THIS is the age of improvements, and as usual we are the first to secure anything that will improve the Pack and be a benefit to the trade. Our machine does away with all soldering work and is The Only One in Canada. No Solder, No Acid. The trade will readily appreciate this great improvement after hearing so many complaints about solder drops in the cans. All goods put up at this factory are sealed with the machine.

PREFACE.

THE necessity for the publication of such a Directory as the present has been brought before the publishers by many of the business and professional men of the Dominion. In its compilation the publishers, whose experience in bringing out such works as the Canada Directory of 1850 and 1857, the Dominion Directory of 1871, the Province of Ontario Directory of 1881, the Province of Quebec Directory of 1890, and the Montreal Directory for over fifty years, has stood them in good stead, have uniformly kept before them the special purpose and use of this Directory—viz: to make it what it purports to be, a Business and Professional Directory of the Dominion of Canada. With that end in view no pains have been spared to acquire the most accurate information, by a door to door canvass, as to the names and occupations of the inhabitants of all the cities, towns and banking villages in the Dominion. While it is expected that this Directory will prove of first importance to the mercantile community, it is as confidently hoped that professional men will find in its classified directory and miscellaneous information much that will be of interest and use to them as well as to the business man. Every effort has been made, by repeated enquiry and correction of proofs up to the time of going to press, to ensure that no professional or business man's name should be omitted.

It is now many years since a work of this nature has been sent out, and never before has it reached such magnitude or completion of detail, this naturally resulting from the greater facilities possessed by the publishers, and the readier access to reliable information as compared with previous years.

The publishers acknowledge with much pleasure their indebtedness, for many of the facts contained in the miscellaneous portion of the work, to the Statistical Department at Ottawa and to the publishers of the Star Almanac.

To the postmasters in a number of the smaller places added to the work, not contemplated in the prospectus, the thanks of the publishers are due, and to a number of other gentlemen for correcting the proof sheets of their respective places.

Montreal, May 15, 1896. THE PUBLISHERS.

FISHERIES OF CANADA.

CAPITAL AND MEN ENGAGED IN THE FISHERIES OF CANADA.

In 1894 no less than 70,700 men were engaged in our fishing industry, using nets and other fishing implements aggregating a capital of about nine and a half million dollars. About 1,200 schooners and steam tugs valued at $2,400,000, manned by 9,500 sailors, found employment in this industry, besides the 61,200 fishermen using 34,100 boats valued at over one million dollars. Nearly five and a half million fathoms of nets were fished.

The lobster plant alone for that year was valued at $1,254,296. This consisted of 736 canneries fishing 1,000,000 traps. This branch of industry alone gave employment to 12,000 hands.

THE CANALS OF CANADA.

The canal systems of the Dominion, under Government control, in connection with lakes and navigable rivers, are as follows:—

1. The River St. Lawrence and lakes.
2. The Richelieu navigation, from the St. Lawrence to Lake Chaplain.
3. The River Ottawa.
4. The Rideau navigation, from Ottawa to Kingston.
5. The Trent navigation.
6. St. Peter's Canal, Cape Breton.

The River St. Lawrence, with the system of canals established on its course above Montreal, and the Lakes Ontario, Erie, St. Clair, Huron and Superior, with connecting canals, afford a course of water communication extending from the Straits of Belle Isle to Port Arthur, at the head of Lake Superior, a distance of 2,260 statute miles. The distance to Duluth is 2,384 miles. Of the total distance (2,260 miles), between Port Arthur and the Straits of Belle Isle, 71 miles are artificial, and 2,189 miles open navigation.

The difference in level between Lake Superior and tide-water, below Montreal, is 602 feet. Between these two points Canada has built eight canals, which are as under; the length, number of locks, rise in feet and depth of water on the sills being also given:—

THE OTTAWA AND RIDEAU RIVERS SYSTEM.

The following table gives the distances and lengths, etc., of the canal from Montreal to Kingston :—

The Lachine Canal, $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles, is common to this system and the St. Lawrence.

Connected with the St. Lawrence system are the Murray Canal, the Burlington Bay and the Trent River Navigation. The first extends through the Isthmus of Murray, giving connection between the head waters of the Bay of Quinté and Lake Ontario, thus enabling vessels to avoid the open lake navigation. The works on this canal comprise a cut through the isthmus $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles long. There are no locks. The canal is 80 feet wide at the bottom, and has a depth of $12\frac{1}{2}$ feet at low water.

The Burlington Bay Canal is a cutting through a piece of low land which partly separates Lake Ontario from a large sheet of deep water called Burlington Bay. It enables vessels to reach the city of Hamilton. Its length is one-half mile, and it is navigable for vessels drawing 11 feet of water.

The name "Trent River Navigation" is applied to a series of water stretches, composed of a chain of lakes and rivers, extending from Trenton, at the mouth of the River Trent, on the Bay of Quinté, Lake Ontario, to Lake Huron. Balsam Lake, which is the summit, has an elevation of $589\frac{1}{2}$ feet above Lake Ontario, and the total rise and fall between Lakes Ontario and Huron is about $832\frac{3}{4}$ feet. 160 miles of direct and lateral navigation have been thrown open. There are 13 locks, with a depth of water on the mitre sills varying from 7 feet to 14 feet. The navigable reaches amount to $132\frac{1}{4}$ miles, and the unnavigable to $60\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

†At present the depth of the canal between locks is only adapted to vessels of 12 feet draught

‡From the canal at Welland down to the Welland river.

The Soulanges Canal, in course of construction on the north side of the River St. Lawrence, will take, when finished, the place of the Beauharnois Canal. It will be 14 miles long; will have 5 locks, with a depth on the sills of 14 feet. The dimensions of the locks will be those of the enlarged system, 270 by 45 feet.

THE RICHELIEU AND LAKE CHAMPLAIN SYSTEM.

This third line of improvements was designed with a view of placing the St. Lawrence in communication with Lake Champlain and the State of New York system of canals, which leads to the Hudson River and the port of New York. Boats leaving Canadian waters for New York enter the mouth of the Richelieu river at Sorel, on the St. Lawrence, 46 miles below Montreal and 114 above Quebec. From the mouth of the Richelieu vessels ascend 14 miles to St. Ours, where they are lifted 5 feet. Proceeding up the Richelieu 32 miles further they enter the Chambly Canal, which in a space of 12 miles raises them by lockage 74 feet more, and after traversing 23 miles more of the Richelieu the vessels reach the Canadian frontier. The total length of canal navigation between Montreal and New York by this route is 85 miles, and the total lockage, ascending and descending, is 283 feet; the total distance is 457 miles. The distance from Sorel to the boundary line is 81 miles, and from the boundary to New York city 330 miles. The St. Ours lock is one-eighth of a mile in length. Its dimensions are 200 feet by 45 feet, and the depth of water on the sills is 7 feet at low water.

The Chambly Canal has nine locks, and the depth of water on the sills is 7 feet. The dimensions of the locks vary from 118 feet to 125 feet in length, and from 22½ feet to 24 feet in width.

This completes the general view of the canal systems connected with the St. Lawrence River and its tributaries.

In the other provinces few attempts have been made in the direction of canal building. In the Isle of Cape Breton a canal has been constructed connecting St. Peter's Bay with the Bras d'Or Lakes. It crosses an isthmus about half a mile wide and gives access from the Bras d'Or Lakes to the Atlantic. It has one (tidal) lock the dimensions of which are 200 feet by 49½ feet. The depth of water on the sills is 18 feet at lowest water. It was begun in 1854 and finished in 1869. It was enlarged between 1875 and 1881.

The Montreal Daily Star.

with its circulation of forty-six thousand copies a day, occupies a position unique in journalism. Other newspapers go into a portion of the homes, but THE STAR practically reaches them all. Who knows a house in Montreal where THE STAR is not a steady visitor?

is first in the affections of the people of Canada, because it is above all things a newspaper; it prints all the news without fear or favor; and is independent and fearless, having no cause to serve but the best interests of the community.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star

Has the enormous circulation of eighty-five thousand copies a week—more than three times that of any other weekly paper published in Canada. It has this circulation because it is incomparably the best Weekly issued on the Continent of America.

For these reasons THE STAR, in its daily and weekly editions, is unequalled in Canada as an advertising medium.

GRAHAM & CO., - PUBLISHERS.

PROGRESS OF NEWSPAPERS IN THE DOMINION.

The development of a country can be accurately gauged by the progress in the growth of its publication of newspapers and periodicals.

The first newspaper in Canada was printed at Halifax in 1752; the increase in newspaper reading is evidenced by the fact that in 1885 there was one paper in French for every 25,810 French-speaking, and one in English for every 5,480 English-speaking inhabitants. By provinces the percentages of growth between 1885 and 1893 were as follows: Ontario, 35 per cent; Quebec, 33 per cent; Nova Scotia, 54 per cent; New Brunswick, 30 per cent; Prince Edward Island, 28 per cent; Manitoba, 115 per cent; British Columbia, 262 per cent, and the Northwest Territories, 166 per cent.

The Canada Directory, published in 1857, by the late Mr. John Lovell, contained a catalogue of the newspapers then in existence in the old Province of Canada, from which we learn that the total number of such publications was two hundred and forty-three. The Alphabetical List which appeared in the Dominion Directory of 1871 contained not only a correct inventory of the newspapers then published in the Dominion, but, in harmony with the plan of that Directory, included separate tables for the then neighboring Province of Prince Edward Island and for Newfoundland. Consequently there was shown at one view, the name, the place of publication, the proprietor, and the price of every newspaper and periodical then published in the St. Lawrence and Atlantic possessions of the British Crown in North America. The synopsis was as follows:—

	Ont.	Que.	Nova Scotia.	New Brunswick.	Newfoundland.	P. E. Island.

Tri-Weekly	2	11	6	2	2	.....

The growth since that date can be gathered from a perusal of the following table specially compiled for this Directory from the last available Official Statistical Year Book of Canada, issued in October, 1895:—

The following official figures of the Post Office Department also throw light upon the enormous change which has taken place in the reading habits of our people since Confederation, for the growth of population in a similar period has only risen from 3,485,761 at the 1871 census, to 4,833,239 at the last census of 1891:—

*Including books, circulars, samples, patterns, etc.

In the figures in the first column for the years 1868 to 1877, inclusive, are included all newspapers and periodicals sent by mail, whether from the office of publication or otherwise. In 1877 a change was made in the regulations, and all newspapers, periodicals, etc., sent from the office of publication were carried at the rate of 1 cent per pound, and the number carried has, since that date, been estimated in the above table at nine newspapers to one pound. By an Act that came into operation on the 1st June, 1882, all such newspapers were entirely exemptel from postage, and have since been carried free of charge, and, as no attempt is now made to ascertain the number so carried, the figures given for the years 1883 to 1894, inclusive, can only be considered as an approximate estimate, and the probability is that they are below the mark. The rearrangement of the returns of periodicals, books, etc., furnished by the Post Office Department, unfortunately, prevents any comparison with former years.

In the United Kingdom, according to the Newspaper Press Directory, the number of newspapers recently published in the United Kingdom was 2291. In England there were 1781, 449 in London and 1332 in the provinces; in Wales there were 101, in Scotland 220, in Ireland 166, and in the various isles around the coast 23. Of magazines and periodicals, including the quarterly reviews, there were 2061, 471 of them religious publications.

From the American Newspaper Annual of 1896 we learn that the number of newspapers, periodicals, etc., issued in the United States at the commencement of the current year was 19,896, divided as follows:—

Daily	2,023	Semi-monthly	240
Tri-weekly	47	Monthly	2,047
Semi-weekly	362	Bi-monthly	29
Weekly	14,915	Quarterly	155
Fortnightly	64	Miscellaneous	14
Total			19,896

According to a recent reliable statement, the number of periodicals and newspapers issued throughout the world is over 41,000, the countries circulating the largest numbers in addition to Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States being Germany, 5,000; France, 4,100; Austria, 3,500, and Italy 1,400. In the whole of South America only 635 publications are registered; in Asia 461, and in Africa 150.

Circulation.

Some figures regarding the circulation of the leading papers of Canada may be of interest. Referring again to the American Newspaper Annual issued for 1896, we find that in British Columbia the "World," morning and evening editions, had a sworn circulation of 11,700. In Manitoba the "Manitoba Free Press" is returned as issuing 9,900 copies, the "Northwest Farmer" 6,500, and the "Tribune" 8,100. As regards the North-West Territories, Alberta issues the "Tribune" with a circulation of 1,750, and Assiniboia the "Leader" with 2,250, and the "Standard" with 1,400. New Brunswick has the "St. John's Sun," with a sworn circulation of 11,662, and the "Telegraph" which claims a circulation of nearly 12,000. In Nova Scotia the circulation of the "Evening Mail" is stated as 3,500, the "Morning Herald" 4,500, the "Morning Chronicle" 3,432, and the "Sydney Herald" 4,000. In Ontario we have in Toronto the "Globe" claiming a morning and evening circulation of 24,525, the "Mail and Empire," morning and evening, 19,558, the "World" 18,491, the "Star" 12,596, while the "Evening News" is returned with a sworn circulation of 30,923, and the "Evening Telegram" of 19,886. In Ottawa the "Journal" claims 4,400, the "Citizen" 3,000, and the "Free Press" 5,000. In Kingston the "British Whig" claims 5,821. In London the "Advertiser" claims 8,486, and the "Free Press" 9,000. In Hamilton the "Spectator" claims 10,300, and the "Times" 8,000. In Prince Edward Island the "Charlottetown Herald" claims 3,520, and the "Examiner" 2,500. In the Province of Quebec there is naturally a large preponderance of French newspapers. In Quebec city "L'Electeur" claims a circulation of 11,975; "L'Evenement" 13,780 while in Montreal "La Minerve" claims 5,242, "Le Monde" 18,600, "La Patrie" 8,000, and "La Presse" returns a sworn circulation of 40,796. Turning to English newspapers we find the Quebec "Morning Chronicle" claiming 2,500 and the "Telegraph" 4,000, while in Montreal we have the "Gazette" claiming 7,600, the "Witness" 14,989, while the "Star" is there returned with a sworn circulation of 39,639.

In this connection it may be interesting to quote the figures claimed by some of the leading American newspapers. In New York the "Herald" claims 80,000 for its morning edition and 100,000 for its Sunday edition; the "Tribune" 73,000 for its morning and 76,000 for its Sunday edition, while the "Recorder" claims 130,000 as its Sunday issue, and the "World" 484,075 as the total of its morning and evening issues, and 324,904 for its Sunday edition. As previously stated, all of the above figures are as supplied to the American Newspaper Annual for 1896.

Newspaper History.

Turning to the histories of some of our older newspapers, of which some are now defunct, we find that in 1822 the "rival newspapers" in the "Town of York, Upper Canada," were "Fothergill's Weekly Register" and "Carey's Weekly Observer." The first was a small quarto of three columns to the page, and the second a small folio of five columns to the page; the paper in both cases was execrable, and the type with which they were printed was only less miserable than the thrash with which they were filled; nevertheless, the subscription price of each paper was $4 per annum, only $2 less than the present price of the daily editions of "The Globe" or "The Mail;" and one dollar more than that of the "Montreal Daily Star," but notwithstanding the higher rate of remuneration, it may reasonably be conjectured that in the absence of Government support in the one instance, and private subsidies in the other, those wretched properties could not have been sustained in the new communities in which they existed for the period of six months. We have not been able to see specimen copies of "The Upper Canada Guardian," published at the "Town of York," in 1807, by Joseph Wilcox, or "The York Gazette," established three years later, but by whom we do not know; or "The Niagara Spectator," a paper of some interest in 1819, from the fact that Robert Gourlay, a state prisoner detained in the Niagara gaol, made it the channel for communicating with the people of Canada on the subject of the harsh and unjust usage he had received from the authorities, as well as on the political and social grievances which afflicted the province and paralyzed its prosperity. Neither have we seen a copy of "The Colonial Advocate" of 1824, published by William Lyon Mackenzie, first at Queenston, and afterwards at the "Town of York," and remarkable in newspaper history from the circumstance that as it was about to expire from inanition, for the last number had been issued, its life was restored by the violence of those who wished for and sought to compass its death, for the well-to-do mob which destroyed the office and threw the printing materials into the Toronto bay, was sufficiently well off to answer the assessment of the courts, and thus supply Mr. Mackenzie with money enough to furnish him with a capital for his business, and sympathy enough to secure customers for his paper. Some newspapers, like the first published at Boston, Massachusetts, in 1690, were certainly discountenanced, if not suppressed, because "they contained reflections of a very high nature;" others failed from lack of support, and others were discontinued because the objects for which they were established had ceased to be matters of interest. A collection of the extinct newspapers of Upper Canada from 1791, the date of the separation of the Province of Quebec, to 1841, the period of the reunion of Upper and Lower Canada, would be interesting and instructive, but such a collection of literary curiosities, it is much to be feared, would be sought for in vain.

The "Quebec Gazette," crusted though it was with the hoar and frost of more than one hundred years, long lived and thrived in its fortress home, the venerable and, if we mistake not, the unchallenged patriarch of the Press of America. Indeed had a Newspaper Congress assembled in London in 1865, this Quebec sage, dating from 1764, would have taken precedence of "The Times," "The Herald," "The Advertiser" and "The Post," while "The Standard," "The News," and "The Telegraph" would have filled the places of literary grandchildren to the Canadian centenarian. The "Quebec Mercury," like "The London Globe," commenced its career with the century, and though its age, for convenience, may be called four-score years, it still preserves a vigorous lustiness, not unlike that which the mythological deity whose title it bears is said to have derived from the loins of Jupiter; moreover, the Quebec namesake sympathizes with those qualities of sportiveness and appropriation that so eminently distinguished its classical prototype. "La Minerve," named after the brain child of Jupiter, in concert with "Le Canadien," for periods scarcely less remote have reiterated in unison the familiar watchwords, "Nos Institutions, Notre Langue et Nos Lois," and with unabated perseverance have claimed for their countrymen in Canada the ancient rights and immunities of the Gallic race. "The Gazette" and "The Montreal Herald," on the other side, have been the steady representatives of the Teutonic tribes, and the eloquent advocates of British institutions for a British colony. "The Brockville Recorder," like "The John Bull," began its career at the time of the uncomfortable agitation in England on the Queen Caroline affair, and the two papers, no doubt, took opposite sides when the issue was joined. The former, sometimes with measured meekness and sometimes with vehement zeal, but always with consistency, has borne its small banner of reform, and for the space of sixty years has done what it could to keep the old Johnstown district in a proper state of political repair by an active course of political friction. "The British Whig," though planted at the base of Lake Ontario, amidst picturesque historical associations and pleasant individual influences, among moral fossils and actual rocks, where opinion rarely grows crooked and radishes seldom grow straight, seems, nevertheless, to have overcome the physical disabilities that are said to vex the root crops with curvatures, and to have discovered wells of intellectual succulence unknown to other explorers, from which, for the space of sixty-six years, he has drawn highly-flavered draughts of mirth, and jest, and humor, wherewith to season the sauce of the citizens of Kingston, and make laughter musical among the yeomen of Frontenac. Moreover, with the courage and instinct of the modern head of the British Whigs, the champion of the blue and buff party at Kingston, asserted the possibility of, by leading the way to, the establishment of daily newspapers in Upper Canada, and thus it was that "The British Whig" became the parent of the daily papers of Ontario. "The Kingston Daily News" inherited the property with the name of "The Kingston Chronicle," and whether under its earlier or later title, it has sought to elevate the character of Canadian journalism, and by combining ability with respectability, it has pursued a course which has proved as blameless as it has been useful. "The Prescott Telegraph" has for over sixty years continued to progress in a town that is not particularly remarkable for progression. "The Christian Guardian," commenced in 1829, though it has laid aside all of its political bitterness, has certainly lost none of its religious savor, and consequently it is warmly welcomed by the large Methodist Society for whose benefit it was established.

The papers we have mentioned, and many others of the period that we might name, represent the milestones in our earlier Canadian history, as well as the repositories of the thoughts and words of a political and social state of society now passed and gone forever. Files of several of the Lower Canada papers have been preserved, and may be found in the Parliamentary Library at Ottawa, but similar records of Ontario and the Maritime Provinces are, we fear, wholly wanting. "The Acadian Recorder," for example, besides the "certaine newes" of many a week in the years that are past, might give us scraps of "newer newes," and a great deal besides, the possession of which would recall some things that we should like to remember as well as some things we should prefer to forget. In St. John, New Brunswick, papers were published a century ago. The historical fact is preserved, but who among the old inhabitants has preserved the papers?

In closing this notice of the history of the newspaper press of Canada, it affords us pleasure to make special reference to a journal which, though only born on the 16th of January, 1869, has made steady strides towards the occupation of a prominent position among the journals of our country. In November, 1879, its circulation was only 14,155 and its growth may be judged of from the fact that in November, 1881, the circulation of the "Montreal Daily Star" had reached 17,486 while in 1885 it had increased to 25,608, while writing in April, 1896, its sworn circulation has reached the large total of 45,932. The enterprise of its publishers is also rewarded by the popularity attained by the "Family Herald and Weekly Star," which, first published in 1869, is now a sixteen page paper of one hundred and twenty-eight columns, with a circulation of 83,759.

The "Star" Almanac of Canada, first issued in 1893, which has rapidly grown in public esteem as a book of reference, is also issued from the establishment of the same publishers, Messrs. Graham & Co., Montreal.

This is not the place to refer to the vast improvements which have been made during the last fifty years in the newspaper world, in the use of the etcher's art, the rapid printing presses, the type-setting machines, special wires and other adjuncts of every well equipped modern newspaper, but a comparison with journals from other parts of the world shows that Canada is in harmony with the age in its use of the developments of modern science.

LOVELL'S
Business and Professional Directory

OF ALL THE

Cities, Towns and Banking Villages in the Dominion of Canada.

TO WHICH HAS BEEN ADDED A LARGE NUMBER OF OTHER PLACES.

Alphabetically arranged as to Places, Names, Business and Professions.

In this section of the book the places are arranged in Alphabetical order. In addition to the Cities, Towns and Banking Villages in the Dominion, as promised in our prospectus, we give a very large number of places, not Banking Centres, but considered of sufficient importance to have representation in the work, and adding a great deal to its value. A few places received too late for insertion in their proper place will be found at the end of the Alphabetical portion.

BELLEVILLE, Ont.

The capital of the co. of Hastings, Ont., situated on the Bay of Quinte, at the mouth of the River Moira, 60 miles W. of Kingston. It is a city of considerable importance, is well built, lit with gas, possesses a good harbor, and unlimited water power. It has 2 miles of electric railway run with a ten minute service. Proposed lines are to be constructed in 1896, extending a belt line through the city 3 miles and to the town of Trenton 12 miles west of Belleville. It has also 1 1-2 miles of granolithic pavement on the main streets, and is now extending the sewerage system to make one of the most desirable residential cities in the Province of Ontario. Here are agencies for the Bank of Montreal, the Merchants' Bank of Canada, and the Bank of Commerce, Dominion Bank, 1 telephone and 2 telegraph companies, and several fire and life insurance companies. The town contains, besides the county buildings, numerous handsome stores, 1 opera house, 2 fine halls, good hotels, several printing offices, from which 3 daily and 3 weekly newspapers are issued, 10 churches, Albert University and Alexandra Ladies College, a convent, 6 common schools, 1 brewery, 2 distilleries, 4 foundries, 2 flouring mills, 2 woollen factories, 4 sash, door and blind factories, a cheese box factory, a chair and cabinet factory, a sewing machine factory, and several very extensive saw mills. Belleville is an important station on the Grand Trunk Railway, and the Midland system terminal point. It is a divisional point, and large repair shops and round houses are erected and used by the Grand Trunk system. Connection is made by the C. P. R. by stage daily to Ivanhoe, a station on the Ontario & Quebec Division of the C. P. R. Steamboats to all parts of the Bay of Quinte run daily in time of navigation, and the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co. steamers call here every day throughout the summer season, and the steamer Hamilton during navigation. Pop. 10,300.

BRANTFORD, Ont.

A city of Ontario, capital of the co. of Brant, beautifully situated on Grand River. It is an important station on the Buffalo and Goderich branch of the G. T. R., and the Brantford & Tilsonburg branch of the G. G. T. connects the town with the main line at Harrisburg. Brantford has agencies of the Bank of Montreal, Bank of British North America, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Standard Bank of Canada, and several assurance and insurance companies, and contains 22 churches, a free library, 3 printing offices, from which 2 daily and 3 weekly newspapers are issued, 2 telegraph offices, about 200 stores, and several first-class hotels. The buildings erected by the Grand Trunk are on a very extensive scale, occupying 11 acres. They consist of a repair shop, engine house and round house, built of white brick. Among the manufactures of the city may be mentioned brass and iron castings, tin and japanned ware, sashes and blinds, engines and mill machinery, agricultural implements, stoves, bicycles, apiary supplies, carriages woollen and cotton mills, binder twine and stoneware produced nowhere else in the province. The streets of Brantford are lighted with gas and electricity. It has a splendid system of water works owned by the municipality, and a complete sewerage system constructed on the separate plan. The fire department is ranked as one of the best on the continent. The city is justly celebrated for its public buildings, which are chiefly built of white brick. The court house and county buildings is situated in the centre of the city. It cost $32,000. Among its churches, Grace church (Episcopalian), St. Basil's (Roman Catholic), Zion (Presbyterian) and the Methodist church on Brant avenue, are particularly remarkable as models of architectural excellence. Wickliffe Hall, erected by the Young Men's Christian Association in 1875, at a cost of $22,000, is one of the chief ornaments of the city. The Ontario Institution for the Education of the Blind occupies a prominent site just without the limits of the city. It is built of white brick in the Tudor style, and possesses a frontage of 220 feet. The grounds include an area of 65 acres, which are in a high state of cultivation. The John H. Stratford Hospital and House of Refuge are also notable buildings. The city derives its name from Brant, the great Indian chief, who surrendered the present plot to the Government in 1830. In Victoria Park there is a monument erected to his memory at a cost of $20,000. Pop. 16,864, with an additional thousand living on the outskirts

CHATHAM, Ont.

A city of Ontario, county of Kent, of which it is the county seat, at the head of navigation, on the river Thames, is the great trade centre of the richest agricultural belt in Ontario. It is in the exact centre of the county, being equi-distant from the borders of Essex and Lambton, and consequently has one of the best markets in the province, rivalling those of London and Toronto. The head offices and workshops of the Erie & Huron Railway running from Sarnia on the north to Rondeau on the south, and connecting here with the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, running east and west. Well equipped stations of the above named roads are also in the city, which contains Harrison hall, called after the late Chief Justice Harrison, occupied by the city and county offices, an ornament to the city, and one of the finest buildings of its kind west of Hamilton, 12 churches, a collegiate institute, several excellent public schools, a separate school, public library, 4 chartered and 2 private banks, 2 express offices, 2 telegraph offices, 2 opera houses, 2 large public parks, 4 flour mills, 3 sash and door factories, 1 soap and candle factory, 3 foundries, a woollen mill and a large canning factory. Two daily newspapers are published, both having weekly editions. The city is lighted with electricity and has good fire and police protection. The place was incorporated a city during 1895, and is making considerable internal improvements. A steamer makes regular trips to Detroit during the season of navigation. Distant from Windsor 46 miles, from London 65 miles, from Hamilton 140 miles, from Toronto 189 miles, from Montreal 513 miles. Population 1871, 5873; 1881, 7881; 1895, 9000.

DALHOUSIE, N.B.

The chief town of the co. of Restigouche, is situated on the right bank of the Restigouche River, at its entrance into the Bay of Chaleurs, 268 miles north of St. John, and 126 miles south-east of St. Flavie, on the St. Lawrence. In front of the town is a well-sheltered, crescent-shaped cove, with good holding ground for ships in 9 to 15 fathoms water. Fine wharves and excellent timber ponds have been constructed here, affording every convenience for loading the largest ships. The Restigouche and its branches drain at least 4000 square miles of fertile country, abounding in timber and other valuable resources, the whole of which must find its way to the sea by the port of Dalhousie. A large trade is done in Dalhousie in fresh salmon—exported in ice—and lobsters. A branch of the I. C. R. runs into the town, 7 miles from Dalhousie Junction. Sawn lumber from Metapedia district is shipped at wharves. It has 2 saw and shingle mills and 1 large lumber factory, 9 stores, 3 hotels, 3 churches, 1 Protestant school, telegraph and express offices. Pop. about 1000.

DUNDAS, Ont.

An incorporated town and port of entry in Wentworth co., at the head of Burlington Bay, formed at the western extremity of Lake Ontario, and on the G. T. R., 5 miles west of Hamilton. It has agencies of several insurance companies, an agency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, 2 printing offices issuing weekly newspapers, 2 telegraph agencies, 2 express companies, about 40 stores, 6 hotels, and churches for the Episcopalians, Roman Catholics, Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians. It possesses unlimited water power, and has manufactories of iron castings, machinery of every description, edge tools, paper, leather, woollen and cotton goods, woodenware, etc. The town is very prettily situated, and is very healthy. The site is a beautiful valley, from which the town is sometimes called the Valley City. H. R. H. Princess Louise, viewing the town and surroundings from the platform of the G. W. R. Station, while on her trip from the Western States in 1879, pronounced the scene the finest she had witnessed since leaving Ottawa. The Desjardins Canal gives it water communication with Hamilton and other ports: a street railway also connects it with Hamilton. Pop. 3546.

EDMONTON, N.W.T.

An incorporated town in the district of Alberta, situated on the north branch of the Saskatchewan River. It is the terminus of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway, and is the head of navigation on the river for all points north of the Peace River district. It has 3 brick yards, 3 saw mills, 2 grist mills, 2 sash and door factories and planing mills, a branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada and money order Post Office, electric light and telephone exchange, and first-class fire protection appliances. Gold and silver are found in the vicinity, and a plentiful supply of wood and coal. Coal mining is quite an industry, there being several mines working inside the town limits, which employ during the cold weather from 30 to 40 men. The coal lies in a horizontal strata, and is brought out from under ground at the face of the cut bank of the river, which natural position renders the coal easy to work. It is of an excellent quality, and is delivered about town at the low price of $2. per ton. There is also coal with the same working advantages at the White Mud Creek, about seven miles to the southwest, which mines are in close proximity to the first railway siding south of this place, at which point the product of the mines is shipped south to the points along the line. Two newspapers are published in Edmonton, "The Bulletin" and "The Times." It has Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Roman Catholic and Methodist churches, and Roman Catholic and public schools; a detachment of the Northwest mounted Police are stationed here, the headquarters of "G" division being at Fort Saskatchewan, 18 miles north. Sittings of the Supreme Court are held several times in the year. There is an office of the Clerk of the Court, Registry office, Land office, and Crown Timber office in the town. The town contains 55 stores, 5 hotels, 5 saw and grist mills, 2 sash and door and planing factories, 2 telegraph and 1 express office. Pop. 2000.

against Indians. Fort William has over 80 places of business. The C. P. R. Co. in 1890 moved all their work shops, &c., from Fort William West down to East Fort William; from then until the present time the town has been growing rapidly. The C. P. Co. have built large docks, stone houses, sheds, and their elevators. Fort William is the head of lake navigation, and the C. P. R have three magnificent steamers plying between Fort William and Owen Sound, for the transmission of lake freight. The district around Fort William is rich in minerals, gold and silver being found in large quantities, also large deposits of other valuable minerals. The Kaministigua River emptying into Thunder Bay is very beautiful, and the scenery along its banks is not surpassed by the St. Lawrence River, while the Kakabeka Falls, 120 feet high, is a fair rival of the Niagara Falls. Fort William contains 6 churches, besides the Indian mission and school, 1-2 a mile from the town, and the schools are all that can be desired. Pop. 3000.

FREDERICTON, N.B.

A city and port of entry of New Brunswick, capital of the Province and of York co., is beautifully situated on a point of land on the west side of the River St John, 60 miles in a direct line N.N.W. of St. John, 64 miles by rail, 84 miles by water. It has seven streets, nearly a mile in length, prettily lined with trees, running parallel with the river. These are crossed by about a dozen others at right angles. It is one of the most beautiful cities in Canada. The public buildings comprise the new Parliament Buildings, the old Government House, City Hall, Court House, Exhibition Building and Rink, Barracks, University, Cathedral, Bicycle and Boating Club House, Post Office and beautiful Normal School Building. The Parliament Buildings are situated 2 blocks from post office and the Government House at the upper extremity of the city. The latter is a large stone mansion facing the river, surrounded by tastefully laid off grounds and shrubberies, but not now occupied by the Lieut-Governor who lives in his own residence. The University is admirably situated upon the rising ground at the rear of the city. As a seat of learning it ranks high in the Provinces. Fredericton is the seat of the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Fredericton (Church of England). His Cathedral, a handsome edifice, is situated at the lower end of the city. The other churches belong to the Church of England, Roman Catholic, Presbyterians, Methodists and Baptists. The St. John River, which is here 3-4 of a mile wide,is navigable to this point, 84 miles from the Bay of Fundy, for sea-going vessels of 120 tons. Small steamers ascend 65 miles further to Woodstock, and during high water steamers used to run to Grand Falls, 75 miles above Woodstock. There are two excellent bridges here; one of steel used by both the Canada Eastern and C. P. R. Cos. It is the chief terminus of the Canada Eastern Ry. from Chatham and the C. P. R. has its lines running on both sides of the river to Woodstock and points above, connecting with the River du Loup Ry. It also connects with Boston & Maine for point westward. Fredericton is an incorporated city. Its affairs are managed by a Mayor and Corporation. Its streets are lighted with electricity. It contains 1 bank, 3 bank agencies, 2 daily and 6 weekly newspapers, 2 telegraph offices, several life and fire insurance agencies, good hotels, a number of first class stores, and manufactories of iron castings, mill machinery, leather, boots and shoes, wooden ware, etc. Fredericton was originally called St. Ann's. It was founded by Sir Guy Carleton in 1786, shortly after the erection of New Brunswick into a separate Province. Pop. over 7,000.

GODERICH, Ont.

The county town of Huron co., and the chief shipping port on east shore of Lake Huron. It is delightfully situated at the mouth of the River Maitland and is the north terminus of the Buffalo & Goderich branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, 165 miles from Buffalo and 62 miles north north-west of London. It contains 2 Methodist churches and one each for Episcopalians, Roman Catholics and Presbyterians, 4 public schools, collegiate institute, separate school, 2 weekly newspapers, 2 telegraph offices, 2 banks, 7 hotels, 50 stores, 3 planing mills and 2 flour mills, one being a branch of the great Ogilvie system; also manufactories of woollens, iron castings, machinery, leather, boots and shoes, organs and high class wood work, etc. Goderich is the centre of the salt industry of Canada, 5 wells being situated there. The lake fisheries are also of great value, employing a large number of tugs and sail boats, the product being principally shipped to the United States. Goderich has daily communication to all lake points by steamers, and possesses unrivalled docks for handling lumber. It has a first-class harbor, protected by over 2,000 feet of piers, with a light-house on a high bluff. As a health and pleasure resort, it is unsurpassed on the chain of lakes, possessing both saline and mineral waters, and all boating facilities. There are ample systems of water-works (from artesian wells), and electric light, both owned by the town. Pop. 3839.

The city and harbor of Halifax are protected by 11 different fortifications, and in every way the port is considered one of the safest and best on the globe.

Halifax is the chief naval station of British North America, and the only station now occupied by troops. There are two regiments of the Line, besides artillery and engineers, stationed in the city. They have a large handsome and comfortable brick barrack at the north end overlooking the harbor.

Opposite the city stands the pretty

HALIFAX, N.S.

A city and seaport, capital of the province of Nova Scotia, on the south coast of that peninsula, nearly equidistant from its north-eastern and south-western extremities. It is situated on the west side of Halifax Harbor, a deep inlet of the sea. The streets are spacious, and cross each other at right angles. Many of the houses are of wood, plastered and stuccoed, but many also are handsomely built of stone.

There are 26 churches, including a Church of England Cathedral and a Roman Catholic Cathedral, a large number of school houses, some of which are elegantly built structures, 7 banks, and 1 savings bank, 1 city court house, 1 county court house, 1 gaol, 1 penitentiary, 2 fish markets, 1 green market, several private markets for the sale of meat and general country produce, 2 or 3 public halls, an Academy of Music, a Masonic Temple, Young Men's Christian Association building, 2 large and handsome provincial buildings for public offices, 3 club houses, several colleges and academies, 3 barracks, 5 hospitals (1 city, 1 military and 1 naval), 1 poor's asylum, 1 asylum for the blind, about 20 hotels, a large number of stores (some of them fine specimens of architecture), and manufactories of iron castings, machinery of every description, agricultural implements, nails, pails, fuse, gunpowder, cordage, boots and shoes, soap and candles, leather, tobacco, paper, cotton and woollen goods, wooden ware, etc., also a sugar refinery, distilleries of whiskey, and breweries of porter and ale.

At the north end of the city is a large dockyard for the accommodation of Her Majesty's ships of war. It covers 14 acres, and is one of the finest dockyards in the British colonies.

The harbor of Halifax is one of the best, perhaps the very best, in the world. It is 6 miles long, by, on an average, 1 mile wide; the water is very clear and capable of floating alongside the wharves vessels of the largest size. There is excellent anchorage in every part of it. At the north end, the harbor is connected by a narrow arm called the Narrows, with Bedford Basin, a sheet of water six miles by four in size, capable of containing all the navies of the world.

The city and harbor of Halifax are protected by 11 different fortifications, and in every way the port is considered one of the safest and best on the globe.

Halifax is the chief naval station of British North America, and the only station now occupied by troops. There are two regiments of the Line, besides artillery and engineers, stationed in the city. They have a large handsome and comfortable brick barrack at the north end overlooking the harbor.

Opposite the city stands the pretty little town of Dartmouth. The scenery around Halifax and Dartmouth is charming. The North West Arm, a narrow arm of the sea, about 2 miles west of the city, is very pretty; the arm is about 3 miles long and about half a mile in width. Some pretty villas along its shore add considerably to the natural beauty of the locality.

The city of Halifax is governed by a mayor and aldermen, assisted by a stipendiary magistrate and about 40 policemen. The streets are lighted by electricity and the houses supplied with gas and water. It has also an electric car service.

The city has extensive steam communication with the various parts of the Dominion, Newfoundland, the United States, the West Indies, and Great Britain. Railway lines connect it on the east with Pictou and on the west with Annapolis, and with St. John, N.B., the United States and the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario. Halifax is the south-eastern terminus of the I. C. R. There are owned here over 100 square rigged vessels, as many schooners, and a host of small craft.

Halifax sends 2 members to the House of Commons and 3 to the Provincial Legislature.

It is the seat of the Sees of the Anglican Bishop of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, and of the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Halifax.

15 newspapers are issued in the city, 4 of which are daily, 5 sectarian, 1 the advocate of temperance, and the rest political and general.

Halifax was originally called "Chedabucto" or "Chebucto," but in 1749, when it was proclamed the capital of Acadia, which then comprised Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, it was called Halifax, in honor of the Earl of Halifax, an active promoter of the enterprise which resulted in founding the city. In 1790 it contained 700 houses and 4000 inhabitants; in 1828, 1580 houses and 14,439 inhabitants; in 1871, 4326 houses and 29582 inhabitants; and in 1891, 5,943 houses and 38,495 inhabitants

HAMILTON, Ont.

The capital of Wentworth co., in the Province of Ontario, is situated upon a plain which rises gradually from the shores of Hamilton Bay, a land-locked harbor at the western end of Lake Ontario, to the base of the Niagara Escarpment, commonly called "The Mountain." The city extends from Beasley's Hollow in the west to the Delta in the east, a distance of upwards of five miles, and from the mountain to the bay about two miles in width. Its wide, regularly laid out and well paved streets, its fine churches, residences and public buildings and its wealth of beautiful shade trees make it one of the most attractive cities of the Dominion. It is 372 miles W. S. W. from Montreal, 186 miles E. N. E. from Detroit, Mich., and 70 miles N. W. from Buffalo, N. Y. The Hamilton Canal, which intersects the "Beach," affords an entrance for the largest vessels. At the western end of the bay is the Desjardins Canal, indelibly impressed upon the pages of history by the frightful railway accident which occurred there some years ago. To the west also are the picturesque Burlington Heights where even to-day may be seen the remains of the earthworks, where General Vincent and his handful of troops kept the Americans at bay in 1812. It is said that La Salle and his companions set foot on the spot on which Hamilton now stands in 1669. Robert Land was the pioneer settler in 1778. Land's Bush in the north eastern suburbs of the city is named after him. Other early settlers were Archibald Ferguson, Nathaniel and James Hughson, George Hamilton, Peter Hunter Hamilton, Thomas, Ebenezer and John Stinson, Sir Allan Napier Macnab, James Mills, and Peter Hess, whose names are now made familiar by many of the principal streets. The Gore, a beautiful little spot in the centre of the city, was the gift of Geo. Hamilton, who laid out the city as it now is in 1813, and after whom it is named. Hamilton is noted for its mild and even climate, its cleanly streets, its splendid water works, its excellent drainage system, its electric cars and lights, all of which materially contribute to the well being and comfort of the inhabitants. Hamilton has many handsome buildings. The city hall, hospital, public library and art schools, post office, court house, market buildings, are especially notable among the public buildings, whilst the Canada Life, Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway station, the Hamilton Provident and Loan Society are exceedingly massive and imposing. Hamilton is the See city of the diocese of Niagara (Church of England), and of the diocese of Hamilton (Roman Catholic). There are about 48 churches, 10 English Church, including a cathedral, 8 Presbyterian, 9 Methodist, 6 Baptist, 4 Roman Catholic, including a pro-cathedral, 1 synagogue and 10 miscellaneous. Hamilton is well supplied with charitable societies and institutions. The school system is excellent. The public schools embrace a collegiate institute with model school and training classes for teachers, 23 schools, and a number of primaries and kindergartens. Upwards of 160 teachers are employed. The average attendance at the schools is about 7,500 and at the institute about 700. In addition to this, there are 8 separate schools with an average attendance of over 2,000. The Hamilton Ladies' College, styled the Wesleyan, is devoted to the higher branches, whilst a convent school for young ladies, the La Salle academy for young men, and many others perfect and complete all educational requirements. Above all else Hamilton is pre-eminently the great manufacturing city of the Dominion. It is frequently called the Birmingham of Canada. There is hardly a manufactured article of commerce made in the broad Dominion for which one or more establishments have not been set up. In 1867 the assessed value of Hamilton was $8,896,113. It is now about $26,000,000. There are 3 daily and 5 weekly papers. Hamilton is admirably connected with the whole system of American and Canadian railways, by the Grand Trunk Railway, and by the new Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway. Population 1833, 2846; 1846, 6832; 1850, 10,248; 1861, 19,096; 1871, 26,716; 1880, 34,268; 1893, 47,000; 1896, 49,000.

KINGSTON, Ont.

Founded in 1673 by Frontenac, is consequently one of the oldest cities on the American continent, and is pre-eminently of interest to tourists and others from several special points of view. Here is situated the Provincial Penitentiary, the Royal Military College, the beautiful Rockwood Asylum for the insane, a noble university, the imposing Sir John Macdonald monument on the park, and other innumerable attractions, not the least of which is its strong military defences. It is situated in Kingston township, Frontenac county, at the head of the Thousand Islands and River St. Lawrence, at its juncture with Lake Ontario. The main line of the G. T. R. passes within 2 miles of the city, and is connected by a branch line. The Kingston & Pembroke Railway starts from here, as does also the Rideau Canal connecting the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa. It has now over 19,000 population, with suburbs over 23,000. It is an arch-episcopal diocese of both the Anglican and Roman Catholic communions, and has also Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Catholic apostolic churches and S. A. barracks. Educationally it leads, besides the Military College and University there being several academies, a musical conservatory, art school, high school, school of mining, 7 public and as many separate schools. It has 5 branch banks and 6 private banking houses, 38 hotels, an opera house, 2 hospitals, 3 asylums, a convent, Mechanics' Institute, 2 daily, 1 semi-weekly and 3 weekly newspapers, and a quarterly magazine. Grain and iron ore are shipped extensively. A large Government dry dock is situated here, and there is also a private dry dock, 2 saw mills, 4 planing mills, 1 flour, 1 cotton, and 1 woollen mill, 2 foundries, 3 machine shops, car works, and factories for the manufacture of brooms, brushes, cigars, cordage, oil-cloth. It has a brewery, electric railway, telegraph and telephone connection, etc.
