BRICK PLANT AND PLASTER WORKS

Outlook For a Boom at Oxford, N. S., and Vicinity

FRENCH CAPITAL IN IT

Options Taken on Large Areas and Million Dollar Company Under Way to Make 100,000 Bricks and 3,000 Barrels Plaster Daily

(Special to Times)

Amherst, N. S., Dec. 9.—Oto C. Bunch, a well known real estate man and broker, who has been carrying on extensive operations in real estate and other enterprises in Amherst during the last two years, has lately been successful in interesting French capital in the development of extensive brick and plaster areas in the vicinity of Oxford and Oxford Junction. The project, in fact, has been fairly launched. One of the principal banks in Paris has signed an agreement to underwrite the stock and has put up a large cash deposit as evidence of good faith. The company will have a paid up capital of $1,000,000. Mr. Bunch has already secured options on Downing & Co's properties on the River Phillip, including valuable water power which will be utilized in operating the brick and plaster plants and has also secured options on 120 acres of valuable plaster areas near Oxford and also 100 acres of clay beds at or near Oxford Junction. John S. Caldwell, engineer, with headquarters in Amherst, was employed to make a survey of the property and a report on its value as plaster and clay producing properties. His report was so favorable that Mr. Bunch had but little trouble in closing the agreement with the French capitalists. It is the intention to build a large concrete dam on the River Phillip and install a water power plant capable of producing 2000 horse power. The plant, which will be equipped with all modern English machinery, will have a capacity of 100,000 bricks a day and the plaster mills are expected to turn out 3,000 barrels of plaster daily. A charter for the company will be applied for at once and a strong board of Canadian directors will be appointed. It is said that it is the intention of the company to build a large building operation as soon as the weather will permit in the early spring. It looks as if in the near future there would be a big boom ahead for Oxford.

SHAREHOLDERS OF BANK RATIFY SALE

Bank of New Brunswick Vote Was Unanimous—Nearly All Shares Represented at Meeting to Deal With Sale to Bank of Nova Scotia

(Special to Times)

The sale of the Bank of New Brunswick to the Bank of Nova Scotia was authorized this morning by the shareholders at the special meeting called to consider the proposition. The terms of the agreement for the sale which had been approved by the directors and which have been published already, were adopted without change. The meeting was held this morning at eleven o'clock in the offices of the bank in Prince William street. James Manchester, president of the bank, was elected chairman of the meeting and W. E. Foster was selected as secretary, and the meeting proceeded to the business for which it was called. A. P. Barnhill, K. C., solicitor for the bank, read the agreement made by the directors with the Bank of Nova Scotia, and this was presented to the meeting for consideration. After approving the agreement and authorizing the directors to complete the transfer of the bank was moved by Dr. W. W. White, and seconded by W. Malcolm Mackay. W. H. Thorne spoke in favor of the resolution, expressing the regret felt by the directors and shareholders that such a course should be found advisable, but urging its acceptance on account of the situation in the financial world, which had made it more difficult for the smaller banks to compete with the larger, Joseph A. Lalley also spoke in favor of the sale. The vote of the shareholders was then taken, and when the ballots had been counted it was announced that 8,000 shares out of a total of 10,000 had been voted, and that the votes were all in favor of the amalgamation, without exception. The transfer will take place as soon as the agreement is ratified by the dominion government, and it is possible that this may be received before the end of the year. Since the terms of the agreement were announced, there was some talk of opposition by some of the shareholders, but the plans they had in view were not carried out, and it has been understood for some time that there would be little, if any, opposition. The date fixed for the actual transfer to be made, if possible, was February 1. Under the terms of the agreement the shareholders of the Bank of New Brunswick will receive one share of the Bank of Nova Scotia stock for each share of the local institution, and the Bank of Nova Scotia also pays a cash bonus of $10,000, the equivalent of $10 a share which also goes to the stockholders. Provision is made for continued employment for the members of the staff of the Bank of New Brunswick, and the retention of their standing on the pension lists. Owing to the duplication of the offices here, however, it is regarded as evident that it will be necessary to transfer a large number of the employees to other places to find openings for them all. It is understood that the head office of the amalgamated banks for their chief office of operation and that the branch offices of the Bank of New Brunswick around the city will also be used. A meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who was in St. John last week, left on Saturday to be present at the meeting. W. P. Hunt, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Montreal, also passed through the city on Saturday in his way to Halifax.

Nervy Robber Gets $308 Besides Diamond Ring and Watches—The Car Conductor Has to Contribute $30 to the Booty

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 9.—A train held up that for boldness has never been equaled in Vancouver, was perpetrated on Saturday night. Just as the C. P. R. Imperial Limited transcontinental passenger train leaving Vancouver at 7:40 p.m. was passing out of the city, a single bandit, disguised by a black mask and a hood, entered a pullman car and, at the point of a revolver, forced the passengers in the pullman to pass over their money and valuables. The man dropped out of the train just before it arrived at Arnet, which is six miles from the city. The total loss was $308 in bills, two watches and one chain, one diamond ring and two English sovereigns, amounting to about $10. The sleeping car conductor contributed $30 of the $308.

FIGHTING STILL AROUND SCUTARI

Governor Refused to Accept Notification of the Armistice

(Special to Times)

London, Dec. 9.—Owing to the refusal of the governor of Scutari to accept notification of the armistice, communicated through the German minister, hostilities continued, according to a Cetinje despatch to the Times. It is considered probable that the government's refusal meets the wishes of the Montenegrin government, which hopes, thereby, to obtain Scutari by force of arms. A despatch to the Times from Saloniki says that the condition of the refugees there is becoming worse each day. Thousands are without shelter and that small-fox and other maladies are widespread. Vienna, Dec. 9.—The fate of Jules Constantin, a French aviator in the Bulgarian service, is described in a despatch just received. He started on a flight over the Thracian lines to drop bombs on the Turkish troops. His biplane disappeared rapidly, and some hours later was seen to descend near the Bulgarian camp. The aviator was found lying on the ground dead with a wound in his chest. The wings of the biplane had also been pierced by bullets. He had photographed the Turkish lines and evidently had been shot, but had strength to guide the machine back before he expired.

One's False Tresses Should Be Cared For

NOWADAYS, black and alas! it is the exceptional woman who has an abundance of hair. As a natural consequence the maiden with insufficient tresses flies to a hair shop and empties her pocketbook in a vain attempt to buy out the store.

Having secured an abundance of false locks, she proceeds to treat them to a course of neglect, thereby becoming the owner of dusty, frothy tresses that discredit her wherever she goes.

Wear false hair, of course, if you cannot induce your own hair to multiply, but be careful of it. Since it cost you a pretty penny, it is only common sense to take such care of it that it will have a long life. If you do not know the proper way of caring for your artificial crown of glory, I will take it upon me to tell you what I have learned on this subject.

First, it is imperative that the hair should be kept absolutely free from dust. Before turning out the lights at night, take your false hair pieces and after combing out the tangles, proceed to brush the hair until all dust has disappeared. This is not all. Instead of throwing your puff or brush carelessly down on the dresser to collect dust while you sweetly slumber, put the various pieces of hair away in an airtight box. This is a frowzy, dull coiffure kept at bay.

Here is another pointer. False hair never looks so glossy as real hair, so the modern maid must treat her bought hair to a going over with brilliantine. A few drops of this perfumed oil will do wonders for lifeless tresses, giving them a brilliant finish.

Never make the mistake of washing false hair, pretty maid, as this way lies disaster. I know not why it is, but when artificial tresses are dampened with water it seems to be the signal for them to do all sorts of contemptible things, such as forming into a thousand tangles, fading and so forth and so on. Substitute the dry shampoo for the usual cleaning with soap and water and all will be well. This is my advice to you.

of cases became so before they are four-teen.

The problem is not to deal with jail birds, but with the boys, and it was the duty of the Every Day Club more than ever to place the emphasis on this kind of work.

Mr. Kelley said that as a result of improvement at Courtenay Bay might be necessary to give up the Municipal Home. If so, he believed it would be wise to take the asylum farm and enough other property to gather together all the delinquent population of the province, all the insane, the feeble minded, the vagrants and all those who had fallen in the struggle of life and gather them into one community, the various municipalities working together in the matter. He would have there also an industrial school for boys and girls.

Mr. Kelley told of one woman who had lost one child in this city all of whose members had been at various times a burden on the community. If such people are allowed to reproduce their kind they lower the standard of civilization and increase the cost of government. It is not true that the saloons fill all the jails, porches and cellars. They do enough, but if proper care had been taken in the majority of cases of the inmates they might have had a different ending. The season was incidentally a remark by the president that their work was developing more and more in the direction of the boys. "Too much time is spent on the booze artist and not enough on the boys, to save them from taking the place of the old sinner."

Mr. Kelley paid a tribute to Ben Lindsey, who showed that the problem was not to take calabash exercise when finally it was discovered that he had a weak back. Another case was cited where had teeth in a boy that he was going wrong until the cause was discovered and remedied. Mr. Kelley said that if a child is brought up on the whole machinery of the law, protect it, but there is no protection for the child without a penny.

A more effective means was also needed. The present trustee office did good work, but it was obvious in a city as large as St. John. And the speaker was sure that the boys and girls received the most sympathetic cooperation from the judiciary. The speaker also de-claimed those who were arrested by teachers, who frightened nervous children, and was also accountable for some truancy. It is not hard to handle boys and girls if presented in an attractive way, and the teacher's mind travels as fast as that of the pupil. Not sending boys into the cells at the police station improve them. Turnkey Clifford says that forty- eight hours in jail will convert a mischievous boy into a criminal, and leave an impression it would take a lifetime to remove.

The Children's Aid Society act would go far to ensure proper care for the delinquent boy, was also needed. Mr. Kelley explained the working of the act, and said it was the people's duty to press for it. It would cost about $4,000 a year to carry out the provisions.

A juvenile court, to be a big factor to the delinquent boy, was also needed—a court that would command the sympathy of juveniles and influence them for good. Only 25 in the 100 of boys arrested are incorrigibly bad, and they should be separated and cared for, but not in a jail. The booze artist should also be made to work on a farm, where he would produce more than he would eat and wear, and such a farm as a social and as a financial venture would pay.

In conclusion, Mr. Kelley said he was proud of two things he did while in the city council. One was to clean out Blood Alley, and the other to make it possible for boys to coast on certain streets without fear of seizure of their sleds.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Kirby sang The Lost Chord with much feeling and expression.

At the next meeting in the afternoon, Walter Brindle delivered an inspiring address on the subject "What is a Man?"

PREPARE FOR NEXT BIG SHRINERS' MEET, IN MAY

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 7.—A city of patrol bands, with a population of more than 4,000, perfect from a sanitary standpoint and provided with every modern convenience known, will be one of the features of the meeting of the Imperial Council, Order of the Mystic Shrine, next May. It will be a tent city, a big encampment conducted on the high standard of efficiency maintained in the United States army. The war department has been asked to provide tents sufficient to accommodate 5,000 men. United States Senator C. A. Culberson has this matter now up with the department. As the parks and bands are among the best drilled bodies of men in America and to be depended on in time of war, there will be no difficulty, it is believed, in securing this loan of tents from the government.

No more after place than the park of the state fair of Texas could be found for encampment purposes. With splendid buildings, the best of sanitary equipment and a park that is unequalled for beauty in the southwest, Fair Park promises to be a favorite for all visitors during Shrine week.

A grandstand of steel and ornamental cement stone, erected at a cost of $65,000, faces superb drill grounds. Nearby is the new restaurant building erected last year.

EVERY DAY CLUB WORK IS ALONG THE RIGHT LINES

County Secretary Kelley Gives Able Address—More Time for The Good of the Boys

"The Every Day Club is on the right track," said J. King Kelley, K. "Too much time is spent on the booze artist and not enough on the boys, to save them from taking the place of the old sinner."

Mr. Kelley paid a tribute to Ben Lindsey, who showed that the problem was not to take calabash exercise when finally it was discovered that he had a weak back. Not sending boys into the cells at the police station improve them. Turnkey Clifford says that forty- eight hours in jail will convert a mischievous boy into a criminal, and leave an impression it would take a lifetime to remove.

The Children's Aid Society act would go far to ensure proper care for the delinquent boy, was also needed. Mr. Kelley explained the working of the act, and said it was the people's duty to press for it. It would cost about $4,000 a year to carry out the provisions.

A juvenile court, to be a big factor to the delinquent boy, was also needed—a court that would command the sympathy of juveniles and influence them for good. Only 25 in the 100 of boys arrested are incorrigibly bad, and they should be separated and cared for, but not in a jail. The booze artist should also be made to work on a farm, where he would produce more than he would eat and wear, and such a farm as a social and as a financial venture would pay.

In conclusion, Mr. Kelley said he was proud of two things he did while in the city council. One was to clean out Blood Alley, and the other to make it possible for boys to coast on certain streets without fear of seizure of their sleds.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Kirby sang The Lost Chord with much feeling and expression.

At the next meeting in the afternoon, Walter Brindle delivered an inspiring address on the subject "What is a Man?"

CANON GOULD IN ADDRESS AT WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

Canon Gould of St. George's Cathedral Jerusalem, addressed the Women's Canadian Club on Saturday afternoon, his subject being "The Turk as I Have Known Him." Canon Gould gave a graphic description of the Turk and some of his idiosyncrasies. There had been an improvement since the Young Turk party assumed charge, but there was still much room for improvement. He maintained that there could be no lasting reform in Turkey as long as the Mohammedan religion held sway.

Before the lecture, the educational committee reported that arrangements had been made to continue the lectures in the assembly halls of Centennial and Aberdeen schools. The committee will also lay before the board of trustees a plan to engage a professional teacher to instruct the pupils in singing.

After the lecture tea was served by the tea committee under the direction of Mrs. John Ballock.

The new members voted to membership on Saturday afternoon were: Mrs. R. D. Taylor, Mrs. E. C. Warlock, Mrs. H. C. Davidson, Mrs. Daniel Walker, Miss Christine Crawford, Mrs. M. E. Fletcher, Mrs. W. The New Christmas Versus The Old

By J. R. HAMILTON
 Former Advertising Manager Wanamaker's, Philadelphia

YOU PROBABLY remember the story of the man who prayed, "Dear Santa Claus, if you send me another of those confounded green neckties this Christmas I'm going to punch your head, Amen!"

That man's prayer characterized the spirit of the new Christmas. The day of gaw-gaws, of useless trickeries, and valueless trumperies is gone.

The spirit of Christmas is no less ideal simply because the intrinsic value of its gifts has become more real. There is a whole lot more sentiment in a good warm Winter Overcoat or a nice rich set of Furs than in many of those silly, useless gifts with which we used to clutter our closets the following day.

Of course with the children there is nothing that quite takes the place of bright red paint with plenty of sound inside. But even with the little ones, warm Gloves and snug little reefers and dainty dresses are certainly not to be scorned.

No; Christmas is certainly not less ideal because it has become more real.

You will find the spirit of this new Christmas reflected here in the advertising of this paper. You will find merchandise advertised here as gifts, which no merchant would have thought of offering ten years ago. This does not mean that jewelry and bon-bons and gloves have been relegated to second place, but it does mean that nice clothes and furniture and rugs and other necessities that are also attractive as luxuries, have finally come into their own.

The advertising in this paper will help you wonderfully in making up your Christmas list. Use it to the fullest extent. It may save you many hours of time and a great deal of worry.

Of course you are in the midst of your Christmas shopping now. Most people are ashamed of allowing their Christmas shopping to go until the last moment, because most of us are becoming less inclined each year to help a last hour's inhuman burden on those who serve us.

You see the spirit of Christmas is not waning. It was never so bright as it is this year, because it was never so thoroughly wholesome and sane.

ARISTOTELIC DELEGATE ON HIS FIRST VISIT HERE

ARRIVAL OF THE PAPAL DELEGATE

The Montreal train with the papal delegate and other church dignitaries, arrived in the city about half past one o'clock, being one hour and a half late. They were escorted to the Bishop's Palace, where Monsignor Stagni and the others robed and proceeded to the cathedral. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion, the altar being handsomely illuminated, and decorated with yellow and white in the sanctuary the presentation of the address took place. Long before their arrival the church was crowded to the doors.

The following address was read by Rev. A. J. O'Neill of Silver Falls:—

The Most Reverend Peregrine Francis Stagni, O. S. M. D., Archbishop of Aquila, Apostolic Delegate to Canada and Newfoundland. May I please Your Excellency:—The clergy and laity of the Diocese of St. John desire to extend to you their heartfelt greetings, and to bid you welcome on this, the occasion of your first visit to this city. At the time of your appointment to one of the most important positions now held, we were pleased to know that the Holy Father had shown such a hearty and distinguished ecclesiastical interest in this Dominion. Fully conscious that the interests of the Canadian church are dear to the heart of the Sovereign Pontiff, we cannot express the joy that animates us in the presence of Your Excellency knowing that you are his ambassador, and the special messenger of his love and good will. Our joy in meeting you is more enhanced when we consider you have come to consecrate the bishop to whose care the Supreme Pastoral of Canada has entrusted this portion of his flock. Need we say we are deeply grateful for your kind words, and to bid you welcome on this, your second visit to the maritime provinces within a short time. On a very recent occasion you came to Antigonish to impose hands on the esteemed prelate who now presides over this See.

We can assure Your Excellency that the Holy Father has no more loyal or devoted children than the faithful of this diocese. It has ever been our firm belief that the Holy Father made Peter the visible Head of the Church. He conferred upon him a primary not merely of honor but of power, which did not expire with the death of the apostle but has continued in the Roman Pontiff to the present day even as it shall last to the end of ages. Wherefore, we honor Pius X with a loving faith and respectful reverence, with an open and joyful allegiance because he is the Vicar of our Lord; and we regard Your Excellency with profound respect because you are his representative, and because you bring us into closer and more intimate relations with him. Nine years of his pontificate have given us an opportunity of acquiring an increasing admiration for the character of our Pope, and his love for his subjects as a great Pope, one who has left his mark on the Church and the world. We are faithful to the Holy Father, who has given us the love of all hearts by his benign and generous pontificate. It is a happy coincidence that we should have in the ruler who presides over the Church the most illustrious pontiff of our temporal allegiance as His Gracious Majesty, George the Fifth, who is recognized as our Christian monarch, and whose reign will bear his Catholic subjects. It gives us pleasure to affirm that the spirit of loyalty we owe the Pope and the king, in any way from the loyalty we owe our king. In fact we believe that loyalty to our church and to the king, which we owe to the state, that the more devoted we are to God, to religion, and to the duties of our office, the more we are to the true form of government under which we live. The true Catholic knows how to render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's.

We ask your Excellency kindly to convey to His Holiness the assurance of our devotion, with the promise of our prayers that God may prolong his reign and render happy the days of his pontificate. We trust that the Almighty may strengthen him in his trials and give him that heroic and courage that are necessary to sustain him in the responsibilities of his office. Your Excellency's visit on this occasion will always remain with us as a pleasant memory, and we hope that, when opportunity permits, you will find it convenient to return to St. John where we assure you at all times of a cordial welcome.

The Delegate's Reply

In replying to the address His Excellency spoke of the loyalty breathed forth to him from the clergy and laity of the diocese of St. John, the devotion expressed towards the Holy See, which was most inspiring. In his own name and the name of the Holy Father he thanked the faithful for their hearty reception, and assured them that the Holy Father would know of it in due time. 'Tomorrow,' by the laying of hands by the bishops upon the head of the newcomers amongst you, in the midst of the prayers of the congregation and the invocation of the Blessed Mother and the saints that priest, till now obscure, unknown even amongst these of this diocese, will receive the fulness of the High Priest of Christ, will become the representative of our Lord Himself. He will be in the St. John diocese as the witness of the revealed truth, yet not only the witness but the authorized teacher of truth, the defender of it, the head of all spiritual blessings from Christ. 'We cannot think of the new bishop amongst you without giving a thought to him who has departed, who has made an admirable sacrifice at the command of the Holy See, your former bishop who has labored industriously and meritoriously in this field and whose merits have been appreciated until he has been created to an even greater sphere, where he will continue to minister to the faithful. He will continue in new surroundings the ministrations that he has undertaken upon his consecration and your thoughts, prayers and sympathies must naturally turn to him. It was a great sacrifice for him to leave St. John. May he be able to fulfill his duties imposed by the voice of Peter at the head of the Holy See which induces him to take up this new burden, to accept this heavier cross. 'We now prelate the faithful homage inaugurated when you tendered him so loyal a reception on his coming, of which we have heard. It is beautiful to witness this great spectacle today; here an I, a perfect stranger among you, yet my mission bids me welcome, and say con-

MORE HOUSES NEEDED

A correspondent of the Times has called attention to the fact that more houses are needed in St. John. The need will grow steadily for years to come. The year just past has been a very busy one, but next year will be much more busy. New industries are being added, and that will mean increase of population. Quite a number of new houses have been built on the west side, the north end and the east side this year, and there can be no doubt at all that every one of them which has been built for rental purposes will prove a good investment. It is said to be the rule that new houses which are properly constructed are engaged for rent before they are completed. The extension of the street railway to East St. John will encourage people to move into that suburb. The completion of the bridge across the falls will open the whole west side to street car connection and will result in an increased demand for new homes in that quarter, and the demand will be the greater because of industrial growth in that direction. There is every reason to believe that next year will see the biggest building year in the history of the city since the period just after the great fire. Aside from new houses there will be the post office, sugar refinery, grain elevator, the Courtenay Bay works, and other heavy construction work of a public character. From present indications there will be a pressing need for homes for new citizens, and this is a matter which should receive the attention of men of capital who are interested in the growth and prosperity of the city.

CO-ORDINATE THE FORCES

The most important movement in connection with social and moral reform in recent years is the effort to co-ordinate the forces working for social betterment. As yet too little attention has been paid to such united efforts in most of our cities, and especially in St. John. From week to week numerous churches and other organizations discuss the same problems, and in the main they agree that certain reforms are needed, and that action should be taken by the community in various directions. So long, however, as no organized effort is made to secure this action the various bodies may go on talking, and passing resolutions till the end of time, without producing the desired effect. We have not yet got far enough away from the condition of society where each organization felt that it had a little more of the truth than any other, and therefore ought not to become too familiar with the others. We are, however, approaching a time when barriers will be broken down and the common interests of all will draw the people more closely together. It is possible for people to disagree in some matters and to be at entire agreement in others. Disagreement does not necessarily involve prejudice or bitterness. The extremist in any cause may have his use, and may convince himself that his attitude is always justified, but as a matter of fact there are times when it would be much better for the cause which he advocates if he would agree to journey a portion of the way in which he desires to go in company with those who are not yet ready to go all the way. The most effective work for social welfare that is being done in the world today is being done by those who, taking conditions as they find them, co-ordinate the forces which are available and secure step by step the changes that are necessary to improve those conditions.

A RAP FOR MR. WHITE

The Canadian Courier has fallen upon the Minister of Finance with a stout club. It appears that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, referring to the duty on cement, read three letters written to the Courier by a cement manufacturer. Hon. Mr. White in his reply characterized the Courier as "an obscure journal," and said that the letter was an anonymous communication. The Courier declares that if Mr. White does not know who wrote the letters he has lost his cunning, for they were written by an Ontario manufacturer of cement and were not anonymous, and the originals are in Mr. Borden's office. "The Minister of Finance was bluffing," says the Courier, and it charges him with a gross breach of etiquette towards Mr. Borden, who spoke before him and took care not to call the letters anonymous. The Courier is further able to rub it into Mr. White by quoting the following paragraph from the Toronto Telegram: "Assuredly Hon. W. T. White's description weekly is the most thrilling and impressive rebuke that has been addressed to an Anglo-Saxon publication since R. C. Lowry, of the New Denver Ledger, alluded to the London Times as 'That Sheet.'"

HON. MR. PELLETIER'S TACT

In a delightful bit of satire the Montreal Witness holds the mirror up to Mr. Borden's valued colleague, the Hon. L. P. Pelletier, who, having climbed into office with the aid of the Nationalist stool now coolly kicks it aside. This article is worth quoting in full. The Witness says:—"The toughest task a party paper, or a sharer of party bedfellowship, has to do is to stand up for partisans when common sense condemns them. Mr. Pelletier is praised not for his virtues or consistency, but for the remarkable tact with which he managed his about-face at a banquet at the Kent house on a recent evening, which banquet is declared to have been a great success. The Postmaster-General's tact certainly showed itself in a very striking light. For one thing he seems to have avoided remarking on the fact that he had been elected under the no navy banner, and now appeared under that of imperial loyalty. That was tact indeed. He left this tergiversation under a learned ethical disquisition as to how people of different views had at times to form alliances for the gaining of a certain point, and that point gained, had to part company. The greatest and the best of statesmen had done that. This was a very tactful way of saying that though he had been elected as a Nationalist, he had been an anti-Nationalist all along, and had simply wrapped the Bourassa banner around him to get through the storm to the seats of the mighty, and when there had no more use for it. It was also a fine tact which prevented him from appearing in public until after the Order of the Merit when the Nationalist party met its extinction. The principle theme of his tactful speech was an ethical essay on the despotism of friendship. It seems that a doughty champion of the days of his alliance had approached him at Ottawa and demanded the fulfillment of the conditions on which he had been elected and of the promises made for him then by his god-fathers, if not straight out by himself. This was in his view the very despotism of friendship. So shocking was it to Mr. Pelletier that he held himself absolved by it from the confidence in which this godfather—presumably Mr. Armand Lavergne—had admitted to him that adherence to the conditions he was insisting on might mean civil war. This civil war remark Mr. Pelletier flourished as Sergeant Buzard did Mrs. Bardell's warning, and using it as a tambourine, played his way off the stage under a glorifying play of electric lights from the wings. It was a masterpiece of tact."

YESTERDAY WAS SUNDAY

Yesterday was Sunday and there was snow on the sidewalks. Not much, but a little. What was the citizen to do? If he shovelled it off he incurred the penalty of Sabbath breaking; if he did not he violated a civic ordinance. And there you are. The Chatham World, learning that a young woman in Illinois has resigned her position as teacher in the public schools for the purpose of going as a missionary to Africa, asks—"Why should she go so far when Chicago is so near, and where there are more heathen to the square yard than there are in Africa to the twelve square miles?" Dr. Hagemann, a German expert on city planning, is coming to the United States early next spring to make town planning surveys and to lecture upon the subject. He is one of the leading German experts, and is secretary of the Committee for the Architectural Development of Greater Berlin. He comes to America under the auspices of The People's Institute, New York. Tourists and other visitors carry away varied impressions from these provinces. Some are delighted with the climate, some have about the scenery, some praise the fishing and the hunting. But here is a man who has viewed us from a different angle, and conveys his impressions to the New York Sun as follows: "Maine being a prohibition State, I 'never hear tell' of it, but for a beverage to dull the 'aidge' of care I present the claims of Campobello or St. Andrews 'rotgut'; three jags to the hint. And to lovers of outdoor sports I recommend the return from the other side of Passamaquoddy Bay in a dory at midnight with jug and crew all full, and a 'doo-easter kicking up.'"

PAYING HIM BACK

"You must have called me late this morning, Sylvia. It was twelve o'clock when I reached the office. And I had an important appointment for ten o'clock, too." "Why I called you at 7:30 John!" "Was the clock right?" "I set the clock last night when you came home. You remember I called downstairs when you came in and asked you what time it was, and you said it was 10:30. The clock in my room said 1:45, so I turned it back to agree with your watch, and, of course, I called you by the correct time this morning."

LIGHTER VEIN A COMPROMISE

"We hear much of compromise nowadays," said a politician recently, "and it is sometimes a good thing." He knew a young man who got married about a year ago, and he and his wife were constantly arguing as to whether they should buy two cycles or an up-to-date motor cycle. Meeting him one day he said—"My wife and I wrangled for months, but, thank goodness, we've compromised at last!" "What have you compromised on?" "A baby carriage," he proudly answered.

ANOTHER ONE

A story is told of a well-known divine who was visiting a prison, when he came across a prisoner whose features were familiar to him. "What brought you here, my poor fellow?" he asked. "You married me to a woman a little while ago, sir," the prisoner replied with a sigh. "Ah, I see," said the parson, "and she was dominating and extravagant, and she drove you to desperate courses, did she not?" "No," said the prisoner, "my old woman turned up."

NOT THE ONE

Julius Kahn, an American actor, used to tell the story of an experience in a hotel in California. The waitress neglected his order for breakfast so long that he was left with no appetite, and, calling a waitress who passed by his table, he said: "How long have you been here?" "Who, me?" she asked sweetly. "I've been here three weeks." "Then," said Kahn, "you're not the one who forgot my order. That one must have had before you came."

QUITE PUZZLING

Sir William Ramsay, an eminent scientist, was much interested recently in a query put by a boy to his little sister. "I wonder what we're here in the world for," he asked her. Sir William himself would have found the question a poser, so he waited with interest for the reply. "Oh!" replied the girl, "a little money, isn't it?" "This did not satisfy the boy. "Until," he said, "then what are the others here for?"

BEAUTY IN THE HOME

Strive to make your children's surroundings as tasteful and as attractive as possible. In these days a little money combined with good taste can work wonders. Always remember that your child will carry out into the world with him the atmosphere of his home. How important, then, to have the atmosphere cater to all that is best and noblest. It need not savour of luxury, but it must taste of refinement—a flavor so pungent it will permeate the entire life of a child for fear of accidents, but teach your child to observe and respect your property. He will soon learn to do both and in his own childish way will take as much pleasure and comradeship thus placed in his home which he fails to note—will be the first great stride towards his appreciation of "The House Beautiful!" he calls home.

A BETTER WAY.

"I've just learned a new charm to tell whether or not a man loves you, said the girl with the new hobble skirt. "What is it?" asked the girl with the new diamond ring. "Why, you take four or five apple seeds and name each of them after a particular man and place them—the apple seeds, I mean—on the stove and the first one that pops is the one that loves you." "Oh, named the girl with the new diamond ring. "I know a surer way than that!" "You do?" "Yes, indeed. You take one particular man and place him on the sofa in the parlor and sit close to him with the light a little low and look up to him very attentively and if he does not pop you know it's time to put another man on the sofa."

NEWS LETTER FROM GERMANY

Appointment of Dr. Van Hartman as Archbishop of Cologne

MILLIONS FOR OPERA

Another Grand Building in Berlin—Government Urged to Pass Another Defence Bill—Loss of Weight a Cause For Divorce

(Times' Special Correspondence)
Berlin, Nov. 26.—The election of Dr. Felix von Hartman, Bishop of Munster, to the Archbishopric of Cologne, which took place in Cologne recently, is accepted as the partial solution of a knotty problem in German politics, but it cannot be denied that it came somewhat as a surprise.

The surprise lies in the early date of the election, for few vacancies among the high dignitaries of the Catholic church in Germany have been filled so rapidly. Cardinal Fischer, the late archbishop, a famous leader in popular movements of the church in Western Germany, died only three months ago, and more often than not the nomination to such a vacancy does not follow within three or four months after the death of the incumbent. The new archbishop was born in 1831 at Munster. He studied several years in Rome. From 1859 till 1911 he was the principal assistant of the Bishop of Munster, to whom he succeeded only fifteen months ago.

When one thinks of the fifth struggle of Grand Opera for existence in other cities, one simply marvels at the statement that Berlin is now in possession of its third permanent opera establishment. The "Deutsches Oper" a classical new house, flung open its doors last Monday. It is the property of the Municipality of Charlottenburg's ambitious enterprise will prove commercially justifiable. Charlottenburg is famed among German cities as the residence of millionsaires. The city is well equipped to pay deficits, if the big new "plant" put on the Kaiser-Damm reveals a capacity for producing balances on the wrong side of the ledger. The Kaiser has to be kept supplied with his personal fortune to maintain the Royal Opera of Berlin, and no other operative enterprise in town has hitherto been a financial success.

The "New German Theatre Directory," which has just made its debut, furnishes interesting statistics about German theatre in opera and plays. Richard Wagner still holds the lead in the operative realm, with a total of 1,818 performances of his various works during the period under review. He is badly out-distanced in the field of operetta by Franz Lehár and Leo Fall, who scored 2,100 performances each. Johann Strauss follows with 1,579, and Signor Puccini with 850.

Herr Karl Schenker, whose religious drama, "Faith and Home," was made famous by the approbation of the Kaiser, is at the head of the playwrights with 1,623 performances of his pieces, closely pursued by Schiller with 1,584. Shakespeare—"our own," as the Germans call him—is still a potent box-office attraction, 1,042 of his plays having been produced. Hermann Sudermann scored a total of 991 and Oskar Blumenthal, a contemporary dramatist, 780. Goethe is able to boast of only 700 productions, which is the same record attained by the Hungarian, Miklosor Lengyel, author of the successful Japanese play, "Typhoon." Hauptmann, Ibsen and Kadelburg reached 600 performances each. Bjornson 486 and Frank Wedekind, dramatist of despair, drew royalties from 215 productions.

The Army and Navy
The campaign in Germany for fresh naval and military bills has been taken up by General Keim, the president of the Army League, who says that it is urgently necessary for Germany before the end of this year to pass another "defence bill" on the lines of the naval and military increases of last spring.

"Those who affirm that the most praiseworthy object is the maintenance of peace," he writes in the "Tägliche Rundschau," "cannot do anything more correct than to make the best preparations for war. The temptation to attack us cannot be effectively discouraged except by the strongest armaments on our part. This is the most proper and most important thing that Germany now has to do. The suppurative expressions of the 'best preparations' and the 'strongest

EXPLANATION OF GREAT CHANGE IN ST. JOHN

Healthy and Rapid Growth Bound to Be, Says Maritime Merchant

THE OPTIMISM OBSERVED HERE
When It Started and Why—Some of the Great Things Being Done—Halifax Editor, Who Looked Over Situation, Convinced That Reasons for Confidence Are Not Exaggerated.

(Maritime Merchant).
What is the explanation of the great change in feeling that has come over the citizens of St. John? On what do they base their optimism? On the fact that the city is assured of rapid expansion? We asked these questions many times during the past week, and the answers have been so marked that one cannot fail to be impressed. From the various answers given to our questions the reasons for confidence may thus be summed up:

The first boost was given when it was definitely settled that a new harbor would be created by the dominion government at Courtenay Bay, and the Grand Trunk Pacific purchased a large area as a site for terminals. Then came Norton Griffiths & Co., Ltd., not only to dredge and build breakwater and wharves and dry dock, but also to assert that Courtenay Bay was a most desirable site for a great steel plant. Then the Canadian Pacific Railway took a hand as a creator of optimism. It bought and improved property at the head of the harbor. It enlarged its facilities at West St. John. It began the erection of new million barrel elevator. It spent a large amount of money and announced a policy of continued yearly expenditure. It improved the Bay of Fundy service, doubling the summer steamship service between St. John and Digby. So much for the C. P.

Had Been Gleaming Home Rule Aid in Australia

REPORT FINE RECEPTION

A Letter From William Redmond - Wm. O'Brien Criticizes Lloyd George - Speeches by Walter Long, Sir John Simon and Duke of Bedford

(Times' Special Correspondence) Dublin, Nov. 28—A large and representative assembly of London Irishmen met at the Holborn Restaurant last Saturday night to welcome W. A. Redmond, M.P., and R. Hazleton, M.P., who with J. T. Donohue, of Belfast, toured the Australian colonies on behalf of the Irish party and for the purpose of collecting funds for the furtherance of the home rule cause. A complimentary dinner was given to the delegates by the Irish League Branch of the United Irish League of Great Britain. John O'Connor, M.P., president, and John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, were present.

W. A. Redmond, M.P., responding to the toast of "Our Guests," said the outstanding feature of their tour was the marvelous unanimity and universality of their reception. Everywhere they went they were received by the mayors of Australian cities and representative public men, who scarcely a word of opposition from any end of Australia to the other. If a plebiscite of the empire was taken on the question of home rule, and he challenged the Unionists to take it, then it would be found that Australia and New Zealand, and no doubt Canada also, would plump in favor of restoring to Ireland her national rights.

R. Hazleton, M.P., who said that he had seen a great deal of Irishmen in North and South America, as well as in Australia, observed that the Irishman prospered abroad because he was in an atmosphere of liberty, freedom and equality. That atmosphere was what they were seeking to restore in Ireland, and that Irish and his were helping them to do so. John Redmond did not speak. William Redmond has addressed the

When the attack commenced the Turkish battleship, Mesoudiah, struck the Bulgarian position, but their shells fell short, and did more damage to the town itself than the Bulgarian attack did. Suffrage the World Over The Hawaiian Republic convention, in session at Honolulu, September 17, adopted a platform asking congress to grant statehood and to amend the organic laws so as to give suffrage to women, as the native women particularly are firm in their demand for the franchise.

Belgium cables report that the government is on the point of yielding to popular demand for the introduction of a bill providing for universal suffrage. The measure will give the right to vote to every man and woman who they reach their majority and a double vote to male heads of families.

Woman suffrage has become so important an issue in Germany, says the New York Evening Post, that political parties are obliged to take notice of it. The Social Democrats have declared in favor of it in the Prussian chamber; the liberal Unions have done likewise, and a few representatives of the Centre have also committed themselves affirmatively.

Women are said to be seething with sentiment favorable to woman suffrage. "Rights of Women," official organ of the Romanian Woman Suffrage Association, edited by Mme. Janulescu, reports that meetings are being held in all parts of the country and the demands for speakers and literature are pouring in at such a rapid rate that it is impossible to supply them.

TWENTY MILLIONS COMPROMISE

Terms Reached After Five Years of Litigation Over the Slater Estate

Worcester, Dec. 9.—An agreement of compromise in the contest for the millions of dollars left by Horatio N. Slater of Webster is in the supreme court. This action generally considered as marking the first step toward removing from the courts an estate of $20,000,000.

The compromise settles most of the controversy between Mr. Mabel Hunt Slater, the widow, and Charles G. Washburn, Frank Buckley Smith and Amos Burt, the latter now deceased, as trustees of the estate.

Changes in relation to the trust funds left for Mrs. Slater and her children and for Mrs. Caroline Slater Washburn, daughter of Mr. Slater, and her children, increased compensation for Frank Buckley Smith as trustee and provisions for meeting expenses of minor heirs under the will, are included in the compromise.

Under the will and a previous agreement of compromise, a trust fund of $500,000 for the benefit of the children of Caroline Slater Washburn was created, the principal and income of which were to accumulate until the children had attained the age of 25 years.

The compromise provides that the income of the trust fund shall be paid to the children of Mrs. Washburn annually, share and share alike, the principal is to be paid to the children of Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Washburn in equal shares.

Mr. Mabel Hunt Slater is to retain the custody of the estate for money expended by her as guardian of her children, exclusive of expenditures for their support, maintenance and education.

SCHOONER SALLIE E. LUDLAM IN TROUBLE ON NOVA SCOTIA COAST Digby, N. S., Dec. 8.—The 300-ton schooner Sallie Ludlam, Capt. I. Sabourin, arrived here last night waterlogged, with the loss of a boat, and crew suffering from exhaustion, and is docked at D. & S. Sparrow's wharf in the Racquet, where the water is running out of her seams and strained planking.

The Ludlam is a cargo of 800 tons of lumber, shipped by C. J. White, from Apple River for New Haven (Conn.) As St. John her former master, Capt. Punk, left her and Capt. Sabourin was shipped, they sailed from there Thursday.

While being driven eight knots per hour before the gale, the anchor fetched up in the ribs of Digby wharf.

Providence, Dec. 8.—"Rube" Cram, one of Brown's best pitchers, is in grave danger of losing his left arm as a result of blood poisoning.

New York, Dec. 8.—While New York was yelling encouragement to the Giants next season—it is doubtful if any of them will remember that a woman was the club.

Jack Britton is not the real name of a pugilist just now much in public notice. He is Win J. Breslin, born in Clinton, N. Y.

Jack Britton has fought everywhere. Most of his fighting was done around Chicago and Philadelphia. He made his first trip to New York about seven years ago.

Jack made two trips down through the Southern States with great success. It was at New Orleans that he fought Paddy McFarland. That was the fight that initiated him into the Leading Lightweight League.

Mrs. Brush is an amiable, charming woman, and, her friends say, has great executive ability. Experts on baseball estimate that it would cost $200,000 to buy the same relative position that Frank Bancroft has filled for the Cincinnati club.

She is not the only woman who owns a team in the National League. Mrs. Helen Britton owns the St. Louis National League club having inherited the Cardinals from her father.

Harry Jensen, the long-distance amateur runner of New York, and well known as a competitor in the B. A. A. runs, will not compete in any more Marathons.

Carroll, an old-time heavyweight boxer, who held several championships in his day, is dead here. The old fighter was struck by a street car several days ago and never recovered from the shock.

On returning to New York he defeated Mike Collins in 21 rounds, Tom Murphy in seven rounds, "Ginger" McConnaughy in four rounds, Hartford Dave in seven rounds, Mike Leary in three and George Hall in seven rounds.

He won the middle and heavyweight titles at a tournament put on by Billy Madden in 1899 in Jersey City.

In January, 1890, he beat Mike Lucian in seven rounds, and in April of that year knocked out Billy Smith of Australia in 15 rounds at San Francisco.

In December, 1891, he nearly put Bill Slavin of Australia away in a three round exhibition bout at a Brooklyn theatre.

Later on he was official referee in New York clubs under the Horton law.

London, Dec. 8.—Jim Driscoll of Cardiff and Owen Moran of Birmingham have been matched to meet at the National Sporting Club here on January 27 in a battle for the British featherweight championship.

GABEY DESLYS ON HER WAY TO AMERICA

The noted dancer who beauty dazzled the King of Portugal, arrived in New York, where her reception was not very encouraging to her managers. With her, sitting in Harry Piler, her dancing partner, on the right is Clarence Harvey, a Canadian comedian. The picture was taken on board the S. S. Corvina. Miss Deslys will be in Canada a few weeks.

An unceremonious spanking right in front of everybody. Britton has been a thorn in his side and a shadow at his heels ever since last June he took a jaunt out to California. He got off to a slow start out there, losing to Willie Ritchie and making a poor fight with another westerner, but he soon caught his stride and made himself popular by his decisive victories over Frankie Burns and other good ones.

New York, Dec. 8.—When Eddie McGooty of Calcutta, Wis., went to collect his share of the money for his bout with Mike Gibbons on Wednesday night, in Madison Square Garden, he found it $200 less than the sum received by Gibbons. In lieu of the $2,000 McGooty found a receipt from Sheriff Julius Harburger for the amount.

The sun was taken just after the bout by the sheriff to satisfy a judgment given in favor of Frank Callahan, a former manager, who claimed $1,800 as the expense of a trip he financed for McGooty two years ago in Europe.

The Boston American says of McGooty and Gibbons: "Who sold their gold bricks on Broadway for $10,000? A crowd of spectators paid from $1 to $10 each to see these two give a Punch and Judy show. The promoters of the bout divided $13,000 besides the $10,000 the principals took. Of this foot race the various writers remark: 'A wasted evening. . . Gibbons headed the most blows, but he lost the physique and hitting power of a middleweight. . . They could have boxed all day on a rabbit skin without damage to anything except bunny's overcoat.' Gibbons' cleverness was shown at intervals, and McGooty's left hook was also on a vacation.

HAVE YOU TRIED THE NEW PHAROAH PANETELA? A WOMAN ON THE RAFT. Ardeacon Madden, of Liverpool, speaking at Bridlington on the efficacy of prayer, said he was told a strange story by one of the officers of the Mauritania.

One night the ship was speeding across the Atlantic, when the man on the bridge said he heard the sound of singing on the waters. The officer was so amazed that he stopped the engines and called the captain.

LOCAL NEWS

BADLY GUTTED. Fire broke out this morning in the C. P. R. Hotel, North street, and did considerable damage, although the firemen soon had it extinguished. The hotel, conducted by Mrs. Gagnon, was burned on one side and damage was also done by water. The firemen did good work.

GAVE HIM REMEMBRANCE. Before leaving for his new home in the west last evening on the Montreal train, Frank J. Patterson, of North End, who has been transferred to Winnipeg, in the employ of the car supplies office of the C. P. R., was pleasantly remembered by his friends in the D. C. D. Club, who presented to him a handsome leather dressing case, fully equipped. The presentation was made by F. G. Leary, and was a token of the regard and esteem in which he has been held.

STEAMER OFF ROUTE. The ferry steamer Maggie Miller was taken off the route yesterday morning, owing to the Kennebecasis freezing over. She carried a fairly large number of passengers yesterday morning, but had gone only as far as Somerville when she was compelled to turn back because of the ice. She took her passengers to the Public wharf there. There were on board a couple of young men from the city going to pay a visit to their young ladies, and to say that they were keenly disappointed at the uncharitable conduct of the weather man in putting it mildly.

The first lecture will be given on Friday evening next at eight o'clock in the Centennial assembly hall. The club has been able to secure the services of lectures from McGill University, and William McIntosh will explain the pictures. The first treatise of Our Island Neighbors, and deals with Newfoundland and Labrador. The pictures are exceptionally fine. It is hoped the ladies living in the vicinity of the Centennial school will avail themselves of so good an opportunity to enjoy themselves and also learn about the subjects treated in the pictures and the descriptive talk. SLIPPERY STREETS

City Hills Hard on the Horses After Sudden Weather Change

It was only the sharp-shoot horse which got up the steeper hills about the city for the truck animals received it might be said that there are not so very many of them thoroughly equipped in this regard. In King street alone this morning three horses gave up the task of trying to get up the hill and their drivers left their loads behind them in the gutter. One of the teams was that employed in the hauling of wood for the S. A. Metropole. In sliding backwards upon the slippery street, the horse fell upon one of the shafts and broke it. Automobiles also had trouble in getting up King street hill and others as well. The coating of ice and snow freezing over made the streets very slippery. Reading the conditions right, several teams prevailed on one blacksmith to open his forge last night and sharpen their horses' shoes for the work of today.

The Grampian will load grain, apples, deals and other goods here for Liverpool. The C. P. R. liner Montreal, with more than 200 passengers on board, is due to arrive here on Wednesday. The S. S. Manchester Trader arrived at Halifax on Sunday and will leave there tomorrow for this port. The S. S. Kanawha arrived at Halifax yesterday and will leave for this port tonight. The S. S. Danango is due to sail from Halifax today for St. John. The S. S. Shenandoah left London on Saturday afternoon for here. The C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland is due to arrive here on next Friday.

NO GAME HERE OTHERWISE

Suggested That in View of New Army Permission to Flood Present Quarters Might be Given

Now that the cold weather is at hand and the time has arrived for the getting out of skates, hockey sticks and other winter equipment, the question again arises—"What is St. John going to do for a hockey rink this winter?" It has been up quite a few times for discussion now, but no action has been taken, and it looks as though the hockey season will be administered to the game in St. John. It was reported a few days ago that St. John was to have a team in the New Brunswick Hockey League this winter, but from no action has been taken, and it looks as though the hockey season will be administered to the game in St. John.
