to know by hearsay, was revealed. The hearing at which these glaring admissions were made was held be-fore the public service commission of the state of New York in regard to a complaint against the Buffalo General Electric Company, and the Cataract Power and Conduit Company, as to prices charged. Mr. Gabey, chief engineer, and Mr.

Then we have a picture of the Berlin, Preston and Galt Electric Railway, and just here I beg to say this road was originally an electric line, and within the last two years has taken hydro for motive power as being cheaper than developing electric power from steam.

A Pertinent Question. None of these roads are under the same parallel conditions as the L. and London the federal square scheme R. R. If it is so much cheaper, as we are told, why don't the New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Grand Trunk and other roads running from Buffalo to the Falls and from the Falls to Hamlton, all of which are within a short distance from the source of power, electrify their roads?

I presume there is some reason why Continued on Page Ten.

Mr. Beck is, to say the least, not very patriotic to his own schemes. One would think he, above all others, ould use hydro in his private business, no matter what the cost. And he admits that cheaper power can be o tained by installing the steam engine. He praises the Free Press as a friend of hydro. That newspaper does not use one horsepower of hydro and neve has. It operates in direct opposition to hydro, and has never said a word in answer to the charge made by The Advertiser that it was controlled in part by the same capital that controls the Cataract Power Company of Hamilton-the bitterest enemy Mr. Beck has. The Free Press said, when the fight was on, "The Cataract people are ikely to win the day at Hamilton. Let them show their faith first before they ask the People to accept their statements.

DYNAMITE VERDICT MAY BE APPEALED

Senator Kern Will Petition Courts For Writs of Error -No Bonds For Some.

Indianapolis, Dec. 29.—Senator Kern and other attorneys for the defence, in the dynamite conspiracy case, already have stated that appeals in behalf of the convicted labor union men will be taken to the United States circuit court of appeals. To bring this about, the attorneys will file here a petition for writs of error, accompanied by bills of excepin tions, to be signed by the court. This petition may be filed at any time within the present term, which expires next May. Upon the granting of the writs of error they may apply either to this district court, or to the United States circuit court for super sedeas bonds. If bonds are granted, and the prisoners are able to furnish them, they may remain at liberty pending the appeal. Otherwise, the men are to be imprisoned. Because of their inability to procure bonds ranging from $5,000 to $15,000, four of the men now convicted were kept in jail during a

ALDERMEN UNJUSTLY

ATTACKED.

Six members of the present Council-Messrs. Ashplant, Bennett, Blandford, Johnston, Richter and Robinsonhave been singled out for malicious and mendacious abuse since they have consented to stand for re-election.

Nothing can be alleged against them on personal grounds. They are among the most respected citizens of London Four are prominent in financial and commercial circles. A fifth is a successful lawyer, a son of one of the of the pioneer merchants of London, A sixth is a railway conductor, who has the indorsation of the Trades and Labor Council, and has proved a very useful and zealous public servant Three of the six are life-long Conservatives; three are Liberals. It would be hard to find a more representative group of candidates. For years the electors have been complaining because more men of the same type do not offer their services to the municipality. The city should count itself fortunate that such men as Messrs. Ashplant, Bennett, Blandford, Johnston, Richter and Robinson are willing to give their time and attention to civic John Bull shovelling snow and Sir

Against them the on Mr. Bordens policy is obvious. charge is iterated and reiterated that prevent their voting on the project of cession to the Nationalists with disand is dishonestly made. No member of the council of 1912 has taken the position that the electrification scheme should not be submitted to the judgdate for the Council of 1913 takes any such position. The six aldermen who are being so violently abused merely insisted on the right of the people to fuller information than was conveyed in the report of two electrical engineers, Messrs. Gabey and Storer-a re port which was completed early July, and studiously kept out of the the scheme have themselves to blame it they are open to the suspicion of concealing the report for months in order to allow as little time as possible for inquiry and discussion before compelling the people to make a decision. It was not respectful treatment of the City Council nor of citizens generally. The aldermen were regarded as a negligible quantity; it was assumed by Mr. Beck that they had no duty, no respansibility in the matter-nothing to do but swallow the report holus bolus, and send it on to the people in serene ignorance of the whole question.

It is to the credit of seven members of the Council that they refused to accept this role, and had sufficient selfrespect to demand time in which to properly consider so enormous an undertaking. Upon a vital factor in the situation they were totally in the dark -the attitude of the steam railway companies now using the London and there' Port Stanley Railway. Would they or would they not maintain their London connections, which are indispensable to the city's wholesale and jobibng interests? The chairman of the Michigan Central Board of Directors had already intimated that his company would not permit its traffic to be hauled on an electrified line. For all the city knows, the Pere Marquette may take the same attitude. The loss of one or both of these railways would be a staggering blow at London's trade and industry. It was imperative on the City Council to take account of this contingency, in the interests of the citizens themselves. Those aldermen who resolved to take time in which to try to settle these disputed points, and collect further information, deserve the reward of re-election. They showed no little courage, for they knew they would incur the bitter resentment of the interests resolved on rushing the project through before it could be place back. "The Borden proposition for the building of ships in Canada is most curious. The shipyards are to be established by British firms. The ships are to be built here by Great Britain, if the authorities there so decide. The difference in cost as between building in England and in Canada is to be paid by Canada. The ships when built are to be British. "Was there ever a more curiously constructed shipbuilding policy? Can you imagine the tortuous movements of the mind or minds which constructed it? Can you imagine the political exigencies which led to its framing?

"'Of course, there must be shipyards,' said the cabinet. 'But if we build Canadian ships, then we must put Canadians aboard them and that would not suit some of us.' It was quite a puzzle. Then someone suggested, 'Establish the shipyards and let the British Government order ships there. General applause. 'Fine idea.' 'Great.' 'But the British Government will not order ships here, because they would cost more,' said some doubting Thomas. 'Never mind,' retorted the brilliant one, 'we'll pay the difference.' And there was the

"There are shipyards today at Kingston, at Toronto, at Collingwood and at Port Arthur. At the latter place they are now building their first big boat—the largest passenger boat in the Canadian great lakes service. three lines. The Chinese have a deeprooted sense of the right thing. Confucius taught an upright moral code, and every teacher throughout the land has literally beaten into the minds of the student class. Such training often leads to the refusal of the teaching, but nevertheless the recognition of its value is implanted deep in the race fibre. Foreign Schools Factor. Second-The influence of students returning from abroad, and of foreign schools in China. A Chinese youth studying in America or England may not ppear there to be enthused with the der of civilization and around him. But when he returns to his own country and sees the contrast, one of two things happens; total loss of his newly-born patriotism in the desire for gain, or he throws himself heart and oul into what place he sees needs him. Most of the officials are of this latter class, or of those who have been eduated in foreign schools in China.

The foreign schools in China are cenes of the new life. The observer is truck not only with the conservation the patriotic spirit of the students in nese institutions, but also with the imortation of the best ideals of the west ithout the evils attending our modern vilization. And these students are the eaders. In the Canton Government the ommissioner of education is W. K. Chung, dean of the Canton Christian College, who received his western edueation in that school. Religion an Influence. Third-The influence of religion in the revolution. Wherever the religion of the vestern world has gone the people have risen to a higher standard and have beome more able to govern themselves. This naturally engenders a spirit of independence. China, under the lead good men, worked quietly but effectually for manhood, freedom and political sovereignty. How About Your Shoes? Keep 'Em Neat and Shiney Says Miss Billie Burke.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS TO KNOW

Glimpse of Novel Gown, Recipes, Fashion Hints and Correspondence.

MANY A FLUFFY GIRL WEARS THE SHOES OF A TRAMP.

[By Billie Burke.] THE FIRST WORD-Don't get run down at the heel.

I wonder why so many girls think the thing of least importance is their those when they start to get themselves into a swagger costume? Your shoes should be one of the first things that you put on when dressing. They should always be donned before you don your corset and before your hair is combed. Their importance in "good grooming" is quite as great as that of any other part of your attire, yet I have seen the prettiest girls, ing it till it forms quite a thick cream. who seemed perfectly clothed until their feet were spied, and who then made Let it cool and then add a little lemon one feel they were peacocks indeed. In no way are the different standards by which men and women are spoonful. Spread it on the top of the

Judged more noticeable than the standards by which their feet are shod.

If a man is going to apply for a job the first things he thinks about are a lif desired. Sprinkle with powdered shoe shine and a shave. If he only has a quarter it will go for these two sugar. A girl, perhaps after the same position, will be sure that her hair is coiffed in the very latest style and that there is plenty of powder on her nose -but she will forget that her shoes need blacking!

Last summer during the rehearsals of "The Mind the Paint Girl" I used to see many actors and actresses on the street that were presumedly looking how to reduce my weight, my bust for positions in the companies then forming. I could not help but notice the and hips especially? 2. I met a boy difference in the condition of their shoes. You might be sure that the man was living on his last dollar if his shoes were not shined. He had almost ful to ask to call on me, yet seems to pay a good deal of attention to me. The same condition on a girl who was all dainty, fluffy ruffes that bespoke well-filled pocketbook.

Some women seem to think that shoes with buttons off and heels run down do not mean anything if the hat is on straight. Many girls will buy a beautiful collar or jabot when they need walking boots badly and they will go on wearing shoes that are so run over at the side that their ankes are strained and the arches of their feet endangered every instant. Make a New Year's resolution that you will not abuse your feet, or other people's eyes, by wearing untidy shoes next year.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—A neatly shod foot is absolutely necessary in these days of tight skirts.

LONDON CLUB DIRECTORS CONFER WITH DENEAU

New Manager Arrived in City Saturday Evening and Had Talk With Local Management-Is Enthusiastic Over the Prospects For Next Season.

[BY JINX.]
The directors of the London Baseball Club and George "Rube" Deneau, tate manager of the Berlin Club, held a conference in this city Saturday even ng, as a result of which Deneau will manage the London team during the 1913 season. The announcement that Deneau was the choice of the local owners was made exclusively in The Advertiser a couple of weeks ago. MEETING THIS WEEK.

Although Deneau was not officially signed as manager of the London team furing his stay here Saturday evening, he arrived at satisfactory terms with the directors, and as soon as President Stevely returns from a business trip on which he left this morning, a meeting of the club will be held and the appointment of Deneau will be put through. This meeting will likely be held next Friday evening, and a contract will be forwarded to "Rube" as soon as

A catcher named Hammersmith, a pitcher named Burlin, both South Michigan League players, were mentioned by Deneau as likely youngsters, and ones that he could secure for a mere song. He has several other men in view, and will have a lively bunch of players here the last week in April, when the London team will start in to train for the season.

HAMILTON ALERTS DROPPED FROM O. H. A. MEMBERSHIP

Toronto, Dec. 30.—At Saturday's meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association executive the Hamilton Alerts were dropped from membership, and a barefaced attempt at a wholesale violation of the rules and principles of the association was effectually disposed of. Any other course would have been impossible. The committee's action was the result other course would have been impossible. The committee's action was the result of the application of the Alerts for certificates for a dozen players who were brought from all parts of the country and planted in Hamilton in time to get within the residence rule date, Aug. 1. Some of them are noterious for their travelling and country and and cluster being or them are noterious for their travelling propensities, Marchand and Gustin being last in Cleveland, while others halled from Kingston, Orillia, Detroit, Peterboro and Oshawa, Among them were H. NUMBER '40' MUST HAVE A MEANING

Number Should Occur So Many Times.

Have you ever noticed anything pe culiar about the number forty? These figures seem to have had an unusual bearing on events, both past and pres-

We all know the story of the "forty" thieves and the old verse of the "forty" flags. Then, there are the members of the French Academy known as the "forty" immortals; and the old slang for "going some" was "going like forty." But the most interesting list of occurrences in which this mysterious "forty" is to be found is in the Bible, as shown in the following:

"The rain that produced the flood fell for 'forty' days and 'forty' nights, and after it had ceased it was 'forty' days before Noah opened the ark. Moses was 'forty' days on the mountain fasting, and the spies spent 'forty' days investigating matters in Canaan before making their report. Elijah fasted 'forty' days in the wilderness, and Jonah gave the people of Nineveh 'forty' days in which to repent. 'The 'forty' days' fast of Jesus is known to all readers of the

The Bible is always interesting, but the one distributed by The Advertiser has an added feature of interest in its magnificent illustrations. Besides these which are printed with the text matter and which were prepared at an expense of $50,000, there are numerous full-page color plates from the worldfamous Tissot collection. All of these 'eye-teaching" pictures have a direct reference to the verses which they accompany, which cannot be said of any

HARRY WALLACE FELL ASLEEP LISTENING TO MR. BECK SPEAK

With Aid of Chairman M.P.P. For London Monopolized the Platform.

Mr. Beck monopolized practically all Saturday night.

With Mayor Graham, and a chairman, who was not averse to plainly showing his partiality, he was able to speak as long as he willed, where municipal candidates went without a hearing at all.

Mr. Harry Wallace, aldermanic aspirant, who formed the background for Mr. Beck, together with the mayor and the chairman, went to sleep, while Mr. Beck proceeded with the long and disconnected speech. Mr. Wallace, along with Ald, Coles, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Bennett and others, waited for a chance to speak in vain.

Not a Convincing Speech, Mr. Beck has lost his power to hold an audience. There were 15 people at he meeting, including Mr. Beck's hydro-electric solicitors, his horse trainers, Ald. Wright and a few of the job-wanters. They did the applauding, but with 75 per cent. of the audience there was a plain lack of conviction and no applause. During the speech wearied hearers got up while Mr. Beck vas trying to make telling points, and left the hall. They left by twos and threes and fours. They either were absolutely convinced, tired, or not convinced. That they were not much interested in what Mr. Beck had to say was apparent. A Vicious Attack. Mr. Beck made his usual dramatic the people. Mr. Beck led a chorus of hoots when Mr. Richter endeavored to explain. Mr. Beck was manifestly unfair in this incident, and he did not curb his tongue n any regard during the evening. He did not dare openly to admit that the London Free Press was a non-user of hydro-electric. For the purpose of the hour he praised that journal. He hurried over the thin ice of his own patriotism, to his own scheme in his own factory. Just His Say-So. He did not say a single word in regard to the maintenance of steam connections with London in case the L. and P. S. R. was electrified, the protests of shippers and businessmen, or the lack of terminal facilities for the line. He did not show anything he said to be a fact. He simply said that it was a fact. He did not tell why he did not welcome further investigation into the

Final Meeting for 1912 Held by the Board

At the final meeting for 1912 of the directors of the London and Port Stanley Railway, held at noon tocay in Mayor Graham's office, the annual report of the president was presented by his worship. He reviewed the work done for the year.

The board held 17 meetings, attended as follows: Mayor Graham 17, Ald. Coles 14, Ald. Moore 16, Ald. Murphy 14, Ald. Spittal 13, Ald. Blandford 9. Ald. Wright 15, Ald. Ashplant 13, and Ald. Rose 5.

The report was filed. A meeting of the shareholders was held subsequently, but as there was no business to be transacted it adjourned.

Those present at the meeting were: Mayor Graham, Ald. Murphy, Ald. Rose, Ald. Wright, Ald. Coles, Ald. Spittal, and Secretary S. Baker.

Ex-Ald, William Gerry, who is a candidate for aldermanic honors, stated that if elected to the council he would take the stand that more information should be obtained before the electrification proposition was presented to the people for their opinion.

As to Electrification.

"In regard to the electrification of the Port Stanley Railroad, I haven't the least doubt that all would be in favor of the scheme if they could see where the revenue would come from. At present the London and Port Stanley Railway is $600,000 in debt, and is going behind every year. This is serious problem, and now the city is asked to add near $1,000,000 to debt. This will result in the city being The citizens are not asking too much when they ask for information. quires more information than has been made public as yet. A large part of the audience could not see the connection between the two comparisons.

Ald. Spittal.

Ald. William Spittal referred to his work on the finance committee, manufacturer's committee, of which he was chairman, and the London and Port Stanley Board. He said that he had taken a very keen interest in the possibilities of London, and finally the districts to the east of the city had been annexed. He recommended that all the bylaws loaning money to industries be carried, as each firm was giving ample security to the city. He said that the candidates this year were compelled to make known their stand on electrification rather than an acount of their work during the year. "I wish to say that I am for electrification," he declared.

Bad Roads.

E. H. Russell, another aldermanic candidate, drew the attention of those present to the conditions of the roads in the city, and stated that there hould be a capable person given sole harge of the work.

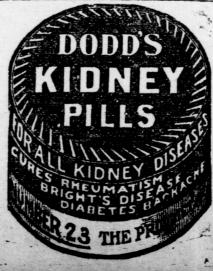

"At present the roads are in a disgraceful condition," said the speaker. "The waterworks department, City las Company, sewer people and Bell Telephone Company have all been digging up the roadbeds and do not restore them to a proper condition when they are through."

"You have been reading The Adveriser," was the comment of one of the audience.

Mr. Russell also attacked the proposed Greene-Swift bylaw, and stated that it would be a big mistake if it were ratified by the ratepayers.

One-Man Rule. A. R. Calcott, who is a candidate for the water commission, made a brief address, in which he denounced the present policy of the commission. "I cannot commence to enumerate the ills and wrongs that are prevalent in this part of the city government at present," he said. "One of the previous speakers has referred to one-man rule. If there is one department of the city government with one-man rule, it is the waterworks department. What Mr. with papers in order to collect his wits. Glaubitz says, goes. After punishing the tribes for the mur-der of the political agent, for the British Government has a way of impressing natives with the fact that British lives must be respected, the explorers pushed northward across deep valley clefts and unknown to Europe, living on scanty crops, supplemented by rats and squirrels snared in the jungle, and heard from them of even remoter and more mys-terious tribes who were said to barter with the Abors in human bodies. with the Abors in human bodies. The Greene-Swift bylaw says that the council may not grant this right for more than one year; why? Because the Legislature restrains them, and why does the Legislature restrain them? Because it considers the giving away of rights in the streets too serious a matter for them o decide, that is to say, that the people cannot delegate to an elected representative these sovereign rights in the streets. And if the Legislature does this, it evidently must be a serious matter. and so its protects the people as much as it possibly can. In pagan days children were looked upon as the development of a finer civilization the order of affairs changed. Parents ruled by love and were urged by Father Gleeson to continue. Fathers and mothers should so con duct themselves each day as to be worthy models for the lives of their sons and daughters, he said.

WHAT MEN WANT IN WOMEN. [Eibert Hubbard in London Budget.] A correspondent asks this: "Do bril dant men prefer brilliant women?" say, yes. The essence of marriage is companionship, and the woman you face scross the coffee urn every morning for ninety-nine years must be both able to appreciate your jokes and to sympathize with your aspirations. If this is not so, the man will stray, actually, or else chase the ghosts of dead hopes through the graveyard of his dreams. Plainness of feature does not prohibit charm of manner, sincerity, honesty, and the ability to be a good housekeeper and a noble mother. There are many degrees of brilliancy, but as a general proposition this holds; A brilliant man wants a wife who is intellectually on his wire-one who, when he rings up, responds, net up for your consideration is the fact that the council did not have sufleient time to discuss the question intelligently, and deal with it wisely. It does seem strange, that if the London and Port Stanley Board had been dealng with this matter for the past eight or nine months, as Mayor Graham states, it should have been thrust upon the council at the last meeting of the year for action.

No Time For Consideration.

The council should have been given time for consideration. The four mempers not on the London and Port Staney Board were not furnished with reports, or instructed concerning the affair at all. I do not know whose fault it was that the matter was held up, but it was held up. As I said before four members of the council were afforded no opportunity of listening to the discussions or hearing the report criticised until the very last meeting at which a bylaw could be prepared r submission to the ratepayers It as been a rule of my life not to jump nto any business deal without close consideration. The council would have been able to deal with it properly. The finance committee would have given it careful consideration, if such an opportunity had been given the members to discuss it, and deal with it on its merits. In this way, the council would have been compelled to submit the bylaw to the ratepayers. The money cannot be raised unless a bylaw is sub mitted. The aldermen could not with hold a money bylaw from the people "Ald, Ashplant's motion, carried by the council, when the question was Ald. the business and another took charge of the operation. It was the only proper way of handling the project. Mr. Beck then went into the question of electrification. He said that while there was no bylaw before the people, the future of the London and Port Stanley was at stake. Ald. Richter, he stated, did not point out that the directors of the London and Port Stanley Raliway could lease the road to any corporation without the consent of the people. That was what he feared, and he called upon the electors to support those who were pledged to give the citizens a chance to vote on the question. FOREIGNER DENIED CHARGE OF ROBBING WEST LONDON GIRL

Mr. Beck then dealt with the critics of the scheme, paying some attention to The Advertiser. Ald. Richter was abused for having the temerity to criticise the report of Engineer Gabey. The letter was painted in such glowing hues Donardo Mawrizio, a laborer, who was arrested yesterday by P. C. Alex. Ewen, on complaint of Miss Lily Ward, who, as stated in Saturday's Adverlatter was painted in such glowing hues that one imagined without the slightest strain that Mr. Gabey was about due for canonization. It was almost akin to sacrilege to speak about him at all.

Mr. Beck stated that he did get an inof money while crossing Dundas street bridge into West London, was released Mr. Beck stated that he did get an in-dependent engineer to satisfy the critics, and when his opinion was given the op-ponents immediately found fault with such a man. COUNCIL'S LAST SESSION

ing Bylaws Said To

The last session of the council this afternoon promises to be a memorable one, some of the aldermen having don-ned their war paint.

One question that is certain to cause debate is the account to be presented by the manufacturers' committee for 3.25, for advertising the loan bylaws to be voted on election day. Just when the payment was authorized is hard to un-derstand, but Ald. Richter intends finding out. From present information, it seems that the expenditure is illegal, and will be fought.

"They have no right or authority expend this money," declared Ald. Richter. "There is nothing in the municipal act to allow them to do so, and I intend opposing it. If it is passed, I will sue every alderman voting for it in the first competent court after January. cannot get away with this sort of thing while I am in the council." Of all the traces of Greek civilization in this part of Italy nothing equals in interest the ruins of the city about thirty miles south of Naples. The outside world knows little of Pesto, because it is out of the beaten track of the tourist and not easily accessible like Pompeii or other buried cities on direct line of railway. But those who take the trouble to make a special visit will be astonished to find some of the most perfectly preserved remains of an ancient city that have yet been brought to light

As the work progresses the whole city in its original plan is gradually becoming outlined—the temples, baths, fountains, squares, public buildings, private houses and shops erected by the hand of man 2,500 years ago. A main street runs through the city from the northern gate, skirting several magnificent temples, and continuing through the southern gate as a high road to other Grecian cities or settlements on the Mediterranean coast. The roadway is paved with massive blocks of granite, some of them ten feet square, welded together with concrete. About midway in the city rises temple of pure design, forming a spectacle unique of its kind. The massive times. Along the main street are many houses, doorways and other evidences

Near the temple has been unearthed a massive altar, such as the Greeks used to erect in front of their places of worship. It is 75 feet around by 20 high and is sculptured with heads of divinities and drinking cups and other objects belonging to the finest period of Greek art. Professor Victor Spinazzola, director of the Naples Museum, who also directs the excavations at Pompeii, has been able to identify Neptune as the god to whom the city was consecrated through its leading temple, and the harmony of detail coinciding with this theory has thrown valuable light on certain disputed points of heathen mythology.

Continuing his research on his own main street crossings, the first mentioned, at right angles, and graduall a whole vista of columns are lising to view in a line running from east to west, broken by what seems to have been a forum near the centre of the

The Pesto ruins also show that the ity was in full splendor in later times when Rome was at the height of her power. This is attested by the numer-ous statues of Roman emperors up to the time of Constantine which have een successively unearthed.

When the excavations have been completed-which, it is hoped, will be within the next five years-Pesto, it is asserted by the professor, will be the finest example of an ancient city re-stored through excavations which the modern world has seen.
