Many Local Boys Arrive at Eastern Points From Overseas

Quite a Number Will Be Home in a Day or Two, Some Have Seen Long Service at the Front

Many friends and relatives in the Twin Cities are elated to-day. So many boys are coming home. During the past two days several ships have arrived and docked. On the Celtic which docked at Halifax on the 15th, there were Sapper H. H. Arndt, Sapper F. J. Wyandus, Pte. W. Zehr, Wilmot Street; Sapper F. J. Yanchus; Capt. T. W. Seagram, Waterloo.

A WAY OUT OF THE ADRIATIC IMPASSE. Conflict reports are to hand about the Adriatic situation. Paris reports that Italy no longer is insisting upon the surrender to her of Dalmatia, the southerly shaded area on the map which was promised to her by France and Britain.

AUSTRIA TO PAY $1,250,000,000 COST OR ONE-TWENTIETH AS MUCH AS GERMANY.

PARIS, May 17.—The indemnity clause of the Austrian peace treaty provides for a payment of one-twentieth as large as that demanded from Germany. The sum asked for is five billion gold marks, without bond.

"NO CHANGE" SAYS SECY. ROBINSON OF WINNIPEG STRIKE

WINNIPEG, May 17.—The surprising feature of the strike is the practical indorsement of the soldiers, when at a meeting in the Board of Trade building, they declined to disapprove by resolution of the bolshevik tactics now ruling. This has awakened the citizens to the gravity of the situation, like nothing else has.

ALDERMEN DISCUSS HOUSING SITUATION

Are Not Likely to Submit a Plebiscite. MAY ASK THOSE WHO DESIRE HOUSES TO DECLARE THEMSELVES

Last evening Mayor Gross and eight of his aldermen acted on the suggestion in the song: "Swim out, O'Grady!" and gathered, like wet ducks, in a committee room to discuss the Housing question. It was tackled from all sides. Many views were brought forward. There was by no means unanimity on the question of naming a Housing Commission. In fact a majority of those present seemed, with the information before them, disinclined to adopt the Housing Act.

Town Of Waterloo To Get Refund

Equalization Committee Favor Refund on $215,000

After a session lasting from 2.30 o'clock until nearly 6 o'clock Waterloo's claim for a reduction of their assessment as levied by the county was discussed by the Equalization Committee in special session yesterday afternoon. When the session opened Reeve Debus, of New Hamburg, was voted to the chair. The question was not new to the committee. Reeve Bohlander, of Waterloo, upheld Waterloo's case. He explained the feeling in the town that were justice not handed out amalgamation with Kitchener would be the next move. He did not hold this as a threat but it might happen. It was unfair to saddle the income and business assessment on the town when the usual procedure was to have it off. The question was thoroughly discussed and finally a motion of Reeve Bohlander and Warden Panabaker was presented that the Income and Business assessments be struck off. On division this was defeated by a vote of 6 to 5.

NIAGARA FALLS MEN ARE SECURING INFORMATION

Visited The Local Incinerator Plant This Morning. The Falls Will Build Houses.

There were in the city to-day, a deputation from Niagara Falls, Ontario. Their purpose was to secure information on the local incinerator. Niagara Falls is considering the question of a new system of disposal of their garbage and have the intention of installing an incinerator plant. They are, therefore, securing information in various cities. The party arrived in town this morning and consisted of four aldermen of the City Council, Messrs. P. C. Thomas, W. Crawford, William Cole and Charles Newman. They met at the city hall, including City Clerk A. H. Miller and Sanitary Inspector J. G. Buchhaupt. They were later taken to the incinerator plant where the desired information was secured.

BOY UNDER 18 WHO HAD ENLISTED

TO BE GIVEN VOCATIONAL TRAINING

(Special to The Record) TORONTO, May 17.—The statement was made to-day by E. H. Scammell, assistant-deputy minister of soldiers' civil reestablishment that by the end of the month arrangements will have been completed whereby all returned soldiers, who enlisted under eighteen years of age, will be granted courses in industrial training by the vocational branch of the department. "The principle involved has been considered by the government," said Mr. Scammell, and it is recognised that the returned soldiers who went over as boys and are now back in Canada as young men, without any particular trade or vocation, are entitled to some special training. At the present time the plans in connection with this work are being worked out by the heads of the vocational branch and it is expected that a detailed statement will be forthcoming inside of the next two or three weeks.

MANY WEARING THE TAGS TO-DAY

Hospital's Day Promises To Be A Success.

This is Tag Day! The activity of the young canvassers on the streets early this morning was evidence. Tags are to be seen everywhere. Judging by the number of citizens that have been tagged the total contributions should be a handsome sum and compare favorably with amounts in previous years. Not only were the campaigners on the streets but they visited the homes and factories. Many contributions also were received at these places. The workers will continue their efforts until this evening. When the last box is called in there will be no reason for anyone not having had the opportunity to do something for the hospital.

Does Not Admit Responsibility

OF HAVING CAUSED THE WAR

Berlin May 16.—The note which Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau head of the German peace mission at Versailles, handed on Tuesday to Premier Clemenceau as president of the peace conference dealing with the question of reparation and responsibility for the war declared that Germany had obligated herself to give compensation based on Secretary of State Lansing's note of November 5 independently of the question of responsibility for the war. The German delegation the note sets forth could not recognize that from any responsibility of the former German Government for the origin of the war there could be deducted on the part of the allied and associated powers for right to claim indemnification for losses suffered through the war. The note declared further that the peace terms provided by Germany requested that he reports of the allied commissions which investigate the responsibility for the war should be handed to the German delegation on May 16.—A distinct distinction among some of the subordinate members of the German peace mission that the Germans will sign the peace treaty is reflected in the remark of one of the secretaries who is quoted as saying "What else can we do but sign? We are on the ground you see on our stomachs and your hands in our eyes."

ANOTHER STAND TO BE ERECTED

FOR SELLING REFRESHMENTS IN PARK

The Park Board will erect another refreshment stand in the park. The location will be in the Athletic grounds. The erection of another stand according to the agreement between the Board and the present owner of the refreshment privileges in Victoria Park will nullify the present contract for the erection of another stand. The Board last evening decided to notify the present vendor Mr. A. G. Frank to this effect. A proposal by Mr. A. W. Berberich who was present to take over Mr. Frank's lease was not accepted. The Board after the completion of the second stand will call for applications for the privileges of selling the refreshments. Accounts totaling $399.27 were passed. The Board recognizing the good services of Supt. E. Koehler voted the official a substantial increase in salary.

U. S. SEAPLANES MAKING HEADWAY TO AZORES

LEADER N.C.-4 MAKING 75 MILES AN HOUR.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Naval seaplane N.C.-4, was one hundred miles from Corvo Islands, Azores, at 5.45 o'clock this morning, Washington time. The dispatch from the Azores said that the other planes were going strong in wake of their leader. The average speed of the N.C.-4 was computed at more than 75 miles an hour. The scene at the harbor, where the planes will be moored, has been cleared of all craft to permit of a safe landing. Two destroyers are ready to assist the planes if they alight outside the breakwater. The city here is in gala dress for the expected event of the day and crowds gathered on the waterfront shortly after daybreak. The weather was misty and the visibility poor. Early this morning learning weather was predicted for this afternoon, when the planes are due to arrive.

CLAIM THERE IS NO WEAKENING

OF THE UNION'S STANDING

Perishable goods at the freight and express offices have been sent to cold storage warehouses by permission of the union where they can be secured by the union in case of need. In warehouses the destruction of this class of goods continues and as there is no business in the cafes or fruit stores. Owing to their closing, the loss will be several of the large manufacturing plants declined to entertain the proposal that extra police squads be taken on from the ranks of strikers, soldiers and citizens. The city council is meeting daily. "We want the authorities to realize," said a union official, "that there is no indication of weakening on our part. We intend to keep the strike effective but we are also willing to do anything toward eliminating undue hardships. In order to supply the bread depot, bread will have to be baked on one or several of the large manufacturing plants. In case the employers refuse to allow their plants to be used for making this needed supply there will be something else done," declared President James Winning of the trades' council, in a significant tone to the aldermen. "and the onus will be upon the employers." The union will see that autos are supplied nurses on urgent cases and also the hospitals and to transport medical supplies. Street cars will be taken out to soldiers' hospitals for soldiers only. The council men in the majority is labor and all suggestions of linking up this street with Lancaster Street in some way before Mr. Sander's property is subdivided and built on. The Board disapproves of the proposal to extend Hohner Avenue to Irvin Street, stating there seems to be no necessity of the extension. The proposal to widen Duke St. is not approved of, the Board seeing no necessity of it. Regarding the location of East Avenue south of Frederick Street, the Board suggests the location be slightly changed so as to avoid cutting up existing surveys and so that the street would fit in with the present subdivision south of Frederick Street.

SUGGESTIONS BY MUNICIPAL BOARD

REGARDING PROPOSALS ON NEW CITY PLAN

Report Is A Preliminary One. A preliminary report on the new city plan has been received from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. In it they point out certain proposals of which they will not approve and make suggestion to improve two other proposals. With the exceptions named the Board states that there having been no objections raised, there seem to be no valid reasons why the rest of the plan, with the changes suggested, should not be approved. The Board urges that these changes be made and that the revised plan be submitted by the local planning commission for final consideration by the Board. Regarding the proposal to run a street between Mount Hope Cemetery (between Kitchener and Waterloo) the Board does not approve of the same. They suggest that the sanction of the public bodies concerned be first secured. Nor is the extension of Elgin Street, through the East End Cemetery approved. A similar suggestion is made. The Board withholds its approval of the extension of Blucher Street from St. Vincent to Lancaster, owing to the fact that it would cut up Mr. E. Sander's property unfavorably. But they state they will point out to the city council the advisability of linking up this street with Lancaster Street in some way before Mr. Sander's property is subdivided and built on. The Board disapproves of the proposal to extend Hohner Avenue to Irvin Street, stating there seems to be no necessity of the extension. The proposal to widen Duke St. is not approved of, the Board seeing no necessity of it. Regarding the location of East Avenue south of Frederick Street, the Board suggests the location be slightly changed so as to avoid cutting up existing surveys and so that the street would fit in with the present subdivision south of Frederick Street.

IMPOSSIBLE TO GRANT THEM $2,000 GRATUITY

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS CHANGES

(Special to The Record) OTTAWA, May 17.—While Sir Thomas White, acting prime minister, has declared that in view of the tremendous demands upon the treasury it will be impossible for the government to entertain the demands of the Calgary and other Great War Veterans' organizations for a bonus of $2,000 per head for members of the Canadian Expeditionary force, it is more than probable that certain other demands of the veterans will be conceded. For some time past the Pensions Committee of the house has been considering, in camera, the question of increased pension allowances and it has pretty well reached the conclusion that a substantial increase is justified. The report of the committee will not be presented to the house until the end of the present week and after that, even if parliament concurs in it, it is for the government to act or not to act. The report however, it is understood, will advocate an all-round increase of twenty per cent. in pensions. The committee, it is said, is unanimous in this opinion. Yesterday the representatives of the Dominion executive of the G.W.V.A., who waited upon the acting prime minister, declared that it would be just for the government to extend gratuities to men who had been discharged prior to the armistice, whether they had reached the firing line or not. They further, it is said, advocated that the payment of passage money to soldiers' dependents be made retroactive, to cover that of dependents sent home at the soldiers' own expense, prior to the cessation of hostilities. Jos. Blumberg, wife and baby were found dead in their rooms in New York, suffocated by gas. Lloyd Clay, 24, a negro, charged with assaulting a white woman, was lynched and his body burned at Vicksburg, Miss.

Pastor Schrader Given Warm Welcome

In spite of the down-pour of rain the Library Hall was comfortably filled last evening for the occasion of a welcome to Rev. Mr. Schrader, pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical Church.

The chair was occupied by Mrs. Frank Heigh, President of the Ladies Aid in a most capable manner. A musical program consisting of a piano duet by Miss E. Perlebacher and Miss Elsie Hall vocal solo by little Miss Nellie Reisor, piano trio by the Misses Brueggemann and piano solo by Miss Hilda Hamel were greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present.

The address of welcome was most admirably given by Mr. A.K. Cressman. He likened the coming of the new Pastor to that of a newly married couple. They are very fond of each other but the first year is the hardest. We must learn to understand each other and then things will run smoothly. He felt sure the congregation had made a wise choice and he assured the Rev. Schrader that with perfect harmony prevailing and with all the departments well organized his pastorate here would be an enjoyable one and one that would be inspiring and beneficial. The speaker promised the assistance of all the members in anything that went for the uplifting of the church and the world of God.

He welcomed them both sincerely and assured them that the home of the members was always open to them. Mr. Cressman's address was punctuated with many humorous incidents and he was heartily applauded when he took his seat.

Rev. Mr. Schrader on behalf of himself and wife thanked the speaker for his words of welcome. Since coming to Waterloo less than a week ago, they had been heartily received and he felt that in this his new field of labor a great uplifting of God's word would result. He was willing to take suggestions if it was for the betterment of the church and felt sure the same friendly feeling of the past would continue in the future.

Rev. Schrader's address was enthusiastically received.

Following the address a social hour was spent together followed by a dainty refreshment.

A Miss Lottie Gobel Waterloo and Miss Lillian Denges Kitchener are spending the week end at Preston the guest of Mrs. Milton Cumming.

NOTICE.

The members of Germania Lodge, I.O.O.F. will attend divine service in the Waterloo Methodist Church tomorrow evening. Members are requested to meet at the lodge rooms at 6:30 p.m. sharp.

THE WEEKLY MARKET

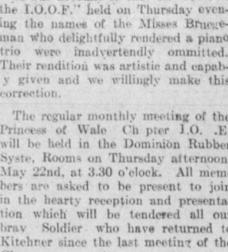

Although the weather was anything but favorable there was a fair sized crowd out to the regular weekly market held this morning. Produce was plentiful and usual prices prevailed. As was to be expected butter took a considerable drop the ruling price being 53 cents per lb. While eggs were easier selling at 40 to 42 cents per lb.

Onions, beets, turnips, dandelion and in fact all lines of farm and garden produce were in good supply.

G.W.V.A. Not To Enter Political Ring

OLD AGE PENSIONS AND MINIMUM WAGE ASKED

Windsor May 1.—The Ontario Great War Veterans' Association will not enter politics. This was decided today at the closing annual business session of the organization.

The question was brought up on a resolution submitted by the Brantford branch urging that the G.W.V.A. proceed to organize for political purposes and nominate or endorse candidates. The resolution was referred to the constitution committee which threw it out, but this afternoon Conrad Hitchens of Brantford, took the floor and demanded that it be discussed and a vote taken. This was done and the resolution was defeated on a vote.

There were about 60 resolutions presented this afternoon but nearly all were referred to the executive committee. The one which urged that all immigration to Canada for the present be barred with the exception of single men and married men without families. Action along this line was desired because it was rumored that the Dominion immigration department was planning to bring many girls to Canada from the British Isles.

Urge Minimum Wage.

Resolutions adopted called on the Dominion Government to establish old age pensions a minimum wage for all workers whether able or not, the prohibition of exportation of food from Canada to foreign countries until the Canadian demand is supplied, total disability pensions of $1,000 for soldiers and the disenfranchisement of defaulters and conscientious objectors.

Contrary to expectations the prohibition question did not come before the convention.

Before adjournment Peterboro was chosen as the place of meeting in 1920.

Breezy Items in Busy Elmira

The members of the Young Peoples Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church have been requested to give their entertainment "Uncle Ephraim's Summer Boarders" a second time. When it was given the first time the auditorium was too small to accommodate the crowd and many had to be turned away. Tuesday May 27th has been decided upon as the date. A full orchestra will be in attendance.

Misses Irene Gibson and Adele Winger visited their aunt Mrs. Fred Bittel in Kitchener this week.

Returned Hero Tendered Surprise

Gunner Vernon Linder second son of Mr. Samuel Linder 183 Ahrens street West who arrived home from overseas Wednesday was tendered a pleasant surprise last evening when a goodly number of relatives and friends met at his home and presented him with a beautiful gold ring.

Gunner Linder enlisted at Cobourg in April 1916 with the 2nd Canadian Siege Battery and went overseas with that unit on June 1916. He saw much active service in France and was wounded in the left arm in one of the engagements but returns home with the picture of health. The gathering last evening at his home was in the form of a surprise for the young hero who was the recipient of an address which read as follows:

"Dear Vernon:

Your friends and relatives have gathered together tonight to welcome you back home again. You have been away a long time and served your country well. We thank God for sparing your life and bringing you home safe. You went through some terrible experiences and hardships but we hope the rest of your life will be all sunshine and happiness. To show you how thankful we are for your return we want you to accept this ring as a small token not for its intrinsic value but for the love that goes with it and we sincerely hope that this will be the last separation of its kind and you will be home in a long and happy life.

Signatures on behalf of your friends and relatives.

Gunner Linder although taken thoroughly by surprise replied in a few well chosen remarks thanking the donors for the kind remembrance and the party joined in singing "For he's a jolly good fellow" and "See him smiling" etc. after which the rest of the evening was spent in games and social intercourse. The address was read by Mrs. Otto Kreuger and the presentation was made by Miss Violet Kreuger.

SIX FRIENDS OF MUNICIPAL RIGHTS

The vote of the special committee of the House of Commons to consolidate and amend the Railway Act on the clause vital to all municipalities, in that it jeopardizes municipal control of all streets and public thoroughfares, is an illuminating one. The corporations concerned, represented by a noted United States corporation counsel, were supported by Hon. Dr. Reid, the new railway protagonist of "public ownership," and Hon. Frank Carvell, Minister of Public Works, and carried the day in committee.

Six members championed the cause of the public. These six friends of municipal rights are:

Frank S. Cahill, Pontiac, Quebec.

T. W. Crothers, West Elgin, Ontario.

H. M. Mowat, Parkdale, Ontario.

Duncan C. Ross, West Middlesex, Ontario.

T. M. Twedie, West Calgary, Alberta.

T. G. Wallace, West York, Ontario.

ALL READY FOR THE OPENER

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League season in this city on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when Battle Creek and the Kitchener Beavers will meet for the first time at the Athletic grounds. The Custers and the Beavers will arrive in the city on Monday morning in a special Pullman and will be in fine fettle for the opening engagement.

The new diamond will be ready for the teams and will be one of the best in the circuit. "Pop" Williams, with the assistance of Barney Koehler and a corps of men, has been busy leveling the ground and to-day it is practically completed. The ground where the old grandstand formerly stood and where the old bleachers were located has also been levelled and altogether the new field is a great improvement over the former athletic grounds.

Owing to the weather conditions the new addition to the grandstand will not be completed as was anticipated, but every effort will be made to provide as much seating accommodation as possible for the crowds who will attend the opening game on Monday. The bleacher accommodation will be considerably increased, and everybody desiring a seat should be on hand bright and early. There will be all kinds of standing accommodation for the overflow crowd.

The formal opening ceremonies will be unique and appropriate. The event will start with a parade from the City Hall to the Park. All baseball fans with automobiles are invited to join the procession at 2:15 o'clock sharp when the 108th Band will be on hand to lead off. It is desired that the automobiles be decorated. The procession will proceed along King Street to Water Street, down Water Street to the rear entrance to the Park and from thence to David Street where the autos can be parked.

A Civic Line-up

After the teams have had their usual work out the members of the Kitchener team and the visitors will be formally welcomed to the city by Mayor Gross at the home plate. Following this the ball season will be declared opened by a team of civic heads who have been invited to participate in the following line-up: Fitcher—Mayor Gross, Kitchener; Catcher—Mayor Kutt, Waterloo; 1st base—Mayor Carter, Guelph; 2nd base—Mayor Mercer, Galt; 3rd base—Mayor Weaver, Hespeler; Shortstop—Warden Fannabaker, Hespeler.

The first ball will be delivered by Mayor Gross with Frederick Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Michigan League at the bat. After the batter has been retired the Custers and Beavers will get into action.

To prevent unnecessary crowding at the gate, tickets will be sold at the two ticket wickets, and at J. J. MacCallum's store. The opening of the M. O. League season promises to be the biggest baseball event in the history of this city. Big crowds are coming from all of the surrounding towns according to reports received by the local management.

Beavers have every incentive to capture a number of useful prizes offered by merchants on King street, which will be completed for when the season opens. Big crowds are coming from all of the surrounding towns according to reports received by the local management.

Senator Robertson To Investigate

THE COST OF NECESSITIES
OTTAWA, May 16.—That there is a shortage of food in the world, that Canadian prices are regulated by demand abroad, that there is no great surplus of food supply in Canada, that the duty of Canada is food production for the benefit of itself and the world, that the Government may present a programme to regulate the cost of living, and that industrial unrest can be traced to the cost of living, were stated to the Senate to-day by the Hon. Mr. Robertson, Minister of Labor.

Hon. Mr. Robertson said that there appeared to be a great deal of misunderstanding in Canada, as indicated by press comments and resolutions, calling for inquiry to reduce the cost of living, and charging present high prices of food to hoarding for profit. Mr. Robertson said the people of Canada should know that there is no surplus of food in Canada, and unless production is increased there was little hope for such reduction of food prices.

As to food in cold storage, if at once released, little would be done to relieve the situation. If all the butter in storage on May 1st were divided, it would give each Canadian 1.7 ounces; a division of oleomargarine would give each Canadian a quarter of an ounce; a division of the cheese would give each person less than a quarter of a pound. The quantity of butter in cold storage was 858,243 pounds; oleomargarine, 313,764; cheese, 1,064,318 pounds; eggs, a little over 3,000,000, or a third of a dozen per head; pork, two and a half, and beef three and a half pounds per person. What portion had been sold for overseas consumption he could not say. He gave the figures to show the incorrectness of the idea that the present high price of butter, for instance, was due to there being large quantities in storage, held for the profit of the owners. This was the season of egg production, when, usually, they are collected for storing; but to-day eggs were not forthcoming, and therefore only small stocks are being "held away." Unless production increases, there was the prospect of an egg famine within a year.

He made the statement for two reasons: First, that it was proper the facts should be known; second, because it was the duty of Canadians to realize the need for greater production from the soil. Canada was an agricultural country, with 37 per cent. of the people in farming. Men lacking employment in their trades, the markets for whose products had disappeared, continued to live in cities in the hope that new markets would be created, that prices would decrease, and that they could continue to work at their callings. It was but right that these men should be warned that they should not immediately expect the relief they were looking for.

He also stated that the government is investigating high cost of living and would soon report.

George Weissman was refused a job as a Chicago policeman because he was too small. A sergeant saw him kick two big huskies in a fight. Weissman is now a policeman.

Kidney Weakness Produced by Spanish "Flu"

One great lesson we can all learn from the Influenza Epidemic is the value of prevention—the vital necessity of remedying all diseases the minute the results of being attacked by Spanish Influenza many persons have been left with weakened or inactive kidneys. This high fever which prevails during the period of sickness is no doubt responsible for this weakened condition, and in order to restore their kidneys to their former state of health a healing tonic is necessary.

Gin Pills are the acknowledged remedy for all Kidney or Bladder Troubles, and Gin Pills taken during convalescence have proved themselves to be the great remedy for rectifying the kidney weaknesses left by Spanish "Flu."

From all parts of Canada letters are coming in to us stating that Gin Pills have relieved the sufferers from the annoyance and worry caused by weakened kidneys. People are daily finding that the quickest and surest way to remedy the detrimental effects left in the kidneys by Spanish "Flu" is to use Gin Pills. Gin Pills act as a healing tonic to those inflamed, emaciated vital organs.

Every "Flu" victim should take a course of Gin Pills not only to remedy immediate kidney troubles, but to ward off dangers of more serious consequences. Gin Pills—Sold Everywhere at 50 cents a box.

Comb Sage Tea in Faded or Gray Hair

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CANADIAN EXPORT TRADE

To keep Canadian factories busy, a Canadian Trade Commission was appointed to investigate market conditions in Europe and, wherever possible and advisable, to secure orders. Some results have been secured.

In tackling this problem, it has become necessary to establish credits in Canada for the countries desiring its materials and products.

The factory organization and efficiency built during the war has enabled industries in numerous lines, when operating with full staffs and on full time, to produce more than the home market will readily absorb.

With the return of hundreds of thousands of men to civil life, it becomes obligatory to maintain production at a high level. It will, therefore, for some years, become necessary to secure a large volume of foreign business.

Canada did an unprecedented large export trade during the war years. European nations were in a position where they could not produce sufficient commodities to meet their own needs and hence turned to America to supply them.

Canada did an unprecedented large export trade during the war years. European nations were in a position where they could not produce sufficient commodities to meet their own needs and hence turned to America to supply them.

Selling goods across the Atlantic will not be as easy a matter as it was during the war period. Yet a brisk demand for many of our products will continue to exist and the Canadian Trade Commission makes a recommendation which in pre-war years would have been regarded as a novel one.

Our bodies compare very closely with a steam boiler and engine, for while they require coal for fuel, food is our fuel. With good coal and with engine and boiler in good shape, we can get from the apparatus all for which it was designed.

Our mouths are our furnace doors, and within our apparatus similar to a coal breaker, our teeth. Their office is to help prepare our food for assimilation.

It will be recalled that the industries of the United States are permitted under the terms of the Webb-Pomeroy law, to combine for the sale of goods in foreign countries.

GODERICH'S GOOD FORTUNE

This community which knows the value of industries, will be pleased to see that Goderich is to get an American concern which will give employment to a large number of persons.

The new company, which has located in Ontario, in order to secure the benefits derivable from the modern British preference regulations, is composed of both steel and automobile men.

The census of 1911 gave Goderich's population as being 4500. Its citizens expect that the coming of this steel industry will result in a doubling of its population.

It will immediately form a Housing Commission under the Housing Act, and will, according to a press dispatch, undertake this year to erect 500 houses.

There has not been any details given as to the class or cost of the houses proposed to be built. Were they to average only $2000 each, this would call for an outlay of $1,000,000.

That Goderich has not been hypnotized by its good fortune is evidenced by its obtaining the assent of the company jointly to become guarantors of the sum to be borrowed for this purpose, from the province.

That a little, saved-off lake port should relegate to the back ground all fears of what the next several years may bring, and display equal courage with the company in building there and now, is inspiring.

It is said that ninety odd American firms are about to locate branches in Canada. The existence of our tariff, which makes it more profitable for them to make their wares in Canada than pay duty, has been and is a factor in the decision.

The province has, however, become all the more attractive to American manufacturers, since it secured Hydro power and since the passing of the Housing Act, under which any reasonable number of houses may be erected for mechanics, without unnecessary delay.

Ontario generally will be pleased to see another large industry locate within its boundaries. The thousand workmen who, it is predicted, will be employed in the coming steel plant will add four or five thousand customers for bread and wieners and shoes and shirts.

PROTECTION ON BENEFITS EVERYONE

The Canadian tariff is not a sectional one but a national one. As "Industrial Canada" says, not only the manufacturers need protection, but also:

- 1. The seven hundred thousand men and women who work in Canadian factories.
2. The wholesalers and retailers and their employees who distribute the products of the Canadian factories.
3. The farmers who sell 80 per cent, of everything they produce in Canada.
4. The railway and steamship companies and their employees who carry Canadian goods.
5. The bankers, brokers, and commission agents, and their employees, who finance Canadian industry.

"No! It does not always rain. It sometimes snows," say Glasgow and also North Waterloo men.

During a discussion in Quebec, it was shown that the loss in operating the Guelph Junction Railway was last year, $12,761. Its charter prevents its charging more than a 5-cent fare.

There are 288 manufacturing plants in Canada which are branches of affiliations of American concerns. It is estimated that these have invested $264,939,000 in this country.

Among the members of the Special Railway Committee at Ottawa, there were only six M.P.'s who stood up for the right of municipalities to control their streets. All the others, including Ministers Reid and Carvell, voted to deprive them of this right insofar as the T.E.N. power company is concerned.

GOOD HEALTH AND "GETTING ON"

(By F. W. Harding)

What a subject for a master physician to write about, especially if he is a lover of his fellow men; one can only give to the world useful service in proportion to his capacity of brain and body.

Our bodies compare very closely with a steam boiler and engine, for while they require coal for fuel, food is our fuel. With good coal and with engine and boiler in good shape, we can get from the apparatus all for which it was designed.

Our mouths are our furnace doors, and within our apparatus similar to a coal breaker, our teeth. Their office is to help prepare our food for assimilation.

It will be recalled that the industries of the United States are permitted under the terms of the Webb-Pomeroy law, to combine for the sale of goods in foreign countries.

The census of 1911 gave Goderich's population as being 4500. Its citizens expect that the coming of this steel industry will result in a doubling of its population.

It will immediately form a Housing Commission under the Housing Act, and will, according to a press dispatch, undertake this year to erect 500 houses.

There has not been any details given as to the class or cost of the houses proposed to be built. Were they to average only $2000 each, this would call for an outlay of $1,000,000.

That Goderich has not been hypnotized by its good fortune is evidenced by its obtaining the assent of the company jointly to become guarantors of the sum to be borrowed for this purpose, from the province.

That a little, saved-off lake port should relegate to the back ground all fears of what the next several years may bring, and display equal courage with the company in building there and now, is inspiring.

It is said that ninety odd American firms are about to locate branches in Canada. The existence of our tariff, which makes it more profitable for them to make their wares in Canada than pay duty, has been and is a factor in the decision.

The province has, however, become all the more attractive to American manufacturers, since it secured Hydro power and since the passing of the Housing Act, under which any reasonable number of houses may be erected for mechanics, without unnecessary delay.

Ontario generally will be pleased to see another large industry locate within its boundaries. The thousand workmen who, it is predicted, will be employ-

An Irish Proposal

"I'd like to see your arm around Biddy's waist and ask, 'Am you progressing?'"

"Sure," replied Biddy, "you're holding your own."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

A Diplomatic "Fibber"

"Do you ever tell fibs?" asked a woman who had advertised for a maid.

"Not myself, ma'am," answered the applicant; "only for the missus." From the Edinburgh Scotsman.

"What's the difference between valor and discretion?"

"Well, to go to a swell restaurant without tipping the waiter would be valor."

"I see. And discretion?"

"That would be to dine at a different restaurant the next day."

Vicious Attonement

"Ah, me," said the successful man who was revisiting the old village school, "how time does fly. Thirty years ago I sat in this very front seat and to be as fit as I were but yesterday. If I am not very much mistaken, you'll find my initials carved on the desk."

"They're there, right enough," said the present occupant of the seat. "I got whipped for doing it just because my initials happened to be the same as yours."—London Assurer.

HEALS INFLAMED NOSES. TRILLS STOPS CATARRH. HALTS DISCHARGE. CURES COLDS QUICKLY.

These remedies have given Catharrh the reputation of being invariable. But it is curable, easily and quickly, if the right method is employed.

Snuffing a powder or ointment up the nose is a real menace to health and many promising cures have fallen short of fulfillment because of bad teeth.

Not only do they prevent proper mastication of food, but the decaying matter is absorbed into the system. Pus formed at the roots of teeth poisons our blood and causes many ill-effects of rheumatism is one.

When the hood is bad, our brain is not clear, it becomes sluggish and incapable of great sustained effort. Have teeth examined now and regularly, at least every six months, afterwards.

The eyes are often an unsuspected source of trouble. Sick headaches, irritability and other nervous disorders are sometimes directly traceable to eye defects, although the defects may not be great.

Go to the oculist and find out if you need help. You pay Life Insurance religiously for the benefit of your dependents, but the dentist and oculist are your own physical insurance towards success, and of even greater importance than the other. All of nature's channels must be kept free and clear. Avoid wet feet and even damp feet. Because the soles of your shoes are thick is no guarantee that they are damp proof.

Modern treatment of leather thickens up a thin piece of leather like a sponge. Wear low rubbers, unless slushy.

A well man, if ambitious, is inclined to go beyond his capacity, especially in brain work, and to enervate upon his nerve reserve. Sleep is the great remedy for that. The lack of proper sleep tends to laryard your irritability. Is it fair to yourself to hazard your chances of success in dissipation? It is not fair to your employer either, for his success and yours depend upon a fair return for the money he invests in your skill.

You may have a perfectly healthy body, but a diseased imagination which has, by lack of control, become filled with evil thoughts, vanity, envy, malice and a host of others of like character, lodge in a mind willing to receive them. The actual effect of such thoughts is disastrous. Your face and eyes show that you have them and you are not trusted. These are easily eliminated if you will do it. Pleasant thoughts stimulate mental and bodily activity, while bad thoughts send a message of discouragement from the brain to the stomach, and if the message is bad enough, it will actually prevent digestion, for there is direct nerve connection; ask your doctor.

When all this is done, we begin to think well of ourselves, and others like us better. We become successful in the greatest sense, for we become men, capable of trust and confidence. It may not result in great money-getting but it points that way. At any rate we are likely to live longer and happier, and remain efficient to the end.

Under-Currents

By The Duchess

"I didn't expect you until tomorrow," says Griselda, also in the tone of a conspirator. "Well, what did she say? Was she mad with you—does she hate me—do you think she will help us?"

"How can I answer all that here? I've such a lot to say to you, and I feel as if there was an eye in every window over there." They are within range of the entire western side of the house. "Do you know the old ruin at the end of the vegetable garden? Could you manage to get up there? If so I could follow, and we should at least be out of sight and hearing."

"I'll try," says Griselda, who is audaciously plucking the dead roses from a bush near her and looking at anything but Peyton. To her every window in the western wing is peopled with Grunches. As she speaks she slides away in a cautious manner towards the little green iron gateway that leads to the upper garden, and once out of sight of the windows, takes to her heels and runs with light steps to the old ruin Peyton had suggested to her.

It is an ancient edifice that once might have been a private chapel, but now is purposeless. The four walls still remain and the roof stands trembling over it, but the windows are as eyes socketless and the door a gaping mouth. Tender, straggling, trailing wreaths of ivy, as if in pity for it, have flung themselves from crumbling roof to rotten walls, and hang daintily over the apertures in the latter that time has made.

Griselda has hardly had time to mark all these signs of death and life commingled when Peyton joins her.

"I feel as if I was suffocating here," says she, bringing up from a stone resting-place in one of the rooms and hastening towards him in the sunlight outside, where he stands looking in at the doorway.

"What a dreary spot. They say the old monks lived here long ago. I thought you would never come to rid me of the fancies that caught and held me—as if some ghostly abbot would arise and question my right like the bears of old to sit in his chair." Well, well, well, well, now tell me everything.

"Come and sit here then," says he, drawing her towards a small cock of hay that has evidently been drawn in for some time and left here forgotten. It gives them a comfortable seat, and Mr. Peyton, with Griselda's hand in his, proceeds to give her a graphic description of his visit to his sister.

"At the last she seemed dangerously desirous of coming to pay her respects to you in person. She seemed quite bent on seeing you eye to face, but I flatter myself I vanquished that troublesome craving. I nipped it in the bud! Just consider were she to come and find me in my enclotted in these vile garments! ha, ha, ha!" roars Mr. Peyton, almost enchanted at the vision his imagination has apparently conjured up. "She'd have a fit," says he, still shaking with mirth.

"Does it amuse you to think of your sister having a fit?" says Griselda severely, who is so terrified at the picture he has drawn and which has so delighted him, that anger wakes within her breast.

"Oh, if she could come, what on earth would become of us?" "She won't come. I tell you I have provided against that."

"She may think it over and come after all. Oh, Tom, I feel frightened about it. Yesterday there was only fear of my uncle's finding us out, now there is added to that the certainty that your sister will pounce down upon us one of these days."

"Nonsense," says Mr. Peyton. "I never saw anyone who so loved to torture herself. Why anticipate the bad?"

"Why think you should say so? Do you imagine I really want to make myself miserable? Nature has given me a mind—I must use it."

"Or abuse it."

"Surely there is no occasion to be rude," says Griselda with crushing force. "Because I am un- luckily alive to the fact that evil may befall us, am I then to be dubbed a fool? There are those who— you have read it perhaps?" with ominous sweetness; "it is Dryden, I think, who says, 'It is those who think too little, and who talk too much.'"

"Who is rud now?" demands Mr. Peyton gloomily, sticking the end of his moustache into his mouth with a plain determination to make an end of it.

Dead silence ensues. It might have lasted until noon, so entirely have both belligerents made up their minds never again to address the other, when a sound falling

HEART FLUTTERING EASILY CORRECTED

Good Advice to Folks Bothered With Palpitation, Weakness, Etc.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come one at any time. Excitement, over-exertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A.F. Beattie who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

Some Symptoms of Weak Heart
Nervousness, Palpitation, Trembling, Dizziness, Sinking Feeling, Heart Pain, Short Breath, Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:
"I was weak and miserable. I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness."
"As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations."
"Ferrozone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made me well, well, it's a great builder!"

By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferrozone is bound to do grand work in heart trouble; try it 50c per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarothone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NOTICE

Three excellent opportunities for three experienced stenographers. Apply by letter to Box 53 News Record.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the bowels, which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, cold, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

With Fingers! Corns Lift Off

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift any corn or callus right off. Try It!

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic drug freezeone recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezeone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn or callus and instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying freezeone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet, shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. It is almost magical.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.

upon the stillness with which they have providentially, if ill-temperely, surrounded themselves, rouses them to instant action, and a tacit forgetfulness of all 'spices.

It is the ill tap-tap of a stick upon the gravel path; it is a tap-tap familiar to both—it is the tap-tap of Gregory Dysart's stick.

"Ye gods," says Mr. Peyton below his breath, and without further hesitation he hauls the pan-stricken Griselda up from her seat on the small haycock, and flinging himself on his stomach, actually swings under that haycock, arms and legs playing their part manfully until his whole figure is completely hidden beneath the scented mound.

Griselda lies at first in admiration of this manoeuvre, has barely time to turn her attention to a huge bush of flaming fuchsia, near her when Mr. Dysart, stick in hand, turns the corner of the hedge and marches down upon her.

FARM LOANS for SOLDIERS

The Soldier Settlement Act

Purpose
To assist ex-service men who desire to make farming their permanent occupation, and who, it is considered, are qualified to make a success of the farming business.

Procedure
The returned soldier who seriously intends to adopt farming as his life work, and desires financial assistance to purchase land, live stock, and equipment, may receive full information and instructions how to proceed from the representative of the Soldier Settlement Board in the district in which he resides.

Financial Assistance Available
Loans may be granted qualified settlers, according to their needs, on the following basis—
(1) Up to $4,500 on the purchase of land for agricultural purposes or the discharge of encumbrances;
(2) Up to $2,000 on the purchase of live stock, implements, and other equipment;
(3) Up to $1,000 on the erection of buildings.

Interest at the rate of five per cent. will be charged.

Who Are "Qualified"
The qualifications of all applicants are investigated by an Agricultural Qualification Committee, composed of men of superior standing, who understand the farming business. All applicants are required to appear in person before the Committee in their district.

Military Service.—Any person who served with an honourable record:
(a) In the Canadian, Imperial, or British Colonial forces in an actual theatre of war, or (except in U.S. or Bermuda) outside of the country in which he enlisted;

(b) In the forces of any of His Majesty's Allies in an actual theatre of war, if he was a British subject resident in Canada before the war;

(c) In the C.E.F. in Canada only, if he is in receipt of a pension for disability occasioned by such service.

These benefits are also granted to Other Qualifications.—After an applicant's eligibility, from the standpoint of military service, is determined, the Committee will investigate his physical condition, general fitness, and agricultural experience. An applicant must satisfy the Committee that he is aware of the individual responsibility resting upon those who would engage in farming successfully, and that he has the required energy to carry on farming in a successful manner. A Qualification Certificate is issued to qualified applicants. Agricultural training is available for men who fail to receive a Qualification Certificate only through lack of sufficient practical farming experience.

All Qualified Men Assisted
The applicant, after securing a Qualification Certificate, may then apply to the Loan Advisory Committee for financial assistance. Should he desire to purchase land he may indicate the particular parcel of land which he desires to acquire. The Committee will appraise the land with regard to its agricultural possibilities, and if it is satisfactory and its value is in keeping with the soldier's ability to comply with the financial requirements of the Act, the land may be secured.

Equipment
The Loan Advisory Committee also determines the amount of loan to be granted to the soldier settler for the purchase of live stock and implements, and the erection of necessary buildings in keeping with the settler's absolute need. The Soldier Settlement Board has made arrangements to secure these needs for the settler at specially low prices.

Supervision
The Soldier Settlement Board has a staff of agricultural advisers, whose duties are to promote the prosperity of the soldier settler by timely advice and assistance. It is also enlisting the co-operation of experienced and successful farmers, located near at hand, who will direct and assist the settler to make a success of his undertaking.

Special Transportation Rates
The Railway Companies of Canada have offered special rates to soldier settlers who travel for any of the following purposes:
(a) First trip to appear before Qualification Committee, to work with farmer, to attend an agricultural school or to look for land;
(b) To return to his home for the purpose of transporting his family or goods to his farm.

The rate will be allowed on the production of a certificate issued by the Soldier Settlement Board.

HAWK NO MATCH FOR CROWS
Cunning Creatures, by Clever Strategy, Stole Titbit From the Claws of Bird Prey

Travelers in the Orient have much to say about the Indian crow, a bird that for uncanny knowings and prankish audacity has perhaps no equal.

Corvus splendens—thus have ornithologists labeled him; but a famous naturalist who knows the breed at first hand has called them "thieves of Satan, cinders from Tartarus." To give these impish creatures their due, however, it should be said that life in India is not a little enlivened by their presence. Here is a characteristic incident in this relation:

"A small hawk had seized a little bird and perched on a leafless branch to devour his prey. The spectacle drew two crows to the spot. They hopped and flapped from branch to branch, noisily discussing the strategy of their intended raid.

"Then one of them quietly slipped away through the surrounding foliage. At the same time his mate flew in front of the perching hawk, and hovering steadily within a foot of his beak maintained a bustling menace of snatching the titbit.

"That effectively compelled the attention of the hawk. His prey grasped firmly beneath his feet, he angrily hissed and lunged at the hovering nuisance. So lively was the skirmish that the human onlooker forgot the existence of the second crow. But now that wily bird reappeared some distance in the rear of his destined victim.

"With stealthy stings and short, noiseless flights he drew near. Then he made a swift dash, seized the hawk's long, barred tail by the tip, hung on with his full weight and toppled the hoodlum hawk in a complete back somersault from the branch. The released titbit was instantly seized by the first crow, and the clever pair bore their booty with much triumphant cawing.

Students Adopt French Orphans
To the progressive students of the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute go the honors of establishing another British precedent by their commendable action in adopting four French war orphans since the termination of hostilities. One of the little unfortunates has been adopted by the patriotic organization of the school known by the Girls' Club and the other two by the Boy's Club.

This will enable four more fatherless French children to remain under the care of their mothers in place of being sent to institutions. The pupils of the Collegiate will each contribute certain amounts monthly for their little cares and will make the amount large enough to ensure immunity from hunger and privations both for the children and their mothers.

Hydraulic Cartridges
It is often difficult and sometimes dangerous to use ordinary explosives for mining and excavating in confined spaces, a fact that has led to the development of the hydraulic mining cartridge.

The cartridge consists of a steel cylinder containing numerous small pistons that move at right angles to the axis of the cylinder and expand when water is injected into them with a hand pump. After drilling a deep enough hole the workmen insert the cylinder and then set to work to the hand pump.

The tiny pistons expand until their free extremities bear against the mass of rock with constantly increasing force and the rock is gradually fractured under tremendous pressure. The operation, it is not only cheaper than the ordinary blast but disintegrates a larger area of rock.

Aid. Clement is Honorably Acquitted.
No further evidence was submitted by the Crown in the case of Aid. J. Harvey Clement in the Brantford Police Court yesterday morning the defendant being charged by George Tomlin with the acceptance of bribes to procure exemption for Tomlin, Magistrate Livingston recorded an honorable acquittal in the case.

J. V. Bowley, K.C., appeared for Tomlin three quarters of an hour after court opened, and protested against the decision, but was told that he was telephoned to and should have been on hand if he had any further evidence to offer or objections to raise. Magistrate Livingston declared that it was an outrage that a charge of such a nature should have been preferred on the evidence which he had brought before him.

The defendant Aid. Clement himself took the stand and made specific and absolute denials of the statements made by the complainant, Tomlin. He stated to the court that he had not received any money from Tomlin on any occasion.

After the case had been disposed of Mr. Bowley stated that, in his opinion there had been a gross violation of justice. "The last had not been heard of it" he declared "as I shall institute a proceeding against Clement to recover 700 dollars."

A PAIR OF SHOES

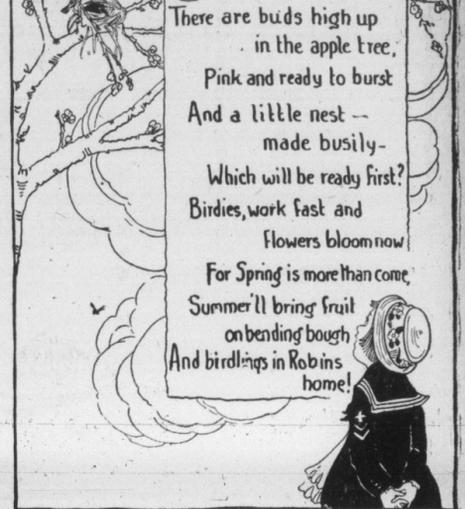

GOING down to the shoemaker's shop was almost as much fun for Jamie as reading that fairy tale about the elves and the cobbler, who was a shoemaker, too, you know. There were such mysterious-looking nails and odd-shaped pieces of leather with cleanly-cut edges lying around, and wheels that made such funny noises! The shoemaker himself was strange-looking, old and bent, probably from leaning over thousands of scuffed shoes belonging to boys now grown into men. When he raised his eyes from his work, they twinkled from out his white eyebrows in quite a pleasing way, and he didn't care a bit if Jamie poked around in things and asked questions. "Say, of course, Jamie considered him one of his best friends. One morning Jamie's mother said, "Oh dear! Your shoes need mending again! Take them down to old Martin's and see what he can do with them." When Jamie got to the shoemaker's little shop old Martin was blackening the soles of a shoe that he had just finished. "Howdy, Jamie," he said, putting the shoes up on a shelf where many others stood in prim rows waiting their owners. "Shoes need mending again?" "Yes, Jamie said. "Well, sit down and I'll tell you a story about them. I've got plenty of time today." Jamie was delighted. He had wanted to know how shoes were made for a long time, and had asked old Martin, but Martin was a busy man, and never before had he had time to do anything except pound and pound with only a word or two between pounds. First old Martin took a sharp knife and ripped off the worn sole as quick as a wink. "My, they wear out quick, don't they?" Jamie said. "Yes, but they'd wear out quicker if they weren't preserved," the shoemaker said. "Preserved?" Jamie laughed. "I never heard of preserved shoes!" "You didn't know your shoes were part of a horse or cow, either, did you?" asked Martin. "What part?" Jamie wanted to know. "The skin or hide," said the old man. "That's what leather is made from." "Tell me about it!" begged Jamie. "Well, first the hides are salted to keep them from spoiling. Then they are taken to a place called a tannery. There they are split into two halves called sides and soaked in borax water to loosen the hair and any flesh that has stuck to them. A machine scrapes it all off. Then they are tanned or preserved."

"You Didn't Know Your Shoes Were Part Of A Horse Or Cow, Either Did You?" Asked Martin.

"That is the welt, and is put only on good shoes. Cheap ones don't have it." "What are those little cuts on the welt for—to look pretty?" Jamie asked. "No, it's so the leather won't pull harder on the outside than on the inside. Guess you need new heels, too," the old man said, ripping the old run-down ones off. "How funny it looks!" Jamie cried. "What's that short piece of leather in the middle?" "That's the shank, and under the ball of the foot there is a filling of ground cork and more rubber cement," the shoemaker told him. He lifted up the shank a little. "What do you see?" "Why, there is another sole there! What is that?" "That is the insole," Martin said. "The welt is sewed to that by a machine that doesn't stitch all the way through. Feel how nice and smooth it is inside. When I was learning my trade that stitching was all done by hand and it was a big job too, for every stitch had to be pulled real hard. The machine does it better and faster than any man could. It sews the welt to the upper and the insole at the same time." "What is the upper?" Jamie wanted to know. "The upper part of the shoe that goes around your foot and ankle," said Martin. "Then another machine beats the welt to make it stand out from the shoe and those little notches are put in it. Other machines cut off the edges, and cut the leather for the upper. We used to cut out the uppers with a pattern with metal edges, and a sharp knife. Sometimes the knife would slip and cut gashes in the leather, and then we couldn't always get them exactly alike, either. But that machine doesn't make any mistakes. After the uppers are cut the linings are put in and the parts sewed together." "How do the eyelets get in so nice and even?" Jamie asked. "Another machine puts them in both sides of the upper at the same time so quick you can hardly see it. The upper is laced together by another machine to keep it in place while the soles and heels are put on." "What are the heels made of?" Jamie asked. "Sometimes of wood, but usually of layers of leather cemented together." All the time old Martin was talking he was cutting and pounding, and Jamie's shoes were beginning to look like shoes again. "Another machine tucks the leather in nice and neat after it is put on a last." "What is a last?" Jamie asked. "One of these things shaped like a foot," Martin explained, taking Jamie's shoe off of one. "Then several lasts are driven into the upper to hold it down tight, but they are taken out afterwards, except the one at the heel which goes all the way through and are smoothed down on the inside." "My, it takes an awful lot of machines to make a pair of shoes, doesn't it?" Jamie said. "Yes, fifty-eight of them. And it goes through one hundred and six

At last they became so tired that they decided to hunt and return home even though that meant disgrace because of their failure. But when they turned about to go homeward, they found they had lost their way. For three days they wandered about hunting the lost trail, but all in vain. Their food was gone these three days; they had not a drop of water and as no rain had fallen in a long time all the brooks were dry and bare. Footsore, weary, hungry and thirsty, the three hunters at last sat down under the trees, lit their pipes and began to smoke the pipe of help. They believed that if trouble came to them while they were in the forest they should light their pipes and, as they smoked blow the smoke towards the tree. The pudwujinnie, as the little people of the trees were called, would hear of their distress and would come to help them. The Indians had great faith in the help and comfort these pudwujinnie or tree spirits could give to them. So the three hunters smoked and asked for help from the pudwujinnie. But there was no answer. Slowly the sun sank in the West and the dusk of twilight gathered over the forest. The three disheartened hunters covered their heads with their blankets and began to chant a chant of despair: "No more shall our wigwams see us. No more shall we sleep in our homes." "No more shall we hunt; Never again shall we go out for food." "Never again shall we fight; No more shall we do battle against our foe." "In this spot shall we stay for ever; Alas we are forsaken and alone."

Just at that minute a pudwujinnie stuck his head out of a nearby tree and looked at them. He listened to their sad chant; noticed their mournful looks and stepped boldly out of the tree to help them. "Arise and follow me!" he said cheerfully. "I will help you." The hunters threw off their blankets and looked up in amazement for they had given up all hope of help. They saw before them a funny, wise little old man, whose hands and face and dress were exactly the color of a

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE. BY FRANK I. SOLAR. INSTRUCTOR, DEPT. OF MANUAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT

TWO YEARS ago a little wren bungalow was put out under the eaves of a garage. Not long after the bungalow was fastened in place a family of wrens discovered it and began building their nest. About the time the nest was finished along came Mr. Robin and planted his large nest right on top of the bungalow roof. This prompted the designing of the combination house shown in the drawing, which was put up in place of the bungalow and inhabited by two families. It is said that wrens will hatch twice in one season if conditions are favorable, and that they start building the second nest after the young are about ready to leave the first. For this reason the bottom was partitioned off making two compartments so Mr. Wren could stay at home, busy him- self building the second nest, while Mrs. Wren was sitting on the first. Material can be obtained from a pine shoe box. A shoe box is suggested because the material is about the thickness desired and the lumber dressed so very little planing is necessary. Get out the back according to the details on the back drawing. Cut to the line and not on it, then carefully plane to the line, splitting it. Make the side pieces 3/4" x 5 1/2" x 3/4", and on one side only locate and bore the 1" hole. If you have not a bit this size it may be cut with a knife. Do not make the hole larger than the dimension given as the hole for a wren should not be larger than a silver quarter. The front is 3/4" x 6 1/2" x 7" and has the same sized hole bored in the center. The center can be located by the intersection of diagonals drawn from corner to corner. Assemble the parts already made with 1" No. 16 brads, the construction can be learned from the isometric drawing. Next it and brad the floor in place. The partition is 3/4" x 4" x 6 1/4", and can be fastened to the floor and sides by brads. Next make the floor 3/4" x 17" x 9". It should be fastened in place by screws or hinges and a hook, so it can be removed at the end of each season and the old nest cleaned out. The robins will use the old nest often, making some repairs. The box ends are usually made of 3/4" stock and this can be used for the posts, which are next braded in place to support the roof. If 1/2" stock is not at hand 3/4" may be used for the roof and support which should be well fastened to the back. Perches are not necessary, but if added for appearance, do not make longer than 3/4" as sparrows will light on them and bother Jenny Wren. The box may be covered with bark, twigs or painted gray, white or brown.

Maxwell— A Car of Assured Reliability

THE reliability of every Maxwell is assured by the volume produced. One model quantity production involves the investment of millions of dollars in special machinery, plants, laboratories, etc., before a single car is produced.

Therefore, the basic design must be right—right beyond any question—before this special equipment is installed.

And after production starts absolute accuracy in every part must be assured to prevent delays, wastage, hand-labor—things we can't afford.

No tools are too expensive—no precautions too elaborate—to assure this result.

This was our original plan and it has been consistently followed in producing the 300,000 Maxwells now on the roads of the world.

It is the reason why of Maxwell reliability—economy—uniformity.

A car made right to begin with saves you many a dollar even after you buy it.

Farmer Needs Rapid Transit

"The origin of rural motor express lines is obscure but they have probably been in operation on a small scale and in widely separated neighborhoods for several years," said F. E. Fenn, secretary of the Rural Motors Express Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in a New York address recently, in which he brought out clearly the rapid development and advantages of these systems. "For many years hucksters have called on farmers, bargained with them for products and sold to the market at a profit. This was bad for the farmer because the prices he obtained hardly made it worth while to produce; bad for the merchant, because it added little to the prosperity of and so kept him incapable to have been; and bad for the consumer, because the product of the farmer was insufficient and a lot of material came down into town that was unfit for food, as for example, the decrepit rooster and the disreputable egg."

"Up to this time it was supposed that railroads carried all the food necessary. We had overlooked the fact that the railroads are miles away from a railroad and received so little encouragement that they produced only what they needed for home consumption. It was only when the railroads failed when embargoes became general, and when the farmer was obliged to waste a great part of what he had raised, that our minds turned definitely toward this newer method of transportation."

"The present day rural motor express does six important things. It is a method of getting to market supplies of food hitherto unavailable because of the distance between producer and the market, and lack of other transportation."

"A method of relieving railroads of short and unprofitable hauls."

"A method of encouraging business between farmers and merchants by increasing the earnings of the farmer and improving his purchasing power."

"A method of decreasing dissatisfaction on the part of farmers and farm hands by providing increased facilities and comfort."

"A method of transporting produce to the consumer more quickly and in better condition than ever before."

"A method of maintaining men on the farms an in producing by others who now spend a great part of their time driving to market."

Mr. Fenn's address was given during an eighty-day session of the "First Semi-Annual Motor Transportation Conference" conducted by the Colt-Stratton Co., New York dealer for Dodge Brothers Detroit.

THREATENS TO WITHDRAW FROM THE DIVISION OF BANAT

Geneva May 16—The Roumanian delegation may possibly withdraw from the Peace Conference. Advertis from Paris made public by the Roumanian Bureau at Berne say that owing to the decision of the Council of Ten to divide Banat between Serbia and Roumania, Premier Bratianu and the Roumanian delegation will quit Paris unless there is a modification of the terms. These are considered by the Roumanians to be unacceptable.

"LADIES FREE"

President Thomas Joseph Haligan of the Flint Baseball club gallant molder and dancing master that he is, wants the womenfolk at Athletic park this summer in large numbers to cheer his players on.

He wants their refining and maddening presence so much that he has decided that they will all be admitted free at the gate.

All they need do is pay the war tax. If they want to sit in the sand, they will of course, be called on to unmesh the price for the shady section, but they will still have a big advantage over the males.

In some cities the clubs have adopted a policy of free admission to soldiers with wound stripes. Haligan has decided against this as a general rule, although he will be mighty glad to play host to any wounded soldier who is disappointed.

As for wound stripes one of his players is entitled to wear the decoration and he expects that one to burn up the circuit this summer.

He also remarks that he knows several boys with wound stripes who are drawing very good wages.—The Flint Daily Journal.

She was a nice Austrian woman and she was crossing the ocean on a great hostile liner. Most of the other women were the wives of Englishmen and they were all forgoing that her country was at war with their land. They ignored her, and she was left much to herself. And yet—

One morning as she was walking up and down the deck in her solitary way she passed the steamer chair of a middle-aged English woman who was knitting at a gray woolen sock. And suddenly she paused in her walk and held out both of her hands.

"Oh," she cried, in very good English, "will you not let me knit a few rows on that sock?"

"The English woman looked up. And her face was cold and rather hard. 'I think,' she said, 'that you would care to knit on this sock? For it is going to an English colonel—my husband!'"

The little Austrian woman looked at the colonel's lady. And there were tears in her eyes. "Listen," she said in a low, shaking voice, "I, myself, have a son. He is an officer in the Austrian army. But if you knew my son I do not think you would hate him! If I knew the colonel, your husband, I do not think I would hate him either." She paused for a moment before she went on, and then she said, "we women must do what we can to keep a little love in it. Ma'am, perhaps, knit a few rows on the sock."

Silently, but with tears in her own eyes, the English woman handed over the gray wool.

Proper Piston Adjustment Is Most Important Factor

When one stops to think of the work that piston rings really have to perform these little parts loom up as a big factor in efficient engine operation. The piston rings springy rings of iron which pack the piston and are supposed to make a joint between piston and cylinder which will be so tight that gas cannot pass and at the same time be so free that undue friction will not be produced. On the face of it these seem like opposed qualities. In a sense they are, because if the rings were so tight as to prevent the smallest amount of gas or mixture from leaking past, they would at the same time cause too much friction against the cylinder wall. Upon the goodness with which rings fit the piston and cylinder depends the retention of compression, the completeness with which the cylinder is filled with gas, the power produced by the engine, the extent of carbonization due to burning oil and also to a large extent the economy of operation of the engine. It is vitally important to the car owner, therefore to know some thing about piston rings and how they are fitted, for the fit of the ring of the piston and cylinder is the clue to a great many ills.

What Is Real Value

You can buy a four-cylinder, 5-passenger motor car at a lower price than the Gray Dort.

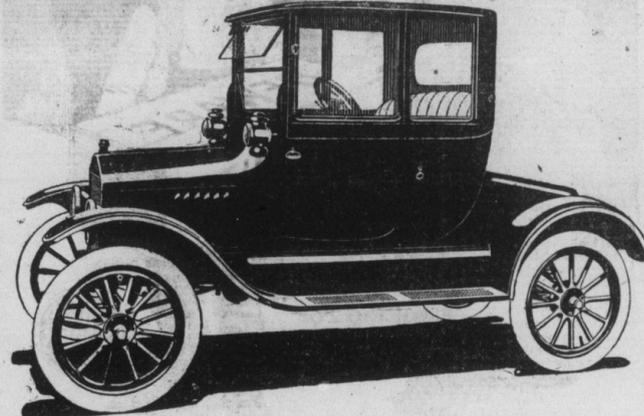

You cannot afford a car less good than the Gray Dort. You do not want service less complete.

Measure the service and satisfaction it gives you. Judge the power and quietness of its motor; the size and comfort of its body; its equipment; and the years of service you get from it. All these things the Gray Dort gives you abundantly. And for heaping value adds economy of operation. The touring car is $1245; the Gray Dort Special—the car with added refinements and extra equipment, is $1335 extra; there are also a coupe, and a sedan. All prices f.o.b. Chevrolet

The Chevrolet SEDAN represents a noteworthy achievement in automobile design and construction. In its mechanical efficiency, comfort refinements and convenience and beauty, this model reaches a standard not heretofore associated with cars of this character.

This Sedan is really two cars in one, for in a moment the body becomes either an open or closed model, and in each position the beauty is not diminished in the least.

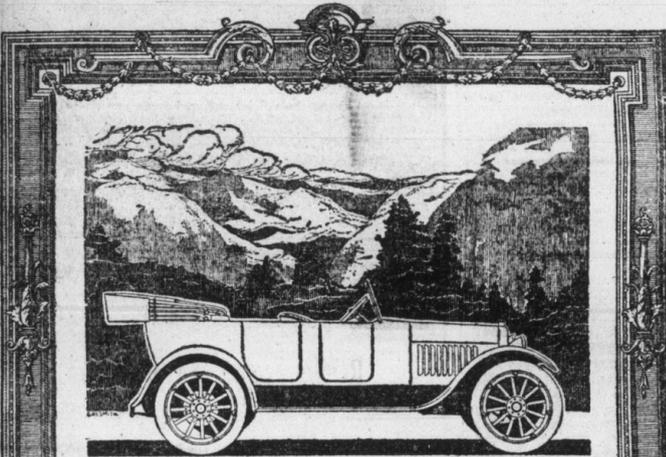

The body is fitted with two doors, one on the left-hand side of the driver's seat, and the other on the right-hand side, opening into the tonneau.

S. E. BOWMAN

The front seats of the Sedan are divided, affording easy passage way into the tonneau. The right-hand seat is reversible with hinged back that swings over the seat, permitting it to be used with the back facing either the tonneau or the front.

The chassis of this closed car possesses all the sturdiness and dependability incorporated in Chevrolet construction. The motor provides ample power. The valve-in-head construction insures minimum use of fuel.

The World's Greatest Speed Record is Held by a HOT SPOT Chalmers

LITTLE has been said by us about this record; and it was made back in the summer of 1917. It was not our policy to engage in speed contests, as we felt something more than speed was sought by the average buyer.

This record was 1898 miles in 24 hours—the farthest distance man has ever traveled on land, sea or air in twice-around-the-clock.

A notable car but a short time before had made the envious distance of 1819 miles in 24 hours on the same track.

Just about this time Chalmers engineers were satisfied they had developed two great devices in Hot Spot and Ram's-horn. They wanted to get a quick answer. They sought the laboratory of the racetrack, where in 24 hours the gruelling of 50,000 ordinary driving miles might be interpreted.

How well Hot Spot and Ram's-horn delivered is a matter of official A. A. A. records.

This remarkable test, as well as extended road tests, resulted in equipping Chalmers cars with Hot Spot and Ram's-horn; and now 12,000 persons driving the new Chalmers car will tell you they own one of the few great cars of the world.

CHALMERS MOTOR CO. OF CANADA, Limited

Quality First

split and the step joint. These refer to the method of cutting the ring ends, because much of the trouble for leakage is due to space allowed for leakage at the ends of the ring.

In addition to these two types of rings there are any number of makes of special rings which are designed to overcome the major deficiency of the two named, i.e., leakage at the ends. In every case some patented means is used for doing away with space of any kind so that the ring fits its groove completely seals the cylinder.

What I wish to impress upon the reader is that the piston ring itself must be accurately fitted to the piston and in the cylinder in order that a gas tight pint be had. If this is not done regardless of the type of ring there is bound to be trouble from oil and gas leakage. Ill-fitting piston rings allow, as previously mentioned, the mixture to leak down into the crank case. At the same time this mixture carries with it a certain amount of water, which contaminates the oil. Also the lubricating oil working up past the piston ring causes an appreciable carbon deposit and misfiring due to shortening of the plugs and kindred troubles.

Clean Out Carbon

Before new piston rings are fitted the engine interior should be thoroughly cleaned of carbon, because carbon is an abrasive and has a cutting action on the bearings, cylinder walls and pistons.

Before fitting new rings the cylinder should be examined and measured. If found out of round, warped or scored, they should be reground and over-diameter pistons and piston rings installed. Piston rings must have uniform wall pressure of sufficient strength to maintain a bearing against the cylinder walls during every operation of the piston. Rings that will assume the shape of the worn or warped cylinder do not have the necessary wall pressure and many collapse under the force of the explosion.

After cleaning the ring grooves of carbon it is of the greatest importance to make certain that the sides of the grooves are true. Grooves that are V-shaped staggered or have round corners should be turned to permit using the next width ring, which may be had from any dealer.

Don't Expand Ring

Do not expand the ring over the piston until trying it in the groove to which it is to be applied. Roll the ring all the way around ring groove and see that it enters the groove freely but not too loosely, and deep enough so that it extends below the piston face at every point. If the ring grooves are too shallow before deepening them see that the corners are clean. If the ring binds on the sides of the groove look first for carbon, if none, run the ring evenly on fine emery cloth or a smooth, flat surface until the desired fit is attained. Each ring should be fitted to the groove in which it is to be placed. Expand the ring to be used in the bottom groove. Insert three one-half inch by six inch kids cut from an old saw blade or any other light, pliable metal, one under each end of the ring and the third at the back. Install the bottom ring first and so on from bottom to top until all are in place. Oil well and rotate in the grooves to make sure that all dirt and foreign matter is removed.

"ONE EVERY MINUTE" NEW FLAGG COMEDY
Olin Howland and Florence Dixon Have Fine Parts.
James Montgomery Flagg's new satirical comedy, "One Every Minute," in which Olin Howland and Florence Dixon have the leading parts and which will be shown at the Allen theatre Wednesday and Thursday, is decidedly humorous, and will be relished by all who have seen Mr. Flagg's comedies heretofore shown at Manager Jennings' popular playhouse.
The theme of the comedy is a playshooters posing as a real western desperade in order to furnish "romance and adventure" for a young grift from New England who imagines the west as a country infested with dashing and picturesque bad men.

The beautiful and unsophisticated maiden is hoaxed by the spurious outlaw who elicits her sympathy by the lurid tales of his alleged wild career. He claims to be a victim of "aphasia," caused by a blow on the head and says that he is not responsible for his lawless deeds.
Romance gets a toe-hold on the situation and Percival Montgomery Edwards (otherwise "Monte") finds himself falling in love with Hope Deering, the romantic girl. Hope, too, is fascinated by the outlaw as she believes him, and determines to cure him of his "aphasia" by putting another dent in his head with a rock. She was put up which she dresses her hair and wears her clothes and jewels, but in every-minute gesture Marcia Manon expresses individuality.

In Cecil B. DeMille's "Old Wives for New," Miss Manon had a splendid opportunity to display her artistic taste in clothes and jewelry.
She began her screen career as an extra girl in one of Mr. DeMille's productions about a year and a half ago and has since made an enviable place for herself in motion pictures. She had large parts in "Stella Maris," "The Sunset Trail," "The Claw," "The Girl Who Came Back," and many other well-known pictures.

WOMEN OF TODAY SEEK TO CHANGE THE MARRIAGE VOW

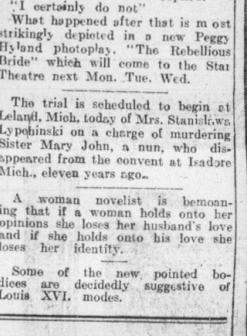

The latest move of the most "modern" woman is to assent the wording of the time-honored marriage vow in which the clergyman asks the bride if she will "love honor and obey" her lawfully wedded husband.
A number of instances are on record where women have refused to allow those words to be used in the ceremony, declaring they would not "bow to man as a superior and ruler."
A striking example in high life of this tendency was reported in a recent cablegram from London. This said: "Princess Patricia daughter of the Duke of Connaught will not promise to 'obey' Commander Alexander Ramsay R.N., when she becomes his bride on February 27. She before has a Princess had the tenacity to break the precedent which demanded that oath to her husband."
"The Princess will promise only 'to love and honor' her husband."
A prominent minister once declared that the words were superfluous in the ceremony as many girls could not comprehend the meaning of them and therefore in answering yes, virtually committed perjury.
Some women compare present-day marriages with those of ancient times. Then it was customary for a man when taking a wife, first to detach the girl from her father's home and make her a partner in his family affairs. Any property the wife had passed to the husband. If she had none her family supplied a dowry. So far as her interests were concerned, she was in much the same position as her children, and on her husband's death she shared with them in his estate as if she had been one of his daughters.
A young girl living in the Ozark mountains of Missouri whose grandfather forced her to the marriage altar with a middle-aged man she disliked, went a step further than refusal to obey. When asked the question "Do you take this man for your lawfully wedded husband?" she replied, "I certainly do not."
What happened after that is most strikingly depicted in a new Peggy Hyland photoplay, "The Rebellious Bride" which will come to the Star Theatre next Mon. Tue. Wed.

Star Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to this entirely original "operation" by her uncle, a friend of Monte's who concocted this practical joke on Monte in return for one Monte had put over on him.

"The innocent Delilah "beamed" her hero with a rock only to be captured by a real desperado and carried away by him in a wild flight on horseback, pursued by the Sheriff's posse. Her "hero" proved a real hero by rescuing her from the outlaw's clutches, although he also proved to be "The Prodigal Liar" who lied himself blue in the face in order to furnish her with "romance and adventure". STRENGTH FOR THE DAY'S WORK

DEPENDS UPON GOOD BLOOD TO NOURISH THE BODY

Weak People Need a Tonic, One Which Acts Directly Upon the Blood and that Does Not Weaken the Body by Useless Purgin.

There are thousands of people throughout Canada who are without ambition or strength to do their day's work, and who are always tired out, have but little appetite and a poor digestion. They cannot get a refreshing night's sleep and are subject to headaches, backaches and nervousness, because their blood is impure. To men and women in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give quick relief and permanent cure because of their direct action on the blood which they build up to its normal strength. As the blood becomes rich and red it strengthens the muscles, tones up the nerves, makes the stomach capable of digesting food, and repairs the wastes caused by worry or work. In a word, the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills means restoration to perfect health.

BLOOD TURNED TO WATER.

Miss Jessie McLean, Trenton, N.S., says: "I was as weak as it was possible for any one to be, and yet I was able to go about. My blood seemed to have turned almost to water. I was pale, the least exertion would leave me breathless, and when I went up stairs I would have to stop and rest on the way. I often had severe headaches, and at times my heart would palpitate alarmingly. A good friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have reason to be grateful that I took the advice. Soon after beginning the use of the Pills, I began to get stronger, and by the time I had taken seven boxes I felt that I was again enjoying good health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to weak girls and I shall always warmly recommend them."

RHEUMATIC PAINS.

The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments with outward applications is only wasting valuable time and good money in depending upon such treatment the trouble still remains, and is all the time becoming more firmly rooted—harder to cure when the proper treatment is applied. Treat this disease through the blood and you will soon be rid of the pains and tortures. As a cure for rheumatism Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unequalled. They act directly on the impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so root out the cause of rheumatism. Mr. D. Lewis, postmaster at Esumine, N.B., says: "I was attacked with rheumatism, which settled in my elbow, shoulder and knee joints, and at times caused me great suffering. The trouble was particularly severe last spring and I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking the Pills for some time the rheumatic pains and stiffness in the joints disappeared and I have not had any return of the trouble."

A GOOD DIGESTION.

Mrs. William Dale, Midland, Ont., says: "I suffered for a long time from a severe form of indigestion, and had doctored so much without benefit that I had all but given up hope of getting better. Everything I ate caused me intense pain and some days I did not touch a thing but a cup of cold water, and even that distressed me. As a result I was very much run down, and slept so poorly that I dreaded night coming on. I was continually taking medicine, but was actually growing worse instead of better. Having often read the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial. I have had great cause to bless this decision, for by the time I had used a couple of boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me, and in less time than I had anticipated the pills had cured me, and I was again able to eat and digest, and my digestion, but better health in every way than before."

ALWAYS FEELS FIT.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they get right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg County, N.S., says: "I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them and I have no opportunity in recommending them to weak people I meet."

SKIN TROUBLE CURED.

Mrs. W. Ritchie, Parkburg, Sask., says: "Two years ago I was attacked with eczema on my hands. I tried almost everything that was advised, but as the trouble was growing worse I consulted a doctor and took his treatment for some time with no better results. By this time my hands were a mass of sores and I began to despair of finding a cure. A friend strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. After using two boxes I could see an improvement and I got a further supply. I used altogether eight boxes, by which time every trace of the eczema had disappeared and there has been not a single symptom of the trouble since that time. I gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for troubles of this kind."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Free Trade Not Needed in Canada

DISCUSSION DURING CONSIDERATION OF HOUSING BILL

Ottawa May 16.—The Government's housing scheme was under consideration by the Commons to-night in committee of supply.

Hon. N.W. Rowell explained the Government's policy. A sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned to the province was set aside to encourage housing. The policy had been inaugurated to increase housing accommodation and to provide employment on useful work. Money was being lent at five per cent, which was lower than the Government could secure it.

There were standard houses and regulations concerning another space, size of room, sanitary conveniences etc. Every province except Saskatchewan and Alberta had intimated their intention of availing itself of the scheme.

Little Opposition.

There was no open opposition but some criticism. Dr. Clark who has recently moved over to the cross benches in preparation for the budget as usual weaved free trade into his arguments. This was not a fundamental measure of relief. The country was properly governed and with wealth reasonably distributed there would be no shams and every man would own his own home. Proper fiscal policy would bring about a more equitable distribution of wealth.

Mr. Rowell did not let the opportunity pass the counter and the doughty free trade champion. The president of the Privy Council pointed out that in free trade England there was an equal distribution of wealth and shams. A scheme which would provide sanitary houses for a large number of people would tend to improve their moral and physical welfare.

Mr. A.R. McMaster thought the plan only a palliative while James A. Robb suggested that the question should be held over until after the budget.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES.

Thousands of mothers state positively that Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine they know of for little ones. Their experience has taught them that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them and that they can be given with perfect safety to children of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Joseph Therrien, St. Gabriel de Brandon, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. I thought I would lose my baby before trying the Tablets, but they cured him almost everything that was advised, and now I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Turks May Have To Quit Europe

SUCH TERMS OF PEACE PROBABLE, PARIS THINKS

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Associated Press to-night issued the following: "That the allies are preparing for the eventful day when the Turks are to be reckoned with in a peace treaty, is indicated by the fact that British, French, American, Italian and Greek warships, with landing parties, have begun a great concentration at Smyrna, Asia Minor. Allied troops also are being massed at Saloniki.

The concentration at Smyrna is connected with the mandate given to Greece by the peace conference to administer the affairs of the Turkish seaport, while the belief is expressed in Paris that the massing at Saloniki is connected with the enforcement of the peace terms to be presented to the Ottomans, which, it is thought probable, will include a demand that the Turks leave Europe.

Undoubtedly the most stunning houses of the spring amount to dresses, and worn as the Parisienne wears them with black satin skirt, these elaborate bits of workmanship and color are undoubtedly the stuff about which to build the summer wardrobe.

Neurasthenia

THIS word "neurasthenia" simply means nerve weakness. While the exhaustion of the nerves usually affects the whole body, making one feel tired, listless and discouraged, the symptoms vary in individual cases.

One may suffer from nervous headaches; another may have spinal trouble; a third nervous indigestion or weakened action of the kidneys or bowels.

Some patients look perfectly well and are cheerful, while others are nervously ill and mentally gloomy and despondent.

Neurasthenia might be described as a "curable" form of nervous disease, for in this way it differs from paralysis and locomotor ataxia; which in their more advanced stages cannot be cured.

It requires patient treatment to build up the exhausted nervous system, and you are sure to have discouraging days—days when you wonder if you are really getting better after all.

But the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is bound to restore your nervous system because it is composed of the ingredients which nature has intended for this purpose.

Perhaps the best way to give you an idea of what you may expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is to quote this interesting letter.

Mrs. J. A. Wright, Barwick, Ont., writes:

"Last Spring I felt very miserable, seemed tired all the time, and didn't care if I never ate anything. I never was hungry, and it seemed as if what little food I did take did not digest. I could not sleep, and my heart was in a weak condition. It would flutter, stop for a second and then beat so hard that I could hear it thump. I sent for several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the time I had taken four boxes I felt quite well, and have been ever since. The nerve food strengthened my stomach, relieved my heart and built up my strength better than any other medicine ever did. I am positive the use of these pills saved me a large doctor's bill, and I would strongly advise anyone suffering from run-down system or similar ailments to give it a trial."

Tom Moore Creates This Unusual Situation in "One of the Finest"

Equality in marriage, says Tom Moore in more a matter of the soul than of shekels. The likable Goldwyn star has had marriage brought very close to him of late because a very unusual match is the pivot point in his newest production. "One of the finest" which comes to the Rome Theatre Fri. and Sat. He is a police man and the girl is a typical daughter of the rich who resents being stopped at the fashionable hour and reminded that she is speeding. It is this very girl who after having the office "broke" close to him of late because a very

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Don Climbs Mount Rayo

SCHOOL DIDN'T begin until late. One reason for this was that the farms of the country had called school boys to serve Uncle Sam; another reason was the scarcity of teachers.

Don Stone had finished his agricultural stunt the week before and had immediately left for "The Shack," the Stone's hot weather home at the base of a towering mountain peak. Very much to his surprise he found upon his arrival at The Shack that the family had left for town the day before. He was disappointed, of course, but Dodge, the caretaker, was there and had plenty of provisions, so Don concluded that he would remain a few days.

It was a heaven sent opportunity to climb the peak, Mount Rayo, and early fall was the best time of the year to make the trip. Don said nothing to Dodge about his plans though until the night before his climb, for Dodge was a pessimist and constitutionally averse to anything like good times.

Knowing this Don opened the subject with some hesitation and uncertainty. "Think I'll climb Mount Rayo, Dodge?"

Dodge looked gloomy. "When?" he inquired morosely.

"Tomorrow morning!"

Dodge went out and looked at the sky and scanned the horizon and shook his head dubiously.

"I wouldn't if I were you," he advised.

"Why not?" shot forth Don.

"Oh rats!" flung out Don. "It'll be clear as a bell in the morning and I'm going."

"Sneams on Mt. Rayo can never be trusted this time of year. Apt to be a bad one. You ought not to go up that mountain without your father or some one," objected Dodge, who had had to help extricate Don from past escapades and felt the boy's company a great responsibility and fervently wished that he had gone to town.

Don set his alarm at five and was quick ready to start at six. The morning was brilliant with sunshine though there was a penetrating chill in the air that made Dodge grumble.

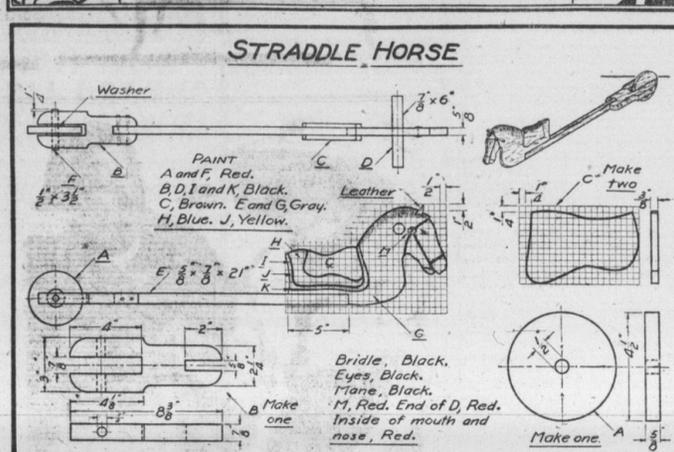

"You're a regular old granny, Dodge!" was Don's parting shot, and tucking his lunch into the capacious pockets of his coat he was off.

In ten minutes he had picked up the trail leading to the top, and he was trying not to walk too fast for he knew that a quick gait now would only retard his progress at the end. He felt exhilarated and tireless and Don Tried Not To Think Of All The Stories He Had Heard Of People Being Lost On The Mountain Peaks.

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE. BY FRANK I. SOLBR

IN PLANNING the making of gifts this year do not overlook your little brother or sister, or some other little person you may know. The straddle horse shown today will provide much pleasure for you in its construction, but the little folks who use it will get even more.

As the whole toy is to be painted, most any kind of wood may be used. First make out a lumber bill so you will know exactly what is needed.

Start first on the head. Square up an edge and one end of the piece of stock from which you are to make it. Lay out the squares as indicated and lay out pattern. Bore hole for D. Next lay out patterns for pieces C—the saddle—then saw all to shape.

Make B next. This is a good problem in laying out and will require care in cutting to shape. In boring hole for axle F, lay out on each edge of B and bore from each side. If the boring was done entirely from one side, the bit might not come out on the other side exactly opposite the point you started. In boring from each edge, the error, if any, is greatly reduced.

Next make A. Lay out and bore hole for axle from each side of piece. Be careful to get the outside of the wheel true. A good way is to describe a circle on the stock with a sharp pair of dividers, scoring rather deeply on the circumference. This will give you a good line to work to.

Next make axle F. This is one-half inch in diameter. The hole that is bored in the wheel is also one-half inch in diameter, and in order that the wheel may turn easily on the axle, plan it fully assembled.

Use washers as indicated and be very sure the wheel turns easily.

be a better plan than to bore a slightly larger hole through the axle. Then, too, you may have difficulty in getting bits of such slight variation in size, unless you are fortunate in having a full set.

Sand all pieces well. Fasten D and part C in place, then fasten E to C with flat head screws and to B with round head.

Before placing wheel in position, paint the parts. A scheme for painting is given on the drawing. This has been tried and the result was very satisfactory.

Two coats of paint will be necessary to give the horse the real finished appearance, but before giving the second coat, place the wheel in position and paint it fully assembled.

Use washers as indicated and be very sure the wheel turns easily.

ings bubbling the clearest, coldest water Don had ever sampled. At one of these he ate his lunch before pushing on.

Some distance farther on he was so intent on crossing a swampy piece of ground and so sure that the beckoning tip before him was really the crowning peak that he did not notice the fine wisps of cloud which seemed to be dancing in from the east until the most dangerous thing he encountered was a porcupine.

His trail led for a long distance through dense pine growth. Chipmunks flashed from the forest, discovered him, fled madly up the trail and disappeared sharply into the woods again. Squirrels chattered loudly at him and birds sounded notes of warning to each other as he approached their particular domain. But they suddenly veiled the sun! With a vague uneasiness he halted sharply and looked up. He thought of old Dodge and his remarks relative to treacherous fall storms. But Don, with a careless little shrug, and the cocksureness of very young manhood, determined to make that beckoning peak at all costs.

A penetrating little wind struck suddenly at his very marrow as he reached the far margin of the swamp land and he turned up his coat collar as he hurried forward. His quick eye glimpsed a large lay fluke of snow which floated down tantalizingly near him as he began his final climb. As he reached the tip-top of Mount Rayo the flakes were not falling in ones but in dozens and Don did not linger to look at the scenery. It had taken longer than he had imagined it would to climb that last weary stretch and he turned immediately.

Don's legs were long and his strides were twice their usual length for a small scrap of real fear had entered his heart and doubts of all sizes and varieties were springing up unbidden. Little wonder too for by the time he had reached the swampy land the flakes were hurrying earthward so fast that they were crowding one upon another and Don was not so familiar with the country as to find his way about without the trail. It needed no Dodge to tell him how fast that trail was disappearing beneath the soft fleecy snow.

Don tried too not to think of all the stories he had heard of people being lost on mountain peaks, and he tried not to think how unpleasant it would be to spend the night quite alone, without food or even an overcoat, on Mt. Rayo in a raging snow storm.

Before very long the strain on certain leg muscles began to tell and he stumbled a little, once he fell and was on his feet instantly rushing on like one pursued. But hurry as he would it was, in truth, like fleeing from the snow fell faster and faster, traveling sleet slippery, and Don found his self suddenly face to face with the awful fact that he had finally lost the trail. He retraced his steps as pickled it up at just a full half mile back, and reflected with some bitterness that he had not yet reached the berline.

Of course, he lost it again and again and was driven to going on without it. He must reach The Shack before dark. But he did not. It was now dusk. He was cold and wet and hungry and frantically tired, but he ploughed wearily through the soft snow wondering what was going to become of him. Suddenly it seemed to him that he had been wandering on like this forever.

He wondered if Dodge would stay out to hunt for him and if they had the slightest chance of finding each other. He reflected sadly that two people might play hide-and-seek on Mt. Rayo for a lifetime. Abruptly he halted and gave a lusty shout. His voice sounded ridiculously small and lost and it was a good half hour before he stopped to call again. But not even an echo answered him this time.

Seemed foolish to go on this way—he was so awfully tired yet there was nothing else to do. He thought the snow was falling more slowly and wasn't so cold as he had been those his ears felt funny. He supposed he were going around in a circle as the say people do when they are dazed. He felt very sleepy and he had a cold down on his face.

Dodge was a pessimist and searched for his ten minutes later. He had a difficult time trying to rouse him for the boy was almost frozen. "When you don't way up here, old sport!" asked Don quite dazed.

"Way up here?" echoed the dazed looking Dodge. "The house isn't to be far away! Lost, eh? Think you're one pursued. But hurry as he would

THE GINGER LOAF HOUSE

“Now,” thought Susie, “if it keeps jumping up and down like that and knocking its heel together, it’ll break all its windows besides making itself rickety!”

The Ginger Loaf House stopped still and then began walking. It walked along until it was right near Susie’s window. It came quite close and looked in with one of its upstairs windows.

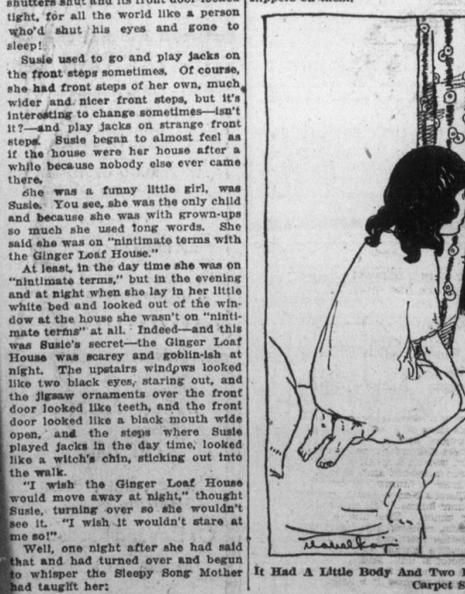

“Say, little girl,” asked the Ginger Loaf House, “I don’t know of any good vacant lots around. I have to have room to sit down. My poor feet get so tired!”

“Where shall I go?” asked the Ginger Loaf House. “I don’t know of any good vacant lots around. I have to have room to sit down. My poor feet get so tired!”

“If you go away you must come back before morning,” replied Susie, “because if you don’t—why, you see, there wouldn’t be any house across the street.”

“Where shall I go?” asked the Ginger Loaf House. “I don’t know of any good vacant lots around. I have to have room to sit down. My poor feet get so tired!”

“It isn’t far. You go down that way till you get to the Church, then you turn to the left-hand side and go and you’ll reach the little stone bridge and the Meadow is right there on the right-hand side. It’s a nice, big Meadow, with no cows in it at night.”

THE JUNIOR COOK IN WAR TIME

STUFFED PRUNES

In the afternoon after school pour one quart of water over a pound of prunes and let stand for an hour.

Wash carefully and pour on another quart of water.

Wash again to be sure that all dust and dirt is removed. Then drain off all the water.

Lay the prunes in a shallow dish. Pour one cupful of water over them, cover tightly and let stand till morning.

In the morning turn the prunes so that all get into the water.

In the afternoon, after the prunes have soaked 24 hours all the water should be soaked up and the prunes should be nice and plump.

Slit each prune down the side and remove the stone. Save these stones; dry them and send them to the government.

In the place of the stone put a peanut and tuck in the edges of the prunes neatly.

Roll in sugar (one tablespoonful will sugar a whole pound if you are careful).

Fine instead of candy in your lunch or at a party.

“I’d like to go,” said the Ginger Loaf House, “but you see, I don’t know which is my right-hand and which is my left-hand, ‘cause if you’re standing out in the street in front of me your left-hand isn’t on the same side as it would be if you were inside of me. I got all mixed up, you know.”

“Your left-hand’s always on your left side,” said Susie. “If I’m in front of you my right-hand would be in front of your left-hand, but that wouldn’t make any difference to you.”

“Please don’t talk about it any more!” said the Ginger Loaf House. “It mixes me up and gives me a headache. I know I’d get lost if I tried to find the Meadow. I wish you’d come and show me the way!”

“I’m not dressed,” said Susie, “I’d catch cold outside!”

“Well, come in then,” said the Ginger Loaf House.

To mourn her loss there are left 6 sons and 3 daughters viz.—Joseph of Bay City, Henry, Herbert, and Mrs. Louis Held, Kitchener, Mrs. Arnold Durrer, Walkerton, Mrs. McKenzie, Michigan, William and Alfred, Kerrobert, Sask., and Alexander of Rose town Sask., and to them the sympathy of the community is extended in this their hour of sorrow.

The funeral will be held from the residence of her daughter, 134 Shanley Street on Monday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Mary's R.C. Church for service and thence to the R.C. Cemetery for interment.

Doctor's Sentence Reversed By Court.
"I don't think there is a title of evidence against the doctor," said Justice Clute yesterday at Osgoode Hall, in quashing the conviction of Dr. Reginald Rutherford of Chatham, who was fined $300 or four months in jail on a charge of assisting Edward Ellis to evade the Ontario Temperance Act. Three druggists testified that they had filled 156 prescriptions for liquor issued by Dr. Rutherford between March 1 and 26, and that 81 of these prescriptions had been for rubbing.

The doctor swore that he had prescribed the liquor to Ellis for rheumatism following his return from the front, where he had been gassed. "I don't think I have any right to assume that the doctor committed perjury, without some evidence to support that assumption, his Lordship said."

In Loving Memory
of 2nd. Lieut. Willard Ewart Clemens, R.A.F., who was killed while on duty as an instructor at the School of Aerial Gunnery at Beamsville, Ont., May 17, 1918.

'Twas not amid the battle's roar,
He fell a soldier brave,
'Tis not beneath the ocean blue,
He fills a sailor's grave,
His duty called another way,
Perilous, yet did not fear,
Now he's dead at his post of duty,
A soldier of the air.

How young to die, but yet
'Twas for his country's sake,
No nobler sacrifice than this Could he have wished to make.
In Heaven it is recorded,
He died at his post of duty,
A soldier of the air.

More and better shaves Did you ever see a barber start to shave a customer without stropping his razor first? Never! Isn't this fact significant? Stropping, you see, is needed to reform the saw-like edge that results from shaving; to keep the blade free from rust; and to give you for each morning's shave a keen-edged blade. The self-stropping feature of the Auto-Strop Razor preserves the keen edge that makes shaving comfortable. Stropping—shaving—cleaning are all done without removing the blade from the razor. SCRIPTION SCENES ON THIEF RIVER FALLS, Minn., May 19. (By Main Johnson), (Copy right in Canada)—I don't know exactly where Thief River Falls is except that it is somewhere down in Minnesota. I came into it late at night and I don't know why they call it Thief River Falls. This is the first I have seen the river, but the residents assure me it is here. As one alternative to coming here to Thief River Falls. This alternative was proposed on Sunday afternoon in Winnipeg by Rev. Wm. I called to see him on Sunday afternoon in the labor temple. As you turned off main street, to a side street on which the temple is situated. It looked as if you would run right into a bicycle wheel. There were hundreds and hundreds of bicycles, some with men standing astride them, others laid against trees and buildings in great quantities. In front of the labor temple was great concourse of men, with quite a number of women mingled in the crowd. Although I couldn't say they were in the majority there were certainly lots of men here whose original native tongue was not English. You could tell that by their casual conversation as you passed by. Inside the building was a great crowd which almost entirely blocked all the corridors and halls. The latest edition of the labor papers asks the question: "How does the idea of using the new parliament buildings as labor temple strike you?" What every one may think of this suggestion is obvious that the building is not large enough for such an emergency as this.

I found Ivens in an inside room, surrounded by many comrades, talking and working. I had seen him earlier in the week when he was giving evidence before the Industrial Relations Commission. I had also then had a chat with him. Neither his evidence nor talk were more ultra-radical than much of what we had heard in other western centers, although it was radical enough at that. Now was his writing, writing, on innumerable sheets of paper. His fair-haired head was bent down over his task. At all events he has black bushy eyebrows, such as are pictured on ultra-modern Europeans.

"Yes, I'll be glad to have a little about you," said Ivens, but I'm writing tomorrow's paper and there's lots to write about. I have two linotype machines running now. Of course you know that all the dailies were stopped. "Have you anything you would like to say to the people in the East?" I asked. "How could you get it out of here if I did give it to you?" he parried, and I confessed I did not know. "I think I can arrange a way," said Ivens. "On certain conditions, no press matter can go out of Winnipeg unless it has my O.K., as head of the press committee. None has gone out yet. I haven't even written any myself for outside, but I will whenever I get time. I think I can arrange for you to wire six hundred words daily to your papers, under my signature but with my O.K., provided

HOSPITAL DAY AGAIN HAS proven a great success. To the credit of the Ladies of the Auxiliary and their assistants, is the fact that the largest sum ever raised on tag day must go. The income of the day is $2547.47. Florida, St. Jacobs, Conestogo and Heidelberg are still to be heard from. The total to date is bigger than the grand total in any previous year. The incomplete sum above is made up as follows: Kitchener, $1928.47; Waterloo, $500; Elmira, $100 and Linwood, $26. The Ladies are deeply grateful for the assistance and support of the public. The kindness of the Street Railway Department, Mr. D. A. McMillan, manager of the local branch of the Merchants Bank, whose quarters were used, and the press and all others is especially acknowledged.
