ANARCHISTS KILL SPAIN'S KING ALFONSO XIII.

LOOTERS SENT TO DEATH ST. PIERRE GHOULS SHOT

Fort de France, Martinique, May 18.—Acting Governor L'Heureux is taking precautions to prevent wholesale looting at St. Pierre during the relief work. The French troops and the revenue officers have been ordered to watch out for this business. A small boat with officers was sent to St. Pierre. The officers arrested on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday eighty looters. Eleven of these were women. The officers shot many of the looters whom they found robbing the dead. The shooting of these people has been hushed up, as the French law does not justify any such action.

On Thursday, Presiding Judge Desfontaines sentenced forty-four men and four women to various terms of imprisonment, and on Friday twenty-seven men and seven women were also convicted of looting. The men were sentenced to prison for five years and the women for three. Attorney-General De Trevoix de Breffelle does not think these sentences are severe enough, and will appeal the cases to the Paris Assizes. The Martinique courts have jurisdiction over penitentiary offences of which the maximum penalty is five years. Looting is a crime which belongs to the Assize Court. Notwithstanding this, it is stated that the acting judge at St. Pierre on Tuesday, spoke the cable ship Pouyer Querier, from which it was stated that the bed of the ocean had been much disturbed. She found nine hundred fathoms where only three hundred was charted. Recharting of the island of Martinique will be authorized. Alarm has been quieted down and the people are returning to the homes from which they fled.

WATER CALLED THE KING.

Madrid, May 18.—Just at the moment the young King Alfonso left the Royal Palace yesterday for the Palace of the Cortes, to take the coronation oath, a man dressed like a workman advanced from the front of the crowd and calmly opened the door of the royal carriage. The man was badly guarded. He threw a big paper packet at the feet of the young King, who promptly kicked it away. The man, who remained seated, without showing the slightest trace of emotion. The guard escorting the royal carriage, and stunned him with more blows. He was seized and conveyed to the Corps de Garde Station, trembling with fear. In the meantime a paroxysm of rage got hold of the crowd, who endeavored to lynch the man, but were restrained by the guards. The excitement subsided when it was seen that the King's carriage had proceeded without delay.

NEW CRATERS FORM.

Paris, May 19.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Kingstown, St. Vincent, dated Saturday, May 17, says that, during the previous night, 15 violent detonations from Mont Pelee were heard, and that they were accompanied by lightning, which lit up the entire island. The eruption receded in violence, says the despatch, and, for the moment, a second catastrophe was feared. New craters are forming in the neighborhood of Le Precheur.

HUMAN CINDERS.

London, May 19.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Kingstown, St. Vincent, dated Friday, May 16, says the British cruiser Pallias has arrived there, and that while passing Martinique last night she encountered wreckage and Mont Pelee was seen to still be burning. Volcanic dust was falling thickly at some distance from the Martinique coast. It is reported here, still in some danger. One thousand, five hundred men and two bodies have been buried at Georgetown, more are still in the lava, while the persons who are slowly dying are mere human cinders.

DAWN OF A VAST TRADE AMERICANS NOW INVADE CANADIAN NORTHWEST

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND WILL COME IN AND SETTLE ON LANDS DURING THIS YEAR.

Eastern Manufacturers Will Have to Wake Up—Great American Industries Coming.

The World presents to its readers this morning some information which should command the attention of every business man in Eastern Canada. The manufacturers, especially, should ponder it well. Great changes are about to take place in the industrial life of Canada. Some few see the coming changes; but the great mass of our manufacturers are not taking them into their calculations at all. The reason of the coming changes is that the development of the Canadian Northwest on a gigantic scale is about to set in—fact, has already set in. As Mr. B. E. Walker says: "The Americans who are taking advantage of the prospects of this country are people who, in some way, were connected with the great boom in the American West 30 years ago, and now recognize the premonitory symptoms as to what is to occur in the Canadian Northwest." It is, as Mr. Walker says, the Americans who see what is coming. They are going into the Northwest in tens of thousands. Their land agents are everywhere, buying land wholesale for individuals and companies. In St. Paul, they are selling twenty thousand acres of Canadian land every day, retail, to investors and home-seekers! Mr. Kenaston, who came from St. Paul to take over the John Abell Agricultural Works, says that two hundred thousand Americans will go into the Canadian Northwest this year. Individuals are going in by the thousands every day, to take up land, and companies are buying the land up by the hundred thousand acres. One syndicate has just bought a block of over one million acres! The Americans are flocking in, not only to take up our land, but are getting control of our factories in the East. As a prominent banker says to-day, dozens of instances can be given where Americans have either established new industries here, to control the trade, or have acquired old ones, with the idea of greatly increasing the output. Eastern manufacturers will have to wake up. An enormous trade is coming, but there will be a big fight for it. Industries controlled by vast amounts of American capital will spring up, and, as the armies of immigrants going into the country are American, the incoming manufacturers will naturally best understand their needs, and will make a big fight against our own manufacturers to hold the business, Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, and other Eastern centres are destined to become great manufacturing cities.

PREMONITORY SYMPTOMS OF GREAT BOOM.

Mr. B. E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is in an exceptionally favorable position to see what is actually going on in Canada. From his commanding position as head of a bank carrying on a vast business from the Atlantic to the Pacific, he is able to observe what is actually taking place, and to anticipate to some extent what will take place. It is seldom that Mr. Walker speaks so strongly on any subject as he did on Saturday, when asked to give his opinion of the developments in the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Walker said:

"The psychological moment has come, and we are on the eve of a great change. The Americans are flocking in, not only to take up our land, but are getting control of our factories in the East. As a prominent banker says to-day, dozens of instances can be given where Americans have either established new industries here, to control the trade, or have acquired old ones, with the idea of greatly increasing the output. Eastern manufacturers will have to wake up. An enormous trade is coming, but there will be a big fight for it. BOER DECISION IN DOUBT.

London, May 18.—Very divergent are the views taken both in London and Pretoria of the prospects of the conclusion of peace within the next few days. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's extremely cautious words in his speech Friday have not discouraged the sanguine hopes of the masses, but those who know the Boers best expect them to make a further attempt in the negotiations, if not in the field, to gain better terms than are contained in the British offer.

DEATH GAME IN THE MORNING

William Lee, a Veteran, Passed Away From a Sudden Stroke of Apoplexy.

FIRES LATE ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Linemen of the Cataract Power Co. Warn More Money. But Are Refused.

THE AVERAGE WAGE IS ONLY $22 A MONTH—THEY HAVE BEEN PREPARING

Hamilton, May 18.—William Lee, 394 West Hunter-street, died suddenly early this morning. He was in apparently good health when he retired. About 7 o'clock his wife was aroused by him, and he died in a minute or two. Death was due to apoplexy. Deceased was 66 years of age, and came to Canada with the Prince of Wales' Rifle Brigade. For many years, he was foreman at Hamilton's Co. stables. He leaves a widow, but no children.

THEY'RE THINKING STRIKE.

The Cataract power company has declined to accede to the request of the linemen employed by the company for an increase in wages from 18 cents to 25 cents an hour and an increase in the overtime rate from 15 cents to 20 cents. The men will go on strike to-morrow. Electrical workers at the sub-stations will also go out, it is expected. About 30 men are affected.

LABOR MOTION FOR LEGISLATION ON PICKETING DEFEATED BY SMALL MAJORITY.

London, May 18.—The debate and division in the House of Commons on Wednesday night last is interesting and as important to employers of labor as to trades unionists throughout the world.

The motion, which had been drawn up in consultation by the leading representatives of trades unionism, declared that legislation was necessary to protect the rights of workmen from the effects of recent judgments in the House of Lords.

The amendment, which was substantially a direct negative, was supported by the Home Secretary and the Attorney-General, but was only carried by a majority of 29.

The trades unions are powerful bodies. They have a good deal of influence upon members of parliament, even in this Conservative House.

The case for the picketing is a strong one. They take their stand upon the act of 1875, passed by a Conservative government to amend the Libel act of 1871.

From 1875 to 1902 it was understood to be accepted by lawyers and judges and by the industrial community that picketing was legal if there was no intimidation.

Not till 1901 was it decided that a trades union could be sued for acts of its subordinate officers.

The state of the law is very obscure and the Attorney-General did little to clear it up and lay down the law.

Picketing, as Sir Robert Reid pointed out, may be regarded as the form of persuading workmen but must be restricted to collecting information.

The power in the hands of trades unions may have been abused, especially when it aims at restricting production, but the best beneficial influence in controlling unreasonable workmen, their best employers, whatever their politics, is always to be found in harmony with such men as Burt Bell, John Wilson and Ralph Weston.

These men are unanimous in thinking the interference of parliament is resisted to clear up and lay down the law.

An age of gigantic combinations and strikes is scarce and the appropriate time for limiting and impairing the liberty of the working classes to act together in self-defence.

IN MEMORY OF ROBERT BURNS

First Sod of the Monument in Allan Gardens Turned on Saturday.

MAYOR PERFORMED THE CEREMONY. Scottish Societies Represented and Pipers in Kilts Played a Merry Accompaniment.

A large concourse of admirers of Scotland's greatest poet, Robert Burns, gathered in the Allan Gardens Saturday afternoon to witness the turning of the first sod for the erection of the monument to his immortal memory.

Mayor Howland performed the ceremony, and for the purpose was presented with a handsome sash, the blade of which was polished.

Among those in attendance were: Sir William Howland, John Donaldson, R. L. Fraser, D. Kennedy, N. L. Steiner, David McIntosh, H. E. Griffith, Judge Seymour (Newfoundland), Thomas Elliott (Lambton Mills), William Campbell, John Helmrod, Rev. Robert Atkinson, John Imrie, William Simpson, Rev. J. M. P. Williams, Banks, William Adams, James Knowles, Rev. Murdoch Mackenzie of China, Chairman Walker's Address.

In opening the ceremony, David Walker, chairman of the Burns Monument Committee, said: "Your Worship Mayor Howland and Aldermen of Toronto City Council and ladies and gentlemen: I have been requested by the Executive Committee of the Burns Memorial Monument to tender to you this very suitable stone whereon to erect a monument to the memory of the poet Robert Burns."

"Yellow-citizens, ladies and gentlemen subscribers in the name of this committee I beg to thank you one and all for your liberal contributions which have enabled us to procure a handsome bronze statue of the poet from Edinburgh, to be placed on a granite pedestal with tablets containing suitable inscriptions from the poet's works."

"I may add, that a band of bagpipes has been engaged to give this function a little Scotch color, it is by no means intended to overlook the fact that large liberal contributions were contributed by people of various nationalities, rich and poor, and will extend to generations yet unborn." [Applause.]

Mr. Morrison, chairman of the executive, then addressed the gathering. He read a letter from the committee.

JOHN MACDONALD & CO.

EARTHQUAKE IN HUNGARY.
Vienna, May 17.—There was an earthquake of several seconds' duration this morning at Arad, Hungary.
"Other Worlds Than Ours."
The last lecture of the Rosedale League of School Art was given on Saturday evening, and was of a very entertaining character. The lecturer, "Other Worlds Than Ours," was given by J. A. Peterson and Rev. R. Atkinson, members of the Toronto Astronomical Society. There was a good attendance, and by a series of excellent lantern views the subject was made additionally entertaining and instructive.

His Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans attended divine service yesterday afternoon in Grace Church, Elm-street, when Rev. J. P. Lewis delivered an inspiring sermon. The old soldiers gathered at the Macdonald monument in Queen's Park at 3 o'clock and, headed by the Q.O.R. Bugle Band, marched by way of College, Yonge and Elm-streets to the church. A large number of the veterans of '98 joined in the parade under command of Col. Delmore, president of the association. The Army and Navy Veterans were led by Major Collins, their president. There were many striking resemblances, the speaker said, between a good soldier of the King and Jesus Christ. The Apostle Paul had an excellent opportunity of seeing the good qualities of heroism and fidelity in the Roman soldiers, and these qualities were necessary only to a higher degree in the life of a Christian. It is easy to be loyal when the people have a ruler like King Edward VII, who has a generous heart and is a noble man. The interests of the King should be the interests of his people. The speaker referred at length to the steps taken by Australia to provide a navy to aid Great Britain and said it was an unmigrated shame that Canada had refused to pay her share of the defence of the nation. The Mother Country had done her best when she gave the whole of the Northwest to Canada, which gift resulted in the building of the C.P.R. Speaking of the old soldiers, Rev. Mr. Lewis observed that he was more interested in them than in all the merchants and the great men of Canada were sitting before him. Soldiers were great because of their courage. In the connection of the speaker mentioned the names of Sergeants George Youngwood and Tyler and Col. Sergeant Hilton, all of whom are over 80 years of age, and Sgt. Major Cantling, who was a soldier for 50 years. His conclusion, the speaker declared, that a home should be established for our soldiers. He and his reason to believe that some veterans had been buried in paupers' graves and turned such things an outrage. "Let me know," continued the speaker, "when a veteran is without funds and I will see that he is decently cared for. I could not read the burial service over a soldier's grave, and the old soldiers were drawn up and introduced to Rev. Mr. Lewis. Bugle Major Swift was soon cordially thanked for the services rendered to the veterans by his band.

Fairweather's

THIS WAS A STRENUOUS LIFE
Beautiful Tribute of Rev. J. A. Macdonald to Memory of Late Principal Grant.

MOURNING OF THE COLLEGE CITY
His Citizenship Was Its Proudest Boast, Its Strength What It Most Needed.

The memorial service for the late Principal Grant in New St. Andrew's Church, yesterday morning, was impressive in every detail. There was a very large attendance. The organ prelude was "Mors et Vita" (Gounod). During the offering, a duet, "When the Weary Are at Rest," was beautifully rendered. "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er" were sung with splendid effect by the choir, and, while the organ pealed forth the "Dead March in Saul," the congregation stood in reverence. Rev. Armstrong Black, pastor, led in prayer, and Professor McCurdy gave a highly instructive discourse on Dr. Grant's relation to the Bible and theology. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. A. Macdonald, who took for his theme, "The Message of a Strenuous Life." "A rare thing, a sight impressive and inspiring," he said at the outset, "was seen in the life of Principal Grant the other day. The whole city was out-of-doors. The merchants left their trades, the professional men their offices, the clerks their places of service; men came from the great factories and shops who industry, without distinction of class or creed, men and women and little children stood subdued and reverent, as in some sacred presence. What meant those vast and silent crowds? And why were men of note and distinction in church and state gathered there from far and near? No one asked the question, for the word had gone out that Principal Grant was dead, and on that day his mortal dust was borne away to the last resting place, out on the sunlit hill. What wonder that his only mourner, for he was gone whose citizenship was its proudest boast? What wonder that strong men felt the grief that lies too deep for tears, for he was gone whose strength they needed most?" Continuing, Mr. Macdonald reviewed the life of Principal Grant, particularly with his wide knowledge of matters theological, and pointing out that he was interested, not only in individuals, but in men in the mass; that his outlook was broadly sociological rather than narrowly evangelistic, that he looked upon the individual as a member of a body, rather than as an isolated individual. "He was not afraid, because he believed," said the preacher, "that implicit faith never failed him. When the last hour came, knowing that it was the last, he looked up into the light of heaven, and smiled the same bright sunny smile as when his strength was firm, and women heard the message of this strenuous life. It is not that you should hand your eyes and ears to the past, or sorrow or death's power. Nor is it the light-hearted flippancy of one who does not understand. No; it is the life message that he brought to us, and which he has left behind him, and from the place where only the rest things count, he calls back to us that all is well."

Last Thursday, Opposition Leader Whitney spoke to 4000 people or more at Owen Sound, and, on the night following, Macdonald paid the town a visit. The reception to Mr. Whitney was entirely spontaneous. There was no organized effort whatever to get the people out. In the case of Premier Ross, time and money were freely expended to make a display, and in this the local workers were successful.

The executive of the Central Conservative Association met on Saturday afternoon and completed arrangements for the meeting in Massey Hall on May 28. The hall will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The speakers will be J. P. Whitney, J. J. Fox, Thomas Crawford, Dr. Payne and Dr. Nesbitt. S. W. Burns, President of the Central Association, will occupy the chair.

THIS WAS A STRENUOUS LIFE

Beautiful Tribute of Rev. J. A. Macdonald to Memory of Late Principal Grant.

MOURNING OF THE COLLEGE CITY
His Citizenship Was Its Proudest Boast, Its Strength What It Most Needed.

The memorial service for the late Principal Grant in New St. Andrew's Church, yesterday morning, was impressive in every detail. There was a very large attendance. The organ prelude was "Mors et Vita" (Gounod). During the offering, a duet, "When the Weary Are at Rest," was beautifully rendered. "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er" were sung with splendid effect by the choir, and, while the organ pealed forth the "Dead March in Saul," the congregation stood in reverence. Rev. Armstrong Black, pastor, led in prayer, and Professor McCurdy gave a highly instructive discourse on Dr. Grant's relation to the Bible and theology. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. A. Macdonald, who took for his theme, "The Message of a Strenuous Life." "A rare thing, a sight impressive and inspiring," he said at the outset, "was seen in the life of Principal Grant the other day. The whole city was out-of-doors. The merchants left their trades, the professional men their offices, the clerks their places of service; men came from the great factories and shops who industry, without distinction of class or creed, men and women and little children stood subdued and reverent, as in some sacred presence. What meant those vast and silent crowds? And why were men of note and distinction in church and state gathered there from far and near? No one asked the question, for the word had gone out that Principal Grant was dead, and on that day his mortal dust was borne away to the last resting place, out on the sunlit hill. What wonder that his only mourner, for he was gone whose citizenship was its proudest boast? What wonder that strong men felt the grief that lies too deep for tears, for he was gone whose strength they needed most?" Continuing, Mr. Macdonald reviewed the life of Principal Grant, particularly with his wide knowledge of matters theological, and pointing out that he was interested, not only in individuals, but in men in the mass; that his outlook was broadly sociological rather than narrowly evangelistic, that he looked upon the individual as a member of a body, rather than as an isolated individual. "He was not afraid, because he believed," said the preacher, "that implicit faith never failed him. When the last hour came, knowing that it was the last, he looked up into the light of heaven, and smiled the same bright sunny smile as when his strength was firm, and women heard the message of this strenuous life. It is not that you should hand your eyes and ears to the past, or sorrow or death's power. Nor is it the light-hearted flippancy of one who does not understand. No; it is the life message that he brought to us, and which he has left behind him, and from the place where only the rest things count, he calls back to us that all is well."
