L. Barnes, B. Guilford, A. Enigh, I. Penwarden, and P. Cornelis, rendered in a masterly manner Herz' L'Ecuine de Mer. This was followed by a lovely scene. In the rear of the hall were constructed mountains most natural in appearance, pine groves affording shade to a band of little mountain children, who strangely enough continued to wander up and down the mountain side, and through the pleasant woods. They came, these lovely, children laden with fresh flowers, and twining wreaths. As they sang so sweetly their beautiful carols, the strains of the music seemed to float in the clear mountain air. It was a charming picture. Miss Bessie Barbour then spoke "La Rose sans Epines" in excellent French, and purest accent.

The "Fantaisie Brillante, by Leybach, deserved its title. The faultless manner in which this piece was executed, the wonderful speed with which the sixty fingers glided over the keys were simply surprising. The young ladies who acquitted themselves of this difficult task were, Misses F. Masuret, E. Lebel, M. Long, K. Beattie, M. Murray, and B. Barbour.

A German piece, entitled "Zwei Schwwestern," delivered by Miss Derfingter, was feelingly spoken, and those who understood the language knew how to appreciate the warmth and earnestness of the young lady. Then two charming little girls of five or six, Misses A. Masuret and H. Carr, with light silken hair and winning manner, denoting by their dress that they personated a rose and a butterfly, appeared, engaged in a discussion which soon became most animated. We trembled a moment for the issue of the dispute, but all ended well, and they vowed ever after to remain friends. Then followed an amusing performance of two royal ladies from court, who in a fit of ennui, or through love of adventure, went forth to seek from two modest old ladies lessons in the art of spinning. At first it was a disagreeable task; however woman's determination soon prevailed that her will can conquer all difficulties. It was a pretty sight to see the spinning wheels in motion, and the alacrity with which our young adventurers afterwards acquitted themselves of their self-imposed duty. Miss Johnston's rendering was remarkable for clearness of intonation and intelligence of delivery. Miss Derfingter's voice is a pure soprano of high range. Misses Beattie and Ketchum particularly charmed us by the sweetness and freshness of their notes.

Thalberg's Grande Fantaisie sur La Salkiera was executed on three different instruments by Misses M. Barbour, E. Johnston, and C. Jell, fine musicians, evincing great talent; their touch was exquisite, some of the tones brought forth with such electric power, as to send a thrill through the hall. The grand choruses were warmly applauded, and deservedly, for it was marked by excellence of musical training.

The valedictory, entitled "Leaving the Haven," was spoken by Miss Corcoran. Her inflection and emphasis were exceptionally correct. Her composition, written in Iambic verse, contained a delicacy of sentiment throughout, which betrayed a feeling heart, that had yielded to the sweet influences of piety and religion. The following are two verses of the piece:

"Before the sun shall kiss the earth farewell,
Or Larks extend a longing golden chain,
To bid me on my cherished Convert home,
Which naught of earth may ever snap in twain,
Stretch out, dear links, to this loved beach near,
Till of that eternal shore my little bark is freed."

But for beneath the billow's crest of foam,
Should'er extend a longing golden chain,
To bid me on my cherished Convert home,
Which naught of earth may ever snap in twain,
Stretch out, dear links, to this loved beach near,
Till of that eternal shore my little bark is freed."

The beautiful gold medal, presented annually by His Lordship, Dr. Walsh, for Christian Doctrine, after a severe contest throughout the year among the senior pupils, was finally won by Miss Barbour, of Washington. Then came another gold medal of exquisite workmanship, also from the firm of Messrs. Smith & Co., Detroit, well merited and bestowed on the modest and talented graduate, Miss L. Corcoran, of Stratford, Ont., on whose brow was laid a lovely wreath of laurel.

By a glance at a table heavily laden with elegantly bound volumes, we discovered that the purchases had been made at Messrs. Sulliver's and Rolland's firms of Montreal, and Messrs. Sulliver's of Oshawa's of New York, the remainder being English publications.

The medals and honorary badges, (the latter a wide ribbon of blue or green), obtained by the young ladies for good behavior and school discipline, were notified by Miss L. Corcoran of Stratford, Ont., and Misses B. Duffanel and M. Barbour, of Washington, D.C.

PREMIUMS FOR ENCOURAGEMENT.
Misses S. Murphy, M. Leys, L. Harper, C. Leys, and A. Masuret, of London, Ont., His Lordship, Bishop Walsh, congratulated the young ladies on their success, for he knew that the crown of honor they wore had been won by toil. This was indeed a bright and happy day, although perhaps their joy was mingled with some sorrow as they stepped forth from their Alma Mater into the great world's battle, field. His Lordship bestowed a magnificent eulogium on the labors as well as on the character of this institution; and paid a glowing tribute to the grand influence which woman should exert, an influence which this educational establishment was destined to enable, to expand, and to purify. But the Right Rev. Bishop felt that the young victors were impatient to receive the congratulations of friends, and he would not detain them. He then wished them in his peculiarly eloquent manner, a happy vacation, and hoped to welcome them all back again in September in as good health and spirits as he found them on that day.

From the distribution hall we passed to the studio, whose walls and tables were covered with evidences of the young ladies' skill in pencil crayon, water colors and painting. Much of the work was exquisite. The flower pieces were particularly fine; the pencil drawings were remarkable not less for their accuracy than for their variety. A crayon drawing, enlarged from a small photograph by Miss Hutton of St. Mary's, evinced great artistic genius. The picture has a finish that tells of superior talent in the gifted artist. In concluding these remarks we would congratulate all those who have their precious children sheltered here, and especially the good citizens of London, that are the streets so deserted? Where are your artists? They are not at work? Charles (his friend)—"Of course not. It is Sunday."

Intelligent foreigner—"I see; they are at your noble British museum, admiring their own history, its superb statuary." Charles (his friend)—"Well, no, the museum is closed on Sundays."

Intelligent foreigner—"Then they are in your fine National gallery, enjoying your fine pictures?" Charles (his friend)—"Well, no. The National gallery is closed on Sundays."

Intelligent foreigner—"Then they are in your fine National museum, admiring their own history, its superb statuary." Charles (his friend)—"Well, no, the museum is closed on Sundays."

Intelligent foreigner—"Then, of course, they are at home?" Charles (his friend)—"Well, no; the truth is, our provincialism has not much of a home for Sundays."

Intelligent foreigner—"Ha! hold! how stupid I am! You are religious, you English. They are at church?" Charles (his friend)—"Well, no. They don't go much to church. Besides, it is past one o'clock, and all the churches will be closed by this time. They always are after service on Sundays."

Intelligent foreigner (puzzled)—"Then where are they?" What is open on Sundays?" Charles (his friend)—"Oh, the public houses! You will find plenty of them open on Sundays, after the hours allowed by the act!" Changes the conversation.

LABREY AND EMBLETTMENT.—George Quinton was on Thursday arrested by one of the city police force for larceny and embezzlement. It appears that in November last a revolver valued at $5 was obtained by prisoner from Mr. R. W. Soper, and afterwards sold by him and the money was converted to his own use. On the 15th May, 1879, a quantity of cartridges, a number of revolvers and pen and pocket knives were missed from Mr. Soper's shop. Suspicion having been attached to the prisoner, a search warrant was obtained, and the house in which he lived was searched when the articles were found. He was therefore arrested upon both charges.

TELEGRAPHIC.

ENGLAND.

London, June 20.—A Cape Town special adds the following particulars of the death of Prince Imperial. The body of the Prince when found lay on its back with eighteen assegai studs, two piercing the body from the chest to the back, two in the side, one destroying the right eye. There was a locket with hair medallions and reliquary around his neck. His face wore a placid expression. He had evidently tried to mount, and a leather flap tearing ran along the path to where the body was found. Two troopers lay near, the body of both assegaied. The Prince was very adventurous. This movement of a party of officers from Col. Wood's Camp to reconnoitre was his first step in the invasion in Zululand. Lord Chelmsford and staff will accompany Gen. Newdigate after the main force, establish and trench camp, and secure communications. Col. Wood's command with six supplies will cut loose from the base and make a dash at Ulundi, and destroy five large military kraals there. Gen. Crealock will advance from the Lower Tugela to connect with Gen. Newdigate at St. Pauls.

Paris, June 20.—The Gazette de France says that before starting for Zululand the Prince Imperial made a will appointing Prince Victor, eldest son of Prince Napoleon, his heir.

London, June 23.—The Government received an anonymous letter on Wednesday last, giving warning that an attempt would be made in Chelsea to upset the railway train conveying Queen Victoria and Princess Beatrice from Balmoral to Windsor. On Saturday the rail-way line was consequently guarded by hundreds of constables. The journey however was uneventful. The letter was probably a hoax.

London, June 23.—Queen Victoria, accompanied by Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, visited Empress Eugenie at Chislehurst to-day. The Queen had an hour's interview with Eugenie.

London, June 24.—An anti-landlord agitation in the west of Ireland has lately been causing some apprehensions. The Right Hon. James Levegh, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in replying to a question in the House of Commons last night, stated that the Government were fully alive to the necessity of dealing promptly with the matter. He said Mr. Deputy Inspector-General of the Constabulary had been despatched on a special mission to the districts concerned to consult the magistrates, local constabulary, and report what additional police were required to insure full protection of persons in the exercise of their rights. Considerable reinforcements were being drafted into the districts concerned, and notice has been given that in the event of any outrage the cost of these measures would be levied upon the district where it occurs.

ROME.

Rome, June 18.—By a violent earthquake yesterday near the town of Aci, in Sicily, seven miles north-east of Catania, the villages were almost wholly destroyed. Two persons were killed and several injured. The inhabitants are fleeing en masse.

ZULULAND.

Cape Town, June 3.—The Prince Imperial of France, accompanied by other officers, left Col. Wood's camp to reconnoitre. The party dismounted in a field, when the enemy crept upon them and seized the Prince, killing him. His body was recovered.

Col. Newdigate reached Koppaline on May 29, where a permanent camp has been established. A further advance was made on June 2nd. Another of Cetewayo's envoys has reached Chelmsford. John Dunn has gone to confer with him. Cetewayo tried unsuccessfully to obtain an armistice at Delagoa Bay. A small party was surprised on the Orange River by a large body of Basutos. Several British were assigned in their tents; six were killed and fifteen wounded. The enemy were pursued and heavy loss inflicted upon them.

A correspondent writing from Helizi Hill on the 2nd inst. says: The body of the Prince Imperial was discovered in a field of long grass. There were no bullet wounds upon it, but there were seventeen wounds made by assegai thrusts. The body was found stripped, and the clothes had been taken away.

EGYPT.

Cairo, June 20.—The British and French consuls at an interview with the Khedive yesterday, formally demanded his abdication. The latter asked a delay of forty-eight hours in order to communicate with the Porte. The Cabinet is now assembled. All except the Minister of War favor abdication. Germany and Austria gave the Khedive the alternative of the full payment of the floating debt or their recognition with England and France. Nothing is known of the attitude of the Sultan. The Khedive is in uninterrupted conference with Prince Tewfik and Hassan.

UNITED STATES.

Allentown, Pa., June 21.—An explosion occurred at 5.30 this morning at the ore mines at the land of St. Stephens & Moyer, two miles from Emmaus, Pa. The boiler burst with a terrific force, killing five men outright and seriously wounded four others.

born out of work since February. He sent his wife on an errand and called the eldest child into the house and tried to poison her with cyanide of potassium, but she threw up the dose. Kemmler then took the second child into the front bedroom and shot her through the ear with a pistol. He then took Annie into the back bedroom and shot her also. The youngest child was lying on the bed and he shot her back of the ear. He left the house and told a saloon-keeper what he had done, and was arrested. After arrest he was cool and said he was ready to let the law take its course. He said he could not support his children, and feared they would grow up and enter houses of prostitution, and thought they would be happier in heaven. He had planned for ten days to kill them. He is collected and apparently sane. Mrs. Kemmler is completely overcome.

BRITAIN.

Boston, June 23.—Christine Cox, the negro murderer of Mrs. Hall, in New York, was arrested in France to-day.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Michael O'Grady, a well-known cattle dealer of Stratford, Ont., died in Montreal on Saturday.

The publisher of a scurrilous sheet, called City Life, in Montreal, has been admirably belabored with a club in the hands of a man against whom it had made some insinuations, and none so poor as not to murmur, "Served him right."

Kingston, Ont., June 20.—A living whale en route from Quebec to Oswego, New York, reached here this afternoon by express and was forwarded by steamer to Cape Vincent.

Ottawa, June 20.—A dispatch from a camp about twenty miles distant from this city says excellent specimens of gold have been found on the land of Mr. Wilson, of that village. Wilson had them tested by an expert and was assured by that gentleman that the sand really contained gold in paying quantities. A gentleman will be there this week from Montreal to make further explorations.

Some mischievous boys attending the Union school in Ottawa collected all the straw hats that could be found in the hall of the building and placing them beneath the staircase set fire to them. The smoke making its way into the school, alarmed the inmates, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames before any damage could be done.

GONE TO HAMILTON.—Prof. Sutherland, the Stammering Specialist, after a very successful stay in this city, leaves to-day for Hamilton. So far as our dealings with the Professor goes, we have found him thoroughly reliable and straightforward, and from personal conversation with several who were previously bad stammerers, we feel convinced that he can cure such impediments with his speech. His address may always be found in the Record.

A LUCAN HOTEL KEEPER BEAT OUT OF $150 IN NEW YORK.—A Lucan hotel-keeper named John Cain, was cleverly swindled out of $150 at New York, in addition to the expense of travelling from Lucan to New York and back. A few days before he received a letter from a man calling himself William A. Ross, telling him to come to New York and bring with him all the Canadian dollars he could scrape together, as Ross intended to give him three dollars apiece for them. Cain arrived at New York on Thursday with $150. He met Ross and was taken to an office some where down town, where Ross gave him $450 for the money he had brought. Dazzled by this generous treatment Cain permitted the money to be taken from his hands and put into a satchel. He was then requested to sign a receipt, after which he was placed on a cross-town car. As soon as he got into the car Mr. Cain opened the satchel and discovered that he had been duped. A roll of brown wrapping paper was all that the satchel contained. He notified the police, and detective Flammigan arrested Ross the same night. At the Police Court the next morning the prisoner was remanded.

ATTEMPTED HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—As a Mr. Attrill, living near Hyde Park, was leaving the village the other night to return home, he was accosted by two men together, who invited him to have a ride along the Saratoga Road as far as he was going. Mr. Attrill thanked them and jumped into the back part of the buggy and seated himself on a set of harness. From what he (Attrill) gleaned from the conversation of the two men they must have had another horse and sold him, hence the harness behind. After they had driven a while they asked Attrill if he had any money with him. He, of course, thought they asked him for a joke, and gave an evasive answer. Thereupon they proceeded to drag Attrill out of the vehicle, but being a strong man, stoutly resisted them. However, the robbers finally overpowered him and strapped his hands and legs, and then commenced to rifle his pockets. Mr. Attrill fortunately that day had deposited all the money he had in London, and knights of the highway got nothing for their pains. His cries of help soon brought to the scene his hired man, who did not arrive, however, until the robbers were driven off.

MILL-SALE.—Mr. George Phillips has purchased Turville's mill on the Pool Line Road, and will run it in connection with the Blackfriars Mill. Mr. Turville has purchased Payne's Mill in Southwold, which he removes immediately.

PRUSSIAN PERSECUTION.

NIHILISM.

Nihilism, says a foreign writer, is not a name which represents the "old error of the few, but a term which signifies the discontent of the many. The millions of Russian malcontents are not Nihilists in the sense of working to overthrow religion and society, as we understand these things, but they are so in their desire to improve away the whole Russian system, with its gross superstitions, which do duty for religion, and its corrupt mal-administrations, cruelties and military oppressiveness, which stand in place of government.

THE MARKHAM MURDERER.

HE IS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED ON THE 12th SEPTEMBER.

Toronto, June 26.—In the trial of Thickpenney this afternoon, Dr. Riddell and Dr. Lett were called to give evidence as to the sanity of Thickpenney. Both stated that in the interviews that they had had with the prisoner, he professed a perfect indifference as to his future, and expressed a desire to be hanged. Dr. Joseph Workman said if insanity had been found it was well done. After the speeches of the counsel and a very impartial charge by the Judge, the jury retired and returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy, as the prisoner was evidently of unsound mind. The Judge stated that prisoner was either of unsound mind or else he lacked ability to feel his lamentable position, and sentenced him to be hanged on the 12th September.

A GENTLE REBUKE.—A lady riding in a car on the New York Central Railroad was disturbed in her reading by the conversation of two gentlemen occupying the seat just before her. One of them seemed to be a student of some college on his way home for a vacation. He used profane language, greatly to the annoyance of the lady. She thought she would rebuke him and, on begging pardon for interrupting them, asked the young student if he had studied the languages. "Yes, madam, I have mastered the languages." "Do you read and speak Hebrew?" "Quite fluently." "Will you be so kind as to do me a small favor?" "With great pleasure I am at your service." "Will you be so kind as to do your swearing in Hebrew?"

An idiot woman named Bella Hood was murdered near Ottawa on the 20th. No arrests have yet been made.

COMMERCIAL.

London Markets.

London, June 26th, 1879. The markets during last week showed a considerable weakness; the deliveries of grain being very much short of the previous week, the only article which showed any increase in quantity being wool. The weather being favorable to growth, agriculture in this neighborhood is in a very advanced state, more especially fall wheat, which looks very healthy. Potatoes and other tubercular roots seem remarkably active and promise a large supply. Some very heavy meadows are to be seen within a radius of a few miles of the city. Wheat for the last week showed signs of advancement, on last Saturday $1.77 being paid for some loads of white.

On Saturday the market looked pretty well stocked with almost everything, and of rival professions, both of whom in the loudest possible manner bestowed an endless amount of praise on his respective "Blood purifier." Prices for the week very.

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Price. Includes items like White Wheat, Red Fall, Corn, Oats, Beans, Flour, Eggs, Butter, Cheese, Mutton, Lamb, Beef, Pork, etc.

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Yearing Rules for Success," Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular. The combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount, and each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $25 to $50,000, can be used successfully. N.Y. Baptist Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says: "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $500, or 7 per cent.; $1000 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market."

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 26th: "The combination method of operating in Stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent, Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working." Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Broadway, New York, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101,250 from $200,000 of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combination." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N.Y.

PARALYSIS FROM RHEUMATIC FEVER.

NOTE FROM MRS. CARALAN. Norwich, June 26th, 1879.

Dear Sir,—It is now nearly a year since I received treatment in your Institute for paralysis, brought on by Rheumatic Fever. I had a severe attack of Rheumatic Fever six months before coming to you, and it left me with one of my arms and hands completely palsied, so much so that I could not move them; and notwithstanding that that could be done for me by home physicians, it only remained the same. Being advised by a friend who had taken treatment of your Rheumatic Fever, I came to you to London and give you a trial. I consulted, and came as a last resort, hardly believing that you could cure me. I remained with you about five weeks, taking Electric treatments daily, and from the first began to recover, and when I returned home I could move both hand and arm in any direction, and had nearly my natural strength in them both, and now it is a year since the treatment—well and sound. Also, I must state that I was afflicted with Salt Rheum at the time, which was also cured by the same Electric Baths. My daughter, too, who took treatment from you at the same time for deafness, is much improved in hearing, and we feel under many obligations to you for your skill and kindness, which no mere words or money can repay, and can commend your method of cure to all who are affected in the same manner.

POSITIVE AND PEREMPTORY ADMINISTRATOR'S AUCTION SALE

CHOICE CITY, SUBURBAN AND COUNTY PROPERTY.

MANVILLE & BROWN ARE INSTRUCTED BY JOHN ELLIOTT, Esq., of Brantford, Administrator of the estate of WILLIAM ELLIOTT deceased, to sell their Auction Rooms, 21 Mechanics' Institute, on the following parcels: 1. Part of lots 11 and 12 on north side Pall Mall street, near William street—a magnificent building site, with favorable surroundings.

2. An attractive lot in a favorite residential locality, being on the west side of Colborne street, between Bond and Great Market, on which is situated a small brick cottage. Size of lot 70x120 feet.

3. That part of lot 1, west side of Wharncliffe Highway, in the Cove, known as park lot, containing over five acres, with the property is near the avenue leading to the Waterworks, and the survey of lots being made, and the survey of lots being made, and the survey of lots being made.

4. Part of lot 10, concession B, London township, containing five acres, being the point at the junction of the Hamilton Road, by which it is bounded on the south, and the Gore or north Road leading to Race Course, opposite Drake's tavern. The location is a promising field, and the ground that medium-sized houses would command remunerative rental, the location being so central.

5. The vacant property extending from Dundas street to Caring, immediately south of O'Callaghan Terrace, overlooking the Thames street docks, with a frontage of over 100 feet. This is a good opening for investment, as the locality is rapidly growing, and the ground is a promising field.

6. The valuable premises near the corner of King and Thames streets, with a frontage on the former of 100 feet, more or less, by 250 feet. This claims the attention of capitalists, on the ground that medium-sized houses would command remunerative rental, the location being so central.

7. Considered as a whole, this is one of the most important sales that has occurred in the city for years, regarded by the best of magnitude or variety of attractions possessed. A personal inspection will convince the capitalist that here is a promising field, and the man of limited means that here is the long-sought opportunity to secure a home.

8. Terms liberal, and made known on day of sale, or on application to MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL FURNITURE.

We have much pleasure in calling the attention of School Inspectors, Trustees, and others to our new improved Seat and Desk. Owing to our large experience in the manufacture of School Furniture as a specialty, our attention has been directed to the defects in the existing styles of School Desks, with the result, we believe, of having produced a seat and Desk perfect in every particular. As will be shown by reference to our illustrated catalogue, which can be had on application, the seats are slatted and curved to fit the body perfectly, and fold out of the way when required. When folded up for reading, a small ledge keeps the books in place, and the angle of the seat is such that the pupil may sit in an upright and natural position without straining the eyesight in the least. Send for catalogue and prices.
