THREE-FOURTHS OF IRISH WANT THE REPUBLIC

Settlement of Question Seems As Far Away as it Ever Was.

STRONGLY OPPOSED TO ANY PARTITION

Sinn Fein Say No Need for Negotiation as Everything Is Developing "According to Plan."

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)
Dublin, Aug. 19.—After a three weeks' tour in the southern parts of Ireland during which I visited the most disaffected portions of Tipperary, Waterford and Cork and talked with all sorts and conditions of people, I have the fixed conviction that three-fourths of the population of Ireland is immovably in favor of an Irish republic. Moreover, they believe that a republic is already in active operation.

The British connection with local government bodies is virtually as opposed to any partition of the country. They deny the right of a corner of the island to cut itself off. The country they say, is too small to admit of a partition within its own confines. They say it must be all or none. That is the first fatal objection. It is a vital one and others need not be more than mentioned.

There is, of course, the religious question. Roman Catholics say that it is a reflection on them that a small minority of Protestants in the north should be permitted to break all links with the rest of the island. Catholics being predominant in an all Ireland government, Protestants would naturally be penalized and oppressed. They say there is no ground for such an aspersion of their character, and they point with more or less pride to the fact that in all the movements for the regeneration of the country, Protestants have been leaders and many of them have suffered death for the cause. From the purely economic, as distinct from the sentimental viewpoint, it is held that a division of the administration of the country would be extravagant, and that it would be a hindrance to internal trade, and would lead inevitably to interminable conflict which would be avoided by aligning the entire country on the side of helping the general uplifting of the country.

CANADIAN IMPORTS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Total Value of Domestic Merchandise Export Show Decrease Over 1919.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Canadian trade for the first four months of the fiscal year, ending on July 31, shows an increase in value amounting to $166,480,404 when compared with the same period in 1919. For the four month period in the present year the total value of goods exported and imported was $825,247,787.57. The trade statement issued from the Department of Customs shows that Canada is importing goods to a much greater extent than during 1919. The total value of goods imported into Canada from April to July, inclusive, this year, was $472,572,589 while last year, during the same period it was only $284,897,013. The total value of domestic merchandise exported, however, was some fifteen million dollars less than during the four months period in 1919. From April to July, inclusive, this year, Canada exported domestic merchandise to the value of $342,112,423 and during the same period last year the Dominion exported this class of goods to the value of $357,883,897.

Train No. 10 from St. John Jumps Rails at Bible Hill—No One Injured.

Special to The Standard.
Moncton, Aug. 19.—Traffic on the C. N. R., between Moncton and Truro, was blocked some hours today as the result of No. 10 express from St. John having a run off at Bible Hill, N. S. Five cars left the rails, doing some damage to the track and blocking the line. Fortunately no one was injured, and no great amount of damage was done to the cars. The derailment, it is reported, was due to a broken truck on one of the cars. The Ocean Limited from Halifax was delayed three hours as a result of the run-off. The Maritime tonight from Halifax was held up two hours at the wreck for track repairs.

TAX EVADERS HEAVILY FINED

No Mercy Will be Shown Defaulters Under Income Tax Law.

Hamilton, Aug. 19.—That no mercy will be shown defaulters under the income tax law was further demonstrated here today when, following the recent fine of $2,100 imposed on a well-known citizen, Dr. William A. Vanderbrugh, was assessed $1,500 for making incorrect returns. It is claimed that in 1918 the doctor's return was for $3,406, when in reality it was $10,000. His income last year was claimed to be $15,000 whereas the return he made would only give the government $10.53 instead of $747.33, which it was entitled.

MARITIME SIDE OF RATE CASE BEFORE BOARD

Mr. McDonald, Representing These Provinces, Argued Against the McAdoo Award.

C. N. R. RAIL RATES ARE BURDENSOME

Claims Many Industries Here Will be Destroyed if 40 Per Cent. Increase is Granted.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—All evidence having been put in arguments in the railway rates case will be commenced tomorrow morning. It is expected that the various counsel will get through not later than noon on Saturday, and an effort may be made to wind up the hearing on Friday morning.

Shortly before adjournment this afternoon, Chief Commissioner Carvell again stated that it would be necessary for him to leave for Nova Scotia on Saturday afternoon on business in connection with the coal situation. He said he had no desire whatever to curtail the argument, but suggested the possibility of the lawyers dividing up the time so that the case could be concluded this week.

More than ten thousand prisoners, thirty cannon, 300 machine guns and thousands of supply carts have been captured from the Bolsheviks.

MARITIME CASE.

The last evidence submitted, today, was put in by E. M. MacDonald, who represented more particularly Maritime Province Boards of Trade. He also submitted a memorandum on behalf of the Hon. Mr. Armstrong, of the Nova Scotia Government, who attended the opening sittings of the board.

Mr. MacDonald said that in the opinion of the people of the Maritime Provinces, railway wage increases in the United States, authorized by the McAdoo award, or by some designing politician, should not be adopted by this country without consideration being given to the difference in population and general conditions in Canada as compared with the United States.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—A plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Limited, has been forced to close down on account of a walk-out of thirty-five heaters, and in consequence over four thousand men are out of work.

It appears from a statement made today by G. W. S. Atwood, vice-president of the company, that the strike is a violation of an agreement signed on April 1st between the workers' unions and the company covering working conditions and rates of wages for a year ahead. A particular clause of this agreement was that there should be no strike until thirty days had elapsed.

REFUGEES FILL DANZIG SEEKING HOME IN U. S.

American Consulate Aghast at Problems of Food, Sanitation, Passports and Steamship Accommodations for Seven Thousand Jewish Fugitives.

By S. B. CONGER
(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.)

Danzig, Aug. 19.—Seven thousand Jewish fugitives from Poland, practically all planning to seek new homes in peaceful America, are today at Danzig living in concentration camps awaiting the necessary passport formalities and a steamer to take them to a land not constantly swept by invading armies. More are pouring in at the rate of 200 families or 1,000 souls daily. The Danzig authorities and the American consular representatives are aghast at the problem confronting them of sheltering and feeding the incoming multitudes, of taking the necessary sanitary measures to prevent outbreaks of epidemic diseases in the crowded camps and city, of financing passport visas and providing steamship accommodations. The problem is complicated by closing of the American consulate at Warsaw throwing the entire responsibility of issuing the passports upon the Danzig consulate which has no facilities for examining the shifting stream of thousands of would-be emigrants.

The consulate at Warsaw, when it left the Polish capital, removed to Graudenz, at the entrance to the Danzig corridor, expecting to intercept the current of refugees and establish a passport office at this point, but the flood swept past Graudenz particularly since the direct railway route from Graudenz via Alawa is only 100 miles, reaching Danzig without one in a hundred having the proper papers to leave Poland, to say nothing of entering the United States.

Camp at Danzig Too Small

Consul Dawson today sent an urgent appeal to Consul Rankin to leave Graudenz, come with his staff immediately to Danzig and establish a joint passport office, assuring the formality that he is accredited to Poland and not to a free state. The Danzig authorities have long since established a makeshift camp in the outskirts of the city to house the steady stream of emigrants awaiting the steamer, with accommodations for 4,000. The new flood arriving before the Bolshevik invasion filled this to overflowing in a trice. A second camp, housing 3,000, was opened Saturday and was as quickly filled. A third camp is being opened in the old quarantine barracks. The authorities already are casting about for further accommodations, seeing no prospect of the cessation of migration.

May Close Frontiers to Fugitives.

They may possibly be forced to close the frontiers to the fugitives from the sheer impossibility of providing food and shelter for many more. The Danzig population is already on limited rations. The great demonstration on the 24th, in which Burgomaster Zalm was mishandled and a number of persons killed, was due quite as much to the scarcity of food as to radical discontent, and with thousands of additional stomachs to be filled from the scanty food reserves further troubles are expected. The British military command and the municipal authorities, in fact, fear a new Communist outbreak tomorrow. The sanitary problem is no less acute. The fugitives arrive from Poland and even from the distant Ukraine without disinfection, bringing plague, bearing vermin and the filth of the East on their persons and possible germs of smallpox and other diseases in their bundles of bedding and clothing. They must be disinfected, deloused and bathed immediately to prevent them becoming a menace to their fellows and the Danzig population.

The railroad station and the immediate vicinity is the place to be avoided by any one fearing infection, as the incoming refugee trains twice daily pour out throngs of fugitives of the distinct East Jewish type—men and boys in long caftans and narrow, pointed caps, and Orthodox Jewish wives with their hair hidden under the ugly wigs prescribed by the ritual, swarms of children in ragged, all-starving under the untidy bundles of personal effects. The wanderers are hurried to the reception camp, whence they are marched in detachments of 300 every two hours to the disinfection plant before joining their companions in the barracks.

Tales of Ill-Treatment.

It is here that voluble tales of ill-treatment of the long journey are in order. Beard pulling and cutting, beating, with gun butts and fists, ejections from trains and robbery of money and effects are commonplaces of the route which the fugitives pour out to their fellows and any visitors willing to listen. The American Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society has established a camp bureau at the camp to change money, transmit cablegrams to relatives, which practically every family has in the United States, sell steamship tickets at the municipal office, and to sell food at cost. So, once in Danzig, the fugitives are safe from further exploitation.

Hugh Guthrie, Solicitor-General of the Dominion, hopes for an early release of the Winnipeg strike leaders are very strong, according to a statement made by F. J. Dixon, M. L. A., who returned from Ottawa this morning. The Solicitor-General, Mr. Dixon asserted, promised to consider the whole matter of the men's release but would not give a decision concerning them. Mr. Dixon added, however, that the members of the party were optimistic as a result of Mr. Guthrie's promise and felt sure that the strike leaders would soon be free.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, any medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, fast, irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bismarated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bismarated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of peptic pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bismarated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or elixir and in the bismarated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

FOREST FIRES DO TREMENDOUS DAMAGE

Relief Train Arrives at Kamloops Bringing Injured and Refugees from Alen Thompson River, B. C.

Kamloops, B.C., Aug. 19.—A relief train, bringing injured and refugees from a great forest fire area along the North Thompson River, has arrived here. The fire is supposed to have started on August 1 from lightning and was fanned into a great flame by a wind early this week.

First news of the seriousness of the fire came when an eastbound freight train on the Canadian National Railway ran into a sea of flames about 100 miles from Avola Station. They rescued a passenger train and a number of horses, and then beat a hasty retreat down the railway line. The train remained at Murphy's siding until daylight, when the engine was sent forward again.

Dr. Curry may not recover. Ten other persons saved their lives only by wading into the Thompson River up to their necks and waiting until the flames and heat subsided.

Dr. M. G. Archibald and seven nurses were sent out on a relief train from Kamloops Wednesday morning. At the same time a special train was sent from Blue River Station to rescue the people on the north side of the fire. The body of one rancher, Frank Smith, was discovered.

Several ranches in the path of the fire were completely wiped out. Fenell's sawmill was burned at Mile Past 34, where the loss, including cut lumber and poles, will be about $100,000. A dozen horses, owned by the North-east Construction Company, were killed.

HAS'N'T SEEN ITS EQUAL IN SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS

I Simply Feel Like Tanlac Has Added Years To My Life, States Halifax Woman—Twenty Years of Trouble Ended.

"I simply feel like Tanlac has added years to my life, and I just can't praise it enough for all it's done for me," declared Mrs. William Morris formerly of Picton, N. S., but now residing at 29 May Street, Halifax. "I suffered from a chronic case of stomach trouble for more than twenty years and was simply in a miserable condition. My appetite was so poor I scarcely ate anything at all, and I had such dizzy nauseating spells I could hardly see. Everything I ate seemed to trouble me, and gas would form in such quantities it would blow me up, terribly I had severe rheumatic pain all through my sides and back, and was so nervous the least little noise of any kind would upset me. Then night after night I could scarcely close my eyes."

The Springhill Races Yesterday

Took Five Heats Before Bill Sharon Captured the 2.16 Trot and Pace—Brage Won 2.20 Race in Straight Heats

Springhill, N. S., Aug. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—A big crowd turned out today to witness the second day's racing at Victoria Park. Bill Sharon won the 2.16 trot and Brage the 2.20 trot and pace. The Sharon horse broke badly in the first two heats, and was set back.

The summary:
2.16 Trot and Pace

Will Be Sure, W. G. Fenwick, Bathurst, 1 1 2 2

and was just tired and worn out all the time. I never felt rested, and all I could do was to sit around the house as I didn't have strength or energy enough to stand on my feet.

"Well, about a year ago I came to Halifax, and one day my son-in-law brought me a bottle of Tanlac so that's how I got started on the medicine. I'm of considerable age now, and I want to say that I never expected any medicine to help like Tanlac has. My appetite is so splendid I eat three good meals every day and I don't suffer a particle with indigestion. I'm entirely free from those dreadful nauseating spells, and am no longer troubled with dizziness. I haven't slept so well in the past twenty years as I do now, and I've regained all my lost energy. In all the medicines I have run across during the sixty-seven years of my life I can conscientiously say that Tanlac has no equal, and I'm only too glad to recommend it to anyone suffering as I did."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv't.

GERMAN-RUSS. CO-OPERATION A POSSIBILITY

Count Reventlow Discusses Advantages of An Economic Pact.

ADVISES TROTSKY TO WAR ON ROUMANIA

Wants Poland Divided Between Germany and Russia—Thinks They Can Handle Bolshevistic Tendencies.

By VIGGO TOEPPER.
(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)
Berlin, Aug. 19.—The notorious Pan-German propagandist, Count Reventlow, discusses in the Deutsche Tageszeitung the possibilities of a Bolshevik invasion of Germany—pointing out, however, that there are too many unknown factors in the situation for an definite conclusion.

The danger of an attack by the Red army on Germany is becoming acute, he says. "The Russian government believes that the Moscow government as a matter of principle, will attempt to convert Germany into a soviet state, while, on the other side, it undoubtedly has a very clear idea what might be gained through economic co-operation with Germany. The entrance of the Red army into Germany would be fatal to co-operation of this kind, for the German industrial organization would be annihilated, at the same time would result in the now exists in Russia."

It is, therefore, quite possible that the leading spirits of soviet Russia will prefer not to precipitate this form of co-operation in which Russia and Germany manufacture their own commodities which Russia must have. This might ultimately lead to a political co-operation, the importance of which to both countries would be simply enormous.

There is, of course, the danger that the Red armies may refuse to stop the German frontier, partly because it may be impossible for them to do so as they may have to continue advancing in order to get food supplies, partly because Lenin at Moscow may be a political co-operation in which Russia and Germany manufacture their own commodities which Russia must have. This might ultimately lead to a political co-operation, the importance of which to both countries would be simply enormous.

"For us," Count Reventlow goes on, "there are two ways open. We must either remain passive and beg the hostile powers to come to our assistance, or get into direct and constant touch with the Soviet government, in order to discuss the advantages of economic and political co-operation, manding only valid guarantees that Russia would abstain from interfering in the domestic affairs of Germany. It is naturally impossible to say whether such discussions would lead to a positive result, but at any rate a result would certainly be better if we did nothing at all."

Would Fight Rumania.

"If Russia then must provide troops with warlike occupation, I might advantageously declare war against Rumania," the Count writes with his usual Pan-German cynicism. "A great campaign in the Balkans would open unlimited possibilities for the greatest of the continent among the powers, of the entire while Russia would benefit enormously through her connection with Germany."

"The danger of Bolshevism spreading in Germany," Count Reventlow concludes, "would naturally be greater, but we must discount this and this we may very well do, if the German government and the German people make up their mind to act quickly and vigorously. This is our task and our only task. Inactive Bolshevism in Germany will not only bring about the thing feared, and in the German ship of state, but long as it is in motion, and the more quickly and the stronger this motion is, the more Germany will be able to very well steer the same course as the Russian without being actually taken in by it."

"The loyal army of the new German republic," the "Vorwaerts" writes, "which the government is to rely upon in case of another reactionary outbreak is evidently to consist mainly of reactionary bodies of troops who refuse to give up their arms at the demand of the government, if the present methods of the Minister of Defence, Herr Gessler, are to continue."

Cuxhaven, one of the principal German ports on the North Sea, is terrorized by 2,000 mutineers of the notorious Ehrhardt brigade, which Herr Gessler enlisted as mercenaries when they refused to surrender their arms. Since their arrival at Cuxhaven, principal occupation of these troops who will only obey their old reactionary officers, has been to cover the walls of their barracks and all public buildings with anti-semitic proclamations of the most violent type, to terrorize that part of the population which is loyal to the present government.

The Nationalist paper Deutsche Zeitung writes: "The recent glorious overwhelming victory of the German army in the East has given the states of the treaty worthiness of the states of the Poles on which Peace Treaty is based. "We are firmly convinced that shall have no peace on our eastern frontier until Poland shall have been divided between Germany and Russia. We demand the return to us of German provinces which have been stolen from us, because they belong to us, because they are German. Polish, a fact easily proved by Polish law."

GERMAN-RUSS. CO-OPERATION A POSSIBILITY

Count Reventlow Discusses Advantages of An Economic Pact.

ADVISES TROTSKY TO WAR ON ROUMANIA

Wants Poland Divided Between Germany and Russia — Thinks They Can Handle Bolshevistic Tendencies.

By VIGGO TOEPFER. (Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.) Berlin, Aug. 19.—The notorious Pan-German fire-eater, Count Reventlow, discusses in the Deutsche Tageszeitung the possibilities of a Bolshevist invasion of Germany—pointing out, however, that there are too many unknown factors in the situation for any definite conclusion.

The danger of an attack by the Red army on Germany is becoming acute, he says. There are many reasons to believe that the Moscow government, as a matter of principle, will attempt to convert Germany into a soviet state, while, on the other side, it undoubtedly has a very clear idea of what might be gained by the economic co-operation with Germany. The entrance of the Red army into Germany would be fatal to co-operation of this kind, for the German industrial organization would be annihilated, and the same chaos would result that now exists in Russia.

It is, therefore, quite possible that the leading spirits of soviet Russia will prefer not to precipitate this destruction, but endeavor to bring about a form of co-operation in which Russia is to produce the raw materials, and Germany manufacture them into such commodities which Russia must have. This might ultimately lead to a political co-operation, the importance of which to both countries would be simply enormous.

There is, of course, the danger that the Red armies may refuse to stop at the German frontier, partly because it may be impossible for them to stop, as they may have to continue advancing in order to get food supplies, partly because Lenin at Moscow may fear that they might turn against himself as soon as ordered to stop. "For us," Count Reventlow goes on, "there are two ways open: We must either remain passive and beg the Entente powers to come to our assistance, or get into direct and constant touch with the Soviet government in order to discuss the advantages of economic and political co-operation, demanding only valid guarantees that Russia would abstain from interfering in the domestic affairs of Germany. It is naturally impossible to say whether such discussions would lead to any positive result, but at any rate the result would certainly be better than if we did nothing at all."

Would Fight Rumania.

"If Russia then must provide her troops with war-like occupation, she might advantageously declare war against Rumania," the Count writes with his usual Pan-German cynicism. "A great campaign in the Balkans would open unlimited possibilities and create the greatest consternation among the powers of the entente, while Russia would benefit enormously through her connection with Germany."

"The danger of Bolshevism spreading in Germany," Count Reventlow concludes, "would naturally become greater, but we must discount this, and this we may very well do, if the German government and the German people make up their mind to act quickly and vigorously. This is our task and our only task. Inactive fear of Bolshevism in Germany will certainly bring about the thing feared. In political life, as well as on the water and in the air, the fact exists that a vessel will answer its helm only as long as it is in motion, and the more quickly and the stronger this motion is. The German ship of state may very well steer the same course as the Russian without being actually taken in tow by it."

"The loyal army of the new German republic," the Vorwaerts writes, "in which the government is to rely in case of another reactionary outbreak is evidently to consist mainly of reactionary bodies of troops who refused to give up their arms at the demand of the government. If the present movement of the Minister of Defence, Herr Gessler, are to continue."

Cuxhaven, one of the principal German ports on the North Sea, is being terrorized by 2,000 mutineers of the notorious Ehrhardt brigade, whom Herr Gessler enlisted as marines when they refused to surrender their arms.

Since their arrival at Cuxhaven, the principal occupation of these troops, who will only obey their old reactionary officers, has been to cover the walls of their barracks and all public buildings with anti-semitic proclamations of the most violent type, and to terrorize that part of the population which is loyal to the present government.

The Nationalist paper Deutsche Zeitung writes: "The recent glorious and overwhelming victory of the Germans in East Prussia gives a striking proof of the untrustworthiness of the statements of the Poles on which the Peace Treaty is based. We are firmly convinced that we shall have no peace on our eastern frontier until Poland shall have been divided between Germany and Russia. We demand the return to us of the German provinces which have been stolen from us, because they belong to us, because they are German, not Polish, a fact easily proved by popular vote."

THREE-FOURTHS OF IRISH WANT THE REPUBLIC

Settlement of Question Seems As Far Away as it Ever Was.

The circumstances being what they are, the keenest observers are unable to see any way out of the morass. It is suggested that if Mr. Lloyd George could be induced to break his promise to Ulster and offer full Dominion Home Rule for the whole of Ireland, and if the offer were made, say to the Bishop of the Roman Catholic Church, they might be able to turn the whole trend of present events from going straight to destruction. But Mr. Lloyd George cannot do that. He has committed himself to Ulster and if he breaks his word, his whole cabinet would go down like a house of cards.

All its chief members are as deeply committed to Ulster as he is himself, including Mr. Bonar Law, Lord Birkbeck and Mr. Winston Churchill. The cabinet, therefore, must stand by Ulster or get out. English newspapers are already speaking of a cabinet crisis, and it is well within the bounds of possibility that the grave situation in Ireland may bring it to disaster. A general election would follow and possibly a labor government, or at least a labor government with the assistance of the non-coalition Liberals would succeed.

The Irish leaders no doubt have great hopes of bringing about such a disaster, and they certainly will do their utmost to achieve it. Whether a Labor-Liberal combine would do all the Sinn Fein leaders hope for it is, of course, a matter which only time can prove.

The Irish situation is, unfortunately, very seriously complicated by the bitter sectarian conflicts which have already resulted in much bloodshed. The southern Catholics will naturally be aroused at the joining up of Sir Edward Carson's volunteers with the military forces of the Crown, for the

MENNONITES CONFER WITH QUEBEC PREMIER

Seeking Colonization Spot— Are Made Fully Acquainted With Customs and Laws of Province.

Quebec, Aug. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—Seven representatives of the Mennonite church in Manitoba and Saskatchewan waited on Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec here this afternoon and submitted a lengthy document setting forth their beliefs and customs as well as the privileges they desire should they decide to come and settle in the Province of Quebec.

The delegation, including the Bishops of the Mennonite Church, was received by the Prime Minister accompanied by Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, and Mr. J. N. Miller, secretary of the Catholic Committee of the Council of Public Instruction.

After listening to the reading of the document submitted by the Mennonites, Mr. Taschereau told the delegates that the Province of Quebec was open to them for inspection. They were free to visit the colonization districts and to study the customs and laws of the Province of Quebec. The premier then reviewed the school system of the Province as well as referring to the laws of the Province in general.

The five lay delegates of the Mennonites party left tonight for the Abitibi district, which is one of the most active colonization regions of the Province, while the two bishops left for Ottawa to interview the Federal Government.

Officials of the Quebec Government made it plain that no steps were taken here with a view of inducing the Mennonites to settle in this Province. The coming of the Mennonites to interview the Government here was entirely their own undertaking.

The delegation said that they represent some 12,000 Mennonites in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

LEADING ISSUES WENT HIGHER

Market, on the Whole, Acted Well Yesterday, the Boost Occurring at Close.

New York, Aug. 19.—The market acted well during the afternoon, and during the last fifteen minutes a slight rally took place which sent some of the leading issues higher. Stock closed 87 1/8, Cex. 134 3/4; Baldwin 105 and St. 62 3/4. Some good buying was reported in the Steel stocks and some of the oils. Sugars acted badly as a result of the downward price movement of raw sugar. The slight advance in the late afternoon was undoubtedly attributed to the Warsaw despatch stating that the Russians are in a panic and the retreat had developed into a rout. The Public Service Commission in the second district denied the application for an increase in passenger rates but acted favorably upon the application relating to freight rates. Sales 316,000.

In a close, exciting game of baseball McAvity defeated the Nashwaak Indians for the first time. The score was 6 to 5. The ball was relayed home and thrown to third to head off Marshall. The ball was lost owing to darkness and Marshall scored the winning run. SENSATIONS AND THRILLS AT OLYMPIC GAMES YESTERDAY

English Runners Dethroned the United States Star Mile Runner, Joe W. Ray of Illinois Club, in 1,500 Metres Race—All Track and Field Competitions Held in the Rain.

Antwerp, Aug. 19—English runners today dethroned the United States star mile runner, Joe W. Ray, of the Illinois Club, in the 1,500 metres race of the Olympic games. It was the second most sensational foot race of the seventh Olympiad, being just a little short of the thrills of the running of the 800 metres race on Saturday.

At the track and field competitions today were held in the rain, which varied from a drizzle to a downpour and gave the English athletes something of a home-like atmosphere. They scored impressively two firsts, a second and a sixth place for a point score total of sixteen, one less than the United States contestants, who ran one first, two thirds and one fifth for seventeen points.

The big upset of the day came in the running by A. G. Hill and P. J. Baker, both of England, running Ray off his feet.

The calibre of the runners was demonstrated by the time of the winners—four minutes, 14 seconds on a slow, rain-soaked track. This time was only six seconds more than the world's record.

P. J. Ryan, Loughlin Lyeoum, New York, won the hammer throw; G. Land, Sweden, was second, and B. Bennett, Chicago A. C. third.

The amateur Greece wrestling championships were divided between Sweden and Finland tonight, Sweden winning two and Finland three freests, in the finals, which drew a large enthusiastic crowd of spectators.

The results follow:
Featherweight class—Priman, Finland, defeated Kahkonen, Finland, in four minutes.
Lightweight class—Tamminen, Finland, outpointed Vara, Finland.
Middleweight class—Westergren, Sweden, defeated Lindfor, Finland, in 32 minutes.
Light heavyweight class—Johansson, Sweden, pinned Smit Holland, in 32 minutes.

Ottawa, Aug. 19—Two matches were finished at the D. R. A. meeting at the Rockcliffe ranges today, the first stage of the Governor-General's and the Coates a battalion team match. Some competitors were, however, completed for team aggregate scores, these being the Kirkpatrick Cup, which was won by the British Columbia team who also carried off the Gillespie Challenge Cup, both being for team aggregate scores made in the matches. The Macdonald Brier team competition saw the Calgary Rifle Association in first place and winners of the handsome shield for the first time. The Gordon Highlanders' trophy, another team competition, fell to the Governor-General's foot guards with a good score of 728.

There were five teams in the Coates' team match and the 103rd (Calgary) were the winners but so close was the contest that only of ten points separated the five teams. A local team from the 138th Battalion won the Caron Cup and local shots carried off most of the prizes in the Whitney Cup aggregate. In this there were only fifteen entries and the list carried twenty-six prizes.

The main interest centred in the first stage of the Governor-General's match, seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards. The first 150 yards for the second stage and shot for the 150 first class prizes. In addition there are fifty three prizes for tyros and fifty prizes for other competitors who fall to get into the second stage making a grand total of 253 prizes.

Events Brought To Semi-Finals

Weather Permitting Finals in N. B. Tennis Tournament Will be Played Saturday—Splendid Playing Yesterday—Afternoon Tea Enjoyed.

Yesterday's play at the N. B. Tennis Tournament brought the events to the semi-finals in several cases, and, weather permitting, the finals will be played off on Saturday, the men's doubles, however, being scheduled for today at 4.30. Another lovely day greeted the contestants yesterday and exhibitions of excellent tennis were given.

Splendid playing was shown in the match of Malcolm McAvity and T. McA. Stewart against George Harley and C. F. Inches, which resulted in a win for the cousins, whose team work, judgment in playing, and swift strokes made a combination hard to withstand, although a fine game was put up by their opponents, Jack Thomson and F. Armstrong were defeated by W. T. Wood and Dr. Bigelow. A good game, running into three sets, was that of E. A. Schofield against C. F. Inches. Miss Portia McKenzie played a steady game in her doubles with W. T. Wood, whose style is excellent.

The ladies' doubles between Mrs. J. R. Thomson and Miss Mabel Thomson and the Misses Dorothy and Grace Thomson were followed with interest by spectators.

MILLER HUGGINS THINKS RUTH WILL HIT 55 OR 60 HOME RUNS

Manager of New York Yankees Believes Pitchers Will be Easier for "Babe" from Now on — "Fans" Love Big Slugger and Make Life Miserable for Pitchers Who Pass Him up—All the World Loves a Heavy Hitter.

"Babe" Ruth will make 55 or more home runs this year.
That is Miller Huggins' prediction. Miller is the smart manager of the New York Yankees.

Ruth himself hoped to collect as many as 50.
Huggins bases his prediction of 55 on the fact that Ruth has now played all the fine points of his play. But you must know baseball to fully enjoy Cobb's work. Ruth, though, appeals to everybody. He hit the ball so hard and he hit it so often that he has won the admiration of the people that understand baseball thoroughly, that can appreciate all the fine points of his play. But you must know baseball to fully enjoy Cobb's work. Ruth, though, appeals to everybody. He hit the ball so hard and he hit it so often that he has won the admiration of the people that understand baseball thoroughly, that can appreciate all the fine points of his play.

"I will tell you a surprising thing. In Chicago Ruth hit one homer. We won that game. Nobody seemed to mind losing it. I mean none of the Chicago fans seemed to mind losing it. They were satisfied because Ruth poked it over the wall. They shout with glee and they cheer in anger if the home pitcher, by purposely serving Ruth four wild ones, is going to rob them of the opportunity of seeing Ruth hit one."
"No, sir, from now on you will see Ruth walked less and less every day and hitting more and more, because he will have more opportunities. I don't think you should have heard them roar whenever Ruth was passed. And Chicago, you must admit, has a very good chance for the pennant.

St. George Sends Out Challenge

From the tone of the following wire received by the Standard three weeks ago, it is reasonable to expect that the St. George and St. Stephen baseball teams.
St. George, N. B., August 19th, 1926.
Sporting Editor Standard, St. John, N. B.:

Dear Sir,—I am instructed by the St. George baseball club to accept through the columns of your valuable paper the challenge issued by St. Stephen baseball team on these conditions: That we will play three games, one in St. Stephen, and we will take the gate receipts, and we will pay their own expenses; one in New Brunswick and we will take our own expenses; and the third game, if necessary, to be played in St. John, and both teams pay their own expenses, and the winner take sixty per cent. of the profits and the losers 40 per cent, and that St. Stephen publish through your columns a list of the eligible players they will enter in this contest. St. George will play the same lineup that played August 7th.
Trusting this will meet with the approval of the management of the St. Stephen team, I am,
Yours very truly,
B. J. DOYLE,
Manager St. George B. B. team.

More Horses Than There Are Stalls

Stated Dozen More Horses Entered for Races on Moosepath Than There Are Stalls—Eight Races on Programme for the Three Days

Most tracks are considered lucky when they have a lot of horses, but when there is such a thing as too many horses and that is what the Maritime Racing Association are now worried about in connection with their first Maritime and Maine Circuit meeting to be held at St. John on August 26th, 27th and 28th.

There are about a dozen more horses actually entered in the three days' races than there are stalls in the barns at Moosepath Park and everything possible is now being done to have sufficient accommodations provided in time to take care of the horses when they arrive. The suggestion has been made that a string of new stalls should be erected, but inasmuch as they have only a lease of the property for the period of the two race meetings they will hold the Maritime Racing Association are therefore not to be expected to make any large capital expenditure at the track.

There are eight races on the programme for the three days and the programme will probably be run off in the following order:
First Day, Thursday, Aug. 26th
2:14 Trot and Pace, Purse $400.
2:50 Trot Purse $400.
2:21 Trot and Pace, Purse $400.
Second Day, Friday, Aug. 27th
2:18 Trot and Pace, Purse $400.
2:20 Trot, Purse $400.
Third Day, Saturday, Aug. 28th
Free-for-All Trot and Pace, Royal Hotel Purse, $500.
2:24 Trot, Purse $400.
2:27 Pace, Purse $400.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1920

THE PRIME MINISTER'S VISIT.

There will undoubtedly be keen disappointment felt at the announcement that Premier Meighen's postponed visit to this city must be postponed for some time, owing to heavy pressure of engagements. Citizens have been looking forward to his coming with pleasurable anticipation, because they realize the immense possibilities that may result from it. When he was in the city with the party of Parliamentarians two or three months ago he had an opportunity of getting a slight knowledge of some of the matters that need attention in connection with the harbor and port, and in regard to which he expressed himself very favorably. At that time he was only a subordinate member of the Government, and not able to do very much practical work along the lines that St. John desires. Now, however, that he is at the head of affairs, matters are in quite a different position, and he has it in his power to do much to make the port of St. John what it ought to be in view of its admitted importance to the trade of the country. However, the promised visit of the Premier is only postponed, and in the meanwhile it would be as well for citizens to make up their minds just what it is they want, so that the matter may be laid before Mr. Meighen in a concrete and thoroughly worked out plan when he does pay his visit.

THE FALL IN STERLING.

In the holiday conditions ruling in financial markets just now, practically the only feature upon which the attention of financial critics is concentrated is the recent sudden decline in the quotation of sterling exchange on New York. After quite a respectable rise, this rate again collapsed in a sudden fashion, and, although a slight recovery has since taken place, the pound sterling at present, measured in American currency, is worth little more than 14s. 9d. There is no doubt force in the contention that the darkening of the political situation in Europe has done much to upset the course of Continental exchanges in New York, and the same influence may have affected sterling. But it is generally agreed in London that the rapid downward movement recently has been caused chiefly by abnormally heavy purchases of dollars in anticipation of the necessity of financing large seasonal imports during the autumn. Last year the autumn months saw a depreciation in the New York cable rate similar to the fall which is now going on. There is reason for thinking that the decline which is causing so much anxiety now is merely in anticipation of a seasonal movement which must, in any case, have taken place a little later on. It is so, then the movements of exchange between New York and London are likely to be steadier in October and November than last year, and their firmness then will also be helped by the fact that the British Government have made full arrangements for paying off the fifty million pounds sterling of the British portion of the Anglo-French loan which matures in New York in October. The course of Continental exchange in London is erratic on account largely of the Polish situation and the failure on the part of Continental nations to feel that the Peace arrangements have brought them that degree of security which can enable them to go forward unimpeded with the work of economic reconstruction. As always, violent movements in the exchange are being prominently before the public eye the economic difficulties of Europe of which they are the symptom. Now, as in previous crises, ingenious experts are ready with their own suggestions of remedy. In a booklet just published Sir George Paish puts forward his own plan for setting Europe on its feet again. The basis of it is that all the civilized nations of the world as represented in the League of Nations should make a joint issue of League of Nations bonds to the extent of about seven thousand million pounds. By this means he would provide a sufficiency of international credit to enable war-worn countries to build up their export trade without straining their own credit to a more extreme degree than they have done at present. This plan, like all short cuts to peace and happiness, is attractive enough on paper. Unfortunately, a moment's thought shows the scheme to be hopelessly impracticable; for it breaks down when one puts the essential question, Who is going to subscribe for this vast sum of money? All countries, Sir George Paish is hopeful enough to think, will take their quota, but it is difficult to see that there can be any justification for such optimism. In any arrangement for huge international credits the greatest share of the burden would inevitably fall on the only two countries capable of supporting it—Great Britain and the United States. Both these countries in their own way and within their own limits are doing what they can to assist the commercial recovery on the Continent; and both countries, according to the almost universal advice of their respective financial experts, have agreed that huge international credits—at any rate, on the scale suggested by Sir George Paish—are outside the sphere of practical politics and undesirable into the bargain. The more the grave problem of European recuperation is investigated and discussed, the more clearly one gets back to the basic fact that each country, with the help, it is true, of more powerful friends, must in the main work out its own salvation by following certain hard but simple economic laws. The problem before every country is to curtail its expenditure and to cease borrowing, to restrict its currency circulation within reasonable limits, to concentrate upon economy and vigorous production for export.

DR. CORBEL'S BEST COURSE.

If the friends of Dr. Corbel are wise they will not urge him to accept a nomination to oppose Hon. Mr. Wigmore at the forthcoming by-election. The result would only be disastrous from his and their standpoints. If he had the remotest chance of beating Mr. Wigmore, there might be some justification offered for opposing him; but the veriest tyro in politics realizes that he has, as Mr. Stoney would say, "no chance." It is all very well to talk about opposition on principle, but expediency often cuts a bigger figure than principle nowadays, and from the standpoint of the welfare of the city of St. John it would certainly not be expedient for it to be represented in Parliament by a member whose seat is in the cold shades of opposition, when it can, if its citizens please, be represented by a member of the Government in a position to do great things for it. On principle, the Provincial Opposition should have opposed the return of Dr. Roberts a few weeks ago, but as there was nothing to be gained by so doing, they left it alone. There is infinitely more reason why opposition to Mr. Wigmore should be left alone now.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW OF ST. JOHN'S POLITICS.

Writing in "The Canadian Railroader," J. A. Stevenson has this to say about the political situation in this city: "St. John has many follies and peculiarities, but one thing stands out pre-eminent. It has a positive mania for being represented at Ottawa by a cabinet minister who can get a hand in the treasury and ladle out money for the advancement of its prosperity as the great winter port of Canada. The standards set by that illustrious statesman, the Hon. William Tuguey, still survive, and we bestride the unhappy member for St. John who does not live up to them. It would be asking too much of St. John to expect it to refuse the chance of daily access to the cabinet for its pleas for harbor improvements and dry docks, and Mr. Wigmore will probably be returned either by acclamation or a comfortable majority. But if he does not show results and measure up to the standards of efficiency set by the Hon. William Tuguey as a special pleader for the New Brunswick port, he need expect short shrift at the next election. Mr. Meighen probably has no illusions about the quality of his new ministers, but in his defence it must be said that his choice was restricted. Mr. Stanley Elkin, the other member for St. John, was spoken of, but, like Giesbreg, he has waxed fat on his full business since 1914 and he is numbered among our financial potentates and has lost whatever popularity he had in his native city. Even as a minister he would have difficulty in being re-elected."

DREAMS AND DREAMERS.

"He tells me his horrid dreams." That was recently the complaint of a wife against her husband to a London magazine. It is common, and natural, complaint. The retold dreams of others are a dreadful bore. But our own dreams? They shed on many a dull life the glowing colors of romance. In them we have strange adventures in fantastic worlds, and surpass with ease the barriers of necessity and peace and circumstance. It is not easy to believe that dreaming is merely indigestion, or wholly to envy those who boast of dreamless and unbroken sleep. Dreams, however, may be dreamed by day, and these are the thieves of time. It is, perhaps, more amusing to lay out a mental scenario than to add up figures. It is easier to dream yourself into wealth and power than to work for them unceasingly. This was the stagnation and poverty. Day-dreams are the enemy of progress. They lower your mental vitality. Stop dreaming. Get on with the job. Make imagination slave, not master.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Imprudent Talk. (Hamilton Spectator.) If Miss Hague, one of the party of Canadian teachers now visiting the old country, is correctly quoted, she cannot be complimented on her fast or good taste. "Teachers have a better social status in Canada than they apparently have in this country," she is reported to have said; "there is only one profession now barred to women in Canada, and that is chartered accountancy. Our girls will not go into domestic service; we get nearly all our domestic servants from the old country." Surely a very foolish utterance, especially coming from a school teacher. Moreover, the still greater indiscretion is committed of making unfavorable comparisons with the style of dress adopted by the London girls. This sort of thing is little likely to promote amicable feelings.

Bound To Rise. (Kingston Whig.) Lady Astor, M. P., says a cable dispatch, "gathered her skirts together and jumped a six-foot gate." You can't keep women like that down, can you?

One With Them. (Hamilton Herald.) It must be quite pleasing to the Republican leaders in the State to learn that Lenine and Trotsky are at one with them in announcing the League of Nations.

"Liquor Interests." (New York Telegraph.) I notice that a contemporary claims the liquor interests are out for Cox. Who are the liquor interests? Of interest in liquor I am well aware, but of liquor interests these dark days I know nothing.

A BIT OF VERSE

WALKING AT NIGHT.

My face is wet with the rain But the heart is warm to the core. For I follow at will again The road that I loved of yore. And the dim trees beat the dark, And the swelling ditches moan, For my heart is a singing, soaring lark For I travel the road alone.

Alone in the living night Away from the babble of tongues; And the heart with the old delight Of the night wind in my lungs; And the wet soil on my cheeks And the warm blood in my veins, Alone with the joy he knows who seeks.

The third of the young spring rains With the smell of the puffed earth, The tearful drive of the trees, Making him dream of the round of mirth That comes with the clearing breeze.

'Tis a rare and wondrous sight To tramp the wet while And watch the slow delight Of the sun's first pallid smile, And hear the roadways beat again And see the for woods turn green Drunk with the glory of wind and rain And the sun's warm smile between!

I have made me a vagrant song, For my heart is glad to the core, And I'm glad, O glad that the night is long.

For I travel the road once more And the dim trees beat the dark And the swelling ditches moan, With the joy of the singing, soaring lark.

I travel the road, alone! —Amory Hare in Contemporary Verse.

 The Renforth crew, with their shell and that of Greenville McCavour, the boy sculler, left for Halifax last night. Every inducement will be made to get the youngster in a boys' race, and in fact a challenge is out that Greenville is open to row any sculler under sixteen years of age in the Maritime Provinces. If a race cannot be arranged for the young fellow tomorrow, he will undoubtedly row an exhibition mile and a half.

Coal Freight Rates For Overseas Low

Steamers Not Able to Pay Expenses on Present Rates—A Little Improvement Shown Recently.

Nauticus has the following to say about the present freight rate situation as it applies to American charters:

"As a consequence of the improved demand for coal tonnage, coal rates have taken a slight upward trend and especially during the last three or four days the market has been showing more life than at any time for the past three weeks.

"An interesting development to which this reversal of form may be chiefly attributed, is the recent decision of the Shipping Board to withdraw its tonnage altogether from the coal carrying trade for the time being. Shipping Board operators are now required to submit all coal business to the local district manager of the board before they can effect closings and the board appears determined, for the time being at least, not to permit any fixtures of coal at present rates. The board is said to have been discussing the situation fully with representative coal operators and charterers, and no doubt some means stabilizing rates and keeping them on a paying basis is being sought by board officials.

"Very probably some plan to accomplish this has been absolutely necessary, since present rates, pointed out before, do not leave owners or operators scantiest margin of profit, and in many instances undoubtedly mean a more or less serious loss to the ship-owners.

"To prove this requires very little demonstration, especially in the case of small steamers. For instance, a steamer carrying about 4,000 tons of coal to Rotterdam at $9 (which some charterers were offering recently) would earn a gross freight of $36,000. Out of this the owner would have to buy at least 800 tons of bunker at about $18.20, or say, $14,560 for bunkers alone; on top of which, of course, must be reckoned port charges and loading and discharging expenses, which would amount to another $1.60 per ton, plus cost of mooring and victualling, insurance, etc., which for a ship of this size, would probably run to about $15,000 a month. It is, therefore, obvious that a boat of this description cannot possibly show anything but a loss on the voyage described.

OLYMPIC GAMES DATE WAY BACK TO ANCIENT DAYS OF HOMER

Great Athletic Carnivals of Early Days Were Foundation of Life and Empires of Ancient Greece and Rome—Contestants Had to Undergo Ten Months' Training and Original Programme Provided for Foot Races Only.

The seventh revival of the famous Olympic Games being held in Antwerp, Belgium, was originally scheduled for Berlin in 1916, but the war caused a postponement and a change to a more deservingly locality.

The original Olympic Games which are so celebrated in history, date back to the days of Homer. In the olden days the Olympiads were the greatest events in the world. They were the foundation of the life and empires of ancient Greece and Rome, and made possible the triumph of Greece over Asia, and of Rome over the world.

They were of paramount importance. This was further increased by the solemnity which attended them, and especially by the fact that on the Greek method of reckoning time was based upon them and their regular occurrence.

The Greek idea was that the body of man had a glory as well as the intellect and spirit. They realized that the vitality and strength of the individual body was the base of the vitality and strength of the state. The empires of Greece and Rome lasted only as long as the Olympic Games—no longer.

The Olympic Games were first held in 776 B. C. The name comes from the site on which they were held—Olympia. In 216, not a city but a small plain in the district of Pisatis, nearly surrounded by lofty hills and bounded on the south by the River Alpheus. On this plain was the sacred grove, called Altis, supposed to have been laid out by Hercules. It was adorned with beautiful structures and works of art, altars, statues and monuments in great number, including the Temple of Zeus. This temple housed the most magnificent production of Hellenic art, the chryselephantine statue of Zeus by Phidias.

The games were held at intervals usually every four years—and continued almost without interruption until A. D. 393. At first the games consisted of a single foot race, but gradually other events were added until the games greatly resembled our western field meets and lasted about five days.

Only free-born Greeks of good character were allowed to compete. Every contestant had to undergo at least ten months' training.

The participants participated naked. If the nation was at war a "sacred truce" was declared to allow attendance of the athletes and spectators. No women were allowed.

The only reward was a crown of wild olive from the sacred grove of Altis, which, by the way, was regarded as the very maximum of human felicity. He who did not win the highest crown won nothing.

The most celebrated athletes of all the Olympiads are Theagenes of Thasos, Milo of Crotona and Diagoras of Rhodes. Alexander the Great once entered the lists, and Nero and Tiberius achieved victory at Olympia.

After 393 Olympiads the games were discontinued because of the teachings of Christianity—strange as it may seem.

After a period of more than 1,500 years the games were revived again in 1896 by the German government, which had undertaken the excavation of the ancient sites of former glories.

The first revival was held at Athens. The next was in Paris, 1900; then St. Louis, 1904; Athens, 1906; London, 1908, and the last in Stockholm, 1912.

OFFICIAL SLIGHT IN CANADA.

London, Aug. 19.—There is a feeling of soreness among London Canadians due to apparent official partiality evinced towards other dominions of the Empire.

A recent blunder which accentuated the resentment occurred at the opening of the Aerial Exhibition at Olympia when the Canadian Agents General found themselves excluded from the luncheon while the Australian representatives were invited.

"It's not the price of the lunch, but the principle of the thing which annoys us," said A. J. Wolf, secretary of the Nova Scotia office. "If we are considered important enough to attend the opening, why shut us out from the luncheon?"

FUNERALS.

Charles Myers, formerly of Halifax, died in this city, Wednesday. He was 78 years of age. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at four o'clock from the undertaking rooms of N. W. Dorman & Son, Main street, to the Methodist cemetery. Rev. J. H. A. Holmes conducted the funeral service.

ALLIED DISCORD WORRIES GERMANY

German Officialdom Awaits U. S. Pressure for or Against Annexation.

By S. B. CONGER.
 (Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Berlin, Aug. 18.—Anglo-French dissonances over Poland and the apparent breach between Lloyd George and Millerand resulting from the French recognition of General Wrangel arouse the apprehensions of sober, thoughtful Germans in high position. These, instead of taking pleasure in the discord between former enemies, fear that it will increase the possibility of the loss of the Ruhr coal region and the left bank of the Rhine.

A high percentage coming direct from a cabinet meeting where the Polish situation was discussed tells me the government is seriously concerned over the prospect that France, one-half of whose policy of military security against Poland has broken down with Poland's collapse, may now return to her original design of securing that safety by seizing permanently the west bank of the Rhine and the Ruhr. The American influence proposals on the Rhine at the peace conference is now removed and the rift in the Anglo-French relations weakens if it does not destroy altogether, the sole remaining brake upon French aspirations in this direction.

COLONEL HOUSE FINDS GROWING SIGNS OF NEW UPHEAVAL IN EUROPE

Learns Opinion in Holland is That Germany Has Decided to Cast Her Lot With the East.

WORLD REVOLT MEANS STARVATION TO HALF THE POPULATION, IS HIS SOLEMN WARNING

Western Powers' Determination to War on Reds Blamed for Fight of Soviet Russia to Force Bolshevism Upon Every Nation.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

The Hague, Aug. 18.—Colonel E. M. House today made the following statement for the Public Ledger foreign service:

"The police regulations are the most noticeable thing to strangers visiting Holland. They are not unlike those in Russia in days gone by. The cause is bolshevism. It is not here as yet, but the shadows are lengthening and each day they loom larger.

"Poland is bolshevically enmeshed and Germany is face to face with it. The hour is critical and the next few weeks or months may determine the fate of Europe—the world.

"It is believed here that Germany has decided to cast her lot with the East. If true, that is a momentous decision and one in which every nation has an interest. Its immediate effect will be to create a new balance of power, and its ultimate effect will be to determine whether the present civilization is to be replaced by that which seems to be now in the making.

Tremendous Upheaval Forecasts.

"It is not that bolshevism is believed in per se, but it is the momentary available instrument to which the restlessness, unhappy and discontented world before the world settles down again to its long task of producing in order that people may live, there is every indication of an upheaval which may disturb the foundations of our political, social and economic life.

"When an adjustment is finally made it will probably not be in the form which has come to Russia, but in a saner and more moderate form. It is the transition period that is more to be feared than the final outcome. There is a fundamental fact that should be driven home to people everywhere, and that is that revolution seldom stays within reasonable bounds, and if the world, as a whole, should suddenly be brought to some second-degree marked is kept going has prevailed in Russia for the last few years, then half its population would perish from starvation and cold. The machinery by which the life of present-day mankind is kept going has become complicated and is so delicate that a break here and a break there would throw the entire organization into hopeless confusion. That it is easier to tear down than to build up is a truism which the war has brought home to us with terrible force.

Germany's Plans Uncertain.

"While it is not certain that Germany will definitely join Russia in her political experiment, it is certain that the majority of Germans believe that their industrial and economic future lies to the east and the southeast rather than to the west. The economic council is now poring the most influential body in Germany. It is said that neither the Reichstag nor the Cabinet makes an important decision without first taking advice from it. Its dominating members control the iron, coal, dye and electrical supplies of the empire and it is through the German organizations that Russia's life will probably some day be ruled.

"This movement for trade control of eastern Europe is viewed with alarm by some continental financiers and with satisfaction by others. One group feels that, in its last analysis, it means that Germany and Russia with their contiguous territory will become linked together and be a menace to the Allied Powers, while another group welcomes any solution which may be a steady influence during those anxious times.

"When our republic was launched we were satisfied to give to our people the government they desired and were content to let the future determine its value. Not so with Russia. For the first time in history we find a great nation using all its resources to harness its social, economic and political views upon other states.

"It is not certain that this was at first contemplated and it is probable that the present extraordinary situation was brought about by the frank avowal of the western powers to try to destroy the kind of government which a large part of the Russian people had decided upon. Retaliation was natural and a sequel to self-preservation. At the inter-allied conference which met at Paris in November and December, 1917, there were those who saw the danger of such a policy, but the warning was unheeded.

Propaganda Experts Trained.

"In this warfare of ideas we find the East relying almost wholly on propaganda and the West almost wholly upon force. The peculiar nature of the conflict gives the East the advantage and for reasons which need not be considered now. There are said to be schools in Moscow where pupils are instructed in the method and the use of propaganda. In one class there is taught the proper argument to be used in India and the surrounding states. In another there is taught what seems to be the most convincing way of propaganda. In one class there are sent throughout the world and in many ways that baffle the Secret Service of the western powers. The effect of the western propaganda has so far failed, but that used to create disturbances throughout the British Empire has been more successful.

"The Public Ledger in its leading editorial of July 29 gives this timely warning and admirable advice, which is only one sure way to kill Bolshevism propaganda, and that is by leaving no soil on which it can possibly take root. We must in this happy country pay close and sympathetic heed to every symptom of a feeling of injustice among the classes which the Red fanatic always seeks to cultivate. A contented democracy is immune from the microbes of revolution by force."

ANOTHER RUN ON BOSTON BANK

First State Bank, With Many Depositors of Foreign Birth, Pays Out $100,000.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—Hundreds of depositors of the First State Bank, in the North End, chiefly foreigners, participated in a run on that institution tonight, withdrawing about $100,000 in savings and Christmas Club accounts. The run was an aftermath of the Ponzi expose, and was precipitated by rumors that a bank in that district would soon be closed.

There was no disorder. The bank, a private institution, remained open an hour later than the usual closing time. Its president, Thomas Natile, mounted a chair in front of the bank and addressed the crowd while the run was at its height. He said that the bank was ready to pay or receive money.

"Whoever wants his money can have it," he said.

If present indications are borne out by subsequent construction, there will be good roads all the way between these points, and also between Niagara Falls and St. John, N. B. There will remain, however, the necessity of ferrying across the Ottawa River on the highway between Ottawa and Montreal.

Ladies Keep Your Skin Clear, Sweet, Healthy With Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Talcum

Are your gums tender? Do they bleed when brushed? If so—watch out for Pyorrhoea.

A DANGEROUS WARNING—BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhoea, the gums which afflict four out of five people over forty, not only destroys the teeth, but often wrecks the health.

In Pyorrhoea, the gums become spongy, then recede; the teeth decay, loosen, and fall out—or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhoea germs which breed in pockets about them. These germs lower the body's vitality and cause many diseases.

Forhan's For the Gums prevents Pyorrhoea—or checks its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean.

Start using it today, if your gums have receded, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

THE KING'S PRIVATE SECRETARY TO RETIRE

Has Served English Monarch Since He Became Prince of Wales.

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)

London, Aug. 19.—Lord Stamfordham, private secretary to King George, ever since his accession and previous when he was Prince of Wales, is shortly retiring. This means the disappearance from public life of one of the most acute political thinkers.

For over forty years Lord Stamfordham has quietly pulled the strings behind the scenes, never seeking the limelight or public recognition. He has always shown the most sagacious and shrewd judgment of men and affairs. His post was really that of chief liaison officer between His Majesty and the Government. Many of the more important documents he drafted with his own hand, painstakingly noting the full significance of every word and phrase. He seldom made a mistake in his advice, and he will be badly missed when the time comes for his resignation to take effect.

ANDREW WILSON & CO. TORONTO AND MONTREAL

The Great Impersonation

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM.

 "So, Ed, I'm not quite so keen as I was. To tell you the truth, the young man, confided, glancing around and lowering his voice so that no one should overhear the momentous information, 'I was lucky enough to pick up a small share in Jere Moore's racing stable at Newmarket, the other day. I fancy I know a little more about good-gees than I do about the inside of motors, what?'"

"I should think very possibly that you are right," Dominey assented, as the young man passed on with a farewell salute.

Terloff looked after him curiously. "It is the type of young man, that," he declared, "which we cannot understand. What would happen to him, in the event of a war?" In the event of his being called upon, say, either to fight or to do some work of national importance for his country?"

"I expect he would do it," Dominey replied. "He would do it pluckily, whole-heartedly and bravely. He is a type of the upper-class young Englishman, over-sanguine and entirely unprincipled. They expect, and their country expects for them, that in the case of emergency they would take the place of training."

The Right Honourable Gerald Watson stood upon the steps talking to the wife of the Italian Ambassador. She left him presently, and he came striding down the lawn with his hands behind his back and his eyes seeming to see out past the golf links.

"There goes a man," Terloff murmured, "whom lately I have found changed. When I first came here he met me quite openly. I believe, even now, he is sincerely desirous of peace and amicable relations between our two countries, and yet something has fallen between us. I cannot tell what it is, but I have an instinct for people's attitude towards me, and the English are the worst race in the world of hiding their feelings. Has Mr. Watson, I wonder, come under the spell of your conversation, the Duke of Worcester? He seemed so friendly with both of us down in Norfolk."

Their womenfolk left them at that moment to talk to some acquaintances seated a short distance away. Mr. Watson, passing within a few yards of them, was brought to a standstill by Dominey's greeting. They talked for a moment or two upon idle subjects.

"Your news, I trust, continue favourable?" the Ambassador remarked, observing the etiquette which requires him to be the first to leave the realms of ordinary conversation.

"It is a little negative in quality," the other answered, after a moment's hesitation. "I am summoned to Downing Street again at six o'clock. I have already received the result of my morning despatches to the Prime Minister," Terloff observed.

"I went through them before I came down here," he said, with a somewhat doubtful reply.

"You will have appreciated, I hope, their generally pacific tone?" Terloff asked anxiously.

His interlocutor bowed and then drew himself up. It was obvious that the strain of the last few days was telling upon him. There were lines about his mouth, and his eyes spoke of sleepless nights, and a nervousness which was the will of your country."

"Terloff was for a moment unusually pale. It was an episode of unrecorded history, as he rose to his feet and raised his hat.

"There will be no war," he said solemnly.

The Cabinet Minister passed on with a lighter step. Dominey more clearly than ever before, understood the subtle policy which had chosen for his great position a man as chivalrous and faithful and yet as simple-minded as Terloff, in the role of the retreating figure of the Cabinet Minister with a slight smile at the corner of his lips.

"In a time like this," he remarked significantly, "one begins to understand why one of our great writers—was it Bernard, I wonder—has written that no island could ever be a race of diplomats. That is why 'The seas which engrave this island,' the Ambassador said thoughtfully, 'have brought to England great wealth, as they may bring to her much more. The diplomat has his parallel of insincerity in the people whose interests he seems to guard. I believe in the honesty of the English politicians. I have placed that belief on record in the small volume of memoirs which I shall presently entrust to you. But we talk too seriously for a summer afternoon. Let us illustrate to the world our opinion of the political situation and play another nice holes at golf.'"

Dominey rose willingly to his feet, and the two men strolled away towards the first tee.

"By the by," Terloff asked, "what of our cheerful little friend Seaman? He ought to be busy just now."
 "Curiously enough, he is returning from Germany tonight," Dominey announced. "I expect him at Berkeley Square. He is coming direct to me."

CHAPTER XXVI.
 These were days, to all dwellers in London, of vivid impressions, of poignant memories, reasserting themselves afterwards with a curious sense of unreality, as though belonging to another set of days and another world. Dominey long remembered his dinner that evening in the sombre, handsomely furnished dining-room of his town house in Berkeley Square. Although it lacked the splendour of the banquet hall at Dominey, it was still a fine apartment, furnished in the Georgian period, with some notable pictures upon the walls, and with a wonderful ceiling and fireplace. Dominey and Rosamund dined alone, and though the table had been reduced to its smallest proportions, the space between them was yet considerable. As soon as Rosamund had gravely put the port upon the table, Rosamund rose to her feet, and, instead of leaving the room, pointed for the servant to place a chair for her by Dominey's side.

"I shall be like your men friends, Everard," she declared, "when the ladies have left, and draw up to your seats, because I know that I will be a wonderful listener."

"First of all you drink half a glass of champagne," he declared, filling her glass, "then you pass me one of those peaches, and we divide it. After which we listen for a ring at the bell. Tonight I expect a visitor."

"A visitor?"
 "A matter of business which I fear will take me from you for the rest of the evening. So let us make the most of the time until he comes."

"Since you must have had with you a peach, talking to him all the time a little gravely, a sweet and picturesque picture of a graceful and very desirable woman, her delicate shape and artistic fragility more than over accounted for by the sombreness of the background."
 "Do you know, Everard," she said, "I am so happy in London here with you, and I feel all the letters and the books which were a maze of print to me before. I can see the things in the picture, and feel the thrill of the mystery which seemed to come to me, somehow, before, all dislocated and disjointed. You understand, don't you?"

"Of course," he answered gravely. "I do not wonder," she went on, "that Doctor Harrison is proud of me for a patient, but there are many times when I feel a dull pain in my forehead, and I wish to know whether or anybody else might say, I am not quite cured."
 "Rosamund dear," he protested.

"Ah, but don't interrupt," she insisted, "I am speaking of the peach upon his plate. How can I be cured when all the time there is the problem of you, the problem which I am just as far from solving as ever. I wish to know if you find me comparing you with the Everard whom I married."

"Do I fail so often to come up to his standard?" he asked.

"Yes," she answered, "I am so happy in London here with you, and I feel all the letters and the books which were a maze of print to me before. I can see the things in the picture, and feel the thrill of the mystery which seemed to come to me, somehow, before, all dislocated and disjointed. You understand, don't you?"

Wire From Capital Caused Comment

Prohibition Inspector Merrifield Surprised — Robert McAlinh Tells of His Resignation — Charles Kerr Talks About His Dismissal — A General Shake-up.

Within the past few weeks considerable changes have been made in the method of enforcement of the prohibition law, as well as several changes in the staff. There are rumblings in the air and rumors abound that there is to be a general shake-up all around. A despatch to an evening paper last evening contains the following from 'Prohibition': 'St. John will have a complete new staff of prohibition enforcement officers, Chief Inspector W. D. Wilson announced this morning. This information was given out when the announcement was made that the resignation of Inspector J. J. Merrifield had been received; previously the resignations of Inspectors McAlinh and Kerr had been announced. 'There has been a good deal of discussion concerning the enforcement of the prohibition law in St. John, and it may be the change will do no harm, but the only comment Mr. Wilson would make when asked if the changes were the result of dissatisfaction with the manner in which the law has been enforced at St. John. 'The only inspector now on duty at St. John is C. L. White, who was recently appointed. I had a consultation with a prospect yesterday, and was all the information the chief inspector had today as to who would likely be placed in charge of the St. John district under the new enforcement plans. 'Merrifield Surprised.

The resignation of Inspector Merrifield and the dismissal of Inspector Kerr had been previously announced, but the announcement of Inspector Merrifield's resignation came unexpectedly. The chief inspector had been in the city Wednesday, and at that time had nothing to say about it. Inspector Merrifield was asked concerning the published report last evening. He said that he did not know anything about it, and when shown the despatch expressed great surprise. He would not commit himself further or say whether his resignation had been sent in or not. He said, however, that he was still on duty. Inspector McAlinh was also seen by a Standard reporter last evening. He did not know whether his resignation had been accepted or not. He said he had signed it and had been given a testimonial of character by the chief inspector. He said he told the chief inspector that he wished to be relieved by September 1st, and that he was as much as he knew about it. He was still on duty and would be on till the middle of next month. He was through after that, as he did not feel his health would stand any more. The Fredericton despatch quotes Mr. Wilson as saying that there was only one inspector—C. L. White—on duty in St. John. This hardly corresponds with the statements of Inspectors McAlinh and Merrifield, who say that they are still on duty. All the outsider can say is that there is something peculiar about the whole affair.

Dismissal Causes Comment.

The dismissal of Inspector Kerr has caused considerable comment. Mr. Kerr had been considered an efficient officer and one who had performed his duty to the best of his ability. During a conversation last evening with a Standard reporter regarding an article published in an evening paper yesterday relative to his dismissal, an inspector under the Prohibition Act, Mr. Kerr said that it was quite true that he had given Inspector Dickinson, of Chatham, four ounces bottles of whiskey—but it was given to him under false pretences. Inspector Dickinson had told him that he was not well. He also said that he had an important engagement on that afternoon, the nature of which engagement will come out later. Mr. Kerr also said that there will be further developments in this case. It may be said that the Inspector Dickinson, referred to above, has been recently appointed chief prohibition officer of Northumberland, Gloucester and Resegouche Counties.

THE SUMMER CLUB AT MILLIDGEVILLE

The Millidgeville Summer Club held another of their enjoyable weekly dances in the club house of the R. K. Y. C. last evening. There was a large number in attendance, and the light fantastic was tramped until midnight. Music was furnished by Miss Hogan and Miss Lynch. Those who did not care to dance sought diversion in bridge. A prize was offered, and it was won by H. W. Macpherson. The club holds these enjoyable functions every Thursday evening, and they are open to members of the club, members of the R. K. Y. C. and their friends only.

Directors Were Much Satisfied

The Annual Inspection of Fernhill Cemetery Grounds Yesterday Found Everything Very Satisfactory.

The directors of Fernhill cemetery made their annual inspection of the grounds yesterday afternoon. The various committees have been keeping in touch with the different branches of work there all through the season, but the directors, as a body, endeavor to unite at least once to inspect the grounds during the summer. The amount of work accomplished since this time last year has been phenomenal, the new lot sections which have been cleared, drained, graded and seeded, make a vast improvement around the sabbatar house, which has also been newly freshened up and painted. The power lawn mower purchased last spring has given great satisfaction, three large plots having been cut yesterday in a couple of hours, one gallon of gasoline being used. There is a great shortage of men for grass trimming by hand on the smaller plots, and the recent rains have made a great growth of grass. Arrangements were made for the removal of a number of fallen monuments after the first of September, and consideration was given to changing the different blocks, so that paths and lots may be more easily located by those unfamiliar with the grounds. The inspection was pronounced very satisfactory.

Good Swimmers Being Developed

Mark Burns Making Progress at Public Baths, Indiantown — Two Boys Swam Across the Harbor Yesterday Afternoon.

That some promising swimmers are being developed by Mark Burns at the Kennedy street swimming scow was demonstrated yesterday afternoon when two of the boys swam across the indiantown harbor, a distance of at least a mile and a half, in thirty-five minutes. The boys who made the trip were Frank Kee, about sixteen years of age, and Roy Beckett, thirteen years of age. They started from the swimming scow and landed just below Jordan's mill on the opposite side, and the time is regarded as good for the distance. Both of these boys are showing up well at the diving game, and should be able to hold their own in competition with the best in the province. Mr. Burns, who knows the game from start to finish, says he has some fine material to make champions of under his care and is trying to arrange for some of them to be sent to Halifax to take part in the championship events to be held there. Here is a chance for the sport lovers in the city to get busy.

Regular Meeting Held Yesterday

Women's Hospital Aid Held Session in Board of Trade Rooms—Excellent Reports Received.

One follow-up case was reported which will be looked after by the Anglican church. Mrs. J. Verner McLellan's resignation was read and accepted. For the Furnishings Committee Mrs. W. White reported progress. The Cook Book Committee stated that it had been decided to make the book a Maritime one and thus take in all the Women's Aids. There are organizations in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Moncton and other cities of the Province. Members were urged to send in recipes for this book.

CHANCERY COURT

Before Justice White in the Chancery court yesterday, argument was heard in the case of Wallace vs. Peters. Action was brought to have a deed of lands situate in Queens county set aside. The matter stands pending the consent of the parties to a decree setting aside the deed, but the question of costs is reserved. Argument in the case of Steeves vs. Peters, also pertaining to land in Queens county, was heard in the afternoon. The defendant was cross-examined and the case was adjourned until this morning until 10 o'clock. M. C. Teed, K.C., is appearing for the defendant and Dr. W. B. Wallace, K.C., and W. R. Scott for the plaintiffs in both cases.

CONTRACTS IN HOULTON.

Mr. James McPartland, well-known plumber of this city, has been awarded several contracts for the installation of heating plants in residences at Houltton, Me. Mr. McPartland's son, Frank, is now in the metropolis of the potato country taking charge of the work.

WOLVES vs. LORD'S COVE.

The Wolves of St. John will cross bats with the Lord's Cove nine tomorrow on the Deer Island diamond, and a good game is expected. The Deer Island team will furnish music for the day. The St. John players will arrive at Deer Island at noon and the game start at two o'clock. Miss Lillie Raymond is visiting friends in St. John.

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Three Liquor Cases and That of a Man Charged With Stealing a Small Quantity of Sugar from the Refinery Were Dealt With.

In the police court yesterday the case against Joseph French, 133 Broad street, who was charged with having a case of gin in his house for illegal purposes, was dismissed and French's deposit of $100 was refunded. Charles Froze pleaded guilty to stealing a small quantity of sugar from the Atlantic Refinery. The amount stolen was valued at less than $1, but F. R. Taylor, K.C., appearing for the prosecution, asked that a short sentence be imposed, as it was considered to be an example. Judgment was deferred. One drunk pleaded guilty and was remanded, and another charged with drunkenness and drinking in public was fined $8 or two months on the first charge and $80 or three months on the second. A case against Frank Doran, charged with supplying liquor illegally was adjourned.

Assistance Asked From Quebec

Harbor Commissioners Ask City Council to Assist in Having Through Rates from Winnipeg to Liverpool via Quebec and St. John.

Commissioner Bullock yesterday received a communication from the secretary of the Quebec Harbor Commissioners asking the assistance of the St. John Council in their efforts to have a through rate established from Winnipeg to Liverpool via Quebec in the summer and St. John in the winter.

The contention of the Quebec board is that at present a large quantity of western grain which should go through these two ports is going through United States ports, and the government should establish a rate which will ensure this going through Canadian ports. Discussing the matter yesterday, Commissioner Bullock said he was in hearty accord with Quebec in this matter and would be glad to do all in his power to aid them in attaining the object sought.

The Inspectors Were Kept Busy

Inspectors Merrifield and White Held up Automobile, Seized Liquor and Made Two Arrests—Main Street House Was Also Raided.

Despite the report that Inspector White was the only inspector in St. John under the Prohibition Act, Inspector Merrifield was quite active last night and procured results. About 11 o'clock, accompanied by White, inspector Merrifield held up a car after quite a chase. The car was owned by Morris Aronoff and was followed to the shack occupied by men at the falls who are working for the Foundation Company in the construction of the new bridge. Here the inspectors found in the car one dozen bottles of whiskey. The officers said the liquor was placed in the trunk and the driver, Louis Budivich, under arrest and taken to the city and had them locked up. The automobile was in their possession other than in their private dwelling. The automobile was handed over to Aronoff's brother. Later in the night the two inspectors, accompanied by Police Sergeant Journey, and armed with a warrant the inspector Merrifield had secured, they raided the dwelling of David Aronoff on Main street and there found eleven bottles of gin, and a long neck half full of rum. The liquor was seized. Durrill will be asked to appear before the police magistrate this morning, being charged with having liquor in his house for illegal purposes.

Miss Bertha Rudbeck, R. N., who has been doing such splendid work in connection with the Red Cross and Public Health is obliged to cancel her engagements throughout the Province for the present on account of illness.
