A. E. WILTSE'S HARNESS SHOP.

Our illustration is a view of the new harness shop, on Main street, which Mr. A. E. Wiltse has recently taken possession of. Mr. Wiltse is a fair example of an energetic and industrious business man, and his career has been marked with the success which his urbanity and painstaking efforts to please deserve. In his younger days Mr. Wiltse worked at his trade in the Province of Quebec, and from thence went to Dakota, where he held positions in some of the best harness shops of that State. The experience gained by over ten years of varied work in widely separated fields of labor has been of immense value to Mr. Wiltse and although when he opened business in a small way here, about five years ago, he was not possessed of an overplus of means, yet he did have that skill and knowledge in every branch of his trade which is bound to tell to the advantage of the possessor of it. By putting industry and determination Mr. Wiltse has not only reached a position of comparative competence. The shop and house are his own property and his stock in trade is large and varied and selected with the greatest care. A specialty of the business is the hand-made harness which has won for Mr. Wiltse such an enviable reputation, and in the manufacture of which he uses nothing but good material—principally the very best Western stock. In this branch of the business three hands are almost constantly employed, enabling the proprietor to fill orders at short notice. The stock comprises a fine assortment of factory-made harnesses, as well as a selection of stable requisites, whips, and other articles usually found in a first class harness shop. After an inspection of Mr. Wiltse's methods of doing business, we no longer wonder at his success.

Farmersville Dynamite Case.

The adjourned case of A. Armstrong, P. Pierce, and Wm. Hicks, charged with being implicated in the recent dynamite outrage on the property of Richard Arnold, was up before P. J. Magistrate Deacon, at Brockville, yesterday (Monday). County Attorney Buell conducted the case for the prosecution, and J. F. Wood, M. P., assisted by J. W. Green, of this place, appeared for the defence. The County Attorney asked that the examination be a private one, which was granted. Representatives of the Reporter, Recorder, and Times were allowed to be present, with the understanding that they were not to note the proceedings or publish the evidence, the P. M. holding that by the publication of the evidence the case was likely to be prejudiced to the general public. The examination of witnesses was then proceeded with, commencing with Mr. Arnold. Some eight or nine witnesses were examined, when an adjournment was made until Tuesday, Oct. 11th, at 10.30 a. m. The same bail was accepted for the appearance of the defendants, and the witnesses not examined were also bound over to appear on Tuesday. The examinations were very slow and tedious, as the P. M. decided to take down the evidence in full. As the witnesses will in all probability be subjected to a lengthy examination and cross examination, the case is likely to last some time yet.

When Jay Gould was 21 he did not have a dollar. At 52 he was worth $100,000,000. When Kingdow Gould was born he was worth millions. At 52 he may not have a dollar. This is the way the thing works sometimes.

A prominent Northwest Conservative who is in Ottawa, and who had a long talk with Premier Norquay a few days ago, says the latter is very much depressed over affairs in Manitoba, as he feels that no matter how the railway dispute may end he is pretty sure to lose control of the Provincial Government. Mr. Norquay is devoting more attention just now to plans for keeping himself in office than he is to the promotion of the Red River railway.

DELTA FAIR.

The fall show of the South Leeds Agricultural Society, held at Delta on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, was a financial success. On the second day there was a large attendance, and all strove to enjoy themselves as well as the smoke and dust would permit. Oh, the smoke, the terrible smoke! It came upon us in clouds until at times it was impossible to see across the fair ground. It was an affecting scene. Tearful eyes looked into tearful eyes, and all in concert wiped. In the main building there was a fair display of manufactures, including drain-tile, tin-ware, furniture, harness, etc.; of the latter there was a particularly fine display, which was nicely arranged. Of course, in chess and other the entries were full and the articles of excellent quality. Ranged on shelves were a large number of bottles and jars, containing very tempting sweets and soured-masses, maple sugar, vinegar, pickles, preserves and honey—but a larder feast would not still the craving where-with we craved, so we turned our attention to contemplating the beautiful in nature as embodied in the display of flowering plants and shrubs. While thus pleasantly and profitably engaged, a picnic lady presented us with a tract setting forth the exceeding sinfulness of sin. This dispelled such poetic thoughts as the flowers suggested, and brought us down to earth and things earthly. In the second part of this building were displayed articles of domestic manufacture, and these constituted one of the finest and most creditable features of this fair. Mappels in the web, rag carpet, and woven goods of every description made up an exhibit of which any section of Ontario might well be proud. In this department a numerous band of eager vocalists discoursed sweet music continually. The arts and ladies' work were very nicely arranged in a building devoted entirely to these classes. We will not attempt to describe the many beautiful articles here collected; suffice it to say that their beauty and merit were such that the building was thronged all day with spectators. There was a good collection of vehicles and implements. Brockville, Delta, Gananoque, Brantford and Aurora were represented in these classes. About 2 p. m. we rode to the arena to witness a crowd of extra density and disagreeableness put in an appearance, and in common with many others we turned from the horse ring to seek relief for our aching eyes. In cattle, of which there was a fair exhibit, Durham, Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey were represented, the two latter breeds predominating. We experienced some difficulty in finding the sheep, and when we did succeed in locating it, we were struck with the loneliness expressed in its melancholy visage. There was a small show of swine, but it included some fine Berkshire. The speeding in the ring was interesting, and the result of each heat was anxiously awaited by a numerous assembly of sporting men. The track was not firm enough for a fast pace, and being so narrow it enabled the drivers to do a little jockeying. But Bel Wilson at length broke the combination, and to the satisfaction of onlookers. There was to have been a lacrosse match in the afternoon, between Farmersville and Delta clubs, but Farmersville was not finally advised of the decision of the directors of the fair until too late to get the team together. Jimmy White, from the North Shore, introduced a little variation into the free-for-all race. During the progress of the race, he drove on the track in a heavy gig, and collided with Warrior. The racing sulky and the gig came together with a crash, breaking a wheel off each vehicle, and sending the drivers rolling in the dust. Fortunately neither was hurt. In the evening, Jimmy had his fortune told by a deaf mute called Mike Stack, from whom he learned, much to his satisfaction, that he was not in any way to blame for the collision of the afternoon.

A woman of Bay City, Mich. disguised herself as a man and clerked in a store for a year and thus obtained admission into the Knights of Pythias. It is computed that the death rate of the world is 67 a minute, and this seeming light percentage of gain is sufficient to give a net increase of population each year of almost 1,200,000 souls. An odd timepiece is shown in a Philadelphia window. The hours are marked on a dozen oyster shells. The front of the clock is a large, round water. A small plate, garnished with slices of lemon, conceals the works and the hands are a knife and fork.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

The Provincial Fair was more or less of a failure, as usual. The total receipts were only $8,500. The enterprising town of Gravenhurst, in the Muskoka District, was wiped out by the fire fiend last week. The call for aid to relieve the destitute victims has been nobly responded to in many quarters. The ring-leader of the mob which maltreated the Salvation Army in Quebec a few weeks ago has been punished to the full extent of the law. Perth rejoices over the completion of the Tay canal, which gives that classic burg access to the navigation of the Rideau. The work of construction occupied four years. Ottawa had a very destructive fire on Wednesday last. Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific railway, states that only forty miles of track on the Sault Ste Marie short line remains to be laid. Forty-five miles are already constructed. The Minneapolis and Ste Marie railway will have their line built to the Sault in November, thus forming a direct road. It is likely that Sir John Macdonald will represent Canada in the Fishery Commission. Bush fires assumed alarming proportions last week in Ontario and Quebec. The 20th inst. is the date of the Conference of Provincial Premiers at Quebec. Mr. Cimon, son of the late member, was elected to the Commons for Charlevoix on Wednesday last. In the Colchester election case Postmaster General McLelan has been unseated for bribery by agents. During several days recently navigation on the St. Lawrence above Montreal was completely stopped by smoke from bush fires. The Kingston fair was a great success this year. It appears that Mr. Norquay, before leaving Winnipeg, had an offer of 100 for the Manitoba bonds from the banking firm of Mr. Duncan McArthur, and the Manitoba people are at a loss to know the real reason of Mr. Norquay's Eastern pilgrimage. According to statistics submitted at the sixty-third annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, held at Denver, Col., the Order in Canada numbers about 20,000, distributed as follows: Ontario, 14,356; Maritime Provinces, 2,303; Manitoba, 1,005; Quebec, 772; British Columbia, 790; Alberta, 51; with two lodges in Assiniboia reporting direct to the Grand Lodge of Manitoba. The relief expenditure in Canada last year was about $63,000. The Tories and Unionists are urging the British Government on to a more severe treatment of Ireland, and the Government appears to be quite willing to act upon the urging. Another of the series of military outrages has occurred on the Franco-German frontier, followed by the usual excitement and war talk. The customary investigation and patching up will no doubt end the affair. Secretary Bayard, J. B. Angell, of the University of Michigan, and W. L. Putman, of Maine, will constitute the American Commission. Polydore de Keyser, a Roman Catholic alderman, has been elected Lord Mayor of London. The prohibition amendment was rejected in Tennessee, by a majority of 20,000. Hanlan has received two challenges for races in Australia. A Chinese transport has been wrecked, with the loss of nearly three hundred lives. The Polish language is to be no longer used in the Prussian Poland schools. The President of the London Chamber of Commerce says a money panic is feared on account of the condition of financial affairs in America. The Chicago Divorce Courts granted 100 divorces in one day recently. The supremacy of United States sailing racing craft was again asserted last week, when the Scotch cutter yacht, the Thistle, was badly beaten by General Paine's sloop yacht, the Volunteer, in the contest for the Queen's cup. The first race was sailed on Tuesday, over the 38-mile course of New York Yacht Club. The Volunteer made the best time by nearly twenty minutes, although the conditions of wind and tide were just what had been claimed to be the most favorable to the Thistle. The second race was sailed on Friday, the course being a beat of twenty miles to windward and return before the wind. The Thistle was beaten by nearly twelve minutes. At the great show of dairy products at Frome, Somerset, England, Ontario cheese, imported by Price & Parker, Bristol, was highly commended by the judges in the Jubilee class. The Times points out that as fifty lots of West of England cheese were unnoticed, the judges' commendation of the Ontario product bears out the contention that while the very finest Somerset cheddars are not to be beaten anywhere, Canadian cheese is running the secondary qualities very close. Another lot of Canadian cheese was also highly commended. Work on the Red River Valley Road has ceased, whether on account of the injunction served at the instance of the Dominion Government or because of the failure of the Norquay Administration to secure the necessary loan, is not certain. There is no prospect of its being resumed this year.

A Song of Rest.

O weary hands! that all the day,
O weary feet! that many a mile
O weary eyes! that through the tears
O weary hearts! that through the years

SIR HUGH'S LOVES.

It was he who implanted in me a thirst for knowledge; and all the leisure moments were devoted to mine. During his college terms he corresponded with me, and I was not without his letters, and he was not without mine.

I think that if Margaret had not been endowed with that singular unselfishness that belonged to her nature she must have missed something out of her life; once she had been everything to her brother, but now it was Crystal! Crystal who must bring him his books, and hunt out for him words in the dictionary.

It was not that I was not fond of myself, but that I was not fond of my brother and sister understood each other most truly. In their quiet looks, I have read a mutual assurance that spoke of perfect trust and undiminished affection.

Ruby had very peculiar notions on the subject of female education.
"Mine, for example, was carried on in rather a desultory fashion. I was not fretted by restraint, or made stupid by long days; but sufficient knowledge was imparted to excite my reasoning powers and arouse the desire for more. 'Let her learn,' he would say, 'but let her learn to sing!'

"I don't want to break any hearts!" I cried, angrily. "I only want Ruby to be happy, never leave him, never!" and I stamped my foot in a little fury.
They all laughed. Uncle Rolf long and merrily, but Ruby colored up as he smiled.

notice me; but Ruby did not seem to resent the indifference or want of courtesy.
"He only cares for me when others are not by," I thought, and my heart began to swell with jealousy and emotion.
An hour ago the sudden sun broke slowly down into the west.

"Oh, what lovely lilies of the valley," she exclaimed, pointing to the flowers;
"they are the first I have seen this year.
I adore lilies; they are perfectly exquisite.
Do let me have them," Mr. Ferrers. I know they grow in the garden, and I shall keep them as a memento of Sandyliffe and the Grange. Come, you must not let me break the tenth commandment and covet any longer," and the fair girl had rested near the flowers as she spoke.

"I made him no answer. I was past it.
I never yielded to them afterwards without the same desire seizing me to go away and see them no more; and but for the watchful care that surrounded me at those times I should have been long since in the open air."

wandered aimlessly about the house or stomped over my books or work in a corner.
I never sought to rebel against the rigor of my sentence; it was a just one I knew, and bore it patiently as I could.
Then all at once, sometimes when I least expected it, when I was most hopeless and forlorn, a hand would be placed on my back in the old caressing manner, and a low "forgiven darling," would bring me back to sunshine and happiness; but, oh, how he suffered. I never knew but after that the punishment was even greater than mine.

"I am speaking now of my younger days," but presently there came a time when they treated it less as a fault than a malady; when Ruby dreaded the repentance more than the paroxysm, for so poignant was my anguish of remorse that it threatened to ruin my life.

of his preaching, and to lose that sermon of all others.

have reached the cross roads of life at last,
where each must choose his or her path,
and go on their way alone."

Crystal, he said, quietly, "but not of them. Do you know I have been thinking as we came along that you and I, dear child,
have reached the cross roads of life at last,
where each must choose his or her path,
and go on their way alone."

How to get rich.
The Boston Herald has been asking some rich men for rules by which other men may become rich. Mr. P. T. Barnum says the golden rule is to spend less than one earns. He advises abstinence from tobacco and rum, due care for the health, the selection of a congenial occupation, avoidance of debt, and determination to excel all others engaged in the same occupation.

Be careful to advertise in some shape or other, because it is evident that if a man has never so good an article for sale, and nobody knows it, it will bring him no return. The whole philosophy of life is, first, show, then reap. This principle applies to all kinds of business, and to nothing more eminently than to advertising. If a man has a really good article, then, there you will be able to reap more advantageously than by 'sowing' to the public in this way. If a man has goods for sale, and he doesn't advertise them, the chances are that some day the sheriff will do it for him.

Politeness and civility are the best capital any man can have. Large stores, glittering signs, flaming advertisements will prove unavailing if you or your employees treat your patrons absurdly. The more kindly and courteous you are, the more your goods will be patronized, and you will be the patronized and esteemed upon him.

General Butler has made a great deal of his money in manufactures, but he advises young men to invest in improved real estate. He says that in Boston, Chicago, Washington and Lowell, a big ranch in Colorado, 600,000 acres in New Mexico, and 150,000 acres in Virginia. His ideas about real estate investments are worth giving in full:

If a young man is earning something more than the expenses of his living, and has an object in view, he is likely either to increase those expenses carelessly, or to loan his money to his friends, and in so doing in the majority of cases he will lose both his money and his object. He should know that he can do is to have an object, to gather up his money, and to have a call for it which shall be profitable and compelling to invest. Investment, he says, 'I have got so little money that it won't come to anything; I will wait until I get more, and in waiting, generally, what he has got.

When a young man has a very little money let him buy some property, preferably a piece of land, somewhat according to his means, of improved real estate that is paying rent. He had better buy it when paid at auction, under a judicial sale, paying cash, or with a mortgage, and then for the balance in small sums coming due at frequently recurring intervals, secured by a mortgage on the property.
He should have an extra income in paying up those notes. It is always safe to discount your own note, and if the notes come a little too fast as they are due, he is likely either to increase those expenses carelessly, or to
loan his money to his friends, and in so doing in the majority of cases he will lose both his money and his object.

Officials. Township Clerk, James H. Blackburn; Clerk of Division Court, H. B. Alguire; Medical Health Officer, C. W. R. Cornell; Sanitary Inspector, Hiram Case Phillips.

Constables. Thomas Dorney, Hiram C. Phillips, George W. Brown and James M. Saulty.

THE REPORTER. B. LOVERIN, Editor and Proprietor. Guaranteed Circulation, 600. FARMERSVILLE, OCT. 4, 1887.

LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES. From the Pencil of our Own News-Gatherer.

Mr. Sala Blancher left yesterday for New York. Our report of Lyndhurst Fair will appear next week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. James are visiting New York this week. The South Grenville Fair, held at Prescott, was very successful.

Mr. W. E. Mayhew, of Bristol, Que., is visiting old acquaintances here. The Rev. S. Sheldon left on Wednesday to enter Macmaster University.

Frankville Fair was well patronized this year. We shall refer to it next week. Ten cases against Scott Act violators are set down for hearing in Brockville to-day.

Judge O'Connor will preside at the Brockville Assizes, which open on the 17th inst. The North Leeds and Grenville Fair was held at Merrickville on Thursday and Friday last.

An important announcement by Fowler & Co., of Brockville, arrived too late for this issue. The manufacturers in Gananoque are crowded with work and expect to run full time all winter.

The capital stock of the Gananoque Carriage Works Company has been doubled, and is now $100,000. Now is the time to subscribe for the EXORER—the balance of this year free, by ordering and paying for it for 1888.

A destructive fire at Gananoque on Thursday night last consumed the soap factory of Myers, Matthews & Raymond. Phil. Wiltse, of the Montreal House, has just received his fall and winter stock of millinery. See his ad't next week.

The Gananoque Journal suspends publication this week, in order to set its office in order—a sort of journalistic house-cleaning. The Voters' List Court for Rear of Yonge and Escott will be held in the town hall here on the 15th inst., at the hour of 11 o'clock.

The contractors on the B. & W. R. R. have built a siding at Lyn, for use in unloading ties and rails which come over the Grand Trunk. Mr. John Lescock, of Frankville, recently captured a young eagle alive. The bird measures 6 feet 10 inches from tip to tip of wings.

Mr. Sam'l Hugoboom should write a book on what he knows about pumpkins. His garden produced one this year which weighed 72 lbs. Delta Fair Association should feel proud. A youth from this town drove eighty-four miles in order to take his best girl to and from the fair.

The work of resinsiding and slightly altering the North Church, in readiness for the Presbyterians, is going on rapidly. There are only four appeals against the Rear of Yonge and Escott Voters' List, and the business at the judge's Court will consequently be very light.

The Directors of Unionville fair will meet on Wednesday, October 12, at 1 o'clock p. m. All persons having business with the Society are requested to attend. The resemblance between the British Columbia battery of artillery and the Salvation Army corps in Farmersville no longer exists, by reason of the fact that there have recently been added a few privates to the muster roll of the Army.

The Rev. Mr. Pines preached his last sermon here on Sunday last, his connection with the Baptist congregation having ceased. It is not yet known who will occupy the Baptist pulpit. A prayer meeting will take the place of the usual service next Sunday.

Mr. Bryce Saunders, P. & D. L. S., returned on Saturday from the north, where he has been surveying a township situated about 200 miles north of the Maritimes. Mr. K. Addison, who accompanied him as assistant is also among us again. The Recorder summarizes the result of Police Magistrate Judah's 6th circuit, between the 6th and 26th of September, as follows:—Four cases at Irish Creek, two at North Augusta, five at Merrickville, two at Cardinal and four at Kempsville—total, 17. There were 10 convictions and one dismissal. In two cases the fine was $100 and costs, and there was one conviction for a third offence, with 60 days in goal.

WOOD LOT FOR SALE. The undersigned is desirous of disposing of the east half of his wood lot, No. 22, in the City of Yonge. The same is well timbered. GEO. W. GREEN, Farmer-ville.

COUNTY NEWS-LETTERS

Received from Our Own Correspondents During the past Week.

Elbe Mills. Mr. E. Haskins is saving square timber for the railroad bridge across the pond, the only signs yet of work on the railroad in this vicinity.

Mr. Wm. Leith, of Farmersville, has purchased the property of Mr. Joseph Stracey, consisting of house, blacksmith shop, and three acres of land. Mr. Leith was a former resident and intends to commence work as soon as the present lease expires.

Plum Hollow. Mrs. Carson, of Lake St., is very lonesome as the baby barber is in Farmersville. W. Randolph and wife are digging their potatoes. They have a large crop. O. Stevens and W. Reid stand ready to take in threshing. W. T. Stevens returned home from Lyndhurst fair quite ill, but is now better. G. Stevens has just bought a new threshing machine and is giving it a thorough overhauling. He will soon be ready to thresh all that come. The most prominent lady of the street has just finished her trade, that of making gents' pants, and is anxious to get a job. Call at almost any house and you will be likely to find her. Mr. B. Ballard and wife have returned from the fair, and are at work as usual. L. Lillie and wife are expected home in a few days.

Fortar. Recently, Mr. George Ackland met with an accident while cutting a tunnel from the shoulder of a horse. By some mishap the scissers entered his knee, inflicting a painful wound. He leaves this week for Toronto to finish his studies in the veterinary science.

Mr. Abel Stafford is completing his fine new residence. The trustees have decided to defer till spring the erection of the new school building, part of the material for which is now on the ground. The old building would make a fine refrigerator. Workmen are busy on this section of the B. & W. R., but the outlook for its completion by Christmas is rather lazy. Once it is in running order, outside markets will have more interest for us than they possess at present.

IRELAND'S CRISIS. The New York Tribune's London despatch says the situation in Ireland is becoming distinctly more aggravated, and the Government's supporters are demanding that there shall be no pause in the action of the Administration. It is pointed out that if the state of affairs ten days ago required the suppression of two hundred branches of the roof and stem of the League should now be struck down. The defiant speeches at Tuesday's central meeting, and such incidents as the turning out of the Penderville family at Newbridge because they sheltered a boycotted laborer, the wrecking of railway telegraph lines near Youghal, and the increasing spirit of resistance to the bailiffs have stimulated the Conservative press and clubs to demand that the law shall strike quick and hard. Some London and Irish Government organs ask for a check upon the Radical omisseries, for Ireland, it is argued, is on the verge of an open rebellion, the only remedy for which will be a military regime. The cry among Unionist and Conservative is louder than ever that the tyranny of the League must be squelched. Unfortunately for these demands Mr. Balfour's methods have but increased the energy of resistance, which is flaring up to such dimensions that the process of squelching will fill half the goals and require the services of an army corps. It is now too late. It is impossible to padlock a nation and the Leaguers count upon the Ministry being afraid to impose that despotic rule which can alone accomplish what the supporters of the Government now demand. The eviction of one tenant last week required 80 soldiers and 150 policemen. It is reported that Mr. Balfour is determined to persevere to the extent if necessary of civil war.

Mr. Muir, of Dumbarton, Scotland, will build a cutter to try for the America's cup, unless the owners of the Thistle again challenge. T. D. Sullivan and Wm. O'Brien have been summoned for publishing reports of the proceedings of proclaimed Land League branches. A sad looking man has been visiting farmers in Ohio and asking them to sign a pledge not to kill any song birds for a year. Afterward these pledges returned in the shape of promissory notes. Mr. Gladstone is chary with his autograph. An application only results in the receipt of a lithographic of a postal card. John Bright is more good-humored, but he must be approached carefully. A Staynor constable was refused admittance to the local fair. He wired County Attorney Cotter asking grounds. Cotter answered, certainly he had if he paid. The two messages and the admission cost him 75 cents.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES & DEATHS. Birth. At Elbe, on Wednesday, Sept. 28th, the wife of R. E. Cornell, of a daughter.

WOOD LOT FOR SALE. The undersigned is desirous of disposing of the east half of his wood lot, No. 22, in the City of Yonge. The same is well timbered. GEO. W. GREEN, Farmer-ville.
