WEDDING BELLS

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Grace Bailey, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Haffey Mence Bailey, of Kentville, N. S., to Walter Edgar Kelly of Boston. The bride was given away by her uncle, Nelson H. Bailey, of Harvard St. Dorchester, at whose residence the ceremony took place. The bride, one of the most beautiful of the season, was most becomingly attired in French white organdie with the conventional veil. The bride party entered the parlors, where the ceremony was performed, to the strains of the wedding march in "Lohengrin," played by Mrs. Hiram A. Benedict, of Everett. The matron of honor Mrs. George D'Ayers, was dressed in a gown of white just cloth over cream silk, sent especially to her from the Philippine Islands by one of the officers of the United States army. The maid of honor Miss Francis Wiswell of Kentville, N. S., who wore a beautiful dress of white point d'esprit over white silk, and carried a large bunch of pink sweet peas. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Marble of Dorchester. The best man was Frank Libby and the ushers were Frederick H. Bates, Hubert Sumner and Charles Summerall of Dorchester and Roxbury. The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful. Following the ceremony was a wedding reception, at which the bride and groom started with a brief tour amid the showers of rice and the best wishes of the assembled guests and their host of friends.—Boston Herald Aug. 8th.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of mourners. The floral gifts were many and beautiful, and testified to the love and esteem of a large circle of mourning friends.

KICKERS COLUMN

Under this heading we will give place to complaints by Kickers, if written in courteous language and expressed as briefly as possible. We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions passed.

An iron bridge is being constructed on Casard dyke road. Not being properly advertised, it has caused a great deal of inconvenience, dimly painted boards were put up at Casard and Church St. corners the day they began operations. Why were our country papers not made use of to notify the public when the highway was to be closed? Kicker.

The teachers have all returned. The much needed repairs on the Main St. bridge are now being made.

Mr. Harry Adderly of Halifax formerly of this town spent Sunday in town.

Miss Bessie Alcorn, Methodist Missionary in Tokio, Japan, has returned to her home in Berwick.

An Ice Cream and Cake social will be held in Temperance Hall Pt. Wms. on Wednesday evening, Sept. 4th. Proceeds of this social will go to pay off the debt on the hall. The Fort Williams people always give you your money's worth and no doubt a large gathering will attend.

Kentville had the appearance on Friday evening of that of a railway terminal. Within half an hour three passenger trains pulled in at the station and the platform was crowded with people. The Canadian Press Ass'n's special train composed of six or eight handsome cars of the I.C.R. attracted considerable attention.

The Aberdeen was the scene of a very brilliant function last Tuesday evening. On that evening a dance was given in honor of Miss Dorothy Cole who has for the past two weeks been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cole. About 80 tripped the light fantastic well into the late hour. Some very pretty dresses were worn and many remarks were heard as to how charming all the fair sex looked. The harpists furnished the music and the floor was good and decorations pretty. During the evening refreshments were served.

Last Monday evening the incoming Maritime Express of the I.C.R. collided with the D.A.R. engine "Regina" at Halifax. The D.A.R. engine had just left the Bluenose train at the station and was running tender first when the I. C. R. train drawn by one of their large engines, dashed into her. Both drivers saw the danger and acted quickly. The reversing levers shot backwards, but a collision was then inevitable. The tender and cab of the Regina were ripped asunder and was left in a helpless condition and the other was badly damaged. Driver Manning and fireman Chas. Churchill of the Regina jumped from their cab before the collision and escaped with slight injuries.

Dr. Bowles of Wolfville was immediately called who pronounced him quite dead. Mr. Coldwell had not been well for a week but was as well as usual that day. He was highly respected by all who knew him and his sudden death has cast a gloom over the whole community. His wife and family have our deepest sympathies in their affliction.

DOES IT PAY TO OWN A THOUSAND SHARES OF STOCK

Many people seem to think that a thousand shares of stock is only a small amount to hold, but a thousand shares of some of the copper mining companies would mean an immense fortune. One thousand shares of Tamarack would mean an income of six thousand dollars per year, Calumet and Hecla over thirty thousand dollars per year, Alaska Treadwell, one thousand five hundred dollars per year, Boston and Montana, forty thousand dollars per year, while the profits on the advance of some of the oil stocks are just as phenomenal.

The time to invest in any enterprise is at the commencement not after it has arrived at the dividend-paying stage, although it is very difficult to make a great many buyers understand this. The mistake most people make is waiting for a dead sure thing. In this connection, our representative introduced the firm of Messrs Fox & Ross who are probably the best and most widely known brokerage firm in Eastern Canada, and who have been appointed local brokers for the Ontario and California Oil Company, Limited, non personal liability, whose advertisement appears in another column of this issue, and they stated that they had thoroughly investigated the merits of this Company and believe that it is the best money maker that has ever been placed before Canadian buyers.

Scott Act at Parrsboro

There seems an element of mystery in a Scott act war which is said to be about to begin in Parrsboro. Your correspondent has been unable to learn the exact stage of the game, but it is stated that one seller of the ardent is keeping out of town for a time, and that the others are expecting to be served with papers immediately. A host of witnesses has been secured, and rumor has it that any attempt at crooked swearing will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. The Scott act committee of the town council are said to be in sympathy with the prosecution.—Ex.

THE MILKWOMAN

She was tall and strong, and she walked along With lot, substantial tread, Like one who knows that wherever she goes, She is earning her daily bread.

Her frock was print, and there was not a hint In the whole of her simple dress Of that milliner's touch, which adds so much To a lady's comeliness.

Yet she is aware that her face is fair; But she also understands That the best of her charms are her stout red arms

And her strong, hard-working hands. It's them, says she as has worked for me Wherever my work has been, And as for my face, why, it's no disgrace, For I reckon it's always clean.

Well, there's Jack, I know, he bothers me so— But what do I care for him? I'll na' na' nothing to say to a lad that's gay.

So long as I've life and limb! Such chaps may do for a wench like you, As is fond of an easy life; But if I get a man I shall do what I can For to make him a working wife.

She smiled as she spoke, and she settled her yoke, On the back of her shoulders broad, And she stooped to her pails by the area rails.

And harnessed herself to her load. Then she went to her best through the bustling street With a step like a martial man's; A step that suits her iron-shod boots And the weight of her clanking cans.

For her cans and she had the bulk of three, And deftly as she might steer, 'Twas the silent might of her strength and her height That kept the pathway clear.

There were many who eyed her stately stride As she moved through the yielding crowd, With her hands on her hips and a smile on her lips, And a look both calm and proud.

But none or few of the gazers knew The worth of her humble tread; And beauty alone may never atone For the lot of a milkman's maid.

They could not see what was clear to me— That the loftiest lady there Might envy the part in Dame Nature's heart Which is owned by Kitty Clare.

WHY CATARRHOZONE CURES CATARRH

Because it is carried by the air you breathe to diseased parts, because it destroys the germ life that maintains the diseased condition, because it powerfully stimulates the mucous membrane to its normal action, because through its oxidizing power it burns up rapidly the old tissue and stimulates the formation of new healthy tissue. Catarrhozone is an absolute specific for Catarrh of every form, and never fails to cure. Catarrhozone is the only remedy sold with a guarantee. At all dealers, 25c and $1.00.

A Run Down System

SHOWS THAT THE BLOOD AND NERVES NEED TONING UP

This Condition Causes More Genuine Suffering Than One Can Imagine—How a Well Known Exeter Lady Obtained a Cure After She Had Begun to Regard Her Condition as Hopeless.

From the Advocate, Exeter, Ont. A run down system! What a world of misery those few words imply, and yet there are thousands throughout this country who are suffering from this condition. Their blood is poor and watery; they suffer almost continuously from headaches; are unable to obtain restful sleep and the least exertion greatly fatigues them.

What is needed to put the system right is a tonic, and experience has proved Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to be the only never-failing tonic and health restorer.

Mrs. Henry Parsons, a respected resident of Exeter, Ont., is one of the many who have tested and proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For many months she was a great sufferer from what is commonly termed a run down system. To a reporter of the Advocate she gave the following story in the hope that other sufferers might benefit from her experience:—For many months my health was in a bad state, my constitution being greatly run down. I was troubled with continual headaches my appetite was poor and the least exertion greatly fatigued me. I consulted a physician but his treatment did not appear to benefit me and I gradually became worse, so that I could hardly attend my household duties. I then tried several advertised remedies but without result, and I began to regard my condition as hopeless. A neighbor called to see me one day and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Having tried so many medicines without receiving benefit, I was not easily persuaded, but finally I consented to give the pills a trial. To my surprise and great joy I noticed an improvement in my condition before I had finished the first box and by the time I had taken four boxes of the pills I was fully restored to health. I no longer suffer from those severe headaches, my appetite is good, I can go about my household duties without the least trouble; in fact I feel like a new woman. All this I owe to that best of all medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I would strongly urge other sufferers to give them a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized the world over as the best blood and nerve tonic, and it is this power of acting directly on the blood and nerves which enable these pills to cure such diseases as locomotor ataxia, paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or can be had by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Succotash was a new dish at small Bobby's house, but he evinced a decided fondness for it, and passing up his plate for a second portion, said: Mama, please give me some more of that sacred hash.

DIGESTION WITHOUT A STOMACH

The fact that people live and digest food after the stomach has been removed proves that the important part of digestion takes place in the intestines. Hence it comes that Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are so wonderfully successful in curing chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. They act directly on the kidneys, liver and intestines, making them healthy active, and vigorous, and so insure perfect digestion and prompt removal of poisonous waste matter.

We understand, says the Truro News, His Excellency, the Governor General, is about to lease the well known Norway House, the property of Lord Strathcona, Pictou. Lord Minto was so pleased with Pictou and surrounding country, and the climate of the Maritime Provinces generally, that he has decided to spend some portion of each summer down here by the sea.

AT THE CHANGE OF LIFE

This trying period in woman's life usually comes between the age of forty and fifty years and is marked by irritability, headache, dizziness, irregular menses, fitful appetite, forebodings of evil, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is above all a woman's medicine because it helps her safely through this trying period. It enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the functions of the feminine organs and tones and invigorates the whole body.

Enforcement of Law

The question of the protection of officers appointed by the Municipality to carry out the laws, should receive attention at the next session of our County Council.

Kings County has a quiet and law abiding people except for a very few desperadoes who have evidently of late determined to terrorize the officers of the law.

We will briefly relate what has already taken place that the people generally in the County may understand what some people have suffered to execute our laws and thus give a further thought as to what the Municipality should do to protect our officials and make good the loss sustained.

In June Mr. A. D. Nichols Scott Act Inspector while absent from home had 26 of his apple trees entirely cut down and 12 more badly mutilated.

Since these depredations have been committed it has been found almost impossible to get any Constable to take any action under the Scott Act.

The persons who have suffered we have named, and they are regular appointees of the Council, and the Council should do everything to protect them.

We ask our readers to consider this question and give expressions to their councillors as to what action should be taken.

LETTER

FROM CORPORAL W. H. SNYDER, 17TH TROOP, C (EASTERN) DIVISION, SOUTH AFRICAN CONSTABULARY.

July 25th, 1901.

Dear Mr. Editor.—At last I have had an opportunity of visiting the places made famous by the campaign of General Buller and I know how interested the people were in this hard fought fight in the early part of the South African campaign.

In the majority of cases the Boer trenches across the several routes to Ladysmith and further north remain intact; some there are that have already been subjected to the destroying influence of the elements and to the vandalism of the tourist.

Under fire at beyond 2000 yards and advancing in full view upon a concealed and well protected enemy, the fact that General Buller ever "forced the passage of the Tugela" is a matter of surprise to me.

In construction all the Boer entrenchments bear a family likeness. Under the able direction of the German and French military officers they were clearly designed to serve at least a threefold purpose: (1) deep and narrow for protection against heavy shells, (2) with an overhanging ledge of sand-bags to protect the occupants from shrapnel and time fuse common shell bursting overhead, and (3) with every facility for invisible defence and easy retirement.

I visited the flatlayers cottage which was occupied by General Joubert for some time and opposite to which was laid the fuse to destroy Frere Bridge.

The Armoured Train Disaster took place on November 19th as you know. Early in the morning the train started for Chibucley, just beyond Frere station.

I visited the village of Colenso, eastward of the Railway station about half a mile along a beaten track leading to Hlangweni is the site from which the ill fated battery of Col. Long was firing on Fort Wylie across the river on Dec. 15th.

Near at hand on both sides of the Tugela will be seen innumerable evidences of Boer occupation and from this point can be seen the impregnable positions held by the Boers and General Buller's difficulties may then, and not till then, be fully appreciated.

I travelled over Pretet's Hill, or perhaps more correctly termed the Tugela Heights. This will be held in close association with the relief of Ladysmith. It was the final stroke after fifteen days continuous fighting.

Here I saw where many of the dead were buried. The lonely graves on the veldt are a sad sight, where far from the haunts of men, amid unbroken silence, a gallant band of heroes lie buried.

I was at Ladysmith for some time. The story of it comes within the category of deathless fame. The names of those who lie in the town cemetery have been indelibly written on the heart of our nation.

"For four long months the Boer horde besieged the little town.

For four long months their cannon roared. The flag would not come down. The flag would not come down at all. Put flaunted in the air. The battle flag—Imperial—Would not surrender there."

I saw Lombard's Kop and Gun Hill where the Boers heavy guns were placed. I was at Elandsdags where our cavalry charged the enemy so fiercely. In Dundee I saw the grave of the brave officer General Penn-Symons in St. James' churchyard.

"Oh ye in the far distant place, O'er the infinite seas; When ye think of the sons of our race, Think deep upon these."

One thing I noticed from nearing the Boer positions that they have, when practicable, adopted the tactics of having a hill in reserve, behind which they could retire, and from which they could render the position untenable for the attacking force.

But I must bring this rambling and disconnected letter to a close. As I visited the battle scenes of Natal, the disasters of the armoured train and Colenso, the mistakes of Spion Kop, and the splendid victory of Pretet's Hill was brought closer and the true value of those mistakes and accidents, intermingled with glorious achievements, which so fatefully marked the campaign in Natal, will be placed upon them. With kind regards.

Yours very truly, W. H. SNYDER.

THE ADVERTISER, KENTVILLE

A GIRL OF GRIT.

BY MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY R. F. FENNO & CO.

I got some little comfort, however, from my examination of the woman. Duchess or no duchess, accomplice and confederate or hapless tool, willing or constrained, I knew that within her, poor means she had been kind to Willie, and would have helped him if she could. She was not wholly bad, I felt sure. A handsome woman, undoubtedly; very tall, with a fine figure and a beautiful face, although with a sad, worn, anxious expression—the face of one who had known some trouble. Was she vexed, harassed, tortured perchance, by a past that was irrevocable, at present hateful and intolerable, which she was powerless to mend? There could be but little sympathy between her and her husband. They hardly spoke to each other; when they did, the man seemed to snarl, and if she answered at all, it was only in sullen monosyllables.

When the false Willie Wood addressed her, which he did from time to time with an air of easy familiarity, she declined to reply at all. It was clear the conspirators were not a happy family.

While I sat looking intently at these people and engrossed with very serious thoughts, I was disturbed by Fanshawe, my maid, who came up and said, in a very fretful, disappointed tone:

"Please, Miss Frida, I'm worried to death with this tiresome dog. Whatever made you bring him is more than I can say. I can do nothing with him." Roy had been pretty good till now, and when we got on board the tender I handed him over to Fanshawe. He had followed her very obediently from the train to the quayside, but when once embarked had shown the most unaccountable restlessness. He began questioning about the deck, dragging Fanshawe after him, for he had great strength and, besides, he growled so threateningly that she was forced to give in to him. When I took him in hand he displayed the same restlessness. At last, in despair, she appealed to me.

I again took the leash out of her hand and tried to pacify him. As a rule I could manage him. He had taken to me long before, in the early days of our acquaintance, and now, since Willie was gone, he transferred his affection, as I hoped, to me. But now I had lost all control over him. He would not keep quiet, still much less crouch down at my feet. He declined to obey. I tried all ways with him—spoke to him softly and sweetly, scolded him and cuffed him, but all to no purpose. He stood away from me at the longest distance his chain would allow, as if we were utter strangers and his only idea was to break entirely away at the very first chance.

Then, just as our tender ran alongside the great liner, and I was occupied with mother and all our belongings, he made one great snatch at his chain. It slipped through my fingers and in an instant he was gone. He ran forward to the bows of the tug, and I could hear him raging furiously along the deck through the throng with loud, quite joyous yips, as eager as if he was rounding up a flock of scattered sheep on the mountain home of his ancestors.

In the end I saw him crossing the gangway at the fore part—that put down for the second cabin passengers. He was thrusting his way through them noisily, and was one of the earliest at the ladder, which he ran up to disappear hastily into the big ship.

Directly I had installed mother into a snug place in the music room and set Fanshawe to unpack I made inquiries for the dog.

"Dog, miss?" said a passing steward. "Is he a passenger? Then the butcher will have him safe. If not, guess he is made into sausages by this time, for the chief officer's bound to have him hanged."

"I have paid for the dog's ticket, and perhaps you will be good enough to direct me to the butcher," I said sharply. "I wish to see that the dog is made comfortable."

"It'll be that, miss, sure enough, if he's peaceably disposed; otherwise Sam McKillop has a heavy hand with the rope's end."

Full of misgivings for Roy, whose cross grained nature seemed likely to get him into trouble, I went in all haste to the far stern, picking my way among all sorts of dirt till some one produced Sam McKillop, a big, burly man, with rough black beard and great, bare, hairy arms.

When I took him in hand he displayed the same restlessness.

"That's me. Who wants Sam McKillop? Will it be you, mem?"

"It's about my dog, Mr. McKillop," I said sweetly. "A golden collie; answers to the name of Roy."

"I mind him. But did you say you, mem? I was thinking another person owned him—him as brocht him to me."

"I don't know who that could be. But I am in charge of him, and I want you to be kind to him"—I handed over a sovereign—"and to bear with him, for he has a queer temper sometimes. I hope he will give you no trouble."

"Ma certie he'll give no trouble. I'm no' fashed for that. He's douce and quiet enough, I'm thinking. Can' here like a wee lamie trotting at the heels of the chap that brocht him."

"Was it some one who caught him, do you think? I should like to know."

"Mayhap. But I thoct he owned him, the best happened to him so kindly, and he lay down just at a word, as though from an old friend."

"Found out his mistake like a sensible creature, I suppose, and thought it best to settle down till he found me. Will you please to see him, Mr. McKillop, take?"

"He's yonder, in the hutch under the bulkhead; snug in his straw, and making the best of it—a lesson to mair contrary Christians."

I followed the indication, and there was Roy lying at ease in his rude kennel; his beautiful head rested on his two fore paws, and he looked perfectly contented and happy. At my approach he barely lifted his large, sleepy eyes, but there was something like a wink beyond the shelter of the land, and the sea had risen under a fast freshening summer gale.

I was not sorry to get back to my berth, and soon had no further concern with mundane affairs, or the passage of time. My only recollections of the next three days are a confused memory of uneasiness, and crawling up on deck to breathe the magnificent ozone air of the Atlantic. I felt revived and more fit to face them.

My own collapse was, no doubt, the reaction from the keen anxieties that had oppressed me before departure. They were as keen as ever now; but when I roused myself from the stupor of unconsciousness, and crawled up on deck to breathe the magnificent ozone air of the Atlantic, I felt revived and more fit to face them.

Some one helped me to my deck chair. It was my friend Mr. Rossiter. Some one had placed it in a sheltered corner—Mr. Rossiter. Some one got wraps for me, and a novel, and a deck steward with a cup of invigorating beef tea; this same some one left me in peace to recover health and strength—always Mr. Rossiter. I blessed the kindly, considerate chivalry of American men.

Now, as I lounged there lazily, I began to look into things a little more closely, and to consider how far I had advanced matters or served the cause by this escape of mine.

I had failed in the very first task I had set myself, that of keeping a watch upon the conspirators. I had seen nothing of them for three days. I knew no more about them than when I had come on board, and I had no clear notion how I should act when I arrived in New York, what would be best, or what would come of anything I did. Despair and despondency seized me; I felt utterly helpless, useless, and was full of self reproach. Yet daylight was nearer than I thought. I now saw Mr. Rossiter approaching and leading Roy by his chain.

"Here's some one you may be glad to see," he said pleasantly. "I got leave to give him a short run."

"Your dog? What a handsome creature!" said a lady seated by my side, and, turning, I saw to my surprise it was the Duchess of Tierra Sagrada. Roy, who was a lump of conceit, perfectly understood the compliment. It was one of his well behaved days. He sat there, solemn and self satisfied, giving a paw and doing all his little tricks almost without asking, while the duchess petted and made much of him without the least protest on his part.

Then with a quick motion of not unnatural curiosity the duchess looked at his collar. It was no doubt a civil way of finding out who I was, but the result was something of a shock to us both. For when she started back in surprise that had terror in it, I remembered that his collar still bore his master's name and regiment, "Captain W. A. Wood, —th regiment."

"Who are you? What does this?" she began hurriedly, but recovered herself and said, with great self-control: "You know a Captain Wood, then? We have one on board too. I wonder if they are related. You must allow me to introduce you. He is traveling with us."

Before I could answer a man stood over us and a harsh voice called her by name, but in a language I did not understand. She got up with prompt obedience, that I set down to anxiety to tell her husband (of course it was the duke) what she had discovered. But as they walked away together he did all the talking, and from the inflection I felt sure he was taking her sharply to task.

"Yes, he's rating her soundly," remarked Mr. Rossiter. "Reckon not many American women would stand that sort of talk from their husbands. He ought to be glad that she has taken up with you—that he had expressly ordered her to make no chance acquaintances. It's a queer game about that dog."

"What do you know about the dog?" I asked, quite frightened.

Three Operations Failed to Cure Itching Piles

News of a Marvellous Cure Files Across the Continent—Father and Son Late in Praising Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Some cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment seem like miracles. Here is a case where doctors labored in vain and operations failed to cure.

Mr. Donald McLeod, Tarbotville, U. S. writes:

"I received the sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has done me a considerable amount of good. I am now enclosing payment for a large box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which you will please send to my address. I have had itching piles for four years and did not know of any medicine that would relieve me until last fall, when I received a letter from my son in Winnipeg, who said that three doctors treated him and operated for piles, but failed to cure him. He now thanks God and Dr. Chase's Ointment for a perfect cure. He had piles in the worst form, and suffered terribly. He is now working hard every day, and does not feel any symptoms of piles returning. You are at liberty to use this letter for the benefit of others."

There is little use trying to cure piles unless you use Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is certain to afford quick relief and ultimately thorough cure. 60 cts a box, at all dealers or Edman-Bates & Co., Toronto.

An English syndicate is looking for a place in eastern Canada to build a paper mill. A region is wanted with 1,000 square miles of forest, and a water power of some 20,000 or 30,000 horse power. The output is to be 300 tons a day. A representative is now in this Province.

Asking for a kiss without taking it, replied the young woman who was doing her third season.—Chicago Daily News.

Vigorous Womanhood

Made Perfect by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food—A Common Sense Treatment which Does Exactly What is Claimed for it.

The happiness of every home depends very largely on the health of the wife and mother. If she is nervous, peevish and irritable, worried by the little cares of every day life, and tormented by pains and irregularities that are sure to accompany a rundown system, there can be no happiness in the home for husband and children.

Too many women are victims of nervous exhaustion, and do not know it. They suffer from indigestion and dyspepsia, nervous headache and sleeplessness, and drag themselves about the house feeling languid and tired out. You can be healthy and vigorous if you follow the advice of Dr. Chase, the famous Receipt Book author. He would not deceive you, and his treatment never disappoints. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is intended for just such cases as are here described. By supplying to the thin, watery blood and weak, exhausted nerves the very materials of which nature constructs new nerve cells and new bodily tissue it gradually and certainly reconstructs and revitalizes the weakened and debilitated nervous system, cures nervous headache and dyspepsia, and permanently overcomes weakness and irregularities. 50 cts a box, all dealers, or Edman-Bates & Co., Toronto.

Crutches Discarded

Mrs. Wells, of Mochelle, Annapolis, Annapolis Co., writes:

May 8th, 1900

"I am an old woman, nearly eighty years of age. Sometime ago I fell and injured my hip. I was afterwards troubled with Sciatica; at times my sufferings were intense; I could not get about my room without the aid of a pair of crutches. I tried many remedies; none did me any good; some of them made me worse. At last I read of Egyptian Rheumatic Oil and tried that. I am happy to say that it has given me great relief, removing the pain and enabling me to move around much better than I could. I think Egyptian Rheumatic Oil a splendid liniment for use in cases of Rheumatism.

Hantsport Advance

Mrs. Henry Clements of Boston, assisted by local talent, gave an enjoyable concert on the evening of the 20th in Churchills Hall. The performers were dressed in costumes of "ye olden tyme," powdered wigs, 3-ops skirts, low neck waists, bustles, and all the other paraphernalia which was considered bon ton in the days of our grandfathers.

The program was made up of old time choruses, solos, etc. The solos by Mr. "Jekidiah" Newcomb and "Miss" Adria Coalfect were something fine. Special mention should be made of the exquisite violin playing of Mistress Lela Leclart, who manipulates the bow with a grace and sweetness of music seldom seen in these parts.

The concert realized some $17. The thank of the Hantsport Union are due Mr. Patterson for allowing the free use of his hall for the concert. Both the driving up to Hantsport and the return trip were much enjoyed. Some of the girls were sleepy, but those who were sleepy and those who made night music by songs seemed to enjoy themselves.

It would be a godsend to writers and speakers if some inventive genius would furnish a name with which to distinctively designate citizens of the U. S. The names commonly applied to these are either "American" or "Yankee" neither of which is correct: as the former embraces too much and the latter too little. All born on the continent of America from the Arctic to the Antarctic Seas are clearly Americans, while a large proportion of the population of the United States would decidedly object of being called Yankee. United Statesians would be the most natural cognomen but it is not a very euphonious title and for that reason is never likely to come into use.

GRAND PRE'

Rain! rain! beautiful, gentle rain, falling on the parched and thirsty earth, refreshing and restoring her as a benediction from God himself. Our constant companion this summer, the drought, followed us like a grim giant spectre, more and more threatening day by day up to Sunday last. The pastures were bare, the dyke brown, the water courses dried up, and men were saying, no catheavens were opened and the rains descended, yet the floods came not, for the dry ground drank up the moisture and rejoiced. The rain continued all night and part of Monday, and now the grass is growing and there will be pasture and water for flocks and herds, and men have drawn a long breath of relief. It was a blessed rain, and should remind us how dependent we are on the Giver of all good gifts for even the common, every day wants of life. God's promise stands: "While the earth remaineth seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

Mr. Hill a Hants man and one time representative, now a clerk in parliament at Ottawa, who with his wife is spending the summer here with his wife's sister, Miss Mumford, remembers a drought in 1849. Crops were a failure, grain was not worth harvesting and hay that year was £5 a ton. One, Major King of Windsor, who had been hoarding hay for some years sold hundreds of tons at £5 ($20) per ton. Men are predicting that hay will be $20 this year, potatoes $2 per bushel and apples $4 per barrel; if our farmers realize half of this, there will be more money for the small crop than for the great crop of last year.

The steam thrasher of the Grand Pre' Threshing Co. which is set up on the dyke road opposite the station, has a capacity of one thousand bushels a day and is thrashing all the grain that comes to it. There is another steam thrasher at work in Casperaux, near Councillor Anderson's.

Oats are rather light in crop and weight, but the price is 50 cents and 55 to 60 for old oats.

Our farmers have finished harvesting. Tourists are beginning to 'move on.' Rev. Brooks, Boston, has taken a great interest in 'historic Grand Pre'. He has had at his own expense two cedar posts dressed and painted and set, with tablets on them, in the field of James Leard to mark the place where Col. Noble was killed and buried. He suggested that a site should be purchased and a neat building erected and all the Acadian relics, literature, etc., placed in it as the beginning of a Museum which would be convenient for tourists and all interested in the preservation of these things. He thought the N. S. Historical Society should be interested in the matter and intimated that he could secure a grant from the Maine Historic Society toward such an object.

R. R. Duncan has a fine collection of Acadian relics in his museum. Squire Leard has the original survey of the lots granted to the New England settlers who came here after the expulsion, with all their names, and the old "minute books" of Kings Co. Ag'l. Society, organized in 1789 in the house on the corner now owned and occupied by Martin Duncanson, give a history of the people and place from that date to the present. We would suggest that the old Covenanter church on the hill be utilized for a museum. A small outlay for alterations would make it suitable and an attractive and comfortable place for tourists to spend an hour. W. H. Chase for the board of trade of Wolfville, employed men this summer who cut out the bushes and laid out paths and very much improved the old graveyard. Why not improve the church and use it as suggested?

Rev'ds. Friggins and Johnson, Wolfville, exchanged pulpits last Sunday morning and afternoon. The evening was rainy and Mr. Friggins gathered the few who went to church in the choir and held a bible class. He has purchased a fine, young driving horse from Dr. Bowles. The Dr.'s son, Teddy brought him another from Boston on Saturday.

Miss McAlpine and Miss Shields are keeping house for Mr. Friggins and Miss McLean, Mahone Bay, paid a visit to the parsonage last week and brought an immense St. Bernard dog for the minister.

James Kennickie died at the home of Mrs. Mary Lawrence, Hortonville, aged 66 years and was buried in the Methodist graveyard Saturday, 24th inst. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. F. Friggins. Mr. Kennickie was an invalid for a long time, had not been out of the house for two years.

Mr. Mapes, paymaster of H. M. S. Indefatigable, was in Grand Pre' on Monday taking photos.

Miss Scott, Halifax, is visiting at Mrs. Bower's.

Miss Emma Eial, Matron of the Old

Ladies Home, Halifax, is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. P. White, who is in poor health.

Judge Chas. Bishop, Sycamore, Ill., is visiting his father, Adolphus Bishop.

Mrs. W. C. Hamilton and her sister, Mrs. Chase, will take the steamer at Halifax for England next Thursday to meet their brother, Dr. Fred Harry, who will return with them in November.

H. W. White has very much improved. Delamere Cottage by a row coat of paint, white and slate with red trimmings.

Dr. Chipman had a valcable cow struck by Friday's Bluenose and badly shaken up. She escaped a smash up by a miracle and is coming out all right.

Dr. Balcom, Aylesford, was in Hortonville Monday. He placed his son with Mr. Patterson at Acacia Villa School.

Annual Fall Meeting of Proprietors of Grand Pre' Dyke will be held next Saturday. After the meeting 'fall feed' on 70 acres of School Land will be sold at auction.

Financial district meeting of Windsor district Methodist Church, will be held here next Thursday, Sept. 5th. The Annual Missionary meeting will be held in this church in the evening.

Rev. F. Friggins and family made a trip to Canning and the Look-off on Wednesday. The annual picnic for Long Island was held at Aberdeen Beach on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunlop, Amherst, are visiting at Dr. Chipman's. August 28th, 1901.

EVANGELINE BEACH

August 23rd.—On Wednesday the Beach was visited by two large picnics one from New Minas and one from Palmouth. About three hundred and fifty people were present and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The party from Windsor consisting of Mrs. McCallum, Miss Jessie McCallum, Mr. George McCallum, Mrs. Russell and the Misses Kathleen and Evelyn returned home with reluctance on Saturday, after spending three weeks in Bide-a-wee and Charming Cottages.

Among Tuesday's visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Neal, the four Misses Neal and Dr. and Mrs. Wallace McMullen all of Philadelphia.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry who have spent two weeks at Dingwall Cottage returned to St. Croix on Thursday. Mr. Kenneth Henry and the three Misses Henry remained until Saturday.

Dr. Jones and Miss Mabel Jones of Wolfville, who intended staying one week in Cottage Blomidon have extended their stay another week.

Misses Jennie and May Johnson of Greenwick and Miss Kathleen Murphy of New York City, left us on Tuesday after spending a very pleasant week in Point Pleasant Cottage.

On Friday the steamer Beaver conveyed about seventy-five people from Canning to the Beach where a very pleasant day was spent. The music by the Band was much enjoyed.

The bathing and boating this week have been unsurpassed. On Thursday the sea was like glass, with the mountains and trees reflected in it and occasionally the image of a bird, or the soft, watery outline of a cloud, floating silently through its sunny hollows.

Rev. Maynard and Mrs. Freeman of Wolfville, have taking Fern Cottage for a week.

A private picnic from Berwick visited the Beach on Thursday.
