ALL TRIM ABOARD VESSEL BUT CREW HAD VANISHED

Nova Scotia Schooner Marion G. Douglas Provides Sea Mystery

Abandoned off Scilly For No Apparent Reason—Boards Found Everything in Good Order But no Trace of Crew

Montreal, Nov. 29.—A London cable to the Gazette says:—
A weird story of the sea, recalling the mystery of the Marie Celeste, comes from a Scilly correspondent. Soon after daybreak yesterday a three masted fore and aft schooner was seen to the north of the islands near Shipmen Head, Brighton Island. By her behavior it was apparent that she was in difficulties and probably a derelict. On being approached the latter was found to be the case, and on boarding her the Brighton men were astonished to find that, though every member of the crew had left everything was in perfect order and the ship in no way damaged.
All the sails were furled and all the boats were aboard, including a smart motor launch. What can have happened to the crew or what caused them to leave the ship is not known. As she was laden with wood, there could never have been any danger of her sinking.
The derelict, which has been brought to a safe anchorage, is the Marion G. Douglas. She was built in 1917 on the Fox River, N. S., and owned by W. N. Reinhardt. She is a valuable vessel and there will be a considerable amount of salvage to be divided among the Brighton men.

LATER.
Halifax, Nov. 29.—W. N. Reinhardt of the schooner Marion Douglas, which has been towed into a United Kingdom port, said today that he had received a telegram from Capt. S. R. Corbin, master of the schooner, to the effect that the vessel was abandoned in a sinking condition, her rudder and steering gear gone and so damaged that the crew could not handle her.

"Captain Corbin is one of the best skippers in Nova Scotia," said Mr. Reinhardt, "and he would not abandon the ship unless her condition was serious." He said he had also received today a cablegram signed "Pearson Glasgow" advising him of the salvage of the schooner and asking for instructions. He is leaving the whole matter in the hands of Dale & Co., underwriters of the hull cargo.

Captain Corbin and his crew were taken off the Marion Douglas by one of the Botwood Lumber Company tugs and taken into Botwood, Notre Dame Bay, Nfld.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR THE WINTER FAIR

Is Halifax to Get a Big Government Cold Storage Plant?

Fredrickton, N. B., Nov. 29.—E. P. Bradt, deputy minister of agriculture, has returned from Amherst, where he has been arranging for the Maritime Winter Fair on Dec. 15, 16, 17 and 18. While there he assisted in the appointing of committees to look after the work and have charge of the various departments at the fair. Entries for poultry promised to be more numerous than ever. Both dairy and beef cattle will also be well represented. Long wool and short wool sheep as well as swine also will be numerous.

The following judges were appointed for the various departments: Dairy cattle, Holstein, D. Archibald, Ottawa; Ayrshires, A. D. Hunter, Madawask; Cattle, Geo. Day, Guelph; Sheep, John Guardhouse; short wool, W. A. Dryden; Swine, J. L. Flett, Hamilton; Ont. Poultry, Richard Oke, London, Ont.

At the meeting it was said that prospects were bright for the establishment at Halifax of a big government cold storage plant in connection with the terminals. The matter of an abattoir was also reported to be under consideration.

LOYD GEORGE SILENT AT PRESENT ABOUT TRIAL OF KAISER

London, Nov. 29.—In a printed parliamentary reply to questions asked him on the subject, Premier Lloyd George declares it is not expedient to say more regarding the proposed trial of former Emperor William of Germany "and other criminals" than that an enormous mass of evidence, including many thousands of depositions, have been examined, and that the final list of accused persons is under consideration.

REFUSE WAGES DEMANDS OF COTTON MILL EMPLOYEES

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 29.—The request for an increase in wages of twenty-five per cent, asked by the textile operatives on Nov. 15, was refused yesterday by the Cotton Manufacturers' Association. In Fall River a wage demand has also been rejected. More than 60,000 operatives are employed in the mills of the two cities.

The shooting season for big game closes today. During the period allowed for hunting some splendid specimens of moose and deer have been shot in the province.

Lord Leverhulme Tells Boston Business Men How To Fight Unrest

Advocates Profit Sharing as The Way to Settlement

THE HUMAN ELEMENT

Speaks of Six-Hour Day—Declares Present Conditions Give Healthiest Sign—Rev. Mr. Allen Talks of Conditions in England and Gives Some Gossip

(Special to Times).
Boston, Nov. 29.—A new creed was born last night when Lord Leverhulme of Port Sunlight, Eng., before 600 members of the Chamber of Commerce, advocated profit sharing as the only way to battle with industrial unrest. He appealed to the business men of America to consider the human element in dealing with their employees—"that human element which is essential to all progress"—to establish the six-hour working day for employees and the formation of a full co-partnership between employers and employees.
"You can depend upon it that the same human hearts beat here in America and in England as did fifty years ago," said Lord Leverhulme. "But the difficulty is very great here in America as in England where these huge organizations have become so large that they have no soul to save and no body to kick." He likened a business organization without loyalty to the firm among the employees as a dry stone wall with no mortar to hold the stones together.
"I should fail my duty," he said, "if I did not point out the pitfalls that lie before me. I have in my life found it so hard to get people to understand that if you treat a human being as you would wish a human being to treat you; if you provide a good home for your working people to live in and endeavor to help them all by a share of the profits, I am always sick when I hear public meetings that it is only philanthropy."
Lord Leverhulme went on to say that if anyone approached the subject of co-partnership an anti-socialist would be called out. (Continued on page 7, seventh column).

BRITAIN TO GET 70 PER CENT. OF HULL TONNAGE

Paris, Nov. 29.—The supreme council today adopted the British suggestion for partition of the German war fleet. Under the arrangement, Great Britain will receive seventy per cent of the total tonnage, France ten per cent, Italy ten per cent, Japan eight per cent, and the United States two per cent.

France is to get ten of the German submarines. France is allowed this number, it is explained, because during the war she was unable to build to the extent of others of the Allies, and being devoted to the making of munitions for the use of all. The present understanding is that the remainder of the submarines will be broken up.

Despatches from Paris yesterday said the supreme council also had decided that France would get at least five long-range submarines, and that the remainder of the submarines will be broken up.

FREDRICKTON IMPORTS IN NOVEMBER LARGER

(Special to Times).
Fredrickton, Nov. 29.—Customs receipts for November here show an increase of $79,780 in value of imports compared with the same month of 1918 and an increase of $8,152.02 in duty paid, and an increase of $8,152.02 in duty paid, and an increase of $8,152.02 in duty paid.

The new C. P. R. train schedule which will go into effect on Sunday will make a great difference to Fredrickton. There will be no through St. John train and the extreme early and extremely late trains will be eliminated.

The vocational committee of Fredrickton is preparing to add a pre-vocational course for those who did not have the benefit of a thorough primary school education. This course will begin after the new year.

Another cold night strengthened the ice in the St. John river.

TIME TABLE CHANGES

The changes in the time tables of the C. P. R. and C. N. R., which have frequently been referred to in The Times, including the running of two Montreal trains for the St. John, will go into effect on Monday.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I had a dreadful time last night. Filled with the new spirit of the Commercial Club."
"I thought you'd quit drinkin'," interjected Hiram.
"This was not a dispirited spirit," said the reporter, "but the spirit of confidence, of hope, of progress and high achievement."
"Oh, all right," said Hiram. "Fire away."
"Filled with that spirit," continued the reporter, "you went to a meeting in East St. John. It was a very harmonious and delightful meeting and somebody suggested that the district union with the city of St. John. Then the roof rose and the balloon went up. The things they said about St. John and the city council and the streets and roads and other things were painful in the extreme. One described how in crossing the Marsh Bridge, just before the frost was sent by a plying Providence, he had to climb on top of the fence to escape the mud from passing vehicles. Another had sprained his ankle and broken repeated resolutions against profane utterances while walking along the so-called sidewalk to Kain's Corner a third told how the fine road constructed by the provincial government had been dug up and blown up by the city water department and left like a section of No Man's Land. Another said if they became part of the city they would have to pay taxes to be wanted in the city while they got nothing from the members of the city council not to venture into that locality except in an armored car—if they could get it over the school board, on the face of almost complete returns, has been unsuccessful."
Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—The citizen candidates polled nearly 6,000 more votes than the labor candidates. This is very interesting in view of the fact that next year's fight may be waged with the ward of St. John. Another outstanding feature is that of the fifteen labor candidates placed in the field only four were successful. The line-up for the 1920 city council follows:
Mayor—Charles F. Gray.
Aldermen—
Citizens: J. Sparling, J. C. H. Sullivan, W. B. Fowler, H. H. Henders, G. Fisher, H. Gray, F. M. Davidson.
Labor—E. Robinson, John Quinn, A. A. Heaps, W. B. Simpson, J. Blumberg.
Seven of the aldermen elected last year, Sparling, Palford, Gray, Robinson, Heaps, Simpson and Wigninton, are serving two-year terms. The remainder of the possible return in ward 6, where Alderman R. H. Ramlin was declared beaten by 110. There were eighty-nine spoiled ballots in this ward and many recounts on such a close vote reversed the decision.
The vote was far the heaviest on record, being nearly double that of 1917, when 16,000 votes were polled. The actual vote yesterday was 28,144. The "silent vote" also came out strongly.
It was in many ways a surprising result. Winnipeg versus St. John, with the south having the better of the argument in actual count. But the north won in the pinches, and thus secured seats for the laborites. Sweeping victories were won by Alderman F. O. Fowler in Ward 3, Alderman A. McLennan, defeated in Elmwood on the citizens' ticket, had been in the council since 1913. Alderman Hamlin had been a laborer for two years.
The laborites carried only one seat on the school board. This was in Ward 6, their stronghold, where Mrs. A. Stein defeated the sitting member, M. Stein.

LABOR LOSES IN WINNIPEG VOTING

Fail to Get Control of The City Council And Mayor Grey is Re-elected

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—The great fight of the labor faction to gain control of the civic government of Winnipeg has resulted in failure. The election of Mayor Gray, heading the citizens' law and order forces, by the substantial majority of 3,013 and the success of four citizens' aldermanic candidates assure the latter element a majority in the city council. Three labor aldermanic candidates, Alderman John Quinn, one of the eight strike leaders charged with sedition conspiracy; H. Jones and J. Blumberg were returned. Successful citizens' candidates for aldermen are J. G. Sullivan, F. O. Fowler, F. H. Davidson and G. F. Fisher.

The campaign was the most serious in the city's history, strike issues always holding the centre of the stage; some candidates indeed referred to the election as the "second round of the strike." The labor element promised, if returned, to renege all city employees who left their places during the strike, which would have meant the throwing out of employment of more than 150 returned soldiers; to exempt from taxation homes valued at $5,000 or under, and to give the right to city employees to be affiliated with any organization they saw fit.

Labor's attempt to get representation on the school board, on the face of almost complete returns, has been unsuccessful. The Express fears the action will precipitate a conflict which sane men of all parts must dread.

THIRTY-SEVEN CASES OF SMALLPOX ARE IN A HOSPITAL MATERNITY HOME

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Twenty-nine cases of smallpox have been reported to the city health authorities and twenty-seven of them have broken out in one building in the city, "La Misericorde," a maternity home, which has been promptly placed under quarantine. The maternity cases in the hospital number about thirty.

GOVERNMENT WINS

London, Nov. 29.—The government won a sweeping victory in the House of Commons today when the motion of William Bruce, a Labor leader, calling for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the cost of production, the output and prices of coal, was rejected. The government received 234 votes as against 59 for the measure.

CORSICAN ON THE WAY

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Military headquarters has been advised of the sailing of the steamship Corsican, with eighteen officers and fifty-three other ranks for St. John. She is expected to dock on Dec. 4.

VOTE TO GO OUT ON STRIKE AT SYDNEY, N. S., TODAY

Sydney, N. S., Nov. 29.—As a result of the company deciding to accept further orders from the Dominion Iron and Steel Company the moulders employed by the Sydney Foundry and Machine Works decided to go on strike tomorrow.

COURT ACTION RE TWO MORE MARRIAGES

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Two marriages were annulled by judgment yesterday of the superior court. Thomas McDonald petitioned to have his marriage with Sarah Evans set aside because it was not valid under the law of the Catholic church. He is a Catholic, and on March 16, 1917, at St. Stephen's (Anglican) church, Lachine, he said he had no dispensation from the Catholic church authorities to prove having been put into the record that the marriage had been declared invalid as regarded by the Catholic church, as there being no canon of marriage of Sarah Evans, Justice Gauthier gave judgment declaring the marriage null and void.

Hannah Alexander, wife of George Fisher, sought to have the marriage of her daughter by her first marriage, Violet Jeffs, set aside on the main ground that she was a minor when she married. Lower St. Lawrence, Guelph and North Shore—Southernly winds, snow and rain tonight. Sunday southwest gales, showers. Monday, much colder.

STEAMER GROUNDS NEAR MONTREAL

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Setting sail yesterday for South African ports, the steamer Basilio, 4,044 tons, formerly the War Pointer of the Elder Dempster Line, ran aground within sight of her pier, and is stranded on a mud bank in the stream near Turle Pier. The mishap is attributed to a defect in the steering gear just as the vessel was making a turn. She is the last boat of the Elder Dempster South African service to leave this season, and was carrying a full cargo and mails.

WOOLWICH ARSENAL TO BE RAILWAY CENTRE

London, Nov. 29.—After visiting Woolwich arsenal to inquire into the question of a reduction of the staff there, Premier Lloyd George yesterday said the arsenal probably would be developed as a railway centre in order to meet the world shortage in locomotives.

Regard Coercion In Ireland With Distrust

Times Fears Affairs Drift Towards Disaster

BEAVERBROOK AND THE MOVIES

Sir Auckland Geddes in Hot Water Over Coal Situation—British Weekly Post Says Public Have no Confidence in Him

(Special Cable to Times by F. A. McKenzies Copyright).
London, Nov. 29.—The government's action in suppressing the Sinn Feiners and allied organizations throughout Ireland is believed to mark the commencement of a vigorous winter campaign of suppression, a sequel to Irish outrages. In Munster alone, nine members of the constabulary have been killed and fourteen wounded, and one soldier has been killed and nine wounded during the past year. There is general agreement that the new move is a mere negotiation policy, and that coercion without a simultaneous definite plan of political conciliation may only precipitate serious conflict.

The Times criticizes the proclamation, confessing its suspicion that there lies behind it yet something worse than in Ireland, more dangerous than fatalities. It says:
It is with the greatest disquietude we learn that on the eve of the hoped-for announcement of the Irish policy of the government there has been inaugurated yet another sweeping measure of coercion for which no justification, if justification there be, has been advanced, and which bears a prima facie menace to the prospects of any satisfactory settlement of the Irish problem."

It fears that Irish affairs are drifting unchecked towards disaster. The Express fears the action will precipitate a conflict which sane men of all parts must dread.

The public have no confidence in Auckland Geddes, who is evidently served by men who cannot get out accurate figures. They are perpetually at a maze dealing with facts which ought not after all to be very difficult of verification. Auckland's blundering has irritated everyone, and created an impression of general helplessness and incapacity in dealing with the chief industry of the country, an industry on which the happiness and prosperity of the country can be placed on the fact of the coal industry for taking charge of the coal industry. The result is uneasiness which is not helpful either to the government or the state."

SIR ROBERT FALCONER ON CO-OPERATION WITH FRENCH CANADIANS

Toronto, Nov. 29.—"We would like, of course, to see closer mutual relations with the French-Canadian universities," said Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, yesterday, in reference to a suggestion by Leon Mercurie Gouin that the universities, by scholarships and interchanges of professors, could help materially in the unification of Canada.

"Quite a few of our modern language students go down there for practical training in French," he added. "Something might be done in the way of scholarships. All the Canadian universities, of course, meet at Laval next May, and something may come from that conference as for the interchange of professors, that would be more difficult."

S. S. PRESIDENT GRANT WAS IN DIFFICULTIES

Boston, Nov. 28.—Distress calls from trans-Atlantic steamer President Grant today announced there had been a boiler explosion. No details were given. The position of the President Grant was given as latitude 40.18 north, longitude 64.86 west. The steamer is bound from New York to Brest. The President Grant sent a later message by wireless that she would need no assistance.

ALBERTA APPEARS TO BE WINNING FIGHT AGAINST SMALLPOX

Regina, Sask., Nov. 29.—The smallpox situation in the east end of the province, where it was feared for a time might develop into an epidemic of some proportions, appears to have been relieved by the energetic steps taken by the Alberta authorities. There have been no new cases reported during the last twenty-four hours in the district about Estevan, where the outbreak occurred. The school children and a large number of the adults have been vaccinated.

CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON COMES TO END

Only One Matter Was Left For Vote Today

Eight-Hour Day and 48-Hour Week Adopted by 82 to 2—Against Night Employment of Women and Children in Industrial Establishments

Washington, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press limited staff correspondent)—The International Labor Conference, under the League of Nations will conclude its work today. Already its main conventions and recommendations have received the final two-thirds vote. There remains indeed, but one convention to receive the final vote, the convention in regard to the employment of women before and after child birth. Progress yesterday was swift. Many of the delegates are to sail for Europe during the week-end. There was fear that a quorum might not be present for the formal votes should the usual speeches be allowed and guideline time schedules lopped off discussion with monotonous regularity. Final votes taken in the afternoon were:

1.—Convention of the eight hour day and forty-eight hour week in industrial establishments adopted by eighty-two to two, the two votes against were those of S. R. Parsons, Canadian employers' delegate, and G. Paus, Norwegian employers' delegates. The Canadian government delegates and the Canadian workers' delegates supported the convention.

2.—Convention on unemployment. Adopted by eighty-seven to five. All Canadian delegates voted in favor.

3.—Child-labor charter. Adopted by ninety-one to three. All Canadian delegates voted in favor.

4.—Convention to forbid employment of women in industrial establishments during the night, adopted by ninety-four to one. All Canadian delegates voted in favor.

5.—Convention to forbid employment of young persons in industrial establishments during the night. For, ninety-seven, against, none.

6.—Recommendation favoring reciprocity of workers' rights, adopted by eighty to nine. Hon. N. V. Rowell, Canadian workers' delegates, supported the recommendation.

7.—Recommendation that states, with a view to their abolition, should issue private employment agencies charging fees. Adopted by seventy-eight to eleven. All Canadian delegates in favor.

8.—Recommendation to recruiting of bodies of workers in one country for employment in another should not be permitted except by mutual agreement between the countries concerned and after consultation with employers and workers in the industries concerned. Adopted by sixty to twenty-four.

9.—Recommendation that each state shall take steps to establish an efficient system of unemployment insurance. Adopted by seventy-three to eleven. Canadian vote—For, government delegates and workers' delegates; against, employers' delegates.

In connection with unemployment a further recommendation was adopted by eighty-three votes to four, all the Canadian delegates supporting the recommendation. It was that, so far as possible, public work should be reserved for the unemployed and for districts most affected by unemployment.

Without a dissenting vote additional recommendations received the final approving vote. These recommended disinfection of wool infected with anthrax spores; prohibition of the use of waste photos in match manufacture; that women and young persons be excluded from employment in processes where there is danger of lead poisoning.

Amendments made by the conference to the one convention still before the session, that concerning the employment of women before and after child birth, are apparently a source of tribulation to the drafting committee. The amendments are indefinite, conflicting in meaning.

The conference, as Mr. Cartier, Belgian employers' delegate, put it, votes first one way and then the opposite way, then the first way back again.

Now the trouble is to put uniformity into the minds of the conference. Just before adjournment last night, Dr. M. Hudson, legal advisor, appeared with three drafts and suggested that the conference might take its choice. It was decided, however, to hold the matter over until today. In the meantime the drafts will be considered.

The chairman urged caution "in rushing an important question through at the close of the session." On delegates being questioned, it was found that more than a quorum could be present this morning. The conference therefore adjourned till today.

PLAN NEW SCHOOL AT EAST ST. JOHN

The citizens of East St. John, at a meeting last evening, authorized the school trustees of the district to get particulars regarding a site and to get plans and estimates of the cost of a new school building. It was also decided to have a meeting at a later date when the whole question of incorporating East St. John will be discussed. Then someone will be present to give the residents full information on this important matter. The meeting was held in the Edith Avenue Mission. H. B. Peck was elected chairman and Gordon Fawcett secretary.

W. F. Burditt gave a full explanation of the school situation in the district. Originally a school was established at Little River. The district had grown so that additional accommodation was imperative. Owing to a dispute over the proposed site the matter of increased facilities fell through. Finally the mission hall was hired and opened as a school. The children, he said, could not be accommodated now and something had to be done to look after the needs of the district. He favored building a school house, not only to look after the needs of the present, but to be erected along lines that would handle the future growth of the community that was sure to come. This building could be paid for by issuing long term bonds which would not add much to the tax bill of the individual.

A. M. Belding was then asked to speak. He made a plea for a community school building and urged that when the plans were prepared, provision be made for a gymnasium and auditorium. He pointed out the growth that had come to East St. John and the development that would be sure to follow. Community questions would arise and a meeting place was required to discuss them. No better place could be found than the school building. If suitable provisions were made at the time of erection, he also referred to the number of young men and girls who needed a gymnasium which could and should be connected with the school building.

J. W. Flewelling, of the school trustees said that a site could be secured on the government land near the Industrial Home. While this might not serve as a site for the convenience of the city end of the district, both sections of East St. John were bound to grow and in a short time this would be the most central site. Alexander Magee expressed himself as being strongly in favor of this project, as did also Arthur Burditt and E. N. Stockford, who moved that the district school board get further information relative to the proposed site on the government land near the Industrial School and also have plans prepared and an estimate made of the cost of the school building. It was also suggested that alternate plans be prepared to take in the suggestions of Mr. Belding. This motion passed unanimously.

Mr. Burditt suggested that as the people of the district were together in a community gathering they might well consider other matters. He said that electric lights were badly needed on the poles at which the street cars stopped to take on and let off passengers. He expressed the hope that something could be done in this regard.

Richard Magee said that he had talked the matter over with the power company and thought the request could be granted. Mr. Peck thought that there would be considerable expense entailed but also thought that something should be done.

Mr. Burditt also introduced the question of incorporating East St. John. He thought that some action should be taken to change existing conditions. This could be done in three ways. One was to unite with the city, another was to have the same arrangement introduced as existed in Fairville which had the representatives of the parish in the county council, act as a committee of management, and, thirdly, to have East St. John incorporated as a town.

R. Magee, Alexander Magee and Mr. Stockford and all others who expressed their opinion were against uniting with the city. A resolution was adopted to hold a meeting to discuss the whole question of incorporation. A request was made that the mission hall, now used as a school, be returned to the young men of the community. Those present felt that they had use of it as a club before the war and would like to see the school land it back to them as soon as convenient. The meeting adjourned with the National Anthem.

TIMES ARE GOOD ON NORTH SHORE

Season Just Closed Has Been Good One—Lots of Money in Circulation

Times appear generally prosperous along the North Shore this fall. Farm produce is bringing in good returns to the agriculturist, fishing on the whole has been well up to the average and high wages are being paid in the woods for lumbermen, so that money seems quite plentiful among the people.

The lobster season this spring, which opened April 26th and closed June 26th, was just fair in the northern section of the province, from Buctouche to Bay Chaleur. The opening price was $27 a case of 48 lbs., f. o. b., and advanced until the closing price was about $32. In 1918 the closing price was about $24 or approximately $8 less than this year.

The pack for 1919 is estimated about 10 per cent. greater than 1918, so the spring season on the whole was better in price and quantity than the previous year.

The fall season opened August 16 and closed October 15th from Buctouche to Cape Tormentine and Prince Edward Island. The price at opening ranged about $40 or $42, and closing price between $38 and $41 below that.

The quantity is understood to have shown a gain of almost 100 per cent. in some sections.

Oysters are apparently coming in more freely than last year, one reason perhaps being that the influenza was raging about this time in 1918 and many were unable to fish owing to personal illness or sickness in their families. At Buctouche Bay and vicinity the quantity is almost double and points farther north about the same. There is not much change in price quotations from those prevailing last year.

Potatoes have been a good crop generally, speaking along the North Shore counties, but as in most sections this year, quite a percentage are subject to rot and in some places very few potatoes were in demand because of this unfortunate feature.

CREARY SAYS HIS IRISH IS UP

Makes a Public Protest Against Any Higher Prices of Clothes.

"Every time I read the English Woolen Trade Journals I feel like getting up on my hind legs and roaring a protest," said George Creary, of the Semi-ready Store.

"I've just been reading about increased prices again—reading till I'm sick of increases. My Irish is up. I'm going to strike back right now with counter overcoats."

"I bought a lot of Irish friezes in grey—just the kind of coat for our moist, down-by-the-sea climate. It sheds rain like a duckling and is as warm as a summer's day."

"Really, the coats are worth $60 on a comparative value basis. I got them to make me half-a-hundred leaders at $50."

"And just because the English woolen men say that prices will be higher still next year, I'm going to kick back with an overcoat bargain for one week. These handsome new Frieze Cloth Coats, fresh from the Semi-ready shops, any and every day of next week I will sell for $39.50."

"As a companion bargain to these new coats, I will sell a Canada Ulster in Irish Frieze, worth $65, for $44.50—only next week."

"I won't wait till the season is over and you don't want a coat. I'll do it now," concluded Mr. Creary.

VICTIMS' CONSTITUTION SAVES THIS ASSAILANT

Charge of Attempted Murder Reduced to One of Wounding—Gets 25 Years

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Twenty-five years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Judge Babin on George Peters, who was convicted of attempted murder.

The charge was reduced to wounding and Peters was saved from life imprisonment by the modification of the charge.

The case was one of the most brutal in the annals of crime in Montreal. On September 7 last, Peter Drinkilis, who owns a fruit store at 1387 St. Catherine street, was asked by a visitor, a countryman, whom he knew slightly, if he would let him spend the night at his place.

Drinkilis consented and they had gone to bed. About 2:30 o'clock the next morning Drinkilis was abruptly awakened by a sharp pain, and saw Peters brandishing a razor in one hand and a revolver in the other.

Drinkilis, half blinded by the rush of blood from his wound, succeeded in grappling with his assailant, but he was slashed three times more and his left eye was gouged out. When he stumbled Peters fired three shots at him, each bullet taking effect. Peters then grabbed the money which Drinkilis had in his pockets, about $176, and ran away.

In passing sentence the judge commented on the atrocity of the crime and remarked to the prisoner that he was lucky that it was not a case of murder; it was only the physical constitution of his victim which saved him from the gallows.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, N. B. BURIAL PERMITS

IT IS HEREBY ANNOUNCED that on and after January first, 1920, in accordance with Sec. 35 of the Public Health Act of 1918, and its amendments the body of any deceased person shall not be buried without a permit so to do, from the Sub-District Board of Health for the Sub-District in which the burial is to be made.

It is arranged by Regulation of the Minister of Health that such burial permits shall be granted by the sub-deputy registrars of Vital Statistics, or by one of their assistants, duly appointed for that purpose by the Sub-District Board of Health concerned, for the sub-deputy registrar area in which the death of such person, took place, or in which the burial is to be made.

Such burial-permits will be made upon the production of a certificate of cause of death, and such permits shall serve as permits for the transportation of the body where such transportation is to be made by a common carrier, and when burial is to be made elsewhere than in the sub-deputy registrar area where the permit was issued.

Posters, in prominent type, will be put up throughout the province, notifying the date of the inception of the service together with the post office address of the sub-deputy registrar of the parish, town or city in which such poster appears.

MISS SMITH WILL WORK FOR MINIMUM WAGE, FAIR RENTALS, AND BONUS FOR THE SERVICE MEN

(N. Y. Evening Post.)

Marguerite L. Smith, age twenty-five, B.S., 1916, M.A., 1918, Teachers' College, Columbia University, instructor and supervisor of Girl Scouts and other club work at Horace Mann School, leader in every movement in her own district that may be of service or benefit to her constituents, that is in part the service record of Miss Smith, who was recently elected to represent the Nineteenth Assembly District in the State Legislature at Albany.

At first thought this seems a big job for a girl of twenty-five to tackle, but when one has talked to Miss Smith for a few moments one realizes that her accomplishments are but the first expressions of what is surely an unusually great capacity for service—a capacity that betokens a wonderfully interesting career. When interviewed during a leisure moment at school it was surprising to find Miss Smith a little girl who looked hardly more than eighteen. She came forward and announced herself, and with poise and assurance quietly said:

"Please wait in here a moment, I must finish these statistics. A real, live, earnest brain behind those laughing brown eyes? Well, it seemed impossible, but it was true. And her eyes can be serious too. Those men and women who opposed equal suffrage so bitterly, who believed no woman could be really feminine and engage in politics, will be charged indeed when they see Miss Smith, for she is 'of the female, feminine,' dainty, refined, yet abundantly vital, a lover of athletics, but not overly athletic—and yet without possessing and using to excellent advantage a keen, incisive brain. One immediately puts Miss Smith down as having for her motto: 'Service to others—service without stint or limit.'"

The Nineteenth Assembly District, which Miss Smith will represent, extending from 118th street to 137th street and from Madison avenue to Eighth avenue, embracing out to include a portion of St. Nicholas avenue. Perhaps in no other district of New York is there such a variety of peoples. All kinds of men and women, representing almost every country in the world live here. In the heart of the district is a large colored population which is for Miss Smith strong. In fact, her extraordinary community work ever since she has been old enough to interest herself in work of this sort has made her one of the best-known residents and one of the most beloved.

To add to this is her record during the war. Her untiring efforts as chairman of the Red Cross Auxiliary in her neighborhood, her successful leadership in all the Allied war drives, her work for the War Camp Community Service in entertaining soldiers, all already rapidly growing popularity. It was she who arranged dances for the boys and doughboys.

Miss Smith said the greatest surprise she ever received was when the telegram came to her announcing her nomination while she was at Camp Hanover, Thetford, Vt., during the summer as physical and hygiene instructor. The telegram came from Irwin Kurtz, who gives himself the credit for having discovered Miss Smith politically. The telegram told her she had been nominated on the Republican ticket for the Assembly. Mr. Kurtz was chairman of Draft Board 170, where Miss Smith contributed her expert knowledge of veins and arteries by taking the blood pressure of prospective soldiers. Her ability in this, as well as various other phases of war work in the community, so impressed Mr. Kurtz that he suggested Miss Smith's name to the Republican leader of the Nineteenth District and she was nominated.

Miss Smith does not intend that her ideals of service shall desert her in the maze of politics. Instead she plans to bring them full tilt to her new work. When she is in Albany she will work for the best interests of the people who sent her there. She will try at all times to find out first what the will of the people is—then abide by it. Miss Smith feels that she did not put herself in her new position and therefore her vote in any position that comes up must be the will of the Nineteenth Assembly District. She is already hard at work on a card index system listing the various business and professional men in groups according to their business or profession. For example: All the physicians in the district are listed, name and address, the druggists, dentists and business men in different lists according to their business. This is done so that when a bill comes up which, say, for instance, will affect only the grocers, then a notice will be sent to all the grocers in the district calling a meeting to discuss the proposed measure. There will probably be occasions when a vote must be taken before there is sufficient time to call a meeting for discussion. In that case Miss Smith proposes to vote according to her best judgment for the interests of the people she represents.

One of the first issues that will be considered by Assemblyman Smith when in Albany is that of excessive rentals in the district. Miss Smith believes that it is the lessee who has raised the rent, that some method can be devised making a fair rental a legal percentage of the actual value of the house.

One of the strongest planks in Miss Smith's platform was that for the returned soldier. Miss Smith feels that in many instances the men who fought for democracy have not received their just dues. She intends to do all in her power to get for them unpaid allotments and back pay. She believes in the men who gave up their positions to protect their country should have first choice of jobs on their return. Many of these have returned in such a way that it is impossible for them to hold their former positions and they have also been denied the vocational training given them by the government. Miss Smith is making it her business to work in behalf of these men. She feels that their mental attitude is in a measure justified and she intends to fight for them to gain recognition from the state.

Miss Smith also believes that the State of New York should give to her returned soldiers the same consideration in the way of a bonus as the State of Massachusetts has recently done. New York has not given up one whit of her district community work. Her school work, too, has continued, although she has been allowed a leave of absence during the time it will be necessary for her to be in Albany.

Miss Smith does not at present plan a future political career for herself, although should her path lie in that direction she will not turn from it. She is continuing her school work because that is the work for which she prepared herself and which she had always believed would be her life work.

To tell of all this very modern young lady's interests and accomplishments would easily fill a book. It seems almost impossible that so many and so varied number of activities could be crowded into one of her work days. In addition to her political work, which is practically new as yet, Miss Smith has not given up one whit of her district community work. Her school work, too, has continued, although she has been allowed a leave of absence during the time it will be necessary for her to be in Albany.

Miss Smith does not intend that her ideals of service shall desert her in the

The Audit Bureau of Circulation audits the circulation of The Evening Times.

LET US HAVE FAITH.

The discussion on good roads naturally causes renewed interest in the subject of good streets. If the roads of the province are to be improved the same policy should be adopted in regard to the streets of St. John. Good roads will bring the tourists in great numbers, and they should find nothing to criticize in the condition of the city's streets. The new spirit of faith and courage which has given birth to the Commercial Club must be reflected in civic policy. This is the psychological moment for a comprehensive forward movement in regard to all matters relating to civic welfare. St. John has assets so valuable and prospects and possibilities so great that it is warranted in such a broadening of its outlook and such a loosening of its purse-strings as to make possible what hitherto has been regarded as the unattainable. Verses read at both meetings of the new Commercial Club emphasized the fact that if there is anything wrong

"It is not the town—it's you." If all the people got this thought firmly planted in their minds every pessimist would become an optimist, and the wave of enthusiasm would beat down all opposition to progressive policies. Mr. Batchelder of Washington said at the Union Club on Wednesday evening that when the people of the different states caught the fever for good roads they set about bonding the states and building the roads at an amazing rate. We need that spirit in St. John today, and there are evidences that it is being aroused.

EAST ST. JOHN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The people of East St. John are confronted by the necessity for providing their children with adequate school accommodation. The number of scholars has greatly increased, and the district is rapidly growing. A hired hall will no longer serve as a schoolhouse. The number of children of school age will increase rapidly every year, because new houses will be established, and the people must build for the future. Merely to meet present requirements would mean that the work would have to be done over again in a year or two. It may be hoped the new spirit of progress now manifest in St. John will be even more clearly in evidence in the area beyond Courtenay Bay, which has grown so rapidly in the last few years and must continue to be very attractive to home-seekers who desire to be near the city.

Aside from the question of a day school there is that of a place of recreation for the young people of the district, but not less important is the need of a community centre. There will be many matters the people of a thriving and growing community will desire to discuss. They will need a meeting place. The schoolhouse is the natural community centre, and when the new one is built it should make provision for an auditorium for recreation purposes for the young people. The people of East St. John have a fine opportunity to set a notable example as well as to serve their own interests.

A LADY IN PARLIAMENT.

Lady Astor has been elected a member of the British House of Commons. This American girl has accomplished a remarkable feat. She received more votes than both her opponents, which is conclusive evidence that she is much more than a butterfly of the social world. Her remarkable faculty of captivating those who come within the circle of her influence is associated with a great capacity for work, and her great kindness to the wounded soldiers during the war won for her a warm place in their affections. She has embarked upon a troubled sea, but her presence in the House will change the aspect of that deliberative body. The gentlemen will not feel as free to wear their hats, and it may be that the presence of a charming woman will tend to lessen somewhat the sharpness of debate. Wonderful are the changes the war has brought to England, and this particular change is certainly not for the worse. The good women of New Brunswick may now be turning their gaze toward Fredericton, in the hope that ere long they also will be represented among those who occupy the seats of the mighty. We can imagine the run there would be on the carriages at the florist's shops with Dr. Campbell, Mr. Potts and other members rushing in every day for a fresh boutonniere.

The United States government has served notice on both coal miners and mine owners that it will tolerate no interference with the production of coal. It is once more the public interest against the interests of contenting factions, and the public interest is paramount.

In England today the value of the silver in a coin is greater than its face value. The steady rise in silver must have the effect of weakening the confidence of Mr. William Jennings Bryan with broad smiles.

THE PEOPLE WIN.

Winnipeg yesterday furnished another evidence that when labor organizations go to extremes and bring unnecessary hardship upon a community the people at large assert themselves and show that they are the majority and that their rights must also be considered. The radical labor element in Winnipeg yesterday had an opportunity to show whether in popular opinion it was right or wrong in the great strike last summer, and the verdict was against its claims and assertions. There was a determined effort to secure for labor the control of the city council, and it failed. The issue really was responsible government or Sovietism—for the radicals last summer aimed at no less than the overthrow of the existing form of government and the substitution of that which prevails in Russia. They were beaten there and they were beaten again yesterday. There will be labor representatives in the city council, but they will not be the majority, as might have been the case under ordinary conditions. When the people are aroused the people rule; and in Canada, where there is a passion for constitutional government, and for reform by constitutional methods, the popular verdict may be relied on to be in the end both safe and sane.

The Labor party in the British House of Commons also met with a defeat yesterday when a vote of want of confidence moved by a Labor member was rejected by a vote of 254 to 59.

All this does not mean that there is no sympathy with legitimate aspirations for the betterment of conditions for labor, but it does mean that the people at large do not approve of any approach to Sovietism in a British country.

THE DIFFERENCE.

What is the difference between harbor commission and nationalization? A harbor commission can only develop a port as it raises money by the sale of bonds secured by its property and revenue, and the revenue has to be derived from the traffic—the vessels and cargoes that come and go. Nationalization is the building of canals from the revenues of the country for the benefit of the nation at large; the building of docks and terminals at the cost of the nation as an outlet to the railroad and to complete its efficiency; for an outlet is as essential to a country as a railroad and part of its equipment. The port of St. John should have nationalization, and should be content with nothing less. This is a national port.

The following is a summary of an address delivered in Hamilton last week by Judge Emily Murphy, of the juvenile court in Edmonton. "She ascribed much of the crime to the drug habits and said she hoped in the near future to start a crusade against drugs. She deplored the apathy of the modern parent toward conditions their children have to face, the deplorable housing conditions in slum and country districts, and the insidious campaign of the 'white slave' traffic in poisoning young minds."

Next spring should witness a great revival of interest in oarsmanship. The new sheltered basin of Courtenay Bay will be an admirable sheet of water at the proper time of tide, and the main harbor, the basin at Indian town, and the Kennebecasis at Millville and Renfrew all afford good rowing water. Mr. J. Fred. Bejga and his associates on the west side have shown the way, and there is a fine opportunity to revive a royal sport where once its kings were bred.

Hampton and East St. John are each talking of incorporation. They feel the need of urban improvements, which cannot be secured under present conditions. There is a new spirit abroad. In the case of Hampton the need of a sewerage system is strongly emphasized but there are also many other needs which could be supplied more promptly and effectively if the village were incorporated.

The Woodstock Press says that Mr. W. C. Chipman, manager of the Grain Growers' Guide, is a native of New Brunswick, and will endeavor while in this province with Hon. Mr. Crerar to secure a newspaper organ for the farmers to be linked up with the Grain Growers' Guide of Winnipeg and the Farmers' Sun of Toronto.

Lord Jellicoe is coming to St. John. He will be given a reception worthy of the man whose name was on every lip and whose achievements counted for so much in the successful prosecution of the great war.

The report of the Ottawa architects should put the quietus on any attempt to restore the old court house.

SOME DAY.

Some day good sense will reign again, so let's throw up our hats; some day we'll all be sane again, our belfries free from bats. Some day we'll quit our foolery and buckle down to toil, cut out the rant and droll, and make the kettle boil. Some day we'll tire of clamoring and pawing up the ground of knocking and of hammering, of yawns and empty sound. We'll tire of all the driving of loud wind-jamming men, and we'll go swiftly swiveling to our old jobs again. This brawny headed carpenter, will pass the windmills by; his plane, when he has sharpened it, will make his shavings fly. The blacksmith blithely, gaudily, will make his bellows roar, and he will fire out bodily the strike-suggesting bore. The rows of kings embattled us, and drew us from our place; the big commotion rattled us, and got us off our base. We've all been wildly capering since we received the skids; we've all been vainly vapor-ing, and talking through our lids. Our old time jobs are calling us; let's get to work again, or coppers will be hauling us to poorfarms in the glen.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Dominion Happenings of Other Days

A MURDERED STATESMAN

On November 27, 1818, in the City of Glasgow, a babe, destined to play a large part in the history of Canada—upper Canada in particular—was born. Destined, too, was that child to be like D'Arcy McGee, the victim of an assassin in his prime.

George Brown was the babe, who came into the home of two sturdy Scots of good education and excellent attainments of mind. The high school and the Southern Academy of his native city gave him his start towards an education, and he came to America when twenty years of age in an endeavor to retrieve his fortune.

The father was a newspaper lover and had written considerably for papers in his home land. New York, where they landed, soon saw them in the papers, and the highest honors of the press were conferred upon them. Five years later the pair came to Canada, to see what the British city had to offer. The result of the visit was the publication of "The Banner" to be the organ of the Free Church party.

At once George Brown made it a point to be in the thick of the political life of the day. He was quick to see what the young Scot had to say about their plans. Rapidly the character of the publication changed until on March 5 of the next year it appeared as "The Globe," the predecessor of the modern paper in Toronto of that name.

That hour George Brown was a fighting force to be respected and feared in Upper Canada. Fearlessly he fought for liberty and equal rights and bitterly he battled against everything that seemed untrue. He entered the political arena, winning the highest honors that the province could accord him.

On March 25, 1880, he was shot in the Globe offices by George Patterson, a young man who had been discharged. He fought with the man and received only a glancing blow from the bullet. At first it was thought that his wound was slight, but on the first Sunday in May, just as the day was breaking, he died from the injury the assassin had inflicted. A statue to his memory now stands in Toronto.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Her Horse Groundless.

For the nineteenth time Miss Matilda Tiddi looked behind her. "He's following me," she gasped, as he hurried her pace and straightened her hat at the same time. Her heart was in her mouth, and in her pale-green eyes shone a light of hope—no, fear.

"It isn't safe for a girl to walk alone!" she muttered, as her shoes spurred the pavement.

Again she looked over her shoulder. Ha, he was still there! What could she do? She heard his footsteps drawing nearer. No, she must not faint. He was here—O! Then the man hurried past her, and joined the sweet young thing in the pink sweater on ahead, and Miss Tiddi ground her teeth and slowed down—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

A Batch of Smiles.

A private who had overstayed his leave one night sneaked into the barracks when the sentry turned at the end of his beat. The private turned and acted as though he was trying to sneak out the camp. "Get back there; no man out tonight!" shouted the guard. Needless to add, the private lost no time in obeying the order.

"What's the matter, old man?" asked Brown, as he met a friend. "Are you feeling sick?" "No, not exactly that," replied the friend, "but I'll admit I've been worried of late. You remember I employed a man to trace my pedigree?" "Yes," replied Brown, "what's the trouble? Hasn't he been successful?" "Successful! I should say he had!" said the friend. "I'm having to pay him hush money."

In a Pacific Coast town they tell of a political leader who once flourished there and who, knowing the financial necessities of one of his most valuable workers, sent him a small portfolio bound like a book, among the leaves of which were deposited banknotes to the amount of several thousand dollars. Some time later the two met, and the donor said:

"And how did you like the new work I sent you?" "A fine work!" exclaimed the other. "I read it with great interest; so great indeed, that I await the second volume with impatience."

The politician smiled, and when the worker's birthday came round he presented him with another portfolio, similar in every respect to the first, but with these words engraved upon it: "This work is complete in two volumes."

PUNISHMENT OF CHILDREN.

(Toronto Globe.)

Reports that in the last eight months 1,000 pupils between the ages of six to eight years had been strapped in the public schools of Toronto caused astonishment at the meeting of the board of education. They were outside, however, by the statement of Trustee Courtney that at a recent gathering of school principals she had heard one of them say that the only way to control mentally defective children was by corporal punishment. "I think it's criminal," she added.

Trustee Hamlin said he had heard "as bad and worse reports. I think that they ought to be taken up. They should be taken up, and without delay. There will always be trouble and differences over the best methods of disciplining normally-minded, healthy children, but 1,000 strappings for infants from six to eight years of age raise doubts as to whether this city has any right to claim that it has made any real advance in the training of the young in the last thirty years. For many sensitive children school has been made a course of anticipatory torture through injudicious punishment for first offenses. Thereafter their lessons have been learned and their conduct modelled under the compulsion of fear. It is not contended that many of the strappings were severe. The regions called for a report on every punishment, and in the case of one tap of the strap a report has to be made. But 1,000 cases in the period named seem to be too many."

For a parallel to the reported statement that mentally defective pupils can be controlled only by corporal punishment one has to go back to the days when insane people were chained in dismal dungeons, scantily clothed, poorly fed, and cruelly beaten with whips and rods. The treatment of the insane in the civilized world has long got past the stage of adding physical to mental sufferings. Perhaps the remark that the regions called for a report on every punishment, and in the case of one tap of the strap a report has to be made. But 1,000 cases in the period named seem to be too many."

COAL PRICES, PROFITS AND WAGES.

(N. Y. Times.)

The coal wage dispute is slipping into a profit dispute, like the rate regulation of the railways. There is a story of an industrial potentate who declined to attend a horse race because, he said, it was known to him that one horse ran faster than another. The current coal wages over wages, prices, and profits are due to those who are amazed to find that one man makes more wages, or profits, than another, and who are ready to pay more for coal than for horses.

There must be one price for coal, one wage for the miners, one profit for the operators. If one operator makes more money than another, it is because he exploited his workers. But there is nothing that the workers resent more than the payment of more money than another. Miners' wages were settled by authority, after prolonged and approved inquiry, which now is being continued, and the results of which are being forthwith. Wages are to be increased and they are to come out of profits, it is said. The industry is already over-manned so much so that it is urgent to reduce the time worked in order to provide employment for greater numbers. Higher wages and decreased profits would not produce more coal, but rather less, at a time of coal famine.

The anthracite industry is self-regulated by the miners, and the wages of the miners are a half hour per week day, and that if they had worked full time would have raised their wages from $24.48 to $29.12 per week. It is necessary to remember that their cash wages are but part of their total pay and that the wages of pick miners now are 108 per cent. of those of 1902. If the total wages are small it is largely because the men do not work full time, 67 per cent. working only 75 per cent. full time. The official appointment of responsibility for shortage of time and production is thirty-one idle hours to the mines and eleven to the miners.

The idleness of the mines was in chief part due to the shortage of cars, that is, more coal was mined than transportation was provided for. Clear it would be useless to mine coal which could not be hauled to the market. As the shortage of coal has increased, the country thinks of its own necessities and less of the underpayment of the miners or the excess profits of the operators. Both should be put in the way of correction, but the digging of coal should proceed meanwhile, the decision being made retroactively. The country is weary of discussions of where blame lies and who is entitled to credit for remedying the trouble. The country moves the previous question—the production of coal.

THEY OWN SOME SPEED DOWN BY THE ST. CROIX

A staff correspondent of the Bangor Commercial, writing from Calais, says: The St. Croix valley, on both sides of the river, has always been noted for its good horses and this section today is probably the liveliest harness racing centre in New England. Nearly everyone in this section who doesn't own some speed is negotiating for some. It is said that there are more real fast horses in these towns than any place of its size on the map. At the present time they are all getting ready for the river above Milltown to freeze over so that the matinee racing can start. The St. Croix Valley Racing Association with W. H. Keys as president, is in a flourishing condition, and its members have the reputation of being good sports.

In the Keys & McBride stable is the trotting mare, Sakia, 2:16 1/4, by Atlantic Express. This mare defeated the best trotters in the maritime provinces and Aroostook county last year. She started ten times, winning eight firsts, one second and one fourth moneys, her winnings being over $1,100. Her stable mate is Lucky Strike, a pacer with a mark of 2:16 1/4, who looks good for next year. George McBride has Mary Heir by Minor Heir, and she is a hard one to beat on the ice. Ed. Gillman has Lady Ashbrook, 2:15 1/4, who is a first-class trotter and that a lady can win at any time or place.

"Bob" McComb has a very promising three-year-old, Bingen the Great, dam by Alfordly. Hugh Love owns Lady Fondly, 2:14 1/4, who is a great high useful mare. This mare has been seen to deliver groceries all morning, go out in the afternoon and go three heats around 14 or 15, and be used to drive to a dance in the evening. Fred. Graham, the track's secretary, owns a real first class prospect in the five-year-old mare Goecher's Chance, by Decho, the dam by Alfordly. Hugh Love expects to ride out in front in the slow classes next spring. Mr. Graham never stops working for the Charlotte County Exhibition.

Aubrey Johnson drives Rose Lumps, by a son of Lumps, 2:21, and this mare would be very fast if she was possessed of less energy. Sandy Forbes has a nice colt, Ben Bourbon 1, that is quite a trotter. Cliff Hanley owns a good trotting mare by Bingen that is being brought along carefully and should be good next year. Len McKay handles a lot of speed and last year won the Gillig, 2:15 1/4, with which he expects to lead the crowd down the ice.

"Bob" Webster, the local starter, recently sold the fast pacer Miss Ormond, 2:10, and now has one of the best prospects in these parts. It is a four-year-old brown pacer mare, Quenle Patchen by Baron Patchen, by The Patchen Boy, sire of a Game of Chance, 2:03 1/4. The dam is Aristol, by Dare Devil. This colt while being broken showed an eighth in 17 seconds. She goes without the straps and is an elegant individual weighing about 1,000 pounds. She has a fine set of feet and legs and does not need a boot. She pulls just enough to steady her. This mare will wear watching when the fun starts next year.

Charlie Trimble recently purchased a three-year-old to practice on, Iona Lou, by Iona Todd, and out of Nutwood Lou. This mare has as yet to be harnessed, but her breeding indicates that she should be something to work on.

Harry R. Haley, known all over the east as "Peck," has one of the best trotters down east, Evelyn B., 2:16 1/4, seven years old and by Cochato, 2:11 1/4, dam by Meta, by Mettalliss, 2:11 1/4, standard and gistered. This mare started early in the season and averaged a race a week up to the last race of the season at Topsham, when she got her mark in the last heat. This is one of the most consistent and game little trotters in this section. "Peck" has harnessed some good ones in his day, including Weary Willie, 2:04 1/4; Druggist, who holds a one day record of winning three races in one day; Jack Bowen, Lady M., Charcoal, Lux, etc. He was driving Lucky Baldwin when he dropped dead. "Peck" enjoys racing as much as anyone and always wears a smile whether ahead or behind.

R. L. Todd has a very fine mare from the College Farm, Ontario. He is College Fletty, and she promises to be very fast. She has a six-months-old colt by Alto Dewey by Admiral Dewey, 2:04 3/4, from B. H. Ben and Nancy Hanks, that has all the earmarks of a good one.

The track at St. Stephen is one of the best in the country to train on.

From a Chi d Was Constipated

According to the best medical authorities, fully three-fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, indigestion, nervousness, and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore, it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used, and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This with the use of Milburn's Laxative Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases.

Mrs. Letitia Wainman, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"From a child I was always very badly constipated, and I can well remember when quite young, my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning, and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxative Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Milburn's Laxative Pills are 25c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GAS LEAK CAUSES DEATH

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 29.—Overcome by fumes from a leaking gas pipe, Mrs. Joseph Daniel was found dead in her home in Simcoe street. The lady was eighty-five years of age, and had lived there many years. The death took place some time between Sunday night and at night. The neighbors had not seen her about and their suspicions caused them to enter the house last night, where they found her sitting up on the side of her bed, fully dressed, but quite dead. She had evidently just been going to retire when she was asphyxiated by the fumes of the gas, which, though not very strong, were sufficiently strong at her advanced age to cause death. She was born in England, but had spent nearly all her life in Woodstock, where she was well known and highly esteemed. Three sons and three daughters survive.

The Early Bird

The old proverb which draws attention to the advantages to be derived from being first in the field, is too well known to need more than a passing reference.

And in the matter of Christmas Shopping at Birks it will mean the difference between satisfaction and disappointment.

This year, to ensure that prompt and satisfactory delivery which has characterized our Service in the past, we are going to ask you to do your Shopping by Mail during November.

The reason is we expect the demand this year will be far greater than the supply, and in view of present manufacturing conditions we do not expect to be able to immediately replace those lines which may be sold out. So please make it possible for us to give you the service you have had from us in the past by ordering in November.

Better still, write to Birks today!

FOR STANDARD DRESS FOR HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

James Murdoch, Dominion Commissioner of the High Cost of Living, who suggested at Windsor a standard dress for high school girls to combat the high cost of living. He also criticized as foolish expenditure of money the maintenance of five complete civic governments for the "Border Cities"—Windsor, Walkerville, Ford, Sandwich and Ojibway.

RECENT DEATHS

The death of Mrs. Martha Smith, which occurred at her home in Norton, on Thursday, November 27, will be learned with deep regret by her many friends. Besides her husband, John H. Smith, she leaves to mourn three brothers, James and Joseph Hornbrook of Sussex, and John W. Hornbrook, of St. John, as well as a large circle of friends. The funeral will be held from her late residence on Saturday at 1 o'clock, p.m., and interment will be made at Titusville cemetery.

J. E. Secord received a telegram from New York yesterday announcing the death of Jessie L. widow of Dr. F. R. L. Secord. She was formerly Miss Blackburn, of Montreal, and is survived by three daughters and one son, all residing in New York.

Many friends learned with regret of the death of David L. Smith which occurred at 39 La Placette street, Amherst, on November 10. The late Mr. Smith was in his seventy-second year and is survived by his wife, Louisa M., daughter of the late John Hunter of St. John, two daughters, Mrs. Arthur B. Patton of Halifax, and Mrs. Percy G. Cotton of St. Stephen and one son, John W., foreman of the Barker McLean Motor Works at Amherst. One sister, Mrs. John Fullerton, of Port Williams (N. S.), also survives.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS ALWAYS READY

Its Motto of Preparedness Should Be Applied to Protection of Public Health.

"There hasn't been a fire in the city for months," said a citizen of the fire department. "It seems a waste of money to keep up a fire department that does nothing."

"We don't disband the fire department because we have a run of luck," replied a fireman. "It pays to have those firemen ready, doing anything or nothing. And the ratepayer speaks wisely."

A fire department is an illustration of the principle of preparedness. It's protection, pure and simple—something no modern city or town can do without. Just as firemen stand ready to protect your property, so Grip Fix stands ready to protect your health. For over 10 years it has been an unexcelled treatment for colds. A box in the house means protection against the common and troublesome cold in the head and throat. It is a combination of drugs such as your physician would use and contains nothing of a harmful nature. In capsule form it is something which gives relief to a cold in a night and works quickly in a case of Grippe.

Get a box of Grip Fix today. Then you'll be prepared should a cold come. You can get it at 85 cents per box. On sale at all drug stores. (Adv.)

VARIETY AND ALL GOOD AT THE OPERA HOUSE

New Programme of Five Inviting Novelty Acts Scores a Hit

With a pair of scissors, pieces of cardboard, a reflecting machine and considerable dexterity and cleverness, Lonsa Cox, popularly known everywhere as "Scissors," placed on a screen at the Opera House last night a series of well known men, including Lloyd George, Roosevelt, and the Prince of Wales. The likenesses were so nearly perfect that a storm of applause at each showing came spontaneously. It is a good novelty and worth seeing.

Green and Bailey, in blackface comedy, brightened everybody up with a good line of comedy patter, sang and offered some clever dancing which met with favor, and they went away with a good round of applause.

The Three Cooks, in a setting representing a Chinese laundry, played banjos, dug musical instruments out of unexpected places, even ironed shirts on a musical ironing board, comedied quite a little and closed with a unique collection of musical riffs that scored a good sized hit.

Holmes and Hurling, in personality, good singing, and having the art of entertaining down to perfection, were one of the good features of the bill. The young lady offered a violin song that scored well. She was clever at the piano, and the act right through showed class and was enjoyable.

Chas. and the Jugglers were two of the best jugglers the local stage has ever seen, spinning batons, glasses of water, tins, pails and even huge washbasins full of water with equal ease. It is a good show right through, worth seeing and certainly not to be missed.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Mrs. Fanny Maud Coppen was found burnt to death in her bed in her home in Toronto, midnight Thursday night. She had been killed by her husband for some time in a leap to room at the rear of her mother-in-law's cottage.

A despatch from Winchester, Mass., says that the police believe that Mrs. Lena Patten, of St. John, N. B., has committed suicide. The dominion government intend to spend a half million dollars in the construction of new terminals in Sydney. George Alexander, wealthy merchant, was held up at a revolver point yesterday and robbed of $40,000. The robbery took place as he was leaving his house in West End. His chauffeur was arrested last night on a charge of complicity and confessed.

VERY VALUABLE WORK

The following is an extract from the annual report of the Children's Aid Society of Amherst, which includes all of Cumberland county. The members of the executive have made 150 visits in the interest of this work. Have written more than 100 letters and have done a vast amount of work that cannot be tabulated. We have done a great deal of work this year along the lines of the truancy problem. A number of boys and some girls who were habitual truants were brought before us from time to time, with their parents, and if the parents said they were unable to get them to attend school then they were made wards of the society, and we succeeded so well that about 75 per cent of them attended our schools regularly. In fact, the late supervisor of the schools gave us credit for accomplishing more in one year along this line than all other agencies combined had accomplished in twenty years. In many cases it was not necessary to make these children wards of the society, just a heart to heart talk with the parents and children being sufficient to accomplish our purpose.

We have also touched some of the home life and have made conditions better for the children there. Thirty children have been made wards of the society during the year, making a total of our wards 130. One of our wards died.

one was married, some have removed to the west with their parents, a few are in public institutions, some remain at home with their parents, while a large number are in foster homes, and are being well cared for. Mr. Burgess also read a number of letters received from foster parents, all speaking in highest terms of these children under their care.

ENGLAND AND PROHIBITION

Montreal, Nov. 29.—"The women are splendidly gowned; they smoke and drink wine at dinner with the men; money seems abundant, and nobody haggles about the price; but, concurrently with all this, England is engaged in solving many weighty problems, which, owing to her larger sanity, she will accomplish with more certainty than could be expected from beetle Latin peoples," said James C. Torg, general manager of agencies for the Sun Life Assurance Company, who has returned after a trip to England.

"There is a new England in the making, but there is one thing the average Englishman wants to see as aforesaid—his beer, which temperance people are threatening."

"We are a sober people in the dominion," said Mr. Torg. "We have no idea on this side of how drinking enters into the general life of the people there. They do not want prohibition."

NEW DEADLINE FOR CROOKS.

New York, Nov. 29.—New York's famous "deadline for crooks," established by the police more than a quarter of a century ago, has been moved up-town from Fulton to Fifty-ninth street. In establishing the original deadline above the financial district, the police warned notorious crooks that their presence within the restricted area would be sufficient cause for their arrest and grilling at headquarters.

The chief reason assigned for shifting the theoretical barrier was the increasing invasion of New York each year, during the holiday seasons, by post-graduate crooks from all parts of the country who ply their art in crowded department stores, hotels and theatres, exacting a heavy toll. With the shifting of the "dead-line" a special squad was established having jurisdiction over the territory bounded by Fifty-ninth and Twenty-third streets, in which most of the department stores are located. The "dead-line squad" comprises the pick of New York's detectives.

Paging Was New One for Her.

The assistant manager of one of our popular hotels asked a country visitor—who was seeing hotel life for the first time from the mezzanine floor—how she liked it.
"Wal, it's purty nice. But I didn't know you women were so connected."
"Connected?" gasped the A. M. "Why some of the finest women in the country are staying here."
"Wal, may be they are. But I don't like a woman that sends a little boy around to tell folks she's missed her car," replied the country dame.
"Impossible!" said the A. M. "Why, I never heard of such a thing."
"Wal, you'll hear it now, for here comes that pore little feller again."
And down in the lobby came a page boy calling:
"Mrs. De Vere—Mr. Carr—Mrs. De Vere—Mr. Carr"—A. L. M.

London's Silent Tribute on Anniversary of The Armistice

Deeply Impressive Scene as The Clocks Pealed Eleven

Grim Scenes on The Battlefields—Col. John Ward Makes Deep Impression in Commons—Joker Ties up Traffic in The Strand—Rush to Buy Automobiles

(From Our Own Correspondent.) London, Nov. 19.—London has been the great arena of many thrilling occasions these last few years. And especially has it witnessed the swelling ritual of triumph, the pride, pomp and circumstance of glorious victory, within the last ten months. But nothing has so impressed London as a whole as the silent tribute on the anniversary of the armistice. It was the king's idea, entirely, and it was an idea truly royal. And loyally the metropolis carried it through. As the clocks indicated 11 on Tuesday morning—the precise instant, famous forever in history, when the guns of Arras ceased fire—only one short year ago, London stood to attention like an old guardman.

The traffic stopped dead with the repercussion of the first maroon signal. And the crowds in the public streets, in the shops and warehouses, everywhere that humanity was busy an instant before, became frozen into static prayer. It was perfectly dramatic and yet entirely untheatrical. As a spontaneous popular tribute to the gallant dead, whose memories are embalmed forever in an empire's heart, it was unique, splendid, unforgettable. The merchant and the roving sweeper, the rich dame and the poor charwomen, shared openly and side by side in the homage. It was typical of the common service that the heroes themselves gave on the battleground of the greatest war in memory. Since the spell bound the fairy princess' palace in sleep, and the prince's kiss revived the picture, there has been nothing like this sudden cessation, slow pause of utter silence and inattention, and sharp resumption of life and activity.

A Memory Forever.

Crowds even lined the streets to watch the passing of the Great Hush, crowds whose garb was mostly black, and whose eyes were often red with tears. It might have been thought that the brave shades of those splendid warriors of liberty whose memories the multitude honored were actually marching in invisible battalions on battalions, and division on division, solemnly before the inner consciousness of mighty London. The concept in Whitehall has been the nation's shrine with unceasing vigil and unending pilgrimage of tears ever since its creation. But on Armistice Day it was surrounded by crowds so dense that the mounted police had to control the traffic there, and heaped plinth-high with fragrant wreaths.

Among these were one from the king and queen and another beautiful one of pure white lilies and unfading laurels was placed personally in graceful homage by the visiting president of the French republic. M. Poincaré was dressed in the costume of the soldier—the uniform of his old famous Alpin regiment—for this occasion, and it was a soldier who stood at the base of the cenotaph throughout the full two minutes of the silence at the salute. London has not forgotten—London will never forget—her brave. The memory will live forever while London endures of those splendid hearts of the homeland and from overseas whose valiant bones rest in eternal honor on the fields of battle. Those tiny graves so thickly spangling unknown alien fields are the ramports forever of humanity's free-breathing love.

British Ladies on Battlefields.

A party of British agriculturalists and representatives of other industries have just returned from the battle areas in France, which they have visited at the invitation of the British committee of the Red Cross. This organization has undertaken to provide for the refugees in 500 villages in France, and the most interesting feature of the tour was the visit paid to the depots situated in the region of the battle of Arras, near Arras.

There the dreary waste of battlefields stretches as far as the eye can reach. It is a dead end. Every tree and every scrap of life has been obliterated. Many of the trenches still remain open. Barbed wire trips one up, unexploded shells and bombs lie about, and one can still see the German dugouts. Here, in this abomination of desolation, a party of fourteen ladies are living under wild west conditions. A long wooden hut has been built, but unfortunately for the impatient beings, a wait of at least six months and in some cases of eighteen months is necessary before orders can be executed. In addition to those who wait to buy cars, there is a great multitude which likes to promenade the Motor Show, and gaze at the various types of cars exhibited, much as a small boy glues his nose to a pastry-cook's window.

The Popular Motor.

The rush for motor cars as experienced at the Olympia Show has staggered the most optimistic of salesmen. If the firms could deliver at once, the roads would be in danger of becoming impassable. The most unlikely people appear to have £200 or £300 to spend on a motor, possibly as a result of their arduous war work. But unfortunately for the impatient beings, a wait of at least six months and in some cases of eighteen months is necessary before orders can be executed. In addition to those who wait to buy cars, there is a great multitude which likes to promenade the Motor Show, and gaze at the various types of cars exhibited, much as a small boy glues his nose to a pastry-cook's window.

Olympia presents an amazing sight. The vast building has been packed to the doors, and money has had to be turned away. But it is not the sort of crowd that the salesmen like, and the suggestion will have to be considered before next year of making the admission fee so high that only prospective buyers will care to pay for admission.

London's Waxen Beauties.

Anyone who strolls down Oxford street at the present moment will remark how strongly nationality betrays itself in those languorously beautiful waxen ladies whose splendid fate in life it is always to be robed in the most expensive and fashionable attire throughout, and to posture in the shop windows of the great West End emporiums for all the feminine world to gaze at and envy and admire. These lay figures have immensely improved during my recollection. Originally they are frightfully wooden and gawky, but gradually, with the best ideal of the hairdressers' beautiful shop window ladies, with the wonderful coiffures, always before them, and with nothing to guide them but a somewhat florid and unhygienic type perhaps, as though these ladies took unfortunately too little exercise and found the shop window air somewhat hot-house—and today, as I say, nationality even is there.

Observe the waxen show ladies of Selfridge's. Typically American each of them, very charming, slightly spoiled, pampered, but tres chic. Then across the road look at the mannequins in the windows of the Maitland Louvre. Entirely French every one of these wax ladies, somewhat gay, very Latin, absolutely fin-de-siècle, perhaps a trifle "decadent." Then the waxen beauties of the Maitland Louvre, and at once you greet your countrywomen in wax. Not so chic as the Americans, not so voluble as the French, but with a certain charm of their own. They are a little plumper, their bloom is less artificial, and they look much more self-conscious in their "undies."

Guards Self-Conscious.

The great controversy about life in the Guards, evoked by the capture of the one or two literary gentlemen who happened to serve in the Guards during the war, is having one amazing effect. It is making the Guards quite unconformably self-conscious. Normally the Guards are as cool and correct and debonair in carriage and comportment as old actors. The hard discipline of the parade ground, and the perfect familiarity with all sorts of public occasions, rendered all Guardsmen invulnerable to publicity and lime-light. They never used to be the least bit self-conscious.

But now they no longer hear themselves "in proud contempt of consequence." They appear to think people are not looking at them—which is part of the every-day routine of a Guardsman—but talking about them. And the notion makes them shy even in public. Unless one is in the Guards, the ordinary infantryman has seized the occasion to "rub it in" a bit. The infantry of the line always had a little friendly grudge to pay off against the Guards on account of "swagger." And fate has played into their hands now through the instrumentality of one or two literary Guardsmen. I am also told that quite a number of infantrymen have come over the drill ground evolutions. The Guards' instructors feel cramped and nervous nowadays. They are roaring like any sucking dove, and venting their feelings in the evening papers almost daily by edition!

Lady Lift "Boys."

I wonder why so many of the smart What is the exquisite reason for this queer fable? The very last places where one would normally expect to find feminine attire discarded in favor of masculine apparel are the big emporiums where they sell principally everything that women wear. Yet in the West End it is quite the rule apparently for the lift attendant to be a rather comely maid dressed in a boy's uniform, with the traditional "buttons" and breeches usually fastened on the shoulders. How anyone can see anything artistic in puttees passes my comprehension.

Recently I visited one famous shop in Oxford street where the lift girls were all boys. I was with a lady of old-fashioned views who was anxious to match some wool. We failed in our quest at that shop, and tried another almost next door. Here we mounted to our floor in the lift. And it was quite pleasant to see the lift girl really a girl this time, and neatly attired in girl's clothes. My companion said, "Ah! That's better! We shall get what I want here!" And, curiously enough, she was right.

Applauding the Hun.

A film is now being shown in some London cinemas which is issued with Admiralty sanction. The same film was exhibited in Germany during the war as part of the U-boat propaganda. It was taken specially for this purpose by the German government, and shows the activities of a German submarine in the Mediterranean. A more remarkable film does not exist. I took advantage of an early opportunity to see it, and found it very tragic. No actual personal brutalities are witnessed, needless to say, and no firing on the boats, but the

ABOUT 170 years ago tea sold in England for $14.60 a pound. It was a luxury which only the wealthy could afford.

Thanks largely to the great increase in the area of tea plants under cultivation in India during the past fifty years, there is enough tea grown to-day to supply tea to the world at a price even the poorest can afford.

A cup of "good" tea—Red Rose Tea—costs only a fraction of a cent. There is hardly anything sold in the grocery store that gives more value or more pleasure for the money.

Consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas—the richest and strongest of Indian teas—Red Rose is exceedingly fragrant, flavory and economical. It is a tea of real quality and real value.

Sold only in sealed packages.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

Budget of News From The Local Troop Headquarters

Troop No. 18, Centenary Methodist, held their regular meeting Friday night. The usual scout games were enjoyed for the first part of the evening; then the scout work was taken up by the different patrols under their respective leaders. After they had finished their patrol work there were three classes formed, one class for signalling in different parts from tenderfoot to first class under Troop Leader Gordon Adams with several assistants; another class was for ambulance under the instructions of Patrol Leaders C. Barker and R. Langslooth. The third class was for the firemen's proficiency badge and was to be instructed by the scoutmaster. So the troop had a very busy evening and the time seemed too short for the boys.

On Saturday the troop went out with the general hike to Dark Lake, which was enjoyed very much by the scouts; the weather was fine and the scouts enjoyed every minute of the outing, having ing Lloyd Campbell and the Rev. D. H. Loweth, the district scoutmaster, with them to take any tests that the opportunity afforded. Scout Errol Skinner passed his first class cooking test and did remarkably, as the proof of his good cooking was, according to the examiner, that he was able to eat it himself. Scouts Benard Bean, Robinson Patrick and Arthur Patterson passed their second class cooking tests, after which they enjoyed several games in the open air and then started on the return tramp for home.

St. Luke's Troop.
To the delight of all the scouts a delicious supper was served on Monday evening at 6.30 p. m. This has been the first time since the fall of 1918 that the scouts have had a splendid showing.

arriving about 7 o'clock, tired but delighted with the hike and looking forward to the next one.

17th St. John (Trinity) Troop.
There is not a great deal to record of our doings this week. We have still much on hand in connection with the re-passing of the annual tests and until this is accomplished it is better not to embark upon any new work. Six boys passed the Kim's game, one in signalling, one semaphore and one scout's pace, all for the second class test. Some time was also spent in rifle practice at the range. War service badges have come to hand for Scouts L. Soeda, G. Bishop, L. Leck, A. Gard, C. Stewart and R. Whelpley. The work of the wolf cub pack is progressing most satisfactorily. In addition to those who have already passed the first star tests the following boys qualified for this during last week's meeting: Robert Armstrong, Edgar Williams and Eric Clarke. Two new recruits, Harold Orchard and E. Magnuson, passed and received their tenderfoot badges. The cubs turned out in force for the "hike" to Dark Lake last Saturday, nothing daunted by the distance and the heavy roads. It was their first real test of endurance and the little fellows made a splendid showing.

An International Chamber of Commerce, to be made up of financial, commercial, and industrial organizations throughout the world, has been developed. It was announced yesterday, as a result of the visit to this country of the missions from Belgium, France, Great Britain, and Italy to the International Trade Conference. These countries, with the United States, will form the nucleus of the organization.

They were newly married and she was much too young to understand that a man takes but little interest in shopping expeditions. She had left his side to look at a window in which were exhibited some new fashions.

When she returned she took the arm which seemed to be half grudgingly proffered, and sobbed:
"You—don't even look at anything I want to—see; you do—don't care how I am dressed. You no longer love me. You haven't even kissed me for a whole day, and you—"
"I am extremely sorry, madam, but that is my misfortune, not my fault," said the gentleman, looking pathetically down into her face.

She looked at him and gasped—she had taken the arm of the wrong man!

Britain, France, Belgium, Italy And United States to Start Business League

(New York Times.)
An International Chamber of Commerce, to be made up of financial, commercial, and industrial organizations throughout the world, has been developed. It was announced yesterday, as a result of the visit to this country of the missions from Belgium, France, Great Britain, and Italy to the International Trade Conference. These countries, with the United States, will form the nucleus of the organization.

Final plans for the new "Business League of Nations," as one delegate styled it, were made yesterday at the Conference by a committee appointed in Atlantic City several weeks ago. Since the conference the foreign delegates have visited eighteen industrial cities, ending with New York. The missions will meet in Paris in May to complete arrangements for the conference. At this meeting a final draft of a constitution will be drawn up.

A permanent headquarters in Europe with a permanent staff, already has been decided upon. There will be a Board of Directors, a Secretary General, and an executive and technical staff from each country. A bureau in each country will act as a liaison between the international meeting every two years. The Board of Directors, composed of two members from each country, will meet every year, and by a referendum system. The general purposes of the organization are "to promote international commerce, to facilitate the commercial intercourse of nations, to secure harmony of action on all international questions involving commerce and industry, and to promote peace, progress, and cordial relations between the countries and their citizens by the education of business men and their activities devoted to the development of commerce and industry."

The Prince's Regret.

The Prince of Wales's one regret, he said at the Pilgrim Society dinner, was that when his grandfather had been here in 1860, he had "a night off," and that he, the present Prince of Wales, had not been so fortunate.

"I have not been as lucky as my grandfather," he said, "for I haven't had a night off at West Point, New York, or anywhere else since I came to the United States. Nevertheless, I have enjoyed myself very much."

Vaudeville

"VOIX DE VILLE" said Jean Chardavoine, a French musician; and thus came into being three hundred and fifty years ago what to-day we call "Vaudeville".

Vaudeville is the melting pot of the dramatic and musical arts. In it nothing is out of place; it includes drama, comedy, tragedy, farce and burlesque; and every form of music from grand opera to jazz is heard upon its stage.

Every city has its favorite vaudeville house. But you—who live at a distance from the great cities—can have vaudeville right in your home, with or more during your lifetime, if before you reach age 60 you should become totally and permanently disabled, and will also pay or more to your family at your death, without any deduction whatever on account of the monthly payments made to you.

Five Thousand Dollars

Consider This:

Total disability would be worse for your family and your business financially than loss of life because, while your income would be reduced or stopped altogether, your expenses would go on just the same.

That is when a Special Indemnity Policy comes to your assistance.

If totally disabled you cannot earn premiums, so the premiums will be waived.

The policy will give you financial aid through a Monthly Indemnity which will continue as long as you live.

The policy will continue in force, paying the monthly cheque, earning dividends, increasing in cash value, and providing insurance of $5,000 for protection of your home.

East St. John Says What It Thinks — The Young Men Full of Ginger

An interesting feature of the community meeting at East St. John last evening was the lively discussion provoked by a group of young men who were there to insist that they be provided with a place of recreation. They formerly had the hall now used for school purposes, and they want it back again. They were at the meeting to say so and they said it well. The argument was all in their favor except that at the moment the school children cannot be turned out to provide for their needs. Two of the young men argued their case with a force that impressed all present, and strengthened the determination to see that a place is provided for them and for the girls before another winter arrives.

The liveliest debate, however, and it was all one sided, was that relating to incorporation. The mere suggestion of union with the city let loose a flood of eloquence that the city council, Commercial Club and citizens generally would have heard with amazement. Broken promises by commissioners, the condition of city streets, the administration of city affairs generally, and the apathy of the citizens figured in the denunciation by several speakers, whose remarks were evidently an expression of a general feeling. Two more meetings are to be held, one to discuss the school and the other incorporation. East St. John had decided to put itself on the map.

FORMER TIMES MAN SEES MUCH OF WORLD

George D. Macaulay, who was a member of the Times staff for a time after it began publication, is renewing old acquaintances in the city. He went to New York about thirteen years ago, but also lived in Providence and Maine, and was for six months in England. He returned to America, but went overseas again with a British unit formed in Boston during the war, and then joined the 8th Royal Scots, and trained in Scotland and Ireland. He was about seven months in France on active service, but was invalided back to England, suffering from rheumatic fever. Mr. Macaulay returned to New York last August, and has since visited his brother, Dr. Macaulay, on Grand Manan. Mr. Macaulay was in Versailles when the peace treaty was signed, being then on a visit to Paris. After visiting relatives here, he will go to his mother and sister in Nova Scotia and then return to New York. Old friends are extending a very hearty greeting.

ASKED $1 FOR SOME EGGS IN MARKET

In the city market this morning the prices ranged about the same as last week, except for the fact that for strictly fresh eggs countrymen were asking $1 a dozen; case eggs were 60 to 75 cents, and butter 70 cents. Turkey was quoted at 70 cents, fowl 40 cents and chicken 40 to 55 cents. Today closes the moose and deer season, yet for a few days more steak will be sold. It is 35 cents. Beef is quoted at from 29 to 40 cents, veal 20 to 35 cents, lamb 22 to 30 cents, and pork 30 to 35 cents. In the vegetable line potatoes were selling at 50 cents per peck, turnips 20 cents per peck, carrots 40 cents per peck, parsnips 50 cents per peck, celery 12 cents a bunch, and squash 5 cents per pound.

SOLDIERS WELCOMED HOME

Gnr. C. H. Campbell, son of Mrs. Annie T. Campbell, 25 Exmouth street, arrived home last night after nearly four years of service overseas. He crossed to England with the 7th Siege Battery. Gunner Campbell brought home with him a young English bride whom he married in London. Both were given a royal welcome.

Pte. J. J. Tubb, formerly of Sussex, arrived home last evening having landed in Halifax on Thursday on the steamship Megantic. He crossed overseas in 1915 with the first reinforcements from Calgary, and was sent to France to join the 10th Battalion. On Sept. 28, 1918, he was shot through the legs with a machine gun bullet and was confined to hospital for some time. He has been ordered to report to the hospital in Halifax on Dec. 14 for further treatment.

WARMLY GREETED

Col. Murray MacLaren and Family Home

Mayor Gives Hearty Address of Welcome in Depot And There Are Cheers And a Round of Handshaking

Though no huge crowd was assembled this morning at 8 o'clock in the Union depot those who were gathered made amends for their lack of numbers in the heartiness and genuineness of their greeting to Colonel Murray MacLaren and his family upon their return from overseas. The welcome was sincere and warm and the cheers which were given at the close of an address of welcome delivered by Mayor Hayes might have well done credit to a much larger gathering.

Arriving in Halifax yesterday aboard the steamer Metagama, Colonel and Mrs. MacLaren came here this morning on the early train. They stayed aboard until about 8 o'clock and on alighting in the depot found many of their friends assembled to greet them. They looked well and said they had had a fairly pleasant trip home.

S. H. Hayes, after there had been a round of handshakes and exchange of greetings, called for quietness for a few moments and His Worship Mayor Hayes then delivered an address of welcome to the returned folks.

The mayor explained that those assembled were largely members of the citizens' committee which for some time had been in the habit of meeting trains and steamers, early and late, to greet soldiers and their dependents returning from overseas. It had always been a pleasure and delight to greet them but their delight had never been any greater than upon this occasion when they assembled to welcome Colonel and Mrs. MacLaren on their return after a lengthy stay overseas. The people of St. John said his worship had followed the work of Colonel MacLaren with fond interest, and were proud of him all the time—by his work he had helped shed lustre upon Canada—there was nothing in the civic, provincial or federal field within their gift that the people would not be pleased to see the colonel receive. The mayor closed with an expression of hope that the citizens of St. John would have Colonel MacLaren and his family with them for many years to come and in repeating his welcome wished them much future success. Cheers were then enthusiastically given for the returned officer and his wife.

Colonel MacLaren was one of the first surgeons in St. John to abandon a large practice to go overseas. He met with much success in his five years "over there," going from Valcartier in command of No. 1 General Hospital and crossing to France in December, 1914. His "New Brunswick hut" at Etaples will long be remembered by many lads who have occasion to recall the kindness they received there at his hands and from the fine staff of assistants he had serving with him in connection with the hospital of which he was head.

Some time later Colonel MacLaren was recalled to England and took a prominent part in the organization of Canadian army medical services, holding the post of A. D. M. S. and D. D. M. S., and for a time acting D. M. S. He was the highest official in the medical branch of the Canadian Corps and was a recognized authority on matters pertaining to this work. For his services he received the C. M. G. and the Commander of the Order of the Avis, a Portuguese decoration, while he also is entitled to the Long Service Medal, the Mons Star and the Victory and General Service ribbons.

Many a family in St. John and other parts of New Brunswick has reason to be thankful to Colonel MacLaren for aid in locating a wounded son or husband, or some near to them in hospital. A cable addressed to him always brought results where at all possible, and it was usually followed by personal visits by himself to see that the lad in question was comfortable and was receiving proper treatment. When people at home knew he was looking after their boy they felt great relief.

From a great host of friends about St. John Colonel and Mrs. MacLaren and their three children, David and Misses Margaret and Elfrith, will receive a very hearty welcome.

PROPER CARE OF THE FEEBLE-MINDED

Would Empty The Jails of Half Their inmates

A STRIKING REPORT

Mr. Justice Hodgins, Says Between One And Two per Cent of School Children Mentally Deficient—Important Recommendations Made

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
Of Mr. Justice Hodgins' report on the care and control of the mentally defective and feeble-minded a summary was published in our issue of yesterday. Those who read that summary will be impressed with the evident thoroughness of the inquiry.

The subject is one to which Dr. Helen MacMurphy of the provincial secretary's department has given special study. The commissioner makes acknowledgment of the assistance he has derived from the annual reports of Dr. MacMurphy, who he says, is regarded in the United States as a leading authority upon the subject. That reputation and commendation have been well earned by Dr. MacMurphy, for no one else in this country has done so much to rouse public interest in the tremendously important question of the feeble-minded

Mr. Justice Hodgins, who has submitted an exhaustive report to the government of Ontario with regard to care for the mentally defective and feeble-minded. The commissioner recommends special classes in the public schools for the mentally defective and suggests legislation to restrict the marriage of persons registered as feeble-minded.

and the state's duty in regard thereto. So far the medical test that is now being made in the schools of Toronto shows that the mentally defective children in attendance there make up the large proportion of between one and two per cent. This gives some indication of the gravity of the problem referred to the commissioner. Feeble-mindedness is an existing evil and a flowing course of future danger to the nation. The commissioner says that the elimination of the mental defectives from the school and from the street and from the agencies engaged in reforming character would render the efforts of teachers and social workers comparatively easy, and would empty the jails of over half their inmates. His recommendations, twenty in number, are well conceived to provide for the control and proper care of these unfortunates. The measures most urgently called for are the establishing of special classes for the mentally defective in the public schools; the transfer to Orillia of all admitted defectives in other institutions; the removal from the juvenile court and the Children's Aid Society of all mental defectives, and the placing of these in a proper institution; the establishment of a new and properly equipped psychopathic hospital in Toronto; the provision of proper temporary quarters in order to provide immediate relief from present unsatisfactory arrangements.

Like every other human being the mentally defective child has its rights, and the right to care and protection is one that must not be denied to it by the state. And the child who is suspected of being mentally defective has its rights, which must not be taken away from it. Before being condemned to separation from normal associates the child of doubtful mentality should have a fair trial. The law must not vest in any individual, man or in any carelessly-constituted medical court, the power to banish a child from the fellowship of bright companions. Medical men are far from being infallible, and it would be a grave mistake to go upon any assumption to the contrary. They may be very wrong when they are most positive. Then there is the matter of drawing a line between the normal and the sub-normal. Some of the men who have made a great name for themselves in the history of their time were extremely unpromising boys and might have been pronounced by experts of our day as mentally defective, and disposed of accordingly. Against any such chances as that the most ample checks must be provided.

WOULD EXTEND FLAX INDUSTRY

Plans Are Being Made by Ontario Department of Agriculture

Plans are now being made by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to extend the flax-growing industry to the northern part of the province next year.

It is believed by officials of the department as the result of experiments carried on during the last couple of years that flax, like many other farm products, can be grown as successfully, if not more so, in Northern Ontario, as in the older part of the province.

It is proposed, according to Justus Miller, field crop specialist of the department, to bring about the desired results by co-operation between flax-growers of Old Ontario and farmers of the North. The intention is to have the grower in Old Ontario next year furnish the farmer in Northern Ontario with a quantity of flax for seed, the minimum being one bushel. The receiver of the seed will, under this plan, agree to return to the grower in Old Ontario the amount of seed he received. The mills of Old Ontario will also be asked to guarantee the price that they will pay for the flax. This will have to be fixed by negotiation, but it will probably be in the neighborhood of $4 a bushel.

There is a prevalent belief among flax men that they cannot grow flax successfully unless they renew their seed every few years from the old land. Considerable of this seed which has been imported in the past has come from the Baltic provinces of Russia, through Holland. An investigation has revealed the fact that the climatic conditions in Northern Ontario are very similar to those in the Baltic Provinces. Consequently, it is felt that just as good seed can be grown in our own country, and it will then be available much cheaper to the Old Ontario flax growers.

Plans are now being made by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to extend the flax-growing industry to the northern part of the province next year.

It is believed by officials of the department as the result of experiments carried on during the last couple of years that flax, like many other farm products, can be grown as successfully, if not more so, in Northern Ontario, as in the older part of the province.

It is proposed, according to Justus Miller, field crop specialist of the department, to bring about the desired results by co-operation between flax-growers of Old Ontario and farmers of the North. The intention is to have the grower in Old Ontario next year furnish the farmer in Northern Ontario with a quantity of flax for seed, the minimum being one bushel. The receiver of the seed will, under this plan, agree to return to the grower in Old Ontario the amount of seed he received. The mills of Old Ontario will also be asked to guarantee the price that they will pay for the flax. This will have to be fixed by negotiation, but it will probably be in the neighborhood of $4 a bushel.

There is a prevalent belief among flax men that they cannot grow flax successfully unless they renew their seed every few years from the old land. Considerable of this seed which has been imported in the past has come from the Baltic provinces of Russia, through Holland. An investigation has revealed the fact that the climatic conditions in Northern Ontario are very similar to those in the Baltic Provinces. Consequently, it is felt that just as good seed can be grown in our own country, and it will then be available much cheaper to the Old Ontario flax growers.

Foley TRACTION RIMS

100 Per Cent Road Efficiency

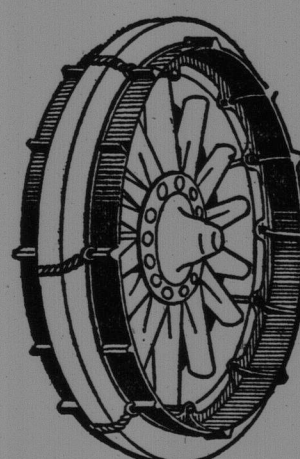

Disregard road conditions. Foley Traction Rims make all roads passable. Powerful and certain action is assured. Wheels take hold firmly on boggy, stony earth—positively no slippage.

All trouble in mud, sand, gravel and snow is eliminated. Foley Traction Rims are indestructible because made of high grade electric crucible steel. Used for either shaft or chain drive, with either demountable or pressed on rubber tire equipped wheels. Easy to operate. There's no such thing as "bad going" with trucks equipped with Foley Traction Rims. They pay for themselves many times over.

Trucks equipped with Foley Traction Rims must keep going ahead.

A demonstration will convince you of your need of these tires and labor saving. Write for information and arrange for a demonstration.

Little Known Part of North America

Lower California Contains Sharply Contrasting Features

"It may be unknown to many that the United States or its citizens have twice had complete possession of Lower California," says a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society, which is based on a communication from E. W. Nelson.

"During the Mexican war, in 1847, the forces of the United States occupied the principal points in the peninsula and declared it American territory, but relinquished it at the close of hostilities. In 1853-54 it was again captured, and a government temporarily organized by bands of American filibusters under Walker. This ill-advised venture lacked support and quickly came to a disastrous end.

"Lower California is the long, narrow peninsula that projects about 800 miles southeasterly from the southern border of California. Its width varies from about thirty to more than 100 miles and its irregular coast line, more than 2,000 miles long, is bordered by numerous islands. Being mainly a mountainous desert region, it is thinly peopled and presents many sharply contrasting conditions. Low, sun-scorched plains, where death by thirst awaits the unwary traveler, lie close to the bases of towering granite peaks, capped with waving pine forests and belted in winter by gleaming snow.

"Vast desolate plateaus of ragged black lava embosom gemlike valleys, where verdure-bordered streams and the spreading fringes of date palms recall the mysterious hidden vales of the 'Arabian Nights.' The western coast is bathed by cool waters and abundant fogs, while the eastern shore is laved by the waves of a warm inland sea, sparkling under almost continuous sunshine.

"Although adjoining some of our best known territory and with a recorded history which goes back almost four centuries and teems with varied events, the peninsula still remains one of the least known parts of North America. The early chronicles of its discovery in 1595 by an expedition sent out by Cortes in search of a fabulously rich island said to have been inhabited by Amazons.

"It has been estimated that at the time of its discovery the peninsula, including many of the bordering islands, was peopled by about 25,000 Indians. The inhabitants vigorously resisted the

"Safety First" To Be Enforced.

People Taking Matters Into Their Own Hands.

Public safety does not alone concern the operation of railways, street cars and motors. It lies deeper. It lies in the health of the people.

One of the greatest enemies to health is kidney trouble. If the kidneys don't filter from the blood the uric acid and other poisons, which are the cause of rheumatism, and all manner of ills appear—rheumatic, sciatic, and neuralgic pains, lumbago, stone in the bladder, headaches, constipation, lassitude. There is certain relief for these ailments. Gin Pills help where other remedies fail. They build up the debilitated system, bring the kidneys and bladder back to normal action, and by removing the cause, make impossible the evil results. Gin Pills do not contain any alcohol, but all the valuable diuretic properties of the Gin together with other diuretics and antiseptics which have a signal effect on the bladder and kidneys.

All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills under a guarantee to return your money if they do not bring relief. If you have backache, constant headaches or pain in the sides, begin treatment at once with Gin Pills. 50c a box. Free sample on request.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

Old Sea Captain Cured His Own
Rupture After Doctor Said
"Operate or Die."

His Remedy and Book Sent Free.

Captain Collings sailed the seas for many years. He sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain in bed, but kept him bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and was assured that he must either submit to a cruel and abortive operation or die. He did neither. He cured himself instead.

"Fellow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collings made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man.

Anyone can do the same without it's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. ## ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDE GARCEAU.

33 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician, but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives,' as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

intrusion of newcomers, and for more than a century efforts to establish military colonies in the new land resulted in disastrous failures.

"During the period in its history the southern shores of the peninsula served as the lurking place of Sir Francis Drake and other freebooters lying in wait for the treasure-laden Spanish galleons on their annual voyages from Manila to Mexico.

"Afterward, during the first two-thirds of the last century, those shores were visited by numerous half-pirate smugglers and by fleets of whalers and sealers down there by the swarming abundance of whales, fur seal, sea elephants and sea sitters. So ruthless was the pursuit of these animals that in a few decades they were on the verge of extermination, and the business ended, apparently forever.

"During the last half century all parts of the peninsula have been visited, mainly by Americans in search of mines and other natural resources, but little of the knowledge thus gained has become available to the public. Gold, silver, copper, iron and other minerals and much fertile land have been found, but the scarcity of water, fuel, forage and difficulties of transportation have caused many failures in the attempts to develop these resources.

"The isolation of desert lowlands of Lower California, combined with other factors, has resulted in the development of the richest and most extraordinary desert flora in the world.

"One morning, in front of Magdalena Bay, I rode out from a dense growth of bushes into an open area and pulled up my horse in amazement at sight of the most extraordinary of them all. Before me was a great bed of creeping devil cactus, which appeared like a swarm of gigantic caterpillars creeping in all directions. These plants actually travel away from the common centre of the group and I saw many single sections twenty to thirty yards away from the others. The part of the stem resting on the ground sends down rootlets and the older stems die in the rear at about the same rate as they grow in front, so they slowly move away from the colony across the flats where they live.

"A large number of the smaller kinds of desert mammals never drink water. They live and thrive on dry seeds, and scums of vegetation in places where the heat and aridity are excessive without ever touching their lips to water, and it has even been found impossible to teach some of them to take water in captivity. Apparently they never know thirst or the delight of quenching it."

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the one you made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or any syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a genuine concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

INTERESTING RECITAL GIVEN BY MISS GREEN'S PUPILS LAST EVENING

Clever Playlets And Individual Work Delight Large Audience—Under High School Alumnae Auspices

The pupils of Miss Amelia Green, in a dramatic recital under the auspices of the High School Alumnae, delighted an audience which filled St. Vincent's Auditorium in Cliff street last evening. The programme was a varied one in which the participants displayed much talent and a keen sense of the requirements of the parts which they portrayed.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the entertainment was a rendition of the love between the Princess Katherine and the breezy King Henry, taken from Shakespeare's Henry V. Both the bluff, humorous, awkward tongue lover and the demure princess with her delightful brogue English were characterized to perfection.

The programme was opened with a clever sketch called "Gone Abroad," in which Miss Hickson took the part of the "financially embarrassed society" lady and Misses Madeline Pines and Beatrice Fleet, her two very much-alive nieces who chafed under the restrictions which reduced circumstances imposed on them.

Miss Elsie Tretheway, as the inquisitive, scandal-loving neighbor—gave a clever performance. The piece was very well presented.

Mrs. C. K. Shells presented Whitcombe Riley's bear story with charming mimicry and received well merited applause, as did also Miss Bessie Holder in a reading of "The Old Maid."

Miss Power and S. C. Hurley were the central figures in "Op-o-me-Thumb," a quaint little East End of London story, which smacked of Whitechapel.

Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond gave two readings with musical accompaniment and Norman Magnusson, although only a youngster, displayed considerable talent in two fine selections.

The programme was closed with a graceful exhibition of Grecian dancing and tableaux portraying Truth and Dawn, which were nicely presented and met the approval of the gathering.

The programme was as follows:

Gone Abroad, a sketch in one act—Characters: Mrs. Deloit, a society lady; Dorothy Hickson; Hope, her niece; Madeline Pines; Hazel, her niece; Beatrice Fleet; Mrs. P. P. Thompson, her bosom friend; Elsie Tretheway; Time, present. Scene, Mrs. DeWitt's living room.

The Bear Story (James Whitcomb Riley). Mrs. C. K. Shells.

"Op-o-me-Thumb," one act play—Characters: Prologue, Beatrice Fleet; Madame Didier, proprietress of the laundry; Julia Crawford; Celeste; Beatrice Fleet; Rose, Ethel McGinley; Mrs. Clementina Galloway; Adelaide Marvin; Mr. Horace Greensmith; Steve Hurley; Amanda; "Op-o-me-Thumb," Nan Power. Time, the present. Scene, the workroom.

Reading, Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond; accompaniment, piano, Hilda Brittain; violin, Rhona Lloyd.

(c) "Jes' fore Christmas" (Eugene Field); (d) "Da' Besta Fien" (T. A. Daly); Norman Magnusson.

Emerson physical culture exercises with tableaux—Mrs. G. K. Shells, Mrs. Howard Porter, Eleanor B. McAfee, Frances Reid, Florence Rayworth, Bessie Holder, Vivian Fowler.

Tableau—(1) Truth. Tableau—(2) Dawn.

Pianist, Mrs. Frank Archibald; violinist, Rhona Lloyd.

POLICE COURT.

The case against Thomas Ramsey, charged with having liquor in his beer shop, was sent for yesterday afternoon. The defendant appeared in court, but when the case was called he was not present. The magistrate said that on Monday afternoon if he was not there a warrant would be issued for his arrest.

All the evidence for the prosecution was taken in the case against Harry Kent, charged with having rubarb wine, testing seventeen per cent alcohol, on his premises in Brussels street. The case was postponed until Wednesday morning.

Bourne, charged with assaulting a man named Williams, put up a deposit for his appearance next Friday.

The Women's League of St. David's church realized about $40.00 as the proceeds of the most successful tea and sale held in the church rooms on Thursday. The members are much to be congratulated on the results of their united efforts. The proceeds will go towards the organ fund for the new church.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN.

"We did have the dinner, and we opened a couple of bottles of champagne—this was, few years ago, you know. We parted the best of friends, and that woman has bought thousands of dollars worth of furs from me since."

"Yes, it was dramatic. But you have to be an actor in business. It wouldn't have paid me a bit to show how angry I was during that hour and a half squabble."

News Value, Plus.

Some advertisers seem to need something in the nature of a world-wide cataclysm to see the opportunity to inject news value into their announcements.

Not so with Allentown's (Pa.) most prominent barber.

Recently one of his windows was broken. Next morning he had tacked a sign on the boards which covered the fracture:

"Broken in the Rush to Get a First-Class Shave."

"The Best Christmas Ad We Ever Used"

"On December 20, last year, we tried an experiment, played a hunch that we had come to one of our advertising men in the still, small hours of the night," declared G. D. Mathews, of Wetherill's, Inc., Syracuse, N. Y., in discussing the type of advertisement which had the best results at Christmas time.

"Previously we had been confining ourselves to line cuts as illustrations for the different lines featured in copy of this nature, but we were seeking for some way in which to make the sweater department stand out from the rest of the display. Of course, it would have been easy to do this by enlarging the space devoted to this section, but we didn't feel that that should be done—particularly around Christmas when every department head was clamoring for space."

"So we tried an innovation. Instead of a line cut illustrative of the sweaters we took one of the garments, placed it on a good-looking salesgirl, photographed her and ran the illustration in half-tone with not more than ten words about each of the seven lines of sweaters and prices set in heavy blackface type. The sweater announcement occupied about one-tenth of the entire advertisement, but it was the only one where a half-tone was used."

"The next day we had more calls for sweaters than ever before and this department outsold the others almost two to one. Since that time when we want to attract attention to any single item we don't necessarily enlarge the space—we slip in a photographic illustration."

Milk Wagons Make Excellent Stores.

C. Leitchman and his son, Milton, Thirty-seventh Division veteran with a wound stripe, have cashed in with their innovation in retail merchandising through use of old milk wagons as retail stores on wheels.

Leitchman's, who are manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers in ice cream, candy, cigars and novelties, gave up their retail store in Hazleton, Pa., entirely because the returns from their little traveling wagons were so great it engaged all their time looking after the establishments.

Milk wagons are "passe" now in these enlightened days, but they have room for trays of candy, cigars, novelties, etc. The use of the driver can be placed the ice box with its cans of ice cream. Getting men with some snap and imagination, Leitchman's had old milk wagons repainted and fixed up as little stores.

To give the personal note to the establishment, the salesman is listed as the owner on the wagon. He reports mornings at 11 o'clock and is out until 8 or 9 at night. Sundays he works if he wants to. Usually he does, as returns are excellent on that day.

All the towns of the Lehigh field for thirty miles around Hazleton are covered daily by this system of traveling stores. The use of old milk wagons, repainted and fixed up as little stores.

The use of small wagons is better than trucks, it is claimed, because the investment placed in the hands of the unknown quantity, the salesman, is not so great in case of careless use of the outfit or of complete disaster.

Features Sales Schedule.

Getting up a special sale like a football schedule, for features arranged for every day in the month and announced in advance, is the latest merchandising stunt pulled by the Pelletier Stores Company, of Hazleton, Kan. The sale is an anniversary affair, and comes in the middle of the fall season. In its initial announcement the store printed a schedule of the special sale to be held each day in the month, giving the dates and the department to be featured.

Every day come new converts to that great army of men and women who rejoice in new-found health that came to them through the use of that wonderful blood-renewing preparation called "FERROZONE." Very simple how it acts. All you have to do is take two small chocolate-coated tablets with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

Ferrozone is a marvel. It contains just what thin blood lacks—lots of iron, and it is the kind of iron your blood is able to absorb. Ferrozone puts life and vim into the blood. Makes it rich, red and nourishing. Your body is better fed and grows stronger day by day.

Of course digestion must be improved, and probably the stomach will require aid as well. Ferrozone serves the purpose admirably. Those who use it, enjoy appetite and digestive powers far beyond the ordinary.

A.K. UNIFORM SCALE

A delegation of lumbermen met the provincial government last evening and urged the establishing of stumpage, and the adoption of a uniform scale for New Brunswick. It was pointed out by the delegation that at the present time there was no stumpage scale laid down for the province but its establishment would tend to make the market more stable. Although the lumbermen did not urge any specified term of years, it was pointed out that in Quebec a rate of $1.00 had been fixed for five years with an increase of thirty cents for an additional five years.

The lumbermen present were: Angus McLean, F. M. Anderson, W. B. Snowball, James Robinson, Stanley Douglas, J. W. Brankley, P. C. Beattie, Donald Fraser and Mr. McLean, secretary of the association.

No human head was impressed on coins until after the death of Alexander the Great. All images before that time were those of deities.

Stops Bronchitis Quickly Without Any Medicine

This Problem Solved When Catarrh-
rhoe Was Discovered,
Thousands Have Been Cured

You are nothing but a plain simple book to suffer a day longer from Bronchitis. It's real easy to cure—this has been proved time and again.

Relief comes at once when you breathe in the soothing vapor of Catarrh-rhoe. Once its healing, purity essences strike the bronchial tubes, you realize that a powerful treatment is at work.

Irritation can't live in the throat of a person inhaling Catarrh-rhoe. It is so soothing, so warming, so full of concentrated healing power that you get results at once.

Catarrh-rhoe strengthens the weak throat, stops the cough, removes that hacking irritating necessity to clear the throat, makes even the chronic sufferer realize that at last he has discovered a real cure. For coughs, colds, catarrh, and winter ills, nothing in the family
could be better than the complete dollar

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and lustrous.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR NEW MAIL SERVICE ARE COMPLETED

Two Mails Each Day Between
St. John and Montreal by
C. P. R., But Only One
Boston Mail After December 1—Provincial Mails.

The announcement of important changes of time in mail arriving and closing at the St. John post office was received by post office officials last evening. Although in some instances advantages will be gained over the old time schedule, there are changes which will not be so convenient to the public as previously. On the Canadian National Railway mails for the east will close at 12.40 p.m. instead of at 11.50 a.m. In this connection mail clerks will not run on the Halifax and St. John night train but through mails will be exchanged by Moncton, Amherst, Truro and Halifax with St. John, thus doing away with the open bag postal service for intervening points.

On the Canadian Pacific Railway there will be only one mail a day from and to the United States, due at 1.40 p.m., closing at 5.15 p.m.

The morning mail for Fredericton,
Woodstock and other provincial places will close at 6.40 instead of 5.45 a.m. The evening mail from the same district will be due at 10.20 instead of at 11.20 p.m.
Two mails a day will be received and despatched from and to Montreal, and places west via the C. P. R.—due at 7.05 a.m. and 1.40 p.m., and closing at 3.20 and 5.15 p.m. At present there is one mail from Montreal and points west by this route. The additional service after December 1 will get the mail on the early afternoon train into Montreal on time for the following morning delivery, and the late train will give business men in St. John an extra half hour to answer letters and catch the mail out.

It is also announced that, in consequence of these changes, the letter carriers will leave the post office about an hour later in the morning and afternoon.
For the four Saturdays in December the mail carriers will take out deliveries on Saturday afternoon and also for the first two Saturdays in January. Mails will also be delivered on Christmas and New Year's as before.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION FOR FOURTH DISTRICT

The Methodist Sunday school board and the St. John county Sunday school association met in joint session last evening in Centenary church when Dr.
Kling, the secretary for the Methodist Sunday school board, gave an inspiring address on the relation of the Sunday schools and the young people to the forward movement. During the evening the organization of the fourth Sunday school district was consummated and the following officers elected: president,
L. A. Belyea, Central Baptist; vice-president, E. E. Thomas, Exmouth street
Methodist; secretary-treasurer, D. W. H.
Magee, St. David's. Other officers are to be appointed by the executive.

RETURNED MEN IN NEW LAW FIRM

Major C. F. Inches, M.C., D.S.O., Major D. K. Hazen, who also won decorations on the battlefield, and Lieut-
Col. E. C. Weyman, O.B.E., have formed a law partnership under the firm name of Inches, Weyman & Hazen, and they will continue the practice of their profession in this city. All have served overseas with distinction.

Major Inches went across early in the war with a heavy battery and succeeded Lieut-Col. Magee as commander of the 1st Canadian Heavy Battery on the western front.
Lieut-Col. Weyman, who also was awarded the Russian Order of St. Anna, serving at the front with the 42nd
Royal Highlanders, and also with various headquarters staffs in England. He was actively engaged in defending the accused Canadians in the Rhyll camp riots. He lost a leg in France.

Major Hazen was a long time overseas and after the cessation of fighting in France went to Russia with the expeditionary force. He has just returned to Canada.

These young soldiers have a host of friends who will wish for them a great measure of prosperity.

The Peace Orientation

The end of the Great War is marked by greatly changed outlooks and ideals.
The countries of Europe are in the throes of reconstruction problems affecting not only destroyed architectural edifices or dismantled industries, but extending to the body politic and the fabric of society itself.

New forces are also abroad in Canada.

The Ontario elections showed that the old order of things is passing with dramatic rapidity.

The farmers are no longer content to rest as mere toilers of the soil. They claim a share in shaping the policies of the country to whose prosperity they so largely contribute.

The returned soldiers feel that they have a right to guide the destinies of the country for whose liberties they sacrificed so much.

A clear comprehension of the new forces in Canada is possible only by a knowledge of corresponding vital movements abroad.

JELICOE WILL VISIT ST. JOHN ON DECEMBER 14

S. E. Elkin, M. P., Invites
First Sea Lord to Inspect
Great Drydocks
Here

S. E. Elkin, M.P., supplemented the invitations which Premier Foster and Mayor Hayes had extended to Admiral Viscount Jellicoe by telegrams to Admiral Jellicoe and members of the federal cabinet urging that his lordship visit
St. John and inspect the harbor facilities and particularly the drydock, which is to be the largest on this side of the Atlantic.

Mr. Elkin's telegram to Viscount Jellicoe was as follows:

"As one of the members of the dominion parliament, representing St. John,
New Brunswick, I respectfully desire to supplement the invitation of the mayor to you to come to our city and when here to visit the harbor and the works in connection therewith, especially the dry-dock and ship repair plant. The dry-dock, when completed, will be the largest and most modern this side of the Atlantic ocean."

To Premier Borden, Hon. Mr. Ballantine and Hon. Mr. Sifton, Mr. Elkin telegraphed as follows:

"I feel that Viscount Jellicoe should not leave Canada without visiting St.
John and viewing the drydock now under construction. Consequently, I have wired, supplementing the invitation of the mayor and the premier to Viscount Jellicoe, I think that the admiral's visit to Canada would not be complete without a personal visit to the harbor and works referred to. Please do all in your power to have Viscount Jellicoe come to St. John."

In reply, Mr. Elkin received the following telegram:
From Hon. Mr. Ballantyne: "Have presented your request to Admiral Jellicoe, who is now working out his programme. I hope he will be able to visit St. John and view your harbor and works. He will advise you shortly."

From Premier Borden: "Telegram received. I have communicated with Lord
Jellicoe, who informs me he will visit
St. John about 12, December."

ADDRESSED YOUNG PEOPLE

One of the most useful and helpful services of Dr. Rees' evangelistic campaign was held last evening in the City Hall, West St. John, when Dr. Rees addressed the young people of the churches.
The title of his address was "God is Calling You." He explained that this was a three-fold call, to pardon, to service and to consolation. In this connection he said that God had a great work for every young person to do. He also told how God called to them through his spirit, his church, by his Sunday school teachers and workers, and by His Son.

PLAN INTERNATIONAL BOARD FOR DEVELOPMENT OF CHINA

Ideas of Sane, Thoughtful Statesmen Who Are True Friends of the Great Empire in the East — No Country Can Conquer China Because of China's Immense Population — About the Japanese Menace

(Toronto Globe)
By Rev. Robert A. Jaffray.
Wuchow, S. China, Oct. 20.—The Chinese as a race are unconquerable. They are by nature a meek, peace-loving people. There is no warlike tendency in them. They have no desire for conquest by use of the sword. In this respect they are unlike their neighbors, the Japanese. And yet, by their peaceful methods, they have proved to the world, and will still prove in days to come, that they are unconquerable.

It is noteworthy that in the animal world nature causes tame, harmless useful animals to increase and multiply whereas, the wilder, fiercer type of animal is few in number and tends to decrease. Even so the peace-loving Chinese race has survived the wreck of the of an international board to take over the opening of China's great mines, the building of her railroads, the policing of her waterways, etc., in some way the same way in which the Chinese customs service was taken over by the nations some years ago. This would not need to interfere with the government of China. The leases granted thus to the nations, perhaps in proportion to the amount of their trade in China, could be redeemed by China in years to come when she will have gotten on her feet financially, and have learned to manage for herself the great industrial life of her country. Thus in the long run the ultimate benefit and blessing would, in by far the larger measure, accrue to China and the Chinese people.

What has been written above may seem to some to be mere speculation. It does not claim to be prophecy, but we believe that to a greater or less extent it will prove to be the future of China. In a surprisingly short time we may see that giant nation awake, and her vast, untold resources developed, her land covered with a network of railways, and the whole country become a veritable hive of living industry. What will be the effect of this upon the people of China? From a moral standpoint it may not prove as desirable as it might seem. We do not covet altogether for China a civilization like that of so-called Chinese nations. The advent of western industry to China will bring with it, as it invariably has done in other parts, a flood of new sin and crime such as old China never knew. But, on the other hand, the coming of all kinds of rapid means of transportation will bring the ends of China together, will unite the north and south, will open up the vast closed interior, and will give wings to the Gospel message and speed on the work of evangelization as it has never been possible to speed it in the past.

Need Studio to Produce 9,600 Miles of Film Per Annum

ANNUAL SALE THIRTY MILLION PACKETS

Alliance Film Corporation, the formation of which was recently announced, has secured two sites for the production of pictures—one, Harrow Weald Park, the other a piece of land near Hampton Court.

On one of these sites is to be erected one of the biggest motion picture studios in the world. The plans, which have already been drawn, provide that the main floor of the studio shall be 200 feet by 150 feet, and it will be so constructed that no support pillars will be necessary. In the centre of the floor of the studio a water pool, 100x50 feet and six feet deep, will be arranged. It will be possible to flood the sunken stage in four separate sections. In the lighting 80 miles of electric wire will be used, and it will be possible to concentrate half a million candlepower on a given spot. To obtain the necessary power a plant of 1,800 horse-power will be installed. It is intended that the carpenters' shops, dressing rooms, furniture stores, electricians' shops and wardrobe shall be distinct from the studio, but they will all have direct access to the floor of the studio so as to obviate delay.

The executive offices and buildings will include a restaurant with rest-rooms, green rooms, and bathrooms attached, while the producer will have its own office and "cutting" room with an assembling department and a completely equipped laboratory. For the building itself 400 tons of cement, nearly a million bricks, and 150,000 slates, and 210 tons of steel will be required.

When the studio is complete there will be room for six producers to work simultaneously, allow each one ample space for the erection of two or three "sets" in his own area. To complete the programme which the company will have to pass 630,000 feet of negative film through its cameras. To supply the necessary copies of the pictures for Great Britain, 5,000,000 feet of film must be used and 17,000,000 feet of copies for the rest of the world, or nearly 3,000 miles.

A CHARACTERISTIC TRAIT.

(New York Evening Post.)
The young colored woman who had built up a prosperous suburban trade by going from house to house shampooing heads had grown into a middle-aged woman, and, with her young daughter as assistant, she decided to set up an establishment. Her patrons must, hereafter, come to her instead of her going to them. But though business was soon thriving, it was mainly among newcomers. Most of her old patrons refused to come to her. If she couldn't go to them, they said, they wouldn't patronize her, preferring the inconvenience of the trip to the city every time they wanted a shampoo sooner than humor her. "Did you ever notice, Miss Nannie," asked one shampooer of a client who hadn't deserted her, "that there are some people in this world who don't like to have you succeed? So long as I was dependent upon those folks for custom they stood by me and my work. But when I reached the point where I could be independent, they lost interest in me. By refusing to come to me, indeed, they did all they could to hurt and hinder me. Had I failed in my new venture, they might have welcomed me back as a helpless dependent. But I've succeeded, and they won't have anything to do with me!"

A Chinese statesman recently said that while China might in the present controversy with Japan lose the province of Shantung, yet her loss would be nothing compared with that of Japan for she had in this affair lost the heart of the world. But while there is this great advantage of numerical superiority to China, yet, on the other hand, this very thing has had, and still has, its great disadvantages. The chief reason for China's backwardness, as for example compared with Japan, is not at all that she is a people less able, but that she is too big, too cumbersome, too clumsy, too unwieldy to make rapid progress. Large bodies move slowly. If China were only the size and population she is, or the same population and the same area as Japan, she would not have been second to her in any respect, but would probably be leading things today in the Far East. With a population of four hundred millions and so vast an area, it has been well-nigh impossible for China to get under way as a nation. To govern so great a country is almost a superhuman task. Other republics were organized when the countries were in their infancy. Therefore China's age and greatness have been her chief hindrances.

The present boycott of Japanese goods all over China is the Chinese protest against the concessions in Shantung granted by the peace conference to Japan. But this whole question is one of much larger import in days to come. The real ambition of the Japanese statesman is the Japanese control of the Pacific basin. Speaking in a general way, the Pacific basin is bounded by Alaska, Canada, the United States, Mexico, South America, New Zealand, Australia, India, China, the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. It will thus be seen at a glance that the question of the control of this ocean lies between the yellow races and the Anglo-Saxon race. China has no ambition, but favors the Anglo-Saxon side. Japan by her great merchant fleet has already made a big bid for it. There is no limit to her ambition. During the period of war Japan had practically a monopoly on the Pacific. It was the hour of her greatest opportunity. But, instead of using it wisely, she made the very stepping-stone to future success a stumbling-block of failure. Pride and dishonesty have made them most unpopular as traders on the Pacific Ocean. Now that the war is over and the nations of Europe can again turn their attention to the Far East, a keen competition awaits Japan in the Pacific basin. China well knows that her real friends are not those of her nearest kin, but are the nations of the English-speaking race. Let the Allies Decide.

A few months ago, when traveling on the same steamer with Chinese delegates to the Paris Peace Conference, it was the writer's privilege to have intimate conversation with some of these thoughtful men. On inquiring as to what they expected to say at the Peace Conference, they did not seem to have very definite ideas on the subject. On one occasion the writer ventured to advise the delegates to the effect that the best thing China could do was to commit her cause to the allied powers. "That," was the response, "is rather a humiliating course to have to pursue." "Exactly," we pointed out, "but there is for China but one alternative—to fall into the hands of Japan." The danger of this was frankly acknowledged by the delegate. Also it was freely admitted that if China were given another hundred years she would not make real progress if left to herself. She needs the help of outside nations to assist her in the opening up and developing of her great internal resources. She does not want the assistance of Japan. At least she does not want Japan to have the whole opportunity and responsibility to herself. To avoid this danger, there is but one course: welcome the intervention of the allies and so put a proper check upon Japan.

Recently a telegram appeared in the home papers announcing to the world that China was in bankruptcy; that Japan was her chief creditor; that she owed a tremendous sum to the Japanese, and that the only hope she had of being saved from the clutches of Japan was intervention on the part of the allied powers. To us this seemed like the first intimation to the public of the programme to be followed out by the victorious allies with regard to China. Open up the Country. Thoughtful statesmen, who are the true friends of China, have for some time felt that one European affair is settled somewhat that the nations of the world will turn to China as the great undeveloped part of the world, and make China the commercial "happy hunting ground" of the present age. The plan that has been suggested is the creation

Eminent Painters Design Our Boxes

WHY? Because we believe their appearance should reflect the quality of their contents. And their contents are a triumph of the confectioner's art.

After a design is perfected, no detail is neglected to make the box an artistic triumph.

The shaping of the corners, the colour and tie of the ribbon, everything is made to harmonize.

As a result, the Gift of a Box of Neilson's is always a joy to the eye and to the palate.

Children's Aid Proved Its Worth In The Last Year

Sixteen Children Were Placed In Foster Homes

Ninety-Eight Admitted During The Year And Eighteen Now Are In The Home — A Busy Twelve Months For The Agent — Reports Of President And Secretary

These four little ones are among the ones in the Home of the Children's Aid Society, St. John.

The following are the annual reports of the Children's Aid Society, St. John, for the year ending December 31, 1919. The president, Mr. M. Belding, and the secretary, Mr. J. M. Scott, report that the year has been a busy one for the society. Ninety-eight children were admitted during the year, and eighteen are now in the home. The society has been successful in placing sixteen children in foster homes. The president and secretary report that the year has been a busy one for the society. to make any investigation necessary into defective housing conditions and have always met us more than half way. Touching on the legal side of our work, it would be difficult to overstate the value of the assistance freely rendered us by Kenneth A. Wilson, often at serious inconvenience to himself. I would also take this opportunity of thanking Chief Justice McKeown and Judge Armstrong for kindly and courteous treatment. Our honorary solicitor, J. King Kelley and J. L. Thorne, as well as our commissioners, Rev. Wm. W. Duke and Rev. R. A. Armstrong, ought also to be mentioned for their kindly consideration of cases brought before them. As usual the police department under Chief of Police Smith, have responded to every call made upon them for assistance, while Police Matron Ross has been infallibly kind.

Turning now to the statistical part of our work, the first thing to be noticed is the large increase in admissions to the home. At the beginning of the year 1917-18 there were eight children in our care and during the whole twelve months thirty-five were admitted. During the year just closed, twenty-eight little ones were admitted and at the close there were eighteen children under our roof. Last year ten children were made wards of the society and this year nine were committed. Last year eight children were sent to the reformatory institutions, while this year the number was three. Last year seven children were placed in foster homes, while this year the number was sixteen.

Last year your agent visited an even hundred families, having a total of 250 children. This year the number of families was seventy-four and the total number of children involved was 250. During the last twelve months 478 visits were made and 830 letters and postcards were written. There were three hearings before our own commissioners. Two cases were tried before J. King Kelley and J. L. Thorne, Justices of the peace. We had one case before the Chief Justice, McKeown, two before Judge Armstrong, two before the city police court and seven hearings before Magistrate Adams. A number of cases were submitted to your agent for action from outside points. Four of these were from Kings county, one from Grand Manan and one from Northumberland county. In all these advice as to the best course to be pursued was tendered. Besides these two cases were investigated for the Massachussetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and one for Miss Sophie Van S. Thel's Child Placing Agency, 105 East 2nd street, New York. Papers were served in one case for the Children's Aid Society in Fredericton.

CHICAGO'S "MURDER RING"

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Police today are prepared to fight habeas corpus proceedings they were informed would be started in an attempt to have released from custody some of the twenty-one alleged members of a "murder ring" taken in connection with a crime wave that swept Chicago for three days. Investigations yet under way will fix responsibility for twelve murders on the gang, the police said. Members of the "murder ring" already have confessed five murders, scores of minor crimes, approximately 150 robberies and about 250 burglaries, police officials asserted.

FIVE PEOPLE LIVE 471 YEARS!

London, Eng., Nov. 29.—Her hundredth birthday was celebrated recently by Miss June Legg, aged 85, of 85, Putney, and during the day knitted a number of comforters for service men. Her mother died at the age of eighty-seven, her elder sister ninety, another sister ninety-five, and her aunt missed the century by one year.

Miss Legg received a letter of congratulation from the king, and was visited by Lady de Blaquiere and Lady Methuen, who gave her a handsome birthday cake decorated with 100 candles.

CANNOT REPLACE BLOOD.

In connection with the recent announcement by a French surgeon of the use of salt-water and gum arabic as a substitute for blood when an operation in which transfusion of blood was necessary, Dr. F. A. C. Scrimgeour, V. C., of McGill, when asked by the Star whether this substitute would take the place of blood, stated that it would do so in a few cases but not in all.

It had been found in certain cases, where solutions made of gum arabic were used to replace blood that was lost, the effect of the 6 per cent. gum arabic was better than when saline alone were used. "It does not take the place of transfusion," continued the doctor, "but good many cases were treated with less shock."

GREEK KING REPORTED SENT INTO EXILE

Geneva, Nov. 29.—A report received here from London, that King Alexander of Greece has been exiled as a result of the recent plot against Premier Venizelos. The report adds that Alexander is expected in Lugana and will join his father, who is at Zurich. There is no confirmation of the report.

Bad Cold LEFT HIM WITH BRONCHITIS

However slight a cold you have you should never neglect it; if you do it can leave you with bronchitis. Bronchitis is one of the most common affections of a neglected cold, and neglected bronchitis is the most general cause of consumption.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is just the remedy you require to cure a bad cold and prevent it from becoming bronchitis. It does this by loosening the phlegm and mucus, and stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and soothes inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, and thus prevents it becoming chronic.

THE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

The last of the united Sunday school gatherings in connection with the campaign conducted in West St. John by Rev. Dr. Rees was held last night in City Hall, West Side, with R. H. Parsons, superintendent of Ludlow street Baptist, in the chair. A very large gathering attended, following an earnest message by Dr. Rees, many signified their desire to live the Christian life. The programme was as follows:

Lord's Prayer, led by F. W. Henderson, assistant superintendent Carleton Methodist Sunday school.

Prayer, Daniel C. Clarke, superintendent Charlotte street Baptist Sunday school.

Song—"Don't, eight girls Ludlow street Baptist Sunday school.

Solo, Eddie Jenner, Charlotte street Baptist Sunday school.

Four Completed And Work on Others Going on; Plans to Have a Boat House That Will Meet Requirements

From present indications next year will be a banner one in the history of rowing in St. John. There is a movement on foot to organize a rowing club, and Dr. J. B. M. Bates, J. A. Gregory, W. E. Scully and the Belyea brothers are said to have signified their intention of taking an active interest in it. Plans are being formulated to erect a floating boat house where the shells could be stored and accommodation made for local members as well as any visitors coming to participate in regattas. It is not as yet known whether or not the club will take over the boats used last year as a nucleus. If they do there will be a good

There was also a good chance a erect boat house at Indiantown and Courtenay Bay, where crews from those sections of the city would be able to practice daily. Those interested in the great revival of aquatic sports would like to see not only all senior clubs take hold, but all improvement leagues as well, so that the younger generation could be developed. The great showing of the three boys during the big regatta should be an incentive to others to take up this line of sport, and in this manner the sport would be put on a permanent basis. It is contended that this can be done only by developing the younger

PLAN BONSPIEL FOR THE LOCAL CURLER

Extensive alterations are being made to the Carleton Curling Club. A crew of men are at present engaged in making needed repairs to the building and adding an additional story to the head house.

It has been suggested that a fortnightly bonspiel be held among the three local clubs. It is felt that a move of this kind would further stimulate an interest in the game. The matter has been discussed by members of the Thistle Curling Club and Carleton Curling Club, and both are reported favorable to the proposition. St. Andrew's club have yet to be consulted, but it is felt that they will give their hearty co-operation.

London, Nov. 28.—Capt. Ross Smith, who is attempting a flight from England to Australia, arrived at Delhi, India, Tuesday, according to advices received here. Capt. Smith, who left the Hounslow aviation field, just outside of London, on the morning of Nov. 12, arrived in Cairo on Nov. 18, continuing his flight to Delhi.

Did you ever notice how perfectly white the Ivory goods look on your friend's dressing table while those of your own are turning a dull yellow? If so, you will also notice that the Ivory goods of your friends are stamped ORIGINAL IVORY, which is the only brand of Ivory which will not fade in color. Ask for the "Real Original Ivory" and you will not be disappointed.

COBB SLOWING UP
BUT STILL GREAT

Jennings Says "Georgia Peach" is Leading Major League Player

last year satisfied his manager, T. Hugh Jennings, that he is slowing up a bit, but even so the Tiger boss still believes in the "George Peach" to be the greatest ball player in the major leagues. Hugh Jennings said as much at a fanning bee at a social event staged here in honor of William Hugh Jennings, former Detroit captain, a sports writer, and literary, by Scrantom Knights of Columbus.

"The average fan evidently did not notice it, but I did, and I also believe it was a mistake to let him go on, but admitting that his famous slugger is beginning to slow up a trifle. "I obtained a positive proof of the fact in both ways, and I was not alone in my opinion. At the time we were beaten out at first by a Cobb or a Peaches, he was being thrown out, and when he was thrown out, he was being thrown out. Usually he had a safe margin, where, when he is in former years it was always a close play at second when he was thrown out. In fact, most of the times when the catchers' throw was perfect it was a give-or-take proposition with the un-

Experience Tells.

"I did not notice Cobb slowed up much in his outfield work," Jennings said. "It would be harder to discover it out there anyway, especially in a fellow like Cobb, who has been playing in the league for years, and knows just about the spot most players hit to. At bat, of course, he looked as good as ever. Averages prove that to be so, because 'Ty' again carried off the batting championship."

"Cobb is a most remarkable ball player, and while it is no more than natural that he would begin to slow up after his extended career in the majors I still consider him the greatest player in baseball, and predict he will retain that rank for several years to come."

During his remarks on the Cobb question, Jennings also drifted to the freethinking side of the fence. When "Hugie" took occasion to praise such pitchers as Mathewson, Alexander, Johnson, Adams and others, who have dis-regarded the freak pitching stunt— "These pitchers made good by using no thing but the old ball, the fast ball, the slow ball, the curve ball, the fade away, and fast and slow balls," Jennings said, "They had a sufficient amount of gray matter in their heads to master those deliveries, and coupled with good control, they were able to keep the ball in the good change of pace, and in other respects made good use of their intelligence along with their natural ability to pitch." Johnson made good from the start because of these facts. The same thing can be said for other famous pitchers who have mentioned."

No Further Increases.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 28.—Premier Stewart told a deputation of the civil service association today that there would be no further increases in salary to government employees. Bonuses and higher pay have recently been granted but do not meet with approval, so a delegation waited on Mr. Stewart. The premier announced that his decision was final.

AMHERST GOES AFTER HANNA

At a meeting of the Amherst board of trade this week the Car Company told how an effort had been made to secure for these local works an order from the Canadian government for the repainting of fifteen hundred railway cars. The company had been unsuccessful in these endeavors inasmuch as Mr. Hanley, the Canadian agent, had been unable to get outside of certain government yards.

Speeches advocating the sending of a delegation to Ottawa, Toronto or wherever necessary were made by Mr. J. A. McDonald and Mr. C. H. Read, who were present. It was concurred in by the meeting, with the result that a delegation of three consisting of J. A. McDonald, C. H. Read and C. S. Sutherland, will proceed to Upper Canada this week, and endeavor to get the necessary order placed at Amherst to be kept in the plant during the winter.

Matthew Lodge of Moncton exhorted the boards of the maritime provinces to get together and stay together if they wanted to accomplish anything. Ottawa today pays very little attention to the maritime provinces because we do not make Ottawa take enough notice. He said if we wanted anything it was essential that we go after it and stay after it until we got what we were after. Mr. Lodge's remarks were much appreciated.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY, HOME AND ABROAD

BOWLING.

Y. M. C. I. League.

The Hawks got away to a good start in their first string last night when they won from the Sparrows by 45 pins. For the Hawks Hansen had 118, Power 104, and the balance of the team in the ninety class. For the Sparrows Cosgrove and Smith were the nineties.

The third string found the Hawks still going strong. They won this string by 52 pins, giving them all four points. For the Hawks McAuliffe led with 109 followed by Jarvis with a century and Hansen with 96. For the Sparrows Cosgrove had 104 and Hutchinson 94.

Sparrows—	Total.	Avg.
Hutchinson	81	87
R. Colgan	86	85
Smith	106	90
D. Colgan	72	69
Cosgrove	78	63

Hawks—	Total.	Avg.
Power	91	104
McAuliffe	89	93
Hansen	107	118
Downing	96	97
Jarvis	92	94

This game closed the first series of the league. The opening match of the second series is to be played on Tuesday evening.

Shots at the King Pin.

The Hawks may have been late in starting but they are sure going strong now. Their second string of 506 is a record for the season. Incidentally their three string total is also a record for the season.

Hansen's average of 107 was nice bowling—only four pins behind the record.

The Hawks finished the series with an average of 90 per cent of games won—watch them in the next series.

The Sparrows worked hard but the reaks weren't with them. This was the first time in three years that they had lost four points.

THE JOY OF A FINISHED SHAVE

Seely's After-Shave

Only those who have used Seely's After-Shave can know the joy of a finished shave.

It is a delightful, soothing, anti-septic lotion which heals the minute scratches of the razor, and makes you feel that you have had a "good shave."

When the face is dry and tender, follow the lotion with—

Seely's After-Shave Cream

It replaces the natural oil of the skin which has been taken out by soap preparations.

Both Lotion and Cream have the same delicate perfume—use them once and you will always use them.

Used universally by gentlemen. For sale at all drug-stores. Lotion 35 cents and 50 cents; Cream 50 cents; Talcum 50 cents.

SEELY, PERFUMER

Windsor, Ont. Detroit, Mich.

Y. M. C. A. Intermediate League.

The Y. M. C. A. Intermediate Bowling League got off to a good start last night when Nelson's team won from Irwin's.

On account of the time limit this league is playing two strings, high score to count, so that they may get into the further gymnasium activities in time.

Nelson Team—

Total.	Avg.
Nelson	87
Jordan	78
Sommerville	78
Cheesman	112

Irwin Team—

Total.	Avg.
Seely	90
McGowan	83
Urquhart	76
Irwin	69

Next Tuesday's game is between Kerr and Logan, at 7 o'clock.

Commercial League.

The Atlantic Sugar Refinery Team took four points from the Imperial Optical Company in the Commercial League game on Black's alleys last night.

Married Men Won.

On the bowling alleys of the Great War Veterans' Association, last evening, the married men of McAvity's King street store, put it all over the single men of the same establishment. Previous to the match the men who have not yet seen their way clear to join the ranks of the Benedicts are said to have been offered all kinds of odds that they could trim the "old tired married men" but, as the game progressed and more fully when it was ended it was shown that the young bloods were no match for the older chaps. The married "boys" took all four points.

Friendly Match.

Two teams from the Bedford Construction Company rolled a game last night and B. Allan's team met defeat. Through the able generalship of P. McKenzie, this was accomplished.

C. P. Linton was the star of the evening. Total—Mud Dogs, 1,110; Harbor Hogs, 1,120.

City League.

In the City league game last night on Black's alleys the Cubs took three points from McAvity's Specials.

Cubs—	Total.	Avg.
Farnham	90	96
Angel	81	90
Leaman	115	81
Stevens	99	85
Hanlon	73	94

McAvity's Specials—

Total.	Avg.
Ramsay	80
Marshall	80
Cheesman	104
Foohay	76
Forshaw	79

McAvity League.

Team No. 7 took four points in the game in McAvity's league on the Victoria alleys last night.

Team No. 7—	Total.	Avg.
Myers	85	79
Markham	73	86
Knox	79	81
Letting	69	86
Treat	93	91

Archie Walsh vs. Stars.

Archie Walsh, a former St. John boy, now living in Boston, is matched against Paul Poehler, Boston; Peter Price, Portland, and James Whalen, Cambridge, for the bowling championship of New England. The first game will be held in the New Boston alleys on Monday night and will be followed by games at Portland, Quincy and Dorchester.

THE RING.

Gibbons Was There.

Calgary, Nov. 28.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, in his fifteen-round battle with Mickey King, of Australia, in the headliner of the Calgary boxing commission all-star fight card at the Victoria Park Arena last night, displayed everything that has gone to make him the wonder of the world and incidentally gave Calgary its rarest exhibition of boxing and ring work.

The bout was decisive on points for the champion. Gibbons' superiority was quite evident in every one of the fifteen rounds.

Chip Wins.

New Orleans, Nov. 28.—George Chip of Newcastle, Pa., scored a technical knockout in the tenth round when Martin Burke of New York quit in a scheduled fifteen-round light-heavyweight boxing bout here tonight. Burke said a small bone in his chest was broken in the bout. Odds were two to one on Burke.

Boxing Club for Amherst.

Amherst News: There is some talk of a regular boxing club and gymnasium being formed in Amherst this winter, and if the plan goes through Jerry Welsh, a local lightweight, will be asked to act as instructor. Jerry is an ideal man for such a position, being a clean living boy, a thorough gentleman and a good sport.

Speaking about Welsh, we would dearly love to see him in condition and go up against Jones in Halifax—with an impartial third man in the ring.

ATHLETIC

Weekly Events.

The boys showed fine form in the intermediate weekly athletic events, and it looks very promising for a strong indoor track team by the time the National Hexathlon contest comes off in February. The intermediates and seniors will combine to make a strong bid for honors in the Maritime Provinces for this annual contest. Any of the athletes who have not been turning out are asked to do so at once. Plans are also under way for dual indoor meets with the Y. M. C. I. who are also organizing a team.

In the intermediate quarter-mile run the boys all ran in good time, very few yards separating the leading ten men.

First place went to Cheesman who did 67 seconds with 5 yards handicap. Winchester and Seely finished right on his heels with MacKay, Urquhart and Irwin all well up.

Malcolm proved the best in the 12 lb. shot, when he made the good put of 37 ft. 5 inches. Seely was just a foot behind with Urquhart, Kerr, Logan and Waddington all close behind.

Results:

440 yards—1st, Cheesman, 67 4-5 sec.; 2nd, Winchester, 68 1-5 sec.; 3rd, Seely; 4th, MacKay.

Shot put (12 lbs.)—1st, Malcolm, 37 ft. 5 in.; 2nd, Seely, 36 ft. 4 in.; 3rd, Urquhart; 4th, Kerr.

Junior Employed Boys.

Several of the boys showed good form in their jumping when they competed in the standing hop, step and jump in the Y. M. C. A., yesterday. The results were:

Senior Athletics.

Good results were shown in the Friday night handicap athletic events at the Y. M. C. A. In the sixty yard potato race Morton showed the fast form, doing the three laps in sixteen seconds, closely followed by Lawrence.

The twelve pound shot put went to L. Marshall, who heaved the lead thirty-three feet one inch, with Morton and Gillen close behind. Results: Sixty yard potato race—1st, H. Morton (scratch); 2nd, P. Lawrence, three yards; 3rd, A. B. Copp, three yards; 4th, Gillen, three yards, 16 in. Time, sixteen seconds. Shot put, twelve pounds—1st, L. F. Marshall, 32 ft. H. Morton, 3rd, A. Gillen; distance thirty-three feet one inch.

BASKETBALL.

Three Good Games.

Three good games were played yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. High School class basketball.

First game: Cambridge won from McGill by 7 to 6. The teams lined up as follows—Cambridge: Pattison (capt.), Tansley, Potter, Taylor, Fowler, Johnson, McGill; Robinson (capt.).

(6); Ellison, Wilson, MacMurray, Fritz. Second game: Yale nosed out a win from Cornell by 6 to 5. The teams were: Yale, Robertson (capt.), (6); Ryder, Oldford, Conley, Jones, Cornell; Thomas (capt.), (5); Brennan, Hunt, Res, J. Wilson.

Third game—Oxford won handily from Harvard by 8 to 4. The teams were: Oxford, Curran (capt.), (6); Holmes, Conley, Holder, Nice, Harvard; Jones (capt.), (4); Hayes, Hart, Field, Anderson.

Moncton, 26; Mount A., 19.

Sackville, N. B., Nov. 28.—An exciting game of basketball was played here last evening between the Success Business College of Moncton and Mount Allison University, when the local team was defeated by a score of 20 to 19. The visitors played a very fast game and their team work was excellent. Although Mount Allison led at the end of the first half with a score of 14 to 11, the visitors' endurance and team play shined in the second period when they rolled up the remaining fifteen points.

A Fast Game.

A fast game of basketball was played last evening in the Y. M. C. A. house league in connection with the seniors' social evening, when Copp's five won from Thorne's, 28 to 14.

FOOTBALL.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

(New Freeman.)
The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. Nugent, of St. Martins, N. B., will join in the chorus of congratulations which will be extended to them tomorrow, when they reach the fifty-fourth anniversary of their married life. Despite the advance of the years, both the aged bride and bridegroom are in good health.

On Nov. 30, 1865, Patrick H. Nugent, of St. Martins, was married in St. John to Miss Jane Smith, of Upper Loch Lomond. At the time of his marriage, and for years after, Mr. Nugent was engaged in farming and lumbering at and near St. Martins, and he is the owner of valuable property in that district. Later A. F. Bentley, but he yet resides at St. Martins, which always was his home.

Of a large family reared by Mr. and Mrs. Nugent there are yet surviving: Thomas and Alyward, residing at home; Mrs. Martin Dolan, Haymarket square; George E. Nugent, 122 Waterloo street; J. B. Nugent, Moncton; Mrs. C. J.

Haines, Boston; Charles P. Nugent, Station Agent at Hampton, N. B.; Miss Katherine, living at home, and Miss Nan, living at Portsmouth, N. H.

The passing years find both Mr. and Mrs. Nugent in good health and throughout a large extent of territory in southern New Brunswick there will be a chorus of congratulations and best wishes that they may be spared for many more years.

Miss Pansy Prettin, who affects precision of speech, refers to the Balkans as "the Balkings." And maybe she's right at that.—Washington Star.

FREE YOURSELF OF RUPTURE

Without Pain, Operation or Loss of Time

FOR the benefit of our readers we take pleasure in publishing the Brooks offer to save all who are ruptured from wearing painful makeshift trusses that do not cure

The Brooks Appliance Co. gladly sends their remarkable patented Appliance ON TRIAL to prove that it holds the rupture back, keeps it in place, prevents it coming down or slipping out and finally assists Nature to heal up the rupture.

No man or woman ever can look and feel his or her best while suffering the torment, pain and discomfort of rupture.

Every day that you suffer from rupture—every hour of truss torture that you endure—after you read this page is your own fault.

For many years we have been telling you that no makeshift truss will ever help you. We have told you about the harm ill-fitting trusses are doing. We have told you that the only truly comfortable, sanitary and scientific device for holding rupture is the Brooks Rupture Appliance.

Now we offer to prove it to you, entirely at our risk. We will send you a Brooks Rupture Appliance on trial. If you really want to be rid of your rupture fill out the coupon below and mail it today.

Instead of wearing a steel spring or inflexible harness, try the velvet-soft Brooks Appliance.

Instead of the old hard or stuffed pad, use the soft rubber automatic air-cushion of a Brooks Appliance.

The Brooks Appliance clings to you without force and you are hardly conscious of its presence. But above all else, it HOLDS always.

Within an hour after you receive the Brooks Appliance, if you take advantage of this remarkable trial offer, you will throw away your truss forever.

Over 685,000 People Have Accepted This Offer. Why Not You?

Doesn't that prove that the Brooks Appliance is not an experiment but a positive success—that it does all we claim for it? Among these 685,000 men, women and children there must be hundreds whose condition was identical with yours. Can you afford not to investigate and satisfy yourself when it costs you nothing to prove what the Brooks Appliance will do for you?

This wonderful device is a triumph of scientific and mechanical genius, the outcome of more than 30 years' experience and the results accomplished by its use are little short of miraculous.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks cured himself of rupture over 30 years ago and patented the Appliance from his personal experience. If ruptured, write TODAY to the Brooks Appliance Company, Marshall, Michigan.

Many hundreds of physicians and surgeons commend the Brooks Appliance and condemn makeshift trusses as more harmful and dangerous than any other method of retaining and treating rupture. Thousands of people have written us testifying to the amazing results they have secured from this great invention. Many of these people live right in your vicinity and we will be glad to send you copies of their thankful letters if you will ask for them when you write.

Men, Women and Children Find the Brooks Appliance Equally Effective.

No matter if your rupture is old and severe or only recently developed, no matter if you are young or old, you should not fail to profit by this No-Risk Trial Offer.

No other rupture support, truss, lock, device, pad or plaster is offered to the public under so broad a guarantee of satisfaction.

If for any reason whatever you do not wish to keep the Brooks Appliance after you try it, send it back. You don't have to give any reason. You are to be the sole judge. There will be no argument, no dispute or misunderstanding.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Accept This Offer.

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance embodying the principles that inventors have sought after for years.
2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.
3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.
4. Unlike ordinary so-called pads, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.
5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.
6. The soft, pliable bands do not give the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.
7. Nothing to get foul; it can be washed without any injury.
8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.
9. All materials are the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.
10. Our reputation is so thoroughly established and our prices so reasonable, our terms so fair, that you should not hesitate to send the free coupon today.
