The McKendry fire inquest was resumed at Police Headquarters last night. The evidence put in may be said to show that some people have bad memories, or little regard for the truth, and have a poor idea of what they left the place at 8.25.

Earlier Closing!

The novelty of 5 o'clock closing is the enthusiasm of this store during July and August. We tried it last year with success and repeat it this year with emphasis. Enlarging the possibilities of pleasure for 1,500 employees is reason enough for insisting on earlier shopping in the interest of earlier closing.

Next Wednesday the store will be closed all day—Dominion Day. After that we close at 1 o'clock Saturdays and 5 o'clock other days until further notice.

Very Near Stocktaking

Only three days in which to clear the deck for inventory. Lots of things we'd rather you'd have than we, and plenty of goods we're almost giving away. Every department is interested in the general clearance of anything and everything we've too much of.

The new buildings make us more emphatic about this stocktaking. A big transformation will follow their completion, and with all stocks at a minimum we can accomplish our purpose so much the better. It's clearly the time now to sell goods. It is decidedly your opportunity to buy them.

If you know of any better values than these don't come here. But if you happen to want anything out of this list you'll have to get here bright and early Saturday morning to make sure of it—

The effect of such values has been to crowd the store at 8 o'clock mornings. Sometimes the lots are gone before 9, and of course, we've no more at the prices when they're gone. As a matter of fact this column has a direct interest to more people than anything else the paper prints.

FREE TO MAKE A FRESH START.

In the finest of his dialogues Plato quotes Socrates in his closing hours as saying to one of his friends: "We owe a debt (as an offering to the gods) to let us see the debt is paid." The Conservative party, by its Premier and its Government, owed a debt to the people of Quebec, bishops and all, in the shape of legislation, remedial of the wrongs of the Catholic majority in Manitoba, and in the supreme moment the debt was paid, costing, as it did, the control of the government of the country. But those who demanded the pound of flesh and the life and blood of the people, the payment by voting the Conservatives out of power. Nineteen for Tupper who paid the debt, Forty-four for Laurier, who gave a long note, instead.

The Conservatives having paid the debt, the obligation is discharged in no far as they are concerned; and if the Quebecers do not realize their demands, it is not the fault of the Conservative Government.

The Conservatives are in a better position to-day, having discharged the obligation, as far as they were concerned, and remedial legislation is not being made, in the shape of the people of Quebec have only themselves to blame.

The Conservatives have a clear receipt, and what is better still, from our point of view, the Manitobans have suit their National Schools.

The people of Quebec stand before the rest of the country in an unequal position: as people who take money but fail to deliver goods.

It is, however, the best thing for the country that the thing has turned out as it has done; the Conservatives are better out of office than party to the coercion of a free province in matters affecting education.

Having discharged the debt and yet not having committed the sin and the Conservative party can proceed on its course, more careful as to what obligations it incurs hereafter. And the southern over the loss of office to the assuaged in the avoidance of passing a very questionable piece of legislation.

The Conservative party is free of all entanglements, is ready to reconstruct itself, to revise its policy and to wait for an early opportunity of again serving the country.

THE IMMERSALS AND TARIFF REFORM.

It is satisfactory to notice that Mr. Laurier will apply himself at once to the carrying out of his ideas on tariff reform. Whatever his policy is going to be in this respect it is better that the country should be apprised of it immediately than to allow a long period of uncertainty to elapse before anything definite is decided upon. In an interview at Montreal yesterday, the Premier declared that he has a general outline of his tariff platform, but the outline is not sufficiently definite to afford a clear idea of what is coming. Mr. Laurier admits that the party has been elected on the platform of tariff reform, and it is on the lines of tariff reform that they intend to work. He proposes to reform, not to revolutionize, the tariff. We are further informed that the duties will be given of proposed changes, so that those who are concerned in the particular industries affected may have an opportunity to state themselves to the new conditions. So far, then, manufacturers have no reason to be frightened. At the same time, it is certain that no industrial venture will be undertaken until we have practical evidence of what Mr. Laurier's idea of tariff reform really means.

The organ of the new administration recognizes, as Mr. Laurier does, that the Liberal party owe it to the country to indicate as early as possible the lines upon which the reformation of the tariff is to proceed. We notice that neither Mr. Laurier nor The Globe gives any indication as to the platform of protection on the Cartwright principle. It is generally believed Sir Richard will be appointed High Commissioner in place of Sir Donald Smith. Mr. Laurier and Sir Oliver Holroyd realize that Sir Richard's radical tariff views do not harmonize with public opinion, and the transfer of Sir Richard to London is a clever move for relieving the party from future embarrassment. The Globe not only does not suggest any radical attack on Protection, but it goes so far as to hint that wherever the protective tariff has proved a success it should not be disturbed. "Show us an industry," says that paper, "which is content with fair profits and is paying good wages to a large body of men and we say that that is a case for very careful and considerate treatment." We commend the Globe for such industries to our contemporary. The bicycle trade may be taken as a sample. The Canadian manufacturers of bicycles are not making exorbitant profits, or if they are the effect of competition will soon be felt, and the profit in this business will be reduced to the normal level. At the same time the industry affords employment and good wages to thousands of Canadian workmen. And yet it is protected by a thirty per cent duty. The bicycle industry is evidently one that The Globe would recommend for careful and considerate treatment. The Globe is already prepared to admit the principle of Protection, at the principle is recognized as advantageous in one industry, why not in others? Why not in all industries where the conditions are similar to those of the one in which it has proven an undoubted success?

Mr. Laurier is about to test the efficacy of Protection in a practical way. He will have on his shoulders the responsibility of office, and he will virtually be declaring that he will disturb no industry when it can be shown that such disturbance will prove disastrous to the interests of the country. Mr. Laurier, at all events, is ready to listen to the arguments of the manufacturers, and in this respect he gives evidence of much superior statesmanship to that displayed by his predecessor, Hon. Mr. Mackenzie.

TO BE RELEGATED TO A COMMISSIONER.

It is evidently Mr. Laurier's intention to get rid of the Manitoba school question, and this is being done by the appointment of a commission. The first Italian hand of Sir Oliver Mowat is apparent in this proposal, which was announced in The Globe yesterday. The appointment of a commission, which is a difficult affair, has been Sir Oliver's forte in Provincial politics. He has, no doubt, advised Mr. Laurier to adopt the commission expedient, rather than to secure a temporary respite from the Manitoba school difficulty. Sir Oliver has turned many a corner in this well-known device, but the Manitoba difficulty only which cannot be referred to obscurity by a commission. The issue will have to be squarely faced before long, and Mr. Laurier and the Liberal party are the ones who will have to bear the brunt of the battle. The settlement of the issue is as far off and as difficult as ever.

THE ARTISTS SAILED.

Editorial: I was very much pleased in reading in this morning's World Mr. W. F. Stock's article on the subject of the Manitoba school question. I agree with every sentence of his, and I am glad to see that he did not get a little farther back for some of the blunders that have been committed, and have the Conservative Government, like specters of the Dark Ages, stand for evermore in the limbo of oblivion.

Miss Augusta Cooke's musical selection was very excellent. The Lord Bishop referred to the high standing of the school and the ability of the teaching staff.

STEAM GOES OUT.

The Big Electric Locomotive for the Hull and Ayrmer Railway is now being tested.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special)—For the last few weeks the Canadian General Electric Company has been busy in building a large electric locomotive. It is constructed on the same lines as the one which is now being tested on the Hull and Ayrmer Railway, and is to be used to haul passenger and freight cars on the Canadian Pacific line. The locomotive is now being tested on the Hull and Ayrmer Railway, and is found to be very satisfactory. The other equipment consists of what is ordinarily known as the "road" or "switch" locomotive, namely, bells, whistle, brakes, etc.

DIED IN THE WEST.

The body of W. F. Henderson, commission merchant of the Pacific coast, is en route to Toronto for interment.

The Conservative party, by its Premier and its Government, owed a debt to the people of Quebec, bishops and all, in the shape of legislation, remedial of the wrongs of the Catholic majority in Manitoba, and in the supreme moment the debt was paid, costing, as it did, the control of the government of the country. But those who demanded the pound of flesh and the life and blood of the people, the payment by voting the Conservatives out of power. Nineteen for Tupper who paid the debt, Forty-four for Laurier, who gave a long note, instead.

The Conservatives having paid the debt, the obligation is discharged in no far as they are concerned; and if the Quebecers do not realize their demands, it is not the fault of the Conservative Government.

The Conservatives are in a better position to-day, having discharged the obligation, as far as they were concerned, and remedial legislation is not being made, in the shape of the people of Quebec have only themselves to blame.

The Conservatives have a clear receipt, and what is better still, from our point of view, the Manitobans have suit their National Schools.

The people of Quebec stand before the rest of the country in an unequal position: as people who take money but fail to deliver goods.

It is, however, the best thing for the country that the thing has turned out as it has done; the Conservatives are better out of office than party to the coercion of a free province in matters affecting education.

Having discharged the debt and yet not having committed the sin and the Conservative party can proceed on its course, more careful as to what obligations it incurs hereafter. And the southern over the loss of office to the assuaged in the avoidance of passing a very questionable piece of legislation.

The Conservative party is free of all entanglements, is ready to reconstruct itself, to revise its policy and to wait for an early opportunity of again serving the country.

THE IMMERSALS AND TARIFF REFORM.

It is satisfactory to notice that Mr. Laurier will apply himself at once to the carrying out of his ideas on tariff reform. Whatever his policy is going to be in this respect it is better that the country should be apprised of it immediately than to allow a long period of uncertainty to elapse before anything definite is decided upon. In an interview at Montreal yesterday, the Premier declared that he has a general outline of his tariff platform, but the outline is not sufficiently definite to afford a clear idea of what is coming. Mr. Laurier admits that the party has been elected on the platform of tariff reform, and it is on the lines of tariff reform that they intend to work. He proposes to reform, not to revolutionize, the tariff. We are further informed that the duties will be given of proposed changes, so that those who are concerned in the particular industries affected may have an opportunity to state themselves to the new conditions. So far, then, manufacturers have no reason to be frightened. At the same time, it is certain that no industrial venture will be undertaken until we have practical evidence of what Mr. Laurier's idea of tariff reform really means.

The organ of the new administration recognizes, as Mr. Laurier does, that the Liberal party owe it to the country to indicate as early as possible the lines upon which the reformation of the tariff is to proceed. We notice that neither Mr. Laurier nor The Globe gives any indication as to the platform of protection on the Cartwright principle. It is generally believed Sir Richard will be appointed High Commissioner in place of Sir Donald Smith. Mr. Laurier and Sir Oliver Holroyd realize that Sir Richard's radical tariff views do not harmonize with public opinion, and the transfer of Sir Richard to London is a clever move for relieving the party from future embarrassment. The Globe not only does not suggest any radical attack on Protection, but it goes so far as to hint that wherever the protective tariff has proved a success it should not be disturbed. "Show us an industry," says that paper, "which is content with fair profits and is paying good wages to a large body of men and we say that that is a case for very careful and considerate treatment." We commend the Globe for such industries to our contemporary. The bicycle trade may be taken as a sample. The Canadian manufacturers of bicycles are not making exorbitant profits, or if they are the effect of competition will soon be felt, and the profit in this business will be reduced to the normal level. At the same time the industry affords employment and good wages to thousands of Canadian workmen. And yet it is protected by a thirty per cent duty. The bicycle industry is evidently one that The Globe would recommend for careful and considerate treatment. The Globe is already prepared to admit the principle of Protection, at the principle is recognized as advantageous in one industry, why not in others? Why not in all industries where the conditions are similar to those of the one in which it has proven an undoubted success?

Mr. Laurier is about to test the efficacy of Protection in a practical way. He will have on his shoulders the responsibility of office, and he will virtually be declaring that he will disturb no industry when it can be shown that such disturbance will prove disastrous to the interests of the country. Mr. Laurier, at all events, is ready to listen to the arguments of the manufacturers, and in this respect he gives evidence of much superior statesmanship to that displayed by his predecessor, Hon. Mr. Mackenzie.

TO BE RELEGATED TO A COMMISSIONER.

It is evidently Mr. Laurier's intention to get rid of the Manitoba school question, and this is being done by the appointment of a commission. The first Italian hand of Sir Oliver Mowat is apparent in this proposal, which was announced in The Globe yesterday. The appointment of a commission, which is a difficult affair, has been Sir Oliver's forte in Provincial politics. He has, no doubt, advised Mr. Laurier to adopt the commission expedient, rather than to secure a temporary respite from the Manitoba school difficulty. Sir Oliver has turned many a corner in this well-known device, but the Manitoba difficulty only which cannot be referred to obscurity by a commission. The issue will have to be squarely faced before long, and Mr. Laurier and the Liberal party are the ones who will have to bear the brunt of the battle. The settlement of the issue is as far off and as difficult as ever.

THE ARTISTS SAILED.

Editorial: I was very much pleased in reading in this morning's World Mr. W. F. Stock's article on the subject of the Manitoba school question. I agree with every sentence of his, and I am glad to see that he did not get a little farther back for some of the blunders that have been committed, and have the Conservative Government, like specters of the Dark Ages, stand for evermore in the limbo of oblivion.

Miss Augusta Cooke's musical selection was very excellent. The Lord Bishop referred to the high standing of the school and the ability of the teaching staff.

STEAM GOES OUT.

The Big Electric Locomotive for the Hull and Ayrmer Railway is now being tested.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special)—For the last few weeks the Canadian General Electric Company has been busy in building a large electric locomotive. It is constructed on the same lines as the one which is now being tested on the Hull and Ayrmer Railway, and is to be used to haul passenger and freight cars on the Canadian Pacific line. The locomotive is now being tested on the Hull and Ayrmer Railway, and is found to be very satisfactory. The other equipment consists of what is ordinarily known as the "road" or "switch" locomotive, namely, bells, whistle, brakes, etc.

THE BODY WAS EXHUMED.
Why the Doctor Gave a Burial Certificate in the Christian Science Case—The Inquiry Adjourned.

At Ayre's Lakeview Hotel, Winchester and Parliament-streets, last evening, Coroner Johnson commenced an inquiry into the peculiar circumstances surrounding the death of Adelaide Goodson, a young woman who was a devotee of the Christian Science faith and such is thought to have been the cause of her demise.

The Body Exhumed.

When the jury had been sworn in Coroner Johnson accompanied them to St. James' Cemetery, where the body had been exhumed. The jury then returned to the Lakeview Hotel, where the evidence of Dr. Fraleigh was taken. He said that he had been called in to attend a deceased once. He had found her in a dying condition at the house of Mrs. Eser, a Christian Scientist, who lives in Henderson-avenue. He immediately advised medicine for her and went to his office and made up a prescription. The medicine was not sent for, however, until 3 o'clock on Monday morning, and it transpires that by this time the young woman had expired.

Why He Issued the Burial Order.

Dr. Fraleigh issued an order for burial, telling Mrs. Goodson's father that he only did so because he understood that no law in the country would punish a person for neglecting one who was ill. The doctor was not satisfied with the state of affairs, and he consulted the circumstances to Dr. Sheard, the Medical Health Officer, who advised him to issue a burial certificate. Dr. Fraleigh was satisfied that, had timely medical attention been given, Mrs. Goodson's life might have been saved.

After Dr. Fraleigh's evidence had been taken the inquest was adjourned until 2:30 this afternoon. Coroner Johnson having to attend the inquest of a lady fire inquest.
