POETRY.

An Old Maid.

Her eyes like quiet pools are clear;

Her placid face is calm and fair;

The frost of many a vanished year

Lies on her hair.

She has no memories of love

Exchanged below an April moon,

Or whispered converse 'neath the boughs

Of rose-bright June.

She never planned her wedding gown—

This sweet old maiden true and good;

For her life held no sacred crown

Of motherhood.

Yet to the shelter of her side

The little orphan children press;

'Tis known she mothers, far and wide,

The motherless.

The poor and suffering know her well—

Such ready sympathy she shows;

The sorrow-burdened freely tell

To her their woes.

For those who stumble, those who fall,

Her heart with gentler truth is stirred;

She has a kindly smile for all

A cheering word.

With Fate she never wages strife;

It must be right since God knows best;

And so she lives her useful life,

Blessing and blest.

She strews the thorny path with flowers,

She turns the darkness into day;

And, as we clasp her hands in ours,

We can't but say:

"Dear friend, so rich in love and truth,

With large, warm heart and steadfast mind,

'Twas well for some that in your youth

The men were blind."

SELECT STORY.

When a Man's Single.

BY JAMES N. BARRIE.

such that his male servants are said never to know whether he will give them a shilling or a whiff of his cane-stick if they get it. The gardener takes a look at him from behind a tree before venturing to address him. I suppose his poverty is at the bottom of it, for the estate is mortgaged heavily, and he has had to cut down trees, and even to sell his horses. The tenants seem to like him, though, and if they dared they would tell him not to think himself bound to give them this annual dinner. There are numberless stories of his extravagant kindness. According to his servants, he once emptied his pocket to a beggar at a railway-station, and then discovered that he had no money for his own ticket. As for the ne'er-do-weels, their importuning makes him rage, but they know he will fling them something in the end if they ex-

"Well, in the middle of the discussion an important telegram arrived, to the not unamused disgust of both.

As is often the case the message was misspelled, and barely decipherable, and one part of it pointed Tomlinson to a good deal. It read: 'Zulus have taken Umbrage; English forces had to retreat.' Tomlinson searched the misspelled telegram, and found that the Zulus had taken; and Penny, being in a hurry, was sure it was correct. So they ricked it, and next morning the chief lines in the 'Mirror' contents bill were: 'Latest News of the War;

Capture of Umbrage by the Zulus.'

By this time the reporters had pressed into the grounds of the castle, and being late, were hurrying on the grand avenue. It was the hour and the season when night comes on so sharply that its shadow may be seen trailing the earth as a breeze runs along a field of corn. Heard from a height, the roar of the Dome among rocks might have been the rattle of the surrounding trees in June; so men and women who grow old together sometimes lend each other a voice. Walsh, seeing his opportunity in Rob's silence, began to speak of himself. He told how his first press-work had been a series of letters he had written when at school, and contributed to a local paper under the signatures of 'Paterfamilias' and

'An Indignant Rate-payer.' Rob scarcely heard. The bare romantic impression he had, and the snow in his face was like a whiff of Thruons.

He was dreaming, but not of the reception he might get at the castle, when the clatter of horses awoke him.

"There is a machine behind us," he said, though he would have written trap.

A brougham lumbered into sight.

As its lamps flashed on the pedestrians, the coachman jerked his horses to the side, and Rob had a glimpse of the carriage's occupant. The brougham stopped.

"I beg your pardon," said the traveller, opening his window, and addressing Rob, "but in the darkness I mistook you for Colonel Abinger."

"We are on our way to the castle," said Walsh, stepping forward.

"Ay, then," said the stranger, "perhaps you will give me your company for the short distance we have still to go."

There was a fine courtesy in his manner that made the reporters feel

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 19, 1897.

Editorial Notes.

Next Thursday has been appointed by the Government as a day for National Thanksgiving. Count up the things you have to be thankful for. Last year the ACADIAN urged that in future a day be selected nearer the harvest season and when the weather would be more favorable for the celebration. The end of October would be more reasonable than the end of November.

The Cuban insurgents have refused to accept Spain's terms of peace. They are fighting for their independence, and show no disposition to be satisfied with any measure of autonomy proposed by the Spanish government. They have certainly made a prolonged and gallant fight for their freedom, and their cause has attracted world wide sympathy. The subjugation of the island is still to be accomplished, and it is doubtful if Blanco can do what Weyler so ignominiously failed to do. The Cubans are every day strengthening their position, and are receiving considerable support from sympathizers in the United States.

The first issue of the Acadia Athenaeum for the current College year has reached our table. It is very neatly printed from the press of Claude deL. Black, of Amherst. The cover is of a new and very neat design, which bears the name of our young townsman Mr. A. R. Cobb. We congratulate him on the evidence of his artistic skill. Mr. A. F. Newcomb, of '98, is the editor-in-chief and he has associated with him a good staff of assistants. The number before us is illustrated with a full-page cut of the "Institutions of Acadia University" and an excellent portrait of President Trotter. The reading matter is timely and will be interesting to friends of Acadia.

Madame Harrison's Concert.

Notwithstanding the very inclement state of the weather on Friday evening last College Hall was well filled with the most appreciative audience. Had the night been fine there would hardly have been room for those who would have attended. The programme rendered was an excellent one and it is hardly necessary to say was highly enjoyed by all. Madame Harrison is gifted with a voice of surpassing richness and flexibility and a stage presence that is as charming as her singing is artistic. In the high notes her voice is phenomenon, being marked by an exquisite purity of tone and wonderful compass and power. Scores and double choruses were in order and she held her audience captive by the very last note of "God Save the Queen."

Windsor Fire-Church Relief.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific the people have been moved to feelings of sympathy, by reports that have come to them that the once beautiful town of Windsor, N. S., now lies in ashes, as a result of that fatal fire on Sunday, Oct. 17th, which destroyed about two million dollars worth of property.

No person can fully conceive the utter desolation of the town, unless, like ourselves, he has passed over the ruins. All that is left of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches, as also of the cottage homes and palatial residences of nearly 3,000 people, are the chimneys that stand as monuments in a cemetery.

Our sympathies have not ended in sentimental expressions, but food, clothing and money have been forwarded to relieve the people. Shall we now be satisfied with what we have done, or shall we still come to the rescue?

The people of Windsor are taking fresh heart, and are planning, as far as possible, to rebuild their homes and business places, and they have also decided to attempt to rebuild the churches; but under the circumstances the pastors and people feel themselves inadequate to assume this additional expense. Just think of it: 108 Baptists, 97 Methodists and 75 Presbyterian families were rendered homeless, and many of them penniless.

Will not the church-loving people all over the Dominion help the friends at Windsor to secure a church home? We believe they will.

That thousands may have the privilege of aiding this deserving people we, on behalf of the pastors and churches, most earnestly request that every generous-hearted person send one dollar, or more, to at least one of these churches. Let the Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians emulate one another in sending contributions.

As we sit in our homes and churches on Sabbath, let us think how we should feel if we were homeless and penniless, and then mail our letters containing our contributions and so "do unto others as we would that they should do unto us."

(Signed) GOSWELL & HUNTER.

Kindly mail your contributions to one of the following:— Rev. Fred H. Wright, pastor of Methodist church, Rev. Henry Dickie, pastor of Presbyterian church, Rev. A. A. Shaw, pastor of Baptist church, Windsor, N. S., Halifax, N. S., Nov. 10th, 1897.

ANNUAL REPORT OF DIRECTORS.

Another year has rolled around, and it again becomes our duty to submit to the annual meeting a report of the proceedings for the last year. Since our annual meeting in 1896 we held our annual dinner at the Hotel "Central," Wolfville, which was well patronized and highly appreciated by those participating. The report spread by "mine host" was excellent. The speeches by both guests and members were both interesting and instructive, frequently witty, and sometimes quite cutting. We also held a meeting in Evangeline Hall to discuss fruit shipping, when Mr. Innes, Dr. De Witt, Mr. A. McN. Patterson and some others discussed the matter of fruit shipment across the Atlantic at some length, after which a paper was opened to take names of subscribers for stock in a company being formed to further the more advantageous shipment of apples across to England. Several shares were taken but thus far that seems to be the end thereof, although the movement last autumn had the effect of reducing freight rates per steamer ten cents per barrel, which, although a small matter on one barrel, yet when so many were shipped and prices were so low, made quite a respectable showing in the aggregate, and we are looking for further reduction in the near future.

We have in the society at present eight bulls, four rams and two boars, all thoroughlybred, distributed as follows: a Durham bull, at Charles Reid's, Ayrshire at J. N. Fuller's, Hortonville; a Jersey at Chas. Patterson's and an Ayrshire at J. N. Fuller's, Hortonville; a dairy Durham at W. C. Tremblay's, Grand Pré; an Ayrshire at Robert Palmer's, Long Island; an Ayrshire at James Simson's, Lower Gasperau; and an Ayrshire at Fred Westcott's, Upper Gasperau, besides an Ayrshire calf at James Simson's ready to take the place of the old bull, whose time expires with the dying year. There is a Southdown ram at Chas. Reid's, in Ayrshire; a Shropshire at Ellis Harris', Hortonville; a Shropshire at F. Westcott's, Gasperau; and a Shropshire at Mr. Elderkin's, Wolfville. A Berkshire boar at Chas. Reid's, Ayrshire, and a Yorkshire at Fred Davidson's, Gasperau; and two or three more to be placed in the near future, which, when supplied, will make sixteen or seventeen thoroughbred stock-entries in this one society, which goes to show that although the society is venerable with age it is not at all feeble with the infirmities of old age. We also have a corn-sheller, and three horses and one hand seed sower.

We have had a very remarkable year. In September, 1896, the weather came in wet and continued excessively wet for weeks, and the result of the season was that with great difficulty that the farmers were able to harvest their potatoes and turnips, and in some instances turnips were frozen in the ground and remained there. There was an abundance of snow during the winter with frequent rains sufficient to keep the snow from becoming too deep. Then again in the spring the wet weather continued so incessantly that sowing and planting were delayed far beyond the usual times—crops being sown as late as the twenty-fifth of June, and potatoes planted on the ninth of July, both of which breaks the record for Kings county as far as we are aware. The wet weather still continued so that in many instances potatoes did not get hood at all, and in the majority of cases only once, which resulted in a very small crop of potatoes except on very dry land, and here comes in the advantage of under-drainage, as land that was well under-drained could be planted from two to four weeks earlier last spring, and then could be hood, and the difference in result would, in many cases, be 100 bushels per acre, which this year means something quite handsome. Since early in or perhaps the middle of August it has been comparatively dry, and October extremely so.

We have an abundant crop of hay, a very fair crop of oats, an extremely light yield of potatoes and turnips, while fruit of all kinds except pears was almost a failure, and yet with the high prices ruling for apples and potatoes it is almost certain that more money will come into the country for these two valuable crops this year than was obtained from the abundant crops last year, while it will only cost about a quarter as much to harvest, pack and ship them this year as last.

The year, or at any rate the summer has been a successful one for dairying. The pastures were good all summer and the afterfeed particularly good, which gave a good flow of milk from early in May up to the present, and our creamery in Wolfville has benefited thereby, while we in turn reap the advantages in increased returns on our checks. This industry is steadily growing and is destined to continue increasing in the future. Many who now make butter at home and try to sell it at the stores, or swap it off for goods, are learning that the milk obtained from the factory will buy more goods and the merchant be much better satisfied as well, while many more will learn this fact in the near future and farmers all along the line would come into line at once there would be quite an advance in returns, owing to less cost per cwt running factory and drawing milk, but this is coming by degrees.

In looking ahead we see in prospective the plows starting now in abundance to get ready for the next year's crops. October has been a beautiful month for harvesting farm produce, but being so dry very little plowing could be done, but last evening the rain began to fall gently and has continued up to time of our meeting, which will render plowing quite practicable, and doubtless many of our farmers will start the plow at once—looking forward to a better season and better crops. And yet perhaps in the end, we as a class will be as well off when this year's crop is marketed as last year's. We are looking ahead also to the annual dinner next month, which has become a regular institution. Thanking you for your kind attention we will now bring this to a close.

J. N. FULLER, Chairman Board of Directors of Kings Co. Agricultural Society for year ending November, 1897.

We as a society have been called to mourn the loss of our president, who for so many years has filled that office regularly and faithfully, so that we had come to look upon him as a permanent fixture—but man proposes and God disposes, and we must submit. He was a good faithful member, a painstaking president and a good citizen, and we will miss him in the society as well as in the community.

The Antifootball Bill.

The following from the Medical Record, of New York, a copy of which has been kindly loaned us by Dr. Bars, appears to us to be very timely:—

The lamentable death of the Georgia student Gammon as a result of injuries received in a game of football has occasioned the passage of a bill by the house of representatives of Georgia, making it a misdemeanor to engage in the game when matches have been arranged or gate money has been demanded. The overwhelming majority vote of the lower house makes it quite probable that the senate will endorse the action and the bill will become a law. If this be the case, Georgia will set a laudable example for every commonwealth in the country. The time certainly has come when such a general movement is necessary. In view of the great number of serious accidents on the football field between college teams, it is impossible any longer to view the game in the light of innocent recreative amusement with harmless and healthful athletics as its object. Although so-called slugging has been ruled out in the new game, there is still left enough of brutal muscular force to make the alleged sport productive of the greatest variety of surgical injuries to every part of the body. In fact, there is hardly a game played in which some one of the contestants is not more or less seriously hurt. Only the severer injuries are noted, while the lesser ones serve as unhealed incidents to call forth the plant of an excited audience. Short of actual death on the field, not much account is taken of the hundreds of young men who are injured in the course of the game. The trainers explain the number of injuries by the lack of requisite physical preparation for the contest, but in reality the more the footballers are trained the more dangerous becomes the game. It is certainly time that we should look the matter fairly in the face. If we wish to develop pluck, courage, endurance and strength, we can do so in more healthful and safer ways. It is time that the new game, with mere weight against weight, should be abolished.

A correspondent writes to the Halifax Herald: "Two children of Hibbert Finch, little girls, aged 4 and 6, on Hand-scabbles Mountain, south of Grand Pré, died within three days of each other, of diphtheritic croup. Drs. Chipman and DeWitt used the antitoxin on the eldest child, but without effect. The cases were of the same type as those in Wolfville and Kentville, that proved so fatal. All these cases differ from the ordinary type of diphtheria. Nothing could be seen in the throat, and there was no odor. The disease attacked the larynx, the upper part of the wind pipe, the membrane literally choking the patient to death."

We have just seen that sweet picture entitled, "I Fell From the Nest," this year's premium with the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. How such a paper and such a picture can be given for the small sum charged is a mystery utterly beyond comprehension. Many a great publisher has tried to explain how it is done, but has had to give it up. These who are regular readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star are to be congratulated. We hear the Family Herald office is besieged by people subscribing for it.

The steamer Evangeline had a rough time at Partridge Island pier last Friday night. The gale which was southeast we fell on it and as there is no out to protect her she got the full benefit of the sea. As laying there meant certain destruction to the vessel the captain was obliged in the teeth of the gale to leave the pier and make for the river, which he succeeded in doing. He was obliged to leave his lines, as the sea was so heavy that no one dare venture on the pier to cast them off.

Fletcher and McIntyre, of Windsor, have been committed to trial in the Supreme Court, the former for firing the town, and the latter for setting his furniture on fire to defraud the insurance.

Since Mr Moody published his book of hymns twenty years ago over 6,000,000 volumes have been sold. Mr Moody must be ranked as one of the most successful authors of the age.

STEWART'S and what you get will be all right. Opposite J. W. Vaughn's.

The People's Forum. To the Editor of the Acadian. DEAR EDITOR:--I have been asked to write a short communication to the Halifax Herald concerning two cases of diphtheria at Wolfville. I did not write the communication referred to, but since I have heard certain comments as to the nature of the disease, some denying it to be contagious and that the disease was croup and not diphtheria, I will in justice to my profession and community give a word of warning. Last spring there were three fatal cases of membranous croup or laryngeal diphtheria in Wolfville, and one case. These were not admitted to be diphtheria but were called croup, yet it was evident they were contagious and deadly in their character. Membranous croup or laryngeal diphtheria means that the membrane is located in the larynx or windpipe, hence the name laryngeal diphtheria. The disease is contagious, but is more apt to develop sporadically in young children than the usual form of diphtheria, which attacks the soft palate. Since the two fatal cases at Wolfville another case developed near Grand Pre which had all the characteristic symptoms of a severe case of laryngeal diphtheria. The case was seen early by the physician and 1000 units of antitoxic serum injected into the tissue. Although the little one's life was despaired of he is now making a good recovery. The man, whether doctor or layman, who will say that membranous croup is not diphtheria and non-contagious is a danger to the community. G. E. DEWITT, M. D. Surgically.

The store of Mr. C. H. Borden, of this town, was entered by burglars on Sunday night last. Entrance was effected through a window in the rear of the store. The money drawer was broken open but it contained only a few cents. A quantity of wearing apparel was taken. The station of the Dominion Atlantic railway was also visited by the burglars who were not successful in finding anything of great value. Port Williams station was also entered. The thieves left some of their own clothing in Mr. Borden's store and also in a freight-car at the station. This gave a slight clue which followed up resulted in the arrest of an Indian named Charles, at Kentville, by Policeman Davis, on Monday evening. When charged with the offence he admitted his guilt and stated that his brother was also a participant in the burglary. The brother has not yet been apprehended. The prisoner is now in goal at Kentville and his examination will probably be held on Wednesday next. Other robberies have been committed which may also be traced to the Indians.

Correspondents and advertisers will please remember that our paper goes to press on Thursday evening. Changes for adv. must be in the office by Wednesday noon. To lovers of oysters it is gratifying to know that they can be secured in first-class style at Stewart's, equal to any city cafe or oyster saloon.

Local and Provincial. A special session of the Supreme Court has been held at Kentville this week, Judge Meagher presiding. Attention is directed to the adv. of the "Quebec" Fire Assurance Co. which appears in another column. It pays to have your property insured these times. The list of contributors to the Windsor relief fund, asked for by a correspondent last week was handed to us yesterday, but too late for publication this week. It will appear in our next. In another column appears a notice of the marriage of Mr. Edward Blackadder, of Wolfville, and Miss Ella May Macdonald, of Halifax. Both are well known in Wolfville, and a host of friends will join the ACADIAN in wishing the newly wedded couple a life of happiness and prosperity. The St. John man who had charge of the work of moving the Shoda building after spending two weeks, was forced to acknowledge himself unequal to the task and gave up the work and returned home on Tuesday. Mr. Sidney Borden, of Port Williams, has contracted to place the building in position and is now at work. Mr. Borden has been very successful in contracts of this kind in the past and we have no doubt will be successful in this undertaking. RAND'S EMULSION, 40c a bottle, as good as the best and as large as Scott's. The ladies of the town met in the vestry of the Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon to consider methods of rendering assistance to the sufferers by the Windsor fire. The various churches of the town were represented. Answers having been received to the inquiry made some time ago as to what kind of clothing was most needed, committees were appointed to canvass the ladies of Wolfville for same. We understand the committees are meeting with a generous response. Missionary Meeting. A very interesting missionary meeting was held in the school room of St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening. The meeting was under the auspices of the W. E. M. Society of the church and was presided over by the president, Mr. R. H. Tweedell. The room was well filled with members of the Society and others. The president in a short address described the organization of the Society and gave some account of the work that had been so far done. An excellent paper on "Woman's work in the Mission Field" was read by Mrs. Murray, and Mr. R. H. Tweedell gave an address on Africa, from personal experiences there. Miss Lina Burgess gave a very pretty recitation and Rev. Mr. Macdonald a vocal solo. Mr. J. Elliott Smith had his graphophone with him and gave several pieces of music which were much enjoyed. The programme was brought to a close by a practical and earnest address by the president and brief remarks by the president. The musical part of the programme was all of a missionary character. We understand it is the intention of the Society to have similar meetings frequently in the future.

Considerable excitement has been created in some quarters over the story that a mysterious and savage animal has accosted towns in the vicinity of Willow Hollow during the past week or two. So far we have not heard of any person being killed or even seriously hurt. It has been described as a tiger, a lion, a wildcat--or a dog. Further developments will be anxiously looked for. See our "Candy" window, all new, fresh and No. 1 goods. DAVIS BROS., Kentville, N. S.

THE ACADIAN. WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 19, 1897.

Local and Provincial. Cold weather. The Acadia football team goes to Seckville to-day to play Mt. Allison. May they be successful.

The management of the Acadia Dairy is having a sewer constructed leading from their premises to the creek.

The report of the directors of the Kings County Agricultural Society, which appears in another column, will be found interesting reading.

Three sailors who had deserted from their ship at Kingsport were arrested here on Saturday last by Policeman Toys and returned to their vessel. All had received advance pay.

J. D. Chambers is offering great reductions in Millinery goods for two weeks.

A quartette of the teachers of Acadia Secular are to give a series of entertainments during the Thanksgiving holidays at Middleton, Bridgetown and Bear River, the citizens of which towns may expect a treat.

Rev. J. M. Fisher, of Hantsport, is to lecture in the Methodist church next Monday evening on Whittier. The rev. gentleman is known as an eloquent speaker and his lectures are always entertaining and instructive.

For SALE--Ten thousand feet of Dry Clear Pine, plained on one side. WOLFVILLE COAL CO.

In addition to the amount subscribed by the town to the Windsor Relief Fund one hundred and ten dollars have been contributed by the teachers and students of the College, Academy and Seminary, of which amount over one-half has already been sent direct to Windsor.

The meeting of the Fire Company on Tuesday evening was well attended by the members--all of whom appear anxious to make the company as efficient as possible. After discussion of best means of promoting the general welfare of the department the meeting was adjourned to Friday evening of next week.

The Baptist church here some weeks ago gave a unanimous call to Rev. J. M. Grant, of Springfield, Mass., to fill the pulpit vacated by Dr. Trotter. We note by an exchange that on Sunday last Rev. Mr. Grant announced that he would decline the call. Those who heard the rev. gentleman when he preached here a few weeks ago will regret that he cannot see his way clear to accept.

The services on Sunday evening last in the Baptist church was a missionary service conducted by the members of the College Y. M. C. A. The president of the association presided. An able address was given by Rev. B. H. Simpson, of Berwick. The college choir furnished the music. The church was well filled and the service throughout was of a most interesting nature.

Considerable excitement has been created in some quarters over the story that a mysterious and savage animal has accosted towns in the vicinity of Willow Hollow during the past week or two. Scraps for Odd Moments.

The average duration of human life has doubled since the days of the Roman empire.

Within six months there have been six suicides, three hangings and eleven murders in Klondike.

On dark nights a white light can be seen farther than any color; on bright nights red takes first place.

Minards Liniment Cures Colds, etc. "So the dear Bishop has taken to bicycling." "Yes; they call him the sermon on the mount."

Foreign Husband (whose wife is going to remain longer)—Gif me two dickets. Von for me to come back, and von for my wife not to come back."

Mr Snags—Rainmaking would be a lost art but for one thing. Mrs Snags—What is that? "It never has been found."

"What all your misters, Norah?" asked a neighbor. "The doctors do be sayin' that it is nervous pesteration she has, sure."

"Don't you go wild over the beauties of autumn?" "I don't know; they don't look any prettier to me than the summer girls."

Minards Liniment Cures Distemper. First Citizen—I never was so busy as I am now. Second Citizen—What are you doing? First Citizen—I'm looking for a job.

Henry, do you believe in the universal brotherhood of man? Believe in it? I should say so; down at the seashore this season I had 35 sisters.

"Do you speak German?" "Well, yes; but not to natives of the Fatherland; as they evidently did not learn the same language as I did at college."

May—Oh, I hate these magazine articles! Edith—Why? May—You can't never tell how a story ends until it is finished.

"What are the 'powers of Europe'?" inquired the very young woman. "The veteran diplomat looked at her very thoughtfully and then replied: 'What are the powers of Europe?' he said, 'they are the powers of the past; they have been chiefly conversational powers.'"

Minards Liniment Cures Garglet in Cows. Kate—I went to a stereoscopic entertainment the other night with young De Spooney. Kate—Did you enjoy the views? Laura—Very much indeed. It was just like going through a tunnel.

"I understand," said the merchant, "that the streets are running dry out four ways." "They are getting dry," said the farmer with a joyous howl, "but they ain't runnin'." I guess the cigar is on you."

"It's a woman, not a man, you see in the moon," shouted the female orator. "I guess she's 'bout right," interrupted a patriarch in the back row of the hall. "That's the reason the blamed thing's so changeable."

"It hardly seems meet," said the Corred Philosopher, "yet is undoubtedly true that many a young woman is willing to treat with her heart a young man that no butcher will trust for a pound of liver."

Minards Liniment Cures Diphtheria. One Comfort—He had come home very unsteady, and she was good and mad. "Yes, you are my husband, Mr Stubbs; but, thank goodness you are no blood relation to me."

An old negro heavyweight applied to the local dispenser of patronage for a government position. "What are your qualifications?" he was asked. "Well, sah," he said, drawing himself up proudly, "I is all wool and a yard wide."

Mrs Wilton—I have not heard from your daughter since she married a foreign Count. Mrs Bliton—She is very unhappy. "Too bad; but such matches usually are unfortunate."

"Indeed they are. You see, the poor girl knows so little of foreign languages that she drops back into English every time she gets mad, and then her husband can't understand a word she says."

Two Irishmen recently were crossing MacIntosh's bog, on their way to the market, when one of them, Mick, slipped and fell into a bog hole. Pat, his mate, immediately ran to the nearest farmhouse, and, meeting the farmer, asked for the loan of a spade. "Mick is stuck in the bog," said Pat, "and I want to dig him out." "How far has he sunk?" queried the farmer. "Up to his ankles," said Pat. "Begone," said the farmer, "sure, he can say walk out."

"Begone," said Pat, "he can't, for he's in head first!"

TWO PICTURES.

One Rich, Bright and Cheerful, the Other Gloomy, Dark and Muddy.

Forty-five samples of colored cloth are shown on the Diamond Dry's sample card, from which can be produced over one hundred good, solid colors. Every dyed sample is full, rich, brilliant and fast, showing just what any woman of ordinary intelligence can do with Diamond Dry's. This is picture number one.

The common imitation dyes, and dyed compound of soap grass as a principal ingredient, show but a dozen or fifteen colors, and so imperfect in color tone and power that the small collection looks gloomy, dependent and sickly to any individual with a taste for the beautiful.

This is picture number two. It is those in doubt we say, send your address to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, for a color card of Diamond Dry's! it will be sent free.

The Diamond Dry being the easiest to dye with, give all the grand results in beauty and fastness of color that the heart can possibly desire.
