FROM LABRADOR.

Journey to this peninsula a pleasure and a delight by staying at home.

The one effectual armor which we have adopted is a "mosquito bag" made of finely meshed netting, fitting closely to the hat band, extending to the shoulders in folds and laid under the coat collar. The appearance produced by these bags is to say the least peculiar. The only compound which has produced any effect at all is made of carbolic acid and linseed oil. When put on in generous quantities the desired result is procured, but fresh applications must continually be made, and gloves for the hands are as Elkins gagged and bound to a bedpost, duantities the desired result is procured, but fresh applications must continually be made, and gloves for the hands are as necessary as the bag for the head.

Leaving Rigolette, the home of this business like insect, we enjoyed a beautiful sail down Hamilton Inlet, obtaining at its mouth some interesting bottom specimens by deep sea dredging. At Indian Harbor north of the Inlet we obtained some Eskimo skeletons which had been buried nearly 100 years. Their mode of burial showed traces of the missionary, the bodies enclosed in skin garments being placed in wooded boxes and buried one foot under the turf. When exposed to view the bones were encased in a coating of ice showing the presence

Another Italian Murder.

By Telegraph to the Gazette.

New York, Sept. 8th.—Six Italians quarrelled over a game of cards in house at 187th street and Arthur Avenue last night and revolvers were drawn. One of the party, James Rossa, was killed and his brother had his skull fractured. Others escaped.

best religious instruction is that which is imparted at home or in the Sabbath school, and if a home is Godless, religious teaching in a public school will be more apt to make religion a subject of scoffing than a benefit to the pupil. If there are Godless homes in any community the responsibility must largely rest on the ministers of religion whose mission it should be to bring such people into the churches. If they fail in doing this they have done less than their duty and it is not to be expected that the public schools should be charged with the responsibility of doing the work of the clergy. We hope that the Davenport school for boys will be as great a success as its promoters wish, but its chances of success will not be increased by its visitor or managers speaking of all other instruction but that given in the Davenport school as Godless.
