WHERE TO BUY.

A FEW REMARKS ABOUT OUR LEADING MERCHANTS.

And What They Have to Offer to Our Readers.

The Greatest Variety—The Lowest Prices. The best selection of goods at the best prices. The holiday season has come once more and the good old custom of indicating our friendship and esteem by a present, is one of the greatest of enjoyments of the season. It is a custom that affords a great amount of pleasure to those who give as well as to those who receive; and as many of our country readers will have a limited amount of time while in the city, we propose giving them a few hints that may be a great help, and will assist them in getting to the right places to buy their Christmas goods. Starting at the upper or west end of the city we first drop into the large and well stocked grocery store of

Mr. J. W. Taber. On the corner of King and Westmorland streets. Here you will find one of the finest lines of groceries in the city; a fact that is fully demonstrated by the large number of persons who deal here. In this establishment you can get everything required in the shape of Xmas groceries, at the lowest prices. Mr. Taber also carries a fine line of fruit including grapes, oranges, dates, currants and raisins. Also a large stock of Christmas confectionery at prices that will suit you. Don't fail to give him a call while in the city. Leaving Mr. Taber's we next call at

Mr. J. G. McNally's variety store. This is one of the largest establishments in the city, and just the place you can get what you want for Xmas. On the main floor of the store a grand display of fancy goods and glassware, delights the eye of the visitor. Here, also, a magnificent line of hanging lamps, table and study lamps, and lamps of every description is shown. Large show cases are filled with silver plated goods; an elegant parlor suit shown in one of the large plate windows is admired by all passers. The price of this suit is only $25.00, which is wonderfully low. On the second floor a beautiful show of furniture of excellent design and finish is made, including sideboards, chiffoniers, lounges, easy chairs, bedroom sets, etc. On the upper flat is the upholstering department, and reserve stock room. Mr. McNally's stock this year is larger and better assorted than ever before. His goods are all marked in plain figures and all who visit there will be treated handsomely. We next call at

Mr. Blackmer's Jewelry Store. When an elegant line of jewelry, silver ware, watches, clocks, etc., is shown. The stock is selected with great care and the goods are of the best quality. His stock of gold watches for ladies and gents is larger than ever before and will be sold at the lowest prices. Passing on down we come to

Davis, Staples & Co's, Drug Store. On the corner of Queen and York streets. This is the largest and best equipped establishment of the kind in the city. The firm carry everything to be found in a first-class drug store, and at this season have an elegant line of toilet and manicure sets, dressing cases etc., bric-a-brac, cigar cases, cigarette cases, tobacco pouches, etc., to numerous to mention.

The large dry goods store of Tennant, Davies, & Co. Opposite the Normal School is the next place to call at. Our city, is noted for its fine stores, and especially in this line of the dry goods houses, and among them this firm takes the lead. The arrangements in the interior of this mammoth establishment cannot be surpassed in the province. The stock embraces every variety of staple and fancy dry goods; the firm being in a position to quote rates that defy competition and supply every demand of their customers.

If any of our readers are in need of a pair of shoes drop in to

A. Lettiner's Shoe Store. Mr. Lettiner's stock of boots, shoes, rubbers, slippers, moccasins, etc., is the largest in the city. The store is situated on Queen street, directly opposite the Normal School, and has lately been refitted and is second to none in appearance. His windows are tastefully dressed with the finest of footwear, and his stock, which comprises the best goods in the market is sold at prices that cannot be beaten.

Next door below is the establishment of

Mr. John Heston. another one of Fredericton's well stocked and equipped dry goods stores. Here you can get black, gray and navy attire in cloth suitable for winter costumes. Ladies furs in storm collars, muff and box. Ladies' straw hats for coats; also men and boys wear in underclothing, cloths, collars, cuffs, neck wear, mufflers, gloves and shoes. Don't forget to call before making your purchases.

The Stone Boat is rapidly coming to the front and establishing for itself the reputation of supplying the best stock at the lowest prices. Mr. Kelly the proprietor is an enterprising and pushing young gentleman, and has fitted up his store in the most modern style. He buys for cash, and can give his customers the benefit of cash discount. His goods are new, and his prices low. Call at the nearest little shoe store in city and you will be more than pleased with your bargain. See advertisement on another page.

The leading plumbing establishment in Fredericton is that of Kitchin & Son's, opposite post office. Although the youngest firm of the kind in the city, they are the leading one. Besides doing an immense plumbing business and giving employment to a large number of men, they also carry a complete line of tin ware, stove, etc., all of which they sell at the lowest prices.

Going further down the street we come to a very pretty drug store. We drop in and

C. Fred Chestnut, who will be pleased to give us his prices on toilet waters, of which he makes a specialty. His stock comprises French, English, German, American and Domestic toilet waters in cut glass, decorated and plain containers, specially designed for the holiday trade. A beautiful line of ladies' toilet cases, shaving sets, hand mirrors, fine toilet brushes, toilet articles, cigar cases, tobacco pouches, pipes, etc., also in stock. Mr. Chestnut carries a complete line of drugs and medicines.

There is another neat little drug store further down on the corner of Queen and Bogenet streets. Mr. G. H. Davis is the proprietor, and a very popular man. His stock is well assorted and kept with the greatest care. The display of holiday goods shows remarkably good taste, as does everything about the premises. Mr. Davis has a beautiful line of dressing cases, manicure sets, shaving sets and toilet articles of every description. Don't fail to give him a call.

Having now called on our leading merchants and satisfied yourselves that the Xmas goods on exhibition in their places of business were just what we represented them, we will now take you up town again to

John Harvey's Photo Studio where you can get photographic work of all kinds superior to anything in the city and equal to anything in Canada. Mr. Harvey occupies a suite of rooms at 164 Queen street, handsomely furnished and decorated with a beautiful display of artistic photographs. He has established a reputation for highly artistic work, and has a steadily increasing trade. When in town don't fail to go to Harvey's.

CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES

A. & D. Fowler's Jewelry Store—The Leading Establishment of the kind in the city.

The jewelry store of Mr. J. D. Fowler is again stocked with Christmas novelties, which are selling at prices away below former years, and away below all competitors. His stock of fine gold jewelry including brooches, earrings, pins, bracelets, etc., is simply magnificent, while everything "max" forth words of praise for the gem, band, signet, wedding and diamond rings. Here you can get watches in gold, gold filled, silver or nickel. Beautiful solid gold hunting case watches for the ladies, with choice of Waltham or Elgin movement, for only $22.50. Just think of it! He also carries the largest and best stock of sterling silver ever shown in the city. Sterling silver cups, sterling silver spoons, sterling silver napkin rings and many other articles too numerous to mention. A great variety of clocks at bottom prices, also an immense stock of silver-plated goods at prices that will astonish you. See advertisement on another page.

IMPERIAL HALL.

The oldest Tailoring Establishment in the city.

The tailoring establishment of Mr. Thomas Stanger, and known as the Imperial Hall, is the oldest and one of the most reliable in the city. The store is located on Queen street, nearly opposite the Post Office, and is well stocked with both foreign and domestic cloths of the best quality, including all the latest patterns. Mr. Stanger has a large custom trade, and employs a great many hands. He has gained a reputation for turning out only first-class work; the style and fit of the garment being faultless. He carries a large stock of trunks, valises, satchels, hats, caps and underclothing, also a complete line of gents' furnishings at the lowest prices.

Ladies American Solid Gold Watches only $23.50 at Blackmer's.

Ladies 14 k filled Watches guaranteed for 11 years only $20. Don't forget about Blackmer's big stock for Xmas presents.

Blackmer's is the place for Gents' Car-buncle Rings.

ADAMS BROS.

The Leading Underclothing Establishment in the city.

This firm is to-day the leading establishment of the kind in the city. It is the oldest firm, therefore the most experienced, and carry, by long odds, the largest and best assorted stock of funeral furnishings. Their aim has been to be prompt, accurate and reliable in attending to orders, either personal, by telegraph or by telephone, and they fully realize the fact that the people will patronize the most prompt and reliable firm, and that they appreciate their efforts in that direction is clearly proved by the immense business done by Adams Bros.

Their furniture warehouses are at this season stocked with elegant parlor suits in walnut, oak, cherry, etc. and upholstered in rare silk plush and tapestry in all the latest patterns; really easy chairs, delightfully soft and inviting, also bedroom sets, music cabinets, writing tables, etc. in great variety. Give them a call, they will be pleased to see you.

Marble Clocks suitable for Xmas gifts at Blackmer's.

A CALGARY MIRACLE

The Most Wonderful Case Ever Recorded in the Northwest.

Miss Lela Cullen is Rescued From What Her Physicians and Friends Thought to be Wasting Time.

Calgary, N. W. T. Oct. 20, 1892. For some time past the residents of this town have been deeply interested in the case of Miss Lela Cullen, a young lady who had so nearly approached the portals of the great unknown, that her friends despaired of her recovery, and who has now fully, indeed almost miraculously, regained her health and strength. Having read on various occasions in The Tribune the particulars of what appeared to be miraculous cures, your correspondent determined to investigate the case of Miss Lela Cullen, and now sends you the particulars fully believing that you will be justified in giving them the widest publication.

When your correspondent visited the residence of Mrs. Cullen, the mother of the young lady, he was courteously received, and in reply to his enquiries as to whether she would be willing to give the facts of her daughter's wonderful recovery, for publication for the benefit of other sufferers, Mrs. Cullen readily assented. "My daughter's first illness," said Mrs. Cullen, "was in June 1890, when she was taken with the measles. At that time she was seventeen years of age, tall, fine looking, and exceedingly healthy, weighing about 140 pounds. All the family took the measles, and all got over them without trouble except Lela; Continued on 3rd page

Sundry Ebulitions in Prose and Rhyme.

How the Domestic, Social and Literary World is Weathering.

The Comet.

It is forging on through space.

With its fiery, daring face,

Like the headlight of a train to ruin

dashing,

Plopping near and yet more near,

Till this trembling, mushroom sphere

Sees ahead the rocky danger signals

flashing!

Is it Biela's comet—nay?

Or some other queer stray?

From the meteoric dance of flame-clad hours?

Some Peri-like evict?

Or some blaring comet?

Driven onward by the howling fates

and furies?

Will it telescope the earth?

With a sort of glancing mirth?

Or be telescoped itself by earth's star

ganges?

Death it hide hot coals or hail

In its long, resplendent tail?

A supply of polished spheres or stello

glaciers?

Is there room for it to pass?

Thrilling query! for alas!

If there isn't, Mother Earth may rue the issue.

While her victor, vaulting clear,

May surprise some future sphere

With a specimen of meteoric muscle!

Moral: Ere it greets your eyes,

Flaming 'twix the earth and skies

France has spent $300,000,000 on her army since 1871 and an enormous sum up on her navy. This is the sort of armed peace that the German victory of 1870 has forced all Europe to pay for. The Courier des Etats-Unis does not know which is most astonishing, the size of the fingers or the wonderful development of France, which has enabled her to pay such a sum and steadily prosper.

Kate Marsden, the Leper Heroine. Kate Marsden, who is coming to this country to lecture, with a view to raising means for founding more leper colonies in Siberia, is a woman of most heroic courage and zeal, who has taken upon herself a work which would be loathsome and impossible to any one not inspired with a sublime passion for self-sacrifice. Through 2,000 miles of swampy and unhealthy country in Asiatic Russia, through forests and districts where one false step might mean death, over the snow wastes of Siberia, Miss Marsden has travelled seeking out the wretched lepers, and founding the thirteen leper colonies she has established for the sufferers who previous to her coming were without shelter of any kind.

Facts For the Curious. The population of America increases by 7,000 persons a day.

AGRICULTURE.

Notes and Suggestions of Practical Utility

FOR THE FARM, FIELD, GARDEN AND DAIRY.

Clearings of Interest for Our Country Readers.

Study your market. Keep your sheep clean. Filth is a disease breeder. Luck is a poor dependence. Make the by-products useful. Set your milk before it cools. Sheep like the air and sunshine. It is hard to regain lost ground. A filthy owner has filthy hogs. Feed oats in the straw cut fine. Make your profit by reducing cost. Do not let the cornstalks go to waste. Goods cannot be too fresh when sold. Don't deal too heavily in "futures". See that your orchard is well drained. Have a purpose and steadily pursue it. Manual training ought to begin at home. Poultry brings early and quick returns. Try a little Hungarian grass next year. Co-operation is better than competition. Everybody is glad the elections are over.

No sheep is quite so profitable as the Dorset. Whatever your brand, let it be an honest one. Give the good housewife plenty of dry fuel. A mild fall ought to be productive of fine butter. Milk contains a large number of elements. Whether we wait or work, we fill our places. Keeping when frozen is no evidence of quality. Inferior packages greatly reduce the price of goods. Scalding water is an efficient remedy for bacteria. Hens that lay no eggs in winter are not profitable. When you go into a thing make a business of it. A compact body and a close fleece are desirable. The separator mixes the poor and the cream. The best butter can be made by gravity separation. No cows give milk without water; let it be pure. Clean food fed in a clean pen makes clean pork. Keep the air from your butter as much as possible. Allow no extra food to be breathed on and muzzled. Whatever you go into, go into it systematically. It is tiresome to draw milk from a hard milking cow. Sheep should be kept in connection with other stock. "Each for himself and the devil for all" is a poor policy. Learn to know the character of the foods that you feed. Talk with members of other classes besides your own. Flesh is flavored by the food it is made of, so of eggs. The lower prices are the more care must be observed. Pay attention enough to your business to make it pay. Does success in life depend more on one's exertions than on circumstances? Try to get along without circumstances. A rod a second would seem to be good speed, but it would require 320 seconds to go a mile, and that is over 5 1/2 minutes to the mile. Twice as fast isn't quite 2.40 gain.

The Chicago Ledger is twenty years old and has a circulation of 140,000 copies a week. It is a combined story and family paper, fully up to the times in its particulars and handsomely illustrated. There is a Fashion Department, and also a Young People's Department, either of which alone is worth the subscription price of $2.00 per year, $1.00 for six months, or 50 cents for three months. Send for free specimen copies and instructions for clubs. Boys and girls everywhere are making money selling the Ledger to regular customers. Write for particulars. Address the publisher, W. D. Boyce, 113, 115 and 117 Fifth avenue, Chicago.

When a man gets to be a millionaire, he ceases to be a useful citizen. We cannot ignore the necessity for beef as well as for dairy products. What does "reciprocity" mean but nullifying the effects of the tariff? Flow for a special purpose and as demanded by the contemplated crop. With justice done in the world there would be few paupers or criminals. Don't stuff a fowl at any time, if it runs out and has a range to forage in. Every crop of lambs ought to be an improvement on the preceding one. Ten pounds of skimmed milk are equal to one pound of grain to feed colts. The quality of the food largely determines the quality of the product. There isn't the same reason now for rooting high that there once was. The more delicate the instrument the more skillfully it must be handled. We cannot improve upon nature, but we can give her a chance to do her best. All markets call for the best product and therefore the best efforts of the farmer. All food for animals have two values—one as food and the other as fertilizer. One must be in order to reap, no money is made by first spending it judiciously. It is a curious fact that the milk of a diseased cow has a large percentage of fat. When a fowl or animal is to be slaughtered it is better to give it a fast first. When poultry is raised on the farm, it is cheap meat for the table and very reliable. A ration rich in albuminoids produces a milk rich in fat, yet fat is a carbonyl drate. Improvement does not mean the purchase of every invention thrown upon the market. The dairy, like the soil, is a laboratory for converting raw material into finished product. Our improvements in dairy machinery are greater than our improvements in dairying. When you buy breeding stock, keep it a while by itself to be sure it brings no disease with it. It is easier to ventilate in winter than in summer. The cold air presses in through every crevice. Mulch around the bolts of fruit trees and leave the mulch till late in the spring to check early budding. The same law often governs opposite results. Gravitation makes heavy bodies fall and light ones rise. No matter what the size of your dairy it requires good milk and a good butter maker to make good butter. When the proprietor and editor of a paper goes into politics and neglects agriculture, he makes a greater mistake. Alternate feeding and starving will not produce a streak of fat and a streak of lean. The starving destroys the fat. Does success in life depend more on one's exertions than on circumstances? Try to get along without circumstances. A rod a second would seem to be good speed, but it would require 320 seconds to go a mile, and that is over 5 1/2 minutes to the mile. Twice as fast isn't quite 2.40 gain.

Instead of attempting to hatch chicks from eggs laid by all the hens of the flock the better plan is to select ten or fifteen of the best hens and mate them with one or two good males. Ten hens with one male is a fair proportion. It will be necessary to have some place where the selected hens can be separated from the other members of the flock, but this expense will be balanced by the reduced number of males. It is entirely unnecessary to keep and maintain males that are of no use, for the hens will lay just as many eggs without their presence as when the males are with them. The large majority of those who raise chicks by hatching from eggs taken from the general basket (in which all the eggs are placed when collected) cannot possibly improve their flocks, as they do not know which hens laid the eggs used for hatching. When a few hens are selected for the purpose of providing the pullets of next year something will be known of the stock and what to expect from it, but when pullets are raised by using eggs from all manner of hens much of the labor will be lost, owing to the large proportion of culs that will be among the number hatched. Some persons have difficulty in procuring a sufficient number of eggs for hatching, and they use eggs from all of the hens, as only a portion of the flock may be laying during the existence of cold weather. This difficulty may be overcome by providing a place for storing the eggs until they are wanted for use. During the very warm days of summer fertile eggs rapidly become decomposed, but in the winter an egg can be kept for a month or six weeks, if placed in a box, or on a rack, and turned three times a week. The eggs should be kept in a cool (not cold) place, as it is important that they do not become frozen, for as they will lose its vitality from extreme cold. About 40 degrees above zero is the proper temperature, and even 60 degrees is not too high. An egg freezes at 10 degrees above zero, which is lower than the temperature required for water. The egg so kept will hatch if six weeks old, and in that time a large number can be secured, while a great proportion will, of course, be much fresher near the time of using them.

KILLED HIS WIFE ASSAULT.
A Florida Merchant Who Objected to the Editor of a Paper.
Sunday night Charles H. Pratt, editor of the Daily Leader, Gainesville, Fla., was killed by Thornton S. Stringfellow, a prominent merchant, the alleged cause being undue intimacy with his wife, or rather an assault upon her, as she says. Stringfellow came home at about 10 o'clock and saw Pratt and his wife in an inner room. Stepping to an open window he fired, hitting Pratt in the side. The latter staggered to the door, where he met Stringfellow with his pistol ready to fire again. "My God, don't fire, don't kill me. You have got me now," he cried. Stringfellow pulled the trigger and Pratt fell heavily on the steps of the house and rolled on to the sidewalk. A jury was impaneled by a justice of the peace. Stringfellow made a statement admitting the killing, but claiming justification. Mrs. Stringfellow then made her statement, which put another phase on it, though it did not seem to satisfy the jury. She said that Pratt came to return a handkerchief, and that he began making love the moment he was in the house; that finally he picked her up and carried her into a side room and threw her on the bed; that she resisted all she could, crying out, and that at this point her husband came up and began firing. Pratt and Stringfellow were great friends. Pratt was married two years ago and his young wife is almost crazed over the terrible deed. Stringfellow was until recently a leading member of the Presbyterian church, but resigned some time ago, as he desired to go into the liquor business.

The Poultry Yard.
Instead of attempting to hatch chicks from eggs laid by all the hens of the flock the better plan is to select ten or fifteen of the best hens and mate them with one or two good males. Ten hens with one male is a fair proportion. It will be necessary to have some place where the selected hens can be separated from the other members of the flock, but this expense will be balanced by the reduced number of males. It is entirely unnecessary to keep and maintain males that are of no use, for the hens will lay just as many eggs without their presence as when the males are with them. The large majority of those who raise chicks by hatching from eggs taken from the general basket (in which all the eggs are placed when collected) cannot possibly improve their flocks, as they do not know which hens laid the eggs used for hatching. When a few hens are selected for the purpose of providing the pullets of next year something will be known of the stock and what to expect from it, but when pullets are raised by using eggs from all manner of hens much of the labor will be lost, owing to the large proportion of culs that will be among the number hatched. Some persons have difficulty in procuring a sufficient number of eggs for hatching, and they use eggs from all of the hens, as only a portion of the flock may be laying during the existence of cold weather. This difficulty may be overcome by providing a place for storing the eggs until they are wanted for use. During the very warm days of summer fertile eggs rapidly become decomposed, but in the winter an egg can be kept for a month or six weeks, if placed in a box, or on a rack, and turned three times a week. The eggs should be kept in a cool (not cold) place, as it is important that they do not become frozen, for as they will lose its vitality from extreme cold. About 40 degrees above zero is the proper temperature, and even 60 degrees is not too high. An egg freezes at 10 degrees above zero, which is lower than the temperature required for water. The egg so kept will hatch if six weeks old, and in that time a large number can be secured, while a great proportion will, of course, be much fresher near the time of using them.

The best and most complete stock of goods in the city of Fredericton.
The establishment of Messrs. Davis, Staples & Co., on the corner of Queen and York streets, presents a most attractive appearance at this season, and is by far the largest and handsomest establishment of the kind in the city. The firm carry everything to be found in a first class drug store, and at this season have an elegant line of toilet and manure sets, dressing cases, etc., in oxidized silver, leather and plush, at prices that will suit all. Their display of colored photograph frames and whip holders is most magnificent. Notwithstanding these goods are the first of the kind ever shown in this city, Messrs. Davis, Staples & Co. are selling them at prices so low they will astonish you. Give them a call.

6TH HALF-YEARLY COMPETITION.

The Most Interesting Contest Ever Offered by the Canadian Agriculturist.

One Thousand Dollars in Cash, a pair of handsome Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, over two thousand other valuable prizes for the Agriculturist's brightest readers! Who will have them? According to the usual custom for some years past the publishers of THE AGRICULTURIST now offer their Sixth Half-Yearly Literary Competition. This grand competition will, no doubt, be the most gigantic and successful one ever presented to the people of the United States and Canada.

One Thousand Dollars in cash will be paid to the person sending in the largest list of English words constructed from letters in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist." Five hundred Dollars in cash will be given to the second largest list.

A Handsome Pair of Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, will be given for the third largest list.

Over one thousand additional prizes awarded in order of merit: One Grand Piano; $500 eggs; $400 piano; Dinner Sets; Ladies' Gold Watches; Silk Dress Patterns; Portiere Curtains; Silver Tea Services; Tinsmith's Forms, bound in cloth; Dickens in 12 volumes, bound in cloth, etc.

As there are more than 1,000 prizes, any one who takes the trouble to prepare an ordinary good list will not fail to receive a valuable prize. This is the biggest thing in the competition line that we have ever placed before the public, and all who do not take part will miss an opportunity of a life time.

Rules—1. A letter cannot be used oftener than it appears in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist." For instance the word "egg" could not be used, as there is but one "e" in the three words. 2. Words having more than one meaning but applied the same can be used but once. 3. Names of places and persons barred. 4. Errors will not invalidate a list—the wrong words will simply not be counted.

Each list must contain one dollar to pay for the first prize, and the others will receive prizes in order of merit. United States money and stamps taken at par.

The object in effecting these magnificent prizes is to introduce our popular magazine into new homes, in every part of the American continent.

Every competitor enclosing 30 cents in large extra mail will receive free, by mail, post paid, one to "The Canadian Agriculturist," and one to "The Canadian Agriculturist's" Magazine. Prizes awarded to persons residing in the United States will be shipped from our New York office free of duty. All money letters should be registered.

Our Former Competition.—We have given away $25,000 in prizes during the last two years, and have thousands of letters from prize-winners in every state in the union and every part of Canada and Newfoundland. Lord Elcho, A. D. C., to the Governor General of Canada, writes: "I shall recommend my friends to enter your contest."

M. M. Branden, Vancouver, B. C., "received $1,000 in gold" and we hold his receipt for same. A few of the prize winners: Miss J. Robinson, Toronto, $1,000; J. J. Branden, Fenton Falls, Ont., $1,000; David Harrison, Syracuse, N. Y., $500; H. Davis, St. Louis, Mo., $500; W. B. Bapine, West Duluth, Minn., $500; Miss Georgia Robertson, Oak St., Brooklyn, $1,000; Fred H. Hill, 269 State St., Bridgport, Conn., and thousands of others.

Address all communications to THE AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ontario.
Competition closes January 15th, 1893.

DR. TALMAGE ON RUSSIA.

An exchange of recent date contained the following, dated St. Petersburg,
Dec. 4—

"The trial by court martial of the persons concerned in the cholera riots in Saratoff, in July last, ended yesterday.
Twenty-three of the prisoners were sentenced to be hanged and 56 to be imprisoned in Siberia."

In Dr. Talmage's sermon on the civil and political state of Russia, occupying four columns of a newspaper, we were told that there was no such thing as capital punishment throughout the Czar's vast dominions, except for high treason. If therefore, the above extract is true, the verity of the great preacher in all his says about Russia, becomes very questionable, and we believe in the truth of the hanging business as described above,
for there are so many improbable statements in that sermon about Russia that it is not possible for anybody to give credit to even what may be true. It is to be supposed that the whole world for ages has been in darkness with regard to the despotism of Russia, and its treatment of individuals, and that for the time we are to be told by one man that we have always been hugely mistaken, and that everything is "just lovely" in that country? At the same time it is presumed that Dr. Talmage is satisfied himself that what he puts forth is all true, or rather knowingly telling untruths.
We believe that the preacher is honest but awfully humbugged. We read in the good book that our Saviour was taken up by the devil to an exceeding high mountain and shown all the Kingdoms of the world which should be presented to him if he would fall down and worship Satan.
We all know the reply and rebuke that the fellow received. Dr. Talmage was taken up into the emperor's palace and feasted and feasted gorgeously—not upon the conditions he should fall down at the emperor's feet but implicitly that when he reached home, he should set forth in his Brooklyn Tabernacle all the splendour and venality of Alexander the second and his amiable spouse, both overflowing with the milk of human kindness, while his household was the incarnation of all the virtues. The great preacher had not the power to resist the blandishments of the emperor, but stood as an obedient child in the august presence. In short he was taken off his feet and his brains were turned upside down, all awry—in fact palsied, and then when the Emperor was done with him he handed him over to his courtiers to show him about in all the good places—to put the best foot forward and being wise men, to disabuse the preacher's mind of the false reports that had been going through the world about the emperor and his government. Why?

and they held on to him until they were ready to hand him his passport, in order that he might not fall into evil hands and hear the other (truthful) side of the story. For example, they, or the right person for them, told the Preacher all about Siberia, and that it was a "lovely"
climate equal to that of New York.
Instead of terrible frost and snow (vide Harper's Magazine for May (?) 1891) it was all sunshine and flowers, and that political prisoners really liked to be sent there. And what is more curious still
Dr. Talmage seems to believe it all.
Then they had trial by jury in Russia and it was hard to convict a man, they were all so tender-hearted. The government in short was paternal—a sort of patriarchal institution. The Nihilists were few and far between, the same sort of malcontents as are to be found in all countries. But in his fulsome encomiums and advocacy of Russian practices he fails to say anything about the late Jewish persecutions, driving them out of the country by hundreds of thousands—the Polish troubles of 1883, when thousands of unfortunate prisoners were put to death in cold blood, etc., etc. However the text to this article will furnish some evidence as to which leg the preacher is standing on.

THE NEW GOVERNOR

A rumor has been going the rounds
the past few days to the effect that the Hon. Justice Fraser has been appointed governor. What truth there is in the report, or whether there is any ground for such, we are not aware. All we can say is that if the rumor should prove correct we would heartily congratulate the province upon so admirable a choice.

Even if the Judge might not be of universal acceptance—no man could be—yet, the narrow escape we have had from the appointment of some political scalwag—for the names of candidates have been in everybody's mouth during the past two years—we say the escape of such an infliction that would be quite sufficient to the position, would be quite sufficient in itself to make us feel jubilant over the Judge's appointment. No one could tell what moment some one of the objectionable names contrived might be sprung upon us. With the appointment of Judge Fraser the country will breathe freely;
for notwithstanding the hard way in which he bore down poor Back from a strong sense of duty no doubt, Judge Fraser would prove to be a good sound constitutional governor. If, as stated before, the report should prove true, the Fredericton Globe would therefore congratulate the Dominion government for the display of its wisdom—for the office is one of the highest importance, and should they send us a third rate man, as there seemed to be danger of, we should feel sore and sorry, notwithstanding our meekness.

In the event of an appointment from one of our own citizens, the question arises where should we put him? We have no government house, and no right place for our leading provincial citizens. Last government house then be rehabilitated. A few thousand dollars would make it all right. Cut it in two parts by inside partitions, for the winter—to be opened out again in the summer. Put a mansard roof on the building to give it a modern appearance. At any rate government houses should be reconstructed. Fredericton is the only proper place for the governor's residence and such place should be provided.

THE GAME OF FOOTBALL

Many who have read the accounts of the recent football matches between Yale and Harvard, and Yale and Princeton, will wonder whether to call football as at present played in the United States a game is not a misnomer. We are told, for instance, that at one point in the game the men were piled as high as a two storey house, locked and twisted together like a den of snakes, and that when they were untangled one player was laid out with no visible sign of life, while several others were reeling from the effects of the awful crash. At another point in the game a player was laid out as limp as a rag; and all through the game, says the account, it was an exceptional scrimmage that did not leave somebody on the ground.

And yet we cannot refuse to believe that all this, which to the uninitiated must have looked very much like a free fight, was amusement to those engaged in it and diversion to the spectators.
There was nothing which compelled those college students to charge upon each other like so many yelling, shrieking demons, and the mere possession of the football was not enough to account for the contest since any quantity of new footballs could have been purchased at a comparatively low cost.

It was the pure love of a contest which induced this Donnybrook Fair sort of a skirmish, in which the players were as regardless of wounds and bruises as so many veteran soldiers going into battle.
The desire to get the better of the other fellows, to establish their superiority over their opponents and to down the rival college were the moving causes of these contests, and who, with the recollection of his youth to suggest to him, will not say that this was genuine amusement?

ARCHBISHOP LAUD.

The St. John Sun of the 5th contained a communication signed by a Methodist in answer to a letter which appeared lately
in the "Churchman," in which the "good Bishop" is compared to the Archbishop Laud, as an example of everything that is good. The Methodist is astounded at the comparison—for he puts down Laud
as a despot and persecutor, a disreputable to the English Church; and in support of his statements he makes a long quotation from Macaulay's History of England.

Two negroes were arrested at New Rochelle, N. Y. last Wednesday night by direction of the coroner, on suspicion of having murdered Ella Newton, a girl whose body was found in the creek. The coroner says he has evidence enough to convict them.

The firm of Land & Wehrhink, bankers
and wholesale merchants Greenville, Miss., collapsed this week; liabilities estimated at $500,000; assets, not known.
Cause of failure was the scant cotton crop in the Mississippi delta, during the past three years.

Small Portraits.

It takes all kinds of men to make a world, but there is little doubt that the world would be far better off without some men in it. We have a privilege to relate this week which concerns an individual employed on a weekly paper down street, and which, from the accounts that have been given us, surprises us more than a little. The facts are these: On Saturday last the Globe issued a special holiday edition and the papers sold at a lively rate on both sides of the river. At St. Mary's there is a deserving young lad, a son of Mrs. Tison, whose husband lost his life so sadly a short time ago. This boy is anxious to make what money he can. On Saturday he called at the office and the proprietor gave him a number of Globes to sell. The boy disposed of his papers quickly. He has been selling Progress and The Herald for some time past. When an employee of The Herald discovered that the lad sold the Globes, he at once informed him that he must stop selling the "Herald" paper and sell only The Herald. "This is what we call mean in every sense of the word. Why stop the boy from making what little money he could, no matter how many papers he handled. We did not suppose that the Herald was so afraid of its weekly competitor, but it looks very like it from the above. Even this, however, would not justify a man in depriving a poor industrious lad from making an honest penny.

MISSIONARY ENTERTAINMENT

In the Free Christian Baptist Church Sunday

Last Sunday evening the Free Baptist church was filled to the doors. The entertainment given in aid of the missionaries was a most successful affair. There is not the least doubt that if such entertainments were of more frequent occurrence, great good would be the result. The music, readings and recitations were most appropriate and all well rendered. The reading by F. Hartley was exceptionally fine, but he was just a little too slow in delivery. He possesses a clear, deep voice, of which he has good command, and with practice Mr. Hartley will make an eloquent speaker. Another taking and rather amusing feature of the evening was a sermon by Master Vandine, son of Dow Vandine, who took for his text the following: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." A collection for the missions was then taken up, after which Rev. F. C. Hartley pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Bellamy's Estate

Referring to the recent publication of alleged transactions in railway stock between the late Mr. Bellamy and himself, Mr. W. T. Whitehead states in the Fredericton Farmer: "The late Hon. Richard Bellamy held two shares of stock in the St. John Valley and Tobique Railway Co., and on his becoming a member of the Legislature he was asked 'I would like to know, as he might be called upon to vote a subsidy to the railway, whether he was a member of the House. I said I would consent, provided I would not be held responsible for any liability for the shares. He replied that he would assume all liability, and said if there was any call to pay. He then wrote to the company notifying them that he had handed over his interest to me. Afterwards he subscribed to 100 shares myself, on which I paid all the calls and afterwards sold and transferred the stock to a gentleman exceeding a transfer for that stock only. Subsequently, Mr. Bellamy asked my advice as to whom he should will his property; and I advised him to give it to me for a charitable purpose. I never had any idea that I would be benefited to the extent of one dollar. Mr. Bellamy's disposal of his property, and up to the day of his death the most cordial and friendly relations existed between Bellamy and myself."

Coming and Going.

Mr. Robert Orchard, of the Star Line Steamboat Company spent about a week in the city straightening up the season's business.

Mr. Robt. Cropley is expected home from St. John to-day.

Mrs. Kelly and her daughter, of Fredericton Junction, have been stopping at the Royal this week.

Mr. Chas. E. Inch, of Kewick, was in town this week.

Thos. Coiter, ex-M. P., was in the city this week.

Dr. Brown, of the provincial lunatic asylum was in the city this week.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson and wife registered at the Queen this week.

A. A. Brewer, of St. John, registered at the Hotel yesterday.

Messrs. Wain and Harry Chestnut, sons of Henry Chestnut, left Monday for Florida where they will spend the winter. They will return home in April next.

Mrs. Westworth and son, of Chicago, are visiting at Mrs. Jackson Adams'.

Death of an Old Resident.

Mr. Bernard McCaffrey, an old and well known citizen, died very suddenly Wednesday morning at his home on Brunswick street. He was in his 80th year, and has been quite feeble during the past year. He was a native of County Fermanagh, Ireland, and came to this city in 1857. The deceased was a contractor and builder, and in his day was an active and popular man. His family includes John McCaffrey and Miss McCaffrey of this city; Mrs. Melick of St. John; Mrs. McCreary, now living in England, and Frank McCaffrey, a resident of Boston. The funeral took place yesterday morning.

That Christmas Money.

In the next few weeks people will talk Christmas money and all other subjects combined. And very many will count their pennies and see if they go around. And some will realize for the first time that clerk will wish that they too could talk—thought of returns in the true Christmas spirit; but how many times, oh human nature, will the thought occur this month "Now if I make so and so a Christmas present, wonder if I will get a return next year." The growing Christmas present custom comes hard among certain classes, who do not always have plenty of ready money; among farmers and people near towns, who keep poultry the egg supply, is a great source of Christmas money, because prices are always very high at this season. If the old hen will only shell out the eggs now, thinks many a mother, I can soon get back all the money taken for Christmas. The surest way we have heard of to get it back is this—K. A. Holbert of Hatfield, Mass., says, "About one year ago I sent $5.00 for six cans of Sheridan's Condition Powder to make hay and in January my 25 hens laid 25 dozen eggs. I have sent $5.00 this year for six more cans and the Farm-Poultry monthly." Certainly that Christmas money "came back in short order." Mrs. Warren Delano, Hampden, Me., said recently to the manufacturers of this wonderful Powder "I send $5.00 for Farm-Poultry two years, and six large cans of Sheridan's Powder. It is the very thing needed. Last winter my hens did so poorly I almost lost heart, but this year 50 hens have cleared me $125.00." All for a little courage and Sheridan's Powder, her hens paid her more than double the average usually allowed per hen, so that her Christmas money returned manifold. Holbert, a word to the wise is sufficient; make your eggs a Christmas present in six cans of Sheridan's Powder and take no other.

THE WELTONS

The adjourned session of the County Court at St. John, opened again Thursday morning for the trial of Rev. Sidney Welton, C. B. Welton and Dr. Randall on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association. After the jury was sworn in the court adjourned until Friday morning by request of Mr. Popley, who stated that one of his witnesses had not arrived. An application asking that the Rev. Sidney Welton be allowed to go out on bail was refused and he was remanded with the other prisoners.

Mr. Warren D. Wentz of Geneva, N. Y.

Tells of His Fearful Sufferings After Gastric Fever and His Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Sarsaparilla

All who know Mr. W. D. Wentz give him the best of recommendations for honesty and integrity. For many years he has worked for Mr. D. F. Wilson, the harness maker and member of the Geneva Board of Health. He says:

"I was taken sick last October with gastric fever and my chance for recovery was considered almost hopeless. After 7 weeks the fever slowly left me, but I could not eat the simplest food without terrible distress. It seemed that I had recovered from the fever to

Die of Starvation
I took poison compounds, liniment, charcoal, cod liver oil and malt until my physician went and that his skill was about exhausted and he did not know what else to try. Everything I took seemed like poisoning myself and into my stomach. I happened to think that I had a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla that had been in the house for two or three years. I found it had benefited me previously for dyspepsia. I began taking it and soon began to feel better. I have now taken a bottle over two bottles and can truthfully say I feel well again and can eat anything without distressing me, even

Pie and Cheese
which I have been unable to touch for years. The English language does not contain words enough to permit me to express the praise I wish to give to Hood's Sarsaparilla."

A CALGARY MIRACLE

The Most Wonderful Case Ever Recorded in the Northwest.

Who Lela Cullen is Recovered From What Her Physician and Friends Thought to be Her Fatal End.

Her case from the first baffled all the ordinary remedies used for that disease, and as the measles did not come out, a physician was called in. He administered remedies, but with no better results, and her case seemed to baffle the physician's skill. After a few weeks my daughter began to improve somewhat, but did not regain her former strength, and six weeks after she was first taken ill, her face, neck, and limbs broke out in blotches. The doctor was again called in, and said it was the measles getting out of her system, and that she would soon be all right again. The doctor's statement was not verified however, for not only did my daughter not improve, but she gradually grew weaker. Soon after she began to swell, first the feet, then the limbs, breast and face became puffed up. Another doctor was called in and he pronounced her trouble, dropsy, resulting from the measles. The doctor attended her all winter and although he seemed to do all in his power for her, she gradually became weaker and weaker. She did not eat, and loaves failed to improve her appetite and as she gradually grew weaker she lost her courage, felt that hope of life was fast slipping away. In the spring the doctor's medicine having done her no good, was discontinued, and instead he gave her preparations of beef, iron and wine, hypophosphites, eggs, cream, etc. In fact, stimulants of this kind had to be constantly forced upon her to keep her alive, and I gave up all hope of her recovery, and in my misery waited for her death. She was now so weak that she could not walk across the floor, and in order to rest her we would lift her into a chair, where she would sit for a short time, when we would again place her in bed. She was slowly but surely dying before our eyes, and nothing we could do for her was of avail. She was still puffed up and nothing the doctor could do would reduce the swelling. Her limbs would no longer support her and she could only sit up a short time each day. In this condition she lingered on until August, 1891, some fifteen months after she was first taken ill, and while we were sorrowfully awaiting what seemed the inevitable end, a ray of hope came. I read in a newspaper of a remarkable cure from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and while I feared that I had heard of this wonderful medicine too late, I hoped almost against hope and sent to the headquarters of the company, Brockville, Ont., for a supply. At this time, Lela was not able to be removed from bed; her weight was reduced to 90 pounds, and her lips were blue. You will thus see how little hope there appeared to her when she began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After she had taken the first box, although there was no visible improvement, she thought they were doing her good, and her spirits began to rise. At the end of the second box I could notice the improvement, and Lela was very hopeful and felt life was returning to her again. After she had been taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a month, she was able to get up, and by October she was so well that she could superintend work about the house. She still continued taking the pills, and rapidly recovered all her old time health, strength and spirits. I cannot tell you," continued Mrs. Cullen, "how deeply grateful I am for the wonderful medicine that saved my daughter's life. You may be sure that both me and mine will always warmly recommend it, as we have every reason to do."

may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

An Attractive Store.

An attractive store is that of Nelson Campbell, situated directly opposite the City Hall. Mr. Campbell commenced business at this stand in May, 1886, carrying at that time a fine line of gent's furnishings, along with his present line of boots, shoes and hats. Finding, however, as his business increased, that he was unable to do away with gent's furnishings and devote himself entirely to hats, caps and footwear. Studying carefully the wants and requirements of his patrons and customers he has made an enviable reputation for his store for honest goods and fair dealing. Those who have never made purchases from him should do so, as they are sure to be satisfied with the result.

David Black, manufacturer of tinware 146 to 150 Heister street, New York, assigned yesterday, giving preferences aggregating $88,653. The liabilities are $132,000, and the assets $50,000.

The five-story marble front building, 30 Read street, New York was almost wholly destroyed by fire, this week.

Borum & Pease blank book manufacturing, including printing and binding company, and Frank R. Walker paper manufacturer who occupied the building were burned out. The entire loss is about $100,000. Covered by insurance.

Two tribes of Indians in the western portion of Vancouver Island are engaged in warfare, as a result of a supply of whisky which they have in some way become possessed. The lighthouse keeper at that point is shut, with his daughter, in the lighthouse in a state of siege. They have telegraphed for a man-of-war to be sent to quell the fighting and the revenue cutter Quadra, with fifty policemen, have been despatched to the scene of the trouble.

The other day while Mrs. Berkofski of New Haven, was out in the yard, her two-year old daughter, having seen her mother clean out the stove a moment before, took a shovelful of hot coals from the fire, and then, hearing her mother open the door dumped the embers into the baby carriage, in which was Mrs. Berkofski's six-months old child sleeping. The clothing in the carriage took fire at once as did the little girl's garments. In a moment all was ablaze. The mother rushed to the child's aid, but too late. The little girl died in half an hour. The baby is not expected to live.

Call and take a look at the goods which will amply repay you, for no former Christmas season has this house made so fine a display as it is making this year.

The Goods are Well Displayed
and all purchasers have an excellent opportunity of selecting just what they require. Already a large quantity of the leading lines have been picked out and put aside which will make many hearts rejoice at the approaching Christmas tide. Nevertheless there is always something new coming and going at this establishment so you are sure of getting suited no matter when you call. But do not put off until the big rush comes, for then it will be hard to give you that attention which the proprietor would desire to. In conclusion we again remind you that you cannot make any mistake in giving Mr. Fenety a call at this festive season.

A PLAIN, UNVARNISHED TALE
About a Babe Who Lived But a Few Seconds but Talked.

News has just reached us from Bristol of a phenomenon in the shape of an extraordinary infant in the village of Crab Orchard, Lee county. The child was born recently and lived but a few seconds. It was well developed, had a full and beautiful set of teeth, and long, flowing hair of amber hue.

It was exceedingly pretty and seemed to be possessed of all the mental faculties of maturity. In a clear voice it said: "Time here is short." It closed its eyes and was dead. This, together with the appearance of the comet, which is supposed to carry death and destruction in its wake, created considerable consternation in that community.

It has made an unmistakable impression on the more sensible, and the superstitious are living in a state of supreme dread, expecting every moment to hear the final blast from Gabriel's bugle, which will proclaim the end of time and all things earthly. It is said that some of them have not slept since they learned of the appearance of the comet and its alleged mission of destruction of the earth.

HE HAD THIRTEEN WIVES

ON HIS DEATHBED A MEN WARNS SUSPECTIBLE WOMAN.

What Lovely Women Should Beware of.

Love at First Sight and Stranger Men With Big Diamonds.

A stranger about forty years old committed suicide in a boarding house at Los Angeles a few days ago. He left a remarkable letter in which he said he was a member of one of the largest and most prominent families of the country, whose ancestors came from Jamestown. After confessing to having committed murder the writer says: "During a period of twenty-one years I have been married to thirteen different women. In every case, except the first, my sole motive was to secure money, not love or affection. I have three children by the first, and one by all the rest except three. One of the women to whom I've been married had $500,000 in her own right, three others had from $150,000 to $200,000 and none of the others was worth less than $10,000.

HIS GENERAL RULE.

"My rule generally was to live with my wife until I got the money in my control and then I was off for new fields to win another fair bride. I always had plenty of money and went in the best of style and only operated in and among the aristocracy of the country. In this sphere my vain and giddy victims were easily captured, and it was often a case love at first sight with them. I have some hesitation about leaving a statement, but for several reasons I have decided to do so. First, those around me, of course, know nothing of my intentions, and are perfectly innocent of what I am about to do, and this statement will relieve them of any suspicion.

DIAMONDS AND A SILK HAT.

"Second, it may be a warning to some good women, who are too often ready to receive an unscrupulous stranger man of whom they know nothing more than that they wear a silk hat, display a big lot of diamonds and toy with a gold headed cane. Beware of this class. Third, if these would-be detectives and officers of the law will pay more attention to the class of men whom I warn the women against, I can assure them that they will succeed in their business better. I have often seen a poor, dirty and ragged tramp dragged to jail, whose only offense was to beg a quarter of a dime to buy a much needed meal, while perhaps half a dozen of the worst criminals in the country, like myself, were looting on, but in the guise of gentlemen whom Mr. Officer would scarcely dare to look at, much less attempt to arrest."

GRODER'S SYRUP,
HIS FAMILY MEDICINE.

THE GRODER DISPENSARY, CHICAGO, ILL.

GENTLEMEN—I am now seventy years of age, and have been out of health the past fifteen years. My suffering has been greatest during the last five years, when I have been in constant pain from weakness and distress of stomach. At different times I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, and sharp pleuritic pains, distress from eating any kind of food, and became so bloated from wind on the stomach that breathing was difficult. Nervousness kept me awake at night. My physicians could give me only temporary relief, and my troubles returned again and again until I learned of your medicine and began to use it regularly. From the first there was a marked change in my condition, and to-day I eat heartily and with good digestion. I am free from constipation, my health is better than at any time since the war. I firmly believe in Groder's Syrup, for it has made my old age a painless one. My wife too has had your medicine with entire satisfaction.

Yours truly,

(By JAMES DE MILLE.)

There is no use, Kitty—no use in talking about it any more," said Ethel one day, after Mrs. Willoughby had been urging her to show herself. I can not will not. He has forgotten me utterly. Perhaps he has no idea that you are here. He has never seen you.

Has he not been in Naples as long as we have? He must have seen me in the streets. He saw Minnie.

Do you think it likely that he would come to this house and slight you? If he had forgotten you he would not come here. Oh, yes, he would. He comes to see Minnie. He knows I am here, of course. He doesn't care one atom whether I make my appearance or not. He doesn't even give me a thought. It's so long since that time that he has forgotten me, that I have been all over the world since then, and has had a hundred adventures. I have been living quietly, cherishing the remembrance of that thing.

Ethel, is it not worth trying? Go down and try him. I can not bear it. I can not look at him. I love all self-command when he is near. I should make a fool of myself. He would look at me with a smile of pity. Could I endure that? No, Kitty; my weakness must never be known to him.

Oh, Ethel, how I wish you could try it! Kitty, just think how utterly I am forgotten. Mark this now. He knows I was at your house. He must remember your name. He wrote to me there, and I answered him from there. He sees you now, and your name must be associated with mine in his memory of me, if he has any. Tell me now, Kitty, has he ever mentioned me? Has he ever asked you about me? Has he ever made the remotest allusion to me?

Ethel spoke rapidly and impetuously, and as she spoke she raised herself from the sofa where she was reclining, and turned her large, earnest eyes full upon her friend with anxious and eager watchfulness. Mrs. Willoughby looked back at her face full of sadness, and mournfully shook her head.

"You see, said Ethel, as she sank down again—you see how true my impression is."

I must say, said Mrs. Willoughby, that thought of this before. I fully expected that he would make some inquiry after you. I was so confident in the noble character of the man, both from your story and the description of others, that I could not believe you were right. But you are right, my poor Ethel. I could comfort you, but I can not. In my dear, no, do not say that. I do not mean about you, but he would not avoid me. It is not that he is so grossed with Minnie, for he is not so. It is certainly some reason of his own for avoiding me. Whenever he speaks to me there is an evident effort on his part, and though perfectly courteous, his manner leaves a certain disagreeable impression. Yes, he certainly has some reason for avoiding me.

The reason, is plain enough, murmured Ethel. He wishes to prevent you from speaking about a painful subject or at least a disagreeable one. He keeps you at a distance by an excess of formality. He will give you no opportunity whatever to introduce any mention of me. And now let me also ask you this—does he ever take any notice of any allusion that may be made to me?

I really don't remember hearing any allusion to you.

Oh, that's scarcely possible! You and Minnie must sometimes have alluded to Ethel.

Well now, that you put it in that light, I do remember hearing Minnie allude to you several occasions. Once she wondered why Ethel did not ride. Again she remarked how Ethel would enjoy a particular view?

And he heard it?

Oh, of course.

Then there is not a shadow of a doubt left. He knows I am here. He knows I am here, and he is completely indifferent that he comes here and pays attention to another who is in the very same house with me. It is hard. Oh, Kitty, is it not? Is it not bitter? How could I have thought this of him?

A high-hearted girl was Ethel, and a proud one; but at this final confirmation her countenance burst from her a sharp cry, and she buried her face in her hands and moaned and wept.

CHAPTER XII.

GIROASO AGAIN.

One day Mrs. Willoughby and Minnie were out driving. Hawbury was riding by the carriage on the side next Minnie, when suddenly their attention was attracted by a gentleman on horseback who was approaching them at an easy pace and staring hard at them. Minnie's hand suddenly grasped her sister's arm very tightly, while her color came and went rapidly.

Oh, dear! sighed Mrs. Willoughby. Oh, what shall I do? said Minnie, in a hasty whisper.

Can't we pretend not to see him.

Nonsense, you little goose was the reply. How can you think of such rudeness?

By this time the gentleman had reached them, and Mrs. Willoughby stopped the carriage and spoke to him in a tone of gracious civility, while the other, with sufficient recognition of his claims upon her attention, mingled with a slight banter that was intended to act as a check upon his Italian demonstrativeness.

For it was no other than the Count Giraso, and his eyes glowed with excitement and delight, and his hat was off and as far away from his head as possible and a thousand emotions contended together for expression upon his swarthy and handsome countenance. As soon as he could speak he poured forth a torrent of exclamations with amazing volubility, in the midst of which his keen eyes scrutinized very closely the faces of the ladies, and finally turned an interrogative glance upon Hawbury, who sat on his horse regarding the new comer with a certain mild surprise not unmingled with superciliousness. Hawbury's chin was in the air, his eyes raised languidly on the stranger, and his left hand toyed with his left whisker.

He really meant no offense whatever, he knew absolutely nothing about the stranger, and had not the slightest intention of giving offense. It was simply a way he had. It was merely the natural attitude of the English swell before he is introduced. As it was, that first glance which Giraso threw at the English lord inspired him with the utmost admiration, which was destined to produce important results afterward.

Mrs. Willoughby was too good natured and too wise to slight the English swell away. After introducing the two gentlemen she spoke a few more civil words, and then bowed him away. But Giraso did not at all take the hint. On the contrary, he elevated his eyebrows, and stared for an instant and then went on talking with Minnie. And now Minnie showed much more animation than usual. She was much agitated and excited by his sudden appearance of one whom she hoped to have got rid of, and talked rapidly, and laughed nervously, and was so terrified at the idea that Giraso was near that she was afraid to look at him, but directed all her attention to Hawbury. It was a slight, and Giraso showed that he felt it; but Minnie could not help it. After a time Giraso mastered his feelings, and began an animated conversation with Mrs. Willoughby in very broken English, and his pronunciation was very bad; he also had a fashion of using an Italian word when he did not know the right English one, and so the consequence was that Mrs. Willoughby understood not much more than one quarter of his remarks.

Mrs. Willoughby did not altogether enjoy this state of things, and so she determined to put an end to it by shortening her drive. She therefore watched for an opportunity to do this so as not to make it seem too marked; and finally reached a place which was suitable. Here the carriage was turned, when, just as it was half way round, they noticed a horseman approaching. It was Scote Dacres, who had been following them, at the time, and who had not expected that the carriage would turn. He was therefore taken completely by surprise, and was close to them before he could collect his thoughts so as to do any thing. To evade them was impossible, and so he rode on. As he approached the ladies saw his face. It was a face that one would remember afterward. There was on it a profound sadness and dejection, while at the same time the prevailing expression was one of sternness. The ladies both bowed. Some Dacres raised his hat, and disclosed his broad massive brow. He did not look at Minnie. His gaze was fixed on Mrs. Willoughby. Her well was down, and he seemed trying to read her face behind. As he passed he threw a quick, vivid glance at Giraso. It was not a pleasant glance by any means, and was full of quick, fierce and insolent scrutiny—a "Who-the-devil-are-you expression!" It was but for an instant however, and then he glanced at Mrs. Willoughby again, and then he had passed.

The ladies soon reached their home, and at once related to Mrs. Willoughby the scene and Mrs. Willoughby's room. There Minnie flung herself upon the sofa and Mrs. Willoughby sat down with a perplexed face.

What in the world are we to do? said she.

I'm sure I don't know, said Minnie. I leave it to you to be so. I said that he was going to be so.

He is so annoying.

Yes, but Kitty dear, we can't be rude to him, you know for he saved my life. But it is horrid, and I really begin to feel quite desperate.

I certainly will not let him see you! I have made up my mind to that.

And oh! how he will be coming and calling, and teasing, and teasing. Oh dear! I do not wonder what Lord Hawbury thought. He looked so amazed. And then—oh, Kitty dear, it was so awfully funny—did you notice that other man? Mrs. Willoughby nodded her head.

Did you notice how awfully black he looked? He wouldn't look at me at all!

Oh, yes, I am, you know. Papa's Anglo-Catholic, and I don't see the difference. Besides, they're all the time going over to Rome; and why shouldn't I? I'll be a novice—that is, you know, I'll only go for a time, and not take the vows. The more I think of it, the more I see that it's the only thing there is for me to do.

But you're not a Catholic.

proposal following! It would be so charming. Mrs. Willoughby smiled.

Well, Minnie dearest, said she, I really think that we had better decide to go to Rome, and I don't see any difficulty in the way.

The only difficulty that I can see, said Minnie, is that I shouldn't like to hurt her feelings, you know.

Then, you know, that dear, delightful boy would soon be here, and I'm dying to be in Rome.

I think it would be better for all of us, said Mrs. Willoughby, thoughtfully—for all of us, if we were in Rome.

Of course it would, Kitty sweetest, and especially me. Now if I am in Rome, I can pop into a convent whenever I choose.

A convent exclaimed Mrs. Willoughby, in surprise.

Oh, yes—it's going to come to that. They're all so horrid, you know, besides, it's getting worse. I got a letter yesterday from Captain Kirby, written to me in England. He didn't know I was here. He has just arrived at London, and was leaving for our place on what he called the wings of the wind. I expect him here at almost any time. Let it be dreadful, Kitty dearest, to have so many? As fast as one goes another comes, and then they all come together, and do you know, darling, it really makes one feel quite dizzy. I'm sure I don't know what to do. And that's why I'm thinking of a convent, you know.

But you're not a Catholic.

Oh, yes, I am, you know. Papa's Anglo-Catholic, and I don't see the difference. Besides, they're all the time going over to Rome; and why shouldn't I? Nonsense.

I really wish they'd stop it. But Kitty dear, what? About this Scote Dacres. Don't you really think there's something very peculiarly sad, and very delightfully interesting and pathetic, and all that sort of thing, in his poor dear old face?

I think Scote Dacres has suffered a great deal, said Mrs. Willoughby, in a thoughtful tone. But come now, let us go to Ethel. She's lonely.

Soon after they joined the other ladies and talked over the project of going to Rome. Lady Dalrymple offered no objection; indeed, so far as she had any choice, she preferred it. She was quite willing at all times to do whatever the rest proposed, and also was not without some curiosity as to the proceedings during holy-week. Ethel offered no objection either. She had fallen into a state of profound melancholy, from which nothing now could rouse her, and so she listened listlessly to the discussion about the subject. Mrs. Willoughby and Minnie had the most to say on this point, and offered the chief reasons for going; and thus it was finally decided to take their departure, and to start as soon as possible.

Meanwhile Giraso had his own thoughts and experiences. He had already, some time before, been conscious that his attentions were not wanted, but it was only on the part of the other ladies that he noticed any repugnance to himself. On Minnie's part he had not seen any. In spite of their graciousness and their desire not to hurt his feelings, they had not been able to avoid showing that, while they felt grateful for his heroism in the rescue of Minnie they could not think of giving her to him. They had manifested on his part to find them again. He had fallen off from them at first when he saw that they were determined on effecting this; but after allowing a sufficient time to elapse, he had had difficulty in tracking them, and finding them at Naples, as we have seen.

But here he made one or two discoveries. One was that Minnie already had an accepted lover in the person of Lord Hawbury. The lady's superciliousness of the British nobleman seemed to Giraso to be the natural result of his position, and it seemed the attitude of one successful lover toward the rejected suitor.

The other discovery was that Minnie herself was more pleased with the attention of the English lord than with his own. This was now evident, and he could not help perceiving that his difficulties were far more formidable from the presence of such a rival.

But Giraso was not easily daunted. In the first place, he had unbounded confidence in his own fascinations; in the second place, he believed that he had a claim on Minnie that no other could equal, in that he had saved her life; and in the third place, apart from the question of love, he believed her to be a prize of no common value, whose English gold would be welcome indeed to his Italian need and greed; while, finally, the bitter hate with which Lord Hawbury had inspired him gave an additional zest to his wish, and made him follow after Minnie with fresh ardor.
