MR. HANNA'S TALK

Food Controller Hanna made some result of conferences with the American food control department and the British very grave statements yesterday, as a mission in New York.

"Our food supplies," he said, "at the end of eight months will be short, and at the end of a year shorter still. Europe is stripped of foodstuffs. It may be only a matter of months until we in this country are in a very awkward position."

To meet this condition another great campaign for increased food production is being organized, but that alone will not suffice. There must be the utmost economy of foodstuffs, and the elimination of waste to the greatest possible extent.

But when Mr. Hanna asserts that he cannot fix the price of potatoes in Canada this year he shows conclusively how utterly useless his department is in any effort to protect the consumer and encourage such a substitution of foods as would release more wheat for export.

CUT OUT THE PATRONAGE

As one of the first steps in civil service reform the Canadian Forestry Association submits the following: "There are certain obvious 'first steps' in carrying out the reform of the Dominion civil service, as promised in the union government's initial manifesto."

The entry of Liberal members into the cabinet has had one striking effect. Under the former government there were millions available, for example, for the Canadian Northern Railway deal. Hon. Mr. Carvell, in this city yesterday, declared that all the money in Canada was needed for carrying on the war, and would not be spent for any other purpose.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

"Many wage-earners now buying automobiles might much better invest in farms."

There is food for thought in the above remark made by the Financial Post, which looks for a movement from urban centres toward the rural districts after the war, because when war industries cease wages will decline faster than the cost of living, and there will be a greater demand for an increased production of foodstuffs, for which the markets of the world will be clamoring.

Opinions differ as to the effect of the ending of the war upon our industrial life, but it cannot be doubted that there will be a greatly increased demand for raw materials as well as for food products. If industrial wastes decline they will be fortunate who can go back to the land under favorable conditions, and engage in productive work.

Persons interested in the fruit trade are not greatly impressed by the speed with which the food control department operates. Two men have just been sent down to Nova Scotia to look into conditions. They are a month or two behind the enterprising Ontario dealers who came down and bought up everything in sight, even packing apples in bags and shipping them without the formality of grading. Just what benefit the present visitors will be able to confer upon consumers at this late date is a subject of interested speculation.

One of the Family. (From the Saturday Evening Post.) Marie Dressler, actress, says that an Irish servant girl, a member of a large family whose members have been scattered all over the habitable globe, was taken on her first visit to see the animals at the Bronx Zoo.

The war news from Italy grows more gloomy. Because of the collapse of Russia the Germans and Austrians have been able to mass great armies on the Italian front, and already they have regained most of the territory so brilliantly gained by the Italians last summer.

Efficiency. After many trials and tribulations, Mrs. Hinson had managed to get a "middy" of water. "Now, Thurza," said she, "be careful about the water. We only use the well water for drinking, as we have to pay for the water pump. The rain water is good enough for washing up and so on."

HOW'S THIS? We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Hall's Catarrh Cure has been taken by catarrh sufferers for the past thirty-five years, and has become known as the most reliable remedy for Catarrh.

The mutiny of two thousand Germans at Cologne and the growing unrest among the Bavarians on the western front are significant proofs that a temporary success here or there cannot save Germany from the internal disintegration which in time will bring her to her knees.

Hon. Mr. Venoit finds it necessary to spend much money on the Houillon road because his predecessors wasted money there. Also, because his immediate predecessor did not purchase the right kind of road-making plant Mr. Venoit must make further expenditure in that direction.

Brazil, with 20,000,000 people, has declared a state of war with Germany. There may yet be Brazilian troops on the western front. At all events the republic is an important source of supplies and can give the Allies most valuable assistance.

The Canadians have once more distinguished themselves in the Ypres salient, under most unfavorable weather conditions. To coming generations of Canadians the name of Ypres will always have an inspiring significance.

The general chorus of approval of the abolition of patronage is an indication that whoever may attempt to restore it will not reflect popular sentiment in Canada.

The 9th Siege Battery is up to strength, and it is a unit that will do credit to Canada. Its members are a splendid body of men.

The British have made another advance today to the east of Ypres. All goes well for the Allies on the western front.

Declaration Made That Pouches Seized at Halifax Have no Contraband

Washington, Oct. 27.—The British embassy has decided to deliver to the Swedish legation without examination the three mail pouches seized at Halifax several weeks ago and claimed by Sweden to contain only statistics relating to the war trade board in its negotiations with northern European neutrals on exports of those countries. The delivery will be made without ceremony, the embassy deciding to turn over the pouches because of the urgent representations that the information is needed to carry through negotiations and the Swedish assurances that no other mail matter is contained in them. The pouches were taken from the steamer which brought to this country Dr. Hjalmar Lundbohm, new head of the Swedish economic mission, and the incident has been the subject of considerable diplomatic correspondence.

Apple and Bread Pudding with Milk and Sugar. The recipes for Brown Bread and Apple and Bread Pudding, mentioned above are as follows: Brown Bread.—One cup rye meal. One cup granulated cornmeal. One cup Graham flour. One and a half teaspoons soda. One teaspoon salt. Half cup molasses. One and three-quarters cups sweet milk. Cover closely and steam. Apple and Bread Pudding.—Into a greased baker put a layer of sliced apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Then add a layer of buttered bread crumbs. Brown in oven. (Recipes by Domestic Science Experts of Food Controller's Office.)

PRACTICAL ECONOMY. The old method of using cream tartar and soda for baking is fast giving place to the more modern and convenient way of using a good brand of baking powder. Not only is it more convenient, but many good cooks claim it is more satisfactory in every respect. Besides, it is economical. At the present time a pound of pure cream of tartar costs eighty to ninety cents, while the best baking powder made in Canada retails for thirty-five cents per pound. The fact that baking powder is now so universally used, and has been found superior in every way, recommends itself to the attention of all housewives, and particularly in view of the large increase in the cost of cream of tartar.

Les Darcy Was Support of Family

His Father Was a Helpless Rheumatic Cripple for a Great Many Years

A Mother's Letter—She Tells of Her Son's Good Qualities and Acknowledges Letters of Condolence

New York, Oct. 26.—Boxing fans will peruse with deep interest and profound sympathy the following letter. It is from Mrs. Margaret Darcy, mother of the late Les Darcy, a sensational Australian boxer. It is written from "Lesleigh" the home which Darcy purchased for his parents and numerous brothers and sisters, East Maitland, N. S. W. Mrs. Darcy wrote primarily for details of her son's death in a Memphis hospital a month after he had enlisted in the aviation corps there. She says: In losing poor Les, I have lost my right hand. He was an exemplary son and a good brother to his little brothers and sisters. In fact, he sacrificed his life for them and me. I wonder what effect his death had on Governor Whitman? Has he a conscience? Has he a family of his own? If he has he will never rear a boy so good and noble as poor Les Darcy. He never recovered from the terrible shock of his disbarment by Governor Whitman, nor the insults he was subjected to. No, poor Les was not a slacker. He was one of the bravest boys on earth. He was afraid of neither fire nor sword, and had been given half a chance he might have been alive and well today, and holding a position in the aviation corps worthy of the name. Les tried on three different occasions to enlist here, which I have not the time to explain further now. On Saturday last the pictures of the funeral in San Francisco were shown in Maitland, and I suppose by this time American people are viewing the scenes of the funeral in Australia. Words cannot express my feeling of thanks and gratitude to the American people (with the exception of a very few) for their kind tribute to my poor son after he had died, for their beautiful wreaths and other floral pieces, and their touching letters, cards, and cablegrams of sympathy. I am also deeply indebted for the beautiful inscribed silver plate from Les' friends in San Francisco. In no one of his letters did my son complain. Everything was always going good with him, and things would be coming right directly. Never did I write a hard word against anybody and yet, all the time his heart was breaking. I could write for a week extolling the virtues of my son, but I am a poor hand at the pen, and could never do him justice. Excuse, please, my blunders and mistakes. If you care to publish this

FRIDAY'S FIGHT WAS ON FIELDS DRENCHED BY RAIN

Wonder Was That British Accomplished so Much PRAISE FOR CANADIANS

Reuter's Correspondent Says They Played a Gallant Part—One Railway Damaged Forty-Eight Times by Enemy Shells and as Many Times Repaired

London, Oct. 27.—(via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France telegraphed yesterday: "For the purpose of illustrating the intensified fighting area in the advance, a short length light railway was damaged by shell fire forty-eight times, and was forty-eight times repaired. This railway was maintained in running order for bringing up the heavy ammunition. The gunners too, accomplished marvels in getting forward the guns through mud frequently axle-deep. Practically all our guns had to be moved forward, and although this seemed to be an almost superhuman task, nevertheless, by six o'clock last evening, the final howitzer battery was in position and ready for action."

under a tremendous concentrated fire, so soon as he tries to deploy for advance." "Telegraphing last evening, Reuter's correspondent says: "Today's battle has been fought on flooded fields; in a driving rain, pitiless in its intensity. Therefore, it is a marvel that the troops have accomplished so much. The sum total of the day's results is a series of most important tactical gains, although we should have done much more under more favorable heavens."

"In the region of Poeldersloot Chateau, the advance was a dashing performance. The place was a regimental headquarters, which garrisoned 600. We took sixty prisoners from the remaining defenders, including the adjutant. "At mid-day enemy airmen discerned our troops upon the spur of Bellevue Ridge, a vantage point for which there was much fighting previously. If this spur is finally held the day will be well marked by at least one conspicuous gain. "Other places on the battle front are impassable, and the floods are reported to be holding up the advance. The enemy is pretty densely massed all along the front. "By an attack on the left front the French carried several concrete defenses with exceedingly light casualties, owing probably in part, to the erratic nature of the enemy barrage. The enemy was aware of the approaching heavy attack, because his aeroplanes were flying low over our positions half an hour before the attack was launched, and five minutes before the heavy fire opened. "All along the front the Canadians played a gallant part in today's fight."

EX-SOLDIERS SUCCESS AS PARIS POLICEMEN

Paris, Sept. 30.—(Correspondence)—Some of the soldier-policemen, veterans of the Marne, of the Yser and of Verdun, have made their appearance in the streets of Paris, after having done their share at making war, and they are showing themselves quite capable of doing their bit in the keeping of peace. All are more or less decorated with the war cross, military medals or other ribbons. All of them wear upon their sleeves the record of the time they have served at the front, and the ribbons and medals seem to have a great calming influence upon turbulent spirits. Cabmen, taxi-cab-drivers, chauffeurs, generally, even street peddlers, the sworn enemies of everything in uniform, treat their orders with deference. F. F. McLeod, vice-president of the Fidelity Trust Company and treasurer of Tremont Temple, died at Bay State Hospital after a brief illness. He was born fifty years ago in Kings county, N. B.

Advertisement for Military Service Act, 1917. Includes a large illustration of a man in a military uniform standing next to a wall of mailboxes. Text: "Should You Be Exempt? Every facility is afforded those who have reasonable ground for applying for exemption under the Military Service Act. Each man's case will be considered by a local, civil board, sitting in the locality where he lives, and will be decided as is desirable in the national interest. The idea behind the Military Service Act is to call up first only those whose absence from civilian occupations will cause least disturbance to the country's economic and social life. One hundred thousand reinforcements—no more—are to be raised under the Act. Cases of Exemption Over 1,250 civil tribunals have been organized throughout Canada, known as Exemption Tribunals. These boards are comprised of 2 members, one appointed by the county judge and one by a joint committee of Parliament. It will be seen that these tribunals are non-military and independent. The members are men closely acquainted with conditions in the places where they sit and will be able to give each case sympathetic attention. National Interest Will Govern Exemptions Consideration will be given to applications for exemption received from men engaged in the production or manufacture of commodities necessary to the conduct of the war and the support of those at home and cases in which real hardship would be caused by the withdrawal. Not all men who register these claims will be exempted, but such claims will receive careful consideration. National interest must govern. Promptness is Essential Prompt application for exemption is strongly urged upon all who, being included in the first class, believe they deserve exemption. But first visit a Medical Board and find out if any further action is required. Unless the Medical examination places you in Category A, you will have no immediate obligation for service. Issued by The Military Service Council. 108

WOMAN BURNED ON STEAM YACHT

Watchman, Held For Inquest. Told Police of Canal-side Tragedy

Oil Lantern Exploded; Clothing of Homeless Victim Set Ablaze; Watchman Said There Had Been Drinking

The dead and badly burned body of Mrs. Mary Ferguson, forty-two years of age, was found on Wednesday morning on board the steam yacht Orient lying in the canal basin, at the foot of Seigneurs street, Montreal. There was little clothing on the body, which was badly burned from the chest down. When the remains were discovered there was no one on the yacht, but a few hours later Sergt. Gravel of the Seigneurs street police station, took into custody Charles McCurley, thirty-five years of age, who was employed as watchman on the Orient.

How the woman came to her death was something of a mystery at first, but it was cleared up when McCurley was taken to the Seigneurs street police station. He was under the influence of liquor, and had been drinking for a few days, but he was able to give the police an idea of what happened. McCurley said that the woman, who had no home, used to spend much of her time on board the yacht with him. They were both drinking Tuesday night and while they were having their supper the chimney of the lantern they were using broke, when it fell off the table. McCurley said that he gathered up the broken glass and threw it into the canal.

The Lantern Exploded

The woman wanted to use the lantern without the chimney, but the man said he would not allow her to do so. She finally succeeded in getting hold of the lantern and lit the wick. McCurley said he was afraid of filling the place with smoke, but when he attempted to take the lantern away from Mrs. Ferguson, it exploded and set fire to her clothing. He did his best, he said, to beat out the flames in the woman's clothing,

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur it Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this read-to-use preparation because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

ARE BATHS NECESSARY?

This looks like a foolish question in this enlightened age, but there are nearly a million Americans who knew nothing of Internal Bathing a few years ago and are now eager to testify that they are fully as essential to health as External Baths.

By a purely natural process of properly using warm water, the "J. B. L. Cascade" removes ALL the poisonous waste from the Lower Intestine, which physicians agree, is the cause of 95 per cent of all human ailments.

It instantly relieves constipation, properly regulates the bowels and prevents all the dragging-down which Biliousness and Liver Troubles always create.

E. W. Southall, M.D., of Genesee, N. Y., writes:

"I challenged the doctors in this town last week in regard to what I can do with your 'Cascade.' I can say for a truth that I know the reason for my success with many serious illnesses was due to having the bowels washed out once and sometimes twice a day. I only wish I could make the people in general believe in the efficiency of a good bowel washing. Sincerely yours."

E. Clinton Brown, Druggist, corner Union and Waterloo streets; also F. W. Munro, Dispensing Chemist, 357 Main street, St. John, have filled a tremendous demand for "J. B. L. Cascade" in the past few years, and will show and explain it to you on request. A free and interesting booklet on Internal Bathing, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient," can also be obtained for the asking. If you prefer, write to Dr. Chas. T. Tyrrell, 163 College street, Toronto, for same.

No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing--your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any--that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment--that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

but before he could succeed in doing so, she was badly burned about the lower part of her body, and was unconscious on the floor. McCurley exhibited both his hands, which are badly burned to Sergeant Gravel to prove that he had done his best to try and save the woman from being burned to death. McCurley was in such a condition from the effects of liquor that he was unable to tell a very clear story of what happened. He was able to tell, however, that after he had extinguished the fire in the woman's clothing, he lifted her onto his bed. Then he went ashore and bought a bottle of vaseline in a drug store somewhere in Notre Dame street. McCurley said that he went on board the yacht and treated the woman's burns. When McCurley was asked if the woman was dead when he lifted her on the bed he could not say whether she was or not. He said he bought a bottle of whiskey at the same time he purchased the vaseline, and he had no idea how long he remained on board the yacht. McCurley did not remember going ashore or how long he had been ashore before he was discovered going aboard the yacht and was taken into custody by Sergeant Gravel, who had one of his men watching the yacht from the time the dead body was discovered until McCurley was seen to stagger aboard.

The body of the woman was taken to the morgue. So far as the police were able to learn she had no home. McCurley was taken to police headquarters and held for a coroner's inquest. It was said at headquarters that the man appeared as if he had been drinking for some time, and that on account of his condition the inquest may have to be put back for a few days.

GET BULK OF THE FLAGLER FORTUNE

Brother and Sisters Receive Residuary of $70,000,000 Estate

Public Bequests Include $75,000 a Year to University of North Carolina--$5,000,000 for Husband Who Survives Her

New York, Oct. 27.—The will of Mrs. Lily Flagler Bingham, widow of Henry M. Flagler, and at the time of her death on July 27, at Jefferson City, Ky., the wife of Robert W. Bingham of Louisville, discloses many bequests not made known at the time the will was offered for probate at Palm Beach, Fla., and at Louisville.

Under the will Mrs. Bingham's niece, Mrs. Louise Wise Lewis, who was said to be the chief legatee under the will disposing of about $70,000,000, received only an income of $200,000 a year until she is forty years old, and then gets $5,000,000 outright. She also receives all of Mrs. Bingham's realty except that disposed of in trust provisions under the will of Henry M. Flagler, but her share is far exceeded by that left to Mrs. Bingham's brother, William R. Kenan and sisters, Mrs. Jessie Kenan Wise and Sarah Graham Kenan, who get the residuary estate, including Mrs. Bingham's Standard Oil stocks.

The Louisville Trust Company is seeking ancillary letters of administration here which will permit it to take possession of property in this state declared to be worth $1,500,000. The Fidelity and Columbia Trust Company did not join in the application, and citations were issued to that company. That Mrs. Bingham owned Standard Oil stocks worth $16,094,850 at current quotations is shown by the list of holdings appended to the will.

The will also shows that a bequest made by Mrs. Bingham to the University of North Carolina is not $75,000 but $75,000 a year, to establish professorships. Other public bequests are $10,000 each to the Flagler Hospital, St. Augustine, Fla., and the Memorial Presbyterian Church at St. Augustine, and $10,000 to the Presbyterian Church at Miami, Fla. Mrs. Bingham left to her "pastor and friend," Rev. Dr. George Morgan Ward, $25,000 and an amount to William H. Beardsley of New York, president of the Florida East Coast Railway. The managers of the hotels left to Mrs. Bingham by her husband, includ-

The Business Side of Winning the War

THE WAR can be won only by a combination of Men and Money co-ordinated into invincible organization by the patriotism of all the people.

The most devoted patriot army could not fight twenty-four hours without money and the support of those things which money alone will buy.

Our soldiers must have food, clothing, arms, munitions and transport, or be vainly sacrificed in battle.

So, no matter how brave our soldiers may be, nor how self-sacrificing they are, unless we back them freely and generously with money, their bravery and their sacrifices will be all for nothing.

Money is the coupling pin between Canada's fighting men and victory.

TO CARRY on the war Canada must be prepared to produce and sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies, hundreds of millions of dollars worth of supplies.

Cash must be paid to the producers of those supplies.

The war is not only a terrific struggle of men and guns, but it is also the most tremendous business of producing, selling and financing the world has ever known.

And to successfully carry on this war, money is as indispensable as it is in operating a railroad or a private business.

The war is therefore a combination of commerce and fighting, of business and patriotism.

So, to keep on producing as well as fighting, the very highest commercial efficiency of Canada must be maintained.

And it is Canada's privilege to take a man's part in that combination of patriotic producing, financing and fighting.

Also it is Canada's duty as well as her privilege to so conduct that business that she can continue to produce and sell and finance on a still greater scale.

GREAT BRITAIN has advanced to our Allies five and a half billion dollars. The United States has advanced to Great Britain and our Allies nearly three billion dollars. These advances of course are not in actual cash, but in credit.

When Britain lends billions to France and Italy she does not lend the actual cash, but she gives those Allies credit.

The British munition worker and coal miner who produce the supplies for France and Italy are paid in cash with the money borrowed by the British Government from the British people. But the money stays in Britain, and helps to maintain for British working-men conditions of the highest productive efficiency.

NOW, because of the tremendous burden of expenditures which Great Britain is bearing at home and has made abroad in the past three years, and because of the billions of credits she is financing for the Allies, it is impossible for her to send out of Britain any more money in cash.

For her purchases in Canada and the United States she must have credit. And that credit must be established by the people. What the Government of Canada lends to Great Britain must in turn be borrowed from the people of Canada.

So Canada's Minister of Finance comes to the people of Canada for a loan which Canada promises, in the form of Canada's Victory Bonds, to repay at a stipulated time, with interest.

Canada's Minister of Finance sells Canada's Victory Bonds to the people and the people pay him their money, which he uses to pay the farmer, the miner and the wage earner for the products which Great Britain needs and must have.

The producers in turn circulate all this money for food, clothing, furniture and other necessities, thus contributing to the business prosperity of the whole country.

So, by buying Canada's Victory Bonds we are not only helping Great Britain to win the war but we are also helping to maintain in Canada those conditions of material well-being which again are essential in maintaining at a high level the productive efficiency of the nation.

Thus the purchase of Canada's Victory Bonds completes the cycle of National effort in winning the war, in which every man, woman and child should take a part.

That is the Business side of Winning the War—Your Part in that Business is to buy Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

NEWS OF SINN FEINERS

cently has been used as a Red Cross Hospital. The death of Thomas Ashe, a Sinn Feiner, as a result of his hunger strike, has favored the spread of the Sinn Fein movement, since, for the time, it united all Nationalist parties in support of the principle that political prisoners should receive distinct treatment. Great numbers of postcards were issued bearing the photograph of Ashe, followed by an inscription to which the police took exception, and the cards in many cases transferred to Dundalk jail, which re-ing the Ponce de Leon, Alcazar, Ormond Beach, Royal Poinciana in Florida and the Colonial Hotel at Nassau, each receive $10,000. Mrs. Bingham made her will on Sept. 23, 1916, before her marriage to Robert W. Bingham, so she attached to the will a document dated Dec. 8 last, stating that she was about to marry Robert W. Bingham, and had been informed that because of that fact it was necessary for her to re-declare her intentions. She made the codicil leaving $5,000,000 to Mr. Bingham on June 19 last, five weeks before her death. Miss Flagler Left $1,844,057. The estate of Miss Ann Caroline Flagler, a sister of the late Henry M. Flagler, was appraised at $1,844,057. She gave $1,000 to her maid, Mary Garden, and the rest to her nephew, Harry Harkness Flagler. The bulk of the estate consisted of securities worth $1,818,941, of which more than $1,700,000 was in Standard Oil stocks. The estate will pay a federal inheritance tax of $98,168.

FINE HOME THAT HAS BEEN OFFERED AS RESIDENCE FOR BRITISH PRIME MINISTERS

Reasons of Colonel Sir Arthur Hamilton Lee For Gift of "The Chequers" To Nation

London, Oct. 2.—(Correspondence.)—Colonel Sir Arthur Hamilton Lee, who married Miss Ruth Moore, daughter of J. G. Moore of New York, in giving his country seat "The Chequers" to the nation as a residence for British prime ministers, makes it a condition that he and Lady Lee may if they desire remain in occupation as tenants of the trustees so long as they shall live.

"The Chequers" estate covers 1,500 acres, is the reputed birth-place of Caractacus, in the year 1, and has records dating back to the reign of Henry II, when it was the residence of Elias de Scarario, chancellor of the exchequer. The house is Tudor in origin and design, was largely built in 1585 and restored in 1909. Sir Arthur in his bequest asks that no alteration or addition be made to the principal features of the house, as he wishes to protect it against such outrages as were inflicted on it by the "late Georgian Goths and Vandals."

In a memorandum outlining the conditions of the trust which is being created under the prime minister, Sir Arthur says that the scheme is not a mere whim, but a carefully considered policy based on a long experience of political life and official conditions, and of the beneficial effect that the climate and atmosphere at "The Chequers" invariably exercises on hard working men of affairs.

He has foreseen that it is impossible to foretell from what classes or conditions of life the future wielders of power in this country will be drawn. They may be men of wealth and famous descent; they may belong to the world of trade, or they may spring from the ranks of manual toilers. He believes that to the city-bred man periodic contact with rural life would help him to preserve a just sense of proportion between the claims of town and country, while to the revolutionary, the antiquity and calm tenacity of the place would exercise a check upon too hasty upheavals. Sir Arthur also lays down the maxim "The better the health of our rulers the more sanely they rule."

In order to preserve the trust in perpetuity, steps have been taken to constitute a board of ex-officio trustees with the prime minister at the head. "Chequers" is situated on Coombe Hill, the highest point of the Chilterns, is thirty-eight miles by road from Hyde Park Corner and is about one hour's rail journey from London.

HANS BERG ESCAPES FROM GEORGIA CAMP

Tunnels His Way Out of Fort McPherson With Nine Others of Raiders' Crews

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 27.—Lieutenant Hans Berg, who brought the British liner Appan to Hampton Roads as a prize, after her capture off the Azores, by the German raider Moewe nearly two years ago, was one of ten prisoners who escaped this week from the Allen Enemy Detention Camp at Fort McPherson. The other nine were members of the Appan and the notorious commerce destroyer Prinz Eitel Friedrich. Search for the prisoners turned to Atlanta, where the military authorities believed they were hiding. Bloodhounds trailed the men from the mouth of a tunnel, extending from their sleeping quarters to a point outside the prison fence, to a small stream a mile from the fort. There the trail was lost and it was believed the fugitives had waded in the water to throw the dogs off the scent. Their socks were found on the bank.

The tunnel through which the Germans escaped was about 100 feet long, and officers at the fort said they evidently had been working on it ever since their transfer here two weeks ago from Fort Oglethorpe.

The escape of the prisoners was discovered at roll call. Search of their quarters revealed that they must have worn their uniforms and left.

Two other officers besides Berg escaped. They were Arnold Henkel, 35, and Alfred Loeschner; the other seven, all seamen, were Paul Faig, 22; Maximilian Menzinger, 22; Paul Eisner, 29; Johann Adelhardt, 24; Franz Beer, 22; Paul Sabel, 26; and Carl Schultz, 23.

Department of Justice agents have announced a reward of $50 each for the capture of the Germans.

so soon as the government gives the word for the work to be started. There will be three grades of men's boots at prices ranging between $1.68 and $2.95. Women's shoes will cost from $1.68 upwards, and boots from $1.80 up.

It is expected that children's boots will be turned out in greatest quantity at first, owing to the shortage. There will be no wood fibre, canvas or patent substitutes in these standard boots. Leather will be used throughout.

Amsterdam, Sept. 30.—(Correspondence.)—The Hungarian government, it is announced, has decided to establish a chain of chambers of agriculture, eighteen in number. Membership of landowners will be obligatory. The chambers will have an official character, and will settle all questions connected with agriculture. The scheme is the most ambitious and revolutionary devised in any belligerent country.

The scope of the activity of the chambers will include agricultural research, the formation of agricultural committees, the supervision of agricultural societies, agricultural instruction, participation in the proceedings of the committees on prices of agricultural products, and the creation of agricultural labor exchanges.

The chief aim of the chambers will be the increase of agricultural production.

FITZSIMMONS WAS A WONDER

His Hands Never Excelled in Size by Any Pugilists - His Matrimonial Troubles - Made Money Than Predecessors in Championship

In its article on the career of the late Bob Fitzsimmons, the New York Sun says that in view of the fact that he never weighed more than a few pounds above the middleweight limit, yet won the heavyweight championship of America, he was generally regarded as the most remarkable pugilist of his time.

who at the time claimed the middleweight championship of Australia. This bout took place in Sydney February 10, 190, and Hall won by a knockout in the fourth round.

Fitzsimmons afterwards put himself in black and white with the assertion that he "killed" Sullivan for a money consideration of $75. This affair put a damper on his prospects in Australia and he decided to try his luck in the spring of 1890, at which time he was twenty-eight years of age and at the height of his physical powers.

After disposing of a few middleweights of small ability, Fitz took on Peter Maher, a contender for the heavyweight title, and made him quit at the end of the twelfth round at New Orleans March 2, 1892.

It was on September 7, 1892, that Corbett beat Sullivan for the American heavyweight title, and Fitz set sail for a match with the new champion.

Corbett told Fitz to "get a reputation," and the Cornishman proceeded to do so. He knocked out Jim Hall in four rounds at New Orleans, March 8, 1898; Dan Creedon in two rounds at New Orleans September 26, 1894; Peter Maher in one round at Langhly, Tex., February 21, 1896, and stopped Tom Sharkey in the eighth round in San Francisco December 2, 1896.

For two years Fitz did no boxing except on the stage, but he finally accepted a match with Jim Jeffries, and it took place at Coney Island June 9, 1899, Jeff winning by a knockout in the eleventh round.

Fitz then prepared for a return match with Jeff and by way of preparation knocked out Gus Russell in two rounds and Tom Sharkey in two rounds.

He then got another match with the champion, which was fought in San Francisco, July 25, 1902, for seven rounds Fitz gave Jeff a terrific beating, cutting his face badly, blacking both his eyes and otherwise marking him.

Although Fitz had retired the undefeated middleweight champion, he lost the heavyweight honors in the ring he weighing 167 to 215 by Jeff. When Fitz won from Corbett the victor scaled 160 to 184 by the loser.

Fitz decided he would gather one more title before he got too old, and so on November 25, 1908, when he was 41 years of age, he took on George Gardner, holder of the light heavyweight title, and beat him on points in a twenty round bout in San Francisco.

On December 20, 1908, when Fitz was 48 years of age, he lost his last title to Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in a knockout in the thirteenth round at San Francisco.

Although it was evident to all of his friends that he had reached the end of his pugilistic rope Fitz was still unconvinced, and he set out in an effort to prove that he was in the running.

RINGING CALL FOR RECRUITS FOR AIR SERVICE

Excellent Opportunity to Become One of the Greatest Aides to Allies is Presented to Young Men of This Province

The call for recruits for the Royal Flying Corps has come with ringing force to a large number of local young men. A fine class of men is of course, needed for this branch of the service.

How many times the expression is heard, "If I could only fly," and the feeling is really genuine, too, and, after all these years of wishing some kind fairy, or clever inventor, has perfected a machine in which one can fly, quite safely, too, if the driver is a well trained one.

Since the outbreak of war, as every one knows, "flying machines" have played one of the most important parts and bid fair to be a deciding factor in the winning of the war.

With this in view, the Royal Flying Corps is working night and day to prepare men for this branch of the service and a most interesting one it is.

Major E. W. Hodgson, of the Royal Flying Corps, is representing the Canadian Royal Flying Corps School, to secure recruits for the air, and has opened an office in the Tramways Building, Halifax, for this purpose.

Major Hodgson has been in action himself with the Flying Corps, and has had many thrilling experiences. The major told a reporter that he is looking for cadets for the Flying School at Toronto.

"We want young men between 18 and 22, with a good academic training and two years' college training as well, for in the Flying Corps we must have men who are not only well trained in every branch of the service but who have a good thinking head, for the work requires far more than just running the machine. These men must be able to grasp in a few months the training in movements of troops, photography, engineering and many other subjects most necessary to the air service, so you see, the standard of education must be high if they are to be successful," said the major.

He also said the physical examination was very severe, for the officers must be physically fit. "I am hoping we will be able to secure any number of clever, husky lads in St. John. The colleges must turn out plenty good men and college men are what we are looking for."

The major gave a brief outline of what the training is like, and the career in the air world. They are sent to a lower training squadron and are taught flying first with a double control machine and then finally alone. A great deal of acrobatic operation is also taught here, and wireless and photography.

"Now, we have the officer, if qualified, to wear the wings, and report to the Royal Flying Corps in England. He is gazetted a second lieutenant and is supposed to report at the War Office, London. He is then sent to a squadron in England for more training in the actual war methods.

It is needless to go any further, for if the officer proves himself of good stuff he is ready for the fight and goes to France or some other scene of activity.

The major is awaiting applications for entrance to the flying schools and wants all who are intending joining the air service to make application at once by letter to the office in the Tramway Building, Halifax, or to A. E. Schofield, St. John. The officers are well paid and the cadets, during training, are paid $1.10 a day with 80 cents for pocket money.

ary of the college and there attended by Captain Jeffs, M.D. He said he feared concussion and ordered the boy sent to the hospital. Percy W. Thomson kindly sent his large car to Rothesay to convey the injured boy to the city. Upon his arrival at the hospital he was attended by Dr. W. W. White. This morning he was still unconscious and his condition was considered very serious.

In the first half of the game the Fredericton boys got across the line for a touch and in the second half made a field goal. Both were secured by a team Lounsbury, who played a star game. St. John showed a marked improvement over the previous game with Fredericton, and with another week's practise should make the best of them to cross their line.

The Fredericton boys have a fine half line, which caused St. John no end of trouble. Slowness on the part of one of the other St. John halves in marking their men was the direct cause of the defeat. The St. John scrim outplayed the Fredericton boys and won the admiration of many of the spectators. Wilkes and Sinclair, two St. John quarters, played exceptionally well, while Captain McQuade and Akerley proved a fine combination on the half line. Dawson and Kerr showed bursts of speed and with more coaching will bear watching. On the whole the team showed wonderful improvement, especially when it is taken into consideration that they have no grounds for practise and the major portion of their training is done on a cinder path and a black board.

The line up was:—

The members of the visiting team, their manager, who is a professor in Fredericton High School, and many friends who accompanied the team to the city, were greatly surprised last evening when they were informed that the banquet to which they had been invited had been cancelled by Principal Miles of the local High School. Mr. Miles' action was said to have been based on the grounds that the captain of the High School team had misinformed him as to where the game was to be played. The arrangements for the game were made by the coach and were not concluded until after the arrival of the Boston train in the city yesterday morning at 12:25. It was planned to play the game on Firemen's Park, Fairville, but this was found to be too small. In addition there were several houlders in the field, which might have endangered the lives of the contestants and it was decided that Rothesay was the only place to play the game. If the game had not been played the local boys would have had to pay the visiting team's expenses in addition to breaking up the league.

Parents of High School students were indignant when they learned of the action of the principal. They said their boys went to Rothesay with their consent, also that they intend to investigate the reason for the cancelling of the banquet, which was under the auspices of students in the Y. M. C. A. building after school hours. They contend that Mr. Miles exceeded his authority in interfering with a function after school hours.

Bouts in Montreal

Kid Alberts, a welterweight from New York, who has met and defeated some of the best men in his class, outpointed George Rivet, a Montreal welterweight on Wednesday night in a ten-round bout that featured the weekly programme of the Canadian Hockey Club at Sohmer Park, Montreal. If there was any doubt as to the decision in the early stages there was none left after the bell called time for the tenth round, in which Alberts had Rivet groggy and in a distressed condition the greater part of the round. Alberts did the greater part of the fighting, and after the second round, in which Rivet had the shade, he continued his victorious march, forcing the pace at all times. Rivet is a newcomer, compared with the thirteen years' experience of his opponent. He hung on gamely and to remain the ten rounds was forced to take severe punishment.

In the opening round Rivet fought his man toe to toe, as he did again in the second round, until Alberts, who had something on him in weight, wore him down. On several occasions Rivet rallied and came back strong, only to show signs of fatigue as the round ended. Had Rivet stayed out and boxed with Alberts in place of mixing it up with him, the decision might have been reversed, as Alberts showed marked superiority at fighting. Alberts weighed 148 pounds while Rivet weighed 144.

Joe Burns, a local featherweight, added another knockout to his list in the semi-windup when he defeated John Mason, of New York, in the fourth of a scheduled ten-round bout. Burns forced the fighting at all stages and in the third round the trouble started. Mason, when Burns fought him to the ropes and landed a right jolt to the chin that took the snap out of the New Yorker.

In the preliminary, Young Greek knocked out Kid Herman in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Meehan a Ring Freak
New York, Oct. 26.—Willie Meehan, a San Francisco boxer, who started as a bantam and put on fat so rapidly that he now is a heavyweight, is the greatest freak in the ring today. Meehan is so fat that blows make no impression upon him, and he is so awkward that even the cleverest of opponents cannot figure out a way to reach him effectively. Despite the ludicrous appearance he makes in the ring, Meehan really knows a great deal about the game of fistuffs and he is far from being the easy mark he looks. His most recent feat was defeating Jack Dillon, whom he outpointed handily in a bout in Philadelphia.

FOOTBALL
No Harvard-Yale Game
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 26.—A formal statement by Dr. A. E. Bridges, coach of the Yale freshman football team, made it definitely known on Friday that all idea of a Yale informal eleven and of games with Harvard or Princeton has been abandoned.

"There will be no games, informal or otherwise, between Harvard and Yale or Princeton and Yale this year," said Dr. Bridges' statement. The reason given is that the chief attention of the men is being given to military work. It was explained that this situation will not affect the games between the freshmen elevens of the universities.

Giants' Act Turned Down
New York, Oct. 24.—I. R. Samuels, manager of a big vaudeville theatre in the Bronx, seized time by the forelock last week. So, before the series started he had an option on the services of Benny Kauff, Robertson and

FREDERICTON WINS FROM ST. JOHN IN EXCITING GAME

Defeat Locals by Score of 7 to 0; Game Marred by Serious Accident; Banquet for Visiting Team Cancelled

The Fredericton High School football team again defeated the St. John High School yesterday afternoon on Rothesay College gridiron, 7 to 0. The game was one of the best played this year in the Inter-scholastic league and the result was in doubt until the whistle ended hostilities. The game was marred by a serious accident to Donald Walker, one of Fredericton High's quarters, who was thrown to the ground while carrying the ball up the field and sustained concussion of the brain. It was thought that he had only lost his wind and would revive in a few minutes, but as time passed it was seen that he was badly injured. He was carried to the infirmary.

Heinz Zimmerman to play at his theatre if the Giants won the title.

Well, it has already been established that the Giants did not win the title. But the three hall players thought there might still be a demand for their services in the two-day theatre. Kauff, being the most tactful of the trio, is reported to have called up Manager Samuels to find out if the vaudeville offer was still good.

But Mr. Samuels had bet on the Giants. "Do I want that act still?" he said over the phone. "I should say not. You fellows can't even get a pass inside my theatre." So Kauff, Robertson and Zimmerman are not decorating the presentium.

BLUEJACKETS TO MAN TRANSPORTS

American Navy to Take Over
Ships and Place Fighting Crews on Board

Washington, Oct. 27.—Bluejackets will man and naval officers will command army transports hereafter. Officials believe this will insure more efficient operation of the ships, particularly in the war zone, where the strain on a crew is greatest, and so lessen the risk of destruction by submarines.

The decision to have the navy operate the transports is believed to have been hastened by the sinking of the transport Antilles, which was manned by civilians. The highly trained and disciplined naval officers are regarded as far more effective than a constantly changing civilian personnel. This is regarded particularly true of the fire-room forces, upon which a ship's speed largely depends.

The manning of the transports will make necessary a larger increase in the naval personnel, and the general board is understood to have recommended that congress be asked in December to authorize an additional 50,000 men, 20,000 for the permanent naval forces and 30,000 for the period of the war.

With the transports turned over to the navy, it was decided to have the shipping board operate all cargo vessels, including those carrying supplies for the armed forces abroad. This was settled a question between the navy and the shipping board which began with the decision to build and commandeer merchant ships.

In anticipation of today's agreement, the navy has been training men especially for the transport service, and a large force is understood to be available now. Others will be trained as rapidly as possible, so that not only all existing transports can be manned but also the new ones now building. These will be much faster than the standard cargo vessels. They are built for a speed of at least 18 knots.

The high speed will furnish one protection against submarines, but still another will be supplied in the ships themselves. They will be so constructed as to be safe against one torpedo, and it is believed that two probably would not sink them.

The manning of the transports by bluejackets will release many men for the cargo vessels operated by the shipping board. The crews for these ships present an even greater problem than does the personnel for the navy ships, but the shipping board is training large forces at several schools along the coast and expects to be able to properly man the cargo carriers as fast as they are built.

WILSON'S PURCHASE $15,000
President Also Bought $10,000 of the First Liberty Bond Issue
Washington, Oct. 24.—When leaders of the District of Columbia Liberty Loan campaign went to call on President Wilson today, presumably to get his subscription to the loan, they found that he had subscribed for $15,000 worth of bonds through a local bank, paying $15,000 immediately and agreeing to pay the balance before Nov. 14. The president bought $10,000 worth of the first issue direct from the treasury.

THE SUGAR SITUATION

The sugar market presents the unusual spectacle of a commodity for which the demand is greater than the supply remaining stationary in price. While there is sufficient sugar for everybody, according to official reports and the statements of the refiners, there is not enough to give every merchant the amount he would like to buy and orders are being filled with only a small proportion of the amount ordered.

In addition to getting less sugar from the refiners than they asked for, the merchants can get only two-thirds of their shipment in granulated sugar, being required to take the balance in brown or yellow sugars. As the usual requirements for the latter class of sugar are only from five to eight per cent. of the total, this leaves a considerable margin to be absorbed by the consumer. The reason for the refiners' action is that they are endeavoring to relieve the scarcity by making up into brown sugar the material which formerly was sold as syrup. The new crop is being shipped now but the shortage will continue to be felt until about January. Meanwhile assurance is given that there will be no increase in the price of sugar.

"WHEATLESS WEDNESDAY"

New York Hotels Serve Corn and Rye Breads and Patrons Enjoy Them

New York hotels observed wheatless Wednesday this week, and wheat bread and foods made from white flour were banished from the menus. Some hotels even omitted soups and gravies that required flour to thicken. As a general rule the patrons entered willingly into the spirit of the day and accepted corn and rye bread. At breakfast there was a run on corn flakes and oatmeal. The Hotel Association reported that 224 of 225 members had observed the no-wheat rule.

Old fashioned Johnny cake, prepared according to a secret recipe by Steward Harry Bigg, was the wheatless feature at the Park avenue hotel. It was served first at breakfast, and was such a success that it was kept on the menu all day.

Rye and corn were featured at the McAlpin, Claridge and the Biltmore. Rye flour was used in pastries. Besides banishing wheat flour the chef at the Waldorf-Astoria used hominy for thickening and camouflaged the pastry with rye flour.

EXHIBITION OF WAR
TROPHIES

Sir Robert Borden's Message to the House of Commons:

May I be permitted to draw the attention of members of the House to the extensive collection of trophies of the war which have been presented to the Government of Canada by the President of the French Republic and by the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom? It might be noted that the collection of trophies includes other smaller articles which have been in part acquired as gifts from individuals and in part acquired at trifling outlay. Part of this collection was exhibited last week at Ottawa for the benefit of the Canadian Red Cross Society and was visited by considerably over 20,000 persons. I have made arrangements that this exhibition, which is in the Lansdowne Park, shall be open to the members of this House and of the Senate during the remainder of the week, and I hope many of them will take advantage of the opportunity to go very early and spend fifteen or twenty minutes in looking at this collection, and I was very amply repaid and should have liked to be able to devote a much longer time to the purpose.

The collection includes an armed biplane, which has been in service in France and which, I believe, has been twenty or thirty times across the German lines; two of the famous "seventy-five" French field guns; a large gun captured at Vimy Ridge. That gun is very interesting because it bears on it the obvious marks of a direct hit during that action. The collection also includes several types of machine guns, trench mortars, anti-aircraft guns, a complete range of shells and thousands of other objects. I should not omit to allude to the collection of Posters, proclamations and prints of all the belligerent nations of the Allies and enemy as well. One very interesting poster, which is to be found amongst those on exhibition is an original poster announcing the condemnation and death of Edith Cavell.

I should fail in my duty if I did not, on this occasion, express the very warm appreciation of the people of Canada and their Government for the generosity of the French incidental to conveying them to this country. It should be added that only a portion of the collection has yet reached Canada. The larger trophies from the British naval and military authorities have not yet arrived, but I am sure honorable gentlemen will find the collection most instructive, and I hope that arrangements may be made so that those trophies can be seen by the people of all parts of the Dominion.
