PRAISE FOR HAIG

Seven years ago today, a train rumbled over a makeshift road in northern France. In the cab were Sergt. R. Dunn, pilot, and Sergt. W. Russell, fireman. In one of the coaches behind was Field Marshal Earl Haig. He was speeding to a new sector to plan a part of the big summer offensive of 1918 that made victory for the allies inevitable. This morning at the C. N. R. station, R. Dunn of Toronto was inspecting his engine during the ten-minute halt of his train. Fireman W.

Not only in United States but in Canada and other countries there have been many resolutions passed urging that when there is mobilization for war, everything in the country be included as well as the man power. That would include all material resources, money, property and all manner of holdings. To a certain extent all these things are at stake when a state of war exists, whether we realize it or not.

Common Folks

They never get much notice now, nor folks don't watch them as theu go, nor stop to whisper to a friend as how that's Mr. So and So.

I was just readin' of a chap who made ten million dollars quick, he scooped the ducate in a pail and cleaned ten thousand at a lick. It didn't seem to make much odds to what he put his hand to do, where he put in one bone to work inside a month he drawed out two.

Some person wrote his story up and told how he had took each step, describin' him in modern terms as full of notions, full of

And he posed for a photograph, a-sittin' out in front his place, there was a million dollar grin that parked straightway across his face. His wife she had her picture took and all the family they was there, they have a farmin' house as well where they soak up the country air.

Another story in the book it told about another jay, who stacked the shekels in the bank like farmers fork away the hay. Likewise he had his picture in, and there was pages writ on him, that showed him as a bare-faced youth, and then with whiskers

No doubt it's good to read such things, it makes us wonder now and then, if we can't make a killin' too and have great gobs of wealth like them.

But still there be some other men who never get their name in print, if they should pool the coin they have they couldn't start a second mint. They do the very best they can and never try to shed their yoke, they be what most of us are termed, we're just the common sort of folk.

And them what write in magazines they seldom come to call on them, or ask them what they're workin' at, and how they be

Yet as this world is run I guess there always will be common men, the folks who start out every day to do the same old thing again. And when they walk upon the street folks don't disturb them as they go, nor say when they be passin' by as how that's Mr.

Yet I can't think it would be well if things was changed some other way, and all these common, wholesome folks was took from out this place some day.

For if they was all took away and not one left upon the earth, they'd find inside a day or two just what them common men was worth.

They don't get much attention now, there's lots who go and pass them by, nor do they fill the notches up that's labeled big and kind of high. Yet all the same I'd hate to be a-livin' on exclusive ground, if there was no provision made to have some common folks around .- ARK.

New York, July 24.-There has always been a fringe to society, but this fall those both within and with: out the charmed circle seem destined to wear fringes. Some of the newest exhibited at the Exposition des Arts Decoratifs in Paris show a voluminous use of fringe to supplant the fullness now furnished evening frocks by pleats and flounces.

Cretonne is widely used behind windows to balk the stares of the curious. It does not serve, however, to balk the gaze of the curious when worn on the beaches. That is why cretonne tunics now are being wor: extensively over woolen bathing tights of vivid hue. The loose cre-tonne tunics are discarded when the wearer goes into the water in Eng-land. Orient Seconds

The Orient intermediates have real chance to cop the second series f the Western Ontario league and are going into the lists this afternoon at Queen's Park, against the Lowly Yanks Tumble Senators, ured him again, and another right Strathroy clan, A victory for the locals means the probable downfall of the Lucan Irish nine from the top of the heap.

The Strathroy outfit hasn't been go ing so good of late and its failure to stay up in the running has been mostly due to pitching. Bochert is about the only dependable hurler they have now that Elliott has been refused a card. Borchert has lots of stuff, but lacks control and all the batters have been waiting him out. The Orients should have no difficulty mound.

Young Taylor, who set Strathrov back two weeks ago, is ready to go today and in all probability will draw the assignment. "Tiny" Balkwell is also in shape and may get the job.

The game is scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m.

"Tiny" Rynearson, who is a Y. M.

C. A. instructor in Detroit, returned to the Auto City last night after having signed a London contract. He asked for a trial, but was unable to stay with the club this week, owing to the fact that he had some more time to put in on his Y. M. C. A. work.

He has been pitching for semi-pro. teams around Detroit, but hasn't been working regularly. He is much improved over his form of a season ago, although even then he was winning his proportion of ball games.

Achenback is taking a rest. Alton is strained muscle in his back.

Cleveland, angling already for several of the London players, has also taken a fancy to a right-hand pitcher.

It's either a feast or a famine in the way of umpires in the Mint league. Fortunately yesterday there were no really close decisions but it puts the players asked to do the umpiring in an awkward position.

Jesse Burkett, who managed an Eastern league team several seasons, after his playing days were over, has always resented being called "old." Of course we know Jesse is far from being a spring chicken, and, in fact, was a veteran when he played in St. Louis years ago. But if a young player wanted to get in bad, all he had to do was to refer to him as "Old Jess." Bill Friel is responsible for this one:

Last spring, so the story goes, there was a newcomer on Burkett's team, who, after meeting his new boss, said "So you're old Jess Burkett. Say, I used to peep through a knot-hole to watch you play."

"Well, young man," came back Bur-

watch you play."
"Weil, young man," came back Burkett thoughtfully. "if you don't get some base hits, you'll be seeing your baseball through a knot-hole again."

Caleys Meets C. N. R. and Rovers Tackle Thistles in St. Thomas.

WESTMINSTER HERE

Three intercity games will be played on Saturday, two in St. Thomas and one at Westminster hospital, and the London Garrison will journey to Glencoe to play an exhibition game.

The games in St. Thomas will be as interesting as the fans could wish. The game at the athletic grounds will be between the Caleys and the C. N. R. and should be a real battle as the Caleys must win against the Railroaders if they desire to keep up in the race for honors, and should they win they will be only one point behind the leaders, but the Railroad ers can be depended upon to give of their best and will be out to uphold their unbeaten record. The ktck-off is at 5:30 p.m. and E. Duckworth will handle the game. The other game at St. Thomas between the Rovers and the Thistles and should be a great game. The Thistles are playing pretty football and although playing away will make a bold bid to win, and Latham and his men will need to give of their best as the Thistles will be hard to beat and have lots of confidence. The kick-off is at 5:30 p.m. and A. All-man will referee. The game at Westminster, where the Medicos entertain the United Vets of St. Thomas, should be interesting as the Vets have a well-balanced side and should give the Medicos a real battle. Both sides will be at full strength and the kick-off is at 5:45 p.m., with F. G. Carr in charge

FOREST INTERMEDIATES PLAY IMPERIALS TO TIE

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, July 23.—Forest intermediates with Shawana, the little Indian right-hander, carried the championship Imperial nine to a 3-3 tie in ten innings here today, the game being called on account of darkness. Tedder struck out eight and walked four, Shawana taking six by the strike-out route, and walked three.

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, July 25.—Characteristic of trading during the past week, the wheat market here today slumped in the closing minutes of the session, after price levels had held comparatively firm. Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, July 24.—Although the wheat market showed a downward trend at the opening today, decided rallies soon took place. Initial declines were due more or less to scattered rains in spring wheat territory. Buying based largely on crop damage reports, however, led to a quick upturn of values. Opening prices, ½c to 2c lower, were followed by a recovery that carried the market to well above yesterday's finish, September touching $1.49%, and December, $1.50. CHICAGO

September touching $1.491%, and December, $1.50.
Further complaints of lack of moisture gave strength to the corn smarket, despite considerable selling. After opening at half a cent decline to a quartercent advance, prices underwent a slight general sag and then scored material gains all around.
Oats changes were narrow. Starting at 1/3c to 1/3c off the market held near to the initial limits.

Orange Head Attacks Separate Schools and Bilingualism.

Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, July 23.-The annual address of Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards of Kingston, grand master, and the presentation of reports featured Wednesday's sessions of the Grand Orange Lodge being held here.

Dr. Edwards in his speech quoted census and other statistics in support of his declaration that "a two faced wedge of separatism is being driven more and more deeply into the national life of our country." The grand master cited the activi-ties of autonomy doctrinaries, pro-posals to abolish appeals to the privy council, and particularly the pro-posal to adopt another Canadian flag design on the recommendation of a ommittee.

He referred to all these as siniste influences to lessen British prestige in Canada and alleged they were all part of an effort to undermine re-spect for the motherland, its institu-

Two great factors — separate schools and bilingualism—menaced the future of Canada as a British the future of Canada as a British country Dr. Edwards declared, and gave it as his opinion that "the principles and ideals of the Orange association are of more importance to the future of Canada as a British country than the temporary success of any political party."

Daylight Thief Shoots Chickens

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, July 23.—High Constable Peters is seeking a chicken thief who has adopted novel methods. It is alleged he drives along country roads in the day-time and bags any chickens which happen to stray from farms. If any chickens start trouble he shoots them with a small calibre rifle. The complaints concerning this new type of chicken thief reached Chief Peters from Dover township.

Governor Pinchot Brings Factions Together by Shelving Checkoff.

Associated Press Despatch. Atlantic City, July 23.-Anthracite operators paused today in deliberaions with the miners on the latter's demands for adoption of the checkoff to answer what they deemed a challenge of their authority to negotiate renewal of the contract expiring August 31.

All the arguments which miners and operators have exchanged for years for and against adoption of the union check-off, by which company paymasters would deduct union dues from pay envelopes, were re-

The check-off was recalled today as having been the rock upon which the 1923 wage conference split. The controversy kept the parley divided until nearly four hours before Governor Pinchot finally brought the two sides together by shelving the question entirely, and securing agreement upon the different basis of a 10 per cent increase in wages. It needs only an appetizing odor from the kitchen to lure the children to the door begging for something to eat because they are "simply starved."
