

Settlement of Adriatic Question.

Fiume to be Independent City and Port--Insurgent Chief Surrenders to British--Government Aeroplanes Doing Detective Duty--Steam Freighter on Fire and Beached--Women Mayors Elected in England.

SURRENDERS UNCONDITIONALLY.
LONDON, Nov. 10. Abdul Wahab, reputed commander of Mesopotamia insurgents, has surrendered unconditionally and is under a British guard at Kutfa, south of Bagdad, according to a Bagdad despatch to the Evening News to-day.

ADRIATIC QUESTION SETTLED.
LONDON, Nov. 10. A despatch to the London Times from Santa Margherita says the Adriatic question has been settled as follows: First, the Austrian frontier is practically decided in favor of Jugoslavians; second, Fiume is to be independent with territorial contiguity to Italy; third, Zara is placed under Italian sovereignty; fourth, the islands Cherso Lussin and Unie are granted to Italy. Premier Giolitti will sign the agreement to-morrow on behalf of Italy.

THE PRINCE TAKES A REST.
LONDON, Nov. 10. It is officially announced that, owing to severe strain on his tours through Canada and Australia, the Prince of Wales will undertake no official engagements till next year.

BIG FIRE IN WINNIPEG.
WINNIPEG, Nov. 10. A fire which for a time threatened the destruction of a large section of Winnipeg's wholesale district, to-day destroyed Adams Brothers leather goods warehouse, Market St., with an approximate loss of four hundred thousand dollars. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

UNHAPPY IRELAND.
LONDON, Nov. 10. Government airplanes circling over mountains to the east and north of Bantry, uncovered a mobilization centre of one section of the Sinn Fein army on Tuesday and reported the discovery to headquarters. A force of troops swooped down upon the place, but the Sinn Fein Intelligence Department had given warning. Twelve soldiers of the Republic were caught in the net. The government forces, however, captured a quantity of bombs, explosives, shot guns, rifles and other munitions of war in addition to the twelve prisoners. Renewed reprisals are reported. Father Allen, the Parish Priest at Clontarf, is said to have been taken from his bed, and beaten and threatened with execution. The burning of another creamery at Milford, brings the total up to twenty-nine acts of similar destruction during the last few weeks. Black and Tan troops at Athlone and other towns have issued warning that merciless destruction will follow any refusal by citizens to observe armistice day.

THE SHADOW OF A ROMANCE.
TORONTO, Nov. 10. The shadow of romance in Canadian life passed across the courts at Osgoode Hall to-day, when Justice Logie made an order for a thousand dollars life insurance from the Excelsior Life Insurance Company to be paid out of court to the guardians in Vancouver of Nina Phyllis Joyce, age fourteen. Nina's parents, Dorcas and Gilbert Joyce, were in Newfoundland in 1906, later going to White Horse, Yukon, where the husband was killed in a mine accident in 1917. His daughter was then six months old. Nina has relatives in Vancouver, where she was sent after her mother's death.

FIGHTING AGAINST FIRE.
NEW YORK, Nov. 10. After a spectacular race against time down the Hudson River, surrounded by puffing tugs and fire boats and with flames licking about her forward decks, the burning Morgan Line freighter Elmundo to-night lay beached on Comanipaw Flats, near Ellis Island out of way of harbor traffic. Thousands of spectators lined the New York and Jersey shores, and watched the heroic fight of tiny tugs to drag the burning freighter out of the river as she was threatening to sink and block the shipping channel. The flames, which started from an explosion in her forward fuel oil tanks this afternoon, continued to burn briskly, sweeping the freighter from bow to stern, despite the efforts of a swarm of fire fighters to hold them in control. The ship, a craft of ten thousand tons, is almost a complete wreck, with her sides torn by blasts and her forward superstructure carried away by the fire. All members of the crew of the ill-fated vessel which arrived here from Gal-

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir--In reviewing the conditions that exist in this country to-day, there is no conscientious man but must frankly admit that Government control of our staple industry is a curse to the country and will be the principal means of causing want and destitution in many a home the coming winter. Do the men responsible for such laws realize the desperation of an honest man that always could find means to square his accounts, and he was rich indeed and contented, when he could say I owe no man a cent. But will he say it to-day, will he find at the end of the year that his accounts are all square and his family provided for? I think not, and there are hundreds, nay thousands, in the same position through no fault of their own and, Mr. Editor, who is to blame? Let us see. Organized labor throughout the world demands a living wage, according to the high cost of living. Advance in prices of the necessities of life are the direct cause of strikes and walk outs the world over. What do we find immediately the present administration assumes power that the very men who posed as champions of the people, proved themselves no better than selfish office grabbers by advancing their own salaries. These are the men that deluded the people with false promises, and some of these gentlemen even stated that they wanted no remuneration for their work. What do we find to-day? We find them living like princes, riding in motor cars and even touring the world, while the poor deluded fishermen that placed them in power are being robbed of their hard earned produce, brought about by government legislation that would not be tolerated in any other country under the sun. A London newspaper commenting recently on the Newfoundland Government control of codfish, termed it as a test and future developments would prove whether it would prove a failure or not. I say Mr. Editor it is a failure and was from the start. It is also a test that will squeeze the life blood from our people. Their voyages for which they gave so much sweat and labor is gone for nothing. A government responsible for such an outrage on the people will go down in history as a pirates government, for let them be warned that the dark days of 1920 caused by cruel laws enacted against the fishermen will never be forgotten by the present generation. The facts are evident, and in the district of Bay de Verde even now the condition of the people is desperate. How in heaven's name can a man find means to pay wages, pay for salt at the highest figure, expenses of motors boat, lines and twines, feed his family and a hundred other things with fish culled and barbarized as it is under the absurd fish regulations. And even oil is of no value. Where are the representatives of this district, Messrs. Cave and LeGrow? Are they gone to the North Pole? If not let them do something for their constituents or resign their seats. Are they cowards to allow such an outrage to be perpetrated as to cut out competition in buying sloop fish and to disregard the appeals of the people of the North Shore for a tualqual system in selling their fish. Shame on you Messrs. Cave and LeGrow! You deceived your supporters and you are acting as the tools of your master and you ignore the cries of hungry children, while you occupy the positions that should be filled by better men. De-frauding the people of their hard earnings is an act that will cry to heaven for vengeance on those responsible. With thanks for space.
I remain,
DISGUSTED VOTER.
Bay de Verde, Nov. 8, 1920.

A FINANCIAL ATTACK.
LONDON, Nov. 10. England's most paralyzing blow at Sinn Fein was directed at his pocket book, according to the Irish Office to-day. The office declared there was a marked cessation of Sinn Fein activity following the bank raids in which records and funds were located. Steps have been taken to choke off the supply of money from America also, the office said.

Shipping Notes.
Schooner Workman has sailed from Catalina for Malaga with 3915 qtls. codfish shipped by J. Swyers.
S.S. Canadian Miller left Montreal on Nov. 8th for this port with general cargo. After discharging the ship loads fish for Liverpool.

A Total Wreck.
The Collector of Customs, Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, received word yesterday from Ferryland that the auxiliary "Harbor Grace" had gone ashore on Stone Island and was a total wreck. The message also states that all the crew were saved. The ship, which was built by the Hr. Grace Shipbuilding Co., was owned by Tessier & Co. and registered 100 tons. This is not the first time the "Harbor Grace" has been in trouble, as she went ashore last summer in Alexander Bay, but was refloated and brought to this port to undergo repairs on the floating dock. The ship's repairs were only recently completed and this was her first trip since her accident.

Elks Charitable Work.
During the past few days the Elks Charity Committee has been kept pretty busy attending to deserving cases reported to them by the police. The Relieving Committee consisting of Messrs. N. J. Vinnicombe, M.H.A., and Mr. G. R. Parsons, visited the homes of those in need and relieved their wants. The Elks are non-sectarian and are banded together to help all those who are in want.

To Welcome the Prime Minister

Huge Demonstration Will Greet Hon. R. A. Squires--Festivities Meet for the Occasion.

It is said that the stage powder display, masked ball and other celebrations being arranged for the reception of Hon. R. A. Squires upon his return from his continental tour has been cancelled, fearing too many ar-tizans and laborers, who, now enjoy-ing enforced holidays, weeping tears of joy at his safe return, would affect the composure and disturb the elysian dreams of the peripatetic premier. However, arrangements will be made for a dinner, to be held in a castle in the air, the finishing touches of which are now being put on under the able supervision of the party officials. The menu has not been fully completed as yet, commissioners having been sent abroad to secure fruits, nuts and rare spices. From Brazil the nuts will be gathered, other South American countries contributing of their best, as soon as they are notified. Italy, Spain and Portugal have all signified their intention of selecting of their choicest products. The commis-sioners, who at present are in these coun-tries, will see that the parcels are for-warded without delay with commis-sioners here there and everywhere the committee are confident that nothing will be wanting, and have drawn up the following:

MENU.

- Hors d'oeuvre.
 - Italian olives exclusively.
 - Beaver Tail (by special permission.)

 - Cabbage, Model Farm.
- Sweets.
 - Cake, Port Union Bakery.
 - Sugar, plain, 30 cents per lb.

 - Chorus—"Ring a ring a rosy," by the Big Three--"Affidavit Enquiries."
 - Song—"Over the hill to the Poor House."
- It will be noted in the toast re-sponses are set and will be followed in order as far as possible, unless a Proclamation in the Gazette announ-ces a change. A full iron band from Bell Island will be in attendance, if not already taxed otherwise. Coal from the West Coast mines will be used exclusively in heating and cook-ing. Viands will be brought along by the S.S. "Sniff," which will be divert-ed from her route for the purpose. Penguin pie was also to be added to the menu, but as it was found that no commissioner has as yet been ap-pointed to the Antarctic Circle, the gentleman who is to fill a commis-sionership at New York will be given sealed orders to join the expedition now about to sail for that far off territory. The committee in charge of the landing hope to have everything in readiness upon the arrival of their distinguished leader. The battleship "Lobelia" will fire a salute of two hun-dred and thirty-one guns. If the bismps, "White Nape" and "Blue Rina" should arrive they will head the procession. The landing will be made at the King's Wharf, the en-trance to which will be roped off and the unsightly buildings, fences and other erections covered with framed copies of the Regulations and Gaz-ettes Extraordinary. It is thought that there will be enough of these to cover the line of route without repeti-tion. With the consent of the Sugar Control Board some empty sugar sacks are also being laundried and will be spread on the gangway, they being thought most appropriate to re-ceive the Prime Ministerial feet. The order of procession has not been an-nounced, but it is known that the Model Farm equipment will be first in order. The White Elephant leading off the feathered tribe, including the cuckoos and others recently imported, will be caged and take up the rear, probably being drawn by factors loaned by the Road Board. The holes for flagstaffs are already in the street and the flags have been selected. On the pole at the eastern side of the gate a White Naped Labrador fish will be hoisted, while on the one at the west side a No. 1 Choice Newfound-land herring, salted and Shore cured will fly to the breeze, these will be in charge of the Government Inspec-tors. Railway Commissions, Trade Commissioners, Advisory Boards, Sugar Control Board, Trade Boards, Road Boards, Shipping Boards, In-spectors, Delegates, and other impor-tant representative bodies coming next. The procession will stop opposite the Custom House, Job's Cove, the Board of Trade Rooms, the Board of Works Office, Tower of the Court House, the new Post Office addition, Barr's Cove, and the Railway Station, where speeches will be made from the Foun-tain of Industry in front of the build-ing. Reforming, the procession will go via the Southside and along to the new Water Works, along which the march will be continued up to the Asylum and thence to the new Model Farm, where an exhibition will be held, and various bills presented for certification. After which they will be sent to New York to be checked up by the expert chartered accountants which the Government hired to find the alleged hoodlings of the Cashin Party.

THE MAN WHO DOES HIS DUTY WELL.

The man who does his duty well need ask no odds of anyone. For he can face the whole wide world and pay his way and travel on; There may be richer men than he, and greater men who've come to fame, But richer man or greater man cannot excel an honest man.

The man who does his duty well and gives his best to every task Has given all in service here that life of any man will ask; The man of talent may exceed the humbler hand in point of skill, But should he grow too proud to toil, The genius is a failure still.

The final test of life is not the distant heights that man has reached. The captain's reputation fades if once the ship he sails is beached, And he who rises high to fame may come at last some day to see That humbler men by patient toil have lived far nobler lives than he.

There are degrees of skill and fame; not all men's learning is pro-found, But honesty is honestly no matter wheres'er it's found, And he who does his duty well, is honest, faithful, clean and true, is thing in life's real tests all that the genius can do.

Getting Home.

No better evidence could be wished for by any opponent of Mr. Coaker's policy with regard to the fishing industry of Newfoundland, than the wild rage into which he works himself, when information is given the fishermen that their one-time friend is not any longer their guide and philosopher. He has gone over to the enemy, horse, foot and artillery, or to use a more homely expression "with boots and all on." It is a crime in the sight of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to mention the Fish Regulations and the sinister effect they have had on the trade of the Colony. The bare mention of the name of Mr. Coaker is at once construed by him into an insult to the fishermen, as if he were the incarnation of every man who baited trawl or threw twine in Newfoundland. Lashing himself into mad wrath he hurls invective and abuse at those who honestly and fairly criticize his actions as an Acting Premier and head of the Department of Marine and Fisheries. But he does not answer argument with argument. His boasted constructive policy has proven destructive—and testimony is being adduced to prove this statement daily. Nevertheless there is no showing made by his organ to demonstrate the usefulness and value of his absurd and dangerous restrictions.

The fishermen to-day as has been pointed out to Mr. Coaker on many occasions, are not one whit interested or concerned about what happened to some forty political candidates last fall. They do not care a tinker's curse because so and so lost his nomination fee, but Mr. Coaker in the ecstasy of his lurid wrath forgets that these allusions have no bearing on his pernicious Fish Regulations, and so instead of making them a subject for fair and free discussion, he replies to all open, if hostile, comment in his well-known, old-time vituperative and abusive style. But that no longer impresses the fishermen, neither are they now so credulous as they were in days past when Mr. Coaker posed so successfully as their only friend. They have seen for themselves just how conditions are and they know the one man responsible. The voice of the charmer therefore has lost its power to charm: its seductive qualities have vanished; the magnetic personality of the chief is considerably lessened, and fishermen now ask themselves if he has not deserted their cause and become a member and associate of the class once so vehemently denounced in Council, Circular and Annual Report, with all the completeness and vigor of his extensive vocabulary. Of what avail are the Fish Regulations at the moment? Are they by any chance aiding fishermen to dispose of their catch at anything like remunerative rates? Are the miserable prices being offered the toilers, in St. John's to-day, in any way commensurate with the minimum price fixed by Mr.

Coaker abroad and promulgated as the law of the land? Why is it that Northern outport men are going to and fro, up and down the streets with yaffles under their arms in a vain endeavor to sell their voyage at a price which will recoup them for their outlay and toil? If Mr. Coaker will answer these questions and not go up in the air when so queried, it will add more to the dignity of his office, if not to that of himself.

True Modesty.

"Truth may be slow to receive its innings, but it is mighty and must prevail." Thus the Star expressed itself yesterday. The feelings of satisfaction this statement gave us can scarcely be imagined. The Star actually has a conscience, it is really beginning to see the error of its ways. This may sound unbelievable but still, appearances are in favor of it. Let us hope that the Star continues in this frame of mind for some time. When, however, the editor goes on to say that "it is a pity that this country contains men who do not hesitate to attempt such shameful deceit of their fellows," our admiration increased ten-fold. Such modesty, such an open lack of conceit does the Editor of the Star credit. Imagine, actually complaining because he is allowed to stay in the country, calumniating himself without the application of any outside pressure. If we do not honor the editor of the Star for anything else, at least this "voluntary confession" will cause him to be forever remembered as a "Very Modest Man."

A Roland for An Oliver.

As the Star is so fond of Shakespearean quotations, here are a few which it might appreciate: "The Editor of the Star—" "He will lie, sir, with such volubility, that you would think truth were a fool." "—All's well that ends well." "—(This might also apply to the Government): "I am an ass, indeed; you may prove it by my long ears." "—The Comedy of Errors." "Mr. Coaker—" "Contemplation makes a rare turkey-cock of him: how he jets under his advanced plumes!" —Coriolanus.

Police Court.

A young boy was charged with the larceny of a quantity of codfish—not white nap—found on the R. N. Co's premises. He was remanded pending further investigation.
A youth charged with ringing in a false alarm on Monday night last, bringing the firemen to the corner of Cook and Scott Streets, stated that seeing the door of the box open he had meddled with the levers inside with the idea of informing the fire department that the box was open—only too well. His Honor expressed his disbelief of the defendant's statement and fined him $20 or 20 days' imprisonment. His Honor hoped that this would be a warning to others who might consider it a good practical joke to ring in a false alarm.
A young man from the Topsall Road was charged with a breach of the Traffic Regulations. He drove down Military Road on his right hand side, ignoring the signals of the policeman on duty at the time. The constable called upon the defendant to stop but the latter drove on and did not halt until the pursuing policeman had caught up to his cart. The constable, in his evidence, stated that the defendant gave a wrong name. This, the latter denied. His Honor admonished very strongly on the prisoner's conduct. The streets, he said, were for the pedestrian first and then the vehicle. The defendant was fined $2 or 7 days.

For Popular Consideration.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Referring to my letter No. 2, the Advocate editorially says that I endeavor to show that Mr. Coaker cannot make profits for his Export Company and at the same time buy fish at a high price, and this the Advocate tacitly confesses, and seeks to avoid by pleading that as the shareholders are "mostly" fishermen, they will get in dividends on shares what they lose in prices on fish and, and so benefit "no matter what the price," and, therefore, "Mr. Coaker has nothing to gain in keeping the price down." In this you have the kernel of the whole doctrine Mr. Coaker is striving to deduce the fishermen with, and it challenges and demands analysis and exposure.
The shareholders in Coaker's Companies are "mostly" fishermen, it is true, but the fishermen are not "mostly" shareholders! Not even Union fishermen are mostly shareholders. Those people who are not shareholders stand to lose heavily by Coaker's fish policy. The low prices he chiefly is responsible for are direct and unnecessary losses to them, to their full extent. Every fisherman in the Colony, whether a member or not of the F.P.U., is paying a heavy tribute this year to enable Mr. Coaker to pay dividends to the shareholders in Union Companies. But members of the F.P.U. are losers in a special degree for the benefit of those shareholders, for the latter tend to sell their fish where possible to Union Companies, and where this is done at a sacrifice, the shareholders may later recover the loss in part by getting dividends, but the non-shareholder gets back no part of his loss of price. When a shareholder skipper sells his fish to Union Companies, every man on his vessel, who is not a shareholder, loses forever every cent of his share of the price which is lower than could have been obtained by selling to general dealers. One of the things which has surprised me for years is the apparent blindness of the non-shareholding Union man to the fact that he is being fooled all the time for the profit and advantage of Coaker and the shareholders.

But even as regards the shareholders, the doctrine is not true that what he loses in price, he gets back in dividends. If, for instance, a schooner owner loses fifty cents per quintal on a cargo of fish, sold to the Union Export Co., say two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) on the vessel's half share of fish, he would require to be the owner of shares worth $2,500 in order to get back, from a ten per cent. dividend, the amount of his loss. The average shareholder in the Export Company does not own probably more than one hundred dollars worth of shares, the dividend on which, at ten per cent., would be only ten dollars, equivalent to a lower price of fifty cents per quintal on twenty quintals of fish. That is to say, if Coaker, to make profit for the Union Export Co., keeps down the price of fish by fifty cents per quintal below what it would otherwise be, the owner of only twenty quintals of fish loses the equivalent of the dividend on shares for one hundred dollars.

But the tale does not end here. Far otherwise. Of every dollar of profit on fish made by Coaker's Export Company, it is safe to say that not half gets to the shareholders. The Company has to pay salaries, upkeep, expenses, interest on borrowed money, and all the usual overhead expenses, out of the profit made on fish, out of the "spread," that is, between what fish costs and what it sells for. That is to say, out of the profit made on fish, Coaker uses half, at least, and pays only the other half to the shareholder. Therefore, the poor fisherman who sells to the Union Export Co., at a price lower than it might otherwise be, does not get it back, even if he be a shareholder, but gets back only half of it at the most, for the fisherman who catches and sells the fish is the man who is paying for all the wonders of Port Union.

There are some shareholders, perhaps, whose holdings are large enough to make the dividends console them for losses on the price of fish. But the majority of the shareholders have really very few shares, and their dividends are small indeed. I have often wondered at the nearsightedness which makes many shareholders think more of their small investments in shares than of their much larger losses in other ways. It seems as though they are ready to forfeit everything of real value to them in life, their independence, their common sense, even their larger financial interests, for their paltry shareholdings in Union Companies.
As for non-shareholding fishermen throughout the Colony, whether Unionists or non-Unionists, it is positively amazing that they have not long ago awakened to the fact that they are paying all the expense of Port Union, and all the heartrending extravagance of Coaker politics, out of their toil and sweat, without even the poor solace of a small dividend on a beggarly few shares. They have none of the profit, none of the glory, but they are suffering directly and indi-

When We Pray.

Great is the Flag
Whose folds upon the winds flung out
Evoke the acclamations of oppressed mankind,
In whose triumphs fettered peoples
see deliverance.
For this the flag of England yesterday
The massed barbarities of might despair
Winning the right of Freedom for the weak
And all the nations of the earth rejoiced
That "triflingness" was slain.
Now is the hour of Armistice—
Salute!
In prayer the Empire bows a reverent
head;
Anon she lifts her eyes to heaven, and lo!—the smoke
From blazing Irish homesteads fill the air
Blotting the flag of succor from our view.
And hark! the cries of anguish and
despair
Upon the burdened winds are borne along!
England!—This is not England,
Englishmen are just.
A reckless power whose battle cry is fear
Possesses the land, whose deeds the soul of Britain
Blush to contemplate.
Lift then, oh, British Empire! thy prayer
That this debauch that mars thy name may cease
That when the tribes together meet and mingle
No slur that mates his methods with the Eucroets.
May shame an Englishman.

Britain's Saints.
1914-1918.
(Re-printed from "The Observer," December 9th, 1917.)
Who shall name them, this numberless army? we know not their number or name,
But we know from the sign on their foreheads through great tribulation they came;
No calendar blazons their triumph with service of vigil or feast,
And he that was greatest among them is even as he that was least;
They were men in the might of their manhood, or boys in the beauty of youth,
They held all as dust in the balance to battling for freedom and truth.
We shall see them no more to our sorrow, they are rapt from the sphere of our pain,
And the sword and the fire and the bullet shall sear not nor slay them again;
Priest and poet, clerk, scholar and craftsman, sea-tollers or sons of the sod—
From earth, air and ocean up-gathered, they rest in the garden of God.
Their shrines stand in city and highway, whose lamps of remembrance abide Fed with love from the heart-springs of England, and lit from the torch of her pride;
Upon hill-slope, by hamlet or homestead, they shine through the darkness undimmed,
Morn and eve, 'neath the Christ bowed above them, the glimmering cressets are trimmed
By their angels, who pass unheeded—so close hangs the curtain between Velling heaven; for the things that we see are more than the things that are seen.
Now, Lord, for the nation's uplifting—since this is the noblest we know,
In Thy name to the help of the helpless through death and through darkness to go—
For our country who spared not her children, for mother, love, sister and wife,
Who endured what is deeper than death-wound, who gave what was dearer than life,
For the pure and the wise and the god-like, who flocked to Thy banner unfurled,
For the stalw—Thy saints in the making—we deemed but the waste of the world,
For the builders of wood, hay and stubble—the foolish, the faithless, the cold,
Whose dross Thou hast purged in the furnace, and touched them, and turned them to gold,
For the fearless of heart, and the fearful who trembled but came at Thy call,
We bless Thee, we thank Thee, we love Thee, we love Thee, O Father of all!

Motor Association Celebrates.

The first annual dinner of the Motor Association was held last night at Donovan's, over 120 guests journeying thither by car to participate in the evening's entertainment. The banquet hall was tastefully decorated with colored lights and the colours of the Empire, Red, White and Blue. After the excellent dinner provided by Mrs. Hughes, the proprietress of Donovan's, who well keeps up the traditions of that well-known hostelry, the toast list was gone through the speeches being interspersed with musical items. In the absence of the President, Mr. Eric Bowring, Mr. W. White, the Vice-Pres., occupied the chair and carried out his duties in his usual genial manner. He expressed his regret at the absence of the President, Mr. Bowring, and said that he felt sure he (Mr. B.) was with the gathering in spirit if not in body. He also read letters from Mayor Gosling, Acting Prime Minister Coaker, and Hon. W. W. Halfyard stating their inability to attend. The menu and toast list were as follow:

MENU.
Soup—Consomme.
Joists—Turkey, Mutton, Salad, Cold Ham, Pickles.
Dessert—Fruit Salad and Cream Jelly.
Cake, Tea, Tea Buns, Coffee.

TOAST LIST.
"The King"—Pro., The Chairman; Resp., "God Save the King."
"Newfoundland"—Prop., The Chairman; Resp., Mr. H. E. Cowan.
Song—Mr. C. Trapnell.
"Good Roads and What Machinery can do to make them"—Prop., The Chairman; Resp., Mr. Thos. Soper.
"The Newfoundland Motor Association and What an Association can do for its Members"—Prop., The Chairman; Resp., Mr. J. B. Urquhart.
Choruses—Mr. "Coke" Cahill and Company.
"The Press"—The Chairman; Resp., Mr. C. T. James.
Song—Mr. C. J. Fox, M.H.A.
"Our Guests—The Members of the Road Commission—Our Civic Rulers"—Prop., Mr. Cyril James Fox; Resp., Mr. R. Hibbs, Mr. J. J. Mullaaly.
"The Chairman and Members of the Committee"—Prop., Mr. J. M. Devine; Resp., The Chairman.
Good humour prevailed throughout the evening from start to finish. The speeches dealt with the work of the Association and outlined somewhat the work that has been going on in the effort to improve the roads in and around St. John's. It was the consensus of opinion that the Association has amply justified its purpose although being in existence for such a short time. Confidence was expressed that the good work already done, by the Association, was only a beginning and as the seasons come and go greater work will be done as the members gain experience in good road making. They have entered into the work with a vim and sincerity that commands admiration.
Before the close of the dinner a resume of work done by the Association since its origin was given by Messrs. Reg. Harvey and P. E. Outerbridge, the function terminating with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem. About midnight return to town was made after spending a most enjoyable time. The Committee having the dinner in charge deserve great credit for the way in which the affair was pulled off. The Committee consisted of Mr. Wm. Whites, Chairman; Mr. P. E. Outerbridge, Secretary; Mr. Reg. C. Harvey, Mr. Leshe McK. Marshall, Mr. Arch Mann and Mr. Thomas Soper.

The destroyer Verdun, with six escorting destroyers, left Portland last night. She will arrive at Dover this afternoon, and the body will be brought to London in the historic car that conveyed the bodies of Nurse Cavell and Captain Fryatt.

Spanish Schooner in Trouble.

The Acting Spanish Consul, Mr. H. Wyatt, received a message yesterday forenoon from Cape Race informing him that the Spanish schooner "Alonso" was off there at 9 o'clock with a damaged rudder. On hearing the news, Mr. S. Dominguez, the ship's agent, had the S. S. Cabot sent to her assistance. The Cabot left as soon as possible, for the Cape but returned last night, no sign of the "Alonso" having been seen. It is probable that the crew effected temporary repairs. So far, she has not made port and the probabilities are that she has been driven off by an off-shore wind.

The Price is What Coaker Makes It.

The Spanish firm were again buying Labrador fish to-day. Many schrs. were hauled to their premises, at Delgoose, and the place looked busy. There is very little demand for Labrador at other premises, and the price offered is somewhat lower than during last week. It may be noted that although the regulation price in the foreign market is the same, and when this quality of fish was being sold for 39 per cent., the merchants who made sales, must have made profits, they are certainly reaping a harvest now at the price paid the fishermen. If the price is what Coaker makes it, why not the fishermen benefit?

Empirical Observance.

The two minutes of silence to perpetuate the memory of the Great Deliverance and those who laid down their lives to achieve it, was observed at 11 o'clock to-day throughout the Empire. Many of the business houses in St. John's drew their blinds and the Banks in addition closed their doors.

Last Night's Fire.

STORE OF S. LEVITZ GUTTED.
At 8.30 last night the men of the Central and West End fire halls were called to the store of Simon Levitz, opposite the Bank of Nova Scotia, Water Street. When the firemen arrived dense clouds of smoke were to be seen, issuing from the basement of the building but there was no sign of flames. The fire-fighters experienced in gaining an entrance and were finally forced to break down the front door and also a brick wall in the rear, to gain access to the basement. This accomplished, they discovered that they had to go down still lower, as the shop flat which they had entered was underground, in the rear, and the basement was still lower down. To get to the source of the blaze they had to manipulate a rickety stair which they found after some trouble. Once in the basement the firemen were again at a disadvantage as dense smoke was pervading the whole place, and it was impossible to tell where it was coming from. Here it was that the men found the benefits of their helmets. After some time, with a plentiful supply of water, they were able to quench the fire. Great credit is due the firemen for their splendid work under such great difficulties. No great damage was done by the fire itself, but practically all the stock on the Water Street flat was badly scorched. The stock of Mr. J. J. Mulcahey's grocery store, next door, must have also been damaged as the place was filled with smoke while the fire was on. Mr. Mulcahey is fairly well covered with insurance, but his store will be closed to the public for a few days while adjustments are being made. How the fire originated is unknown. According to Mr. Levitz, he and his assistants left the store as usual, at 8.15. The only fire in the building was a hard coal one on the Water Street flat. The basement in which the fire originated is used for storing empty packing cases, etc., and coal. A customer, who is frequently used by a laundry, is also installed there, and Mr. Levitz thinks that one of these may have thrown a lighted cigarette among the debris. In no other way can he account for the fire. So far as we can ascertain Mr. Levitz carried $18,000 insurance divided among the following companies: The Hartford, G. M. Barr, agent; National, H. Donnelly, agent; and Acadia, J. Baird, agent. The Inspector General of Police was present throughout the fire and made an investigation afterward.

A Vision of Things to Come.

Wicked, wicked, little Star,
Way down in the depths so far
Quoting Shakespeare by the yard
It's no wonder you are barred
By all people thinking right.
To creation you're a blight.
Soon the fiery depths among
You'll be on a three forked prong.
In your future dwelling place
Someone else will set the pace.
White Naped fish will haunt you then
And the wraiths of fishermen
Trying hard their catch to sell,
Being told to go to h—l.
Sugar then you'll also see
Pictured in this phantasy.
Sugar eaten up by rats
Bought for use in brewer's vats.
At one half of what it cost
This the Food Control Board lost.
Also in your tortured mind
Will be other deeds unkind.
Such as making people pay
Very much to their dismay
Twice the money that they ought
For the sugar which they bought.
All of which you countenanced
When with Government you pranced
Look, the coals on which you lie
Make you see in your mind's eye
Money spent on South Branch mines,
Spent on ultra generous lines.
Little parties to and fro
In a private car did go.
Spending much but doing naught,
Wasting even what they bought.
Picture now the Model Farm,
Finance Minister's alarm,
Trembling at the sudden shock—
Bills presented by the Doc.
All Canadian cows and hens
See those huge sheds over there
Ah—you tremble now with fear.
On them was much money spent
Freight congestion to prevent.
But no sooner were they built
Than the country's trade did wilt.
Cause—Bill Cooker's fishery rules
Made by Bill's poor foolish tools.
Watch this other wraith arise,
Pink in colour. You surmise
What it is that now appears?
Ah—you start and feel new fears!
Yes, it is the "Telegram"
Come, your faults all home to ram.
Artist of "blue ruin" you said.
Teller of the truth instead.
Other spirits haunt you too,
Now your time has come to rue.
See, on you they're closing in
List unto their threatening din.
Now you hear it louder rise
Listen, listen to their cries.
Warning from this vision take
And you erring ways forsake.
Else this story I relate,
Some fine day will be your fate.

G. W. V. A. Celebrates Armistice.

A grand dinner will be held to-night in the C.C.C. Hall by the G.W.V.A., for the purpose of celebrating the second anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. A splendid toast list has been prepared and many returned soldiers will, we are sure, take advantage of this opportunity to meet old companions and exchange reminiscences. Mess Sergeant Jack Robinson will be responsible for the catering and his abilities in this line are too well known to require any praise from us. The dinner will be under the patronage of H. E. the Governor and the Government and the Opposition will each be represented by one member, who will respectively propose the "Army" and the "Navy."
All those who intend to be present are asked to be at the Hall at 7.30, so that it will be possible to start the dinner without delay on the arrival of the Governor.
When all are seated the old familiar and often long-wished for "Come to the Cook-House Door," will be sounded by three buglers.
After dinner the Concert will take place and such old time musicians as Mike Smyth, the Tait trio, Gus Summers, Lloyd Woods, and "Joker" Seymour will once again be to the fore. The Jassola Orchestra will give the old selections that were known so well during the war. All the choruses have been printed and all will join in so that once again the old refrains will be shouted in their old time vigour.
All those who have tickets to sell are requested to report to the Secretary of the G.W.V.A. The dinner is for all who served in the Great War.

THRILLING ADVENTURE OF TWO CITY MEN.
The aux. schooner Vivian Ruth which arrived in port yesterday with a cargo of oil to the Imperial Oil Co. was the means of saving the lives of two young men of the West End of the city. The men had been adrift for over sixty hours, in a disabled motor boat and when rescued about 4 miles off Cape Spear, were in an exhausted condition for want of food and sleep. It appears that on Sunday night the two men James Brace and Richard Coady visited some friends on board the American steamer Tulsa, which was anchored in the stream. After being on board for several hours they bade their friends good-night, and at 11 o'clock got into their motor boat and started for the shore. After pushing off from the steamer it was found that the engine would not work, and although every effort was made to effect repairs and get the engine working, it was of no avail. To make matters worse, there was neither sails nor oars in the boat and they soon found themselves drifting out the narrows. A flare up was made out of a handkerchief, but it did not attract attention, and gradually the boat drifted out to sea. At daylight the men found themselves about five miles off Cape Spear, and a distress signal was hoisted but no help came during the day. At night the wind freshened from off the land and a very uneasy time was spent. The weather became cold and the men were obliged to huddle together to keep themselves warm. On Tuesday morning the boat being out of sight of land, and shipping water, things began to look gloomy. It began to rain and some was caught in a piece of canvas. This relieved their thirst, and put new hopes into the now nearly exhausted men. All Tuesday night the boat drifted and on yesterday morning land was again sighted. Signals were again made but neither Cabot Tower nor Cape Spear could see them. A heavy sea was running and every minute it looked as if the tiny craft would swamp. However, at about 10 o'clock a schooner was sighted bearing down on them. Their signals of distress had been seen by the crew of the Vivian. After some skillful manoeuvring the vessel was brought alongside and the castaways taken on board where they were treated with every kindness by Captain and crew.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Nov. 11.
To-day we remember, in the reverent silence at 11 o'clock, those who during the long five years and more fought and bled and died for us during the Great War. They fought and died that right might triumph over wrong, that Christianity and civilization should prevail against atheism and the rule of force. Let us, then with thankful hearts for what they did for us, remember them before the Throne of Grace, and resolve to live worthy of the great sacrifice which they made for us. And let us, handing the story on, teach our children to honor those our brave departed.

C. L. B. Old Comrades' Dance.

The C.L.B. Old Comrades held a most enjoyable dance last night in the gymnasium of the Armoury. More than eighty couples attended. The music was supplied by the Brigade band under the direction of Captain Morris, the programme consisting of waltzes, waltz-lancers, one-steps, etc. The floor managers were H. Fackham and R. Yotsey. This has been the Old Comrades' first dance this season. It is hoped to run a series of dances and entertainments during the winter months.

"The Eyes of Youth" at the Casino.

Last night the Klark-Urban Company excelled themselves in their performance of the wonderful drama, "The Eyes of Youth," which they presented before a capacity audience. This drama, one that appealed to its audience as it is of a unique type, and deals with the fortunes of Gina Ashling, a singer, who is anxious to know what the future has in store for her and looks into a crystal to behold it. The part is superbly impersonated by Miss Maisie Cecil, while Miss Lillian Dean as Monica Ashling, the mother of Gina, takes this important role exceptionally well.
Messrs. Harden Klark, J. W. Burrows and Louis Everstine, as suitors of Gina, rendered most capable characterisation, but one of the outstanding roles, however, was that of Vivandra, the Yogi Peddler, enacted by Mr. Creig Nelson, which is also true of Mr. Thos. Brower's interpretation of the part of Paola Salvo, an operatic manager. Mr. Charles Palazzi appeared in two roles, that of Piquard, the theatre manager and as Morgan, the dancing teacher and gave a masterful performance of these parts. Mr. N. S. Scoville, as Goritz, a tenor, was splendid, whilst Billy Webb, as Gina's brother, played in his usual dependable manner. The remainder of the Company also did good work. The play will be repeated to-night.

Supreme Court.

(Before Mr. Justice Johnson.)
Wm. White and White Clothing Co. vs. W. R. Smallwood.
In this case judgment was handed down by Mr. Justice Johnson yesterday in favor of the defendant W. R. Smallwood. It will be remembered that the case arose about a question of whether the motor and shafting which ran the elevator, and also ran the defendants shoemaking machines passed to Mr. White when he bought the Factory Building on Duckworth St. for $27,000.00 on March 6th, 1919. Mr. White having resold the building to the White Clothing Co. on March 8th, 1919, that is two days afterwards, for $37,000.00. The Company and Mr. White claimed the motor, etc., as belonging to the building. Against this Mr. Smallwood claimed that he had purchased from the estate all the machinery, including the motor in question, and proved that the machinery and motor were not part of the building. Judgment as above was given in Mr. Smallwood's favor.
Messrs. Blackwood and Emerson for the plaintiffs, Mr. L. R. Curtis was Solicitor, and Mr. F. A. Mews was Counsel for the defendant W. R. Smallwood.

C. L. B. C. Anniversary Celebrations.

To-night the Avalon Battalion of the C. L. B. Cadets will celebrate their 29th anniversary by holding a torch-light procession through the city. It is hoped that all who can will turn out to help make this parade a memorable one in the Brigade's history. The second event in the anniversary celebrations is a church parade to be held on Sunday afternoon, and on Tuesday night they will be brought to a close by the holding of a tea and concert in the Armoury.

False Promises and Catch Cries.

Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir,—As a constant reader of the local newspapers I have been wondering lately why there has been such a scarcity of output correspondence relating to present conditions in this country.

In seeking an answer I have reached the conclusion that it is due chiefly to the utter disgust and disappointment felt by thousands throughout the country at the disgraceful way the new Government has managed, or to be more correct mismanaged the public affairs of Newfoundland since they took charge last November.

Thousands who supported and voted for the present "bunch of incapables" are disgusted beyond measure when they remember how last fall they were literally hoodwinked and deceived by numerous false statements and catch-cries which induced them to turn aside from supporting and voting for many men who were most worthy of their support and quite capable of representing their best interests in the Government of the country and on the floors of the House of Assembly.

They feel now very much like the dog in one of the Royal readers who dropped the bone he held in his mouth for the shadow of the same bone which was mirrored in the water of the pool down which he was looking. They dropped the substance for the shadow, and as a result feel disgusted because they listened to the smooth-tongued individuals who afterward laughed at the manner in which they succeeded in deceiving them.

They are disappointed because they accepted the statements of candidates of the "Liberal-Reform" party and the promises and pledges contained in the manifesto of the Leader of the Party, only to find now that none of the promises or pledges have been fulfilled, but that every act of the present Government has brought loss and ruin to themselves as individuals and to the country in general.

I was one of those who supported the Liberal-Reform Party last year, believing that they would, if elected, do something for the good of the people and the country. But I now state, and I defy successful contradiction, that after studying the local situation very carefully, that not one act of theirs has been in any sense beneficial to the common people and particularly to the fishermen of Newfoundland. On the other hand, through their interference with fishery matters, sugar control and other legitimate trade the country has been brought to the verge of bankruptcy and thousands of her young manhood and womanhood are fleeing from our shores, in most cases never to return.

I speak the absolute truth when I state that I have heard hundreds of fishermen declare this season that they are finished with the fishery. And any person with a knowledge of the importance of our fisheries knows what this will mean to Newfoundland.

Thousands of fishermen are waiting for leadership and direction to hurl the present rulers from power. They see nothing but blue ruin ahead, although they were led to believe last fall that the land would "flow with milk and honey" if they elected to power the party led by Squires and Coaker.

The Government has had a year to carry out their promises and pledges, but only a few who secured good paying Government jobs, most of whom were the least entitled to them, are satisfied. Men like Halfyard, Barnes the silent, Brownrigg and others in the Executive have raised no voice in behalf of the people. They think more of their $5,000 a year salaries than they do of their duty to their constituents. The people would be served equally as well by 14-year-old school-boys as by these men.

But while realizing the serious condition of the country the fishermen are to a large extent powerless themselves to organize anything to prevent those now in power from bringing utter ruin and desolation upon the country.

It is plain to every fisherman, both Union and non-Union, that Coaker is no longer the guide, philosopher and friend that he pretended to be years gone by. One has only to watch him to-day as he hobnobs with the men whom he was wont to describe as the enemies and despoilers of the fishermen.

His chief concern to-day is not the fishermen but the trade, the trade. There are, according to the Advocate now, no "hood-suckers," "grab-balls," etc. in the ranks of the merchants. These epithets suited Mr. Coaker's purpose years ago when he was prepared to "wade through slaughter to a throne." But to-day all this is changed, and to all appearance he is working in unison with the very men whom he so vehemently and maliciously denounced to the fishermen. But the fishermen remember what Coaker told them if ever they found him linked up with the merchants.

But Mr. Coaker, Mr. Squires and other members of the Government are banking on the people having short memories. They are hoping that the people will forget. Well, the people do forget some things, but there are other matters not so easily forgotten.

They will remember what Mr. Coaker, at one time professed to be. They remember most of the statements he made from the platform, and especially at the conventions of the F.P.U. They remember what he told them in his famous Circular Letters and in the columns of the Advocate, and they are putting these things together and comparing them with his attitude and actions to-day, and they cannot get them to agree. There is a great gulf between them.

Neither can they get the promises made by Squires to agree with the present state of things, and as for the Republicans they have come to the conclusion, based on actual experience, that they were in no sense framed for the fishermen's benefit but for the buyers and fish exporters, Coaker himself being one of the number.

The regulations and standardization rules threw the entire burden and responsibility on the man who catches and cures the fish. With this extra burden and responsibility they were led to believe that better prices would result. In other words, the fishermen were practically told to go ahead and purchase their fishery supplies at high prices, cure their fish according to certain rules, and the result would be higher prices than in former years when fish was bought on a talqual basis. The better cure was going to bring better prices.

Well, what has actually happened? Prices are much lower than last year; thousands of quintals cannot be sold; fishermen are getting no advice as to the grade of fish chiefly wanted, and conditions in Conception Bay and elsewhere around the country are alarming. Thousands are now waiting for the opportunity to unshackle the chains that bind them.

They have been miserably deceived. Squires was going to lead a "People's Government." He was going to safeguard the interests of the common people. He pretended last fall that "the people" alone were with him and the merchants were all against him. Let events since November, 1919, to November, 1920, be the answer. With your kind permission, Mr. Editor, I will return to this subject again.

Montreal Woman Never Intends Be Without It Again

"I'll Always Keep Taniac In My House," Says Mrs. Champagne—Restored Health.

"Honestly, for the first time in three years I am able to eat without suffering afterward," said Mrs. Agnes Champagne, 1727 Notre Dame St. East, Montreal, P.Q., in relating her experience with Taniac recently.

"My stomach got in such a bad condition I could hardly eat enough to keep me alive, and everything I ate seemed to turn to gas, which bloated me until I could scarcely breathe, and the pains in my stomach were simply terrible.

"My nerves and kidneys bothered me so I couldn't get enough sleep to rest me, and my back hurt so bad at times it seemed that I couldn't endure it another minute. I lost a lot of weight, became badly run down and got so weak and dizzy I couldn't stay on my feet to do my housework. "But even before finishing my first bottle of Taniac I felt better, and by the time I took three bottles I felt like an entirely different person. My appetite is so good now I can hardly wait for meal time, and although I am eating just anything I want, nothing gives me the least trouble. I sleep like a child nights, never have those terrible pains or dizzy spells, and have gained fully ten pounds in weight. In fact, I am feeling just fine, and you may be sure I'll always keep a bottle of Taniac in my house."

Taniac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Paradise by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne, in Upper Gillies by Heber Andrews, in Portland by H. C. Haines, in St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. Gush, in Miramichi by Exploits Valley Royal Stores, Ltd., in Flat Island by William Samson, in Jamestown by C. Christopher Haines, and in Lewisporte by C. F. Freake.—adv.

Wedding Bells.

Last night St. Thomas's Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding by Rev. Dr. Jones, when Mrs. Florence Oakley was joined in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Carl E. Anderson, deck engineer of the American steamer Delca. The bride was neatly attired in a saxe blue gown with hat to match which looked very becoming. The bridesmaid was Miss Beatrice Abbott, niece of the bride, who wore a pink silk gown with hat to match, while the groom was supported by Mr. Jacob Abbott, of Mt. John's, and nephew of the bride. The happy couple received many valuable presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of furs, to the bridesmaid a birthstone ring and to the best man gold cuff links. The bride and groom will reside in Nfld. for a short stay and will then go to their future home in America. The reception was held at the bride's home, Battery Road, where about 60 guests were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.—Com.

We thought when we staged our famous "Back to '14 Campaign" that ten per cent. was a generous reduction, though the effect it produced was well worth it. It showed to other stores the necessity for protecting the customer, and they followed our lead. Now—twenty per cent. But there it is in black and white—"orders from headquarters," sent from New York, the buying centre of America. Kearney is there—and Kearney knows!

"OPPORCHUNITY"

By
PETER FINLAY DUNNE, et al.

As the pote says,
Opporchunity knocks at ivry man's dure want,
On some men's dures it hammers
Till it breaks down the dure,
An' thim it goes in and wakes him up,
If he's asleep,
And iver afterwards it wurrucks fr him
As a night-watchman
On other men's dures it knocks,
An' runs away,
An' on the dures iv some it knocks,
An' whin they come out
It hits them over th' head with an axe.
But ivrywan has an opporchunity,
Th' pore are th' people that've been at worruck
Whin Opporchunity knocked,
And there are others

British Representative in Egypt Allenby the Conqueror of Jerusalem

Following in the footsteps of Earl Cromer and Earl Kitchener, Viscount Allenby has gone to Egypt. But whereas Cromer and Kitchener both held office as His Majesty's Consul-General in Egypt, Viscount Allenby's title is His Majesty's High Commissioner in Egypt. The last High Commissioner of consequence was Lord Dufferin, who held office in 1882, and the thirty-eight years that have elapsed have been momentous ones in the history of Modern Egypt. There is a striking similarity between Lord Dufferin's mission to Egypt in 1882 and that of Lord Durham in Canada in 1838. Armed rebellion had broken out in the Canadas and Her Majesty's Government had sent Lord Durham to devise some satisfactory form of government for the colony. So, after Arabi Pasha's rebellion in Egypt Lord Dufferin was sent out as High Commissioner to draft a plan for the future government of the country. Great Britain's interest in Egypt is a very old one. In 1801 British armies were co-operating with Turkey in expelling Napoleon's forces from the country. But Britain has never had the intention of annexing Egypt. British policy throughout her many years of association in Egypt has been steadily aimed at complete independence for Egypt. It was the spendthrift Khedive Ismail who finally brought the British into Egypt. He had borrowed money in France and in England, borrowing recklessly and spending prodigally; he had become involved in various ventures in the Sudan; he had taxed his subjects until they were in the most pitiable condition. At last in 1879 Britain and France intervened. They insisted upon the re-establishment of the constitution, which had been discarded by the Khedive; and they appointed a commission to control the country's finances. The commission was composed of one French and one British representative; the British member was Major Evelyn Baring, who later as Lord Cromer became the great Consul in Egypt. Ismail, thoroughly frightened at the condition to which he had reduced his country and at the probable results which would befall him, accepted the Allied control. Later, however, when he found himself under capable guidance regarding his feet, he decided—or some Pashas persuaded him—that he could do without foreign interference and he took a high hand. To discipline him the Allies appealed to Turkey (Egypt being a Turkish tributary state) and the Porte immediately addressed a letter to Ismail, calling him "ex-Khedive" of Egypt, informing him that he was deposed and that his son, Tewfik, was now the ruler. Ismail accepted his deposition with good grace, not being strong enough to do otherwise. But the foreign interference had important results; it stirred up in the breasts of the fellahen that feeling of nationalism which has at last borne fruit in the practical independence which has been granted to Egypt. Ahmed Arabi was not a brilliant soldier nor an able organizer. But he was a fluent orator and a man of great personal magnetism. He rallied the Arab soldiers to his banner; he rose to a high place in the councils of the Khedive; he became virtually dictator to the country. On 11 June, 1882, his attempt to drive the foreigners out of Egypt was inaugurated by the massacre at Alexandria. British and French warships assembled and "demonstrated" in the harbor of Alexandria, but when that had no effect the British proposed a bombardment of the forts. The French fleet, however, did not feel at liberty to take part in this measure and withdrew, whereupon the British warships carried it out alone. This action, however, only stimulated the revolt and military intervention became necessary. The British Government asked both Italy and France to assist in this important undertaking but both refused. British troops were then landed under Sir Garnet Wolseley and on 13 September, 1882, the rebellion was crushed at Tell-el-Kebr, almost three months after it had first broken out. The story is told that at Tell-el-Kebr the Arab forces fought with great courage and for some time the issue of the battle was in doubt. Then the warships took a hand and shelled the Arab lines. When the brave Arabs found shells falling upon them from heaven, and apparently from no human agency, they decided that Allah had turned his face away from them, and they broke and fled in dismay. Had the Khedive been allowed a free hand the leaders of the rebellion would have been executed immediately. British intervention, however, caused him to spare their lives. Arabi was exiled for life. Many years later, however, he returned to Egypt and he might be seen slinking along the streets in Cairo, unrecognized save by the very few who knew the story of his former greatness and of his bid for power. It was after the crushing of the rebellion that Lord Dufferin was sent to Egypt. He recommended the creation "within certain prudent limits, of representative institutions of municipal and communal self-government, and of a political existence untrammelled by external opportunity, though aided, indeed, as it must be for some time, by sympathetic advice and assistance." The British Government concurred

The World loosened up its corn belt when POST TOASTIES came on the market. — says Bobby

In these suggestions and Sir Evelyn Baring was appointed Consul General to put them into effect. At a Cabinet meeting in 1884 Mr. Gladstone is reported to have remarked "We have done our Egyptian business, and we are an Egyptian Government."

Sir Evelyn held office until 1907 when he retired on account of ill-health. He had been created Baron in 1892, Viscount in 1890 and Earl Cromer in 1891. During his term of office Egypt entered into an era of financial prosperity. She gained some experience in the difficult art of self-government and her population grew from six and one-half millions in 1882 to eleven and one-quarter millions in 1907. Moreover numerous iniquitous customs and privileges of the Khedive and his Pashas had been abolished. Under British rule every fellah, no matter how lowly, was sure of his share of the precious Nile water, whereas in former years he received only what was left after the Pasha had liberally and wastefully irrigated his own land.

Cromer was followed by Sir Eldon Gorst and then by Kitchener, who carried on the traditions of British justice and furthered the policy that as soon as possible Egypt was to be independent.

When the Great War broke out Turkey espoused the cause of Germany. So did the Khedive of Egypt, Abbas Hilmi (grandson of the old Ismail), and he was deposed by Great Britain and the throne offered to Husseli Kamil the eldest living prince of the House of Mohammed Ali (founder of the dynasty). Kamil was a son of Ismail; he died in 1917 and was succeeded by Fuad, also a son of Ismail.

With the deposition of Abbas in 1914 the rank of the ruler of Egypt was enhanced to the title of Sultan and the country itself became a Protectorate of Great Britain.

Britain, however, never lost sight of the ultimate end of her policy, the freedom of Egypt, and last year Viscount Milner, Secretary of State for the Colonies was sent to Egypt to investigate the conditions in the Protectorate and to devise some form of greater self-government.

What Viscount Milner suggested is not exactly known, but it is known to be virtually independence and to have been accepted as such by the Nationalist leaders of Egypt.

The man who will have the difficult task of putting these ideas into practical force is Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby, G.C.B., G.C.M.G. His Majesty's High Commissioner for Egypt. Of massive stature, Viscount Allenby is known as "The Bull," because of his whirlwind way of doing things and of his manner of disposing of people who annoy him, particularly pipe-clay generals.

During the War Viscount Allenby served in France, where he led the 3rd Army. Returned soldiers tell stories of his lifting little Flemish children on to his giant shoulders that they might better enjoy the Christmas at his Corps Headquarters.

But while his service in France was of great value it was in Palestine that Allenby did his great work. On his arrival in Cairo he found General Headquarters comfortably installed in that city. "Well," he said, "I am going up to my men." And G. H. Q. was forthwith removed to the scene of operations in the desert.

The result of his campaigns are well known. He did that which the Crusaders failed to accomplish; he captured and held Jerusalem.

The man who would successfully govern an Eastern nation must have a touch of something not usually found in a Western soldier. Kitchener had it and his name became a byword through the East. That Allenby also possesses it is shown by his action when entering Jerusalem.

The ex-Kaiser of Germany had entered Jerusalem some years before. He was not a conqueror, but a visitor, yet he caused the walls to be breached that he and his train might enter in regal style. Viscount Allenby, the conqueror, dismounted at the gate of the city and entered on foot, an act which touched the imagination of all who live in the East.

Conditions at Witless Bay.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—Things here are looking bad with all our young and old men, who are able to go, cleared out. Fish is no good now, it takes 9½ qts. of West India fish fetches from $2 to $4 per qt. and flour is sold at $19.00 per barrel. Charges for other things are also high. None of the young men who have left here are returning to go to the fishery next spring. The truck system has again come upon the fishermen, but they are not standing for it and are seeking to other countries where they will be paid cash for their labor. Sir, the conditions cannot be painted worse than they are, and if the St. John's people would only act, I believe the outports would fall in line with any lead they may take to remedy matters.

Yours truly,
WAKE UP.

One Way Out.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Through your columns I would ask the Board of Food Control what's the matter with cutting the price of sugar in half? Give the people sugar at half price. The "Government" to assume the loss temporarily, and put a tax of a cent extra on all incoming sugar. The loss would soon be made up, and all factories and industries would keep going and put out their products at prices that the people could pay for and in the end there would be no loss to the country.

Very truly yours,

Are the Seals Decreasing

It would appear that our sealing masters differ in their opinion as to the gradual decrease in the number of seals on our coast during the past twenty-five or thirty springs. Some maintain that they are as plentiful as ever if they could get at them. This is a question that should occupy the minds of our sealing masters, as well as the Government. For our part we firmly believe that they have very considerably decreased, and further that this decrease was foreseen by many of our old seal-killers as far back as half a century ago. It is a regrettable fact that very few of our famous seal-killers in the old days left any records as to the movements of the seals at different seasons of the year. For instance, where do they go in summer time? Do they have more than one young one, and do they pup twice a year? We distinctly remember one of the most famous, experienced and educated of our old sealing masters who stoutly maintained that he had known two seals to be whelped by the mother seal, and further that he was convinced that they had their young twice a year—first on our coast and later further North, perhaps, in the vicinity of Spitzbergen. He maintained that they did not carry their young for eleven months, and all sealers were aware that they couped in April, when returning North. This famous veteran kept a most interesting account of his experience for many years, but when he passed away, those left after him did not value his knowledge, and the books were lost, which we consider a national calamity.
 What gives strength to our belief that all the seals do not deposit their young on the ice at, or near the same time, is, in speaking to the late Hon. Dr. Skelton, some years ago he informed us that a man named Pond, saw young harp seals on the ice, at Labrador, in June. And further we have been informed on reliable authority that the Esquimaux on Northern Labrador stated to our informant that they killed young harps about the 25th and last of March, at the same time our sealers were getting their trips in the neighborhood of Cape John. This goes to show that the young seals are not confined to one patch, but that there are several such, in addition to the elusive "main patch" of the past few years.
 For several years we have had steamers going to the far North, such as Hudson's Bay, Greenland, etc., but, as far as we know, it never occurred to any person to make enquiries as to the movements of the seals in that direction, or if any knowledge had been received there from whalers and others who frequented these waters.
 Perhaps it may not be too late to seek such information now, although if the prophecy of one of our most experienced and successful seal-killers and master mariners had anything in it, we fear that all attempts will fail.
 Anyhow the following letter, written forty-eight years ago, will prove that even at that date there were some of our old skippers who had their doubts as to the seals "holding out" in great numbers for any number of years. The letter we refer to was written by the famous Capt. Frank Ash of Trinity, for many years a successful master of sailing vessels and steamers at the sealfishery, and is as follows:
 "Greenock, Scotland,
 9th August, 1872.
 Our firm got a new steamer building at Ayr, 134 ft. long, 14 ft. deep, 26 ft. beam. She'll be nearly as large as the Lion, but the fastest boat in Newfoundland. She is for the mulls, and Diamond will have her; and for the ice Dame Johnston's Bloodhound was launched a few days ago, 168 ft. long, 18 ft. hold, 29 ft. beam, 680 tons, 120 horse power. Job's house got one laid on her blocks, larger still, to be ready for next spring, and Mann's house got a large one built at Aberdeen. I wonder do the merchants think its all seals on our coast? Some of them will suffer before this day 5 years, or I am not right. That's a built on this side of the water to go and look for seals, and I expect there will be more on the western side."
 We shall return to this important subject later on. In the meantime it would be of the greatest interest if such experienced seal-killers as Capt. A. Kean, Capt. Wm. Winsor, Capt. W. J. Bartlett, would deliver a lecture, giving their opinions upon this important matter, our great industry of former years, and we are certain they would be listened to with greater attention than all the scientists in the Universities on both sides of the water, who never saw a seal in their natural element, but who would have us believe they know all about them. If the old adage "experience teaches" holds good, surely Capt. Kean should know what he is speaking about—Com.
