CASINCA.

"It was just a week before the time fixed for my marriage with Casinea that a meet strange includent occurred. I had sought my lodgings and retired early that night. I had been asleep but a short time when I had a most startling dream. In my dream, which was so intensely real as to make a deep impression upon me, I said. I hurried from the room and ran to the cabin of a peasant that stood on the read a short distance away. In response to my life was finished. I threw open that door and rushed in. She was not there. Hurriedly I searched through the other rooms, but she was nowhere to be found! I said, speaking in the language of the island. 'A murder has been committed at the Pinelli house.' I she had disappeared as completely as if she had never lived. I grew the interior of the Pinelli dwelling.
