Provincial Secretary And Hotel Man In Encounter Today

Trouble in Hon. H. F. McLeod's Office Merges Into a Fist Battle—Said to Be Over Mortgage

(Special To Times) Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 21.—Hon. H. F. McLeod, who will leave tonight for England for the autumn manoeuvres had some real war experience in his law office here this morning. John Doherty, proprietor of the Spring Hotel, called to see him on some business, which ultimately developed into a fist encounter. Workmen on the new Royal Bank building, attracted by the rumpus, hurried to the scene and found Doherty lying on the floor with the provincial secretary's treasurer sitting on top of him. Blood and other signs of carnage were in evidence.

VISIT CANADA, SAYS MRS. PANKHURST, HEAD OF THE MILITANT WOMEN

Lecture Here and in the States—Paints Picture of the Agony of the Thirst Strike

(Canadian Press) Toronto, Aug. 21.—The suffrage movement is an international one, said Mrs. Pankhurst, leader of the English militants, yesterday in a chat with a correspondent. At the same time she announced her intention of visiting the United States and Canada at the end of the year to lecture in various cities. "Talking of her personal experiences in the course of five 'hunger strikes,' one of which lasted nine days, Mrs. Pankhurst said: "Abstinence from food, though torture enough, is nothing compared to an awful agony of self-imposed thirst. One's body literally shrivels up until it resembles a mummy. If people could only see some of our martyrs lying inert after a hunger strike, with their faces drawn, white and shrunk, and with clenched fists, the imagination would be so struck that the country would be roused and force the government to stop the struggle by giving us the vote."

NICE TIME FOR THE LABOR MINISTER TO GO AWAY FROM CANADA

Borden Criticized For Letting Crothers Leave on Junk Trip While Big Strike is on

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—There is considerable surprise in the House of Commons at the present time. With 5,000 coal miners and 8,000 soldiers threatening an another in British Columbia, it is thought here that Premier Borden would have acted more wisely in requesting the minister of labor to remain in Canada than to have him leave the situation to the militia authorities. It is said that Mr. Crothers could obtain in British Columbia more useful information on the relation of miners and mine owners than he will be able to obtain in Britain, where it is announced he will go to study the industrial conditions of the mining class.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Not even the tense situation in Mexico dulls President Wilson's keen interest in the baseball struggle. RUSSIAN INVESTIGATORS CONFIRM CHARGES OF BRUTALITY AND MASSACRE AGAINST BULGARS

(Canadian Press) London, Aug. 21.—Ashmead Bartlett, the Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Constantinople, sends a three column report by Russian officials who were sent by their government to investigate the charge of atrocities on the part of the Bulgarians during the occupation of Adrianople. It confirms the charges, alleging that the Bulgarians massacred many Turks and Greeks, assaulted women and looted and defiled the mosques, looting, among others, the library of the Mosque of the Sultan Selim and plundering the houses of wealthy Turks, Greeks and Jews. The spoil is said to have been sent to Sofia.

DR. CARTER FAVORS FREE TEXT BOOKS

N. B. Education Superintendent At Ottawa Meeting

THIRTY YEAR OLD GEOGRAPHY

Five Years Limit is His Suggestion—School Books Uniform All Over Canada as Well as Free is Matter Before Education Convention

(Canadian Press) Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 21.—Free textbooks—and uniform ones—all over Canada, reciprocity between provinces in the matter of teachers, and the question whether the new Montessori method of teaching shall be introduced into Canadian schools, formed the subjects for several pithy discussions at the opening general meeting of the Dominion Educational association, held here today. Technical education was also before the meeting in the form of a brief outline of the report of the royal commission on this question by Dr. J. W. Robertson, its chairman, and president, also of the association.

The passing of teachers from one province to another was referred to by Dr. A. H. Mackay, superintendent of education in Nova Scotia. The formation of a central bureau of education would tend to this end. Such a bureau would be for the purpose of gathering statistics, not for coercive purposes. The speaker also suggested that representatives from the various provinces might meet once a year, as a board to discuss a number of subjects not properly for the dominion educational associations meetings.

Dr. W. S. Carter, of New Brunswick, who followed, advocated free textbooks to solve the problems of which Dr. Mackay had spoken. He also favored the gathering together yearly of provincial education officers, and prominent club members. Returning to the question of textbooks, he stated that no geography textbook had lasted longer than five years. Unfortunately, in New Brunswick, the limit was thirty years.

WILL THERE BE FUSS OVER VISITING GOLFERS?

New Yorkers Seem to Promise To Make Unpleasantness

London, Aug. 21.—New York dispatches suggest that the visit of Vernon and Ray to America is likely to raise another controversy which has occasionally marked the history of Anglo-American sport. The visiting golfers, it is said, have aroused considerable feeling among American golfers by declining to play exhibition matches for less than $500 a match, and prominent clubs are said to have snubbed them.

Stop Guessing! Know!

A business man much annoyed by the uncertain answers he received from his subordinates when he asked for information, posted a sign over his desk reading: Stop Guessing! Know!

How many people do their personal buying on the "guess" principle. They "guess" they are getting the best shoes, the best shirts, the best hats—they guess they know how to spend their own money.

But why guess? The advertising columns of the Telegraph and Times are books of knowledge. They eliminate guess work. They tell you what there is, where to get it, and what it costs. The man or woman who reads advertising, shops intelligently. Information takes the place of mere guessing.

GLAD TO BE BACK TO PRIVATE LIFE

Mrs. Asquith Longa to Be "Herself" Again

LONDON SOCIETY

Reconciliation in the British Peerage Brings Pleasure to Many—The Preparations for the Wedding of Prince and Duchess

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, Aug. 20.—"I am sick to death of it," said Mrs. Asquith, the premier's wife, to a friend at Goodwood. She was referring to her duties as the wife of the prime minister. "You never can be 'yourself' she volunteered, 'for you must be for ever, so to speak, standing on your hind legs.' Her friends who know 'Margie' best predicted this for her. 'She'll be so heartily sick of it all, she'll wish herself at the bottom of the sea,' they said when she went to Downing street.

"I have to wear a hat, or at any rate keep my head covered when I play golf," she remarked, "and if there's one thing I dislike when I play it is to do this. It takes away half the pleasure of the game. And all the weary hours one has to be civil if you are the wife of the prime minister! And you have to put the brake on your tongue all the time."

When the day comes for the prime minister to throw over his office Mr. Asquith is wondering what his wife will do in honor of the event. That she will do something to thrill, everybody agrees.

deForest Re-arrives

If only for the sake of their two handsome little boys, everybody seems glad that the deForests have come together again. The reconciliation was brought about by a dignitary of the Catholic church and Baron de Forest, who had always been passionately in love with his wife, jumped when an overture was made. They had been seeing each other lately but they made their first public appearance together at Le Touquet.

He is a millionaire many times over and what he has suffered all these miserable years living alone in his London palace in St. James' Square, words cannot tell. He tried hard to interest himself in politics, he studied, he worked, but he was always miserable and now terrible melancholy seems to have settled on him. Sadly misunderstood and maligned when he did not speak out, his grievances staggered his friends and the public. But all's well that ends well.

This millionaire and his wife, will, it rumor speaks truly, live as quietly as possible for the rest of their days. One who saw them on the links, said, "They both looked lively even of each other and strank from the gaze of strangers." She has gone through the mill, too. She is older and her hair is turning grey. He has always been a charitable man and now they are both going to devote themselves to charity—and the children.

The Royal Wedding

Preparations are going on apace for the wedding of the Duchess of Fife and Prince Arthur of Connaught—the mere juxtaposition of their names makes one

The Little Princess

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE

CHAPTER I. Once there was a beautiful king's daughter and a handsome king's son who had everything they could wish for except each other!

Now, they dearly loved one another, but the young prince's father declared he should not marry this fair maid because she could not spin and weave and sew.

Though so beautiful and so amiable and so good, it was true that the princess knew little or nothing about work. The prince's mother agreed with him, and she very decidedly announced that her son should not marry the princess.

Poor princess! Unhappy prince. What were they to do? At last the prince decided to take some steps which would prove whether or not his princess could work, if she just had to do it.

"Mother, dear," he said to the queen, "we will have a test. If my princess shows she can sew and spin and weave as well as you can, you will not consent to have her for a daughter-in-law?"

"That is fair," said the queen. But she believed in her heart the princess would prove she could not do any of the three.

The fair princess was sent to the maiden's bower in the king's palace and the queen sent her a pound of flax to spin. The directions were that the flax should be spun before the dawn of the next day. If it was not spun, the princess was never to think of the prince whom she loved, again.

When the poor princess found herself alone in the bower she felt very badly, for she knew she could not spin the queen's flax. And she hated so to lose the prince. She wandered about her apartment and wept. What should she do?

wonder what common title they will possess when they are married, and it is commonly believed that the king will present to the bridegroom some honor of this sort as a kind of wedding present.

The young duchess is already knee deep in "chiffons," for, of course, it is not so many weeks now before the ceremony will take place, and Her Highness is possessed of a most orderly mind. In any of the larger part of her troupe, she would put her out altogether. She and her mother have gone north for a few weeks, rather to the surprise of some of her friends, for they thought that London would be the best centre to "shop" for a trousseau. But the duchess has decided tastes of her own. Her pet tailor lives in Edinburgh, and it is they who will supply the larger part of her trousseau. She is essentially an "out-door" girl, and we do not anticipate that she will do much entertaining of the "crash" or indeed, of any "indoor" order during the London seasons after she is married.

Next and superlatively well cut coats and skirts are now being fashioned in the beautiful city of the "land of cakes" for Her Highness, to suit all possible occasions, such as golfing, fishing, cycling, motoring and all the other outdoor pursuits that she loves. A few of these, by the way, are being made in Dublin, which has an excellent reputation for this kind of garment. For the more "fluffy" kinds of clothes it is good news to hear that the duchess is consulting her grandmother, Queen Alexandra, whose taste in sartorial affairs is almost world-famous. For as an officer's wife, Her Highness will have a certain amount of entertaining to do, and for all her "out-door" tastes, she has a strong feminine love for pretty, dainty things.

Meanwhile, court officials are wrapping wet towels round their heads in order to discover how many of the people who will certainly consider they ought to be asked, they can squeeze into the Chapel Royal, where the ceremony will take place. Unfortunately, it is quite a small place, and as our royal family is by no means small dimensions, the task of allotting space to them all is rather a problem. When the present king and queen were married, the little chapel was terribly overcrowded, and to make matters worse, it was a fearfully hot day, with the result that several ladies fainted, among them Queen Alexandra.

Subsequently Queen Victoria and those responsible for the arrangements "had a few words" on the matter, or, perhaps it is more correct to say that the aged queen did all the talking while the officials listened to what she had to say on the subject.

Directly Prince Arthur's engagement was announced, offers of country places for the honeymoon came from all quarters, and numerous rumors went about as to where the young people would stay. A friend of court, however, tells me that they will spend the first part of the honeymoon, at any rate, at Frogmore. They will then go abroad for a little while and will return to Marl Lodge for a little while on a visit to the Princess Royal.

Prince Arthur's name has frequently been mentioned as successor to his father in Canada, so you may see them with you before very long.

SHE MUST STAND UP IN ORDER TO KEEP AWAKE

Girl Afflicted For Two Years By Strange Malady

New York, Aug. 21.—Miss Alice Geiser, of Liberty place, Weehawken, is the victim of a strange malady, said to be without parallel in medical annals. She cannot keep awake unless she stands up. Sitting or lying down she becomes unconscious.

It is not the so-called sleeping sickness of Africa, which lasts less than two weeks. Miss Geiser has been afflicted for two years.

Although she has been under constant medical treatment for two years no headway has been made toward a cure. Miss Geiser, in all other respects, is a normal, healthy young woman.

NOTED ADVENTURES STRANGLED TO DEATH

Sent to Prison for Complicity in Murder, and Afterwards Pardoned

Paris, Aug. 21.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says the Countess Karnowska, a notorious adventuress, who was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment in Venice three years ago for her part in the murder of Count Karnowsky and expelled from Italy, was found dead in a railroad car in which she was traveling from St. Petersburg to Kiev. She had been strangled with a silk scarf. The affair is a mystery.

LAURA B. You will be surprised how long and curly your eyebrows will grow after a few applications of pyroxin at lash-roots, and if eyebrows are short and "straggly," rub a little pyroxin on frequently with fore-finger. ORGANIZES A SOCIETY TO CIVILIZE THE GIPSY

Swiss Clergyman Hopes to Solve Problem of Europe's Nomads

Berne, Aug. 21.—One million gipsies, with neither home nor country, move across Europe every year from east to west with the beginning of summer. Nowhere are they wanted, every where they are eyed askance, but still every year they wander, and the authorities of the countries they cross dread their coming and are relieved when they go. There is always trouble at the frontiers. Here the wanderers are stopped, questioned and often imprisoned as vagrants. But there is nothing to do but finally let them go, and they invariably return the next year. An effort to aid and protect these gipsies, and incidentally the perplexed authorities, is being made by a Swiss clergyman, H. Eusey. He has organized a society, one of the purposes of which is to instruct the gipsies in the Christian religion, for these nomads are all pagans. The success of Mr. Eusey's efforts, however, is considered very uncertain.

A Home Treatment for Removing Hairs

(Beauty Culture). Elaborate and expensive treatments for removing objectionable hair or fuzz are not nearly as satisfactory as the simple and painless method which any woman can employ in her own home. This consists of a paste made with a little powdered detanone and water, which is spread on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off, after which the skin is washed and it will be free from hair or blemish. This is quite harmless and the cost is nominal. Any woman can beautify her eyelashes by applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Thin eyebrows grow thick and glossy if pyroxin be rubbed on occasionally. Be cautious and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

STRONG PICTURE IN THE BILL AT THE GEM The Tiger Lily Grips Attention of All—Programme a Good One

A three-reel feature of charming interest, "The Tiger Lily," was presented yesterday at the Gem Theatre by the Vitagraph Co. and proved particularly pleasing. The story told of one which struck an appealing chord at once. It was romantic and dramatic and replete with stirring scenes which were cleverly taken by the capable cast of performers, including Julia Swayne Gordon and Rogers Lutton. The former had the title role, a part of much difficulty to portray in pictures, and she showed her better nature prevailed was like a Lily, as one critic wrote of her when the play was first given in New York.

The staging of the production was greatly admired. The picture will be given again this evening. Arthur P. Cameron, who is in his last week at the Gem, had another rollicking comic number, while the orchestra had their usual fine programme.

OPERA COMPANY SCORES SUCCESS

The Chocolate Soldier a Fine Production Splendidly Presented—Talented Principals, Strong Chorus and Excellent Orchestra Win Instant Favor at Opera House

Much was expected by the large audience which filled the Opera House last evening for the opening performance of The Chocolate Soldier by the Whitney Opera Company and their expectations were fully realized. The production, which is based on George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," and set to music by Oscar Straus, is one of the finest examples of modern light opera.

The music is of a very high character and the more popular numbers which were already known to the audience were received with especial favor. The opera was presented by a company of artists each of whom shone in his or her particular role, making the production an exceptionally well balanced one.

The principals are assisted by a splendid chorus of excellent voices regarding which the only complaint that could be made is that the chorus is not given greater opportunity to display its ability. The special orchestra, led by Sig. A. deNovellis, which is carried by the company also added greatly to the success of the production. The scenery, stage settings and costumes are rich and attractive and combine in forming striking stage pictures.

The efforts of the company were received with marked favor and at the close of the second act an ovation was given which required six curtain calls. Again at the close of the performance the enthusiasm of the audience broke loose and repeated curtain calls were given in response to the continued applause.

The cast is as follows: Nadina Popoff, daughter of Col. Popoff, Lella Hughes, Aurelia Popoff, her mother, Luella Saunders, Mascha, Aurelia's cousin, Lottie Collins, Lieut. Bumerli, "The Chocolate Soldier," Harry Fairleigh, Captain Massakroff, of the Bulgarian army, Francis J. Boyle, Colonel Caisair Popoff, of the Bulgarian army, Sylvain Langlois, Major Alexis Spiridoff, of the Bulgarian army, betrothed to Nadina, George Tallman, Louisa, Popoff's servant, Cora Williams, Stephen, Popoff's servant, George Ogilvie, Soldiers of the Bulgarian army, gentry, peasants, wedding guests, villagers, musicians, etc., etc.

Miss Hughes, an accomplished actress, is also the possessor of a splendid soprano voice and she was heard to great advantage in several solos as well as in the numbers with other members of the company. Her rendition of the leading numbers "My Hero" and "The Chocolate Soldier" were especially effective.

Miss Collins was most fascinating in the role of Mascha, her rich voice, her delightful comedy and her graceful dancing all contributing to her success. As the mother Miss Saunders had a display her fine voice as well as her talent as an actress and she took full advantage of both.

The leading role of the Chocolate Soldier was splendidly sung by Mr. Fairleigh. He is a conchard of a high order and his robust tenor was well fitted to the difficult music of the part.

Francis J. Boyle, who became a great favorite with local audiences during the visit of the Castle Square Grand opera company several years ago, again won

THE MARITIME OUTLOOK
In the discussion of an interesting paper read by Mr. Edgar E. Kelley of the Bay East, at the meeting of the Maritime Press Association last evening, the whole tone was one of decided optimism with regard to the future of these provinces. At the same time attention was directed by different speakers to some matters of great importance in connection with the forward movement. The harvest excursions were denounced as an injury to these provinces. The fall of those who plan excursions of old country visitors to Canada to criticize the lower provinces was sharply criticized. Methods of securing more effective publicity in the mother country were considered, and Mayor Frink forcibly directed attention to the evil results which follow misrepresentation to intending settlers, who as a result come here with grotesque notions of the conditions and are therefore very readily disappointed.

Mr. McKenna of the Sussex Greedly gave a good illustration of the change of sentiment which has come over the people of these provinces generally with regard to provincial prospects. When he decided in his paper to devote attention to matters of local development, many were skeptical because they apparently had little faith that the east could make much progress in the face of the competition of the west, but as time passed eastern development did begin, and today the people are convinced that the east is to have its day. Mr. McKenna was able to clinch his statement by telling of men who sold out their property in Kings county and went west, but are now returning to the old home, satisfied that the conditions of life are much better than they found them in the west.

It is a gratifying fact that these newspaper men from various parts of the provinces, men who have a knowledge of the conditions around them, and who are able to make comparisons between present and past conditions, are filled with the spirit of optimism with regard to the maritime provinces. Mr. John T. Hawke made two interesting statements in the course of his admirable address. One was to the effect that the first important delegation of British Journalists who came to Canada, and who after going through the west were prevailed on to pay a flying visit to these provinces, declared that nowhere in Canada had any part of the country appealed to them as strongly as did the maritime provinces. The other was that the members of the International Geological Congress who recently visited this province declared that the day they spent in Albert county, N. B., the region of the oil and gas wells, was from their standpoint the most enjoyable they had spent in Canada.

More than one speaker paid a tribute to the St. John board of trade for the action it took several years ago in calling a conference of the newspaper men of the province to consider what might be done to promote the welfare of the city and province. Mr. Hawke expressed the view that very great benefit came from the conference, and that no board of trade in Canada had taken any more progressive step in the interest of the community in which it was located. This is doubtless true, for, as a result of that conference, all the newspapers of the province devoted more attention to development in their own localities and in other parts of the province, and this had the effect of arousing a feeling among the people generally that real progress was being made, and that the general outlook was growing brighter year by year; and with such a feeling universally experienced progress inevitably became more rapid and the conditions constantly improved.

The citizens of St. John will be stimulated by the optimism of the men from other cities and towns who are now in their midst, and they in turn will go home even more pronounced in their views of maritime progress from what they will have seen during their visit to this national port.

The maritime board of trade has adopted a resolution asking that inter-colonial freights be reduced to the rate. One more straw to show the direction of the wind.

One of the most interesting speakers at the maritime press meeting last night was Mr. Gallant, the representative of Liverpool. It was significant of the new status of the Acadians in these provinces that they should have a representative at a meeting of the Maritime Press Association. Mr. Gallant pointed out that the people of his race now have two newspapers in New Brunswick and one in Prince Edward Island, and that the number of them who read the papers and take an interest in public affairs, especially in education, is steadily and rapidly growing. The Acadian people are not only seeking education more earnestly, but they are taking a more lively interest in public affairs, and in the years to come they will without doubt be ably represented in the highest walks of life in these provinces, just as they have always had at least some rep-representatives in the ranks of our leading public men.

A correspondent of the Woodstock press says that there is an agitation at Flatter Hook in favor of adding a room to the school building there to be used for public meetings for educational purposes. Much greater use than is now made should be made of all school buildings for social centre work throughout the province.

Mayor Frink announces that a steamship line in the United States wants dockage at St. John for a St. John service, and he does not see how the request can be met. The mayor also told the visiting press men last night that the activity of the government in providing harbor facilities at St. John does not appear to be regarded with satisfaction by the people. The mayor is entirely right.

The maritime board of trade spent considerable time yesterday discussing the subject of taxation, but was unable to agree to anything more definite than that there is great dissatisfaction with existing systems of taxation, and that something should be done about it. Their suggestion is that the provincial governments appoint commissions to inquire and report. This will probably be found to be a quite useless proceeding.

President Lodge of the maritime board of trade says that all possible facilities for increasing the usefulness of St. John and Halifax as shipping ports for trans-continental freight should be provided. Such facilities are sadly lacking at St. John, but no action has been taken since the agitation of last spring to meet the congestion of next winter, nor has anything been done toward providing for the traffic of the Grand Trunk Pacific which will come within a year.

This is a lively week in Charlottetown. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are in session there, and the Maritime Athletic Championships are also a feature of the week. There is also to be a special excursion by steamer from Montreal, and altogether the citizens are enjoying what one paper describes as "an unusual week in Charlottetown."

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

THURSDAY, AUGUST 21.

The Hon. Louis Philippe Brodeur, ex-minister of marine and fisheries of Canada, is fifty-one years of age today. He was born at Belet, P. Q., and early took up the practice of law. Entering parliament, he was successively speaker of the House of Commons, minister of inland revenues and minister of marine.

Herbert Fairbairn Gardner, principal of the Ontario Institute for the Education of the Blind, Brantford, was born in Brockville on August 21, 1849. He was long engaged in newspaper work in Brantford, London and Hamilton.

Major A. B. Perry, commissioner of the Royal North West Mounted Police, Regina, was born in Napanee, Ont., in 1860. He was the first graduate of the R. M. C. Kingston, and entered the police as inspector in 1883.

LIGHTER VEIN

John Kendrick Bangs was moving his goods and chattels from his home at Tonawanda, N. Y. It was a rainy day, and before the house stood three large moving vans and the lawn was covered with furniture of all sorts. Mr. Bangs stood in the downpour expediting the movers, when a lady, a neighbor with whom he was acquainted, passed, and smiling asked: "O, are you moving, Mr. Bangs?"

"No, indeed, Mrs.," replied the humorist. "You see, it is such a beautiful day that I thought I would get all the furniture out of my house and take it out for a ride."

The late Joseph Jefferson once received a cable despatch from his son, Thomas, who was in London, asking his father to remit to him $100.

The father was doubtful, and so he wired back: "What do you want it for?"

Back came the answer: "For Tom."

This so tickled the old man that the money was forthcoming.

A New England mother had come upon her eight-year-old son enjoying a feast whereof the components were jam, butter and bread.

"Son," said the mother, "don't you think it a bit extravagant to eat butter with that fine jam?"

"No, ma'am," was the response. "It's economical; the piece of bread does for both."—Lippincott's.

English Nitrogen Concern Takes Advantage of Fine Water-Power

Copenhagen, Aug. 21.—The undeveloped water-power of Iceland is receiving the attention of foreign capital. The Delhi Falls, thirty-five miles from the coast, have been acquired by an English concern which is engaged in the manufacture of nitrogen products, and with 400,000 horse-power at its command the company will move all its factories from Peru and Chili to Iceland.

Big factories are to be built in the vicinity of the falls, and a railroad constructed to the coast. The ownership of the falls was purchased from four local farmers, each of whom will receive $15,000 for his interest.

The Building Law

No action was taken at the meeting of the Builders' Exchange last evening called to discuss the advisability of the repeal of the civic by-law limiting dwelling houses in the city to two stories, although the members of the exchange as contractors expressed themselves as favoring buildings with three stories and certain restrictions. James Gardiner, building inspector, gave an address advocating the adoption of the two story limit, and was given a good hearing. Another meeting will be held before the election on Tuesday next.

Among those who were present were Contractors McGowan, Mooney, Stelzer, McArthur, Vincent, Ross Donald, Bury and others. In the absence of the president, Vice-President McGowan occupied the chair.

LESS INDUSTRIAL UNREST THAN DURING LAST YEAR

According to the record maintained by the department of labor in Ottawa industrial conditions showed an improvement in regard to labor disputes during July. There were twenty-four in existence as compared with twenty-seven during the month. A still greater improvement is seen when the comparison is made between the present month and the corresponding period of last year when there were forty-six strikes and lock-outs in the dominion.

During July, 1913, about 132 firms and 8,000 employees were involved in strikes and lock-outs as compared with 450 firms and 11,857 employees affected by trade disputes during the previous month. There was a slight increase in the loss of time to employees, about 188,000 working days being lost, as compared with approximately 184,000 during June. It may be mentioned that during July, 1912, upwards of 270,000 working days were lost from this cause. Two disputes of importance occurred during July, while of those that were in existence previous to this month, the most important as affecting industrial conditions, were those of coal miners on Vancouver Island and sawmill handlers at St. John, N. B. These two disputes together accounted for a loss of upwards of 180,000 working days.

What Did She Mean?

They had been talking as they walked. She had remarked pathetically—"Oh, it must be terrible to a man to be rejected by a woman!" "Indeed it must," was his response. Then after a while, with sympathetic ingenuities, she exclaimed: "It doesn't seem that I could ever have the heart to do it!" And there came a silence between them as he thought it over.

WEATHER SIGNS

Habit of Propheying is Almost Universal One

SOME FALLACIES

Philadelphia Writer Attacks Popular Beliefs About What Tomorrow Will Bring and Says Scientific Deduction is About Only Way

(Philadelphia "Inquirer")
When do the people talk about in those lands where the weather changes only two or three times a year? There are places where clear skies prevail and no rain falls for six months a stretch and other places where rain falls every day for a hundred days. In this country everybody talks about the weather. Conversation is generally opened by remarking that it is a fine day, or the opposite, and closes with some such observation as "Well, we'll have a fine day tomorrow," or "It looks like rain." The habit of propheying the weather is almost universal, and there are very few people who do not believe that their knowledge is infallible. The United States Weather Bureau, with five hundred observers reporting twice a day, so that the weather conditions from every part of this country and Canada can be seen at a glance, does not venture to predict more than a few days in advance; but the man whose horizon is limited by his doorstep does not hesitate to tell what the weather will be, not only tomorrow, but weeks and months in advance.

These wiseacres are based on crude observations of the sky and the behavior of animals and plants. The sun, the moon and the stars are firmly believed to influence the weather, in spite of abundant proof to the contrary. These amateur prophets are never deterred by failures; in fact, they take no account of failures, and note only the one time out of ten that their guesses are verified.

Another class of propheists connects the weather with certain seasons of the year, particular days of the week, or even with special hours in the day.

Popular Beliefs.
We hear people say, "Rain before seven, fine before Friday," and in saying it, although the slightest observation would convince them that the saying is not true, they believe in its truth. There are thousands of otherwise, intelligent people who insist that if it rains or is fair on Friday, so will be the weather of the following Sunday. All they have to do is to keep the record of a single year to prove the falsity of their belief; but they will not do that.

It looks as if they would rather believe a falsehood than the truth. In England about one-quarter of the population claim that if it rains on St. Swithin's Day, July 15, it will rain for forty consecutive days thereafter. Observations for twenty years have been taken at Greenwich Observatory, and not once did it rain for forty days, but people go on believing in it to their own senses.

Probably there never will be a time when the belief in the moon's influence on the weather will disappear, yet the proof that it has no influence is absolutely overwhelming. Yet it certainly is a certain night in a position that "means rain." Now, has it ever occurred to you that every part of the United States sees the moon that same night in the same position? Hence, it follows that it "means rain" for the entire country. Do you really believe that, when it rains in Maine, it also rains in every State, from there to California? Yet it certainly should, if the sign is infallible. Perhaps some people do think so. The writer met an educated lady who thought that all rains were universal; that if it rained where she happened to be, it rained at the same time all over the world. She was very much surprised to hear that she was mistaken. Some prophets have built their faith on cycles, predicting that weather changes would repeat themselves when sun and moon got back into the same relative position, which they do in 19 years, with an error of only an hour and a half. Others advocate a cycle of 54 years, but all the cycle systems have broken down when tested, and, as far as we know, there is no period with in which a weather changes repeat themselves.

There are plenty of other fallacies about the moon, such as that the full moon clears away the clouds; that the wane of the moon; that it is a bad sign if the moon changes on Saturday or Sunday; that two full moons in a month will bring a flood; that to see the old moon in the arms of the new brings on rain.

Coming down to earth, we find a long list of statements of the behavior of animals and plants having a supposed connection with the weather. E. J. Lowe, of the Royal Meteorological Society, has carefully examined a number of well known signs, and all seem to break down completely. He took the signs of bats flying about in the evening, many toads appearing at sunset, great quantities of snails, fish rising to the surface, bees busy, crowds of locusts, restless cattle, flies and gnats troublesome, many insects, crows flocking and noisy, spider webs thick on the grass, spiders hanging from their webs in the evening, and ducks and geese making more noise than usual.

Calling a day fine when no rain was measured in the rain gauge, he found in 861 observations of such signs that they were followed 218 times by fine weather, and only 148 by rain.

Even swallows flying low cannot be depended upon, as especially in summer and autumn they almost invariably fly low along the ground.

Animals probably feel the dampness or the darkness preceding wet weather, and this makes them uneasy, but not more than it affects man himself.

As to cows scratching their ears and posts uttering cries, they are no more true as signs of rain than the adage which credits pigs with seeing the wind.

As we have remarked before, no amount of proof will convince people who will not reason or do not know how to compare facts with theories. Then there are other people who take a stupid pride in holding an opinion even when they know it is wrong.

LOUVER LUMBER ROOM TO GO UNDER HAMMER

Hundred Copies of "Mona Lisa" Among Pictures to be Auctioned
Paris, Aug. 21.—The immense collection of pictures, many of them copies of famous canvases, which now encumber the cellars and garrets of the Louvre galleries, are soon to be sold at public auction.

These pictures have been accumulating for more than a century, and it is doubtful if even the Louvre authorities themselves know what is there. Most of them are copies of old masters which were made by artists in the course of their study, and then abandoned. Many of their value may be discovered in the dust of years. Doubtless some of them were executed by artists who afterwards became famous. The sale will, at any rate, afford amateurs an opportunity of obtaining copies of their favorite picture at a comparatively low price. Lovers of the lost "Joconde" will have the choice of more than 100 copies.

The directors of Lipton, Ltd., state that the profit for the year ended 18th March, 1913, after providing £41,094 for depreciation, is £162,244.

DEMAND BETTER FACILITIES FOR ATLANTIC PORTS

Maritime Board of Trade Deals With Transportation Problems and Matters of Taxation

Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 20 - The necessity of increasing the harbor facilities at St. John and Railway, the reduction of L. C. R. freight rates, better transportation arrangements for Prince Edward Island, the adoption of modified single tax systems and other matters of importance were dealt with at the afternoon and evening sessions of the Maritime Board of Trade meeting here today.

President Lodge's report emphasized the necessity for providing all possible facilities for increasing the usefulness of St. John and Halifax as shipping ports for transcontinental freight. The International management had agreed to adjust the new freight tariff to within ten per cent of the old. He advocated the employment of a permanent secretary to give his whole time to the work.

The taxation question was introduced by Ald. Stuart, Newcastle, who favored tax reform in the direction of cutting off the poll tax, improvements, personal property and income taxes, and increasing the land tax with perhaps a business tax regulated by floor space. There should be no property qualification for voting or holding office. Landless men paid taxes indirectly to the landlord, merchant and hotel keeper. He moved a resolution calling upon the maritime governments and legislatures to grant local option in taxation.

The question of abolishing fishing licenses so as to allow any person to take out a fishing license was introduced by Hon. Donald Morrison and finally carried. It came out that the dominion government controlled the inland fisheries.

President Lodge said that the Miramichi fishing grounds were full of nets. In many rivers sawdust had killed the fish. W. C. Milner's motion urging the dominion government to take over at once preserve such historic places as Louisbourg, Plisquid, LaHave, Moncton, Causo, Nerepis, Nashwaak, Beaubien, Island, Barn Church, etc., carried unanimously.

An endorsement of an inter-provincial highway was introduced by the Hon. W. Butler, Newcastle, carried.

Discriminating railway rates, introduced by Ald. Bolyea, were condemned. Dr. Price urged the appointment of international agents in Europe and on steamships.

At the evening session Messrs. Morrison and Walker's amendment to Ald. Stuart's taxation resolution passed, as follows: "That this board, recognizing the general dissatisfaction that exists with respect to the distribution of the burden of civic and municipal taxation, particularly with respect to arriving at a correct valuation of personal property and income, memorializes the local government to appoint commissions at their next meeting to investigate the grievances complained of with a view to providing for equal commissions to a copy of this resolution be sent to the governments concerned."</

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

Taylorville, Ont. "I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians but yet the Headaches persisted.

A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier, and in a week they left me.

After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent.

I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches, but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man."

Putts Jim Flynn Out of Running

FROM T. S. ANDREWS. Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—With the defeat at the hands of Gunboat Smith in New York last week, Jim Flynn will probably retire from the roped second round.

It was announced that owing to the accident that Uhlans met with on Tuesday afternoon when he struck his quarter boot in turning the turn, the champion would be unable to go against his record of 2:02 1/2 today.

Joe Choyznak, when the latter was considered among the best heavy-weights in the country, for was just a little shy of championship class because of his lack of weight, and the same might be said of Jim Flynn.

of Jim Flynn. Jim has been between the middle weights and heavies, meeting men much heavier than himself in most of his battles, but always putting up a stubborn contest.

He scaled around 160 to 165 and met such men as Al Kaufman, Jim Barry, Jack Twin Sullivan, Tommy Burns, George Gardener, Sam Langford, Terry Ross and not forgetting Jack Johnson. It was only in the last year or two that he took on weight and scaled around 180 when he met the colored man, but the extra weight did him no good, for it made him more bulky than he should have been.

THIS WEEK'S PRICES IN THE FISH MARKET

With the salmon season closed and the fall fish not yet coming in this is a quiet time of the year as far as the fish business is concerned. The dealers report a very short supply for tomorrow. Dog fish have been keeping the supply of haddock and cod down. Halibut sold this morning at 16 cents a pound, sword fish at 15, smelt at 12, cold storage salmon from 20 to 30, smoked salmon 25. Finnan haddies brought 8 cents, boneless cod 15, Blasters brought 24 cents a dozen, kipper herrings 80 cents, herring 80 cents. Salt shad sold at from 25 to 35 cents each and salt mackerel from 1 to 15.

There are also a very few fat shad for sale at from 85 to 45 cents each. The prospects for the future supply are reported poor. This has been the case for the last few years and the fishermen assign fishing in the spawning grounds up river as the cause.

THOSE OLD CANNON

To the Editor of the Times:
 Sir,—I was interested in reading in your columns last evening that an American had purchased two supposed French cannon and taken them to New York to ornament his grounds; if these guns are really French there should have been enough spirit in our people to have secured them to adorn our squares or streets; but what about those four old cannon which the government gave the city some two or three years ago? Only one has been used, that on Market Square and it certainly looks well there; where are the other three? are they to be mounted and placed on King and Queen Squares as arranged by the old council, or will they be sold to some Americans who have eyes for curios, and appreciate old British cannon more than our commissioners? Yours truly
 ANTIQUARIAN.

WRECK ON POLLOCK RIP IS BRITISH SCHOONER

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Aug. 21.—The abandoned vessel sighted on Pollock Rip Shoals on Tuesday, by the yawl Polly of New York, and at first thought to be a schooner yacht, has proved to be the British schooner Parana, which was wrecked and sunk on the shoals on Aug. 10. The schooner's cargo of coal had worked out of the hold and she came to the surface on her broad side. The revenue cutter Acushnet towed the wreck in here and it will probably be blown up.

MORE BUILDINGS WITH SANITARY CONDITIONS BAD

Another Correspondent Writes of Several in Which There Are 20 or More Tenants

The Times last night contained a letter referring to the disease breeding condition of a house in Queen street. Another correspondent has written to say that there are several such buildings, making in all twenty or more tenements, all the houses three-deckers, and all with closets in the yards. This correspondent explains the health issue, saying that a written order was sent to the owner of the property in question on May 16 last, and that the matter was referred by him to Dr. Melvin, upon having his attention called to the letter of "One Interested" in last night's issue, saying that a written order was sent to the owner of the property in question on May 16 last, and that the matter was referred by him to Dr. Melvin) to the solicitor of the board of health on July 25, and that the writer of the letter greatly regrets in supposing that the officials of the board mentioned have in any way neglected their duty. Moreover, the solicitor recently had written assurance from the owners of the property that the matter would be attended to by Dr. Melvin.

Dr. Melvin says that, while it is true that there are still in the city several hundred houses with outside closets, the board of health last year caused patent closets to be placed in more than 800, and has had them placed in fully 1,000 houses in the last three years. The work is accomplished under great difficulty, but steady progress is being made.

HERE'S A RUDE JOLT
 FOR US WHO THINK
 WE ARE HUSTLERS

Worcester Visitor "Writes us Up" in Home Paper, But Says We Are Hospitable and Have Fine River

A rude jolt to the complacency of people of St. John is given by Dr. Max Baff in an interview published in the Worcester Sunday Telegram. We had fondly believed that St. John had widened up and got fairly into its stride on the path of rapid progress. We had believed ourselves a very wide-awake and bustling community, who were doing things and making history. But harken to Dr. Baff.

"If a patient of mine needed a rest in some quiet spot away from the seething maelstrom of city life, instead of prescribing a vacation in the rural districts, I would rather outline a jaunt to St. John. There one could rest to his heart's content, if he lived up to the old saying, 'when in Rome do as the Romans do,' by doing as the people of St. John do, proceed in a leisurely manner to go through the daily routine. St. John time is an hour faster than Worcester time, and this fact impressed me as being the only sign of speed in the old city. St. John is a truly provincial city, the people lacking the progressiveness that one sees in the cities of the United States."

Dr. Baff criticizes the Sunday law which prohibits harbor or river excursions on Sunday, but adds: "The people of St. John find this law no inconvenience so it seemed, so tranquil their life." Having said so much by way of criticism, Dr. Baff describes the people of St. John as hospitable to the extreme. People put themselves out everywhere to accommodate him and his party, and their cordiality was one of the most pleasing remembrances of his visit to the city. He speaks with the utmost enthusiasm of the scenery of the St. John river, declaring that none that he has ever seen can compare with the beauty and grandeur of the St. John. Reverting again to what he regards as the slow progress of St. John, Dr. Baff says:—"It did not take me long to figure out why St. John had not grown larger, and I soon came to the conclusion as I wandered around the city that lack of concentrated energy on the part of the inhabitants is the sole cause. However," he adds, "they all seemed happy."

PYTHIANS DECORATE GRAVES OF BRETHREN

Memorial Service Held Today—More Than 2,000 Bouquets

The Knights of Pythias turned out in large numbers this afternoon to observe their annual decoration day. They assembled at Castle Hall, Germain street, at 1:30 and, headed by St. Mary's and the Caledonian Pipe bands, proceeded to the cemeteries. The procession was composed of representatives of the following lodges: N. B. Lodge No. 1, Union No. 2, St. John No. 80, two uniform rank companies and the visitors from Boston. They proceeded through the city along Germain to King, King to Charlotte, along King Square to Sydney, thence to Waterloo and out the Marsh road.

They visited first the Church of England burying ground then the Methodist cemetery and Fernhill. Upwards of 2,300 bouquets had been prepared by the committees in charge and these were laid by the Pythians on the graves of their departed brethren in the shape of crosses. More than one hundred graves will be decorated.

The return will be made to the city by way of Brussels, Union, Sydney, along King Square and down King to their hall on Germain street.
