The Shadow of the Future.

CHAPTER XI.
A GRAND DISCOVERY.

"X" charming work on plant-lore had of late appeared. Knowing it of the very kind Sydney would delight in, Mr. Rupert brought it down, a Christmas gift, with—not to be too marked—bananas for Leonora, pheasants for his aunt.

Sydney, overjoyed at her prize, buried herself in its fascinating pages, and at the evening's end thanked the giver most expressively.

"You must read it yourself, Mr. Villiers, to know what I have been enjoying," she said.

"I'll try, I know as much of the subject as of the Homeric bards! Plainly, nothing!"

"Oh! but it makes you like it if you fill but begin."

"Then will you teach me?"

"Gravely. Yes, if you wish."

"Then I am sure to like it."

"Precisely what I say."

"With a difference," said Mr. Rupert in lowered voice, "which some time I must explain to you."

"But not now," replied Sydney, most unapologetic still, "for I have read myself sleepy. Good-night. And I don't know when I've enjoyed a Christmas evening so much. I have to thank you for it." And she bestowed on Mr. Rupert a full beam of gratitude as he held the door open for her.

Leonora had gone to bed an hour before. Watching another girl's love-affair was very stupid work. Mrs. Alwyn alone was left to mark the words and smile.

"Well," she said, questioning her nephew with a glance as he came back to the hearth-rug.

"Well, Aunt Helen," he said, "I feel very much your debtor. It won't be my fault if Sydney is not my wife long before next Christmas-time."

Having come to this stage, Mr. Villiers would probably have pressed his suit rapidly to conclusion but for sundry instructions unforeseen and unavoidable.

First came a month of snows and storms that made country roads all but impassable even for journeys of profit, and utterly tabooed the notion of traversing them on journeys of

One used a harsh, unscientific treatment. It was inefficient and it often caused soreness.

The third applied Blue-jay, liquid or plaster. In a moment and it stopped the pain. In a little while the whole corn loosened and came out.

Millions of people now use Blue-jay. It is ending at least 20 million corns yearly. Those folks never keep corns—never suffer corn aches.

pleasure. At least so Mrs. Alwyn wrote to her nephew, opining perhaps that an obstacle at this precise juncture might make him more ardent on his next visit. Then a political embroilment with a cantankerous foreign power brought clouds of war on the nation's horizon, agitated the war department, and gave Mr. Rupert a bona fide dose of long hours. And with March came graver delay.

One of what Mrs. Alwyn called Sydney's "pretty warbling-choir" a worthy little twelve-year-old, Suffolk dumpling of the female sex named Patty Pegg, was "took allip," and after vaporing through a prelude, suspected of chicken-pox, ague, or measles, developed by the end of a week a fine case of malignant typhoid. Miss Patty being the eldest of eight (the family including two sets of twins, which, as the poor mother said, "didn't sell up so") it may be inferred without much imagination that her share of daily bread was not superabundant, to say nothing of the food illness needed.

Fearless of disease, Sydney at first went to the child with such supplies as Dr. Dacie recommended and her own purse could furnish; but when the malady was duly declared, Mrs. Alwyn promptly forbade these ministrations. Leonora, alarmed at all fever, was indignantly termed by a second and third case, resolutely refused to go out-of-doors or taste a breath of the air which blew between the infected village and "their nobility," and so nearly alarmed herself into illness of some sort that her mother decided on flight as the lesser of two evils, sent the servants away on very close board wages, shut up the Dale, and carried her daughters off to the fresh breezes of a southern watering-place.

Sydney pleaded dolefully to be left at home or with the Dacies. She might help them or Mr. Vaughan if illness spread. But her mother quickly negated the petition. "People would say I had more regard for Leonora's health than yours," she said. "Nothing could induce me to leave you here."

So as an example of well-balanced affection, Sydney was carried off, and had to leave what the cottage neighbors called her "poor little singin' mawther" to struggle through her phases of suffering without further help from her than could be trusted in the shape of shillings to Mary Dacie.

A clean bill of health was reported in April, and Mrs. Alwyn desiring to spend a week at her brother's in Hampshire with Leonora (three would be inconvenient there!) Sydney was permitted to return and stay with the Dacies before they all reunited at the Dale.

Nowhere had the girl been more missed than at the Gate House, where she shone always at her brightest, paying them in every coin she could conceive for the kindness to her earlier girlhood. Now Mary received her joyfully with

"How well you are looking, and how glad I am to have got you back!"

And the traveler, with a hug and a kiss, answered, "Also, how glad I am to be back, but how well you are not looking! What's the matter, Mary? Has anything gone amiss while I was away?"

"No," Mary declared, "nothing so very particular;" but bit by bit, in the privacy of up-stairs unpacking, it came out how her father was less equal to work than ever that spring; his lameness gained on him so, and "mother," who had never dargged, but kept such a willing shoulder to the wheel so many years, was not like herself. The strain of all her middle-age was telling on her now. And the "boys," long since men, two married, Kescock, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon hearing of my troubles advised me to try it as I seemed all run down after the flu and had lost weight very bad. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sanitive Wash also Dr. Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines."—Mrs. IANIS NELSON, Kescock, Sask.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

one in Canada, were getting less able, between growing families and uncertain business, to give their small aids to the old home, and so, confessed poor Mary Dacie—permitting herself the extraordinary luxury of five minutes' collapse.

"It seems as if we are on the downhill road together, Sydney, dear; and sometimes I'm such a goose I get miserable over it."

To which Sydney, who had long dreaded this state of things, could only return the comfort of caresses. The outlook was gloomy, she knew, so uninviting that she must have been glad to quit its contemplation, for, after some minutes' diligent unpacking, she changed the subject by asking, most irrelevantly, if Mr. Drayton had been to St. Clair's while she was away.

It was not often Sydney showed such lack of sympathy. Mary Dacie sighed as she answered, "No," and she sighed again as she smoothed her ruffled brown hair, and stroked out of sight a few obtrusive silver threads. What a fool she looked to that girl in the sweet bloom of her twenty years! But she mustn't grow cunning. Admirers! Lovers! These must be pleasant pastures for young minds to stray along. She wouldn't grudge them to Sydney, even—with a sensation as of a rising sob firmly subdued—even in the shape of—Mr. Drayton, or Mr. Rupert Villiers.

This latter gentleman, though debarred from prosecuting his plans in person through the spring, had not allowed himself to be forgotten. Early in the year each note to his Aunt Helen had contained some special message for Sydney, unfailingly delivered. About that date in February when feathered monogamists select their spouses for the coming spring, a florist of Peterham (a stroke to please the major that) packed off a splendid mass of sweet-scented lilacs-of-the-valley, and the address "Miss Alwyn, The Dale, St. Clair's," was in Mr. Rupert's handwriting. Reviews to her liking, magazines many, found their way similarly to the young lady at Bourne-mouth, in company with society papers for her mother and sister. And now, definite desire and intention of success strengthened by the propitious Christmas visit, Mr. Villiers felt no hesitation in assuring his anxious father that, spite of postponement, everything was going on as right as a trivet, and the paternal purse would probably be drawn upon for wedding-presents shortly after midsummer.

Meanwhile, as the season was gray, and likely to be his last free entirely from pettiest control, the young man took license to treat his good resolutions for the future pretty freely.

The singer who had once enthralled him was far away now, enchanting dollars by thousands from the rich citizens of another continent, but her pedestal was not long vacant. Small pink tickets for the Opera Comique, and large long bills for suppers connected with the same; companion documents to Mr. Tutter's original one, and a run of late hours over a green table much best left alone; these, to say nothing of more legitimate indulgences, swelled a debit account of considerable proportions, as weeks went by, and applied for their settlements mainly on Sydney's fortune. Since, "Hang it, you know," thought Mr. Rupert, "five thousand, or four, perhaps, will be plenty to tie up. She'll like to do something toward starting the domestic mill; that'll be only fair. The rest we'll leave loose as a general fund."

And over the manipulation of that general fund Mr. Rupert's fingers latched prospectively, after a fashion that boded ill for its long existence, while for his first visit to the Dale in May he began to look impatiently as this crisis was yet to be put off by doings we must halt to explain.

The Shoe Men

Where Crusoe Lived.

Every schoolboy knows that a Scottish lad, Alexander Selkirk, was the character on whom Daniel Defoe founded his world-famous story, "Robinson Crusoe."

But Alexander's real history is not so familiar. His birthplace was Largo, a little fishing-village on the Fife-shire coast, now a popular holiday resort. Here he gained the reputation of being a very unruly boy, who teased the life out of a half-witted brother, and finally ran away to sea because his father wanted to make him a shoemaker.

According to Defoe, Crusoe was on his desert island thirty years. Selkirk, however, was only away for four years and four months; as a matter of fact, he was marooned.

A Village Lass.

When, after many strange adventures, the wanderer returned to Largo, it was a Sunday morning, and his people were at church. Never backward at coming forward, he went in and took a seat close to his mother. That individual had long given up her wandering boy as lost, and so great was the scene she caused on seeing him again that it broke up the service.

Ultimately Selkirk married a village girl, and everyone thought he had decided to settle down. Largo woke up one morning, however, to find that he had disappeared with his wife. It is known that he died and Selkirk married again—that because of him eventually, we now know.

Large perpetuated his memory by erecting a fine monument on the site of the cottage in which he lived; and interesting mementoes are pointed out to visitors by the inhabitants.

Turks Are Not Seeking an Armistice—U. S. Shipping Board Issues Ultimatum--Spread of Cholera in Russia Decreasing.

GREEKS TOO OPTIMISTIC.
LONDON, July 28.—The report that the Turks have approached the Allies with the purpose of obtaining a cessation of hostilities between them and the Greeks, is un-confirmed, according to information received in official circles here. This fact substantiates the fact that there have been Greek victories in Asia Minor, but it minimises the effect of the Turkish ultimatum. It is said that the Turkish ultimatum was executed skillfully, and with but small losses in men and supplies.

WIND ON RUSSIAN DARKNESS.
COPENHAGEN, July 28.—Rumours are in circulation in Copenhagen that a despatch to the Politburo from the Estonian capital to-day, as an extreme measure, in the effort to secure help in the present crisis in Russia, Nikolai Lenin has proposed to the Soviets acknowledge the national debt, which the Politburo cancelled after the revolution. The proposed payment of interest and capital would not be begun before 1923.

IRISH SETTLEMENT DELAYS.
DUBLIN, July 28.—A more hopeful feeling prevailed here to-day concerning the solution of the Irish problem, and belief was expressed that, although the path to peace might be longer than at first anticipated, a settlement eventually would be reached. Meantime the truce will be continued. It was authoritatively stated here to-day that De Valera had not made application to the Government for release of members of the Irish Republican Parliament, who are in prison, and that, although their release would be granted on his request, it would not occur without their immediate intention of summoning a Republican Parliament. It was learned that members of the Republican Cabinet, who were asked to-day as to the reasons for delay in summoning the Parliament, replied that they do not intend to ask for the release of imprisoned members to attend it, and that a more advanced stage had been attained. They stated that it would imply that definite proposals for acceptance of resolution by the Republican Parliament were available.

DE VALERA TO MEET CRAIG.
DUBLIN, July 28.—The next move in the Irish situation is likely to be another meeting in Ireland between Sir James Craig and Eamonn De Valera, it is stated on good authority. It was somewhat difficult to arrange for this proposed meeting, but according to the informant, "they have got over the fence."

CHOLERA DECREASING.
RIGA, July 28.—Noticeable decreases in the spread of Cholera during the past fortnight are reported in the Moscow Fravda. The newspaper says that the total registration of sufferers from the disease since the beginning of this year, were approximately 25,000, a considerable increase over the previous announcement, but the newspaper says this is due to delay in filing papers, most of which were for June.

WHY NOT?
LONDON, July 28.—The United States Shipping Board, it was declared here to-day, has delivered an ultimatum to British Shipping Lines, that unless its ships are accorded fair treatment in contracts for transport of cotton from Alexandria, Egypt, to the United Kingdom, the Shipping Board will "declare open market" and haul anything, anywhere, at any rate.

PIN-PRICKING.
BOSTON, July 28.—The British fishing schooner Helen McLain arriving here to-day with a catch of sword fish, was not allowed to land its cargo. A vacation on July 15 of the war time permit to British vessels to market their catches at United States ports, was given as the reason.

AUSTRALIA'S ARCHBISHOP.
MELBOURNE, July 28.—The Australian Government has declined not to interfere with the landing of Archbishop Mannix, on his return from his around the world trip, or to insist on his taking the oath of allegiance, it was announced to-day.

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.
TRAVERS ISLAND, N.Y., July 28.—England was awarded the international track and meet with Princeton and Cornell here to-day, having taken five firsts and six second places to the United States' Athletes five firsts and five seconds.

Obituary.

MRS. JANE SINGLETON.
When the last silent hours of the 27th of July were passing away, the soul of an aged and greatly respected person of St. Joseph's, Salmonier, Mrs. Jane Singleton, passed to its eternal reward. Deceased had reached the advanced age of 81 years, when she became ill, and after an illness of but a few weeks, which was borne with Christian resignation and true fortitude, she passed peacefully away. In life she was an example of patience and humility, tested and tried by many crosses of this world. She was the mother of a large family, and many of these, as well as her husband, have predeceased her by many years. She leaves to mourn her, three sons, John, Joseph and Vincent; one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Daly; and two brothers, John and Francis MacDonald. To these and to her other relatives, the community expressed their deep sympathy, as shown by the large attendance her Requiem Mass and funeral. She was laid to rest beside her departed friends in St. Joseph's Cemetery. May her soul rest in peace.—Com. St. Joseph's, July 27, 1921.

North Sydney and Discos Play to a Draw.

On Saturday evening on the Ashby grounds in Sydney a very interesting game of soccer was played between a team of Newfoundlanders from North Sydney and the Discos team of Sydney. Play started about 5.40 p.m. and with a slight breeze in their favor the Newfoundlanders started to rush matters and for a time gave the Discos a busy time, but when their goal tender was called upon to save a few difficult shots he did so in fine style. For the first fifteen minutes saw a few nice rushes by both teams and some midfield play when the Newfoundland boys broke loose and Williams with a nice head shot on a pass from Norman put No. 1 in the net. A few minutes and Feara repeated the trick by placing No. 2 behind the posts. During the remainder of the first half play was give and take, the half time whistle sounding with the score Newfoundland, 2; Discos, 0. The second period opened with the Discos out for trouble and the ball was no sooner in play than J. Robertson beat Wheeler, scoring No. 1 for his team. Things began to look bad for the Newfoundlanders for a few minutes after W. Robertson with a beauty from the right wing again repeated the trick thus equalizing the score. After this some nice dashes were made by both teams but without result. All eyes were strained when French put a whirlwind shot towards the Discos goal, but Byrne with a glancing head tip touched the ball over the bar. Soon after this the Discos were awarded a penalty but failed to score, the ball rebounding from the crossbar, and the Newfoundlanders soon had it down the field; after five minutes fast play the game ended Newfoundlanders, 2; Discos, 2. The line up was as follows: Newfoundlanders—Goal, Wheeler; left field, Connolly; right field, Ryan; left half, Norman; centre half, Bartlett; right half, French; left, Williams; inside left, Carbery; centre, Hearns; inside right, Long; right, White. Discos—Goal, McDonald; left field, Braye; right field, Riley; left half, Yates; centre half, Osborne; right half, Wilson; left, Hiscock; inside left, T. Robertson; centre, J. Robertson; inside right, W. Robertson; right, Goldie. Referee—H. Trapnell. It is understood that a return match is to be played during the week—North Sydney Herald, July 25.

CL.B. Cadets

Camp Notes.

INSPECTION BY THE GOVERNOR.
Yesterday afternoon, the annual inspection by His Excellency the Governor of the CL.B. Cadets encamped at Topsyall, took place, a large number of visitors from town being present for the ceremony. The morning was spent in preparing for the inspection. His Excellency, who had been on a driving tour to Salmonier, on Friday morning, arrived at Topsyall and had lunch with the staff at Sir Edgar Bowring's Bungalow. The Battalion was formed by the Government troops, including Major Williams, Major Col. R. G. Goodridge and Major Williams. The Battalion was strengthened by a detachment which had come over from Bay Roberts under Capt. Dave and Lieuts. Roberts and Butt.

His Excellency arrived at the camp at 1:30 p.m. and accompanied by Major Williams, Miss Shute, Miss Kitson, Mr. Harris, Lt. Col. Goodridge and Major Williams. The party entered the camp grounds, the Band struck up the National Anthem and the parade followed. His Excellency, who was met by Capt. N. Henry, O.C. Camp, inspected the Battalion, which had drawn up in line facing east. After the inspection had been completed and all of the officers had been introduced to the Governor, a march was held. His Excellency taking the salute. The Battalion was then reviewed in review order and was addressed by Sir Charles. He referred to the fact that this was his fourth inspection of the CL.B. Camp at Topsyall and expressed his great pleasure at what he had seen. He then turned upon the object and work of the Brigade in a most inspiring manner. At the conclusion of the address large cheers for His Excellency were given with a will. The Government troops party was next conducted through the lines. After he had finished his inspection of the whole camp, His Excellency visited the Officers' Mess, where he wrote the following report: "Once more it has been a pleasure to me and a very great interest to inspect the contingent of the CL.B. in their camp at Topsyall. One's tendency on these occasions is to say nice things, but I can honestly say that of this camp nice things are deserved. Clearly some of the contingent are as fine as any I have seen, but I saw of the drill and more particularly in all the camp, I congratulate Capt. Henry and Lieut. Harris. I can assure Colonel Goodridge and the officers of the CL.B. that I appreciate the opportunity that has been given me."

C. ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.
The Vice-regal party were next conducted to the Officers' Mess, where afternoon tea was served by Mrs. W. A. Praser, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Miss M. Cliff, Miss Pittman, Miss F. W. Taylor, Miss T. G. Taylor, Miss I. F. Perlin. Amongst those present during the afternoon were Sir Edgar Bowring, High Commissioner for Newfoundland, Mr. Joseph Outerbridge and Mr. R. G. Rendell, both ex-Governors of the Province, Rev. Dr. Bolt, Rev. and Mrs. Clayton, Hon. T. Cook, Hon. and Mrs. Campbell, Capt. and Mrs. Miller of Bell Island, Rev. A. Pittman, Mr. Weatherill and Colonel F. H. Lathin. These last named gentlemen, who are citizens of the United States, were presented to His Excellency, with whom they had a lengthy conversation. They have visited the camp on previous occasions, and have manifested their interest in the work of the Brigade, donating two cheques for substantial amounts to the CL.B.C.
The last night of the last in camp and a sing song was held, which proved most amusing and was greatly enjoyed. A dance in aid of Topsyall was held in the S.U.P. Hall and was largely attended.
This morning the Battalion broke camp and at 2 p.m. left for town, where they will probably arrive between 6 and 7 p.m. There is no doubt whatever in the minds of all who have visited the camp of this and previous years, that the 1921 camp stands second to none. It was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable holidays, and all those who were under canvas this year will look back to the 10 days of Topsyall with feelings of pleasure. The Brigade is very grateful to Sir Michael Babin, who very kindly sent a substantial contribution towards camp expenses.

Regatta Ripples.

As only four more practice days remain before the Regatta, it is likely that each evening here will see the crews doing the regulation course.
The Blue Peter since she has been included, is said by experienced swimmers to be in better condition than when first she was placed on the Regatta, and it is likely that she will carry off the lion's share of first places on Regatta Day.
Crews of fishermen from Logy Bay and the Battery are practising every evening and a crew from Broad Cove are expected out to-night for their first race.
Last evening, owing to the high wind, very few crews were on the Regatta, and the boats were taken in at 8 o'clock.
All the crews will enter at to-night's Regatta and the drawing for buoys will also be held.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. A. Wisby, Mrs. M. Pike and Mr. John Martin wish to express their sincere thanks to all those who assisted and sympathized with them in their late Regatta. More especially Mr. John Mander, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jos. and Mr. Geo. Jones, who sent wreaths and flowers to adorn the caisson of their dear mother, and...

House of Assembly.

FRIDAY, July 29.
NOTICE OF MOTION.
Mr. Walsh.—To ask leave to introduce a Bill to regulate the cold storage of fish.
NOTICE OF QUESTION.
Mr. M. P. Cashin.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Finance and Customs, what steps, if any, have been taken to meet the bonds for duty owed to the House on account of the fiscal year 1920-21, and what has been the result of such action; if any amounts have been paid and if so what is their total and what is the total of the amounts still unpaid on account of the fiscal year, and what is the prospect of securing any payment on account of them, and also to supply similar information with regard to amounts on account of the fiscal year 1920-21.
Mr. M. P. Cashin.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Education if the salaries of school teachers are to be reduced in the same proportion as those of public officials according to the Government's scheme recently submitted to this House, and if so to state what will be the total amount of the same.
Mr. M. P. Cashin.—To ask Hon. the Minister, in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Finance and Customs, if the duty on six motor cars imported into this country some months ago without payment of duty has since been paid, and if not what is the reason such payment is not being enforced.

Mr. Fox.—To ask Hon. the Colonial Secretary to lay on the table of the House statements showing (1) number of men in Winterton District of Trinity obtaining poor relief from 1919 to date, (2) who supplied these men and what amount has been paid the parties supplying this Poor Relief, (3) the number of men receiving Old Age Pensions in Winterton aforesaid from 1919 to date, (4) what salary is paid the Poor Commissioner at Winterton and what amount by way of Commission has been paid him in connection with the distribution of Poor Relief as above.
Mr. Moore.—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture and Mines, if it is correct that milk from the Government's Model Farm in the West End is being sold in the city in competition with milk supplied by ordinary farmers, and if so why is the milk being sold instead of being supplied to public institutions; and if not what becomes of the milk at this stock farm.
Mr. Moore.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Public Works if the lumber required for building bridges and for other work in connection with the construction of the new roads from Badger to Notre Dame Bay and from Deer Lake to Bonne Bay, is being supplied by or through Mr. E. Collishaw, and if so is this the result of seeking tenders for the same or has the order been given to him without competition, and if so why; and if not from whom is the lumber being obtained.

Prices and Conditions.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I saw a letter in your paper on the Labor Situation, signed by Economist, in which he gives the prices of cotton, wool, grain, sugar, molasses and other things compared with last year, and also goes on to say that things in Newfoundland have declined in price. Allow me space in your valuable paper to give you the facts on this coast from Port Saunders to Cape Gregory. First, there is just one quarter the voyage caught that was last year at this time. Then we could get a barrel of flour for 3 qts. of fish; this year we have to give 4 qts. Last year we could get a barrel of flour for one case of Lobsters; this year we have to give 1 1/2 cases Lobsters. Last year we could get a gallon of Gasoline for a gallon of Codoli; this year we got to give 2 gallons. Creamery Butter is selling from 40 to 60c.; Butter from 80 to 11c.; Rope 55c.; Cotton Twine 85c.; Beef 40c.; Pork 50c.; Salt 85c.; Rubber Boots 10.00 to 12.00; Calico 40 to 60c. per yard; Woolen Underwear 85.00 to 120.00 per suit; Woolen Stockings 1.00 to 1.75 and other things the same. Everything you sell you have to take goods for, and you cannot get 1.00 cash for anything. Labor and wages have gone down 40%. Taxation has advanced 50%. Labor of all kinds is scarce and nothing seems ahead of the people on this coast but starvation. The outlook is worse than it has been this last 40 years, yet there is unaided wealth in Newfoundland, if properly developed.
Thanking you for space, I remain,
Yours truly,
CONFEDERATE.

Class II.—Silver Medals for excellence in Repeating Style: Miss Annie H. Harbour, Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, St. John's; Miss Veronica Gillis, St. Michael's Academy, St. George's; Miss Winnie Noel, Presentation Convent, Harbor Grace.

Favors Road Building.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Please allow me space to make a few remarks in connection with the letter that was written July 8 by "One Disgusted." Of course I appreciate his remarks to a certain extent, I admit that in many instances the Government are doing many outrages and most criminal things as regards the welfare of the tradesmen who are supporting them and keeping as it were their heads above water. But re road building, I have nothing to say about the Notre Dame Bay branch, as it does not concern me, but the Bonne Bay branch is badly needed and the "One Disgusted" who wrote that letter, if he had to walk from Deer Lake to Bonne Bay he would then have something to be disgusted about. He referred to money being spent where there was no need of it, and not spent where it was needed. Yes, disgusted that may be so to your view of the matter. But I would like to know where money is spent to-day in Newfoundland where it is not needed. I assure Mr. Disgusted it's needed in the District of St. Barbe at the present time a hundred per cent more than in the city of St. John's. Just fancy men having nothing but flour to eat at this time of the season. What on earth will these people do when the cold stormy weather of the Gulf of St. Lawrence sets in and the icebergs come floating along its shores, if they are not given employment by the Government on road building or work from some other source. And if Mr. Disgusted had to go fishing with only a bit of flour to eat and no molasses or anything else with it, he wouldn't say then it would be better for the money to be spent in the city of St. John's. There are certain portions of St. Barbe District that haven't received one paltry cent from the Government since they have been in power. What do you think of that? Ain't money needed there to repair the roads and bridges, and I say let the Government build the road from Deer Lake to Bonne Bay, and what's more they should build a railway there and not only from Deer Lake and Bonne Bay, but one extending from Deer Lake to Flower's Cove, and until that is done St. Barbe District will not prosper. The Government of the country to-day are starving people by putting on those extra taxes, and what more can they do than to give employment for those in need. A road from Deer Lake to Bonne Bay would be a blessing to St. Barbe District. Men could travel from Bonne Bay to Deer Lake, where they could connect with the railway and thus seek employment, and in lots of cases could have a weeks wages earned while they are awaiting the steamers to arrive from Battle Harbour to crary them there. The next question about it is this, the fishermen of this country are toiling night and day to try and support their families, and out of every dollar they earn in lots of cases, the Government takes it. Now how, on earth can people live unless the Government in return puts the money so as the people can re-earn it again.

Thanking you for space, I am,
Yours truly,

ADVICE AND AID.
I met him on the highway and his plight was sad to see, His clothes were stained and dusty and as shabby as could be; Says he: "I need assistance and I'm asking it from you." To which I gibbly answered: "Friend, I'll tell you what to do."

Running true to common custom, I began to work my chin, Saying: "Pull yourself together and some day you'll surely win, I'd a job and work your hardest, you can conquer if you will." "Mister, get me, I am ill."

"I am sick and I am weary and I haven't got the price Of the cheapest sort of dinner, I'm not hungry for advice, And right now your sermon's wasted; although I love your creed, It's not advice I'm after, it's a little help I need."

Now that fellow's got me thinking, He's been in my mind all day, I can see his gloomy figure slowly trudging down the way, But I learned from him this lesson, which I'd never thought about— Better far than words of wisdom is to help a fellow out.

Boxing Made Easy.

All About the Different Blows. The boxer's two most vulnerable spots are the "point" and the "mark." The "point" is situated in the crook of the angle formed by jaw-bone and chin. When a blow of even moderate force lands fairly and squarely on the "point" the boxer, no matter how powerful he may be, falls to the ground unconscious. This is the "knock-out" or "k.o."; also known as the "slumber punch."

This blow is not in itself dangerous. Usually the victim falls or sinks forward, but sometimes he goes down on his back, and hitting the floor with the back of his head, sustains concussion. Apart from this complication, however, the boxer's sojourn in "dreamland" is brief—about a minute—and there are no evil after-effects.

The "mark" is the pit of the stomach, which schoolboys call the "wind," and medical men the "solar plexus." A boxer may be "knocked out," that is, unable to rise within ten seconds of going down, by a blow on the "mark" but the effect is entirely different from the "point" k.o. The latter produces temporary oblivion and paralysis of the brain, the former causes temporary paralysis of the body, the boxer remaining perfectly conscious, but unable to control his limbs, particularly his legs.

Bob Fitzsimmons made the "solar plexus" punch famous, though it was nothing new, when, with it, he unexpectedly knocked out James J. Corbett for the World's Championship. Though painful, the "solar plexus" punch is not dangerous, nor does it leave after-effects.

The two really dangerous blows in boxing are the kidney and "occipital" punches. Under National Sporting Club rules both these blows are now foul and entail disqualification. At no time did either count for "points," which are awarded only for clean hits on the front or sides of the head, face or body. The "kidney punch," i.e., blow over the kidneys in the "small" of the back, was barred because though producing little visible injury at the time it often had most serious after-consequences. The "occipital" or "rabbit-killing" punch was the speciality of that tough American pugilist "Gunboat" Smith, and is a chopping blow on the base of an opponent's neck. It is dangerous because it may cause a fracture of the base of the skull or spinal column and death.

Stafford's Prescription "A" will cure that uncomfortable feeling caused by indigestion and Dyspepsia. Price 35 and 70c. Postage 10 and 20c. extra.—3522

Scrapping the Dreadnought.

(New York Herald.)
Sixteen years after her keel was laid for the British warship Dreadnought was sold for scrap. From her turrets a gun was never fired at an enemy; she defeated every capital ship which existed when she was launched. Her was not glory such as the Confederate ironclad Virginia—the old United States frigate Merrimac—won when, unharned by the fire of Federal ships, she smashed the frigate Congress and the sloop of war Cumberland on March 8, 1862, under the guns of the batteries whose solid shot rolled down her like hail from a tin roof; it was not given to her to demonstrate her power as the Monitor—Yankee's iron-clad box on a raft—demonstrated the genius of Ericsson when, commanding the epoch-making fighting vessel that great engineer designed, she and C. F. S. Bushnell, John A. Griswold, and John F. Winslow had built a sceptical and reluctant navy. She arrived at Hampton Roads to find wooden walls from railroad iron sloping sides. Yet the Dreadnought, those dramatic incidents were not to be duplicated in her career, and though she was a development, not an innovation rendered obsolete every first the fighting ship designed before she appeared.

She cost a hundred pounds sterling a ton, and sells for $2 10c. a ton, but to the British Empire she was worth the money. Yet as she is broken up, her design is already obsolete after half a generation as men count time. When she was laid down the airplane was a toy. The dirigible was an interesting experiment. The submarine was in the experimental stage, sticking close to its base, an instrument of coast defense, perhaps. Coal was the fuel of the navies, oil a problematical adjunct to propulsion. Electricity was used, but within limitations that cause marine architects of to-day to wonder at the progress their art has made. Indirect fire as it has been developed since 1906 may fairly be called a new department in naval gunnery. Torpedo control was crude in the days when the Dreadnought was an infant. As we bid farewell to the Dreadnought the masters of war on the great waters are at odds over the instruments and the technique of the future. The boldest of them is a little shaky in his most firmly based opinions. Perhaps a whole age of naval history is written in the career of the Dreadnought.

Young Men and Young Women--

Readily you have completed your school course and are now ready to gain for a world-wide position in the business world. We own and operate a chain of business colleges extending from Sydney to Vancouver, our wide experience thus enables us to give a service that cannot be surpassed.

Mainly About People.

There is a St. Napoleon in the Church Calendar, not the Emperor, but "an obscure Alexandrian martyr, whose real name was Neopolus." Sir William H. Bragg suggests that one day coal may become as "old-fashioned" as windmills. He believes that when we can harness the amazing energy of atoms all our future needs will be supplied. Sir William is the distinguished Professor of Physics at the University of London. Next to science, he loves golf. M. Edmond Dulac, the famous illustrator of Christmas books, declares that "as things are, the artist—painter, sculptor, writer, or musician—is the only member of the community who pays tax, not on his income, but actually on his capital, who is allowed nothing for wear and tear of machinery, and is inadequately compensated for the expenses of his trade."

fell has carried on for years among the people of Labrador, an missionary and medical man. Only last autumn he wrote his story of it all in "A Labrador Doctor," a book which had a wide sale. To the history it gave there will now be a footnote, in a volume which Mrs. Grenfell and another lady have written. So far north that it was always bitterly cold, they spent a year ministering to the young children of the inhospitable region and the inhospitable climate; and, out of this, they have much human anecdotes to relate.

The Love of Adventure.

(From the New York Tribune.) None can so well appreciate the extraordinary hardihood of the first immigrants who came to this country in the early 1800s as those who have dared the ocean in a small sailing vessel. Last year an adventurous seaman crossed the Atlantic in a fifteen-ton ketch. And now news has just come of the arrival at Cowes of the twenty-ton schooner Diablosse, of New York. John B. Kelly, owner, with his wife and two "hands" on board, one of whom is a hero in Greenwich Village. There is nothing particularly hazardous in such a trip. Old Captain Bloom sailed alone in his sloop through the seven seas. The Spray was known on the Amazon, the Mediterranean and the Pacific, until one day the captain sailed away and was never seen again. It was only a little sloop, such as few would care to sail into the ocean. Others, too, have ventured in small boats to Europe and to the South Sea Islands. But whether the hazard be large or small, these adventures are few in number and stout of heart. It takes a certain amount of spirit to cruise from New York to Maine in a 90-foot schooner. And to adventure across the ocean in such a ship, facing the possibilities of two months or more on a restless sea, with the danger of a mast carrying away and drifting helpless for long days, requires courage. The very prospect of a never changing horizon where the sea meets the sky, the monotony of the rise and fall as the swell rolls by, the snapping of the whitecaps lighting up the gray, green and blue of the ocean and sky are enough to make such a voyage a trial to the impatience of the modern American. And yet that was the fate of our ancestors who left their homes for the land of the great unknown. Their boats were larger than the schooner Diablosse, but their speed was, if anything, less. Nor had they canned foods and modern means of storing water. Their accommodations were primitive, their discomforts unrelaxing. But their spirit brought them through. They possessed the fearlessness of the pioneer which was one of their great gifts to this nation. The love of adventure still lives and thousands who possess it but are tied down by the business of making a living will follow with keen interest the further story of the Diablosse. What a cruise!

ANDERSON'S, Water Street St. John's

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WE ALL WANT TO WORK. "Don't you wish our fathers had left us a million and we didn't have to work?" queried the Author. "The other day as each of us girded up our energies to get back to our daily work after a vacation (there are times when I think I will never take another vacation because of the effort it takes to get back to work)." "But then," he added, before I had time to answer, "we should probably want to work."

What Is Woman's Best Age? Women themselves probably are under the delusion that their best age is something under 25 and something over 18. At any rate, they are supposed to resent all birthdays after 30, and are occasionally charged with working backwards and growing older in looks and younger in years.
