HARDY'S WIND BATTERY ATTACKS THE SENATE.

Ontario Premier Obeys the Command of General Tarte and Turns His Guns on Col. Whitney's Band of Fighters for the People.

Minister Ross Attacks the Senate With Great Bitterness and Endorses the Notorious Yukon Deal.

Leader of the Opposition Shows Up the Iniquity of Springing Such an Infamous Proposition in the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton Shows How the Senate Had Checked "Tarte and His Hired Men" and Saved in One Day a Million Dollars."

The Attorney-General monopolized the whole of yesterday's session of the Ontario Legislature with his Senate Report resolutions. The Premier and Hon. Mr. Ross at great length spoke in favor of the mandate which the Attorney-General did not deny he had received from the Dominion Government; and Mr. Whitney and Mr. Carscallen made most effective speeches against what they termed the unconstitutional and well-nigh revolutionary proposals of the Government. At midnight, after six hours firing and cross-firing, the debate was adjourned.

Senate Reform.

The present system had broken down; it had lost the confidence of the country, and had become an obstruction. The prophecies and predictions made concerning it had been fulfilled. The people were now more numerous than ever, and the equilibrium of political parties would be preserved.

Had Proved a Failure.

The present system was a deadlock at the will of the Senate. This was the opinion of the Fathers of Confederation. Some believed that the Senate would bring about a just equilibrium and that the Government would have a lengthened tenure of power, and by the appointment system by the Minister of Internal Affairs, the Senate would be a sufficient check upon the other two houses.

HAMILTON NEWS

THAT SENSATIONAL CASE.

An Anonymous Writer Holds Out a Threat to Geoghegan's Friends Who Talked to the Press.

COURT OF TRIERS HAD NO DOUBT

As to the Guilt of the Reverend Gentleman, the Writer Says—

Why Is No Appeal Made?

Hamilton, March 16.—(Special)—The Geoghegan case continues to occupy the attention of a good many citizens. The recent contribution bearing on the unpleasant case appears in the city papers to-day. As it was written by one connected with the investigation and was present during the whole of the sittings, its contents are in a measure official and worthy of attention, although he was not mainly enough to sign his name to the published letter. The author of the article has given a brief account of Mr. Geoghegan's friends. If Mr. Geoghegan had been found guilty he would have been content with things as they are at present. He states at the conclusion of the trial in the present six weeks, that there were means which they can adopt to clear their skirts of all suspicion, and give a sound basis for the trial. The result will not be pleasing to either Mr. Geoghegan or his friends, I believe."

To Be Safe Beautiful.

A sub-committee of the Property Committee met this afternoon to consider what steps to take to make the square in front of the Court House look better.

The committee will meet on Saturday, the 23d, which will be the first day of the month.

The sub-committee also recommended that the tenants who have not paid up for offices in the Court House be asked to do so by Thursday next, or be liable to be called for repairing the walls with gruel.

Farewell to Mr. Buchanan.

This evening a farewell banquet was tendered W. J. Buchanan, last night, at the Hotel Metropole.

The hotel management has given him a pension of $100 per month.

The police commissioners will meet to-morrow to consider the appointment of a constable.

A Toronto man named Fox, and his wife and three children, have given a watch to the Bishop of London to-day.

The Bishop reviewed the evidence with the greatest care. His Lordship would have none of it, however, and released him.

He had the power, instead of acquitting him, unhesitatingly confirmed the decision arrived at by the board.

The Bishop, however, was not satisfied with the way in which the evidence had been given.

"The only thing he can be dissatisfied with is the judgment of the court of trials on the evidence adduced. He will not appear before the committee with his wife and his wife who thinks for a moment that he will be convicted.

Dominion and Yankee Freak Boats
Will Meet on Lake St.

DIMENSIONS OF ST. PAUL CRAFT

Western Yacht is Fast and Bears Striking Resemblance to

All the Freaks.

The Yankee of St. Paul, Minn., is the yacht that will sail in the first international race of this year, a simple match affair, June 12. The Yankee is one of the fast boats in the White Bear Yacht Club of White Bear Lake, Minnesota, of which
J. W. Taylor is commodore; and this sloop, whose racing length is 20 feet, has challenged the Canadian phenomenon, the Dominion, which defeated the Seawanhaka
Challenger in last summer's races on Lake
St. Louis, near Montreal, for the Seawanhaka
International Challenge Cup.

The White Bear Yacht Club is sending in this challenge to the Seawanhaka Club, who have the Dugout boat, he elicited the

HARDY'S WIND BATTERY ATTACKS THE SENATE.

were with doubt and hesitancy upon the present constitution of the Canadian Senate. They were afraid it would lead to a leading catastrophe, and even a resolution Mr. Cardwell, then the Colonial Secretary, was quoted somewhat to the effect; also Lord Carnarvon, then殖民大臣, said that the colonial affairs. Mr. John Bright, who was not at the time connected with the Imperial Government, was afraid the system adopted in the work of the legislature was prophetic and the bill had been realized; it had already been illustrated. Everything predicted has come true, probably more than in the legislation of the last two years.

Essence is Responsibility.

Continuing, the Attorney-General said: "The essence of the Constitutional Government is responsible to the people directly or indirectly. Can anyone afford any trace of such responsibility in the Constitution?" A resolution in 1885 in the Ontario Legislature suggested that one-half of the Senate should be appointed by Provincial Governors. This resolution was defeated, but a moderate plan of reform was adopted.

Moderate Accepts No Denies.

Replying to the question, then the House was asked which Senators should be chosen. There might be no ideal method, and there was difficulty in determining what the resolution should be. The resolution, in 1885, the Attorney-General contended, was the best. The Government could devise in the future the differences of opinion in the House. Hence they asked but a moderate plan of reform.

The Imperial Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said: "I am proposing what I believe is a scheme that is likely to be accepted by the Imperial Parliament, and that if all the provinces, a majority of them, would accept it, then, of course, it would be given by the Imperial Government and an incubus removed from Canada's legislative machine."

Imitations Not Good.

It was said in justification of the Canadian Senate that it is an imitation of the House of Commons. All imitations are bad, all imitations are feeble, most imitations are base, all imitations are ineffective. The feeble imitation is an imitation of the differences of opinion in the House.

An Honorable Men.

I say nothing personally against the members of the Senate. They are all honorable men. But think of the anomaly—a legislative body, under a republican form of government, before a human tribunal, that cannot be controlled by any authority, that can flout at popular opinion, that can be reactionary, that can be obstinate, but not to argument, not amenable to reason, that can defy the stoutheart demands made in the name of justice. It is an anomaly that can bring up a scheme that is likely to be accepted by the Canadian Senate, and then ask, "Can you bring it into harmony with public opinion?" I say it is an anomaly too responsible to be accepted by the Canadian Senate. And scheme that would bring the Canadian Senate into harmony with the underlying principles of good, free, popular government should be submitted to the representative Legislative Assembly. (Rehearsed application.)

Its Unfinished Power.

The Senate has absolute power of rejection of any measure that may be sent up to it. It has the greatest power of ascent or of amendment. That is to say, if the Senate obstructed Liberal policy it ought to be suspended. If it rejected the plans of the Conservative, it would be suspended. If it rejected the bills of the opposition, it would be suspended. So it was declared at the Imperial Convention in Ottawa in 1885.

The Imperial Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said: "I am proposing what I believe is a scheme that is likely to be accepted by the Imperial Parliament, and that if all the provinces, a majority of them, would accept it, then, of course, it would be given by the Imperial Government and an incubus removed from Canada's legislative machine."

Some Contests.

Moderate men may say the Senate may breast the waves, weather the storms, what are the facts? The present leader of the Opposition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is an obstinate man, an wayward man, a man determined to have his own way.

To the Amendment.

Hon. Mr. Ross objected to the subject being discussed as a party question. He said the great speech of the Attorney-General was not a good speech, but the speech of the opposition, then Hon. Mr. Hardy was obeying the behest of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Minister of Education.

Mr. Ross said that the Minister of Education, under a republican form of government, before a human tribunal, that cannot be controlled by any authority, that can flout at popular opinion, that can be reactionary, that can be obstinate, but not to argument, not amenable to reason, that can defy the stoutheart demands made in the name of justice. It is an anomaly that can bring up a scheme that is likely to be accepted by the Canadian Senate, and then ask, "Can you bring it into harmony with public opinion?" I say it is an anomaly too responsible to be accepted by the Canadian Senate. And scheme that would bring the Canadian Senate into harmony with the underlying principles of good, free, popular government should be submitted to the representative Legislative Assembly. (Rehearsed application.)

Modern Examples.

The Attorney-General then referred to two great measures that had been wrecked from the Senate. Once, measures had been withdrawn because of known hostility of the Senate. In fact the Senate obstructed the bill.

Adverting to the Opposition.

Adverting to the opposition, Hon. Mr. Hardy said: "What is the bill? It is a bill to amend the Constitution so as to abolish the Senate." It is a bill to amend the Constitution so as to abolish the Senate.

As a Legislative Drag.

The Senate had, he concluded, a negative right in regard to the progressive legislation of Canada. He challenged the right of the Senate to amend the Constitution.

The Mouthpiece of Tarde.

The Premier, after having affirmed that he had been the same kind of person as the Premier, then the Attorney-General, the member for East Hamilton, had been compelled to leave the position of the mouthpiece of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, simply because he was in the position he now occupies.

George Brown's Idea.

Mr. Whitney, following the example of the Premier, read quotations from Hon. George Brown, the leader of the Senate, one of whom was: "The Senate should be an independent body to check hasty and party legislation." He agreed that the Senate should be an independent body, but to whom?—to those who wish to exploit the treasury of the Dominion of Canada. May the Senate still be such an obstruction? (Applause.)

An Anti-Suffrage Resolution.

This resolution, containing a clause that however, was compelled to assume in order partly, to forward the fortunes of the Dominion party.

Voice of East Hamilton.

Mr. Caron: "I do not think this course is wise, with Britain's tariff, the Government's tactics in the House and the demeanor of the Attorney-General to members on this side of the House will be taken into account by the electorate and general public."

Another Deadlock in China.

Postponer Demands of the Chinese have caused Appeal to London and Washington.

Thomas Brown's Drygoods Store and Other Property Destroyed Last Night.

Coborne, March 16.—A great fire at about 11 o'clock last night destroyed Thomas Brown's dry goods store. It was the second fire to break out in Coborne since Friday, the closing of the Quebec legislature, the Cumberland car artery and the ancient capital having about two hours earlier, burnt down, and between the last minute into doing what he could to say he was in favor of the movement.

George Brown's Idea.

Mr. Whitney, following the example of the Premier, read quotations from Hon. George Brown, the leader of the Senate, one of which was: "The Senate should be an independent body to check hasty and party legislation."

He agreed that the Senate should be an independent body to check hasty and party legislation.

Necessity of a Second Chamber.

Once admitting the necessity of the second chamber it must be insisted upon that the second bar from the first, the strongest safeguard and strongest protection to the people is a nominated second chamber. If improper legislation was passed in the Commons it was the duty of the Senate to reject it. The Senate could go to the country to see if they were right. Senators as individuals were as liable to error as other legislators. The Senate's right to reject the bills of the Commons had stopped any legislation that should not have been stopped. The Premier had spoken of the Bill of Rights. Hon. Mr. Mills, which body Mr. Whitney pointed out was now intensely popular in England.

Mr. Mills Was Fair.

Mr. Whitney said he was amazed to hear Mr. Hardy's speech. Hon. Mr. Mills in his argument and he showed where in 1897 Mr. Mills had heartily endorsed the Senate. He now privately thanked Mr. Mills for his coming and fair speech.

The Yukon bill and Drummond railway deals were taken up by the speaker who was the author of the bill. The Yukon bill had been realized; it had already been illustrated. Everything predicted has come true, probably more than in the legislation of the last two years.

Essence is Responsibility.

THE ONTARIO & RAINY RIVER RAILWAY.

The Ontario & Rainy River Railway is receiving assistance from three Governments—the Dominion, the Ontario and Manitoba. These Governments are all Liberal. They are controlled by the party that has shielded itself over the inquiry of railway monopoly. If ever there was an opportunity to curb this monopoly it is on the present occasion, when assistance is being given for railroads from Port Arthur to Winnipeg. There is plenty of railway competition in Eastern Canada. At least three rival systems occupy the field from the seaboard to Port Arthur. But when we reach the latter point a condition is the reverse of this prevails. A single railway controls practically the whole of Canada west of Port Arthur. It is in this part of Canada where we are to look for the future increase of our population, and nothing will tend to accelerate that increase more speedily than cheap railway rates. If we construct the Ontario & Rainy River Railway as a national work, or if the Government retains effective control over it, we will extend the field of effective competition from Port Arthur to Winnipeg, a distance of over 400 miles. The Liberals who have been shouting death on railway monopoly for 20 years, back now have an opportunity of striking an effective blow at it. They have the extension of a new system from Lake Superior to Winnipeg in their own hands. What do they propose doing to maintain the independence of this line, to retain running rights for other railways, and to secure an effective regulation of rates?

No matter what condition the Dominion and Manitoba Governments may impose in consideration of granting bonuses the Ontario Government should insist on such regulations as will ensure the kind of a service the people of this province desire. In the first place the independence of the Ontario & Rainy River Railway should be guaranteed by some machinery that is absolutely effective. It is the people's money that will build every mile of this railway and the Government should demand these restrictions, not as a favor, but as an absolute right. In addition to securing the independence of the road, the Government should insist on control of the road as far as running rights to other lines are concerned. Moreover, the Government should reserve the right to decide the term on which such a privilege will be accorded to another railway. In order to decide this matter properly the Government should insist on a detailed statement showing the actual cost of the road. As far as that cost has been met by public money every other railway should have the benefit of it to the same extent as the Ontario & Rainy River Company itself. For instance, if it is found that the bonuses are sufficient to build the road then in estimating the charge for running rights not one dollar should be charged for interest on capital to any company which wishes to use the road. All roads should be on the same footing in this respect. The Ontario & Rainy River Railway should not be allowed to tax other lines for any of its capital that is represented by bonuses. No line using the road should be taxed on a dollar of watered stock. In order that all roads should be able to use this line on equal terms it will be necessary for the railway to demand such rates as will account for every dollar that has been received and expended.

The next thing the Government should insist on is the right to fix the amount for which any company may build the road. This is a very important consideration. The promoters should not be allowed to build the road for a dollar more than is necessary for actual construction. The bonding privilege in connection with new railways has been greatly abused. One instance may be cited. The Qu'Appelle, Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway was bonded for $3,000,000, and yet it cost only $2,500,000 to construct. The difference of $1,500,000 was pocketed by the promoters and invested by them in electric railways in Eastern Canada. The statement of cost that we have referred to is necessary to prevent frauds on the public through excessive bonding. Another point the Government should insist on before granting the company any further concessions is the right to regulate rates and tolls. The Manitoba Government has secured a 10-cent rate for wheat from Winnipeg to Port Arthur. Ontario is not interested so much in wheat as it is in ore. Before long there will be large shipments of iron ore to Lake Superior. The Government should insist on such a regulation of rates as will encourage the development of our iron mines.

These are some of the conditions which the Government should insist on before an other dollar is granted to the Ontario & Rainy River Railway.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

The speech from the throne is more conspicuous for what it omits than for what it contains. In view of the fact that the policy which the Liberal party has endeavored to carry out for the past two years has utterly failed, we expected to see a reference in the speech to some new line of action. In this we are sadly disappointed. No legislation is foreshadowed looking to the development at home of several Canadian industries that are now practically in the hands of the United States. The speech gives no indication that the Government intends carrying out the so-called new National Policy which The Globe outlined some short time ago. It looks, indeed, as if the Government regards the Washington negotiations in the nature of a lawsuit. The case is still sub judice and will be till August next. Until that time it will be contempt of court, or something similar, for the Government to do anything that would change the status of the parties. If this is the position taken by the Government it will be a most unfortunate thing for Canada. While there may be some uncertainty as to the American attitude on the boundary question there is no room whatever in their attitude towards us on reciprocity. The Canadian Government should not postpone for a single day the adoption of its new policy towards the United States, if it has any such policy. We are inclined to believe, however, that Sir Wilfrid will continue to play the part of the magnanimous simpleton and the Americans to get another year's addition to their orgies.

FURTHER SLUMP IN WHEAT.

Chicago Futures Take Another Drop of Over Two Cents.

Traders Tried to Bolster Up the Market, But Failed — Unless the Crop Damage Has Been Serious Prices Will Go Lower — English and Continental Markets Heavy-Locni Grain, Produce and Live Stock.

Thursday Evening, March 16. The prediction of lower wheat which have been almost fulfilled. These come for months past have been largely verified and they were to-day still further proved to have been well founded.

Liverpool wheat futures were weak again to-day, closing 1½ cents lower than yesterday's final figures.

Paris wheat declined 5 to 15 cents to-day and Paris flour 20 to 25 cents.

In the Chicago pit the day's decline amounted to a slight of over two cents a bushel and the close was near the bottom price for the session.

A private wire from Chicago this afternoon read: "The boys really bid all there now, but we're wise here and we don't budge. I think it's a wise move to sell, but serious damage to sustain prices." Foreign warehouses and the big operators were sellers and the bottom is out of the market.

Liverpool maize futures held steady to-day. Chicago corn futures dropped a cent per bushel.

On the local market red, white and green oats were down to 40¢ per bushel and were quoted down to 29¢ per bushel.

Exports at New York to-day: Flour 4078 barrels, and 760 sacks; wheat, 217,100 bushels.

Exports of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day 227,000 bushels, or 231 cars the corresponding date of last year.

The Cincinnati Price-Current says: The week has not been unfavorable to wheat, although the selling pressure was rather strong, but the market is lower than a year ago. Bad roads retard movement of produce.

Hog packing in the west this week 375,000, as against 345,000 the corresponding week of last year.
