Successful Carnival

The best carnival for some time, possibly the best ever held in Watford, was the one on Tuesday night in Fowler's Rink, when over sixty skaters appeared in costume. The rink, also, was in gala attire, being neatly decorated with flags and bunting. The Watford Concert Band was present and from the new instruments came some pleasing music. The grand march was a great feature, the fine music, attractive costumes and good skating making a pleasing picture. Col. Kenward was in command and everything went through smoothly. It would take too much space to describe the costumes. They were many and varied, and the cones, as usual, took a prominent part. Following are the prize winners:
Ladies' costume—Miss Smith "Roman costume," Miss Craig, "Queen of Roses."
Girls' costume—Louise Dodds "Flower Girl," Jean Fitzgerald and Winnifred Swift "Irish Lassies."
Men's costume—Swift & McDonald, "The Coons," C. Luckham "Soldier," R. McCormick "Old Man," and M. James equal.

The social gathering held at the home of Mr. David Falloun, on Tuesday evening, was highly enjoyed by all those present. The program which consisted mostly of sacred numbers, was very edifying and uplifting, and the supper all that could be desired. The male trio from Bethel, rendered some very excellent numbers, while Mr. Frank Sherck, of Uttoxeter, very pleasingly entertained with his violin. Miss Beacom and Miss Mellor gave some splendid piano selections, and recitations were given by Mr. Thomas Morris, Rev. H. F. Kennedy and Master Walter Morris. Mr. Philip Reynolds and Mrs. H. F. Kennedy's solos were very heartily received. Mr. J. H. Humphries made a speech that was highly appreciated. He spoke on the "Uplifting of Character" and the elements that entered into it, which were physical, mental, social and spiritual, on the latter of which the emphasis must be placed. Mr. Wm. Beacom moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Falloun for entertaining the people so loyally and hospitably in their home. This motion was seconded by Mr. P. Reynolds and unanimously carried. In a few words Mr. Falloun accepted the expression of thanks with a grateful heart and said it was a pleasure to them to open their home to a social gathering of his friends. The pastor referred to Mr. Falloun as being a splendid neighbor, an ardent church worker and every inch a man, also to Mrs. Falloun as a woman very zealous and devoted to the cause of God. After a few entertaining selections on phonograph by Mr. Orval Richardson, a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

Hammond, Ont. — "I am passing through the Change of Life and for two years had hot flushes very bad, headaches, soreness in the back of head, was constipated, and had weak, nervous feelings. New Brunswick, Canada. — "I can highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any suffering woman. I have taken it for female weakness and painful menstruation and it cured me." — Mrs. DEVERE BARBOUR, Harvey Bank, New Brunswick, Canada.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

A word to the boys and girls:—Judge Denton of the Juvenile Court of the City of Brooklyn, while sentencing a boy of 13 years some days ago, remarked thus:—"I've been five years in this court. In that time I've passed on 2700 children, and I've not had to pass sentence on a boy that attended Sunday school. My dear boy, had you attended Sabbath school I've no doubt you'd not been here."

Hon. R. A. Pyne, Minister of Education, has issued a statement, the effect of which is that until the end of the current school year at least, no changes will be made in the regulations affecting bilingual schools. He said: "I have informed the inspectors of the English-French schools that at the close of the school year the Government will consider any suggestions they desire to make, with a view to improving the efficiency of these schools. The inspectors have been instructed that the regulations now in force are to be carried out in every respect."

The W. C. T. U. of the province, in connection with other bodies, read Every Woman is interested and should know about the wonderful MARVEL Whirling Spray. The new Vaginal Syringe, Best Most convenient. It cleanses thoroughly. Ask your druggist for it.

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are troubling it, she can procure no better remedy than Miller's Worm Powders, which are guaranteed to totally expel worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

izing the great need of providing for the families of criminals, and also that the criminals themselves need something to help them to lead a better life after their release from prison, are petitioning the Minister of Justice of Canada that at the present session of parliament such regulations will be introduced and adopted as will provide for the personal remuneration for the labor of all prisoners and that such remuneration be divided between the support of the prisoners' family and a savings fund to be given to the prisoner on his release. The petition was largely signed.

Country life has its drawbacks, but it has its great advantages which overcome them. True, those who live in the country are "rubes" and "farmers" and "hayseeds" to the cigarette smokers in town, but the boast of the business men in the world to-day is that they were born on the farm. Take away the surrounding evils that beset the young men or woman on the threshold of life's journey in the city, and substitute the helpful influences of nature, and you fortify them for the sterner walks of life.

When a man dies we notice that many people have so many good things to say for him, and perform in an ostentatious manner many kind acts. His former competitors in business attend the funeral and perform many kind offices for the dead when he is fairly out of the way. Now, if these kind words were said when he was alive and pulling hard against the stream, he would have appreciated it more. We have noticed at funerals men, who a few days or weeks before could not find words mean enough to use against the poor man in his coffin. You might just as well stay away. The kindly offices after death are not appreciated by the man in the box, and the people at the funeral only smile in their sleeves and size you up. Give your good works when they are needed. Do your good works when they will do good. Do not throw on the gauze of sympathy at the funeral, as everyone can see through it.

Feed the Soil

Germany is a hundred per cent. better in wheat and sixty per cent. better in oats than the United States, and England is one hundred and thirty-five per cent. better in wheat and fifty per cent. better in oats than the United States. This is not due to any intrinsic superiority in the quality of land in the European countries but is due to a wise appreciation of the truth, forced upon the Europeans by experience, that every crop despoils the soil and takes out of it some food element which must be returned to it if agriculture is to be successfully followed.

In this soil conservation a very important factor has been extensive consumption of Chilean nitrate, which Europe has freely accepted, now taking over one million tons per annum in an acreage, outside of Russia, which is smaller than is under cultivation in the United States, which takes less than 300,000 tons per annum for agricultural purposes.

The discrepancy is still greater when it is considered that continued care in soil feeding by European farmers makes their need far less than here.—Journal of Commerce.

Brave Charles V

Great bravery and tenderness often go close together. The good man is brave and kind and considerate, the hypocrite craven and cruel. Charles V. of Germany, was an able and virtuous King. He could face any danger, but had the heart of a little child. One day in camp he was told that a swallow was building her nest upon his tent. He gave orders that it should not be disturbed. So the pretty nest, with its dainty, soft lining, was finished, and soon the mother bird was sitting on her pearly white eggs.

But before the young birds were hatched, the army had to break camp. The tents were all struck except the Emperor's. He said: "Let it stand. I can get another shelter but she cannot for her brood. She trusted me for a home, I will not fail her." Surely the bravest are the tenderest.

Stick to Your Last

Tackle what you know. Stick to what you can do well. Nine times out of ten success comes to the shoemaker who sticks to the last. There are people who are everlastingly changing jobs and they wonder why they don't get on. Find the place you fit, go at it with a will and you will move things. There are preachers who ought to be shoemakers and shoemakers who ought to be preachers; there are doctors who ought to be blacksmiths, and there are blacksmiths who ought to make a success at the healing art. Are you at home at your work? Does the yoke fit you, or does it gall and fret you? "As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his place." The great thing is to be at home at what you are driving at, but at the same time don't be rolling a stone. Do your best at your present job and that will fit you better for what may turn up that may prove more to your liking.

Only Common People

The tradition of blue blood dies hard even on democratic soil and in a democratic age. It is hard to realize that beneath kingly robes or president's garments there dwells nothing but common man. And it is still harder to realize that under the uncouth garb of the unlettered immigrant there breathes a humanity which is of equal value in the Father's sight to ours. We have the same joys and the same trials; we have the same warm love and the same hot hate; the same sins and the same sorrows; and to all the same gospel comes with the same mighty uplift, and the same glorious revelation. One humanity, one Redeemer, one final home.—Christian Guardian.

Does Money Buy Comfort?

The great aim of the mass of mankind is to get enough money ahead to make him "comfortable" and yet a moment's reflection will convince us that money will never purchase comfort, only the means of it. A man may be comfortable without a dollar. But to be so, one must have the right disposition, that is a heart and head in the right place. There are some persons who are lively and good natured, cheerful, kind and forbearing in a state of poverty, which leans upon the toil of to-day for to-night's supper and to-morrow's breakfast. Such a disposition would exhibit the same living qualities in a palace or on a throne.

Every day we meet persons who, in their families are cross and ill-natured, dissatisfied, finding fault with everybody and everything, whose first greeting in the breakfast room is a complaint, whose conversation seldom fails to end in an enumeration of difficulties and hardships, whose last word at night is an angry growl. If you can get such a person to reason on the subject they will acknowledge that there is some "want" at the bottom of it—the want of a better house, a finer dress, more handsome equipage, a more dutiful child, a more provident husband, a more cleanly or sympathetic or domestic wife.

Odds and Ends

Some folks are lucky not to be paid for what they know.

Those who weigh their words do not always speak with weight.

Why suffer from corn when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's corn cure.

The woman who despises matrimony usually does not speak from experience.

A real unselfish man is one who gets busy moving things out of the way of the one who is rapidly getting to the front.

The man who uses other people's money is in as much danger as the idiot who rocks the boat.

Give a poor sucker the benefit of the doubt; he is being kicked and cuffed enough by others.

The greatest results in life are usually attained by simple means and by the exercise of ordinary qualities.

An aim in life is the only fortune worth the finding, and it is not to be found in foreign lands, but in the heart itself.

The joke about the men and the women who can't get married is worked about as much as the one about the mother of the girl who does get married.

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, the best remedy of the kind that can be had.

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not — that we could not afford to — go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made — the most pleasant to take, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also — if you are not entirely satisfied with them — we will refund your money — and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fail in properly doing their work — just let their action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system and every other organ suffers. Wastes that should have been expelled remain to poison the system.

Headaches, biliousness, nervousness and other tormenting and serious ills are common when the bowels fail to act daily as nature intended. All this may be avoided, if you will accept our advice.

Rexall Orderlies

taste just like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles. They promptly relieve constipation, and help to permanently overcome it.

Rexall Orderlies promote better spirits and better health. In all of these things they are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, aged and delicate persons.

Rexall Orderlies come in vest-pocket tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10¢; 36 tablets, 25¢; 80 tablets, 50¢.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores.

Comparing Dairy Cows

A few days ago Mr. Whitley, of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa made some statements that are worthy of special note by all Ontario farmers who keep dairy cows. Mr. Whitley and his staff gathered some statistics last year which he rightly characterizes as "amazing." The aggregate performance of the best 300 cows reported in the Province of Ontario was contrasted with that of the worst 300. The average cost of keeping the first class was $40 per head, while the average cost of the other 300 was only $33. But the "best" cows brought in a revenue of $104 each, while the worst brought in a revenue of $33.33 per head; i.e. the best 300 averaged a net gain of $64, while the worst 300 averaged a net gain of only 33 cents per head for the year.

This is surely "amazing" information. Ontario has now about 1,250,000 milk cows. If they were all of the "best" variety they would bring in a net yearly revenue of $50,000,000, while if they were all of the "worst" they would yield a net yearly revenue of only $41,666. And the labor of feeding, milking, etc., is just about the same for the worst as for the best. Evidently it takes more than muscle and industry to farm successfully in these days. Probably less toil and more thought would add millions to the agricultural revenue even of this one province.

Somehow it seems as if things never turn out as bad as we wish.

The things you did yesterday do not relieve you of your duties of today any more than the things you plan to do to-morrow.

Those who oppose kissing the strongest on the grounds that disease germs are spread that way, probably wouldn't object very seriously to a little inoculation by osmulation.

ASTHMA VICTIMS. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

CONCRETE watering-troughs and feeding-floors help to keep your live-stock healthy.

HORSES and cattle watered from a concrete trough are less likely to contract disease. Concrete is sanitary, easily cleaned — does not rot or leak. Once built, a concrete watering-trough will last forever. You need never waste time "patching it up." Like all concrete improvements, its first cost is its final cost.

MANY diseases of hogs are directly due to feeding from the filthy, unwholesome mud of the barn-yard. This manner of feeding is also wasteful, because the grain is trampled into the ground, in such a condition that not even a hog will eat it. Concrete feeding-floors, with concrete swill-troughs are clean, sanitary. They keep hogs in better health and save feed.

WATERING-TROUGHS and feeding-floors are only two of scores of valuable, every-day improvements that may be made of concrete. All are fully described in our 160-page, illustrated book, sent free to any farmer upon request. This book has shown thousands of Canadian farmers how to make their farms more profitable. In asking for it, you do not place yourself under the slightest obligation to buy cement, or to do anything else for us. Simply ask for the book, by letter or post card, and it will be mailed at once. Address, of crimson silk and gold twist, then a buff collar over which he put his arms, very finely gilt."

"WHAT THE FARMER CAN DO WITH CONCRETE"

He was at that time wearing gray and white "in honor of a fair lady to whom he was a servant when he had leisure." So he put on a hat of gray silk with a gray silver hatband and a plume of heron's feathers set with silver spangles.

He also put on a short cassock of gray velvet garnished with "little plates of silver at two fingers' distance from one another and lined with cloth of silver, all open between the plates."

Then he "rubbed his face with Greek wine till he brought a little color into his cheeks and drank a small draught with a little bit of bread."

"He then looked at himself in the glass, strutted before his officers, though he had not the strength to kill a chicken, and rode through the town to the great comfort of all beholders."

Two Poor Ones.

During one of Edwin Forrest's engagements in Boston a poor artist called several times to see the great actor at the old Winthrop House. Each time he brought a picture which he had painted. He finally left it with a note stating that he was in needy circumstances. Forrest read the note and took the wrapping from the picture. It proved to be a painting of himself as Spartacus. Forrest gazed upon it a moment and then ejaculated to the clerk: "Give him $10. If he is as poor as his picture he must be on the point of starvation."

The Two Garricks.

George Garrick, brother of the celebrated David, was the latter's most devoted slave and laborious pack horse. On coming behind the scene he usually inquired, "Has David wanted me?" It being asked once how George came to die so soon after the demise of his famous brother, a wag replied, "David wanted him."

There is no oil that so speedily shows its effect in subduing pain. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

A Gentle Hint.

"I'm hungry," said the out of a job tragedian.

"Well," said the kind hearted (?) manager, "can't I give you something to appease your hunger?"

"Surely," said the actor. "I believe I'd prefer a few dates."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

NOISES OF PEKING.

Hideous Din Raised by the Vendors That Throng the Streets.

An analysis of the street noises of Peking has been made by the correspondent of a western American newspaper and ought to be useful when the anti-noise crusade reaches the orient. The great cause of confusion he finds is the various street vendors, each of whom is armed with a noise producing instrument by which he proclaims his trade.

The barber has two prongs of steel through which he draws a spike and thus makes a loud whir. The seller of sweetmeats holds in his right hand two brass cups which he jangles together. The buyer of old clothes taps a small drum with a bit of tarred bamboo, getting by this combination a plunk, plunk that attracts trade. The man who has wicker baskets to sell beats half a gourd with a drumstick, the clothes seller swings a drum which has two bits of metal attached to it by strings, the toy dealer strikes a brass gong of a peculiarly penetrating tone, the knife grinder claps three blocks of iron together, and the seller of charcoal announces his coming by a repeated tap, tap on a block of wood.

The watchman manages to introduce a little variety. He is armed with a wooden drum, which he taps in different measures to mark the different hours of the night. The sound of his drum, however, carries no certain assurance. On the night when Peking was looted you would not have known from him that anything was wrong. In the intervals of the rifle fire the sound of his drum rose undismayed, signaling in superb nonchalance the exciting hours.

The fact is that he is not on duty to catch thieves or even to scare them off, as are some of the Japanese watchmen. His function is nobler. The sound of his drum frightens away the spirits of evil, without whose presence no self-respecting thief can hope to pull off a successful job.

COMFORTED THE LADIES.

A Marshal of France Who Was a Hero, a Gallant and a Dandy.

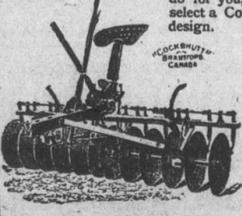

Blaise de Montluc was a soldier and a marshal of France who fought through half the sixteenth century. Like a true Gascon, as he was, he added to his great physical qualities courage, high spirits and unquenchable gaiety.

In the Italian wars Blaise de Montluc commanded the defense of Siena during a prolonged siege. When the town was reduced to a few ounces of bread daily Blaise was overcome with sickness and had himself carried about in a chair muffled up in furs.

But perceiving that the inhabitants, especially the women, were "thus rendered apprehensive of their fate should he die"—so runs an excerpt from De Montluc's "Commentaries"—"he called for a pair of crimson velvet breeches laid over with gold lace, very finely cut, for they were made at a time when he was forsooth in love. He put on a doublet of the same and a shirt

Sit While Ironing

There is an old fashioned prejudice against sitting down while ironing. Our grandmothers would probably have condemned the woman caught in this practice as hopelessly lazy—but why not do so, especially when standing at the ironing-board means tired, blistered feet and a frazzled temper? It might not be practicable to sit while ironing a dress skirt or anything requiring a long reach of the arm, but handkerchiefs and such small pieces can easily be managed while sitting.

Mrs. William Davidson, lot 25, con. 14, passed away on Tuesday last, in her 77th year. The funeral will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, to the Watford cemetery.

Mr. Wm. Shipley, of Toronto, a former stock-buyer of Inwood, has spent the past week with Mr. Thomas McMahon, a farmer of the tenth concession. The two gentlemen have spent their time shooting game in the wilds of Brooke. Mr. McMahon reports that this kind of game is very plentiful at this season of the year, he having treed two valuable tur-bearing animals in his back yard.

The West Brooke Debating Society held its regular meeting last Wednesday evening in S. S. No. 13, Brooke. The subject, "Resolved that the wealthy uneducated man has a better chance in life than the educated poor man," was well discussed. The judges gave the decision in favor of the affirmative. The leader of the affirmative, Mr. John Davis was ably assisted by his two eloquent colleagues, Gordon Luckham and Frank Lucas.

The people of Brooke have always looked upon the Canadian Northwest as a country affording great opportunities to the young man of the east; but we begin to look upon it with a new interest when we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor Sr., aged eighty-seven and seventy-seven years respectively, are preparing to start life anew on a homestead in southern Saskatchewan. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who have resided for the past thirty years in the lowlands of Brooke, will leave for their new home in the West on March 11th, and will go by way of Chicago. Their many friends join in wishing them a safe journey and a prosperous future.

The East Brooke Farmers' Club held their regular debate on Tuesday evening, February 25th. The subject for debate was "Resolved that Canada should have a navy." The leader on the affirmative side, Mr. Howard Woods, was ably assisted by Messrs Sam McLellan and Thos. Woods, while the leader on the negative side, Miss Mary Fisher, was ably supported by Messrs Dan McDonald and Fred Kingston. The subject was thoroughly discussed by both sides and reflected great credit on the part of the speakers. The judges, Messrs S. Hair, L. McLean and P. Kingston, decided in favor of the negative side. The meeting closed with singing God Save the King. The last debate of this season will be held on Tuesday evening, March 18th. The subject for the debate is "Resolved that the farmer is responsible for the high cost of living." The leaders are Mr. Sherman Hair and Miss Kathleen Kingston. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

His Services Appreciated.

In some society lodges a willing and enthusiastic worker sometimes receives nothing but hard knocks for his endeavors to promote the welfare of the order, but that is not the way things are done in Court Pearl, No. 306, C. O. F. When they have a good man in office they appreciate his services. This was evidenced at the meeting of the Court held on Tuesday, Feb. 25th, when after the business of the evening had been concluded Chief Ranger Charles James, who has occupied the chair for several years, was presented with a handsome finger ring, and the following eulogistic address:—

To Bro. Chas. James:—
We, your fellow members of Court Pearl, No. 306, C. O. F., wish to express to you our appreciation of your untiring energy during the several years you have occupied the Chief Ranger's chair in this Court. Your upright, manly character and your just and generous manner in dealing with all matters pertaining to our Court have not passed unnoticed by your brother Foresters.

Therefore we ask you to accept this ring, not as a reward for your services but as a slight token of the respect and esteem in which you are held by your brethren.

Mrs. J. B. More Passes Away.

(Imperial, Sask., Review, Feb. 20th.)
Helen Campbell More, widow of John B. More, late of Winnipeg, passed away on Saturday morning in Imperial, at the home of her nephews, Fred D. and Wm. B. Kelly, and her niece, Miss Kelly. She came here last April from Winnipeg, but was laid aside with illness since then.

Mrs. More, who was in her 79th year, was an old-time settler in Winnipeg, arriving there with her husband from Ontario in 1876. Mr. More became an alderman of Winnipeg in the early eighties. He died in 1911. Mrs. More was a member of Zion Methodist Church in Winnipeg.

The remains were taken to Winnipeg, Sunday morning, for interment in Brookside cemetery. A short but impressive ceremony was delivered by P. Crosse previous to removal. The deceased lady's nephews, Fred D. and Wm. B. Kelly, and her niece, Miss Lillian Kelly, accompanied the remains to Winnipeg.

The funeral took place on Monday from the residence of W. A. Carson, 196 Mayfair avenue. There was a large attendance, and many floral tributes covered the casket. Rev. Dr. Crummy conducted the services. The pall-bearers were Samson Walker, W. A. Carson, F. D. Kelly, Wm. B. Kelly, A. R. Christie and C. B. Whiting.

The funeral arrangements were carried out by Wright Bros., of Regina.

At the evening services in St. George's church on Sunday evening, P. Crosse made a sympathetic reference to the death of Mrs. More and paid a warm tribute to the nobility of her character. As a mark of respect the Dead March from "Saul" was played on the organ at the close of the service.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills. "For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the public."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrh-cure Co., Kingston, Ont.

Her Confession

And Yet There Was Nothing to Confess

By F. A. MITCHEL

Two middle aged ladies sat over a cup of tea. One was forty-two, the other forty-one. They had been intimate friends some fifteen years before, had been separated, having gone to live in different places, and now had come together again and were summing up, so to speak, that portion of their lives which lay behind them.

"How different have been our experiences!" said the younger of the two. "You, Margaret, have known the joys of being a bride, the companionship of married life and the sorrows of widowhood, while I have looked upon the promised land of matrimony always from a distance. And now we are both alone, without husband or children. We have come at last to the same position, but not the same condition. You as a widow are a very different person from me, an old maid."

"In what do you consider this difference to consist, Helen?" asked the other, looking up at her friend with a pair of expressive, inquiring eyes. "It consists in so many things that it would be impossible to find a word under which to group them. If you ask me the principal difference it has produced between you and me I will say that it lies in this—you know what it is to be loved by a good man, I do not."

The widow leaned back in her chair and looked at vacancy. She seemed to be absorbed in thought—thought on what her friend had enunciated. At last she said:

"What we look at from without is usually very different from what we find it when we come to experience it. Love before marriage is not what it is after marriage. The first is an absorbing passion, the second is companionship. One is violent and may easily be turned to hate; the other is quiescent and, so long as it is not interrupted, may be strong and enduring."

"Interrupted by death you mean, I suppose."

"Not that alone; there are many other causes which may throw one who loves back into the passionate condition that exists before marriage—I mean a condition of suffering, not of pleasure."

"Do you believe in divorce, Margaret?"

"Not if there are children interested—that is, if the father and mother can live together on friendly terms."

"But you had no children." The moment the words were spoken Helen regretted them. "I was thinking of your feelings in a case that might be your own," she continued. "What would you have done, supposing your husband ceased to love you and loved another woman?"

"In that case I should consider whether a marriage between them would be for the best. If I thought so I would consent to a divorce, that he might marry his new love."

Helen slipped her tea in silence. The subject seemed of more interest to her than to her friend. Indeed, she seemed to be moved by some deep feeling connected with it. One looking at her would have thought that she instead of Margaret had the experiences of a married woman. Presently Helen spoke again.

"I am glad, Margaret, that during

CITY CIRCULATION AGENT

Of Leading Montreal Daily Endorses GIN PILLS

"I have been suffering from Kidney Trouble for over five long years. I had also Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles, could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. One day I met one of our leading hotelkeepers, who had been cured by your famous GIN PILLS, and he advised me to try them. So I bought two boxes at my druggist's and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured. I can assure you I can hardly believe it for I had only known what I know now I would not have spent over One Hundred Dollars for nothing when two boxes of GIN PILLS cured me."

EUGENE QUESNEL, Chief City Circulation Agent of La Patrie, of Montreal. He describes it feelingly:

May 3rd, 1912

I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. your married life nothing occurred to break it. I can not conceive of any greater trouble to come to a woman than a separation from the man she has loved and married, and I thank heaven that there is one sin I have not upon my conscience. I have never done anything to turn a man from his wife to me, nor have I permitted any man to turn from his wife to me."

"No one who knows you, Helen, would doubt that. Indeed, it is quite likely that a married man who would yield to his inclination for you would be unworthy of you."

Helen started. It was evident from her words as well as her friend's rejoinder that she had some such experience as the one referred to on her mind. But it was also plain that she had not considered the man in the case unworthy of her. She entered upon a hypothetical defense of him.

"I can understand a man's momentarily yielding to a temptation, and yet love his wife truly," she said. Then, pausing, she seemed moved by a sudden resolution and continued in a tone that indicated deep feeling: "Margaret, I am going to make a confession to you. And yet it is not a confession, for that indicates an injury, a wrong, and there was no wrong on my part nor on the part of the one who was implicated with me in what I am about to relate."

"You remember that John and I were both of artistic temperament. We were fond of the fine arts, music, sculpture, painting, literature. He was the only real poet I ever knew personally. His appreciation for music was of the keenest. Do you remember that period when your mother was taken ill, and she was called away to attend her, and she finally died? You left John in my charge, and I recall your exact words when you did so. 'John and I have not been long married,' you said, 'but long enough to have come upon that period when a newly married pair begins to suffer from their incongruities. Leaving him at such a time is dangerous, for he is liable to seek solace with another woman. Help him to stand by his better instincts, so that when I return nothing shall have occurred to make a breach between him and me.'"

"This is all you said, but it was enough. I knew you meant that in case I should see your husband about to fall under a bad influence to have a care of him and draw him away from temptation. I was sure that so great was your confidence in me that you would not ask anything of me on a matter between him and me.

"I kept John with me during nearly all his idle time in the period that you were absent. We visited what galleries there were, went where we could listen to music and read together from the works of our favorite poets. One evening he took me to the opera. 'Faust' was given and given beautifully. John sat entranced by the music and seemed also under the spell of that legend which contains in condensed form the story of humanity. After the opera we rode to my home and during the ride John did not speak a word to me. I invited him to come in and led him to the drawing room. Suddenly he began to talk strangely.

"'I feel,' he said, 'that I am Faust and that a mephistopheles is dragging me to hell.'"

"And by the same passion he secured Faust's soul?" I asked.

"Yes."

"And who," I asked, "is Marguerite?" I was trembling and spoke the words so low as only to be heard by one intent on hearing.

"His hand was near mine, and he took it in his. I arose and stood apart from him."

"John," I said, "stand firm. This is a passing madness occasioned by that weird drama acting upon an impressible nature. Your wife will return soon, and by her presence banish what is but an evanescent emotion."

"He stood looking at me as one in a dream for a time, then said:

"Helen, from the bottom of my heart I thank you for having saved my self respect. And, turning, he left me. Your mother died that same evening and within another week you were at home."

"You know the rest so far as John is concerned—that he was saved from a momentary temptation, and that yours and his happiness were not marred by the incident. What I have to confess is this: From that moment I was a changed woman. The word of love that had been spoken entered into my being and I could not eradicate it. But no more than this, Margaret, did I wrong you. John never sought me, and that I might not meet him I left him and you for another place of residence. I never saw him again."

The woman who listened to this confession gave no other evidence of its effect upon her than to reach for the confessor's hand and press it. Helen continued:

"From that moment I took on a life-long suffering. But not from your displeasure, for I am sure even now since you know my secret that you are too strong, too just, too generous to blame me for what I could not help."

Margaret, who had retained the hand she held, bent forward and kissed her friend. Then she said:

"I do not blame you now, nor have I ever blamed you, for I have known of this from the moment of my return, when I heard it from John, though a different version. He told me that he loved you and would always love you."

Helen's head dropped on her friend's breast. There was a long silence, which was broken by Margaret.

"You would hear?" she said. "Why, knowing what I did, I remained John's wife, keeping you two apart. Perhaps my conduct to you seems that I grudged you what I could not myself possess."

"I have no such thought. I am sure you had a reason, and that reason was a noble one."

"Had I believed that you would have been happy with John," she said, "I would have given him to you. But you would not have been happy with him. He was too volatile, too intense in his feelings, too unsteady in every way. You would have been the blind leading the blind. You would have suffered under perpetual misunderstandings. He needed a different hand from yours to manage him. A time came when he recognized this himself."

"But you?" exclaimed Helen, looking up with a wonder akin to pain.

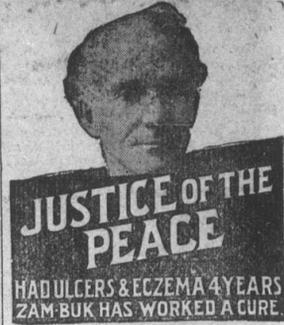

"I did my duty by him and you."

Corn Eared Up Better and Ripened Earlier.

Thos. Kelley, of Copenhagen, Ont., writes:—I notice that my corn eared up better and ripened about ten days earlier where I applied Homestead Fertilizer. I also used the fertilizer on oats and secured a large yield both in corn, grain and straw. I am very well satisfied with the Homestead goods."

Homestead Fertilizers are manufactured and sold by the Michigan Carbon Works, Detroit, Michigan, who will send free to any farmer their book on fertilizers with a handsome calendar postage paid. They want agents where they are not now represented. Address, Michigan Carbon Works, Postoffice Drawer 814-A, Detroit, Michigan, asking for terms.

A young Illinois swain, after receiving a very decided rejection from his sweetheart, sent her a statement of $371.68 for flowers, candy and opera tickets. If he can't do any more cooing he seems determined to keep up the billing.

Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace, and station master at Wellington, on the Prince Edward Island Railway, says:

"Four years ago I slipped in the station and fell on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead of doing so it developed into a bad ulcer, and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged. My doctor said I must stop work and lay up."

"After six months of this trouble I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. I tried all the salves, liniments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse."

"This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam-Buk. Greatly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to the sores, and day by day they got better. I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did."

"It is now over a year since Zam-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema."

Such is the nature of the great cures which Zam-Buk is daily effecting. Purely herbal in composition, this great balm is a sure cure for all skin diseases, cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poisoning, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ring-worm, inflamed patches, cuts, burns and bruises. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., upon receipt of price.

MARKETS

WATFORD—NO CHANGE
Toronto.

Toronto, March 4.—Receipts at the Union stockyards were 98 cars, with 1,573 cattle, 76 calves, 1,509 hogs, 233 sheep and lambs and 28 horses. There was a comparatively light run at the market today, and buying in consequence was a little more active than it otherwise would have been. Prices were good and steady at last week's closing figures, but not higher on an average. An extra choice heifer, weighing 1,330 pounds, was sold at $7.40, but this was an exception and the top figure for the day. General run of prices ran from $6 to $6.90 for good choice butchers. Good cows and bulls firm. Sheep and lambs are still scarce and poor in quality. Prices are firm. Hogs are firm at $9.50, fed and watered, one lot selling at $9.60.

HOW TO OBTAIN GOOD DIGESTION

The Stomach Must be Toned and Strengthened Through the Blood

The victim of indigestion who wants to eat a good meal, and he will suffer if he eats one, finds poor consolation in picking and choosing a diet. As a matter of fact you cannot get relief by cutting down your diet to a starvation basis. The stomach must be strengthened until you can eat good nourishing food. The only way to strengthen the stomach is to enrich the blood and thus tone up the nerves that control it. The only way to enrich the blood and thus tone up the nerves, and give strength to the stomach —strength that will enable it to properly digest any kind of food—is through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The one mission of these Pills is to make rich red blood that reaches every part and every organ of the body, bringing renewed health and activity. The following case illustrates the value of Dr. Williams'
Pink Pills in indigestion:

Miss Lottie Carr, of Lequille, N. S., says: "For several years I have been a great sufferer from chronic indigestion.
At times I almost loathed food, and no matter how hungry, I found that to eat even lightly was followed by great distress and often nausea. I tried many so-called cures, but did not get more than temporary relief, and naturally I was going down both in health and strength, and was greatly discouraged. While in this despondent condition I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I doubted that they would cure me after so many other medicines had failed, but as I wanted health and the Pills were highly recommended I decided to try them. I am thankful now that I did so, for after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for five or six weeks every vestige of the trouble left me, and I was again blessed with the best of health. From my own experience I believe there is no case of indigestion Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not cure if given a fair trial."
You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
