"THE LATE TENANT"

By GORDON HUNDS

It needed a fine spirit, aided by the exercise of quick judgment when he heard Dale Manor, but he was hidden in a brake of bushes in the park as Van Hupfeldt, exceedingly pale, this gloomy day of spring, walked up the drive, accompanied by the gamekeeper, dog and gun.

Van Hupfeldt entered the garden; the keeper made across the park. Green and brown buds, almost bursting into leaf, were already encircling the shrubs and trees of Dale Manor, especially in a sheltered hollow on the left front of the house where nestled a pretty lake. There the cover was good. The hunter instinct sent him that way.

That Dutchman will make Violet both just as the dog started the rabbit, thought David, and he took a circuitous route to reach a summer-house on the most dismal side of the ornamental water, whence, he fancied, he could command a fair view of the house and grounds.

He waited with stubborn patience two long hours. At last he saw a man arrive in a dog-cart, and it was the coming of this person which apparently drove Violet forth, five minutes after the narrowness was admitted, a tall graceful figure in black, a girl wearing a large black hat and draping a white shawl elegantly around her shoulders, stepped out of a French window to the smooth lawn, and looked straight at the sheet of water beyond which David lay ensconced.

No need to tell him who this was. His heart did not beat now. He was glad, and something warmed his whole body, for it was still waiting there in the shade after his run, but neither man nor water could interpose further barrier between him and his Violet, so he was calm and confident.

The girl glanced back once toward the room she had quitted, and then strolled on, ever coming nearer the gleaming lake and the summer-house. She crossed the fine stretch of turf and stood for an instant near a marble statue which guarded a fountain. The distance was not great, and David thought his eyes were deceiving him when he saw that the white marble and the black-garbed girl were singularly alike in feature. It was not surprising, since the sculptor had taken Violet's great-grandmother, a noted beauty of early Georgian days, as his model for the face of the dray, and it was one of the honored traditions of Dale Manor that this figure should be promptly shrouded from inclement weather, even from the dew. Just then David was not inclined to cavil at any discovery of fresh charms in Violet, but he set aside this fanciful idea, as he deemed it and bent his mind on attracting her attention without causing either a flutter to her or to the other occupants of the house.

But she came on again, reached the lake-side path, and made him hope for a moment that she would pass by the door of his retreat. If that was so, he would reveal himself to her soon enough to save her from being unduly alarmed by the unexpected appearance of a man in that secluded place.

Now she actually passed abreast of him, with the lake between them, and soon she would round the curve of the water and face him again. Her figure was mirrored in the silver and blue of the reflected sky. So light was her step that the living, moving body seemed to be as impalpable as its spirit image.

Then David's heart did jump of a sudden, for a faint hail of "V!" twice repeated, caught his ears, and he saw Mrs. Mordant, outside the French window, calling to her daughter.

The girl, turned, facing David, almost. He made up his mind without a moment's hesitation.

"Violet," he said, softly but clearly, "Violet, don't go! Come here. It is I, David." The cheek of him! as Miss Emma L'Estrange would have put it. Violet! David! What next?

Violet was bewildered for a second or two. She looked willy toward the house, and at him, for he stood so that she might see him plainly, though to her mother he was invisible.

"Please come," he pleaded. "I am here for your sake, for Owen's sake, too, and they have kept us apart so long by lies!" That the girl was greatly excited was obvious. She pressed her hands together on her bosom, though the action might pass as a simple adjustment of her shawl.

"I must go," she murmured brokenly. "They want me there to sign some documents. And I cannot meet you."

"Violet, sign nothing until you have heard my story. I appeal to you for a hearing. If you refuse I shall come with you to the house. But hear me first. Make some excuse."

There was ever that in David's voice which won belief. Some men ring true, some false. David had in him the clear sound of metal without flaw.

that the girl's mother should recognize the need of her daughter being allowed some few minutes of grace is also desired.

But here came Violet, all rosy now with wonder, for her blood was racing, though in her eyes, which reflected her thoughts was an anger which David missed in his joy. She stood framed in the narrow doorway of the summer-house, and half turned as though to leave it quickly.

"Now, what have you to say to me?" she breathed hurriedly.

David, who thought he was shy with women, soon found his winged words to pierce the armor of a disdain he did not yet understand. "If I obey my heart," he said, and she thrilled a little under the shock of hearing her Christian name so glib on his lips. "I would begin by telling you that I love you, and so throw to the winds all other considerations."

She turned and faced him, palpitating with a certain death-like readiness to fly. "How dare you?"

"I am not daring. Daring springs from the heart, you know. Moreover, though the knowledge of my love is old to me, old as weary days and sleepless nights can make it, it may be new to you, unless, somehow, my love has bridged the void, and made you responsive to my passion. Ah, don't be afraid, now," for though in very truth the conviction that had his under shaken her, "I am not here to-day as your lover, as your avowed lover I would rather say, but only as the touch of David Harcourt's hand."

"He married your sister," went on David, Van Hupfeldt, and the birth of their child is registered in that name. I wrote and told you of my certainties being in a trick. That is nothing. Even if they be destroyed, they can be replaced by the proper authorities. I know where the child is living. I can take you to it. Van Hupfeldt and prove that he is none other than Strauss, your sister's husband and slayer. I can bring Sarah Gissing, your sister's servant, to identify him as the man whom poor Owen loved as her husband and the father of her child. Were it not for my own folly, I could have brought you her diary."

"Her diary! Has it been found?" gasped Violet, lifting up her eyes to his in sheer amazement.

"Yes, I found it."

"But where and how?"

"It was fastened into the back of a picture, a mezzotint of Turner's."

"In the back of a picture!" she murmured, with a certain strange dejection which David found adorable, nor should it be forgotten that the only time David possessed absolute and undeniable evidence of the presence of some unseen person in his fat, he had shot at and wounded a man.

"Yes, dear—may I call you dear?" "And you have it?" "No."

A SET OF ROYAL SABLES.

Sable, the royal fur of Russia, is such a highly expensive pelt that the woman who can afford its possession is indeed fortunate. In Russia whole garments of sable are worn by the royalty and women of fortune, but on this side of the water, the majority of sable creations are confined to muff and stole or scarf neckpieces.

This set, valued well up into three figures, shows neckpiece formed of two sable pelts, the tails crossed at the neck in the back and hanging to the waistline. The fronts, coming several inches below the waistline, are weighted with the heads and paws. The muff is a pillow affair with a single single head and two paws set in the lower left hand corner.

John D. Roddick, Lyndhurst, Tells His Experience

After Two Years' Suffering With Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Was Cured by Dr. Hamilton.

Lyndhurst, Ont., Sept. 7.—The following statement made by Mr. Roddick, lumber merchant, tells of the remarkable knowledge possessed by Dr. Hamilton:

"Two years ago I had grippe which settled in my back and kidneys. I was crippled and very miserable, suffered great pain and inconvenience. Different remedies were tried without benefit and then I decided to try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Bitters Pills. I derived immense good from their use in short time. When two boxes were used I was immeasurably better. Today I am well. Neighbors suffering from kidney and back trouble have also been cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills which I am convinced is the best medicine for regulating and cleansing the system. They are very mild, but do the work just the same."

Nothing so certain in diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels, and kidneys as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25 cents, at all dealers.

Encouraging Reports Submitted at Last Evening's Meeting—Much Growth During the Year.

The annual meeting of the St. John Union of Christian Endeavor was held last evening in Leinster street. Baptist church, and good progress in the work was reported. W. J. Haslam, the retiring president, occupied the chair and called the meeting to order, and told of his pleasure at the large attendance.

Prayer was offered by Rev. F. J. Floyd, and the secretary's report followed. The meetings held at the Seaman's Mission would be continued this season. In all there were fifteen societies

SAYS THE NORTH SHORE IS SOLID

Donald Morrison, M. P. P. Says Provincial Opposition Should Carry All Four Counties.

Donald Morrison, M. P. P. of Newcastle (N. B.), one of the opposition in the New Brunswick legislature, is at the Royal. Speaking of matters political on the North Shore, Mr. Morrison said last night that in the next provincial elections he looks for almost a complete sweep of the North Shore by the opposition.

He gives various reasons. For one, the road net, he says, has few friends in that part of the province. Again, the lumber interests, he says, evidently feel that the government is about to be overturned and while some of the big lumbermen will remain passive others will lend their strength to the opposition. In former elections the lumbermen were ranged upon the government side. The government this time would also be without the aid of Hon. L. J. Tweedie, who was a good campaigner and had a personal following. Hon. Mr. Pugsley, he says, is not a strong factor on the North Shore and what influence he might bring would be solely because of his position as a federal minister.

Speaking of Restigouche, where the two seats for that county are now held by government supporters, Mr. Morrison said the opposition was sure of one and not unlikely to win both.

In Northumberland, he said, the opposition were well organized but were waiting to see what the government would do. No opposition convention had been called but one could be arranged at short notice when the time came. The opposition now hold two seats in Northumberland and the government one. The fourth seat is vacant because of Mr. Tweedie's appointment as governor. The opposition, Mr. Morrison says, should capture all four this time. Asked if he would be in the field again, he replied that he was ready if the convention called him.

In Gloucester, the government now holds two seats and one is vacant. It is the opinion on the North Shore, as expressed to Mr. Morrison by men in touch with Gloucester conditions, that the government must bring out an entirely new ticket to have any show of success. The opposition has named its three men and he says they are regarded as strong and likely to carry the county.

In Kent, Mr. Morrison says there is no doubt whatever that the two French representatives on the opposition ticket will be elected and the third man is also likely to be elected even in face of the fact that the government now holds the three Kent county seats and one of the members, Hon. Mr. Barnes, is in the government.

On the whole, Mr. Morrison says the opposition on the North Shore is organized five times as well as before and there is every promise of a big government overthrow there.

The bride, who wore a traveling suit of blue Panama cloth, was attended by Miss Alice Reith of Boston, while Ernest J. Gorham, a brother, acted as the groom. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hall will reside at their new home Elmhurst, Holliston.

A combination of cold weather and boiler out of order gave the pupils of Leinster street school short hours yesterday. With the boiler not working properly steam could not be raised and the rooms were cold. In the morning the scholars were dismissed at 10 o'clock and it was hoped all would be right in the afternoon. But the school had to be closed early again. Some parents are wondering why the boiler discovery could not have been made earlier in anticipation of the cold weather.

OCTOBER DAYS

(From "Semi-tropes," by A. A. C.) O rare October days! Ye leave your strange Portentures of things ideal everywhere. Autumnal glory crowns the mountain range; Autumnal rapture floods the framed air. Stepped in a golden languor sleeps the sky. Where burning clouds in crimson masses lie Alhaurt the glowing portal of the West.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

A WOMAN'S WAY. You can't convince a woman that a novel is interesting unless the hero and heroine get married in the last chapter and live happily ever after.

THE CRUEL WRETCH

He—Oh, why picture the dismal side of everything? You may be dead then. She—You call me beautiful now, but will you call me beautiful 20 years from now?

NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY

He—No, but I didn't suppose that was essential. She—Why, no. There's no danger, is there?

THE SHREWD OLD MAN

Daughter—He writes me 10 letters a week. Father—But he gets only one pay envelope.

HANNAH IS HUNTING

AFTER BIG GAME— ATTORNEY GENERALS Mr. Editor: Sir—It beats all! Hannah is around again. It is this way—She was sitting up in bed, waiting for our neighbor to bring word of the reception of her New Tax System. The clock struck twelve and she was tapping on the door. I opened it. Our neighbor told me that Hannah's Tax System would be used to get the fine in the City Hall. I said: "It will not do to put that way to Hannah—I fear a brain storm. Let me tell her that the grand will use it, to the limit to give light and heat to the citizens." He replied: "The unexpected always happens. I stood as far away as possible and told Hannah the truth. She was calm as a clam. She sat up straight in bed and exclaimed: "So I expected—must be patron, the world is in a state of evolution—it is only a seed-plot, only one or two individuals in a century get out into the wide and give light and heat to the citizens." She quoted Paley: "The mass of mankind are governed by the sheep." She also quoted one of the world's greatest sages and orators: "The people move out or in with the tide."

"Hucknab," she said, "hand me a volume on Christian Science." I said: "It's 2 a. m." She said: "Pass the book." I did. I don't know how long Hannah read, but at the first stroke of dawn, she poked me in the spare ribs, saying: "Get up—there's no such thing as sickness, it's an illusion. I'm going to hunt the attorney general."

Let justice be done though the heavens fall. "She told me to hand her the old gun of the wall. Her ancestors brought it in the May Flower, when they landed on Plymouth Rock. It is old style—flint-lock—long barrel."

She put on a suit, her great grandfather wore. I protested, but she said she believed in woman's rights—"bring," she said, "the powder and buckshot with you and follow me." We made for the backlands. A strange sight greeted us as we reached a hill-top; across the valley on another hill—in a mist—was gathered a host of political aspirants. In the center stood a strange being—in form human, save that he had horns, hoofs and a long tail—like old pictures of Satan. Hannah loaded the old gun to the muzzle, using portions of the Fairville speech for wadding. She hesitated. She saw the form of one she did not want to injure. Hannah has a bed of sweet-Williams in her little flower garden. She asked me to recite William Tell shooting the apple from his son's head—just to nerve her for a shot. She told me to stand stiff at her back as a brew as the gun would kick. She let bang—everything went one way—Hannah and I went the other. At the foot of the hill, as soon as I could get from under Hannah, I said: "I'll go home and rub myself over with liniment." Hannah said: "It's no time to talk of liniment, when the air is full of decisions—follow me and see the result of our shot. If I've killed the beast, I'll give it as a political specimen to the Historical Society."

All we found was a strong smell of brimstone—and many papers punctured with shot—evidence of corruption in former elections. Hannah says if we can do no more, it is much to keep these animals on the run. Yours, BUCKWHEAT.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED DELEGATES PRESENT AT FIRST CONVENTION SESSION

N. B. and P. E. I. Sunday School Convention Opened at Fredericton Last Evening--Robert Reid Delivers President's Address--Reports of Executive Committee and General Secretary Presented This Morning.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 22--The annual convention of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Sunday School Convention opened in St. Paul's Presbyterian church this evening with about 100 delegates, besides members of local Sunday school workers.

President Robert Reid then delivered his annual address as follows: Christian Friends and Fellow Workers--This is the second time we have had the honor of giving the president's address of this association in annual convention.

This year has been in some respect a most notable year in Sunday school history, as the world's fifth Sunday school convention met in the city of Rome, with representatives from 27 different countries, and is already among the things that "came to pass."

On Monday afternoon at half past four June 23rd, 1902, The Father of the Uniform Lesson Series, B. F. Jacobs, was called to his eternal rest.

On Monday the 14th inst. the chairman for the past eleven years of the International Sunday School Lesson Committee, Rev. John Potts, D. D. of Toronto passed to his home above.

Dr. Potts was well known to us all, as he had visited our province a number of times in connection with his office as chairman of committee on education of the Methodist church of Canada.

First in 1888--When this association was two years old--and then third, on its eighteenth birthday in 1901--and now to-day, we meet on its 24th anniversary.

We come from homes in various parts of our province, and there we are known as members of the Baptist, Methodist, Anglican, Presbyterian, or Congregational churches, but here we are known only as Sunday school workers.

At the conclusion of the president's address Rev. A. D. MacLeod, of Madocck (P. E. I.), was called upon and responded with a spirited address.

Mrs. Mary Foster Brynner, of Illinois, a member of the international executive, was the next speaker and was most cordially greeted. In a most entertaining manner she described her trip to Rome as a delegate to the world's S. S. convention in May last and gave her impressions of that memorable meeting.

The average distance travelled by the delegates was about 5,000 miles. She also spoke of the visit made to the missionary stations on the African coast, the result of which was that some $5,000 was pledged by the delegates to assist in the work.

Mrs. Brynner is a very entertaining speaker and her address was followed with the greatest interest.

The report of the executive committee as presented by Mr. T. S. Simms at this morning's session of the N. B. and P. E. I. Sunday School Convention was as follows:

During the year that has passed since its last report to this association your committee has held regular meetings, though less frequently than in former years, a change having been made from monthly to quarterly meetings.

Whether this change is in the best interests of this association can only be proved by a further trial.

During the year the world's convention was held at Rome, at which our secretary was privileged to attend and where a decided advance in Sunday school work was made, especially in the line of missionary labors.

Next June the triennial convention of the International Sunday School Association is to be held at Louisville, Ky., and preparation should be made by many of our provincial workers to attend and receive the inspiration that such gatherings always give.

The convention held in St. Andrew's church, Fredericton, was most interesting, and was well conducted by W. C. Pierson, from the International Association and proved to be one of the most helpful yet held.

Several counties report the best conventions they have ever held.

In several counties a number of parishes have been united into districts, with district organization, with good results.

In other counties the separate parish conventions have been held and a good degree of interest manifested, especially among the pastors, superintendents and teachers.

In P. E. Island, conventions have been held in each of the districts, all attended by the field secretary.

In Carleton county institutes were held in December in three different places, intending to accommodate the whole county. These were so successful that a general desire was expressed for their continuance.

It is gratifying to note the advance made in each of our departments, teacher training, home, adult Bible class, primary, temperance, and so on, as well as seen by the reports of each superintendent, but it is to be regretted that more of all of these departments and derive the great benefit that would result therefrom.

This committee would suggest that all delegates to this convention returning to their homes, seek to have established these departments where they are not already established, and in general to visit all of the schools of the neighborhood in which they reside.

This suggestion is carried out in Sunday school work as we have not seen before and prepare for a grand celebration of our quarter of a century's work in 1909.

The demands of the field since P. E. Island was added to our association have been very great and the ground is more than one man can cover during the year.

With the assistance of Revs. A. D. MacLeod, W. Camp, S. Howard, B. H. Nobles, A. Bidwell, and D. Lang, the county conventions have been attended by either the field secretary or a member of the executive committee, and the county conventions have been most successful, and it is hoped that this will be met before the next year's convention at Rome, and this association will doubtless derive much benefit from the inspiration and knowledge gained there.

The year now closing has been in many ways, one of the most important in our history, and perhaps no other has seen such unparalleled progress in Sunday School work throughout the world.

The most notable event of the year has been the World's Sunday School Convention held in the city of Rome. At this epoch-making Convention, 27 nations of the remotest parts of the earth will feel the stimulus and inspiration of this great assembly.

As the privilege of attending this great Convention was made possible by the generous consideration of our Association, your Secretary wishes to mention his most grateful thanks to the donors, and hopes to express this gratitude by a more earnest and efficient service.

By hearing reports from many European and Asiatic fields, one most distinctly felt that the obstacles in the way of progress here are not to be compared with those confronting the workers abroad.

There are difficulties, however, in our own land, and there is not a State or province that is free from these grave problems that are still unalleviated.

In reference to the Field work, which, of course, is the chief item in the Field Secretary's programme, practically all parts of the territory have been touched by conferences and services on the Lord's day.

Meetings have been held in 167 different places with about 341 addresses and sermons. On account of the unfavorable weather, it has been an exceedingly difficult year in which to carry out an extensive schedule of conferences and meetings.

The Fall and Winter were extraordinarily stormy and severe, and since taking up the work in July, there have been but few meetings, either week days or Sundays, which have not been more or less affected by unfavorable weather and travelling.

The interest, however, in the Conventions has been such as to warrant us in reporting that in the majority of cases there was an improvement over the preceding year. In addition to the work of the Field Secretary, the County and District officers, most acceptable service has been rendered by several pastors.

A. D. MacLeod, president of the P. E. Island Association, attended meetings in conference and convention, and has done much to stimulate and encourage workers in places visited. Rev. W. Camp attended Conventions in Victoria and Carleton.

Howard, Kings and Queens West, Rev. B. H. Nobles, Sunbury, A. A. Rideout, Queens East, and Rev. D. Lang, Restigouche.

The secretary wishes to express his gratitude to those busy men for their deep interest in this work, and believes that corn at 14 cents--to pain--results guaranteed; try Putnam's.

Sunday school work of today to its present efficient condition. To those who are desirous of seeing their own Sunday school work brought to a higher and more efficient state, we would suggest the most cordial co-operation with our association work.

I wish to thank all our provincial, county and district officers for their hearty co-operation during the year just gone and hope we may see much more and thanksgiving during the year before us.

Yours sincerely, J. B. GANONG, Gen. Secy.

GOVERNOR FRASER'S WIDOW PASSES AWAY IN THIS CITY

Mrs. Jane M. Paquette, wife of the late Lieutenant-Governor John James Fraser, died yesterday afternoon in the private hospital here of pneumonia.

She was the only surviving member of the family of the late Hon. Charles Fisher, who was for many years a justice of the supreme court of this province. She was the second wife of Lieut.-Governor Fraser, whom she married in May, 1884.

Mrs. Fraser came to St. John ten days ago and stayed at the Royal Hotel. While here she suffered an attack of pneumonia and on Monday she was taken to the private hospital, at which time she was very weak.

She continued to sink but death came quite unexpectedly yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Her friend, Miss Robinson, of Fredericton, was at her deathbed.

The deceased lady had no children and is survived by no immediate relatives. She was highly accomplished and had a most amiable disposition.

Her home was at Fredericton but she had travelled extensively with her husband on the continent of Europe and elsewhere. She always took a most charitable interest in the life of the provincial capital and will be much missed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fraser, of Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 22--(Special)--News of the death of Mrs. Fraser, wife of the late Governor Fraser, was received here with very great regret by her numerous friends. She had not been in good health for some time and went to St. John about ten days ago.

She was a most noble and charitable person, and she was held in high esteem by all who enjoyed her acquaintance.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the city hall.

LATE LOCALS

Steamer Governor Cobb landed 81 passengers from Boston yesterday and sailed on her return trip this morning. Seven cents for one pound and a half loaf of bread now. St. John bakers give two pounds for the same money—Halifax Mail, Oct. 22. Schooner E. C. Gates put into this port today on account of the heavy wind outside. She is bound for New Zealand with a cargo of hard coal for C. W. Ford. British brigantine James Daly, Captain Steeves, that put into this port yesterday for harbor, from Moncton, cleared today for her destination, Fall River, Mass. A number of King street stores were deprived of gas last evening between 5 and 7 o'clock. The connection was being made in one of the mains. The Victoria, intermediate champions of the city, will play the Moncton intermediates on the Shamrock grounds Saturday afternoon. A return match will be played in Moncton on Thanksgiving Day. William Dempsey, aged 16, son of John Dempsey, of Ferryville, was drowned at Chatham, N. B., Monday afternoon. He was working on the steamer Coban when the coal chute swung and hit him on the head, knocking him into the water. Frank Lovitt, of Yarmouth, has gone on a year and a half cruise around the world. He will go to New Zealand either from San Francisco or British Columbia, thence through Australia, and return via Cape of Good Hope and South Africa. The Free Kindergarten Association gratefully acknowledges the sum of $11.50, the result of a bazaar conducted by the following young people—Elsie Murchie, Marion Murchie, Marjorie Murchie, Louise Holly, Frank Miller, Blanche Beatty and Allan Beatty. The congregation of the Congregational church intended to hold a reception for their new pastor, Rev. S. W. Anthony, last night but he has been called to his home in Lower Selma (N. S.) because of the serious illness of his brother and the reception has been postponed until next Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance at a meeting of the Farmers' Institute, No. 51, at Golden Grove last evening. Councillor Adams presided, and addresses were delivered by N. S. Dow, of Woodstock, N. B., and Duncan Anderson, of Orillia, Ont. Both speakers were listened to with close attention, and a vote of thanks was tendered them. In response to a message from the Home of the Good Shepherd, Patrolman Scott arrested Mary Ann Reid, who had become intoxicated and entered the hall of the institution, refusing to go out when told to do so. A wagon had to be procured to take her to central police station. Elizabeth Roach aged 50, was also carted to central station helplessly intoxicated. At a meeting of the City Laborers' Union held last night, a proposition was to quit work until wages were advanced. It was greeted with shouts of approval. Definite action will be taken at a meeting to be held on Nov. 15th. The men want their wage increased from $1.50 to $1.85 a day. The St. John branch of the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen will hold an afternoon tea and musicale in St. John's (St. John's) church school house on Thursday, October 24th, from 4 to 6. The proceeds are to be given to the support of a cot in the orphan's home in Labrador, one of Dr. Grenville's philanthropies, and it is hoped that people will give their encouragement to this splendid mission by a large attendance. 'Heatherbloom' petitions in place of taffeta silk. 'Heatherbloom' Underskirts are being introduced here in St. John by P. W. Daniel & Company. 'Heatherbloom' has made a phenomenal success all over the United States. You will see it advertised in all the prominent magazines. 'Heatherbloom' never splits, cuts or cracks, yet it has a dainty rustle, delicate sheen and fine finish, and make it a beautiful material for its purpose. See advertisement, page 5, and goods in south window on Charlotte Street.

THE CIVIC FAIR

Its Opening Last Evening Was Marked by a Very Large Attendance. The opening of the Civic Fair last night, under the auspices of the Exmouth Street Methodist Church Y. M. A., in Glad Tidings Hall, was marked by a very large attendance, in fact is one of the best entertainments of the kind held in St. John in some time. The entire idea shows that a lot of hard work has been necessary to attain the excellent result. The various booths typify in one way or another the ward the represent. Especially noticeable were Brooks, Victoria, Sydney. The first named had a representation of the harbor, Navy Island and the bar, with the rest of the quite comfortable on the bar. Victoria was surrounded by a picket fence, and had the Shute-the-Chutes. In Sydney, rock candy mine overalls, pick and shovel are to the fore. The double tracking of Union Street is also shown, and is creating lots of amusement. Each morning, in charge of a member of the Exmouth Street Y. M. A., assisted by a corps of pretty girls. Early in the evening the crowd began to gather, though the formal opening was not till 8.30 o'clock when Mayor Sears, in an excellent speech declared the fair open. Ald. McGoldrick and Hamm and Robert Maxwell, M. P. P., also gave short addresses, and there were calls for other addresses, but they were not responded. The large crowd enjoyed themselves thoroughly, and as the fair will run two more nights, a great many more are expected. The voting contest for the most popular alderman aroused considerable interest. Last evening the vote stood: Bullock, 49; McGoldrick, 47; Sprout, 47. This evening the St. Mary's Band have volunteered their services. The lettering on the booths and about the hall is especially worthy of mention. It is the work of John R. Hopkins.

WEDDINGS

Mayer-Fenwick A quiet but interesting nuptial event took place at the residence of the bride's uncle, George Sharp, Hazen street, at 6.30 o'clock this morning, when Miss Mary L. Fenwick, daughter of Wilfred Fenwick was married to Thomas Mayer merchant, of Queenstown, Queen's county. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Gidson Swin, pastor of Waterloo street Baptist church, and the bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by Miss Helen Corbett and wore a becoming tailor-made costume of navy blue with hat to match. At the conclusion of the ceremony, wedding breakfast was served after which the happy couple left by steamer Prince Rupert for a wedding trip to Yarmouth and on their return will reside at Queenstown. Both bride and groom are well and favorably known and their numerous friends will extend hearty congratulations.

THE CONTEST IN LONDON

Labor Man and Conservative Nominated for Hyman's Old Seat. London, Ont., Oct. 22—Major Thomas Beattie was nominated by the Conservatives of London today for the seat in the commons vacated by Hyman's resignation. The labor man nominated John D. Jacobs. At Warkworth, Alex. A. Mulholland, Liberal, and Charles Lowen, Conservative, were nominated for the East Northumberland vacancy. Some men are so anxious to wake up and find themselves famous that they actually contract insomnia.

A CORRECTION

The Times learns that it was misinformed yesterday as to the identity of the children described as seen in a half-clad condition on Prince William street on Saturday. Only one of them was the child of Mrs. Lacey, on German street, and Miss Lacey informs the Times that this boy was not hit. She states that four of the children of their family regularly attend school, and only one, the youngest, is at home. Miss Lacey states further that these children are not ill-treated for during their mother's absence. Visiting Prison Chaplain—"Ah my friend this world is full of trials." Incarcerated Guest—"Don't I know it, mister? Ain't I 's share of 'em? But it ain't the trials I mind so much; it's the verdicts."

BUTTER 37CTS PER POUND NOW

Another Advance Yesterday in the Price of Creamery Butter—Cream Will Also Be Advanced. The retail price of creamery butter was advanced, as there has been no change in and it is altogether probable that a still higher figure will be asked in the near future. The price of cream is also likely to be advanced, as there has been on change in the figures for over a year, and as butter is scarce will soon have to be made to make a similar advance. The retail price of cream is now 35 cents a quart for 25 per cent cream, or 25 cents whole sale. This would be $1 a gallon whole sale, or $1.40 a gallon retail, as against $1.35 a gallon wholesale in Toronto for 30 per cent cream, and $1.50 in Montreal for 30 per cent cream. According to these figures the St. John price is considered lower than in upper Canada. It is pointed out also by a local dealer that the cost of feed for cattle in upper Canada is about a third below the figure charged in this province, as the farmers there can buy from the mills without having to pay heavy freight charges. Referring to the price of creamery butter, the dealer claims that no necessary it was being made by the producers at the present figure than was the case when butter held at 25 cents a pound. The increased cost of feed etc., is responsible for the increase.
