

GRAVE SITUATION IN EUROPE.

EMPEROR WILLIAM TELLS THE POPE HE WILL MAKE WAR.
He claims that France is a danger to European monarchies and does not accept the situation brought about by the events of 1870 - The Pope pleads for peace.

New York, May 28. - "Jacques St. Care" cables from Paris to The Herald: The European situation continues to be dominated by German politics, and the efforts made by the Emperor of Germany show how grave the conditions are. Many other indications increase the impression, especially in Catholic diplomacy. The different nuncios of the Pope are all restless, as if some hint of restlessness came from Rome.

William Says War is Inevitable.
The nuncios relate that the Emperor William told the Pope that he was determined to make war, as France was a danger to European monarchies. It does not accept the situation brought about by the events of 1870. Therefore war is inevitable, consequently it would be better to make war now in order to seek to diminish as rapidly as possible the burdens weighing upon the people.

The Pope's Tears of No Avail.
The Pope, in relating the interview, is said to have remarked: "I pleaded with him. I wept with him. I have not convinced him."
One proof of the truth of these reports is that since the interview with the Emperor the Pope has a mass said daily to turn away threatening evils.

Another political crisis is the ever-increasing friction between France and England. Every question between the two countries takes on a bitter aspect, especially in colonial affairs in Madagascar and elsewhere. France has a great deal to bother her just now. Since the war proved that the natives receive ammunition and arms through the intermediary of England it will readily be understood that the French Government is not very well satisfied with such proceedings which are habitual in Madagascar.

Austria Will Increase Her Army.

His Life Story in His Pocket.
He Left Montreal Thinking He was Looked Upon as a Murderer.
New York, May 28. - The body of a well-dressed man about 40 years old was found in the North River at the foot of Wednesday and taken to the Morgue. A large roll of manuscript, illegible because of its water-damaged condition, was found on the body. The writing was in pencil and was signed by F. W. Terry, which is supposed to be the name of the man. The manuscript after being dried, a page by page could be read yesterday.

Another Political Party.
A Convention to Be Held of Those Favoring Canada's Independence.
Windsor, May 28. - Alexander Lange is authority for the statement that those who favor independence for Canada will hold a convention in a couple of weeks and nominate candidates for both the Dominion and Local Houses.

THE COST OF ENGLISH ROYALTY.

Dr. Wild Makes Out That Victoria Pays for the Privilege of Reigning as Queen.
About 1000 members of the eastern section of the S.O.E.R.S. and St. George's Society assembled at Shaftesbury Hall yesterday afternoon. Each man wore a button-hole bouquet of imposing dimensions. The occasion was the annual church parade of the eastern section.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Wild, who took his text from Galatians, v. 16. "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially them who are of the household of faith." Dr. Wild spoke of the great cost being done to the S.O.E.R.S. as a society and cited many instances of their kindly work. He referred to the loyalty of Englishmen to their Queen and country. Taking up the subject of royalty, he showed by plain facts and figures that the government of England was the most expensive in the world. The Doctor said that the second act passed by the Majesty's reign was that which settled her income at $1,425,000 per year. In return for this the Queen yielded up to the state the crown lands and her own personal property for the remainder of her life, and the state became administrator. The income from the estates which she conceded has gradually increased until in 1877 it amounted to $2,500,000. In 1880-1, owing to the severe agricultural depression, the income was $2,000,000. Out of the total of $1,250,000 the Queen has control of $200,000 yearly income. For instance, the Doctor then spoke of the expenditure of $200,000 per year received by Victoria, who had no independent property of her own, part of which was the Duchy of Cornwall and the Duchy of Lancaster. These lands to the Government, and the revenue derived from them has more than paid the Queen's expenses. For instance, in one year the revenue was $330,000, a gain to the country of $130,000. The Queen's income in 1882-3 was $2,000,000. The Queen's income in 1882-3 was $2,000,000. The Queen's income in 1882-3 was $2,000,000.

The chief constable of Toronto wired that Pike was wanted, and an officer is now on the way with the necessary papers. Pike is a work but is well dressed and is thought to have a large amount of money in his possession.

A WORTHLESS FATHER.
His Criminal Neglect Causes the Death of His Two Children.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 28. - John Simpson, a family in a house on the outskirts of the city, was capable of earning considerable money his family, but he neglected his duties as a father and soon afterwards Mrs. Simpson was called in. A local physician, Dr. Sooy, examined the children and found them moribund as one of the ingredients, giving particular orders that it should be kept out of the children's system.

Wednesday last the father went out and did not return during the day, leaving his wife lying on the floor, one of the children serving as a bed and unable to move. The children became thirsty and, after crawling in vain for drink, expired the morning of the day. THE COMING ROYAL MARRIAGE.

WHY NO GRANT WILL BE ASKED FROM PARLIAMENT.
A Royal Marriage Without a State Appropriation Unprecedented in English History - The Princess May Celebrates Her 23rd Birthday - Mrs. William Astor to Give a Reception.

LONDON, May 28. - Princess May of Teck celebrated the 23rd anniversary of her birth yesterday. The White Lodge at Richmond Park was gayly decorated. The Duke of York passed the day at the lodge. He will be married in naval uniform as befits his character of Gallio Prince.

As soon as the Princess is married she will, in accordance with the Queen's desire, be known as Princess Victoria, Duchess of York.

Mr. Gladstone announces that the Government does not intend to ask Parliament to make a grant of money for the bride and groom. A wedding in the reigning family is not a public event and is not to be considered in English history. It is another instance of the royal prerogative which is not to be interfered with.

If this sum is divided according to precedent, namely, £25,000 a year to each of the granddaughters of the Queen, the young couple will have £125,000 a year to begin with. Mr. William Waldorf Astor will give a reception in honor of the Princess May on June 22. Other members of the royal family will be present.

One died yesterday morning and the rest, who are very low, have been removed to an adjacent vacant house, which has been converted into an isolation hospital for the occasion.

JILTED THE ENGLISHMAN.

Miss Culbertson Leaves Her Home With Her Servants to Avoid Marriage With Captain McKay.

CHICAGO, May 28. - Miss Blanche W. Culbertson, accepted among her friends at the instance of a captain in the British army, left her home at No. 504 Division-street on Wednesday at midnight with another sweetheart, leaving behind her the now irate and almost distracted mother of the British army officer, who had come to this city to be present at the marriage of her son to the American heiress.

After her flight from her home Miss Culbertson called on her English suitor, who intended to marry her, but she would not be married to him. She had a long and bitter quarrel with her mother, and last night packed her luggage and left for the shores of England.

The triumphant avenger in the case of her son, Dr. George F. Leigh French, son of Dr. George F. French of Minneapolis, Minn., a case student in the medical department of the University of Minnesota. The avenger is now in Captain Donald McKay of Her Majesty's troops stationed in Portsmouth, England.

Miss Culbertson is the youngest daughter of the late multimillionaire W. S. Culbertson, who was killed in the Chicago fire. She is a beautiful and accomplished young woman. More than one year ago Miss Culbertson went to Minneapolis to visit a married sister, Mrs. F. H. Sample. While there she met young French, and he began paying attention to Miss Culbertson, and some months later he proposed and she accepted.

After her father's death Miss Culbertson went to Europe and traveled until the first of this year. While abroad she met Captain McKay. He became enamored of her, and soon proposed a marriage. Miss Culbertson positively declared that she did not intend to marry him, and that she never even considered him as a prospective suitor.

By the articles of the marriage contract, a son was to be given $5000 a year, and then $500,000 to be converted into real estate in case she did not marry against the consent of the executors of his will.

ATTACKED THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
The Presbyterian Assembly Did Not Conclude With His View.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28. - The trial of the Rev. J. H. Foster, a member of the General Assembly, on the appeal from the Presbytery of New York, which was expected to begin today, has been postponed. The leading feature of the session was a bitter attack by Rev. A. N. Holman, a member of the Episcopalian Church, on the Episcopalian Church, which was supported by Rev. Charles M. Booth of New York. The Episcopalian Church was accused of being a tool of the British Government.

THE LORDS AND HOME RULE.

ABOLITION OF PEERS NOT CONTINGENT ON THE BILL'S REJECTION.
Lord Salisbury in His Ulster Speeches Says the Irish Bill Cannot Be Carried Through the Lords Without Dissolution - No Process for Abolition of the Upper House Yet Devised.

New York, May 28. - George W. Smalley cables from London to The Tribune: Lord Salisbury's visit to Ulster has displeased and disappointed the Gladstonians. They expected him to be indelicate, violent, and he has been neither. They have said before now that he had incited Ulster to rebel, a statement which it will be time enough to notice when the evidence for it is produced. Now, that he does not frame his address to please them or to supply them with material for attacks, they allege that he has nothing to say. This is a statement more than one point to deserve their best consideration.

House of Lords Troubling Gladstonians.
The Gladstonians, who have been anxious to the good Gladstonians is the House of Lords. Home Rulers with a practical turn of mind had always asked themselves and have sometimes asked their leader: "How is the Home Rule bill to be carried through the House of Lords without a dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the country?"

It cannot be carried otherwise, answered Lord Salisbury, not for the Gladstonians. "Overthrow the Lords."
This answer was followed by the retort: "Then we shall agitate the country for the overthrow of the House of Lords." To this Lord Salisbury contented himself by quoting President Lincoln: "You cannot sweep away houses when crossing a stream."

No Known Process For Its Accomplishment.
The abolition or coercion of the House of Lords is often talked of, but no one has yet suggested how any other process can be accomplished. When the question is seriously raised it will hardly be as a rider to some other question. It will fall to the whole energy and undivided attention of all the Radicals in the kingdom.

The Lords and the Reform Bill.
They are fond of referring to the Reform bill of 1832 and to the surrender of the Lords on that great question. True, says Lord Salisbury, the Reform bill was passed and was forced to give way. But why? Because they then got themselves into a position where they had no choice but to give way. The people ardently desired reform and they got it.

The Will of the People.
The will of the people prevailed then and will prevail now. But does anybody pretend that the English people are not the majority of 71 members to the present House of Commons? The House of Lords is not the will of the English people. They represent the aristocracy. They represent the landed interest. They represent the interests of the few against the interests of the many.

Salisbury in Ulster.
Deputations Express Their Appreciation of His Work in the Irish Question.
LONDON, May 28. - Lord Salisbury received yesterday a number of deputations from the Irish people, who expressed their appreciation of his lordship's services to the Irish cause.

Salisbury's Return to England on Tuesday.
The question of the Geary law was then asked as a special order and discussed until midnight. The House adjourned on Tuesday. The arrangements for the annual parade of the volunteers who served during the Fenian excitement of 1886 are completed. The veterans will assemble at the old Coliseum on Saturday morning. The parade will be at 2 p. m. The Army and Navy Veterans' Band has been engaged for the occasion. The parade will be on the grounds. The senior drill corps of the British Army will be present. The parade will be a grand affair.

The Toronto World

NO. 1 YONGE STREET, TORONTO. A One Cent Morning Paper.

The World passes to term in aid help Mr. Meredith to turn out Sir Oliver Mowat.

But in order to attain that end we desire first of all to arrive at an understanding with Mr. Meredith.

Next we would suggest that Mr. Meredith make more of a fight of it, that he be more aggressive, that he give less quarter, that he hit as hard as he is able, and as near to the belt as he can get.

Most of all Mr. Meredith get out a mining and metal-producing policy. That is what people want.

It might be well to point out to the enthusiastic citizens who are advising the expenditure of millions of dollars to tunnel the water of Georgian Bay to this city for drinking purposes, that that water already finds its way through natural channels.

It is to be remembered that such vacant land embraced in the great stretch, six or seven miles of the street, which we have named the "Venomous" is between seven and eight miles in length.
