A FISTIC PROPOSITION.

To the Editor of the Sporting Times:

SIR,—It has been a question hitherto in sporting circles here as to which of the two would prove the best at a glove fight—Scholes or Charley McDonald. It is well known that McDonald offered recently to fight Scholes for $500 or $1000, but the challenge was promptly declined by the latter, who will not on any consideration be tempted into the prize ring, not because he for a moment feels doubtful of the issue were such a thing to take place, but because he has no wish to be mixed up in any such unlawful proceeding. At the same time Scholes is ready to meet McDonald at a glove fight, and intimated this willingness some time ago to McDonald in public. Now what I should like to suggest through your columns is this: Let Scholes and McDonald make a match with gloves, and have a regular referee, judges, time and place, &c., &c., and let the prize be a cup or piece of plate to be subscribed for equally by the friends of both parties. If anything should come of this suggestion, I think I can promise the funds to be forthcoming on the part of Scholes' friends who, like myself, see nothing lowering or degrading in a match of this sort, and who would like to see the question fairly settled.

I am, sir, &c.,
STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.

ALLEN PUMMELS GOSS BUT LOSES THE FIGHT.

The Allen-Goss fight took place near Covington, Ky., Thursday last. The first blood was declared for Allen. After several rounds had been fought the Covington Militia put in an appearance and the fight was stopped. At 10:45 a.m. a new ring was formed at another point and the fight resumed. It is said to have been a most brutal affair. In the 21st round Goss was struck by Allen while on his knees and a foul claimed and allowed. The fight ended at 11:50 and was declared in favor of Goss. Allen shows but little punishment, but Goss is terribly beaten. Allen was arrested on his arrival at Newport, Ky., and lodged in jail.

The Trigger.

On Friday two teams of pigeon shots contested a match at Martin's Hotel, Eden, for a supper, to be paid for by the losing party. One team was captained by John Hower, and the other by Thos. Holliday. The following is the score, which shows that Capt. Hower's team won by four birds:—

Capt. John Hower	01011010—4
Thos. Holliday	10100111—5
John Martin	00110111—5
John Falding	11011011—4

position, although he most positively denied buying or trying to buy a horse on that day; he admitted he was not in the habit of attending church as regularly as he ought to do, but he was no scoffer at religion, he believed it was a sad thing and, taking a lesson from the day's event he should hereafter turn over a new page and attend regularly a place of worship, after reviewing the evidence and listening to the prisoner's story, the judge decided the case not proven and discharged the prisoner, who sincerely thanked the court and bade them good bye. When the gentleman left the room he saw his friend convulsed with laughter and then for the first time he smelt a rat, and I tell you he was mad, but soon falling into the spirit of the joke he laughed as the rest and remarked 'what a fool I was,' which no one cared to dispute.

NEW HORSE CAR.

At the Hamilton station of the Great Western Railway may be seen a handsome horse car for attachment to the Company's express trains. It is fitted up for six horses, with managers and water troughs, and is well padded and partitioned, with space in the centre for the man in charge and the provender. After some few alterations have been made, such as allowing more head room, and substituting bars for some of the close doors, the car will be launched on its mission of humanity. The risk of blemish, and the actual suffering to which horses are now exposed will be wholly obviated, while the despatch given to the car will make it as easy and expeditious to slip horses from one place to another in Canada, as it is in England and other civilized countries. The treatment which they have hitherto experienced of being placed in cattle trucks, and detained whole days on the road, was simply barbarous, while many persons were prevented from sending a man in charge of them by the habit the companies have lately indulged in of charging a first-class fare for an attendant riding in what is little better than a muck heap on wheels. The first car equipped for this purpose by the G. W. R. and exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition was burned at New York. Better luck, we hope, awaits its successor. Meantime the thanks of everybody interested in horses and their welfare are due to Mr. Broughton for a move in the right direction. It remains to be seen whether the Grand Trunk management is equally awake to the necessity for a change in the present system, which loudly calls for the intervention of the Humane Society. Now that there seems every chance of the export trade to England assuming proportions not at first accredited to it, there is more than ever good reason for ceasing to treat horses on our railways as though they were bullocks on their way to the shambles.—Mail.

CURIOUS AFFECTION AND INTELLIGENCE OF A DOG.

A lady in a small village in Somersetshire, England, owns a large mastiff bitch, well known for her beauty and sagacity. For several mornings following, Thisbe, for that is her name, was observed to go to the box where her meat biscuits were kept, lift the cover and take out two or three. As she did not attempt to eat them, but at once made off up the lane, she was followed, when it was discovered she took them to give to a poor thin little terrier that came to meet her at the same time each morning, and seemed to enjoy its meal greatly. This same mastiff was told the other day to lie down by the side of the lady's little boy, three years old, and take care of him in a field, whilst she walked a distance of about a mile to post a letter. On her return, the faithful creature was found close at the child's side, guarding him like a mother, and it would have been dangerous for any stranger to have approached him. These are facts.

Nothing was seen of the dog around here during the following day, but what was the astonishment of the Captain and crew, on going up to the deck while the vessel lay in her dock in New York, on the morning of her second day, to find the faithful creature at his post, watching over the vessel in his usual way. He was thoroughly exhausted by his long swim of over forty miles, however, and could do nothing but lie about and recruit his strength, for two or three days.

FREAK OF A SPORTSMAN.

The noted sporting man, Daniel Dancier, (pronounced Dausay) was manager and the owner of the first gaming house in which Morrissey was ever interested; and to Mr. Dancier's sagacity the Spartacus of Saratoga owes much of his success. He was a horse shoer by trade and worked in Kipp & Brown's omnibus stable until he saved money enough to start a "tiger" of his own. His first partner was the eccentric little Billy McGann, of whom the late Jas. F. Cooke used to sing a laughable song. Dancier's estate is valued at $800,000. The old man made some fanny bets in his day. One of these was $20 with a countryman at McCombs' Dam, that Toppy McGuire could open a dozen oysters faster than "Greeny" could eat them. "Toppy" always got the twelfth oyster open as the yokel swallowed the ninth. Finally, on the fourth trial "country" concluded to use no salt or pepper, but take his bivalves regular. But he got no further than number nine, as usual. McGuire, who told the writer about it, said "I was in with the play and when I saw he was taking 'em straight, I gave him bigger oysters."

LUMSDEN'S FORFEIT TO TRICKETT

Concerning this matter the Standard of the 19th ult. says:—A match had been fixed to come off on Monday next, over the metropolitan course, between Trickett, the Australian, who beat J. Sadler, the English champion, on June 27, and Lumsden, of Blyth, a Tynesider. The match had been made for £200 a side, and a further "bet" of £200 a side. Of these sums £100 a side had been posted in the way of stakes, and half the amount of the bet had also been posted. The remaining £100 a side of stakes and the same balance of the bet were to have been posted on Thursday last, but when the hour came due, though the Australian's friends were ready with their money, the backers of the Tynesider declared forfeit. This proceeding took everybody by surprise. Till that moment there had been no suspicion that anything would occur to interfere with the progress of the match. Lumsden had been out sculling every day, and had been in his boat that very morning. He had been sculling in a new craft, built by J. H. Clasper, of Oxford, and another boat by the same builder was just arriving for him to try. The steamers had been engaged to accompany the race (four in number), and all had seemed to be going on satisfactorily when this sudden collapse took place. Various causes were assigned for this declaration of forfeit by Lumsden. By some it was said that his friends had "tried" him and found him wanting in speed and stamina; by others it was said that he had got blisters on them having fostered, and that there was no time for the sores to heal before the day of the race, which was so close at hand. Whatever may be the cause, the match is now at an end, and the race cannot but be most unsatisfactory to all lovers of aquatic. There seems also to be some slight dispute as to the amount to be forfeited. The Tynesiders are willing, as a matter of course, to forego the amount of money "down" for stakes, and, of course, the Australian's friends do not pretend to claim the balance of the stakes not yet posted, still less the balance of bets unposted. But they do claim the amount of the bet already in the hands of the stakeholder, and to this the north-countrymen dissent. They argue that being a bet it is not part of the stakes and does not go with the stakes. It is a well-known principal of boat racing that all bets upon a boat race are void if the race does not come off, unless, at the time of making the bet, an ex-

locality known about forest and stream. On day Mr. Collins determined to fish for such catches as the lake might offer upon that renowned sheet of fresh water known to every Irish sportsman as Lough Sheelan. A casual glance at any map of Ireland will enable anyone to locate for himself this beautiful lake. It is about ten miles long by four miles wide. Cavan, Longford and West Meath are the counties which border upon this lake. Mr. Collins spent the entire day upon the lake in a small boat ten feet in length (the why of this particular will soon appear) without getting so much as a nibble. Precisely at 6 o'clock p.m. his little boat a prow struck the shore and Barney began to prepare his traps for his tramp homeward. In spirit he was vexed, and suddenly seizing his fishing pole—an elegant affair, mounted with a triple multiplying reel and a three-ply horse-hair line, hand made, 75 yards in length—and grasping the line a few feet from the end, with a good old Irish expletive testifying of his vexation, he whipped the water once by the side of his boat. Instantly his line began to reel off at frightful speed. Carefully manipulating his pole he let the line pay out, looking for the time when he might reel in. But to his surprise the fish took every yard of his line, and when he felt the strain was too severe he dropped his pole into the water, and instantly seizing his oars gave chase. In a short time he captured the pole, but not by any means as yet the fish. His prey took the boat in tow, and actually dragged it six times around the lake besides crossing and criss-crossing too numerous to mention. All night long Mr. Collins sailed over Lough Sheelan and all the next day until 4 o'clock p.m. when he succeeded in killing his game in true sportsmanlike style. His game proved to be a six-pound lake trout—nothing more and nothing less.

At the instant he whipped the lake in his vexation because of his day of ill success, he hooked the trout by the tail. Twenty-two hours to kill a six-pound trout when hooked by the tail such at least is the mermaid of this tale.

AN OLD CANADIAN.

A MAN ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD AND NEVER USED HIS FRANCHISE.

He is now in his 125th year, and he has never voted. Etienne Goulinot was born in 1752, in a Canadian hamlet between the St. Charles and Montmorenci rivers, below Quebec. The great battle between the French and English was fought near his father's cabin, and although he was only six years old, he remembers it perfectly. Indeed, the archer saw Wolfe after he was killed, and Montcalm after he was wounded. In 1772 he married a lass, and made a clearing on the west side of Lake Champlain. The commandant of Fort Ticonderoga employed him as a scout. In 1775, having come from a scouting expedition down the lake he was captured by Ethan Allan. He sent his wife, mother and children to Canada, where they remained until the close of the Revolutionary war. In 1793 he trapped for furs in the vicinity of Niagara River, and served three years during the war of 1812, being wounded twice in the battle of Lundy's Lane, and being complimented by General Scott for his bravery. He does not appear to have taken a hand in the Patriot war, the Mexican campaign, the civil war or any of the Fenian raids. He is now living with his great-granddaughter, near the mouth of Bullsken Creek, in Franklin County, O. He talks but little, hobbles about the house with a cane, smokes a clay pipe, is quite deaf, but has good eyes.—Clermont (Ohio) Sun.

MIND, MATTER, MONEY, BEAUTY.—Webster's Quarto Dictionary, as now published, has cost more intellectual labor, more money in its "getting up," and contains more matter, and a larger number of beautiful engravings, (300 or more, with four pages of colored plates,) than any single volume ever before published for popular use in this or any other country. It is largely the standard in England as well as in this country. Bell & Daldy, the publishers of Bohn's libraries, are the London publishers of this magnificent volume.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. all night, he must answer for it, but if he is robbed of it by highwaymen, when travelling the usual road at usual hours, he cannot be held for damages.

WALL STREET GAMBLERS.

The idiots who are deceived by bogus drafts, or the notorious "saw dust" game, or by "three card monte men," or by the illusive bottom of roulette, which the gambler controls with his foot, or the game of rouge et noir, or that of keno or fero, or any of the plainly gambling sports, in which the professional player has ninety-nine per cent of the advantage—these idiotic players, who readily accept all these terrible odds, are nothing compared with the madmen of Wall street who risk on boards they never know and stock they do not own the happiness of themselves and who depend upon their success. What do such people in an as they crawl between heaven and earth? It is the old story of fraud on the one side and faith on the other.

Horse Notes.

THE GREAT FOAL STAKES.—This great stake of 25 sovs. each, 10 forfeit, with £1,000 added, for foals of 1876, Across the Flat, one mile, two furlongs, seventy-three yards, to be run at Newmarket, England, First October Meeting of 1879, has obtained the enormous number of 442 entries. This far exceeds anything that ever was known.

SAM PURDY.—There was considerable curiosity as to the non-starting of this stallion in the 2:22 race at Poughkeepsie. Doubt informs us that he was all right, but the track, being so full of holes, did not suit him, and he preferred drawing him to taking an inferior place in the race.

PROSPERO.—Mr. Parks has decided to draw his black gelding, Prospero, from all further engagements this season. His jaw was in very bad shape at the beginning of the Circuit, and a wrench at Rochester utterly unfitted him for driving. He will be sent next week to Stony Ford, and turned out there. If all goes right, and the jaw gets well, about next February he will be sent to Babylon, and go into training again. We trust better fortune will attend him next year.

A California revivalist, according to the San Francisco News Letter, has devised a new way of reaching sinners. He has attached himself to a circus, and goes round along the audience selling refreshments as an ostensible plea for saving the good word. Between the acts he shoulders his way justly amid the benches, crying, "O-o-o-ranges, apples, ginger beer, and lemonade!—oh, repent of your sins!—three for ten cents. Thank you; here's your change. Gingerbread nuts all fresh. Take this tract, young man. Believe, and you shall be saved. Four pears for a quarter. Pick 'em yourself; all ripe and lovely. Oh, how hateful is sin, my brethren; and even this night you may die. I gave you two bits back; it had a hole in it; feel in your pockets. O-oranges and apples. Ginger pop a bit a bottles. Now's your time. A prize in every packet of candy—and marry is extended to them that believe (keep your fingers out of my basket), forever and evermore. Four pears for a quarter; all fresh; and so on.

We read in the Bible, which no one denies, That Pharaoh succumbed to a legion of flies— Had the obstinate monarch though only been born In these latter days he'd have laughed them to scorn— He'd have bought a nice fly trap at Tresa's dye shop? And Israel might then have never been free.

HARRY PIRRE, 75 & 77 Yonge St., Toronto.

the same way. Some were also seen to themselves out of the tepid water of streams on the shore in a dying state.

A curious case of "hereditary birth-marks" is reported from Kentucky. For several generations the ancestors of Mr. Alfred McCrocklin, of Spencer county, have marked their hogs with a cross and slit in the ear. The same stock has remained in the family through the lapse of all these years, and now the ear-marks appear at the birth of the piglings belonging to Mr. McCrocklin. This saves him the trouble of re-marking the hogs.

Virtue is sometimes its own reward. A member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, etc., in Danbury, had long been annoyed by his neighbor's hens, which made a daily practice of roving through his front garden and back yard. And what did this good man do? He just went patiently and put some old hats and hay under his steps and in the barn, and when those hens came on their marauding expeditions those that came to scratch remained to lay. He has had all the fresh eggs he wanted this spring, and has sold $4.00 worth to the man who owns the hens.

For some time a moose, lately captured at River Phillip and owned by Mr. Fillmore, has been training upon the Truro Driving Park. At first he was very untractable and considerably endangered the limbs and life of his driver. Latterly he has trotted off at a rapid gait, making the half mile in 1m. 20s. a short time since. He feeds upon spruce bows and alder twigs, and is in a healthy condition.

On Monday, the 14th inst., Mr. Stephen Thomas, of the 9th con. Morse, came across a large bird commonly known as a brown buzzard, caught among the limbs of a fallen tree. Its struggles to free itself first attracted his attention, and going up to it he found it fast. A large steel rat trap was found on its foot, which it had carried away with it, and which it must have carried about for some time.

When measures were first taken to furnish Sable Island with means of sustenance for shipwrecked sailors, it was found that the solitary shrub which that mass of shifting sand produces could not support life in any of the animals placed there, except the small, shaggy Canadian pony. After a time the species grow wild, and could only be caught in trenches, overlaid with boughs and straw. Their method of procuring water was peculiar. They followed their leader, a stallion, to the strand, and there dug wells with their hoofs in the sand, near the water. The water which gradually oozed through was perfectly fresh.

CAMPBELL'S QUININE WINE.—Report from Dr. J. Baker Edwards, Ph. D. D.C.L. F.C.S. Professor of Chemistry and Microscopy.

I hereby certify that I have carefully analysed the samples of "Quinine Wine" submitted to me by Messrs. Kenneth Campbell & Co., with the following result:

No. 1.—Dark in color and turbid, deposits muddy sediment on standing, has a sweet acid taste, Orange Flavor and scarcely bitter. On evaporation a thick syrup of invert-sugar, contains only a microscopic trace of Quinine and Quinidine. Is made with Orange Wine.

Sample X.—Dark color, with dark muddy deposit on standing, has an acid and slightly bitter taste, contains Cinchonine but no Quinine. Is made with an acid wine, not sherry.

No. 2.—Campbell's—Light color, clear, with deposit, contains Disulphate of Quinine in the proportion of 1 grain to two fluid ounces. Is made with sound sherry wine.

N.B.—The latter (Campbell's), is the only genuine "Quinine Wine" of the three samples examined.—Signed, JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, Ph. D. D.C.L. F.C.S. Prof. of Chemistry and Microscopy, Montreal College and College of Industry, Montreal.

THE "SPORTING TIMES" STALLION RACE.

CAPT. TOM THE WINNER.

If anything was required to show the widespread interest which was taken in this race throughout the country, the numerous attendance of out-of-town horsemen on the track on Saturday afternoon last would be considered sufficient evidence. Gentlemen from the extreme points of Ontario could be seen hobnobbing together and earnestly discussing the merits and chances of the several entries. Of the eleven original nominations five came to the post, which we think can be considered a large percentage. The day was a beautiful one for such an event, warm with the absence of a scorching sun, while there was almost a perfect calm in the atmosphere. At about 8 o'clock the horses were rung up, and our detailed report of the several heats, for which we are indebted mainly to the "Mail," gives the full particulars of this remarkable contest. Local feeling, as might be anticipated, in many cases governed the speculators in their investments. The Hamilton party stood up strong for Capt. Tom; the delegation from St. Catharines and vicinity voted together as a unit for Fulton; while a great many city people and north country men pinned their faith on Chas. Douglas. The appearance of the horses on the track called a buzz of admiration from the spectators, while the leading favorites received loud cheers from their partisans as they took their preliminary warming up. The attendance was probably one thousand, which, taking into consideration the numerous strong counter attractions in the city that afternoon must be considered flattering. Owing to the total absence of rain for a long time the track was rather dusty, and hard underneath; but was considered to be in very fine condition. The race itself was intensely exciting, and the varying fortunes of the turf were well shown. After the first heat it looked to be a sure thing for Fulton, and the dead heat for the second one did not cause his backers to lose confidence in him, but after Capt. Tom won the third heat then it was thought the latter's chances were good, as the chestnut appeared to be going back. It is claiming that the general appearance is such that he would easily pass for a good honest Grauger, and, like "Ah Sin," free from guile and crooked ways, but, like that eminent Celestial, he is a living contradiction to physiological truth, as his turf history will amply attest, having for a number of years owned and driven trotters, not for legitimate sport and honorable gain, but as a means of enriching himself, and a few kindred spirits, by the many questionable practices known to the modern turf rate.

What particular section or region of your country will be visited by this party in his marauding expedition, I am unable to state positively, but were I to hazard an opinion I would say, his probable field of operations will doubtless embrace Southwestern Pennsylvania, Ohio, and the West.

In conclusion, I would state that this is the party who, a few years ago, fraudulently entered and trotted the horse Regulator, in many places in Western New York, while latter still, the horse Waterloo did good service for this innocent Kanuck.

Last season he was an active member of the "confederacy" that started the Canadas with the ringer Huckleberry, or, as he was called here, Big Tom. A month sufficed to expose their little game here, and then they betook themselves across the river, appearing in the fall at Penn Yan, N. Y., and other places, to large, if not appreciative audiences. There Huckleberry was known as John T., and Leo's white mare Jessie, which went with the combination from Canada, was known as Nellie Gray. Such are the class, who by disreputable practices, have almost totally destroyed the respectability of the Canadian turf. Yours, HONOR.

ENTRIES CLOSE FOR OSHAWA RACES THIS FRIDAY, 15th INST.

OUR CHAMPION SCULLER.

The telegraph made a bad mess in its reports of the Philadelphia rowing regatta. It stated our champion Hanlon had defeated Ward in the final heat, when the newspapers made it Brayley of St. John, another Canuck, who had the honor to row for the first money. It will be seen that the first and second monies have come to Canada—Hanlon, of this city, capturing the leading prize of $800, and Brayley, of St. John, N. B., second, $400.

The victory of Mr. Ed. Hanlon, over some of the best men in the world, is an occurrence almost unexampled in the history of sport. Totally unknown outside of his native city as a sculler, he had the temerity to take his place among the monarchs of the oar, and during the whole contest was scarcely headed in any part of a heat, while at any

Owing to the length of our report of the Stallion Race, considerable editorial matter and numerous interesting items are crowded out.

Mount Forest will give a two day's meeting in October.

The celebrated trotting horse Ethan Allen died at Lawrence, Mass., on Sunday.

The "Leader" says: "We think that Messrs. P. Collins & Co. have reason to flatter themselves on the success of the Stallion Race, and deserve great praise for the complete arrangement of all the details."

The "Globe" of Monday, said of the Stallion Race "O—Good newspaper!"

There will be races at Pakemham on the 19th and 20th.

A large number of horses were sold at Montreal, last week, but the prices were low. Working horses were the greatest in demand. A span of fine bays were bought on Cuban account, price $400.

The cup for the best setter dog in the Centennial Dog Show has been awarded to "Paris," owned by L. H. Smith, Strathroy, Ont. Hundreds competed.

In addition to the nomination in the Manhattan, Passion has been named in the Grand National Handicap at Jerome Park. The impost has been placed at 110 lbs.

"An Englishman's impressions of American Trotting," on the inside page, is by Sir Randall Roberts, the popular dramatic star, who will make his appearance at the Grand Opera House here, in October.

Petrarch won the St. Leger on Wednesday. The latest betting advices were 5 to 1 against him, and 6 to 5 he would not be placed. Kisber was the favorite at 6 to 4 in his favor.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. Addison, who offers Warr Hulet for sale.

COMING RACES.

OGDENSBURG, N.Y.—The Agricultural Society offer a premium list of $2,625, to be competed for on Sept. 26, 27, 28 and 29, by both running and trotting classes. There are two steeplechases comprised in the list. Dominion breeds have allowances in the running events. National rules govern the trotting, and Jerome Park rules the running. Entries close on the 22nd inst. Read the bill for yourself.

OTTAWA.—We have a double announcement this week from Ottawa. Both clubs, Mutchmor Park and the New Dominion Trotting Park, have claimed dates in the same week, which is clashing with a vengeance. Probably by next week they will have come to an understanding which will be mutually profitable.

Fergus—Race No. 4 in the programme of this energetic association has been changed so as to only leave it open to horses owned in the Co. of Wellington. While they were making the change we would have been pleased to see them alter it to 2 in 8.

KINGSTON.—The fall meeting at Kingston will take place on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 3, 4 and 5. The programme will probably be published next week.

Mr. Forrest.—The inaugural meeting of this club will take place some time next month. It is proposed to have a two days' meeting. A good programme is promised.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF AMERICAN TROTTING.

The genuine sportsman, in the true acceptation of the word, sports of any kind, so long as it is sport, never comes amiss. He is as keen with a couple of wire terriers in a rockyard...

Railway stations are more or less the same all over the world, and I don't think the Grand Central Depot of New York is any exception to the rule. On arrival there I found the same individuals anxious to take charge of your luggage, the same itinerant vendors of periodicals...

At Spuyten Duyvil I got my first glimpse of the Hudson. May I be permitted a few words descriptive of the impression that was made upon me when the mighty panorama first caught my eye...

These of my countrymen who have never had the advantage of passing any time with American families in their own homes, know very little of Americans. Their experience, like Mr. Hopworth Dixon's, and that class of men who attend to describe America and Americans...

seem to come more readily to the end of my pon. Horses walking about in clothing, solemn looking earnest knots of dust-dusted gentlemen...

The first thing that struck me was the apparent carelessness with which the door of each horse's box was left open; most of the animals standing with their heads out inviting the caressing hand of any blackguard who chose to molest them. Yes, there they were, the horses upon whom public money was to be freely laid out...

And now it was time to have a look at the track as the morning was rapidly advancing. The first horse that came by was the renowned stallion, Smuggler, and I must confess I was not very much impressed with his appearance. He was going round the track at about half speed...

Next to Smuggler came Thorndale. He was, in my opinion, the nearest horse on the course—I mean of his class, viz., half-bred. As he stood still, to permit his driver, Mr. Dobble, to get up, I had an opportunity of running the rule over him...

I had an opportunity of running the rule over him. If anything, Thorndale's condition was as much too big as the other horse's was too light, especially about the neck; but his trainer had evidently managed to get some of the beef off his ribs, and develop his muscular quarters and grand forearm...

By Bombardier, son of imp. Glencoe; dam the Harrison mare, by Defiance, will make the season of 1876 at the same stable.

STORMONT
STOCK FARM
CORNWALL ONT.

RINGWOOD,

Got by Edward Everett; 1st dam by Long Island Black Hawk; 2nd dam by American Star, will stand during the season of 1876, at the Stormont Stock Farm, one mile east of the Town of Cornwall.

Ringwood is, in color, golden chestnut; stands 15½ hands high, and weighs 1,170 lbs. He is a horse of grand presence, of more style, head and tail, than any horse in the country. With his perfect, regular, machine-like action, his wonderful speed, power and substance, and his rare combination, in the closest and most direct lines, of the blood of the three greatest trotting families on the turf, the ABDALLAHS, BASHAWS, and STANES, he is the most desirable horse to breed from in Canada, and not surpassed by any trotting stallion in America. From the appearance of his colts and fillies of 1874 and 1875 (his first get were dropped in 1874), they have his fine size, form and color, it is fair to infer that he will transmit to his stock his own great qualities: the great qualities of style, speed and game that distinguish his Royal ancestry, and place them on the roll of fame, high above all other families of trotters.

Directly descended through his sire, Edward Everett, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian (by Abdallah by Mambrino), from imp. Massachusetts; through his dam, by Long Island Black Hawk (by Andrew Jackson, by Young Bashaw), from imp. ARABIAN GRAND BASHAW; and through his grand dam, by Seely's American Star (by American Star by Duroc), from imp. Duroc, he is more closely and immediately allied to the great trotting wonders of America, with the exception of Walkhill Chief, Ajax, and Artemus, full brothers, and of Socrates and Norwood, full brothers, than any other horse now at the stud, that we know of, either in Canada or in the United States. Add to this the Royal blood of imported Margrave, deeply inbred to the great Haxton, derived through the dam of his sire, and you have a combination of the lightest and purest types that may be equalled possibly, but cannot be excelled by that of any trotting sire in the world. ANS. BLOOD WILL TELL !!

TERMS—$30 the season, payable 1st Sept. next, or if preferred, $50 to insure. Season will end 31st July.

All mares owned out of the Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, must be paid for at the time of service or before removal.

Warr Hulett.

I offer my bay stallion for sale cheap. He is without doubt the best bred trotting stallion in Canada, having 6 crosses to imp. Messenger, and being descended from trotters on both sire and dam's side.

He is sire of more trotters than any stallion in Canada, being sire of Belle of Pawlet (6 yrs), 2:31, Robinson (5 yrs), 2:32, Lady Brown (3 yrs), 2:52, Baby Belle (3 yrs old), trotted 3 mile heats in 1:29, 1:27, 1:26, and numerous others. Hulett is a perfect road horse, afraid of nothing, anybody can drive him; a good foal getter. He stood at $75 in Washington Co., N.Y. in 1875, and got over 90 mares.

I will guarantee him to trot a full mile in 2:35 with handling. He has never had any handling and is untried. He is sound without fault.

He could be bought at double the price I ask.
