SUMMONS BY KING

Col. Pellatt and Queen's Own Rifles Detachment to Balmoral on Monday—Duke of Connaught Compliments Regiment—T. P. O'Connor to Sail on Baltic

Times' Special Cable Melbourne, Sept. 8.—Premier Fisher, in his budget speech yesterday, announced the proposed construction of a transcontinental railway at a cost of $24,000,000. He extended a cordial welcome to British emigrants.

Hon. MacKenzie King has been appointed one of the vice-presidents of the permanent international committee on social insurance.

Among Canadians attending the British Association meeting are Prof. Buller of Winnipeg, L. G. Coleman of Moncton, Alberta, R. A. Fessenden of Hamilton; Professor and Mrs. Alexander Johnston of Montreal; Prof. J. C. Fields and R. F. Stupart of Toronto.

Col. Pellatt to Balmoral

The king has commanded Col. Pellatt and a detachment of the Queen's Own Rifles to visit Balmoral on Monday. The Duke of Connaught, senior personal aide de camp to the king, inspected the Queen's Own by command of his majesty.

Evidence in regard to purchase of poison by Crippen was given by Inspector Dew. He also read a long statement made by Crippen a little before his flight.

Crippen does not appear to be suffering from the strain of his position. There was more color in his face today, and he was well-possessed. He folded the tails of his grey frock coat carefully over his lap, and put his hands together.

Mr. Newton, counsel for Crippen, has received permission to inspect the remains of Belle Elmore, the missing wife, and to have an examination made for the purpose of ascertaining if the remains were those of his wife.

At a librarians' conference in Exeter, Dr. Loner, of Toronto, made an interesting speech on empire binding. Canada, he said, was more closely allied to the mother country than ever, and this was due in large degree to the education work.

Everybody Rushing This Morning to Get Ready for Handling the Big Numbers Expected This Afternoon and Evening—More Prizes Awarded Today

As had been expected the meeting of the shareholders of the D'Israeli Arbitration Co., held this morning in the office of Hanington & Hanington, proved to be an interesting session.

Two shareholders told of having paid into the company money amounting to more than $1,500, and having received no share of stock, but Mr. Hanington assured them that this was soon to be issued.

Mr. Mullin contended that the meeting was illegal, on the grounds that the notice had not been properly given, and therefore no business could be transacted.

On behalf of Mr. McManis, M. T. Cololan, of the north end, asked some questions of a strikingly pertinent nature, but Mr. O'Neel, who contended that he had no right to ask these questions, he being only there by proxy.

Some of the questions and answers were as follows: Mr. Cololan: Why was not the company incorporated under the laws of Quebec?

Mr. O'Neel: "What became of a check for $1,500 which was given to the company on December 28, 1909?"

Mr. O'Neel: "What items of expense did Mr. O'Neel contend that used up the $1,500 which he gave the company?"

London, Sept. 8.—Press opinion on the Hague decision is generally of the view that Britain, Canada and Newfoundland had somewhat the best of matters.

The Daily Graphic says: "The decision will be received with a very solid sense of relief. To settle so formidable an international difficulty is a great achievement."

The tribunal however on question five was not sufficiently definite and precise. It would be a mistake to conclude that the verdict finally disposes of the issues, for as Newfoundland develops, the privilege granted United States fishermen will produce a difficulty.

The Chronicle says: "The game is drawn in favor of Britain. Perhaps it is a good thing for the principle of arbitration that the award admits of victory being claimed for both parties. Victory has been won for the cause which transcends its importance the particular matters in dispute."

LAY FEARFUL CRIME TO THE BLACK HAND

Regio Di Calabria, Italy, Sept. 8.—To the vengeance of the Black Hand Society in New York is ascribed the revolting murder of Policeman Rovolino and his wife and six children in the little village of Spigno, which lies eight miles south of the town of Salerno.

The crime was revolting in its barbarity. Beside the mother lay her four months' old baby with its skull crushed in. Despite the efforts of the surgeons to save the life of the little girl, whose cries aroused the neighborhood, she died.

None of the townspeople saw or heard the murderers, who escaped from the village without leaving a clue as to their identity.

CHARGES POLITICAL JOBBERY IN MATTERS WHICH HAVE LED TO ARREST OF FREDERICK SKENE

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Admitting that at least fifty per cent of the good roads contracts had been raised during the administration of Frederick Skene as state engineer and surveyor in 1907 and 1908, William Travers Jerome, counsel for Skene, in his address yesterday to the jury trying Skene on charge of grand larceny contended that Charles P. O'Neil was made confidential assistant to Skene by the power of Tammany Hall for the purpose of "putting the screws to contractors."

"He gave it as his opinion that upwards of $800,000 was demanded and received from these contractors by O'Neil as the 'collection of Tammany.'"

"We can show," said Mr. Jerome, that in the spring of 1908 there was a break in the contract between O'Neil and Skene and O'Neil practically all of his power and wrote to the leader of Tammany Hall that he was going to discharge him. He never came back that he held O'Neil until after election, and he consented. It was at this time that O'Neil started to gather in all available pickings.

THE ALBERT GATE MYSTERY

BY LOUIS TRACY Copyright 1910 by R. F. Fenna & Co.

Not knowing why Fairholme did not join him, Talbot raced toward the carriage he had been approaching. It was a smart vehicle, with a sleek, well-groomed horse, and he guessed that it must be a private conveyance.

Even in the turmoil of thought caused by the pilot's intelligence he noted something peculiar in the lady's manner. Half a minute later he encountered Talbot, driving an empty vehicle and furiously compelling with reins and whip a lay horse to exert himself.

CHAPTER XXI. The Fight. Not often have the good people of Palermo seen three cabs pass abreast the Corso Vittorio Emanuele in such fashion.

And with these words, he evened the revolver at Talbot's breast, for the latter was now within the range of his aim. But Jack was animated with the mad elation of a successful chase, and governed by the mere impulse of the moment he did not stop to consider.

By the time they reached the Corso Cefalini, which carries the chief artery of Palermo out into the country—crossing the railway and passing the magnificent cathedral of San Francesco di Sales, the horse was laboring heavily notwithstanding the frantic efforts of the coachman.

It was at this point, when mounting the bridge, that Dubois knew for certain that he was followed. Three hundred yards behind, he saw a man in a dark suit, with a revolver in his hand, following him.

TOM WISE TO APPEAR IN NEW PLAY

Margaret Anglin Has to Decide Between Backsides and New Comedy

Tom Wise, an old Hartigan player, now a star, will continue for a time in "The Gentleman from Mississippi," and will appear in the season play in a new comedy, written by himself, and with H. Rhodes, entitled, "The Old New Yorker."

Robert Mantell will be seen in a new play by Justin Huntley McCarthy, entitled "The O'Ryans." This will be the first time in many years that Mr. Mantell has had a special production outside of his Shakespearean repertoire, and the outcome of the experiment arouses interesting expectations.

FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE THE FUTURE OF THE SOUTH

From a speech at Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28, 1887.

THE world is a battlefield, strewn with the wrecks of governments and institutions, of theories and of faiths that have gone down in the ravage of years.

Let every man pledge himself in this high and ardent hour, as I pledge myself, and the boy that shall follow me, every man himself and his son, hand to hand and heart to heart, that he shall watch her interest, advance her fortune, defend her fame, and guard her honor as long as life shall last.

With such consecrated service what could we not accomplish? What riches we could gather for her, what glory and prosperity we should render to the union? What blessings we should gather into the universal harvest of humanity?

What riches we could gather for her, what glory and prosperity we should render to the union? What blessings we should gather into the universal harvest of humanity?

HEARTY WELCOME FOR PREMIER IN OTTAWA

Gives Stirring Address in Reply to Greetings—Cabinet Meetings Begin

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was welcomed back to the capital this afternoon by the cheers of several hundred of his fellow citizens. Irrespective of party they assembled at the Union station to meet the special train bringing the prime minister and his party home again. The band of the Governor-General's Foot Guards greeted him with the rousing strains of "O Canada," and the singing crowd cheered and cheered again as Sir Wilfrid bowed his acknowledgments from the car.

An address of welcome on behalf of the French-speaking citizens of Ottawa was read in French by A. Allard, M. P., and an English address was read by L. J. Kaber, president of the Ottawa Reform Association.

Sir Wilfrid, in reply, said he wished he could find words to express the feelings aroused in him by this warm welcome back to the place which had been his home for over fourteen years. For six weeks it had been his privilege to visit many places in the Canadian west and during that time his opinion of Canada's greatness had not lessened.

"With one thing was I especially struck while in the west," continued Sir Wilfrid. "I met many men from many lands. The people we met were not all French and English but have come from the four corners of the earth, but whatever tongue they spoke, whatever blood they owned, they were all proud to call themselves Canadians, but those who had recently come were more proud to call themselves Canadians than were even the native born."

"There was yet another thing which

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

DEAR NIECE JOAN—And so my little girl has decided that she wants to earn her bread and butter and a little cake to go with it instead of having her mother supply it to her.

Now, Joan, if you hadn't a little sister as ever took real pleasure in making beds and doing dishes I'd do my best to discourage you. Right off the reel I'd say, "Why not stay at home and help your mother?"

You see, I've seen so many girls in the business world who were really earning just as much money and be much better off if they would stay at home and help their mothers and save the cost of a servant.

The wages and board of a maid are what she wastes. I've been told by good authorities, amount to eight or ten dollars and sometimes more, and there are a good many thousand business girls who don't bring in any more than that.

Of course, part of the trouble with that idea is that the girls who stay at home is seldom given any regular wages. When she wants anything, if she feels like it, her father gives her the money, but she doesn't have the feeling of independence that a girl who gets a nice fat little envelope every Saturday-morning enjoys.

You had some talk in the papers a little while ago about starting a movement to have men pay their wives regular salaries. I don't believe that would be possible because to pay a good many married women that I know half what they earn as cooks, nurses, waitresses, seamstresses, trained nurses and in half a dozen other capacities, their husbands would have to turn over their whole salaries and then some.

But I do wish that fathers would get the habit of paying the girl who stays at home and helps her mother, as regular a wage as he would the maid whose place she takes.

I think it would keep a good many girls out of the business world who don't belong there.

Well, niece, that's quite far afield from what I started to say which was that as long as you had a sister who liked housework better than you do and who could help your mother all that was necessary, I wouldn't forbid the chance with your new sweetheart—a business career.

Will I write you some advice from my store of experience?

What is the one thing that everybody likes to give and nobody wants to receive?

You know perfectly that you'd have to disable my typewriter or put my arms out of commission to keep me from deluging you with it.

And that wouldn't do any good because then I'd take to dictating.

Of course I know you only ask to flatter me and I'm glad of it, Joan. A good brain and a fund of common sense are the first two requisites for business success but the third is being able to manage people and I'm glad you evidently have that ability even if you do use it.

Your Gullible Old Aunt

P. S. On second thought I think I'll place the ability to manage people second.

P. P. S. Or maybe first.

WEDDINGS

Casey-Hanley.

St. Stephen, N. B., Sept. 7.—(Special)—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Holy Rosary at 7:30 o'clock this evening, when Miss May Florence Hanley, daughter of the late Patrick Casey, brother of Bishop Casey, of St. John. The ceremony was performed by pastor of the church, Rev. J. H. McLeod.

The bride looked very pretty in a costume that matched, trimmed with plumage, hat to match, her ornaments were jet. Miss Nellie Hanley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and the groom was attended by his friend, Henry Sullivan.

After the ceremony the happy pair drove to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Street, where supper was enjoyed by the bridal party. The numerous gifts express the esteem in which the young couple are held. The groom's gift to his bride was a chain of gold with heart-shaped links, the bride's gift to her husband was a pearl necklace. They will reside in their pretty home on Main Street.

Coburn-Steeves.

Moncton, N. B., Sept. 7.—(Special)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch W. Steeves was the scene of a pretty wedding at 10 o'clock today, when their daughter, Miss B. B. was united in marriage to Dr. Clarence O. Coburn, of Manchester (N. H.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald MacDermid, pastor of St. John's Presbyterian church. It was witnessed by only the intimate friends and relatives. The bride, who was unattended, was attired in white satin, and carried the conventional bouquet of flowers. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Willard Steeves, brother of the bride. After the ceremony, the bride and bride left in the care of their future home in Manchester (N. H.), followed by the best wishes of a host of friends.

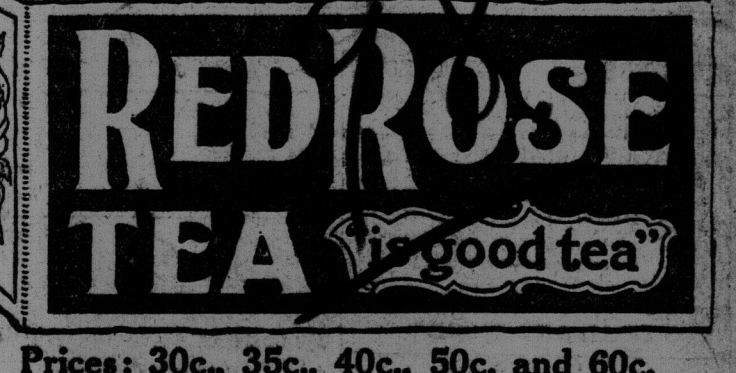

Copeman-Leonard.

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized this afternoon at St. Paul's (Valley) church, when Miss Hazel, daughter of the late John Copeman, was united in marriage to Kenneth Copeman, of the Dominion Express Company, at Quebec. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, C. A. Shampier, was prettily attired in a costume of navy blue serge, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses, and was unattended. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. B. Hoopes, rector of the church. A luncheon was served at the home of C. A. Shampier. The happy couple left on the train for Montreal and Quebec, and Canadian cities. The presents were numerous.

Carliole-Everett.

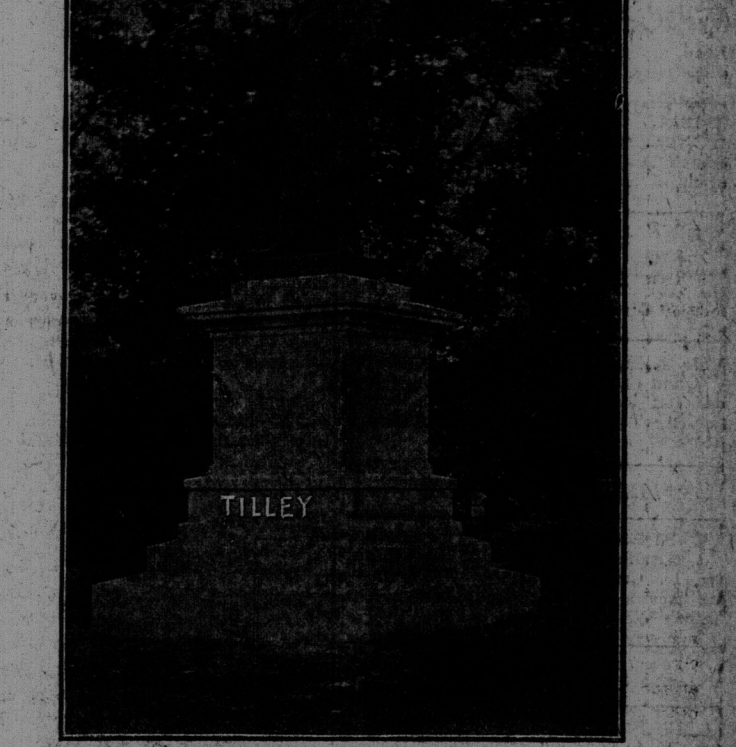

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 7.—The wedding of Miss Lillie J. Everett, daughter of Mrs. Egerton Everett, of this city, to Burton Carliole, of Douglas, took place this evening at the home of the bride's mother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. STATUE OF SIR LEONARD TILLEY TO BE UNVEILED THIS AFTERNOON

THE TILLEY MONUMENT AS IT STANDS IN KING SQUARE. From a photograph taken by E. W. Purchase immediately after the statue had been placed on the pedestal.

It is expected that the ceremony at the unveiling of the Sir Leonard Tilley monument in King square this afternoon will be notable in the history of St. John. Arrangements have been made to seat between 400 and 500 people and it is likely that many hundreds more will line the sidewalks. A deputation of ladies from the Women's Canadian Club will deck the monument with a laurel wreath. There will be a stand for the Artillery band which, between the speeches, will play O Canada and The Maple Leaf, and the national anthem at the close. A platform has been erected to accommodate the members of the committee.

The speakers will include Hon. Mr. Fugley and Premier Hazen, who will be introduced by the chairman, George Robertson. Mr. Hazen will unveil the monument, and Mr. Robertson will present it to the city, which will be represented by its chief magistrate, Mayor Frink. The guests will be official representatives, and those who contributed to the cost of erecting the statue. Sir Sanford Fleming, of Ottawa, is expected to be present.

Sir Leonard Tilley, one of the fathers of confederation, a member of the first Canadian government under the responsible system, who was provincial secretary of New Brunswick several times and twice lieutenant-governor of this province, was born at Gagetown, May 8, 1818.

When Sir Leonard was five years old he attended the Madras school in Gagetown, of which Samuel Babbitt was the teacher, and after four years went to the Grammar school in the same place. At the age of thirteen years he removed from Gagetown to St. John and entered as a clerk in the drug store of the late Dr. Henry Cook, where he remained till 1835. In February of that year he entered the service of the late W. O. Smith, who from 1837 to 1860 was mayor of St. John. In December, 1837, he took an active interest in the total abolition movement with which he was ever afterwards prominently identified. In 1838, before he had attained the age of twenty years, Sir Leonard started business for himself as a member of the firm of Peters & Tilley and he continued a successful career until 1855, when he transferred his business to T. B. Barker, senior member of T. B. Barker & Sons. Sir Leonard's business career was attended with a marked degree of success and when he finally entered political life it was as a comparatively wealthy man.

Sir Leonard was first elected in 1850 as a member of the New Brunswick house of assembly. In 1855 he was provincial secretary and introduced prohibition, but this was too much in advance of the times. Next year he was defeated and the law repealed. In 1857 he was elected again and was again provincial secretary. He was New Brunswick's delegate to England to urge I. C. R. construction. He had much to do with confederation and in Sir John A. McDonald's government was customs minister and later finance minister. He was twice lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick.

Sir Leonard died on June 23, 1896, in this city. He made a splendid record as a teacher, and after four years went to the public life and private life was loved and honored.

YOU NEEDN'T DESPAIR

Here's an Offer That Should Interest Sufferers of Skin Irritation

First of all I want to explain that the remedy I am about to tell you of carries my promise of money back for the mere asking to anyone not thoroughly pleased with its use. That should unquestionably establish the sincere faith I have in it.

Parasites or germs cause eczema, and eczema is probably the most prevalent cause of all skin ailments. To overcome them, the remedy must of necessity destroy or remove the parasite or germ before relief can be obtained.

Passing remarkable and specific, germicidal, cleansing, and soothing power, the curative value of Eczema Ointment is very pronounced in the treatment of eczema and allied skin diseases, whether of the dry scaly sort, the weeping type, where there is a profuse of ill-smelling excretion, or the intermediary kind, such as pimples, blotches, discolorations, ringworm or scurf. It is very useful for treating live cattle rash, insect bites and wounds. It is ideal for the skin ailments peculiar to children.

Retall Eczema Ointment is grayish-white in color, has a pleasant odor, and is very cleanly for use. If you are a sufferer of skin irritations or eruptions in any form whatever, I urge you to try a box at my risk. At the mere hint of dissatisfaction, you may have your money back. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, it is sold only at my stores—The Rexall Store, Chas. R. Watson, 100 King Street.

CARDINAL VANNUTELLI'S GRAEFUL ACT ENDS DIPLOMATIC DISCUSSION

Mpfrt, Sept. 1.—A graceful act of courtesy, and not a little difficultly since in the British Empire, and a guest of the British Empire, and his majesty is always first, while at gathering at St. Roman's Cathedral, the chief function tonight was the reception tendered Cardinal Vannutelli at the Windsor Hotel by the secretary of state, on behalf of the federal government. This was a brilliant social event and hundreds of prominent Montrealers and visiting clergy gathered to meet the legate. The members of the cabinet presented were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. L. F. Borden, Hon. Charles Murphy and Sir Frederick Borden, while a large number of members of parliament and senators, the speakers of both houses attended.

First Anglo-Saxon Flyer An airman, aviator or birdman—the world has not yet decided definitely on the proper word—in his library has a book for Milton that describes the first Anglo-Saxon flyer.

The book is Milton's history, Britain to the Conquest. The aviator was Harold, the last Saxon king. Milton says of Aviator Harold: "In his youth he had made and fitted wings to his hands and feet. With those on the top of a tower, spread out to gather air, he flew more than a furlong, but the wind being too high he came fluttering down to the maining of all his limbs; yet so conceited of his art that he attributed the cause of his fall to the want of a pair of birds, which he forgot to put on his hinder parts."

MILLIONS LOST BUT HE HAS INCOME

"Boy Plunger" Saved Himself By Taking Out An Annuity

HAS $20,000 A YEAR

Jesse L. Livermore Made $3,000,000 in Wall Street and Lost It But Meanwhile Caution Had Dictated His Course and He Locked Up $400,000

This is the tale of a man who buried his talent in a napkin—and buried it so deep that he can't dig it up himself. Two years ago Jesse L. Livermore admitted that he was $3,000,000 winner on the Wall Street game...

Reports from various great resorts now indicate that Mrs. Livermore is having a pretty good time, thank you on that $20,000 per. If the ex-pec-tation-er ever thinks about the market he goes to a dark corner and claps one hand over his mouth and thinks in a whisper...

"I've buried my bone in the garden," said he the other day, "and the bears can't find it."

When Mr. Livermore bought that annuity he had more money than some folk have here. He had run a shoe string into an ornate tannery in Boston a year. Beginning as a marker on a short blackboard he had watched the course of stocks until he eventually he came to New York with a few hundred dollars...

No one knew anything about the "Boy Plunger" as he was called until he was 21 years old and had a peculiarly boyish face, topped with a thatch of fuzzy hair...

"That was the system that made me safe," said he. "As long as Wall street doesn't know that you have any money no attention is paid to you."

He didn't even whisper until he had practically decided to quit. He was $3,000,000 to the good, he declared. He had made every kind of investment and had never owned a penny in any brokerage establishment...

Before he was 20 years old he had $10,000. A year later he had nothing. His career was a series of ups and downs and ups and downs. Then he saw the bear market of 1907, looming over the financial horizon...

"I bought a yacht and my wife and I will enjoy life for a while. I was safe while Wall street didn't know I was selling."

It was at this time that he bought the annuity of $20,000 a year and had it so tied up that he cannot borrow against it, mortgage it or in any other possible way to get a nickel of it or place the nickel to any one else in advance...

Then—that bull corner that he and Sully engineered collapsed. There are those that say that Livermore didn't sell quick enough. If he had been an older hand at the cotton gin, they say, he would have sold when he got the chance—and let some one else pick the basket...

New Mr. and Mrs. Livermore on their individual annuities, are having a fine time at the coast resorts. Maybe the "boy plunger" will come back to the market one of these days. But for the present that $20,000 income is his. The doctor prescribed for him, once, at the height of fame, he said to an interviewer...

"To be successful in Wall street one must have a large bump of intuition; and two larger bumps of caution."

If some people had a sense of humor they wouldn't patronize the photographer.

SETTLEMENT IN THE MATTER OF THE VETO?

Controversial Subjects May Be Settled by Conservative Committee

ASQUITH AND BALFOUR

Good Friends Outside Parliament—The Visit of the Queen's Own Rifles—Is Labor Party in Commons Approaching Its End?

London, Sept. 7.—Aldershot today marked an event of no small interest and importance in the relations of Great Britain and Canada's military forces. The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada to the number of close on 600 left a right welcome on our country on their arrival at Aldershot camp...

Their colonel, Sir H. M. Pollard, has given them a most pleasant and stimulating throughout the empire a keen interest in overseas forces, and bring the military authorities in Great Britain and in Canada into closer relations.

The enthusiasm aroused in Aldershot is a tremendous one. It will be no less in the capital when the Canadian Rifles spend a few days in London.

The political leaders have just arrived in London. Both Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour are here today and politicians are saying this break in their holidays is not a mere coincidence, but a friendly arrangement to take counsel together as to the future of the conference.

This visit to the king has given currency to the rumor that the great party leaders have achieved something approaching settlement of the veto question. It is premature to speak with confidence of the veto settlement...

The Brussels conference now held to some. The resolutions on questions of war and peace between nations is attracting more than 100 delegates from the British parliament...

Trade Unions. Trade Unionists and Labor M. P.'s expect to face a serious crisis in the autumn when the question of the veto is put to a constitutional question raised against the trade unions in the Osborne case...

An Agricultural wages board is to be strenuously advocated in the autumn and its success will have an effect perhaps upon the flow of emigration from the rural districts where from time immemorial the English and Irish laborers have been "sweated" beyond endurance.

L. C. C. New Central Schools are now being opened in London. They will shortly number some 60, and their operation should remove the old reproach that London is worse provided than any part of the country in the matter of commercial education.

WHERE WORK OF THE PLAYGROUNDS IS APPRECIATED

At Fitchburg Closing Exercises 1,200 Children Take Part and 500 Citizens Go to See the Results Accomplished

The Times-Star has received from Supervisor G. S. Maxwell, of the Fitchburg, Mass., supervised playgrounds, a copy of the Fitchburg Sentinel giving a copy account of the closing exercises on the grounds, where 1,200 children took part and their movements were witnessed by over 500 citizens.

The closing exhibition and play festival of the Fitchburg playgrounds was held on the Circle street ball park, Wednesday afternoon, when 1,200 children from the six local grounds gave an interesting demonstration of their daily routine work, with accompanying athletic programmes, fancy foot dancing, etc., offering a varied and attractive programme.

As a demonstration of the advantages of playgrounds for the children of a city, the Fitchburg playgrounds have been desired and made a deep impression upon the large audience. There were drills, games, various kinds of dancing, racing and athletic sports, and many other features presented with the idea of giving the general public an idea of how the children spend their time and the benefits that they are receiving from the local grounds.

The average attendance for each ground was about 200. The Cleghorn, which was the largest, had the largest attendance, exceeding this number, while those from the other three grounds did not quite equal the average. Headed by improvised bands, the children marched in the chosen colors and bearing the name of the playground from which they came, while various small flags and streamers were employed in a further carrying out of this scheme.

The programme was run off smoothly in all departments, Supervisor G. S. Maxwell having charge of the entire affair, while the various directors assisted in looking after the events participated in by the children under their charge.

The first event on the programme was the big mass drill by 600 children, 100 from each ground taking part. These were lined up in long rows, each facing a flag bearing their colors, and headed by their directors.

The programme was run off smoothly in all departments, Supervisor G. S. Maxwell having charge of the entire affair, while the various directors assisted in looking after the events participated in by the children under their charge.

Breaking the News (Westminster Gazette)

The eminent poet and student of Tyrol, the peasant life, Peter Rosegger, gives an interesting instance of the manner in which bad news is broken by the villagers of his country. It recalls the famous ballad of the knight whose page took the news of the warrior's death to the lady and began by telling her that her little dog had been injured.

CONSOILING THOUGHT. The young mother of the Siamese twins was inspecting the ligament that bound them together.

"Well," she said, "with a sigh of relief, 'there's one consolation, I'll never have to answer the question, 'How do you tell them apart?'"—Chicago Tribune.

EVIDENCE ALL HEARD IN CONNOLLY CASE

Hopewell Cape, Sept. 7.—Evidence in the Connolly manslaughter case was all in by 4 o'clock this afternoon and court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow, when the address to the jury will begin.

Fourteen witnesses in all were examined, four being for the defence. Connolly went on the stand in his own behalf as the last witness this afternoon, giving his story of the part he played in the unfortunate occurrence at the McDonald farm.

The defence contended, after going off the veranda, might have slipped on the grass and fallen, causing the fatal wound. There was nothing the counsel for the defence contended, to show direct connection between Connolly's blow, if there was, and the death of the victim.

Mr. Fowler, in opening the case for the defence, claimed that Fowler's death was not the result of the blow by the accused. Neither did the blow necessarily lead to the death of the victim.

Pictures at the Exhibition

To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—I wish to call the attention of the citizens of St. John to the picture gallery at the exhibition in the hope that every one will pay it a visit, for while there are some paintings of doubtful merit, there are also some magnificent works of art from the Art Union of London, from New Brunswick and Ontario. The St. John Art Club deserve great praise for the successful efforts they have made for this collection; it is just such a gallery as this to be owned by the city, that the art club have in view, and so all should encourage them now by buying catalogues and joining the club, so they will soon be able to purchase some pictures as a nucleus. Will any public spirited citizen buy one of these paintings and present it to the St. John Art Club? Yours truly, A LOVER OF ART.

BRILLIANT WEDDING IN NORTH END

Miss Alice Maude Scott Becomes the Bride of Warren Ogilvie of Truro - Honeymoon Trip to Pacific

A brilliant and fashionable wedding ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel C. Scott, 99 Douglas avenue, when their eldest daughter, Miss Alice Maude, was given by her father in marriage to Warren Ogilvie, of Truro, N. S. Rev. J. H. McDonald, of Fredericton, officiated, and he was assisted by a brother-in-law of the groom, Rev. A. M. Thompson, of Quincy, Mass. The marriage took place in the bay window of the drawing rooms, in the presence of a number of invited guests and beneath a handsome floral arch of white roses and lilies.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Emma Price, of Moncton, a college friend of the bride, the latter entered the room with her father. She was daintily robed in a very pretty costume of ivory duchesse satin, with rose point lace and pearl trimmings, and wore a veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies. Her sister, Miss Cora Scott, acted as bridesmaid, and was prettily gowned in a dainty dress of pink silk trimmed with baby Irish lace. She wore a large black picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Dr. Fenwick C. Bonnel, supported the groom.

The drawing rooms were beautifully and tastefully decorated in honor of the event, the mantels being bedecked and the chandeliers festooned with white blossoms and green foliage in profusion. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the drawing-rooms, after which the bridal party and guests enjoyed a dainty luncheon in the dining room, which was also marked by a pretty color scheme of the tables and rooms being nicely decorated with pink and white blossoms and greenery.

Mrs. R. T. Worden, in a gown of Irish lace and with Paris hat, ushered the guests to the dining room where Mrs. George Polley, in a dress of white lace over white silk, and wearing a large black picture hat, presided. The following young ladies assisted in the serving: Miss Estella Burns, champagne silk with rose, colored hat; Miss Ethel Melvin, of Fredericton, green silk with Paisley trimmings and black hat; Miss Claire Gray, white net silk, large white hat; Miss M. Currie, pink silk, black hat; Miss Beatrice Rosh, pink embroidered muslin, white hat; Miss Marie Putnam, Maitland, N.S.; white with black hat; Miss Ethel Melvin, of Fredericton, green silk with Paisley trimmings and black hat; Mrs. Scott, mother of the bride, wore black embroidered voile, trimmed with cut jet ornaments, and a black hat with large black plumes. Mrs. Margaret Ogilvie of Truro, N. S., mother of the groom, wore black silk, trimmed with Spanish lace, and a black hat.

The guests, who were numerous, included the relatives and friends of the bridegroom, and a number of visitors from distant points, among whom were Ray Ogilvie, of Truro, N. S.; Mr. Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson, of Quincy, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ogilvie, of Little River, N. S.; and Mr. Alfred Ross, of Halifax, N. S.; Mrs. Baynes Dickie, of Truro, N. S.; Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, of Truro; and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore, of Truro.

The bride is well-known in younger society circles in this city, and has been a prominent vocalist, having been leading soprano in several city church choirs. She is a graduate of Acadia Seminary.

The groom is a resident of Truro, and occupies the responsible position of managing director of the Eastern Hat & Cap Co. of Truro. He and Mrs. Ogilvie will leave this afternoon for a two months' honeymoon trip to the Pacific coast. They will spend two days on the Great Lakes, travelling by steamer from Owen Sound to Port Arthur. They will make their home in Truro.

Mr. Ogilvie's present to his bride was a valuable ring set with diamonds and emeralds; to the groomsmen, a beautiful cross-ring set; to the bridesmaid a pair ring, and to Miss Price, who played the wedding march, a pearl pin.

The large array of presents received attests to the popularity of the young couple. The remembrances from their friends, including silverware, china, furniture and cut glass. Among the list were a silver service from Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, of Truro; two leather chairs from relatives of the groom; and a piano and substantial check from the bride's father.
