Letter to Corn Growers From

President Graham To the Farmers and Corn Growers of

Lambton County:
GENTLEMEN: -The iron grip of winter is gradually loosening and spring seems to be with us again. Watching the changes as they take place in nature it awakens in us a realization of the responsibility which rests on each one of us as tillers of the soil. I do not think there ever was a time in the history of the British Empire when so much depended on the farmer as there is in this year 1917 At one time we all thought the winning of the war depended upon the recruiting and training of soldiers. At the present time this seems to have vanished into a secondary consideration. Production, and then More Production, seems to be the burning question of the hour. Many have come to the conclusion that on what have come to the conclusion that on what the land produces this year depends the winning of the war. Every one knows that the soldier at the front, fighting the battles of the Empire should be the best ted man in the land. His very existence depends on us who are at home on the farms. It is up to us to see that the soldier has an abundance of the very best that can be produced from the lead best that can be produced from the land. Let us as citizens of this great Empire of justice and freedom bury every selfish and political strife and teink only of what we can do that will work out to the best ends for bringing about a speedy and successful conclusion of this terrible successful conclusion of this terrible world struggle.

It is only through the heartiest kind of co-operation of all classes that the best results can be obtained. It is only through the co-operation of the Provincial Government, County County and hunded pal councils of the county of Lambton, that the best results can be worked out through the Lambton County Corn Growers' Association. We, as officers and directors, are sacrificing our time and energies, also money, for the advancement of the county is his support and sympathy. The very best support that any man can give is to become a member of the Association. I make a special appeal for membership and when any of our officers or directors ask you to become a member our officers or directors ask you to of the Association. I make a special appeal for membership and when any of our officers or directors ask you to become a member, grasp the opportunity of assisting the best farmers' organization in the county of Lambton. I have no hesitation whatever in saying that the Lambton Corn Growers' Association is worthy of your hearty support. Since the organization of the Association the production of corn in the county has doubled. We are now on the threshold of developing a large market as a county source of seed corn for the province. The Association, through its Corn Show and Convention, has been instrumental in widely advertising Lambton County and developing this new inustry. I ask the readers of this letter to think of the position Lambton County would have been in this spring for seed corn if the Association had not been organized and working out the seed corn problem. With the careful attention paid to the selection and saving of seed corn, Lambton County is now in the enviable position of being, I think, the best served county in the Province of Ontario with seed corn.

I would like very much to see the corn eed corn.

I would like very much to see the corn rop of the county increased by half this year. Just see what it would mean to the increased production request that we hear every day. Increased by half does not necessarily mean that we plant a half more land to corn, but that we fit our land in better shape before planting, seeing that we plant only well saved and tested seed and then he sure that we give it land in better shape before planting, seeing that we plant only well saved and tested seed, and then be sure that we give it the very best care and attention after it is planted; and then to crown the success of a good crop by bringing out a good exhibit to our next Corn Show. Demonstrate to the people of other parts of the country what we can accomplish in Lambton County. I also want to appeal to the Farmers' Clubs of the county in behalf of displays for our next Corn Show. It will be much easier tor a club to put up a display than a single individual. This would create a greater interest. We are also considering including all kinds of seeds and seed grain in our prize list. We will have to have more money to finance our prize list. It is up to the generosity of the people of the county to help us. If we are trusted with it we will try and use it to good advantage for the county on a whole.

It is well here to sound a warning owing to the very unfavorable season last very it is all the more desirable that all owing to the very unfavorable season last year it is all the more desirable that all our seed corn should have been more carefully saved. It is essential that all growers make a germination test of their seed and by all means to seed heavier this year on account of weakened vitality and low germinating power.

I remain, yours truly for a larger crop and increased exhibits of corn,

Keep hens this year

EGG and poultry prices, the like of which have seldom or never been experienced, certainly make it worth anyone's while to start keeping hens. By doing so you have fresh eggs at the most trifling cost. At the same time you have the splendid satisfaction of knowing that you are doing something towards helping Britain, Canada and the Allies achieve victory this year.

Increased production of food helps not only to lower the high cost of living, but it helps to increase the urgently needed surplus of Canada's food for export, It saves money otherwise spent for eggs and poultry at high prices, and saves the labor of others whose, effort is needed for more vital war work.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture will give every possible assistance by affording information about poultry keeping. Write for free bulletin which tells how to keep hens (address below).

"A vegetable garden for every home"

Nothing should be overlooked in this vital year of the war. The Department earnestly invites everyone to help increase production by growing vegetables. Even the smallest plot of ground, when properly cultivated, produces a surprising amount of vegetables. Experience is not essential.

On request the Department of Agriculture will send valuable literature, free of charge, giving complete directions for preparing soil, planting, cultivation, etc. A plan of a vegetable garden, indicating suitable crop to grow, best varieties and their arrangement in the garden, will be sent free to any address.

An Early British Naval Failure at the Dardanelles.

GOT HIS FLEET INTO A TRAP.

Admiral Duckworth Could Have Won Had He Acted Promptly, but He Hesitated, Gave the Turks Time to Arm and Was Bombarded Back to the Sea.

The unsuccessful campaign at Gallipoli when the forces of the allied powers failed in their attempt to reach Constantinople after Turkey had arrayed herself on the side of Germany recalls the time when Sir John Duckworth sailed through the Dardanelles and then turned round and sailed out again. It was in 1807, when Napoleon was at war with more than half a world and when England had on the throne a king with an infirm brain and a ministry called that of "all the talents," which in spite of its name was wretchedly inefficient.

The French were trying to come to an understanding with the irresolute Sultan Selim, which was greatly disquieting to the czar since in view of the great victories of the "Little Corporal" in Prussia he could ill afford to spare any forces from the Russian frontier. So he asked the British to send a fleet to the sublime porte and compel Selim to make terms with Russia and England.

Accordingly Sir John Duckworth was ordered to join Admiral Louis in the Aegean sea and lead the combined fleets up the Dardanelles to the Turkish capital, where, after securing the safety of Mr. Arbuthnot, the British ambassador, he was to dictate terms to the sultan.

It is harder to sail up the Dardanelles than to sail out because there is a powerful current that flows constantly from the Black sea to the Aegean. There were no great steam cruisers then, and Sir John had to wait several days for favorable conditions. Meantime one of the largest of the ships, the Ajax, carrying seventy-four guns, unaccountably blew up, and some 250 Englishmen were killed.

On a February morning in 1807, however, seven battleships sailed into the mouth of the ancient Hellespont and bore their way up the strait. They encountered only a light and ineffectual fire from the forts. There was no effective preparation for defensive action on either the European or Asiatic side from the mouth of the Dardanelles to the city of Constantine. Had Sir John given the sultan a twenty-four hour ultimatum and trained his guns on the citadel he need not have fired a shot. He would have accomplished the purpose for which he had come and could have sailed out with his ships unharmed and himself covered with glory. But he was seized with timidity and began unaccountably to negotiate and temporize. General Sebastiani, the clever agent of Napoleon at the sultan's court, en-couraged Duckworth's irresolution and led him on from day to day with specious promises.

Meanwhile men, women and children, Christians and Mohammedans, were working day and night to erect suitable defenses along the famous waterway, until in no long time the whole shore, as well as the forts of the Dardanelles, was bristling with guns. Duckworth's opportunity had passed. He had made the fatal mistake of giving the Turks time to find their leader

For two weeks the parleyings went on, while the fleet's officers through their glasses could see the constant arrival of cannon, ammunition and troops. At last Sir John awoke to the fact that he was in a trap and had barely time to get out. Fortunately the wind was in his favor, and the seven battleships began their ignominious re-

What a contrast between the coming in and the going out!

For sixty miles they ran the gantlet of a continual and heavy fire. It was incessant and galling in the sea of Marmora, and in the Dardanelles it was terrific. There stone balls, weighing 700 and 800 pounds, snapped the rigging, broke down the masts and crushed in the decks. The roll of the artillery was deafening, and the smoke hung over everything in dark, impenetrable folds.

The humiliated admiral could do nothing but run, and as the current was with him he finally reached the Aegean sea, although with a badly battered fleet.

It has always seemed curious to the reader of history that Duckworth escaped the fate of Admiral Byng, who was court martialed and shot fifty. years before for just such another lamentable error of judgment. The only explanation appears to be that this was a time of such multiplied fears and panics that even so serious a matter as this was soon forgotten in the more absorbing ?

problem of national defense against the designs of Napoleon.-Youth's Com-

Cleopatra means "fame of her fa-ther." It was once very common among the royal ladies of Egypt and Greece and survives in the French Cleo. Cleopatra was born in Alexandria 59 B. world's work came a picture of an uneasy rester counting imaginary sheep leaping over hurdles. Was that good practice or bad?"
"Bad!" answered the doctor of whom the question was asked.
"Here's a better idea. Did you ever see a printer drop a tray of type and make a 'pi' of it? That is the thing to do with your thoughts. Make a 'pi' of them. Make the mind a blank as far as possible and simply refuse to carry on consecutive thought. Don't count sheep jumping over a stile or try to count a million. Go on a mental strike and refuse to let your higher brain cells work, and they will subside.

Willing, but Not Anxious. Ministers sometimes observe some curious phases of human nature among persons soliciting their services in the performance of a marriage ceremony. "Will you take this woman for your wedded wife?" asked a clergyman of would be bridegroom.

"Yes; I'll take her," remarked the man in a half dejected tone, "but," he added, with surprising frankness, "I'd rather it were her sister."

There is something in Zam-Buk that makes this famous balm victorious over obstinate skin diseases. Mr. John L. Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915. For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had mausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. RAINY PLAYTIMES.

Helps For Mothers on Days Children Are Kept Indoors.

Indoors on a rainy day is apt to prove a rather nerve racking time for a busy mother unless she has provided a rainy day box for the kiddies' amusement. Pasting games and books of all sorts appeal for rainy playtimes. You can make a good paste from a flour and water mixture into which a few drops of clove oil have been added. The oil gives a pleasant odor and preserves the paste against souring. Never throw away old telephone books, magazines, scraps of colored paper, etc., when there are small children in the house. Add them as contributions to the rainy day box. Rainy day may be mending day if mother will cast a glamour of privilege over the mending. Save old toys, broken china, etc., for the rainy day nending bee.

Especially pretty silk pieces for doll clothes may be slipped into the rainy day box as a surprise, a new box of crayons, a bit of colored wool for a horse line-anything that will make the prospect of rain and staying in the house something for the youngsters to look forward to fastead of the irksome time which it usually proves Sleeve Facts.

Sleeves are rather doubtful quantities this season, but none the less interesting at that. Most morning and afternoon sleeves are long. Occasionally one sees a three-quarter sleeve, but only very seldom; it is usually flowing and is called the nun's sleeve or pagoda sleeve.

Evening gowns show either no sleeve at all or long, flowing angel sleeves or some arm covering made by a cape or of ribbon velvet, which show the top of the arm, but cross it just below the top of the shoulder, are found on many evening gowns.

A few kimono sleeves are to be found in afternoon and evening gowns of soft materials like tulle, satin and velvet, as this is always a more graceful treatment than the set-in sleeve. In suits the full length sleeve rather large at the wrist to admit the loose wristed glove is to be found. In coats, sleeves are larger and on the bishop order. Raglan sleeves are to be seen, too, in these separate coats.

North Lambton S. S. Convention The annual convention of the North Lambton Sunday School Association was held in Forest, on Feb. 27th. Sleepy Time Story About a Very Disagreeable Gnome.

THE BOY WITH THE SULKS.

All About How Two Sour Tempered Individuals Made Themselves Miserable-Spoiling An Appetite-An Interesting Tale With a Moral.

Well, said Uncle Ben to little Ned and Polly Ann, tonight I will tell you

THE TROLL'S VISIT.

Once on a time there was a little plack troll who lived in the ground. He was the grouchiest troll of the tribe, and none of the other trolls ever wanted him around.

Now, you may have heard it said that misery loves company, and he couldn't get it because none of his troll companions, who were cheerful little creatures who sang as they work ed, could stand the little black troll for more than two minutes at a time.

And the little black troll complained to the troll king that he was lonely and that he thought the other trolls didn't treat him right. The troll king thought and thought. He knew just why the other trolls didn't care to have the black troll around, but he believed it would do more good if the little black fellow found it out for himself.

So he said: "Very well. There's a little boy not far from here that's been complaining in just the way you com-plain. I think I'll send you to visit him for awhile." The troll was quite pleased, and when he reached Johnny Blyn's house he was beginning to feel more cheer-

Johnny didn't say, "Glad to see you," or anything of that sort. He just stared at the troll and remarked, "My, what queer clothes you wear!"

The troll was hungry, and, as it was lunch time, he followed Johnny in to the lunch table. Johnny began by saying that he didn't want anything and that there wasn't anything fit to eat. He said such horrid things about the food that at last the troll lost his own appetite.

Then Johnny's mother told them to go out and play, but Johnny said he didn't want to play. He was tired of all the games. When the troll suggested some nice new ones Johnny said he wouldn't play such dull games.

He stood it until tea time, and then he said to Johnny: "I'm going home. I don't think I like it here.'

Of course Johnny wanted to know why, and the gnome answered: "You are too peevish and ill humor ed, that's why.' "You're peevish and ill humored yourself, you old black troll!" Johnny

"Maybe I am," the troll answered meekly, "but I'm not going to be so any more, for if I can't stand you can't expect anybody to stand me."

winter she will know more about it. Snow is such a queer thing; it looks so soft and warm and feathery. But when you take it in your hand it is very cold and soon disappears. It is so entirely different from what it appears to be-to a baby.

In Northern France.

VOSIATE, WATH-HD

"It is strange and terrible to visit Paris—and no one can be happy—but to one who has loved France it is far worse to visit the lovely Northern country. There is here a sense of emptiness, as if terror still hushed the normal cheerful noises of manthe normal cheerful noises of mankind. The people of these regions have lost everything: their houses are burned; their animals, even the rabbits, are gone; their farm implements are shapeless pieces of grotesquely melted iron. They live in temporary, patched shelters, and in the houses built by the Society of Friends, or mass themselves in some nearby village that escaped destruction at the hands of the crown prince's retreating army. After a time in this silent country one gets the sense that destruction is normal, and tears start to one's eyes at the and tears start to one's eyes at the sight of an undestroyed French vil-lage smiling in the sun. So changed are all values that I could feel nothing strange in the words of the wo-man who told me, 'Fortunately, my husband is a hunchback.'"—Mary Heaton Vorse, in the January Cen-

Soapstone Griddles.

Soapstone Griddles.

Soapstone and aluminum griddles have the advantage over iron ones in that they do not need greasing, and so one's house does not become choked with the blue smoke that is sure to rise from an iron griddle whenever it is used. Grease either aluminum or soapstone the first time it is used, then wipe with a dry cloth and put away. No grease is required afterward. Do not wash when putting away, but once or twice a season the griddle may be scoured off, and then begin all over again, as and then begin all over again, though you had a new griddle.

Useful Brushes. Brushes have been invented for polishing either stoves or shoes that have a reservoir, controlled by valve, to feed polish to the bristles.

A GOOD MEDICINE

FOR THE SPRING

Do Not Use Harsh Purgatives-A Tonic is All You Need

Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That is the way most people feel in the spring. Easily tired, appetite fickle, sometimes headaches, and a feeling of depression. Pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinger of rheumatism or neuralgia. twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble.

Do not dose yourself with purgatives, as so many people do, in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. Any doctor will tell you this is true. What you need in spring is a tonic that will make new blood and build up the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only medicine that can do this speedily, sately and surely. Every dose of this medicine makes new blood which clears the skin, strengthens the appetite and makes tired, depressed makes men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Maude Bagg, Lemberg, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Maude Bagg, Lemberg, Sask., says: "I can unhesitatingly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and tonic. I was very much run down when I began using the Pills, and a tew boxes fully restored my health."
